GUIDE

GAELIC CONVERSATION
AND
PRONUNCIATION, WITH VOCABULARIES, DIALOGUES, PHRASES, AND LETTER FORMS.

BY L. MACBEAN,

Author of "Elementary Lessons in Gaelic," "Songs and Hymns of the Gael," &c.

SECOND EDITION.

STIRLING :
ENEAS MACKAY, MURRAY PLACE.

1905.

35 NY
1886

P R E F A C E.

This book is published chiefly to supply a need felt by visitors to the Highlands, the want of an English-Gaelic handbook of phrases and dialogues, in which English sentences are followed by their Gaelic equivalents. In preparing the dialogues the author was guided to some extent by the numerous phrasebooks of other European languages, but the peculiar circumstances of the Highlands and the Highland tongue necessitated the introduction of new subjects and the adoption of new forms. It was also necessary on account of the large number of idioms used conversationally in both Gaelic and English, to add a pretty long list of idiomatic phrases. The vocabularies, which occupy the first fifty pages of the book (with the exception of some proper names), consist entirely of words in everyday use. As it is difficult to represent the finer shades of Gaelic vowel-sounds by any system of phonetics, it is recommended that the learner should get the pronunciation viva voce wherever practicable. When that is not possible, the Gaelic should be read from the centre column, the third column being referred to only when the pronunciation is doubtful. In this way the student will soon acquire the habit of reading correctly from the ordinary Gaelic spelling. It is hoped that this little volume will be found useful as a handbook for strangers in the Highlands, as a book of reference for Highlanders themselves, and as the best introduction to Gaelic for those who wish to become acquainted with that language.

TABLE OF SOUNDS.

In the orthoëpy given in the vocabularies, the vowels used represent the following sounds:—

1.—a	-	short as in fat	-	-	fat
2.—â	-	long like a in far	-	-	fâr
3.—e	-	short as in wet	-	-	wet
4.—ê	-	long as in where	-	-	whêre
5.—á	-	short and acute as in fate	-	-	fáte
6.—ā	-	longer than a in fame	-	-	fāme
7.—i	-	short as in wit	-	-	wit
8.—ě	-	short as in we	-	-	wě
9.—ee	-	long as in wee	-	-	wee
10.—o	-	short as in cot	-	-	cot
11.—ô	-	long as in cord	-	-	côrd
12.—ó	-	short and acute as in photo	-	-	phóto
13.—ō	-	long as in fold	-	-	föld
14.—u	-	short as in shun	-	-	shun
15.—ú	-	long as in jeûne	-	-	zhûn
16.—ū	-	short like ou in would	-	-	wūd
17.—oo	-	long like ooe in woood	-	-	wōood

The English i as in fire is represented by aě.

The consonants are pronounced as in English, with the following exceptions:—

Ch is not hard like k, nor soft as in chase, but always guttural, as in loch, trachle.

Dd, tt, ll, and nn represent a very soft sound of these consonants, in forming which the tongue, near the tip, touches the upper gum.

Ly and ny represent a peculiar modification of the sounds of l and n effected by placing the centre of the tongue against the roof of the mouth when pronouncing these consonants. The l is rather softer than in million, and the n softer than the first n in pinion.

	as in English	far.	Examples	càs, càil.
à, ài	„	„	parry.	„ cas, caile.
a, ai	„	„	where	„ gnè, nèamh, mèud.
è, èa, èu	„	„	whew.	„ dé, céir, réul.

ù, ùi	„	„	pull.	„ cù, sùil.
u, ui	„	„	put.	„ cur, druid.

The digraphs in the above table practically represent simple vowel sounds, the second vowels being very faintly heard. Before the labials b, f, m. and p, however, i is more distinctly heard. Examples—caib, cnaip.

The single vowels are divided into two classes—the broad, a, o, u, and the small, e, i.

ao, which is a single vowel sound, is always long, like u in purr, pronounced long. Example—maor.

a and o. when followed by ll or nn, are usually pronounced au and ou. Examples—fann, fonn.

a, in an unaccented syllable, or before dh or gh, has the sound of u in but; Examples—coma, lagh.

e, in an unaccented syllable, is pronounced as in cover. Example—duine.

o, followed by b, g, m, p, or dh, is pronounced as in canto. Examples—gob, bog, crodh, lomadh.

In the diphthongs and triphthongs èa; eà; eò, eòi; eó, eói; eo, eoi; la, lai; iù, iùi; iu, iui; ua, uai, the first and second vowels are heard. Examples—gèadh, feàrr, eòlas, feòil; Eóghainn, leómhann; deoch, geòic; iar, fiàire; iùl, ciùil; iuchair, tiuighe; uan, uaine. Before b, f, m, and p the final i is also heard. Examples—fuaim, uaip.

èa, èa, eò, and eòi are rarely used.

Most vowels are somewhat nasal when in contact with m, mh, or n. B is pronounced harder than in English. Example—obair.

C before a broad vowel hard, as in can; before a small vowel, as in came; never soft, like s; when final chk. Examples—cas, céum, ioc.

D with a broad vowel a little softer than in English, produced by placing the tongue near the tip in contact with the teeth or between the teeth. Example—da

D with a small vowel like j or dj in English. Example—dé.

F as in English.

G always hard, as in got or get; when final hard like k. Examples—gu, ge, bog.

H never appears in Gaelic except along with some other consonant or followed by a hyphen.

L with a broad vowel, like lth in although. Example—lan.

L preceded by a small vowel, or initial followed by a small vowel in the past tense of verbs or in the word le and its derivatives—hard as in English. Example—gil, lean, leam.

L, initial with a small vowel, liquid—nearly as in million, formed by placing the surface of the tongue about the centre to the roof of the mouth. Example—lion.

Ll with a broad vowel, thick almost like lth. Example—call.

Ll with a small vowel, like l in million. Example—fill.

M as in English, but more nasal. Example—cam.

N as in English. Example—ban.

N initial followed by a small vowel (except in nis and the verb ni and past tense of verbs)—liquid, nearly as in pinion. Example—neo.

Nn with a broad vowel, formed by placing the tongue near the tip against the teeth. Example—Bann.

Nn with a small vowel, nearly as in pinion. Example—Binn.

P as in English, but after am almost as soft as B. When final, it is more breathy—hp. Examples—Pill, am pill? Cnap.

R with a broad vowel, as in rod. Example—ro.

R with a small vowel, as in Arian. Example—ri.

S with a broad vowel, as in English. Example—Sàl.

S with a small vowel (and in the word so) is equal to English sh.
ception—is.

T with a broad vowel, formed not with hard stiff tongue tip, but with a soft pressure of the tongue against the teeth. Example—ta.

T with a small vowel like ch in chase. Example—tinn.

After an, c is softened to g, and t to d, as—an cu; an tonn.

By adding h the consonants b, c, d, f, g, m, p, s, and t are modified, giving a breathy effect, called aspiration.

Bh like v in English.

Ch, guttural as in German, or in the Scotch word trachle.

Dh and gh with a broad vowel almost like gh in ugh, or g in the German word Tag; with a small vowel equal to y.

Fh is silent, except in the words, fhuair, fhein, and fathast, where the h is heard.

Mh like v, but more nasal.

Ph like f.

Sh and th like h.

The consonants l, n, and r, are never aspirated.

Chd sounds like chk. Example—reachd.

Rt with a broad vowel is like rst; with a small vowel it sounds rsj.

Examples—mart, beairt.

When l, n, or r is followed by b, g, m, or p, a vowel is heard between the two consonants. Thus, calg is pronounced calag; calpa, calapa; falbh, falabh; searg, searag; airm, airim.

English.

May I ask you a favour?

 You would get more if I could

You cannot get it

I am anxious for it
 You shall have it then
 You need not think of it

Will you give it me?
 I shall, willingly
 Not if I can help it
 Where shall I get?

 Nis, iomair air aghaidh

 Tha'n lion gle throm
 Nach briagh an làd sin!

XXII.—Athletic Games.

English.

Where are the Games to-day?
They are on a green meadow down
here

Are there many people?

Yes, a large assembly

What is going on now?

They're putting the stone

Are these the competitors?

Yes

Is the competition over?

I think so

Who has won?

That stalwart champion

How far did he throw?

Twenty-nine feet three inches

He did very well

What's the next thing?

Throwing the hammer

We must clear off then

Yes, it is sometimes dangerous

That was a splendid throw

He gave it a good swing

Let us go and see the leaping

That's what they call the long leap

That fellow crossed the mark

I could jump as far as that myself

The ground is too slippery

We're to have high leap now

He cleared it easily

That was a good spring

They're tossing the caber where we left

Yes, and it's a heavy caber they have

These are fine muscular fellows

Yes, indeed, they have well deserved their prizes

We have not seen the race-course
yet

No, but the races are over

I would have liked to see them

Gaelic.

C'aite bheil na cluichean an diugh?
Tha iad air faich uaine sios an so

'Bheil móran sluaigh ann?

Tha, cruinneachadh mór

'De tha'r a deanamh an traths?

Tha'd a cur na cloiche

'N iad sin na co-shreipich?

'S iad

Bheil an co-dheuchann thairis?

Tha mi 'n duil sin

Co a bhunaich?

An curaiddh láidir sin

Cia fada chur e?

Naoi troi' ficead 's tri oirlich

'Smath a fhuaradh e

'De 'n ath rud?

Tilgeil an úird

Feumaidh sinn sgaoileadh mata

Feumaidh, tha e air uairean cunnartach

Bu ghrinn an urchair sud

Thug e siud math dha

Sinbh'lamaid a choimhead na leum

Sin rud ris an abair iad an leum fada

Chaidh am fear sin thar a chomh-arradh

Bheirinn fein leum cho fada sin

Tha'n talamh ro shleamhuinn

Gheibh sinn leum àrda nis

Chaidh a thairis glan gu furasda

Bu mhath a chruinn leum sin

Tha'd a cur a chabair far an robh
sinn

Tha 's is tomadach an cabair a th'aca

'S grinn gramail na gillean iad

Seadh, gu dearbh, 's math thoil iad
an duais

Cha'n fhaca sinn am blàir réis
fhathast

Cha'n fhac', ach tha na réisean
seachad

Bu mhath leam am faicinn

English.

Did many run ?

Yes, there was a good competition

It would have been a fine sight

You do not play quoits here ?

It is a very ancient game

What games do you have in the Lowlands ?

We have many games with ball and bat, bowls, football, tennis, and curling-stones

Do you play shinty ?

It is a great pastime here in winter

How is it played ?

Very like football, but clubs are used instead of feet

Some games are very coarse and rude

Yes, their influence is not of the best

We seldom have wrestling matches
now

So I believe

There are always dancing and bagpipe competitions

In England there are great contests
in rowing

A capital thing for the joints and muscles

I like to see these things

I like that too

A bit of friendly competition is a good thing

That is my opinion

Especially when the games are of a manly kind

And when the people of the district alone are engaged

I see that Highland games are very frequent in the Lowlands now

On the other hand, Lowland games are becoming common in the North

Some of the competitors at these games are fine stalwart fellows

Gaelic.

An robh móran a ruith ?

Bha, bha deuchann math ann

Bu bhriagh an sealladh e

Cha bhi sibh cluich peilistearan an so ?

'S sean a chluich e

'De na spòrsan a th' agaibh air a Mhachair ?

Tha iomadh cluich againn le ball is slacan, ball-cloiche, ball coise, tennis, is clachan-spéilidh

Nach bi' sibh ri camanachd ?

Tha e 'na chluich mhór an so 's a gheamhra'

Ciamar a chluichear e ?

Gle choltach ri ball-coise ach le camanan 'n aite casan

Tha cuid a chluichean gle fhiadhaich, borb

Tha, cha'n e bhuaidh is fhearr a th'aca

Cha tric bhi's deuchann gleac
againn a nis

'Se sin mo bharail

Tha'n comhnuidh farpus ann airson
danns' is piobaireachd

An Sasuinn tha mòr-cho-stridhean
aca ann an ràmhachd

Ni ro-mhath airson nan alt 's nam
feithean

'S toigh leam na nithe sin fhaicinn

'S toigh leamsa sin cuideachd

'Smath an rud beagan co-shreipeas
càirdeil

'S e sin mo bharail-sa

Gu h-araid nuair 'se cluichean
fearail a th'ann

Agus nuair nach bi 'san ealaidh ach
muintir an àite

Tha mi faicinn gu'm beil cluichean
Gaidhhealach gle bhitheanta
air a Mhachair a nis

Air an laimh eile tha spòrsan
Gallda fàs cumanta 's an taobh
tuath

'S grinn foghainteach na gillean
cuid de na co-shreipich aig na cluichean so
