JAMES MIDDLEMASS,
EDINBURGH,

'For Ecclesiastical and Academical Robes.—Very excellently made.'

LADIES and CONGREGATIONAL COMMITTEES contemplating such Presentations are respectfully reminded of the discomfort to which Ministers are frequently subjected when necessitated to use a Gown—from the circumstance of its being a gift—which neither fits well nor possesses any appearance. This annoyance is completely avoided by having recourse to the best market, where a choice of the Newest Styles may be had, and all the advantage of extensive experience and practised taste, which are indispensable to the production of a Gown at once Elegant and Comfortable.

The SUBSCRIBERS beg cordially to acknowledge the almost unprecedented demand for the Gowns of their manufacture from all parts of the country, as well as from abroad; and intimate that it will be their constant endeavour to introduce every suitable improvement, so as to render them still more attractive.
