PREFACE.

THE numerous inaccuracies and omissions which characterized former publications of this description in Edinburgh, have long and generally been the subject of complaint; and rendered the publication of a new and improved Directory of Edinburgh, Leith, and Suburbs, a great desideratum; and the very favourable reception which the announcement of the present work received, may be considered as an unequivocal proof of the truth of this assertion.

In bringing forward the present improved Directory, the Proprietors are unwilling to speak much of their own exertions; but this they may state, that they have spared neither labour nor expense to unite early publication with as much completeness and accuracy as the nature of such a work will admit; and they trust that a comparison of the present with former publications of the same kind, will prove the surest test of the extent of their efforts.

The Public will also be aware, that, in consequence of the announcement of this work, a powerful stimulus has been given to those interested in the former publications—a stimulus of which the Public will now reap the full benefit, and without which, it is fairly to be inferred, no efforts would have been made by them in the way of improvement.

Should the present publication realize the success which the Proprietors have been led to expect, they pledge themselves that their attention to accuracy shall not relax; and although they may alter the plan, or vary the form, they hope to be enabled, in future years, to present such additions and improvements as will give it still higher claims upon the Public.

To the present Directory the Proprietors have added a new plan of the City, containing the recent and intended improvements.

EDINBURGH, 15th June 1824.

At Edinburgh, the 28th day of August, in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixteen :

Which day, the right honourable the Lord Provost Magistrates and Council of the City of Edinburgh being assembled, they approved of the following Regulations for Hackney Coaches, as reported by the Magistrates and appointed them to be in force from and after the date hereof, until it shall be found expedient to alter them.

Fares according to Distance.

HACKNEY COACH FARES.

1st, The Regulations and Table of Fares enacted upon the 19th day of June 1811 years are hereby repealed; and the before-mentioned General Rules, the following Regulations, and annexed Table of Fares, made according to these General Rules, are substituted in place thereof.

2d, That each coach or chariot, before plying for hire, shall be inspected by a magistrate; and, if approved of, will be licensed by him, when a number will be issued to the owner, who must affix the same, together with his name in letters at least one inch in length, on each door of the coach or chariot, immediately below the window. That there shall not be the same number on two coaches or chariots; and that no coach or chariot wanting such number or name shall be allowed to ply.

3d, That no insufficient coach or chariot, or horses, shall be allowed to ply; and when any of the proper furniture of steps, springs, blinds, glasses, or check-strings for stopping the coachman, are broken or wanting, or the harness shall not be in good repair, it shall be lawful to detain from the hire one shilling, or the whole hire, if it shall not amount to more. The coachman shall always keep the check-string in his left hand when driving, under a penalty not exceeding five shillings.

4th, That there shall not be fewer than six coaches or chariots on the stance in Prince's street every morning at nine o'clock, taking this duty by rotation, beginning at No. 1., and going on progressively, under penalty of ten shillings for every coach or chariot absent. All coachmen attending for a fare at any stand shall either sit on the coach-box, or stand at the horses' heads, under the penalty of two shillings and sixpence for each offence.

5th, That each coachman shall be cleanly in his person, and wear a ticket on the front of his coat, with number corresponding to that on his coach or chariot under a penalty of five shillings for each offence.

6th, That when a company shall take a coach between the hours of ten and twelve P. M., in that case fare and quarters shall be paid; between the hours of twelve and one, fare and half; and after one o'clock double fare, with the exception of the Theatre, where the usual charge only shall be paid.

7th, That the stances for the coaches and chariots shall be as follows; viz. Tron church—Prince's street east end—George street, between Hanover and Frederick streets—Prince's street, west end, facing Hope street—or at such other places as the magistrates from time to time may appoint; and that there shall not be fewer than four coaches at the stand facing Hope street.

8th, That coachmen are not on any account to inquire where a company are going, previous to engaging, or to plead prior engagements when their services are required; nor shall they be allowed to draw off the stance, under pretence of being engaged, so as to have their choice of work; but their coaches or chariots, being on or near the stance, shall be considered as proof of their being disengaged; and on their refusing to take a fare, they shall be liable in a penalty of ten shillings, unless they can adduce evidence that they were actually engaged.

9th, That when a coachman is required to wait, either upon setting down or taking up a party, he must on no account refuse, under the penalty of five shillings, and the forfeiture of his hire; but he shall be entitled to charge for the first 15 minutes sixpence, and a like sum for each successive 15 minutes he may be detained.

10th, That if a coachman shall be sent from a stance to any house to take up a company, he shall immediately announce his arrival, and remain in waiting during the pleasure of the company; for which he shall be entitled to charge, from his arrival, the same allowance as in the preceding regulation.

11th, That no fares higher than those in the annexed tables shall be demanded or taken; and if hired to any spot or place not specified in the annexed table, such as from a change of the name, a new place, or beyond the limits, &c., in that case, no fare higher than those in the before-mentioned general rules shall be demanded or taken; the coachman having it in his option to take either for the length of ground, or time, but not for both: And if any coachman shall be convicted of imposing on his employers, or abstracting the fares from his master, he shall be liable in a penalty of four times the amount of the fare, and imprisoned until payment.

12th, That every coachman, when on duty, shall have in his pocket a printed copy of these regulations, to be kept in a tin box, with the number of the coach or chariot painted on it; and shall show the same to his employer, when required, under a penalty of five shillings.

13th, That if any coachman shall be convicted of drunkenness or abusive language, the magistrates may revoke his licence, or impose a penalty of ten shillings, and order him to be imprisoned till the same is paid.

14th, That the coachman, (master or servant,) after setting down a company, shall drive to the nearest stance; and if the number of coaches or chariots ordered to stand there is not complete, he shall remain for the service of the public.

15th, That any person wanting a coach or chariot shall take one from the nearest stance to his residence; but if none shall be there at the time, and one shall be procured from another stance, there shall be paid for every stance beyond the nearest, in addition to the fare, the sum of sixpence. This to be only applicable to fares under two shillings and sixpence.

16th, That there shall be no additional charge made for taking up or setting down any part of a company, unless the coach or chariot shall be detained ten minutes; which time only for attendance shall be allowed to each fare.

17th, That parties returning by the same coach or chariot from any place, whether in town or at a distance in the country, shall pay one half fare additional as back hire.

18th, That the fares are exclusive of King's duty and tolls, which are to be paid by the company.

19th, That the regulations respecting the fare to Musselburgh will not be insisted on, during the race week, for two hours before and two hours after the horses have started for running.

20th, All parcels or articles, of any kind, to be immediately returned to the owner, if known; if not, to be lodged in the Council Chamber.

21st, At least one-fourth of the coaches shall attend at the stand, east end of Prince's street, on Sunday, from 10 o'clock morning to 10 o'clock at night.

22d, That these Regulations may be enforced by the Magistrates in the Council Chamber, or Judge in the Police Court.

REGULATIONS.

1mo, That every chairman carrying or resting his chair, under cloud of night, and not having a light fixed on the fore part of one of the poles, or carrying or resting a chair at any time on the foot pavement or plainstones, shall forfeit five shillings, and not less than two shillings and sixpence, for each transgression, be imprisoned, and the chair detained till the same is paid.

2do, That a number shall be distinctly painted on the front and back of each chair for hire, and that there shall not be the same number on two chairs; and the first or foremost of the bearers shall wear a badge or ticket on his breast, with the number of the chair upon it, under the penalty of ten shillings, and not less than five shillings, for each transgression, to be paid by the owner or proprietor of the chair. And all masters, owners, or proprietors shall, at each term of Whitsunday and Martinmas half yearly, or within 15 days thereafter at farthest, give in to the City-clerks at the Council-chamber a list, signed by them, of the full number of chairs severally belonging to them, the different numbers affixed on them, with the names of their servants, for whom they are to be answerable, under the penalty of ten shillings.

3tio, That no insufficient chair shall be allowed to ply; and when any of the proper furniture of a chair, i. e. lining or cushion, shall be dirty or torn, or the glasses or blinds shall be broken or wanting, it shall be lawful to detain from the hire one shilling; or the whole hire, if it shall amount to more.

4to, That no person shall keep chairs for hire, unless he be an entered master with the Society of Chairmasters and Bearers of Edinburgh, or unless he have special allowance from the Council, under the penalty of forty pounds Scots.

5to, That all chairs for a fare shall be at such stations as the magistrates (for the time being) shall appoint, and nowhere else within the city or liberties, under the penalty of two shillings and sixpence, and not less than one shilling, to be paid by the owners, for each offence.

6to, That any chairman attending for fare, and refusing to take one when offered, or saying that he is engaged when not so, shall be committed prisoner for 24 hours; and the master or owner to be liable in a penalty of five shillings, and not less than two shillings and sixpence.

7mo, That all masters or owners of chairs, or their servants, engaging to call for and take up any person at a particular house, and failing to do so, shall be fined in ten shillings, and not less than five shillings—unless in this case, and the former of refusing a hire, the chairman can condescend on and instruct a sufficient cause for such refusal or failure.

8vo, That all masters or owners of chairs, or their servants, demanding or exacting more fare than what is established by the annexed Table, or not having a printed copy thereof, and of these regulations, ready to show to the person employing them, shall forfeit two shillings and sixpence for every such offence, and likewise the hire.

9no, That if any chairbearer shall be convicted of imposing on his employers, or of misbehaviour, by abusive language, or otherwise, or of abstracting the fares from his master, the magistrates may inflict a penalty, and, on non-payment, he shall be committed to Bridewell, and confined for 20 days.

10mo, That no chairmaster, chairman, or any other person, shall act as a porter in carrying burdens of any kind, under the penalty of four shillings; except that chairmen may carry furniture in flitting-time, from the 15th to the 30th of May, on paying one shilling and eightpence each, every year, to the porters' box, for the use of their poor; and when chairmen shall so act, they shall be regulated by the rates of portorage established for the Society of Porters.

11mo, That on occasion of any fire or mob within the city or suburbs, every chairmaster and chairbearer shall immediately repair to the place where such fire or mob is, with their slings or braces, and obey such directions as the magistrates may think proper to give.

12mo, That chairmen shall not carry chairs, furniture, or other burdens, on the pavement or plainstones under a penalty of five shillings, and not less than two shillings and sixpence.

13mo, That all chairmasters and their bearers shall be subject to such rules, regulations, and bye-laws, as the Lord Provost and Magistrates may from time to time think fit to enact for their government.

That these regulations may be enforced by the Magistrates or Police.

Best Cabin, 2s.—Fore Cabin, 1s. 6d.—Children half price.

SUNDAYS.

From Newhaven to Pettycur, by Burntisland, at 9 A. M. and half past 1 P. M.

From Pettycur to Newhaven, by Burntisland, at half past 10 A. M. and half past 5 P. M. in winter, and half past 5 P. M. in summer.

N. B.—As the weather during winter cannot be depended upon, the Boats may be prevented from sailing exactly at the hours fixed; but they will be as strictly attended to as the weather will permit. Passengers ought to be at the Ferry Stations a quarter of an hour at least before the hours advertised, in order to secure their passage, as the hours so intimated are for the departure of the boats, and not the florying.

The Trustees have fixed the foregoing hours for the summer and winter months. Any necessary change will be advertised in the newspapers; and the Superintendents at the different Ferry Ports will at all times afford correct information.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

It is only necessary here to advert to the two grand leading features of Life Assurance, which refer to the following situations in society, in one or both of which a little reflection will shew, that almost every person is placed, viz. that either their own future support, or some portion of their property or pecuniary interest, is dependent on the lives of others, or that they have wives, children, or friends, whose support chiefly depends on their own lives.

There are few persons to whom the foregoing observations are more applicable than to gentlemen in the learned professions, or in public offices, and to officers in the army and navy; even gentlemen of large landed property, whose estates are entailed on the eldest son, have, in many instances, of late years adopted this mode of making provision for younger children, or of increasing the income they are desirous of leaving to their wives.

Persons holding lands by lease on lives, may assure the lives on which the lease depends. A creditor may assure the life of his debtor for the amount of his debt; and arrangements in the cases of loans, may, by such means, be made highly convenient to the borrower, and afford security to the lender. The line in which estates are to descend often depends upon survivorships; if the person in expectation does not survive the person in possession, the estate perhaps goes into another family: in this case it is prudent, in those interested, to assure the life of the person through whom they may expect to inherit, against that of the person in possession; and as this is generally the case of a young life against an old one, a large sum may be secured for a moderate advance.

It can only be from want of information of the principles of assurance, that lives on which so much depends should remain unassured by the persons in-interested in their continuance ; and what removes every difficulty in point of expediency is, the advantage which the Atlas Company holds out of purchasing the interest of the Assured, at any time, at an equitable rate. The facility offered of transacting the business through a Committee of Proprietors acting for the Company, without applying to a professional agent or correspondent in London, must operate as a great inducement for persons not to neglect so salutary a precaution.

Persons interested in Life Policies for the whole term, will, at the close of every period of seven years, be entitled to participate in the surplus Premiums, to be then ascertained by actual valuation.

As to the Rates charged by the Company, it may suffice here to say, that the tables adopted by the Directors were originally framed upon the sound principles of mathematical computation ; and the practice of the Equitable Society has put them to the unerring test of long and extensive experience.

If any new offices have ventured to reduce these rates, they may, perhaps, have done so without transgressing the bounds of bare security ; but their prudence is at least questionable ; and the Atlas has no inclination to follow their example. The means of accumulating money at compound interest, without risk, are open alike to all ; and if, in the exercise of those means, the Atlas shall be found to have collected greater funds than their actual engagements require, the security of the Assured is placed beyond all question, and the surplus is preserved for the future benefit of those who had contributed to create it ; and, therefore, constituted as this Company is, it will be more for the interest of parties having Life Assurances to effect, to assure a less sum, at premiums which have been found fully adequate to meet losses, than a larger one at premiums speculatively reduced. In effect, the reduction of premium is only nominal ; for the comparison to be drawn is not between the two rates of premium, but between the premium and the sum ultimately to be obtained in return.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The assurance of every species of property from loss or damage by fire, is undertaken by the Company on highly favourable terms ; and policies for L.300 and upwards will be entitled to participate in the surplus 1824-5.

premiums every fifth year; the amount thereof in the fifth year, which ended at Christmas last, on the policies effected in the country, was 20 per cent.

A payment for rent is made by the Company in case of Loss on Buildings, without any extra premium.

Proposals, fully explanatory of the principles and rates of the Company, may be had at the Company's office, No. 59. George-street, Edinburgh, where all letters on the subject of Assurances may be addressed to the Committee, or to their Secretary, Mr James Dickson.

CORPORATION OF THE ROYAL EXCHANGE ASSURANCE, LONDON.

(Established by Royal Charter, in the reign of George I.)

For Assuring Houses, Buildings, Goods, Corn, Hay, Live Stock, &c. from loss or damage by Fire; and also for the Assurance of, and granting Annuities on Lives.

J. G. THOMSON & Co. No. 15. Prince's-street,
Edinburgh, Agents.

The very long period for which this Office has been established, and the large extent of its funded capital, afford the most undoubted security, which at all times is the primary object of insurance.

No entrance money charged, but the life to be assured must appear before the Agents, otherwise in the first year a small fine must be paid.

Liberty is granted to pass in decked vessels from one part of the United Kingdom to another, and to and from the Islands of Guernsey, Jersey, Alderney, Sark, and Man; and also, in time of peace only, in decked vessels, from British ports and places to any foreign port between Flushing and Ushant, without extra premium, and without applying for special permission.

No charge is made for Life Policies, with the exception of the Government stamp.

Fire Policies issued free of expense to the Assured, where the annual premium amounts to 6s. or upwards.

Farming Stock is insured at 2s. per cent per annum, and losses by lightning made good.

Printed particulars, containing the rates and terms on which business in the different branches may be effected, may be had at the Office of the Agents, and every explanation afforded to those not already in the practice of doing insurances.

Persons insured at this Office will derive two important advantages:—1st, The most effectual security is provided for the payment of Losses. Not only will the premiums received upon Policies be carefully invested and accumulated for that purpose, but a capital of seven hundred and fifty thousand pounds has been subscribed to answer any possible deficiency.

2dly, Upon every Policy effected for the whole term of life, the insured will participate in the profits of the Company, by having periodical additions made to the sums insured, to the amount of two-third parts of such clear gains and profits. At the same time, they will be protected, by the ample capital above mentioned, from every chance of loss. Lives insured with the Imperial, are allowed to pass by sea from one part of the United Kingdom to another; and also, in time of peace, to pass in King's ships and packets, or other decked vessels, between British ports and such foreign ports as lie between Ostend and Havre de Grace, both included, without extra premium, and without being subject to the inconvenience of applying for the special leave of the Directors.

The objects of the European Company are, the Insurance of Lives, the Sale of Annuities, the Purchase of Annuities, and the effecting Endowments for 1824-5.

Children. The sums thus received by the Company will be laid out on annuities, secured on land, or the funds of Government, which with the additional profit derived from premiums taken for Life Insurances, secures the sums thus lent, and will enable this Company to afford to its Insurers, Annuitants, and Investors, greater advantages than any hitherto afforded to the Public.

The Profits derived by this Company will be distributed amongst the several persons connected with the establishment, according to the contingency or certainty of their contract.

Share-holders, in consideration of forming a capital for the establishment of the concern, will receive a dividend on the sums advanced at the rate of five per cent per annum, with an increase thereto according to the augmentation of their stock, derived by a division of the profits of the concern from time to time.

Life Insurers will derive an immediate benefit by the reduction on the premiums generally taken, with the prospect of a liberal addition to their Policies, or a further reduction on the premium in 7 years.

No charge is made for Entrance, or for the Policy, beyond the actual cost of the stamp. The Assured are permitted to pass by sea in steam or decked vessels to or from any part of the United Kingdom; and, in time of peace, to or from any part of the Continent situated between the Elbe and Brest, without being required to pay any additional premium, or to procure a license from the Directors.

LONDON UNION ASSURANCE SOCIETY, FOR FIRE, LIVES, AND ANNUITIES.

Instituted in the reign of QUEEN ANNE.

This is one of the oldest offices in London (1714). Of the Profits—which are divided—the Proprietors can never draw more than One-Third, and the Insured are entitled to Two-Thirds, which are added, once in seven years, to the sums in the Policies. Notwithstanding this small share of Profits divided among the Stock Proprietors, an opportunity of purchasing the Stock very rarely occurs, and then it is so much sought after in London that upwards of L.200 per cent is readily given for it—which is the best evidence of the public confidence in the stability and success of the office. This office has never appeared in 1824-5.

a Court of Law. From the large share of Profits divided among the Insured, every L.100 insured by a policy for the whole period of life may become worth L.150, at the death of the person insured. The Insured for limited periods do not participate in the profits, but the rates for such Insurances are reduced 20 per cent below the usual rates. The rates for the whole period of life are equally low with those for short Insurances, when the share of the profits to which the Insured are entitled is taken into computation. The Assured for the period of Life (that is, for securing a certain sum payable at death) may, by the rules of the Society, pay off the whole annual premiums in one year, or any limited number of years—for which purpose the Society have had Tables calculated on the most equitable principles. This will be found to be of great advantage to many who cannot with certainty calculate on its being convenient to make an annual payment during life.

FIRE INSURANCE.

Those Insuring against loss by Fire for seven years are entitled to share in the profits in the same proportion as in the Life Department—which generally amount to upwards of one fourth of the total premium, paid—while only six years' premium and duty are required—payable when the Insurance is effected. The terms for septennial Insurances are, therefore, highly advantageous to the Public. Annual Fire Insurances are done on the usual terms.

The business of this Society is extended not only throughout Britain and Ireland, but also widely on the Continent of Europe—in the profits of all which the assured in Scotland are entitled to participate, as above, without any risk whatever. Besides the rates of Insurance—the other conditions, particularly of Life Insurance, will be found extremely liberal—such as subject the assured to the least possible inconvenience.

The Society is under the direction of a Board of Management, formed of eminent Merchants in London, who meet regularly twice a-week.

Offices in London—Cornhill, and Baker Street, Portman Square.

Head Office for Scotland is No. 40. St Andrew's Square, Edinburgh, where every information will be communicated.

Sutherland Mackenzie, Esq. Manager.—Mr John Brash, Secretary.

This Company was established in 1809, for the purpose of insuring property of every description from loss or damage by fire, and effecting assurances on lives and survivorships. To this last branch the business of the Company was accordingly extended in 1823; and the establishment has since been incorporated by royal charter.

The advantages derived from insurances against fire, are now so universally felt, and admitted, it is unnecessary to make a single remark on the subject, farther than that this office puts it in the power of those insuring property to participate in the profits of the fire department equally with the shareholders. But the practice of insuring upon lives being of later introduction into the northern part of the kingdom, its important advantages to every class of the community are not yet sufficiently understood or appreciated, and therefore require to be shortly explained and recommended. The occasions are of daily occurrence, in which the propriety of making such insurances, by individuals in different conditions of life, is obviously an indispensable duty. They are called for, in point of prudence, from every person who has either a debt to pay or secure, or a provision to make for his wife, children, or relatives. Heirs of entail, liferenters, farmers of enterprise, and others who find it necessary to embark money in stock or improvements, which it may require a certain term to realize, may thus secure the repayment of their advances to their heirs, by appropriating a moderate portion of their annual incomes. The same precaution is proper for those in the church, the army, the law, or in any other situation, who hold offices determinable either on their own lives, or on the life of any other parties with whom they may be connected.

It is needless farther to particularize the vast variety of cases in which the benefit derived from life insurance is of the utmost importance, but it may be proper to explain the principles on which the rates of life insurance for this institution have been fixed.

The North British Corporation, in order to combine, as far as is practicable, every advantage which is to be found in the various systems of life insurance hitherto offered to the public, have adopted two different plans for assurances for the whole term of life, one of them embracing assurances for short periods, and for all the other usual contingencies of life insurance.

By one of these plans, the assured do not become partners, but have the benefit of a reduced scale of premiums, calculated at the lowest rate at which such risks can be safely undertaken. For example, at the age of thirty, the sum of L.2000 may be insured in most of the other offices for a yearly payment of L.53. 8s.; while, for the same payment, the sum of L.2300 may be insured in the North British.

By the other plan, assurers for the whole duration of life are entitled to participate to the extent of two-thirds in the profits of the life department, by having additions made septennially to the sums specified in their policies; and the premiums are about five per cent lower than are generally required by the offices acting on the system of participation.

The premiums of life insurance for short periods are reduced nearly twenty per cent below the rates exacted by almost all the other offices.

The directors trust that the ample security which the public possess in the subscribed capital of one million, the established reputation of the office for prompt and honourable adjustment of losses, and the very favourable rates and conditions on which both departments of its business are conducted, will secure to the North British Corporation a continuance of that support from the public which has already raised this great national establishment to such a high degree of prosperity.

PELICAN LIFE INSURANCE OFFICE,

For Insurance on Lives, and Granting Annuities.

This office was established, in Lombard-street, London, in the year 1797, by a numerous and respectable proprietary; and the Board of Directors, with confidence, arising from the increased prosperity and permanency of the establishment, as well as from the experience of its usefulness and benefit to the public, 1824-5.

think it due to those who may be still unacquainted with the importance and advantages of Life Insurance, briefly to suggest some of its leading and peculiar recommendations to almost every degree and rank in society:—Life insurance is of manifest consequence to all who hold estates for life, situations and offices, civil, ecclesiastical, or professional; to officers in the army and navy, &c. as, by payment of an annual premium, the party insured is enabled to provide for wife, children, or others whose future welfare he may wish, in vain, by other means to promote. It affords a permanent ultimate security to those who advance money upon annuities or otherwise. It renders leases, determinable on one or more lives, nearly equal in value to freehold estates, as an insurance to the amount of the fine, payable on the demise of a party nominated in such leases, will produce the sum required for renewal. It is a cheering refuge to parties engaged in extensive and speculative undertakings; it affords to persons in trade the certain means of indemnification against a bad or doubtful debt; in short, life insurance, established in policy, sanctioned by Government, and confirmed by the test of experience, is become, to almost every situation of human life, a measure equally important, useful, and beneficial. Annuities are granted upon the most equitable terms, under a special Act of Parliament granted to this office.

SCOTTISH LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY,

(Founded on the Model of the Equitable of London),

2. SOUTH ST DAVID STREET, EDINBURGH,

AND

215. GEORGE STREET, GLASGOW.

THIS was the first, and till lately, the only Parent Institution in Scotland for effecting assurances on lives and survivorships. From the nature of its constitution, (which is formed on the model of that most respectable and extensive Society, the Equitable of London), it presents advantages which no other Institution, with which a proprietary is connected, can possibly offer. Wherever there are bodies of proprietors, these proprietors cannot rationally be expected to embark either their names or their capital without profit; and the allocation of these profits necessarily absorbs, or at all events intrrenches deeply on the surplus funds of the establishment, the whole of which, in the Scottish Life Assurance Society, in which there is no proprietary, belong to the assured. The rates of premium, in some of these Proprietary Offices, may be greater, and in others may be less than those charged by this Society. But it is evident that all parties effecting assurances in this Society, must do so on the lowest possible scale of premium, because any excess in that rate, after providing for the actual losses that occur in a select and healthy body of individuals, forms a corresponding excess of surplus fund, which belongs, and is returned in the most beneficial manner to the assured. The rate of premium charged in this office must therefore be considered as a temporary equalizing contribution to the funds of the Society, regulated, in the first instance, by the respective ages of the parties, but ultimately, by the decrement of human life that has actually taken place among the members, who are accordingly entitled to a subsequent adjustment of their interests at the periodical investigations, and not as a sum of money or premium absolutely paid down to a body of proprietors, who receive the whole, or greater part of the profits, in return for a guarantee and advance of capital, which experience has proved to be as disadvantageous to the assured as it is unnecessary. These remarks are not meant to strike, in the most remote degree, at the justice or fairness of the principles on which those offices are founded, who carry on the business of Life Assurance as trading companies. But where the benefits of Life Assurance are afforded by trading companies, it can only be on the principle and prospect of profit to themselves. This must be their basis, and the advantage of the assured must necessarily be a secondary object. If, therefore, those Proprietary Offices, who (as is, however, the case in very few instances) charge less premiums than the equalizing contributions charged by the Scottish Life Assurance Society, can nevertheless carry on a profitable trade, (and unless they ould do so, they would not carry it on at all),—then it is evident that any excess in the premiums or equalizing contributions of this Institution, will only lead to a greater amount of profit or surplus fund, which is the sole property of the members at large. It is unnecessary to state the contrast, on the other hand, between those Proprietary Offices, who, at the same time that they charge higher rates of premium than the premiums or equalizing contributions charged by the Scottish Life Assurance Society, return to the assured either no part, or only a small part, of the enormous profits which they are thus enabled to realize.
1824-5.

Although, therefore, some of these Proprietary Offices, and particularly those lately established offices who are now contributing their exertions to extend that knowledge of the benefits of Life Assurance in Scotland, which this Institution was the first to disseminate, may be well entitled to patronage and support, from the liberality of their proposals, (considered as trading companies, who must either realize profits or discontinue business); and although there may be a few assurances of a particular class, in which they may even put themselves fairly in competition with the terms offered by this Office, still it is evident that, to all parties desirous of effecting assurances, with the view of making provision for their families in the most secure and beneficial manner, (comprehending by far the most important and numerous class of assurers), the Scottish Life Assurance Society offers advantages which no other institution, founded on different principles, can rationally hold out. The Equitable Office, on the original model of which, as already mentioned, this Institution is founded, is a striking practical proof of the truth of this remark. The immense returns which the early assurers at that distinguished Office have received, have been a source of the most valuable benefits to thousands of families; and it is in the sincere prospect that the Scottish Life Assurance Society (or, as it was termed in the original prospectus, the Scottish Equitable Society) may be instrumental in dispensing the same benefits, and that an early policy opened in it may at no distant day be considered as equally valuable with an early policy of the Equitable Office, (making allowance for the difference between England and Scotland as fields for Life Assurance), that the advantages of the Institution are now held out to the Public.

The Directors, satisfied with that sure and substantial approval of their claims, testified by the daily increasing business of the Society, have not been in the habit of frequently obtruding the claims of the Society on the Public attention; but under the zealous and praiseworthy efforts which are at present making to extend a knowledge of the benefits of Life Assurance; they consider it proper, in justice to the Public, themselves, and their constituents, to make the benefits of this Institution, in which private and public advantage are inseparably united, more widely known.

There is one circumstance which cannot escape public attention, and which is not only sufficiently indicative of the value of the principle on which the Institution is founded, but which must give a double efficacy to this and any statement which may be submitted to the Public, viz. the total impossibility of self-interested or partial views mingling with the measures of the Society, or influencing their statements. There are no separate or distinct interests in the Society, nor indeed any difference in the rights and privileges of the members, farther than that which is necessarily and justly created by the comparative extent of the sums assured, and the duration of the period during which the policies have existed. The members are all essentially on the same footing; and the interests of the individual members can only be promoted through the prosperity of the whole body collectively. This single feature of the Institution at once distinguishes it from those establishments where there is an extensive body of proprietors or share-holders, and where, therefore, there is a separate and consequently a conflicting interest with that of the great body of the assured.

It is only farther necessary, that the Directors obviate two remarks, which may possibly occur in reading this statement, viz. that if such be the great comparative value of the principle on which this Society is formed, and such the advantages that result from it, why is not the same principle adopted by all other establishments for the purpose of Life Assurance?—or, at all events, why are not other establishments on the same principle set on foot, and equal advantages realized?—and if such establishments were set on foot, where would be the ground of preference to the Scottish Life Assurance Society? The answer to the first of these remarks is obvious: Those offices who carry on Life Assurance as trading companies, the very basis of which must be the prospect of profit, cannot consistently adopt and act on a principle, the leading feature of which is, the total exclusion of any separate interest, by which the profits of the Society can be even partially absorbed. The answer to the second of these remarks, although perhaps not quite so obvious, is, when explained, equally conclusive. The difficulties with which an institution of this kind has to encounter at its first outset are formidable. Commencing without either capital or responsibility, (both of which wants, although necessarily inherent in the system at its outset, are yet sufficiently discouraging), they must patiently wait the progress of time and of events before they could present any prospect to their members farther than that of a speculation, which, if founded on just principles, and regulated by correct calculation, might probably prosper, but which, by any unforeseen and accidental contingencies, at variance with their calculations, might either be involved in most serious difficulties, or entirely overthrown. The possibility of such occurrences was one of the greatest difficulties which this Institution had, in the period of its own infancy, to encounter; and that it was, in the course of a few years, enabled successfully to get through them, must be ascribed partly to the patience and perseverance of the earlier members, who thus risked their own means in the outset, and partly to the casualties in the Society falling very considerably below, instead of exceeding, the ratio of mortality contemplated in the calculations on which it proceeded. But now this Society, which has existed for ten years, and is not only in the actual possession of a large accumulated fund and annual revenue, amply sufficient to meet all its claims, but known to be already in the possession of a surplus fund, arising from a careful selection of lives and favourable investments of capital, can offer to the Public all the advantages necessarily resulting from the principle on which it is founded, combined with a security at least equal to that offered by those establishments who carry on Life Assurance as trading companies. Its claims of preference on the Public attention, as an Institution formed and carried on solely for the public benefit, are therefore complete, and the Directors do not doubt that they will be duly appreciated.

The rates of premium, or equalizing contributions, charged by the Society, are lower than those charged by most of the London Offices, as may be seen from the following specimen, viz.

The principles which have been now shortly stated are embodied in the following Resolutions, which were adopted at the Tenth Annual General Court of the Society, held in the Waterloo Tavern, on 10th November last, (George Joseph Bell, Esq. advocate, Professor of Scots Law, the then senior Vice-President, in the Chair, in the unavoidable absence of the President, the Right Hon. the Earl of Rosebery,) viz.

The following Resolution having been moved by the Right Honourable the Lord Provost, and seconded by Claud Russell, Esq. was unanimously adopted, viz.

1st, Resolved, That although this Society is now no longer the only National Institution in Scotland carrying on the business of Life Assurance, and although it is gratifying to observe that the important benefits of Life Assurance are now beginning to be so well understood, and so generally secured, either through the medium of this or other establishments; yet it is matter of great congratulation to the Members of this Society, that it was the first parent institution which disseminated through this part of the kingdom a knowledge of the principles and advantages of Life Assurance, and has most successfully afforded an opportunity to its members, and the country at large, of securing those advantages on the most liberal and equitable terms.

The following Resolution having been moved by James Moncrieff, Esq. advocate, and seconded by Thomas Beveridge, Esq. was unanimously adopted, viz.

2d, Resolved, That while the Members of this Society hail with feelings of cordial satisfaction the institution of those other establishments which are now adding their exertions to those of this Society in making the advantages of Life Assurance still more generally known, and while they doubt not that these exertions will meet with proper encouragement, still it is due to those who are more immediately connected with this Society, to impress on them and on the public, that the peculiar principles on which this Society is formed are such as must necessarily give it a decided preference to all proprietary establishments; for although the terms offered by those proprietary establishments, which profess either to make or not to make returns to the assured, may be all more or less liberal, still it is only such an institution as this that can rationally offer to the assured a fair participation in the WHOLE surplus funds or profits of the office: That this important advantage, which is well known as the leading principle of that highly important national establishment, the Equitable Office of London, and by the observance of which it has attained to that unparalleled height of prosperity which it now enjoys, is also the distinguishing feature of this institution, which is founded on the original model of the Equitable Society: That, moreover, the now flourishing state of the fund, and the constant progressive increase in the number of Members and annual revenue, afford every security to new Members that any proprietary establishment can offer to the insured, while the permanence and stability of the institution, and the ultimate advantages to be obtained from a participation in the surplus funds, are much more effectually guaranteed.

The following Resolution having been moved by James Balfour, Esq. of Pilrig, and seconded by Robert Scott Moncrieff, Esq. advocate, was unanimously adopted, viz.

3d, Resolved, That it is highly gratifying to the General Court to observe, from the various statements laid before them this day, that the business of the Society has so much increased during the last year, and that the extent of the fund and of the annual revenue, compared with the amount of the sums paid on account of the policies which have emerged, afford a reasonable prospect of a large addition to the benefits, or corresponding diminution of the premiums, at the ensuing period of investigation, which takes place at 1st January 1825: That the results shewn in these statements could not have been produced without the unwearied exertions of the Directors and Office-bearers, to whom, therefore, both as a body and individuals, the thanks of this Court are particularly due.

The following Resolution having been moved by James Gibson Craig, Esq. of Riccarton, (who in the course of his address took occasion particularly to notice the liberality and punctuality with which the Directors had invariably settled all losses, and the fact, that, with one exception, under very particular circumstances, to which he alluded, there never had been a farthing of expense incurred in litigation, or any necessity for even having recourse to arbitration), and seconded by William Scott 1824-5.

Moncrieff, Esq. of Newhalls, was also unanimously adopted, viz.

4th, Resolved, That at the same time that the statement laid this day before the General Court, shewing the sums that have become payable from the funds of the Society in consequence of the decease of parties assured, is of itself the most striking proof of the great usefulness of this institution, it is satisfactory to understand, that the amount of the sums which have become payable in consequence of emerged policies both in this and the previous years, has, from the great care that has been exercised in the selection of good lives, been very much under the average amount that might have been expected from the number of lives, and amount of sums assured. That although it is unusual to notice the particular names contained in such a statement, yet as a mark of respect so justly due to that highly distinguished individual, this General Court cannot omit the opportunity of noticing, with the most deep and heartfelt regret, that it contains the name of the Right Honourable John Earl of Hopetoun, who had early taken an interest in this Institution, and enrolled himself as one of its members.

Copies of the Prospectus, containing an ample exposition of the principles and Rules of the Society, together with the Tables of Rates, may be had gratis at the Society's Office, No. 2. South St David's-street, where every information may be obtained.

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY.

ASSURANCE on Lives, that is, securing the receipt of a sum of money at the failure of a life, by the payment of a small annual premium while the life subsists, is found to be of benefit and advantage to persons having offices, employments, estates, or other incomes which cease and determine with their lives, as it enables them to provide for their families or representatives after their decease.—Also, to persons holding offices, &c. during the lives of others, as, by the same means, they may secure themselves from the loss which they would otherwise sustain by the death of such persons; to a borrower or debtor, by affording a collateral security for a loan or debt; to a husband in possession of an entailed estate, as a provision for younger children. And many other instances of its usefulness are continually occurring in the affairs of life.

The Managers have had premiums calculated proportional to the values of the risks at the different periods of life; which, under 45 years of age when the assurance is for the whole of life, and under 55 for shorter periods, are considerably lower than are generally required:—viz.

This Institution consists of a numerous and opulent body of Proprietors, who have subscribed a Capital for the security of the Insured, which, with all accumulations, is wholly vested in Government and real securities, in the names of the above Trustees. The Institution, established in 1807, already ranks as the second Provincial Office in the kingdom, as is proved by the amount of duty paid into the Stamp Office. This decided mark of public approbation has induced the Directors to conduct the business of the Institution on a more extensive scale, and they have accordingly appointed Agents in the under-mentioned places in Scotland.—

FIRE-OFFICE.

A return of one-fourth part of the Profits is allowed to the Insured every five years, provided they shall have insured two years at least at the time of declaring the dividend.

The advantage attending this plan has been realized by the actual payment of three dividends. Hence a considerable reduction of Premium has accrued to those who have effected Insurances in this Office.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

Insurances are effected at rates 10 per cent lower than usually paid in such transactions, so that the 1824-5.

many and important objects of this branch of Insurance may thus be secured at a very moderate expense.

ANNUITIES granted and purchased upon liberal terms.

The object of this institution is to combine the advantages of all the earlier establishments, to remedy their acknowledged defects, and to give to the persons assured that influence in the general management, which their important interests demand. In the Life Department, greater advantages have been secured to the public than have been offered by any other Society; four-fifths of the estimated profit will be added every seventh year by way of Bonus to the Policies effected for the whole Term of Life, and the remaining one-fifth will be transferred to the subscribed Capital, and preserved untouched, to form a continually-increasing guarantee to the Assured.

The Holders of Policies, effected for the whole Term of Life, will have votes in common with the Proprietors at all General Meetings, and possess the advantages of a Proprietor in every other respect, excepting qualification for office, which is derived from holding Shares in the Capital Stock of the Society.

In the Fire Department equal attention has been paid to the interests of the Assured, and many important advantages are held out for their consideration: four-fifths of the profit will be allowed to persons who have been Insured with the Society for Seven Years, whether by Septennial or Annual Payments, and the remaining one-fifth will be added to the subscribed Capital, as in the Department of Life Assurance.

No Entrance-money is charged, and no charge is made for Policies except the stamp duties. Proposals and Tables of Fire and Life Assurance may be had gratis, by applying to any of the Society's Agents as under—Glasgow, Mr Robt. Knox, writer; Aberdeen, Mr Jas. Nicol, advocate; Banff, Mr Ed. Mortimer, writer; Greenock, Messrs Lamont & Gemmel; Paisley, Mr Wm. Barr, writer.

The Directors have pleasure in announcing to the Inhabitants of Edinburgh, that they have already lighted several shops in Prince's street, where the Oil Gas may be seen burning. And as the price brings it as near as possible on a par with Coal Gas, they trust for a share of public favour.

This Company has adopted the use of gas meters as an object to increase the demand for gas, by affording that accommodation to the Public which is indispensable to the more general introduction of this species of light in dwelling-houses, and other private as well as public situations, where no satisfactory estimate could be made of the consumption of the gas by any other means.

The oil gas, by means of its purity and this useful invention, is at length rendered what has been so long desired,—a light for all possible situations where it can be manufactured. It can now be used with as much comfort and convenience in dwelling-houses as in shops, manufactories, or public buildings, at an expense exactly proportionate to the quantity consumed.

Previous to the use of the meter, the proprietors of gas light establishments were under the necessity of charging a certain annual rate upon every burner, under an agreement with the consumer, that he should put out his light at a certain hour every night; and any encroachment upon this restriction was sure to occasion complaints and remonstrances unpleasant to both parties; whereas, by means of the meter, the gas is paid for by actual measurement, and the consumer is relieved from all restraint. He uses the light when he pleases, and pays for no more than the exact quantity consumed, in the same way as he has been accustomed to do for any other source of light.

When, for instance, it is convenient to put out or reduce any of the burners during the absence of company, he has the benefit of his own economy: and by keeping the flame at a moderate height, he not only saves expense of gas to himself, but it will be more perfectly consumed; and, being altogether free from any smoke or unpleasant vapour, it will produce a more brilliant light than the finest candles or purest oil, at a considerable saving of expense for an equal quantity of light.

Price of Oil Gas by the Leith Gas-Light Company.

For every 100 cubic feet, registered by meter,	-	4s.
For use of meter per annum,	- - -	8s.
No. 1. argand burner 10 holes consumes per hour,	-	1 foot
No. 2. do. do. 14 holes,	- - -	1 $\frac{1}{2}$ do.
1 jet large $\frac{1}{3}$ foot	Small do.	$\frac{1}{4}$ do.
2 jet do. $\frac{2}{3}$ do.	do. do.	$\frac{1}{2}$ do.
3 jet do. 1 do.	do. do.	$\frac{3}{4}$ do.

And so on in proportion to the number of jets.

Where argand burners are adopted, it is recommended always to use a cylindrical glass, and not to raise the flame higher than two inches, as the brilliancy of the light is impaired with a longer flame, and a greater quantity of gas is consumed than necessary.

In using jet burners where no glass is necessary, the length of flame should be the same.

The payments for gas and meter to be charged quarterly.

Applications for service pipes to be made to the manager at the works, 23. Baltic-street, Leith, or left at the shop of Messrs Purves and Dobie, 46. Prince's-street, Edinburgh, which will meet with immediate attention.
