ANGER will find them invaluable in allaying the hoarseness and irritation incidental to vocal exertion, and also a powerful auxiliary in the production of MELODIOUS ENUNCIATION.

ST PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.

SIR,—I have much pleasure in recommending your Lozenges to those who may be distressed with Hoarseness. They have afforded me relief on several occasions when scarcely able to sing from the effects of Catarrh. I think they would be very useful to Clergymen, Barristers, and Public Orators.—I am, Sir, yours faithfully,
THOMAS FRANCIS, Vicar Choral.

To Mr KEATING.

Copy of a Letter from COLONEL HAWKER (the well-known Author on "GUNS AND SHOOTING.")

LONGPARISH HOUSE, NEAR WHITCHURCH, HANTS.

SIR,—I cannot resist informing you of the extraordinary effect I have experienced by taking only a few of your LOZENGES. I had a cough for several weeks that defied all that had been prescribed for me; and yet I got completely rid of it by taking about half a small box of your Lozenges, which I find are the only ones that relieve the cough without deranging the stomach or digestive organs.—I am, Sir, your humble servant,
P. HAWKER.

To Mr KEATING, 79 St Paul's Churchyard.

Prepared and Sold in Boxes, 1s. 1½d., and Tins, 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 10s. 6d. each, by THOMAS KEATING, Chemist, &c., 79 St Paul's Churchyard, London. Retail by all Druggists.

KEATING'S PERSIAN INSECT-DESTROYING POWDER.

THIS Powder is quite harmless to Animal Life, but is unrivalled in destroying Fleas, Bugs, Emmets, Flies, Cockroaches, Beetles, Gnats, Mosquitoes, Moths
in Furs, and every other species of insects in all stages of metamorphosis.

SPORTSMEN will find this an invaluable remedy for destroying FLEAS IN THEIR DOGS, as also Ladies for their Pet Dogs, and sprinkled about the nests of Poultry it will be found extremely efficacious in exterminating those Insects with which they are usually infested. It is perfectly harmless in its nature, and may be applied without any apprehension, AS IT HAS NO QUALITIES DELETERIOUS TO ANIMAL LIFE.

RED LAND, NEAR HIGHWORTH, WILTS, June 19th, 1867.

SIR,—I am glad to inform you that your Insect-Destroying Powder has done its duty towards destroying bugs and fleas, and all sorts of other insects, and as it answers my purpose so well, I want another packet, if you please.—With thanks, I remain your humble servant,

REUBEN ELDRIDGE.

THIS Society is founded on the MUTUAL principle, according to which the WHOLE OF THE PROFITS belong to the Assured. As a consequence of this, large Additions have been declared to Policy-holders at the successive Investigations which have been made into the Society's affairs; the Rates of Bonus having ranged from $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 per cent. per annum, calculated not only on the Original Sums Assured, but also on the previous Bonus Additions. It likewise makes a PROSPECTIVE BONUS ADDITION to all participating Policies which become Claims during the currency of a Septennium, thus securing to its Members all the advantages of an ANNUAL DIVISION OF PROFITS, without any of its disadvantages.

ATTENTION is particularly invited to the Society's original and economical system of "MINIMUM PREMIUMS;" also to the Liberal terms of its Policies, which now permit the Assured, after remaining five consecutive years in this country (or other country for which the Home Rates are chargeable) to travel or reside in any part of the World without payment of Extra Premium.

Prospectuses and Forms of Proposal may be had on application.

Banker—THE NATIONAL BANK OF SCOTLAND.

Solicitor—CHARLES MORTON, W.S., Crown Agent.

Auditor—A. GILLIES SMITH, C.A.

Medical Officer—JOHN DUNCAN, M.D., 12 Heriot Row.

THE ADVANTAGES OFFERED, AS COMPARED WITH OTHER OFFICES, ARE—

A greatly Larger Original Assurance for the same Premium, with the prospect, to good lives (for whom exclusively the whole Profits are reserved), of eventually receiving very considerable additions.

Thus, a Policy for £1200 or £1250 can at most ages be had, from the first, for the premium charged elsewhere for £1000 only. Policies for £1000 which have shared at three Septennial Investigations have already been increased to £1400, £1600, and some even to £1800.

THIS SOCIETY has taken a leading part in removing all RESTRICTIONS on Policies, and all GROUNDS of CHALLENGE. So long ago as 1849 it was declared that error in the original statements should not involve forfeiture, unless proved to have been fraudulent as well as untrue.

Foreign Residence and Travel.—Members (not seafaring men) are now at liberty, free of charge, to travel or reside in any part of the world (Asia excepted) north of 35° N. and south of 30° S. The Directors are also empowered, under certain conditions, to grant Certificates of Exemption from all restrictions.

Fixed Surrender Values, or Equivalent Free Policies.—In the event of inability to continue to pay the Annual Premiums, Members have, by an original rule of the Institution, the alternative of receiving, on surrender, the fair value of their Policy, in cash, according to a fixed Table, or a new Policy, free of Premiums, for an amount corresponding to the value.

Examples of Annual Premium for Assurance of £100 at Death, (with Profits.)

AGE.	25	30	35	40	45	50
Payable during life,	£1 18 0	£2 1 6	£2 6 10	£2 14 9	£3 5 9	£4 1 7
Limited to 21 years,	£2 12 6	£2 15 4	£3 0 2	£3 7 5	£3 17 6	£4 12 1

Thus a person of 30 may secure £1000 at death, with Profits, for a yearly premium of £20, 15s., which in the other Scottish Mutual Offices would assure £800 only.

Or, if unwilling to burden himself with payments during the whole of his life, he may secure a policy for £1000, with prospect of additions from the Profits, for a Premium of £27, 13s. 4d., limited to twenty-one payments, being nearly the same as most Offices require during the whole term of life.

Tables of Premiums, to cease after 7, 14, or other number of years, may be had.

Above 19,000 Policies issued. Subsisting Assurances nearly Six and a half Millions. Annual Revenue, £240,000. Accumulated Fund, arising entirely from Premiums, above One and a half Millions, all invested in unexceptionable securities in this country.

Reports, Tables of Rates, and every information, may be had on application.

Clauses in the Edinburgh Police Acts and Provisional Order affecting the Interests of Householders.

Bread to have the Weight impressed upon it.

By section 106 of the Edinburgh Provisional Order, all bakers and dealers in bread are bound to impress upon all bread made or exposed by them for sale, (excepting fancy bread or rolls,) in large and distinct figures, the imperial weight of such bread; and any person exposing for sale or selling bread not so impressed is liable in a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each offence. A like penalty is incurred by those who sell bread under the weight impressed upon it.

Adulterated Food.

By the Act 23 and 24 Vict. cap. 84, the sale of adulterated articles of food or drink is prohibited; and the Edinburgh Police Act of 1848, sec. 117, enacts: That any person selling, or exposing for sale, butter, meal, bread, or other article of food which is adulterated, shall, upon conviction before a judge, for every such offence, be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, and to the forfeiture of such adulterated article.

Drying Clothes.

By Section 99 of the Edinburgh Provisional Order, every person who hangs or places any linen or clothes, or other such article, on any rail or fence of any premises, or who places any line, cord, or pole across, upon, or over any part of any street or court, or who hangs or places any clothes thereon, or on the outside of any window fronting any street or court, is liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each offence.

Beating Carpets.

By the same section, every person who beats or shakes any carpet, rug, or mat (except rugs or mats shaken before the hour of eight in the morning), is liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each offence.

Cleaning Windows.

By the same section, every occupier of any house or other building, or other person, who orders or permits any person in his service to stand on the sill of any window, in order to clean, paint, or perform any other operation upon the outside of such window, or upon any house or other building, unless such window be in the sunk or basement story, is liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each offence.

Flower-Pots at Windows.

By the same section, every person who fixes or places any flower-pot, or box, or other heavy article, in any upper window, without sufficiently guarding the same against being blown down, is liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each offence.

Ashes, Rubbish, &c.

By the same section, every person who throws or lays any dirt, litter, or ashes or nightsoil, or any carrion, fish, offal, or rubbish, slops, or dirty water, on any street, back area, court, or place within the burgh, or causes or allows any matter, solid or liquid, to fall or run on any street or court: provided always, that it shall not be deemed an offence to lay sand or other materials in any street or court in time of frost to prevent accidents, or litter or other suitable materials to prevent the freezing of water in pipes, or in case of sickness to prevent noise, if the person laying any such things causes them to be removed as soon as the occasion for them ceases, is liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each offence.

Water and Water-Closets.

The 74th section of the Provisional Order makes it incumbent on the proprietor of every house, or part of a house, within the burgh, occupied by a separate family, to introduce water into it, and to fit up, in some window, recess, or other well-lighted and ventilated place, a sink with a sufficient soil-pipe, and also, wherever practicable, and in a position to be approved of by the burgh engineer, a proper water-closet. If, however, the magistrates and council deem it unadvisable to introduce a water-closet into each house or part of a house, they may require, after a month's notice, the owners of a tenement to construct on each flat, or in some convenient place adjacent to such tenement, a sufficient number of water-closets for the use of each sex of the occupiers of said tenement.

Water-Closets to be Ventilated.

According to the Edinburgh Provisional Order, section 76, owners of houses, the water-closets in which ventilate into common-stairs, are bound, whenever the medical officer shall certify the same to be offensive, to adopt all practical means to have such water-closets ventilated by direct communication with the open air, or in such other manner as the magistrates and council may order; and persons failing so to do may incur a penalty of forty shillings for every day the default is continued.

Penalty for introducing Ashes, &c., into Soil-Pipes.

Any person who shall cause, or knowingly or by culpable neglect permit to enter into the soil-pipe connected with any sink or water-closet, ashes or other matter calculated to choke the same, shall, as provided in section 51 of the Edinburgh Police Amendment Act, be liable in a penalty not exceeding forty shillings, besides repairing the damage caused by such offence.

Common Stairs, &c., to be Cleaned.

By section 197 of the Edinburgh Police Act, 1848, it is enacted that the occupiers of every house, flat, or story entered by a common stair or passage, shall cause the stair and passages immediately below the flat or story possessed by them to be swept every lawful day, and washed at least twice a-week, and all areas connected therewith to be swept every lawful day; and if any flat or story of the tenement be unoccupied, the occupiers of the flats or stories above shall cause the stairs and passages below such empty flat or story to be swept and washed downwards to the next house which shall be occupied, or to the street, and the passages from the bottom of the stair, landing-places, and steps to the street shall be swept and washed by the occupiers of the house or flat nearest the said landing-place or bottom of the stair; and all areas and common passages leading to cellars shall be cleansed weekly by the occupiers of the cellars in the same, or by parties having a right to use such areas or passages, or who shall use such areas or passages, and every person offending herein shall for each offence be liable to a penalty of five shillings; and in cases where the common stair enters from the street above, the occupiers of every house, flat, or story shall be bound, every lawful day, to sweep, and twice a-week, to wash the passage or stair from the street or flat immediately above them downwards to the house, flat, or story possessed by them, and also to cleanse any area connected therewith; and if any flat or story of the tenement be unoccupied, the occupiers of the flats or houses occupied shall be bound to sweep and wash the stair and passages upwards to the street, and cleanse the area, if there be one, on to the next house that shall be occupied, all in like manner, and under a penalty of five shillings for each offence: provided always that it shall be lawful, under a like penalty, to compel owners or parties having charge of property to cleanse out cellars and apartments which may be unoccupied.

Lighting Common Stairs.

Section 27 of the Provisional Order makes it incumbent on the owner or owners of common stairs, passages, private courts, or of lands or premises having a right of access by any common stair, passage, or private court, to provide and erect all necessary lamps for lighting the same in a suitable manner, under a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for every day's delay in doing so beyond the period allowed by the magistrates when they order the same to be accomplished; and, according to section 28, if the lamp or lamps, after having been erected, are not kept regularly cleaned and lighted, during the hours fixed by the magistrates and council, by the occupiers of any building or part of a building to which access is obtained by a common stair, passage, or court, a penalty not exceeding ten shillings for each offence is incurred by every occupier failing to do so.

Common Stairs to be Painted and Ventilated.

Owners of common stairs and passages are required, by section 125 of the Provisional Order, to have the same whitewashed or painted, and provided with proper means of ventilation, to the satisfaction of the burgh engineer or inspector of cleansing.

Penalty for Chimneys taking Fire.

Section 170 enacts that if any chimney accidentally catch or be on fire, the occupier of the premises in which such chimney is situated shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten shillings: provided always that such fine shall not be incurred if the occupier prove to the satisfaction of the judge before whom the case is heard that the fire was in nowise owing to omission, neglect, or carelessness of himself or servant. Should the chimney, however, be wilfully set on fire, the person doing so, or causing it to be done, may, according to section 171, be fined to the extent of five pounds, and may also be prosecuted before a criminal court.

Removal of Furniture during certain Hours may be Stopped.

Section 168 of the Edinburgh Police Act empowers any police officer to stop and detain, until due inquiry can be made, any cart or carriage, and any person in charge thereof or connected therewith, found employed removing furniture between the hours of eight in the evening and six in the morning, except at the usual fitting terms.

Goods or Money Found to be Reported to Police.

All goods, money, or other articles found within the burgh, and for which at the time the same are found no owner may be known, must, in accordance with section 113 of the Provisional Order, be reported at the Police Office by the person finding the same; and if such person shall take possession of the goods, money, or other articles found by him, and shall fail to report the same as aforesaid within forty-eight hours, he shall be deemed guilty of an offence, and be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds; and if the finder shall appropriate the articles found to his own use, he shall be deemed guilty of a higher offence, and be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds, besides restoring the same to the owner thereof.

Promotion of Public Health.

Sections 48, 49, and 50 of "The Public Health (Scotland) Act, 1867," enact that—

1. If any person suffering from any infectious disorder shall enter, or any person in charge of an individual so suffering shall place such person in a steamboat, sailing vessel, railway carriage, stage coach, hackney carriage, or other public conveyance, without previously notifying to the owner or person in charge thereof that such individual is so suffering, the person so contravening this provision shall, on conviction before a judge, be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

2. Any person suffering from any infectious disorder who wilfully exposes himself in any street, public place, or public conveyance, and any person who, without previous disinfection, knowingly gives, lends, sells, transmits, or exposes any bedding, clothing, rags, or other things which have been exposed to infection from disease, shall, on conviction, be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

3. If any person knowingly lets any house, room, or part of a house, in which any individual suffering from any infectious disorder has been, without having such house or room, and all articles therein liable to retain infection, disinfected to the satisfaction of a qualified medical practitioner, as testified by a certificate given by him and lodged with the sanitary inspector, such person shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds. For the purposes of this section, the keeper of an inn or hotel shall be deemed to let part of a house to any person admitted as a guest into such inn or hotel.

Regarding Appearance in Police Court.

Any accused person summoned to answer to any complaint charging an offence inferring merely the payment of a fine and the finding of caution, may appear by agent, or other party duly authorised by the said person to act for him.—(Edinb. Police Act.)

Penalty for Witnesses not Appearing.

If any person who has been duly cited to appear as a witness before the judge of police fail to do so, the judge is empowered, by section 179 of the Provisional Order, to grant warrant to have such person apprehended, and to commit him to prison until he finds security to appear to give evidence, and may also, in open court, and in a summary manner, sentence such person to a penalty not exceeding five pounds; or if any person summoned as a witness shall refuse to be sworn or examined touching or concerning the subject-matter of complaint, the judge of police may grant warrant to commit such person to prison for any period not exceeding sixty days.

THE PUBLIC BUILDINGS AND PLACES OF INTEREST IN THE CITY.

EDINBURGH, which is now a city of judgment-halls and churches, with its schools of learning, academies of art, and marts of industry, covering an area of above six miles in circuit, and including a population of about 170,000, was for centuries a paltry village of mean straw-thatched huts, occupying the upper section of the ridge of the central of the three eminences on which, as a full-grown city, it is now situated, and was surrounded on all sides by a dense natural forest, interspersed with heaths and marshes, infested by the elk, the wild boar, and the wolf. It is unquestionably daughter of the magnificent fortress of rock which, seven acres in area at-top, rises sheer, often to a height of 250 feet, above the adjoining valleys, and the use of which as a military stronghold dates from the early days of the Saxon heptarchy.

When the city first burst the confines of the area of the Castle rock, and began to extend along the ridge declining eastward, history does not deign to inform us; but it already figures as a considerable village so early as 854, and from the year 1020 it ceases, with the adjacent territory, to belong to Northumbria, and becomes henceforth subject de jure, if not always de facto, to the kings of Scotland. The village, which the city then was, was first raised to the rank of a burgh in 1129, by David I., who held his court in the Castle; and it was he who founded the Abbey of Holyrood, and granted, by charter, to its canons the power to erect the burgh of Canongate, between the "church and the town." William the Lion, the second in succession to David, first gave to the city the dignity of a royal burgh, assembled within it the estates of the realm, and converted it into a place of mintage for the king's currency; and Alexander III. made it the depository of the insignia of royalty and the records of the kingdom.

In 1327-28, Robert the Bruce held a convention of estates in the Abbey of Holyrood, in which representatives of the city, as a burgh, sat and deliberated; and in such honour was the city held by this prince, that we find him, in the following year, conferring upon the corporation lordship over "the harbour and mills of Leith, with their appurtenances, for payment of 22 merks yearly." So small and mean, however, was this now proud city, that up to this period and later, it would appear, the population did not amount to more than 2000, housed in mere thatch-roofed fabrics, 400 in number, and none of them above 20 feet in elevation; and so stinted was the accommodation, that Froisart, who visited it in 1384, found within it no available lodging worthy of the knights that accompanied him, who were, in consequence, compelled to take up their quarters in the Castle of Dalkeith. About this time, however, the Cathedral of St Giles comes into view as a central interest in the life of the city, and the city itself begins to figure as a "villa" on the coinage of the kingdom.

About 1438, the city became the favourite residence of the kings of the Stuart family; and to the traditions of the Stuart period it was probably owing that the courtly people who inhabited it during the last century, were so generally imbued with Jacobite principles.

James III., by special proclamation, constituted the provost hereditary sheriff within the burgh, raised to the rank of a county, vested the Town Council with legislative powers within the same limits, and presented the incorporated trades with the banner commonly called the "blue blanket," and still, it seems, or its simulacrum, in custody of the convener.

In the days of Mary of Guise, and her better known but ill-starred daughter, the ancient royalty began to assume the shape in which, in the main, we still find it—as a dense array of tall stone fabrics, mostly small-windowed, and at length, in some cases, six and even ten storeys in height, in a street extending, inclusive of the Canongate, a mile in length, from the Castle continuously downwards to the palace of Holyrood, with as many erelong as one hundred closes,—themselves miniature streets of houses as lofty,—sometimes not more than four or five feet wide, branching away, at right angles to the main street, down to the valleys running parallel with the line of the city on the north and south. Up to this time the only churchyard in the city covered the slope between the cathedral and the Cowgate; but now Queen Mary made a grant of the gardens of the monastery of the Greyfriars for a cemetery; and by and by, though slowly (for John Knox was buried here), the space round St Giles's became covered with houses, especially workshops, more densely than any other part of the city. In 1561, the Tolbooth, the "Heart of Mid-Lothian," was erected, at the instance of the Queen, almost in the centre of the street, with its south-east corner slightly overlapping the north-west angle of St Giles; and stood there, after various fortunes, till about half a century ago,—a dark-frowning, dismal pile, of five or six storeys, with, at length, a two storeyed wing looking up the street, the roof of which formed the scaffold for public executions. At its original erection, it appears to have been something of a town-house and place of exchange, if not a senate-hall and court of justice; but it ere long degenerated into a cage for criminals, and a place, literally, of skulls. Down from it all the way between the church and the north side of the street, forming in its totality the part of the town called the Luckenbooths, extended an exceedingly narrow range of comparatively slender erections, between which and the church was a lane of shops called the Krames. A stone building of greater width, ere long terminated this range at its eastern extremity, looked down the street, the ground floor of which, down some eight or ten steps, was latterly occupied by the only button-maker then in Edinburgh; and the middle street floor, up some two or three steps, by "honest" Allan Ramsay, who worthily kept shop here under the effigies of Drummond of Hawthornden, and "rare old Ben" Jonson; and, at length, by Creech, the publisher of the works of Adam Smith and Hume, and the poems of Burns. All round the church, booths were by and by erected; but those on and towards the south, forming the northern side of the Parliament Close, could only be occupied by bookbinders, goldsmiths, jewellers, or watchmakers, all of whom not only for most part lived, with large families often, upon the premises, but wrought with their own hands at their work, which, without keeping stock in store, they executed to order. In this region, facing the church on the south-west, stood, in the days of James VI., the workshop of George Heriot; and here, with apparatus still extant, he plied his honourable calling, within a space only seven feet square, yet in which he could give audience to Majesty, and, Majesty being witness, burn a bond the king had given him for £2000.

Within the limits we have indicated, the city continued to confine itself all through the reigns of James I. and the Charleses. Only in the days of Charles II., when his brother, the Duke of York, resided in Holyrood, were suggestions made for extending the royalty northward; but it was not till well on in the reign of George III., that the suggestions were vigorously taken up and carried into execution. Thus, for two or three hundred years after the city became the acknowledged capital of the kingdom, were the citizens content with the ancient barriers; and yet the appearance presented, with its tall piles, three main spires, grand castle rock, and the striking contour of its situation and environment, was a singularly imposing one. Such was the city as it seemed to My Lord Protector when he was honourably escorted into Edinburgh, on the 4th of October 1648; such it was as known in transitu twice over to humanely-devout, rough, old Samuel Johnson, and, nearly through life, to his contemporary, the clear-minded, candid, and intrepid, all but European, David Hume, who, with him, had been "the whole man of this new time;" and so too it looked to Oliver Goldsmith when attending classes in the University; to Robert Burns, also, and the young eyes of Walter Scott.

In its antique form, the city was a focus of memories, dear to all Scotchmen, and nothing wonderful was it that patriotic citizens, in whose eyes the integrity of the civic life was deemed as sacred as, if not more so than, that of the individual, should have hesitated to accept innovations sure to rupture old ties, dissolve the most hallowed associations and revolutionise the manners of the whole community. Accordingly, when Provost Drummond, after a world of effort, succeeded with the public, and proceeded, 21st October 1763, to lay the foundation stone of the North Bridge, it was rather by representing to them the excellent roadway it would open up to Leith than as a means of extension to the city, that he gained his point and obtained the sanction of his fellow-citizens. But it was not till 1767 that an Act of Parliament was obtained for extending the royalty, "over the fields to northward;" and it was 1772 before, at a cost of £18,000, the structure was finished as a public highway. Pending the nine years which elapsed between the foundation and the completion, a number of citizens, disgusted with the delay, began to build a new town on the south, partly within and partly beyond the confines of the royalty. Thus originated Brown Square, Argyle Square, Adam Square, and George Square, with streets adjoining; and the new town thus created, both retarded the extension of the city northward, and constituted a new, separate, and independent focus of social life, an imperium in imperio of tastes and fashions, based on a wider culture and a more aesthetic ideal.

It was the year 1767 before the first house in the New Town on the north was erected. Nevertheless, by 1780, one-third of the original programme was finished, and almost all that remained of it by the end of the century. Simultaneously with this extension on the north, the city began suddenly to shoot out southwards, and in the year 1785, a breach was made on the south side of the High Street, and a bridge-way of twenty-two arches founded, continuing the road along the North Bridge straight south over the Cowgate. This street, which was called the South Bridge, of which all the arches are now hidden save one, soon became, what it still is, one of the most active business quarters of the city; and immediately on its completion in 1789, the foundations were laid, at its southern extremity, of the massive structure appropriated to the use of our ancient and world-famous University.

The New Town, of which we have noted the beginnings, is, as it has stood there for the last thirty or forty years, the outcome of three, more or less, successive outbursts of architectural enthusiasm, two of which are on the same plan, after the idea of Mr Craig, a nephew of the poet Thomson: namely, a central spacious street, extending east and west, terminating, at each extremity, in open spaces, square or circular; two parallel terrace-streets, one facing the north, and the other the south, of equal extension, with two others of narrower dimensions between, also parallel; and the whole intersected at right angles by streets of orthodox width, forming, with the former, masses of building in the shape of oblong parallelograms. Traces of the same idea appear in subsequent extensions, modified according to situation, though now, especially in the extreme suburbs, less of the marshalling principle appears, and whole acres, or square miles even, are covered, and being covered, with villas, in every shape and form as it may please the whim or fancy of architect or owner to construct them.

And now, at length, a city is realised, which, for grandly picturesque beauty, interesting associations, and nobly romantic situation, has hardly a rival among the cities of either ancient or modern times. Approached from any quarter, it never fails to strike a stranger with impressions of a character altogether novel; while the heights within and around, as well as the streets and valleys, by night as by day, present aspects which startle, now by their beauty, now by their still sublimity, and now by the rich variety and range of scene. From the Calton Hill alone, which—conspicuous for its monuments, and half encircled midway up by a range of almost princely residences—rises 344 feet, at the eastern extremity of the northern eminence, a view is obtained of the city with its envioning heights and gardened suburbs, and the blue Forth in the far distance, with the outflanking Grampians to northward, which even Naples cannot match; and as for Princes Street, dominated as it is on the south by the sombre heights, steepled streets and castle of the Old Town, and with gardens between, all, even the farthest travelled can say, is, it is a sight and parade-ground, literally and truly, sui generis—a thing totally apart and by itself.

Edinburgh is less a place of manufacturing activity than the majority of modern cities, and the impression of repose it creates suggests ideas of culture, rather than of rough-visaged, rough-handed industrial life. Accordingly, what with its schools of art and seminaries of learning, at the top of which ranks the University, which, for its medical faculty especially, is of more than European fame, and what with the cultivated society, with its appliances, which these involve and attract, there are few cities which offer equal advantages for stimulating the intellect, educating the taste, and enlarging the heart. Its schools are of world-wide celebrity; and from them, as from the city itself, have proceeded not a few of our most distinguished public men, such as Henry, Lord Brougham, Henry Temple, Lord Palmerston, and Archd. Campbell Tait, the Archbishop of Canterbury, of these very days. It is from Edinburgh, others being judges, have emanated the most prominent intellectual movements of the age now passing, and the greatest and wisest thinker living was educated at its University, and began his literary career, half a century ago, within its walls. It is the city of David Hume, of Sir Walter Scott, and, in a sense, of Thomas Carlyle; and these three men nearly sum up the whole intellectual tendency of the present time.

In proceeding to describe the various public buildings and places of interest, we shall divide the city into Three Sections or Walks—a central, northern, and southern; and shall take as the starting and terminating point of each a building pretty generally known—the GENERAL REGISTER HOUSE.

Any particular street or building, however, may be readily found by glancing, in the one case at the headline of the page, and in the other at the prominent black titling lines in the body of the page itself. The list of streets at the head of each section or walk will show the general outline of each.

The General Register House.—This noble edifice, for the preservation of the public and legal records of the kingdom, was begun in 1776, but was not fully completed till 1822. The entire cost is said to have been somewhere about £80,000. Built in the Italian style, from a design by Mr Robert Adam, it is in the form of a square, with a large central dome, 50 feet in diameter and 80 feet in height, and two small turrets at each corner. Viewed from the front, which is protected by an elegant stone screen wall, the building is 200 feet in length and 120 in breadth. In the numerous fire-proof chambers of the interior are deposited a vast quantity of valuable and curious historical and legal documents—such as the letter of the Scottish barons to the Pope in 1320, the acts of settlement of the Scottish crown upon the Stuarts in 1371 and 1373, the Treaty of Union, &c., and copies or transcripts of all the title-deeds of property, legal contracts, mortgages, suits at law, &c., from a very early period.

The Wellington Statue.—In front stands a handsome equestrian statue in bronze, by Steell, of the late Duke of Wellington, which was first unveiled to public view on the 18th of June 1852, and cost £10,000.—A little to the west, behind the present building, and entering from West Register Street, stands

The New Register House.—Designed by Mr Robert Matheson, of Her Majesty's Board of Works, this handsome building, which is also in the Italian style, was completed in 1860 at a cost of nearly £27,000. It was intended chiefly for the preservation of the registers of births, deaths, and marriages in Scotland, but is also used for other purposes connected with the courts of law.

A few paces further west, in the same street, is Venetian Buildings, perhaps the handsomest business premises in the city, and the extensive town establishment of Messrs Cowan and Co., papermakers. Built in 1865, from a design by Messrs George Beattie & Son, architects, this structure is a gorgeous specimen of what is termed the pure Venetian Gothic, the highest development of which is only to be seen in the magnificent palatial residences of the Venetian nobility, so glowingly described by Ruskin. Perhaps the most noticeable features of the present building are the rich and elaborately carved Venetian windows, and indeed the profusion and beauty of the carved work generally. The panels of the piers of the great gateway in the centre of the south front are ornamented with medallion profiles in bronze, by Wm. Brodie, R.S.A., of the late Alexander Cowan of Valleyfield, and of his father Charles Cowan, founder of the house. The total cost of the building alone is understood to have been about £7000; and although somewhat hidden from public view, it is really a splendid addition to our street architecture.—Returning eastwards, and descending, we enter

PRINCES STREET,

The principal street and fashionable promenade of the New Town. One hundred feet wide, and a mile in length, with a fine southern exposure, and noble pleasure-grounds extending nearly the whole length of the street, and the bold rugged outline of the massive piles of the Old Town crowning, with spire, and tower, and turret, the opposite height, “and all the steep slope down,” and the Castle, on its rocky throne, towering, queen-like, in high state, above all, it forms one of the finest streets and most beautiful promenades to be found in any city in Europe; and, when seen under the golden glow of a rich sunset, almost realises one of those scenes described by Tennyson, in his “Recollections of the Arabian Nights.”

“By Bagdat’s shrines of fretted gold!”

It contains most of the best-stocked, highest-rented, and handsomest business premises and shops in the city, and is the street par excellence of hotels, there being no fewer than twelve of these in it of various classes. The value of the stock in some of the higher-class shops will run from £5000 to £20,000; and their rents from £250 to £500.

Leaving the Register House then, and passing along the street for fifty yards or so, we cross to the south side to have a peep through the railings at

The Waverley Market.—It is the only market in the city for the sale of fruit and vegetables, and was recently constructed at the expense of the North British Railway Company, and given to the city in exchange for another site which was required for railway purposes. It was opened for business on the 6th March 1869.—Continuing our walk westwards, our attention is soon arrested by the stately Gothic pile known as

The Scott Monument.—This elegant structure was raised in 1840–44, in honour of the author of the Waverley Novels, and cost upwards of £15,000. It is in the form of an open crucial, Gothic spire, supported on four grand early English arches, which serve as a canopy to the statue, and is about 200 feet high. A staircase in the interior of one of the columns leads to a series of galleries, to which visitors are admitted on payment of twopence, and from which a very fine view of the city is to be obtained. Under the central basement arch is a marble statue, by Steell, of Sir Walter, with a figure of his favourite dog, Maida, at his feet. It was inaugurated in 1846, and cost £2000. In the niches above the several arches are figures of some of the leading characters in his works, such as Meg Merrilies, George Heriot, the Lady of the Lake, and the Last Minstrel. The architect was a self-taught genius named George Meikle Kemp, who was accidentally drowned in the Union Canal before the work was completed. The gardens in which this monument stands are known by the name of

The East Princes Street Gardens.—The low-lying portion of these grounds, through which the railway now passes, used to be covered with water, called the Nor’ Loch. It was partially drained when the North Bridge was built in 1763, and this being done more thoroughly about 1821, the ground was let as a nursery. Several years ago the civic authorities had it laid out in its present neat and trim condition for the free use of the inhabitants.

Professor Wilson’s Statue in bronze, by Steell, occupies a prominent position to the west of the Scott Monument; and although of colossal dimensions, its gives a good idea of what Christopher North, a veritable “lion-like man,” was in the days of his flesh.—A few steps brings us to

The Royal Institution, an important Grecian-looking building, rather low in proportion to its length; for which defect, however, no blame is attachable to the architect (the late W. H. Playfair), but to the proprietors of Princes Street, who possess the power of restricting the height of all erections placed between their property and the Old Town. This structure was founded on piles in 1823, and finished a few years afterwards at a cost of £40,000. Sphinxes surmount its angles, and over the principal entrance is a colossal sitting statue of the Queen in her robes of state, sculptured by Steell. In the interior are the apartments of the Board of Trustees for Manufactures in Scotland, and those of the Royal Society, a Gallery of Sculpture, and the Antiquarian Museum.

The Sculpture Gallery contains casts of the most noted productions of ancient times, admission to which is obtained on Wednesdays and Fridays from 12 till 4, for 6d., and on Saturdays from 10 till 4, free.

The Antiquarian Museum is open on Thursdays and Fridays from 10 to 4, when a charge of 6d. is made for admission; on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Saturdays, visitors are admitted free. Among the multifarious contents of the Museum may be noticed an interesting collection of Egyptian antiquities, brought to this country by the late Mr A. H. Rhind; sculptures, terracottas, &c., from various countries; ancient British implements, warlike and domestic; specimens of Romano-British pottery and glass manufacture; old Scotch wood-carvings; the Maiden, or Scottish guillotine, by which some noted characters in bygone times were beheaded, such as the Regent Morton in 1581, the Marquis of Argyll in 1661, and the Earl of Argyll in 1685; the Repentance Stool from Old Greyfriars’ Church; the stool which it is said the celebrated Jenny Geddes hurled at the head of the Dean of St Giles when he essayed to read the Liturgy in St Giles’ Church, Edinburgh, on the 23d July 1637; several original copies of the National Covenant, with the signatures of many of the Scottish nobles of the period; autograph of Queen Mary, her son James IV., Charles I., Cromwell, &c., &c.

The National Gallery.—This handsome building occupies a site in the rear of the Royal Institution, and was also designed by Playfair. The foundation stone was laid by the late Prince Consort on the 30th of August 1850, and entirely finished in 1858, at a cost of nearly £40,000. The interior consists of two ranges of galleries, lighted entirely from the roof; the eastern one is where the Royal Scottish Academy has its annual exhibitions of the works of living artists, and the western one is assigned solely to the permanent collection of works of art. To this latter gallery the public are admitted free—except on Thursdays and Fridays, when the charge is 6d. The first room contains specimens of the Flemish, Dutch, and French schools of the 16th and 17th centuries; the central or second room, specimens of the Italian, Venetian, Genoese, Florentine, Flemish, and other schools of the same period; while the third room is devoted to specimens of the Scottish school, &c. Although every work is distinctly labelled, with the name of the subject, the artist, and the date of his birth and death, the visitor will do well to become possessed of a copy of the very interesting catalogue which the Curator has prepared; its cost is only 6d., and may be obtained from the person in attendance.

Statue of Allan Ramsay.—Steell's beautiful marble statue of Allan Ramsay, author of the well-known pastoral poem called "The Gentle Shepherd," stands in a fine position at the N.E. corner of West Princes Street Gardens, a few steps westward of the Royal Institution. The medallion portraits which decorate the sides of the pedestal represent, on the front, the late Lord Murray, a judge in the Court of Session, who raised this monument at his own expense; on the west, Mrs Ramsay, wife of the poet's son Allan; on the south, General Ramsay, a grandson of the poet; and on the east, Lady Campbell and Mrs Malcolm, the poet's granddaughters.—Almost opposite is

The Life Association of Scotland.—This elegant building was erected in 1855-58 by the Insurance Association whose name it bears. It is in what is termed the florid Roman style, having three double stories, each with main lights and attics, and although somewhat heavy, has a very imposing appearance.—Adjoining it, on the west, is

The New Club, a large and elegant edifice, with handsome Tuscan doorway and projecting basement window, erected by an association of noblemen and gentlemen for purposes similar to those of the clubs in the West End of London.—Further westward, between Castle Street and Charlotte Street, No. 127, is

The University Club, erected in 1866-67, at a cost of nearly £14,000, for the purpose of providing superior accommodation for the higher class students attending the University; and has ample room, in its handsome and spacious interior, for 650 members. It is in the Italian style, with elegant details of a Grecian character, and was designed by Messrs Peddie and Kinneir, architects.—A little further along, on the left, is

St John's Episcopal Chapel.—It was built in 1818, from a design by W. Burn, and cost £18,000. An elegant specimen of the florid Gothic style, with details after the model of St George's Chapel at Windsor, it is an oblong edifice, consisting of nave and aisles, 113 feet long and 62 feet wide, and is terminated at the western extremity by a square-pinnacled tower 120 feet high. The interior, which presents a most beautiful and imposing appearance, and contains a very fine organ, is adorned with a number of richly-coloured stained-glass windows, the great eastern one being 30 feet high, and containing figures of the twelve apostles, by Ballantine & Son of this city. The present incumbent here is Dean Ramsay, the genial-hearted author of "Reminiscences of Scottish Life and Character," and one of the ablest and most distinguished clergymen connected with the Episcopal Church in Scotland. In the burying-ground attached to the chapel repose the ashes of a few men of note, such as Sir Henry Raeburn, the prince of Scottish portrait-painters; the Rev. Archibald Alison, the well-known author of "Essays on Taste," and father of the historian of Europe; James Donaldson, founder of the magnificent hospital that bears his name; the Rev. Dr Andrew Thomson, the first minister of St George's in Charlotte Square, and the most popular clergyman of his day; Dr Allison, one of the most philanthropic men that ever adorned the medical profession, and the able antagonist of Dr Chalmers in advocating the enforcement of a compulsory assessment for the support of the poor, in opposition to the doctor's voluntary one; Sir William Hamilton, a philosopher of European fame; Miss Catherine Sinclair, the well-known authoress; Macey Napier, who succeeded Lord Jeffrey as editor of the Edinburgh Review; Sir William Arbuthnot, Lord Provost of Edinburgh in 1823; and a number of others distinguished for their rank and learning.—Nearly opposite, in the centre of the public way, is

The Sinclair Fountain.—A neat triangular structure, erected in 1859 by donation of Miss Catherine Sinclair, the authoress of "Modern Accomplishments," &c., a most benevolent lady, and for many years one of the most distinguished members of Edinburgh society.

The cleared space at the rear of Rutland Street, a little to the south-west of this, is to be the site of the new station for the Caledonian Railway Company, the present one being situated about 200 yards further south.—Nearly opposite, in the valley adjoining, is

St Cuthbert's Parish Church.—It is one of the largest places of worship in Edinburgh, being seated for about 3000 hearers. It is known that a church has occupied this site for more than a thousand years, but the present structure dates no further back than 1775, the main edifice having been then erected at a cost of upwards of £4000, and the spire added some years afterwards at a separate cost. At the base of the spire is a fine piece of monumental sculpture from the chisel of Handyside Ritchie, in memory of the Rev. Dr David Dickson, who was minister of the parish for forty years. The surrounding cemetery, which is nearly as ancient as the church itself, is well worth a visit, not so much on account of the elegance of its tombs however, as because it contains the graves of a number of eminent men, such as Napier of Merchiston, the inventor of logarithms, and Thomas de Quincey, the eccentric "English Opium-Eater." On the north side of the church there are several burying-vaults, to one of which a somewhat melancholy interest attaches as the last resting-place of a proud old baronial race now extinct—the Nisbets of the Dean. It was erected in 1645 by Sir William Nisbet of Dean, and although now somewhat decayed, and the steps that lead down to it choked up with rank nettles and hemlock, it is still recognisable, surmounted with the family arms. Curiously enough, the ancestral house of the old race was demolished in 1855, and the spot on which it stood converted into a public cemetery—the Dean.—Leaving the churchyard, and entering Castle Terrace, the farther of the two roads on the left, a few paces brings us to

St Mark's Chapel, erected in 1835, and the only Unitarian place of worship in Edinburgh. It has a somewhat elegant interior, and possesses a very fine organ, some 300 years old.—As we proceed eastward, we catch a glimpse of the Gaelic Free Church, standing in a bye-street; and speedily have our attention arrested by a pile of new buildings, the designer of which, Mr Gowans, has certainly been fortunate in striking out something original in domestic architecture.—A little further on, on the left, we cross King's Bridge, and proceed eastwards by the road which sweeps round the base of the Castle rock. The first noticeable building we reach on the right is

The Normal School, in connection with the Church of Scotland. It was erected in 1845, at a cost of about £10,000. Visitors are admitted on Tuesdays and Fridays.—Adjoining, on the east, is St Columba's Episcopal Chapel, a neat cruciform structure erected in 1846.—Crossing to the left, we ascend a flight of stairs, and speedily reach the Castle Hill.

THE CASTLE.

The Castle, perched on the summit of a rock, some 400 feet above the level of the sea, forms the most prominent feature in all views of the city, and, next to Holyrood Palace, is the place which most interests strangers. Its only approach is by a fine spacious glacis or esplanade on the east, which measures about 100 yards by about 120, and which, previous to 1753, was only a steep narrow ridge. The monument in the form of a Runic Cross, which stands at the railed parapet on the north, was raised by the officers and soldiers of the 78th Highlanders, in memory of their comrades who fell in India while aiding to suppress the Sepoy Mutiny. The one nearer the Castle is a bronze statue, by Campbell, of the Duke of York, son of George the Third, erected in 1839.

Passing the palisaded outer barrier, we enter the fortress itself by a drawbridge which spans a deep dry fosse guarded by small flanking batteries. Beyond this is the guard-house, and farther up the ascent is the portcullis gate, over which is the old State Prison, where many illustrious captives have been confined. A few steps farther brings us to the artificers' workshops and the Argyle Battery. The Armoury is in the immediate vicinity. It is capable of holding 30,000 stand of arms; and among its present contents may be noticed several relics of the military art of a bygone age. Continuing our ascent by the causewayed path, we pass the Governor's House, erected in the time of Queen Anne, and what are called the New Barracks, a pile raised on the western side of the rock in 1796.

We now enter the Citadel, or highest platform of the Castle, by an old arched gateway, to the left of which is a huge iron tank or cistern for supplying the garrison with water. The small barn-like building that meets our eye in front is one of the most interesting objects within the precincts of the Castle; for it is the little Norman Chapel built by Queen Margaret, the Saxon wife of Malcolm Canmore (who began his reign in 1057), and may be regarded as the most venerable piece of masonry to be met with here. After a long period of neglect, it was repaired some years ago, and a font, for the baptism of infants of the Episcopal communion born in the garrison, added.

Opposite it stands the famous piece of ordnance known as Mons Meg, which some allege to have been forged at Mons, in Belgium, in 1486; while others assert there is good reason for believing that it was fabricated in Galloway, and used by James II. at the siege of Thrieve Castle in 1455. Be that as it may, there is no doubt that it was long kept with jealous care by the Scotch, until some of its hoops gave way on firing a salute in honour of the Duke of York in 1682. It was removed to the Tower of London in 1754; but was restored to Scotland by command of King George IV. in 1829. This large cannon is formed of long pieces of malleable iron held together by strong hoops of the same material. It is 13 feet long, 20 inches in diameter, and weighs upwards of 5 tons. The view from the bastion where it stands is exceedingly fine, and is, perhaps, unsurpassed in Europe, embracing as it does an extensive range of sea and land.

Leaving this, and turning in a S.E. direction, the Half-Moon Battery, constructed in 1574, faces us, in the neighbourhood of which is the electric apparatus that discharges the Time Gun, and from which we pass into a quadrangle a hundred feet square—a place of much interest to all students of Scottish history. The building on the north side has been recently remodelled after a design by Billings, and is occupied as barracks; that on the south is devoted to the purposes of an hospital, but in ancient times it used to accommodate the Parliament of the kingdom; the east side is where the royal apartments were located, and where we may still see the room in which, on the 19th of June 1566, Queen Mary gave birth to James VI.

Adjoining it is the Crown Room, where the ancient regalia of Scotland are preserved. These insignia of royalty consist of crown, sceptre, and sword of state; and the sight of them forcibly recalls the morning of the 18th of June 1630, when the Earls of Arran, Buchan, and Rothes bore them amid a grand procession of nobles, from the Castle to Holyrood for the coronation of Charles I. The crown, although part of it bears the initials of James V., is supposed to be as old as the days of Robert Bruce. The sceptre is of silver, double gilt, thirty-four inches in length, and hexagonal in form. The sword of state is an elegant piece of Italian workmanship, and was a present from Pope Julius II. to James IV. These royal symbols, and the Lord Treasurer's rod of office which lies beside them, remained long forgotten in this room, locked up in a large oaken chest, from the 26th of March 1707 till the 5th of February 1818. With the Regalia, there are shown the collar of the order of the Garter and other jewels which Cardinal York bequeathed to George IV., and which William IV. caused to be deposited here.

Leaving the Castle, and retracing our steps towards the city, we enter

The Castle Hill, which a century and-a-half ago, was one of the most aristocratic quarters of the Old Town, and even yet retains some traces of its former grandeur. It was also used for a long while as a place of public execution, and was the scene of the death of Lord Forbes, Lord Glamis, and several of the earlier Reformers. The first house on the right, descending from the Castle, bears on the pediment of a dormer window the date 1630; and a cannon-ball, which may be seen sticking in the gable wall next the esplanade, is said to have been shot from the Castle in 1745, during the occupation of the town by Prince Charles Edward. This house, the entrance to which is through an ancient Gothic doorway in Elair's Close (372), was formerly the town mansion of the Dukes of Gordon. The last member of the family who resided here was the Lady Elizabeth Howard, daughter of the Duke of Norfolk, and first Duchess of Gordon, who died in 1732. The house was afterwards occupied by the Bards of Newbyth; and here the well-known General Sir David Baird, the hero of Seringapatam, and conqueror of Tipoo Saib, was born and brought up. Another house in the same alley was the residence, in 1783, of John Grieve, Esq., Lord Provost of Edinburgh.—Immediately opposite, on the left, is

The Reservoir, by which the city is supplied with water, drawn principally from the Pentland Hills. On the outside, it is one storey in height, with a tower 40 feet high; within, it has an area 110 feet long, 90 feet broad, and 30 feet deep, and is estimated to contain 1,850,310 gallons of water, which can be distributed through the city at the rate of 648 cubic feet per minute.

Allan Ramsay's House.—At the eastern end of the Reservoir is Ramsay Lane, which leads to a small octagonal-shaped house overlooking West Princes Street Gardens. This house was built by Allan Ramsay, whose marble statue we noticed in Princes Street; and here he died in 1758. His son, the eminent portrait-painter, also lived here. Dr Guthrie's Original Ragged School occupies a site in this lane, and is well worth a visit.—Proceeding down the lane towards the Mound, we come to

The Free Church College.—An elegant specimen of the Elizabethan, or English collegiate style of architecture: it was designed by W. H. Playfair, founded in 1846, and finished in 1850, at a cost of upwards of £30,000. It has an open quadrangle, with library hall, senate hall, and nine class-rooms. Its entire frontage is 165 feet; the square tower, at the north-east corner, is 96 feet high, and the two centre towers flanking the main entrance 121 feet high each. The library hall is adorned with a statue of its first principal, Dr Chalmers.—The stairs on the south side of the quadrangle lead to

The Free Church Assembly Hall, which was erected in 1858–59, at a cost of £7000. It occupies the site of the palace of Mary of Guise. The design was furnished by David Bryce, R.S.A., and the £7000 was collected by ladies belonging to the Free Church throughout Scotland.

To the east of the College is a structure designed by Mr Cousins in the Scottish baronial style, which is occupied by the National Security Savings Bank and the Offices of the Free Church.

Retracing our steps, and ascending Ramsay Lane, we are again in the Castle Hill. The first alley to the east of the Lane is Sempill's Close, formerly the residence of Hugh, twelfth Lord Sempill, who commanded a wing of the Royal army at Culloden. Over the entrance is the inscription—Sedes manet optima celo, 1638. A few paces below this, on the site now occupied by the Free Church Assembly Hall, stood the palace of Mary of Guise, queen of James V., and mother of Queen Mary.—Opposite is

The Victoria Hall.—A fine decorated Gothic edifice, it was built in 1842–44, at a cost of £16,000, for the accommodation of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland, and was designed by the late Gillespie Graham. The beautiful octagonal spire, which surmounts the massive tower at the main entrance, is 240 feet high, and forms a point in all views of the city.—A little to the south, at the head of the West Bow, is

St John's Free Church, which was built in 1847, from a design by Robert Hamilton; and the pulpit of which was for many years filled by Drs Guthrie and Hanna.

The West Bow, which took its name from an arch or bow in the city wall which crossed the street here, and formed the western gate-way of the city, was formerly a place of some note, and was lined from top to bottom with lofty picturesque tenements, of which the tall pile at the head is a fair specimen. It was at one time, before the formation of the North and South Bridges, the principal entrance to the city on the west, and has been ascended by Anne of Denmark, James I., and Charles I.; by Oliver Cromwell, Charles II., and James II. It contained the Assembly Rooms of Edinburgh from 1602 to 1720; the provost's mansion in which Prince Charles Edward was entertained; houses of the knights templar, the residence of James Donaldson, the founder of Donaldson's Hospital, &c. Down this narrow, winding, and precipitous way, previous to 1785, all condemned criminals were conducted to the place of execution in the Grassmarket; and amongst the multitudes borne down this via dolorosa in the hangman's cart, were the Marquis of Montrose and the Earl of Argyle, the one in 1650 and the other in 1661; here, too, the unfortunate Captain Porteous was brought by the mob, on the night of the 7th of September 1736, as they hurried him to his miserable fate, amidst the glimmer of torches, and with shouts of fury. For those who may not have read Scott's account of the Porteous mob, in the "Heart of Midlothian," or the "Tales of a Grandfather," there is a very pretty picture of this scene by James Drummond, A.R.A., in the Third Room of the Exhibition of Ancient Paintings at the foot of the Mound.—Immediately opposite, on the left, is

Milne's Court (No. 517).—The large stone land in front was erected in 1690; but a house on the north side of the court, which was formerly the residence of the lairds of Comiston, and is still in their possession, is of a much earlier date. Over the entrance to a stair on the south side is the inscription—"Blessit be God in al his Giftis," and the date 1580.—Immediately to the east of this is, No. 501,

James' Court, which was built in 1725–27, and is interesting as having been the residence of Henry Home, (Lord Kames), David Hume, Dr Blair, James Boswell of Auchinleck, Johnston's biographer, &c. It was in Boswell's house here that Dr Johnson resided when he visited Edinburgh in 1773, and where he met the elite of Edinburgh society.

The tall, narrow stone land immediately to the east of this, No. 501, and ascended by an outside stair, is reckoned a very fine specimen of the ashlar-fronted domestic architecture of the latter end of the sixteenth century. It is called Gladstone's Land, having been purchased in 1631 by a Mr Thomas Gladstone, a merchant burghess, who appears to have built the present stone front.—Nearly opposite on the right, No. 322, is Riddle's Close.—It was inhabited at one time by Sir John Smith, Provost of Edinburgh in 1650; by Bailie Macmoran, one of the magistrates of Edinburgh, in the reign of James VI., and who was shot dead by one of the High School boys during a barring-out or rebellion in 1598. The principal room of his house, in which the Duke of Holstein, brother of the queen of James VI., was entertained by the city of Edinburgh in 1598, is now used as the Mechanics' Library. It was also inhabited by David Hume, who wrote part of his History here, by Sir Roderick Mackenzie of Prestonhall, Lord Royston, Professor Pillans, &c.—On the opposite side is No. 469.

Baxter's Close, where Burns resided, on his first visit to Edinburgh, in November 1786. He shared an apartment with an acquaintance, John Richmond, a writer's clerk, the weekly rent of which was three shillings sterling. A few paces to the east is No. 477,

Lady Stair's Close.—In a house a little way down this close, on the left, the Dowager Countess of Stair resided for many years, when at the head of fashionable society in Edinburgh. Over the doorway are a coat of arms, the initials, W.G. & C.S., the date 1622, and the inscription, "Feare the Lord and depart from evill." It is the history of this lady that forms the ground-work of Scott's story of "My Aunt Margaret's Mirror."—To the east of this is Bank Street, at the foot of which stands

The Bank of Scotland.—It is the oldest banking establishment in Scotland, having been incorporated by Act of the Scottish Parliament in 1695. The original building was erected in 1806, from a design by Richard Crichton, at a cost of about £75,000; but recently two wings have been added, and the whole building externally renovated, after designs, in the Italian style, by David Bryce, R.S.A. This imposing edifice, in its full proportions, can only be seen from Princes Street, from which it presents a most magnificent appearance. With a paid capital of £1,000,000, it has 1410 partners, and 75 branches.—Immediately opposite Bank Street is

George IV. Bridge, built in 1825-36, proceeding along which, and passing Victoria Street, and

The Highland and Agricultural Society's Chambers, built in 1830, we notice, on the right, the battlemented steeple of a quaint old church in the valley below, called

The Magdalen Chapel.—It was erected prior to the Reformation by a pious citizen, Michael Macquhan, and Janet Rhind, his widow, whose tomb is shown in the floor, and is supposed to have been the meeting place of the first General Assembly held after the Reformation. John Craig, the distinguished reformer, and colleague of Knox, preached here for some time in Latin, having, during an enforced absence of twenty-four years from his native land, lost the free use of his vernacular tongue; and in that quaint, little place, on the 30th of June 1685, the body of the Earl of Argyll was deposited previous to being conveyed to the place of family sepulture at Kilmun. The chapel is now the property of the Protestant Institute of Scotland.—On the opposite side is the recently-erected

Sheriff Court Buildings.—This imposing structure is in the Italian style of architecture, and was designed by David Bryce, R.S.A.—To the south of this, on the same side, is

St Augustine Church.—It was built in 1861, in the Byzantine style, from a design by Hay of Liverpool, and cost about £14,000. It is in connection with the Congregational body.—Nearly opposite is

The Protestant Institute of Scotland, erected in 1860 by public subscription, to commemorate the ter-centenary of the Reformation; and for the purpose of "training missionaries, students, teachers, and others in the principles of Protestantism as opposed to Romanism; and, generally, as a centre of information on the Romish controversy in all its aspects; and for carrying on missionary operations among the Roman Catholics." A large body of students have been trained, since the commencement, in the distinctive principles of the Reformation.—A little to the south is a Reformed Presbyterian Church (Dr Good's); and in a recess on the opposite side is

Brown Square, originally erected as an aristocratic quarter about the middle of the last century, and inhabited at one time by Lord President Miller, Henry Mackenzie, Lord Woodhouselee, Miss Elliot, authoress of the "Flowers of the Forest," Lord Glenlee, &c. At the extreme south end of the Bridge, on the right, is of Grey Friars, whose monastery, founded by James I., between 1424 and 1437, was at the south side of the Grassmarket, fronting the entrance to the West Bow. This monastery was destroyed in 1559; and every vestige of it has long since disappeared. The garden passed into the possession of the Town Council in 1561, and a few years afterwards it was constituted the city cemetery. Here are laid the remains of many eminent persons, among whom may be mentioned George Buchanan, the celebrated Latin scholar; Alexander Henderson, the leading delegate from Scotland to the great Westminster Assembly of Divines, and who was the principal author of the Assembly's Catechism; George Jamieson, who is supposed to have been the first native Scots painter; Robert Mylne, master mason to several of the Scottish kings, and who built a large portion of Holyrood Palace, and several old lands bearing his name in the city; Sir George Mackenzie, the king's advocate in the persecuting times; Allan Ramsay, the poet; William Ged, the inventor of stereotyping; Dr Robertson and Patrick Fraser Tytler, the historians; Henry Mackenzie, "The Man of Feeling;" John Kay, the celebrated caricaturist; Dr Hugh Blair, Dr M'Crie, the biographer of John Knox, and a host of others. In the lower part of the cemetery, close to the street wall, is the Martyrs' Monument, which marks the spot where the greater number of the Covenanters are interred who were executed in Edinburgh during the reigns of Charles II. and James II. It was in this graveyard that in June 1679 about 1200 Covenanters, taken prisoner at Bothwell Bridge, were confined for five months, unhouse and almost unfed. The two buildings which stand in the centre of the cemetery, in front of the entrance gate, are named the Old and New Greyfriars' Churches. They are clumsy Gothic structures, and possess little or no architectural adornment. The old was opened in 1612, and the new in 1721. The former is chiefly remarkable as having been the place, together with a neighbouring tombstone, where the great National Covenant of 1638 was signed by Lords and Commons; many of whom, in their earnestness and zeal, used for the purpose their own blood instead of ink. The old church was burnt down in 1845, but was restored and refitted a few years afterwards at considerable expense, and contains several beautiful memorial windows.—Leaving the churchyard, and turning to the left, we proceed down the Candlemaker Row, and enter

The Grassmarket.—A weekly market has been held here since 1477. The New Corn Exchange, on the south side, was erected in 1849, after a design by David Cousin, at a cost of nearly £20,000. It is in the Italian style, with a front of three stories, and a campanile or belfry at the north end. This spacious street was for centuries the place of public execution, and has been the scene of some memorable historical events. Here, during the persecuting times of Charles II. and James II., Montrose and Argyle, and a great host of Covenanters, witnessed a good confession; and here, too, the unfortunate Captain Porteous met his doom at the hands of an infuriated rabble. The spot where the executions took place is at the east end, near the foot of the West Bow, and is now marked by a cross in the Causeway.—At the west end is

The West Port, which was originally a village under the name of Portsburgh. Its present name was derived from a gateway in the city wall, at its east end. It was at one time one of the worst localities in the city, and, in 1828, was the scene of a series of murders unparalleled in the annals of crime. Two wretches, named Burke and Hare, decoyed nearly a dozen of persons of various ages and sexes into a den they inhabited here, and put them to death by strangulation or pressure, and then sold their bodies to the surgeons for the purpose of dissection. Burke was executed in 1829; but Hare, having turned king's evidence, was released. This was the locality chosen by Dr Chalmers, in July 1844, as the scene of his philanthropic labours in inaugurating what has been termed the territorial system.—Retracing our steps, we ascend the West Bow, and pass up Victoria Street, noticing on the right a massive pile of buildings in the old Scottish or baronial style, erected in 1867-68, as business premises, and called India Buildings. Re-entering the Lawnmarket, on the right, is

The County Hall, erected in 1817, from a design by Archibald Elliot, at a cost of £15,000. It is architecturally interesting as having been built after the plan of the Temple of Erectheus at Athens, while the principal entrance is an imitation of the Choragic monument of Thrasylbulus.

A little to the east of this, and a yard or two from the north-west corner of St Giles's, a heart-figure in the pathway, centred with the veritable stone that indicated the market cross for 200 years, marks the site of The Old Tolbooth, a grim, dismal-looking five-storied-pile of tower and turret that stood here for over 300 years, and the scene of many important historical events. "The Heart of Mid-Lothian," as it was popularly called, was taken down in 1817.

St Giles' Cathedral forms the principal ornament of the High Street. It is a large Gothic edifice in the form of a cross, 206 feet in length by 110 feet in breadth, and embraces three different churches, viz., the High, Old, and New North or West St Giles. The foundation is of considerable antiquity, some historians ascribing it to the ninth century; but the "effacing fingers" of modern architects and builders have only spared to us the massive tower in the centre, with its grand crown-like spire, and a few scraps of masonry here and there. The whole structure was what is called "renovated" in 1830-32, after a design by Mr Burn. Before that time it was a mass of Gothic buildings, erected at different times, without regard to style. James III., in 1466, made it a collegiate church, with an establishment consisting of a provost, sixteen prebendaries, a curate, a minister of the choir, four choristers, a sacristan, and a beadle; but at the Reformation these were swept away, and the building was made to accommodate four different congregations. The portion on the east of the transept, known at that time as St Giles, but now as the High Church, became the parish church of Edinburgh, and John Knox was appointed the officiating pastor. When Edinburgh was erected into a diocese by Charles I. in 1633, St Giles was constituted the Cathedral Church, and continued so for six years, until Cromwell overturned Episcopacy. It regained its episcopal dignity at the Restoration, but lost it again by the Revolution of 1688. It was in the Old Kirk division at the south end of the transept that, on the 23d July 1837, the redoubted Jenny Geddes hurled her stool at the head of the Dean of Edinburgh when he essayed to read the collect for the day, exclaiming as she did so, "Colic, said ye? the Deil colic the wame o' ye! Wud ye say mass at my lug?" This raised such a storm against the introduction of Episcopacy into Scotland, that no further attempt was made to impose the liturgy upon the people. This same Old Kirk portion is also celebrated as being the place of sepulture of the good Regent Murray, who was assassinated in 1570, and of the famous Marquis of Montrose, who was executed in 1650. On the outer north wall of the High Church is an ancient stone tablet, the brief inscription on which intimates that it marks the burial-place of the family of Napier of Merchiston. It is generally pointed out as being the tomb of the illustrious inventor of logarithms; but it is not so. He was buried in the former church of St Cuthbert or West Kirk at the foot of the Lothian Road.—On the south side of St Giles is Parliament Square, which was used from an early period to the end of the sixteenth century as a public cemetery. From that time to the present, however, it has been devoted to buildings, chiefly connected with the Courts of Law. On the south-east side are the Exchequer Offices and the Union Bank. The south side is occupied by the Court of Justiciary, the Chambers of Her Majesty's Board of Works, and the Court of Session; on the west is the Signet Library. An equestrian statue of Charles II., in bronzed lead, erected in 1685, occupies the centre of the square.

John Knox's Grave—A few paces to the west of this, a small surface-bronzed stone in the ground, with the initials J. K., (John Knox,) indicates where the grave of the great Reformer is supposed to be.—Immediately opposite, on the south, is the entrance to

The Parliament House, the oldest building in the Square, having been erected in 1631-36, at an expense of £11,600. The first Parliament held here was in 1639, and the last in 1707, when the Treaty of Union was ratified. After that event, the building was assigned to the Court of Session, or Supreme Court of Scotland, which formerly met in the Tolbooth. The great hall in which the Parliament met, is a splendid apartment, 122 feet in length, 49 feet in breadth, and upwards of 60 feet in height, with a pendent oaken roof, similar in character to that of Westminster Hall. The magnificent stained-glass window at the south end was erected in October 1868, at a cost of £2000. It is the work of two German artists, having been designed by W. von Kaulbach, and executed by the Chevalier Aimmiller of Munich. It represents the inauguration of the College of Justice, by King James V., in 1532. The opening of the court for the first time is supposed by the artist to have been the occasion of a grand state ceremonial; and the moment chosen for representation is that in which the youthful king, surrounded by his nobles and great officers of state, is supposed to be in the act of presenting the deed of institution to the Abbot of Cambuskenneth, the Lord President of the Court, who kneels before him to receive it, surrounded by the other judges in their robes; while the Lord Chancellor of Scotland, Dunbar, Archbishop of Glasgow, the chief ecclesiastic present, raises his hand to invoke a blessing on the act. The Hall contains a number of fine statues of legal celebrities, the most noticeable of which is one by Chantrey, of Henry, Viscount Melville; of Duncan Forbes of Culloden, by Roubilliac; of Robert Dundas of Arniston, and Robert Blair of Avontoun, by Chantrey; and of Lord Jeffrey by Steell; and the walls are adorned with portraits of distinguished men connected with the Scottish Bench and Bar. This great hall is now used as a waiting-room by the advocates and the various other practitioners connected with the Supreme Courts. The Court of Session is divided into what is called Outer and Inner-House. The former consists of five Judges or Lords Ordinary, occupying separate courts, who hear cases for the first time; the latter comprises two courts, technically known as the First and Second Divisions. Four Judges sit in each Division, and it is before them that litigants, dissatisfied with the Outer-House decisions, may bring their cases for final judgment, unless afterwards they have recourse to the expensive luxury of appealing to the House of Lords. The courts of the Lords Ordinary enter from the dimly-lighted corridor at the south end of the great hall, and those of the Inner-House from the east lobby.—By a door on the west side of the hall, entrance may be obtained to

The Advocates' Library, which was founded in 1682, at the suggestion of Sir George Mackenzie, then Lord Advocate. It is one of the five libraries in the country entitled to a copy of every work printed in Britain, and contains over 200,000 printed volumes, and about 2000 manuscripts. Amongst its most interesting treasures are a beautiful copy of the first printed Bible, in black letter, from the press of Faust and Guttenburg; a few Caxtons; first specimens of Scottish printing; a manuscript copy of St Jerome's translation of the Scriptures, supposed to have been written in the tenth century, and known to have been used in the Abbey Church of Dunfermline in the reign of David I.; the original Confession of Faith, compiled by John Craig, the colleague of Knox, and signed by James VI. in 1580; several original copies of the Solemn League and Covenant of 1633; illuminated missals; the original manuscript of "Waverley," etc., etc. Strangers are freely admitted to walk through the several apartments and view these curiosities. Thomas Ruddiman, the well-known antiquary and Latin scholar; David Hume, the historian; and Dr Irving, distinguished for his writings on Scottish history, biography, and poetry, occupied at different periods the position of librarian here.

The Library of the Writers to the Signet adjoins that of the Advocates. It is contained in a large edifice in the Grecian style of architecture, and may be entered either from the north end of the Parliament Hall or from the south side of the vacant space between St Giles' Church and the County Hall. This valuable library was founded in 1755, and consists of more than 60,000 volumes, which are chiefly contained in two magnificent halls, fitted up and adorned with busts and portraits. In the centre of the upper hall, 140 feet long and 42 feet wide, is a cupola, enriched with paintings from the pencil of the late Mr Stothard. The erection of the building cost the Society of Writers to the Signet £25,000.

On leaving the Signet Library, to pass into the High Street by the west side of St Giles's, a few paces from the door brings us to an old stone in the ground which indicates the spot where George Heriot's Shop and Forge stood, and where he had frequent interviews with his royal patron, James VI. Passing into the High Street, on the left, is No. 357, Advocates' Close, a precipitous, gloomy-looking alley, which was formerly the residence of Lord Advocate Stewart, Lord Westhall, Andrew Crossbie, the Counsellor Pleydell of "Guy Mannering," and other distinguished lawyers.—A little further down, is

The Royal Exchange, which was founded in 1753, and finished in 1761, at a cost of upwards of £31,000. It is built in the form of a square, with an open court in the centre, 86 feet by 96. The north side of the quadrangle contains the apartments of the Town Council, the Court-room of the Magistrates, and the various offices connected with the municipal affairs of the city.—On the opposite side, is

The Police Office, erected in 1849 in a plain Italian style, and having ample interior accommodation. An octagonal figure in the causeway in front indicates the site of the present Market Cross, from which all royal proclamations are made, and that of the Ancient City Cross, a handsome octagonal structure 16 feet wide, and 15 feet high, surmounted by a pillar 15 feet high, bearing aloft a unicorn with a spear, and which was removed in 1756. The pillar or shaft of this old cross is still preserved, and, surmounted by a restored unicorn, stands within the railings at the north-east end of St Giles's, about thirty yards south-east of this.

Adjoining, on the east, is the Old Fishmarket Close, formerly the residence of George Heriot, and Lord President Dundas.—A little further east, is Assembly Close, where Lord President Dourie resided, and which contained the City Assembly Rooms from 1720 till 1726.—Opposite, on the left, is No. 243, Anchor Close, in a house at the foot of which lived the mother of Drummond of Hawthornden, and George Drummond, Lord Provost of Edinburgh, who died in 1766. An old tavern here was the resort of the Crochallan Fencibles, celebrated by Burns.—On the right is No. 162, Covenant Close, in an old edifice in which the National Covenant was signed in 1638.—On the left is No. 221, Stamp Office Close, in which the Earls of Eglinton had their town mansion. It was afterwards converted into a tavern, which became a favourite resort of men of rank and fashion; and in which the Earl of Leven, for many years Lord High Commissioner to the Church of Scotland, annually took up his abode.—A few yards farther east, in the third floor of an old land at the head of the Fleshmarket Close, (No. 199,) Henry Dundas, Viscount Melville, whose monument stands in St Andrew Square, resided for many years when he began to practise as an advocate.—Passing Cockburn Street on the left, a thoroughfare constructed in 1859 to connect the Old Town with the Railway Termini, and Hunter Square on the right, which stands on the site of Kennedy's Close, where George Buchanan died, we reach

The Tron Church, which was built in 1637-63, at a cost of nearly £6000. The original wooden spire having been burnt down in 1824, the present elegant stone steeple, 160 feet high, was erected in 1828.

Passing the North and South Bridges, we come to an old timber-fronted tenement, on the left, nearly opposite Niddry Street, in the first floor of a common stair in which, numbered 155, Allan Ramsay began business as a bookseller, and published many of his works. A few paces farther east is No. 135, Carubber's Close, a place of some little antiquarian interest. It contains the oldest Episcopal chapel in the city—St Paul's—which has been used as a place of worship by the body since the overthrow of Episcopacy in 1688. In an old building at the foot of the close, Captain Henderson, the antiquary, and Sir William Forbes of Pit-sligo resided, whom Burns used frequently to visit here. Whitefield Chapel, at the foot of the close, was originally erected by Allan Ramsay as a theatre, but has for more than half a century been used as a church; and here Edward Irving, Dr M'Crie, the biographer of Knox, and other eminent men have preached.—Adjoining is No. 129, Bishop's Close, which was at one time inhabited by Archbishop Spottiswood, Lady Jane Douglas, and the first Lord President Dundas, and here, his son Henry Dundas, Viscount Melville, he of St Andrew Square, was born. On the opposite side, the right, is No. 118, Dickson's Close, which formerly contained the town mansions of the Haliburton family and of Sir John Halliday of Tilyhole, and the house of David Allan, "the Scottish Hogarth," as he was called. The tall stone land at the head of the close was also the residence of a number of persons of distinction, but is now chiefly occupied by Buchanan's Temperance Hotel.—Adjoining, on the east, is No. 104, Strichen's Close, which contains the town mansion of the Abbots of Melrose, the original gardens attached to which extended down to the Cowgate and up part of the opposite slope. The house was afterwards occupied by the well-known Sir George Mackenzie of Rosehaugh, Lord Advocate during the reigns of Charles II. and James II., and subsequently by a relative, Lord Strichen, whose name the close still bears. Over one of the doorways there is a carved stone bearing a large boldly-cut shield, with two coats of arms impaled, and the date 1600.

Blackfriar's Wynd, a few paces farther east (No. 96), for more than 500 years one of the most aristocratic quarters of the Old Town—the abode of princes, cardinals, archbishops, bishops, and peers; and still contains, in good preservation, many of the mansions of these ancient dignitaries. At the foot of the wynd, with a projecting turret to the Cowgate, still stands the palace of Cardinal Beaton, Archbishop of Glasgow. And here, in this straitened alley, for many an age, prelatic pomp and princely pride held sway, and contending factions fought for mastery. It was down this narrow way, during the famous "cleanse-the-causeway" contests, that the victorious adherents of the Earl of Angus rushed to assault the palace of the Cardinal-Archbishop, and wreak their vengeance on his person; and here, in 1588, the retainers of the haughty Earl of Bothwell and those of Sir William Stewart crossed swords in a bloody fray, when the latter was slain by a thrust from the sword of his rival. Up this narrow alley, too, at eleven o'clock on the evening of the 9th of February 1567, her attendants bearing lighted torches before her, passed Queen Mary, on her way home to Holyrood Palace from her last visit to the unfortunate Darnley—just three hours before his murder. Here, also, at the head of the wynd, in 1688, Archbishop Sharpe of St Andrews, while seated in his coach waiting for the Bishop of Orkney, who resided here, was fired at by an assassin, who missed him, but dangerously wounded the bishop.—Almost adjoining, on the east, is No. 74, Toddrick's Wynd, where the Danish ambassadors and nobles who accompanied Anne of Denmark, queen of James VI., to this country in 1590 were entertained at a grand banquet by the magistrates. It was down this ancient alley also, that the Earl of Bothwell and his followers passed on their way to murder Darnley on the night of the 9th of February 1567.—Almost opposite, on the left is No. 101, Paisley's Close, at the head of which some years ago there stood a tall fine old stone land, with the date 1612 carved on it, and in a shop in which Sir William Fettes, the founder of the magnificent hospital which bears his name, made the fortune which he left to rear it, and to which a rather melancholy interest attaches. A little after midnight, on Saturday the 10th of November 1861, the massive pile, that had stood for nearly 250 years, suddenly sank to the ground, and shot out into the broad way a heap of rubbish, burying twenty-three persons in the ruins. A few of the inmates almost miraculously escaped destruction from the peculiar way in which a portion of the material had fallen upon them, and amongst these was the lad whose sculptured effigy, as a memorial of this, now decorates the new building, with a scroll inscribed with the words he was heard uttering by those who were digging in the ruins for bodies—"Heave awa, chaps [lads], I'm no deid yet."—Chalmers' Close, a little farther down, on the same side (No. 81), was a favourite haunt of Lord Jeffrey in his boyhood, having been the residence of his grandfather. It also contains the mansion of John de Hope, the founder of the Hopetoun family, who came from France in 1537, in the retinue of the Princess Magdalene, the queen of James V.—Nearly opposite, on the right, is No. 56,

South Gray's Close, which contains the town mansion of the Earls of Selkirk and Stirling, now converted into the chapel house attached to St Patrick's Roman Catholic Chapel. Near the foot of the close, on the left, is Elphinstone's Court, built by Sir James Elphinstone in 1679; and which was afterwards the residence of Sir Francis Scott of Thirlstane, Patrick Wedderburn, (Lord Chesterhall), and Lord Stonefield. Here the celebrated Alexander Wedderburn, Lord Loughborough, and Lord High Chancellor of England, spent the first twenty years of his life. On the other side of the close, a few paces farther down is the Mint Court, a sombre-looking quadrangle, formed of an irregular assemblage of buildings of various ages and styles, the oldest of which, a tall, massive, grim-looking, turreted building of polished ashlar, bears the date 1574, and was erected for the use of the National Mint. In this now squalid place, was the lodging of the celebrated Earl of Argyll, in 1675; and towards the close of the last century, a house on the north side was the residence of the eminent physician, Dr Cullen, while Lord Hailes occupied a more ancient one on the south. The west side of the court was at one time the abode of Lord Belliaven, Lord Haining, the Countess of Stair, Douglas of Cavers, and other eminent people.—Immediately adjoining this close, No. 50, is Hyndford's Close, containing, in a confined little court at the bottom, the ancient mansion of the Earls of Hyndford; and which at a later period was occupied by Dr Rutherford, the maternal grandfather of Sir Walter Scott. This fine old house was afterwards a favourite haunt of Sir Walter's during his boyhood, and a very fine view of it, from the garden behind, is given in the Abbotsford edition of his works.—On the other side of the street, and projecting a little way into it, stands

John Knox's House, one of the oldest buildings in the city. Knox lived in it in 1559, but before his occupancy it was the town residence of George Durie, the last Abbot of Dunfermline. Here the great Reformer wrote the most part; if not the whole, of his History of the Reformation; here, too, he narrowly escaped the bullet of an assassin; and here in 1572, he died, at the age of sixty-seven, "not so much oppressed with years, as worn out and exhausted by his extraordinary labour of body and anxiety of mind." Extending over nearly the entire front above the ground floor are inscribed in large Roman letters, "the first and great commandment, and the second which is like unto it:—"LUFE . GOD . ABUFE . AL . AND . YI . NYCHTOUR . AS . YI . SELEF." On an angle of the building is a small effigy of Moses kneeling, and resting one hand on the Table of the Law, while with the other he points to the name of God emblazoned above. The public are admitted on Wednesdays and Saturdays, from ten to four, to view the interior and the interesting curiosities which it contains. The charge for admission is sixpence.

The place of worship adjoining belongs to the Free Church body, and is named after the Reformer. It is a modern Gothic edifice, highly ornate in character, and was erected in 1850.—The contracted part of the High Street, from John Knox's House to the Canongate is called

The Nether Bow.—It derived its name from a massive battlemented structure with flanking towers and steeple, which stood for centuries as a gateway, extending from St Mary's Wynd to Leith Wynd. In this confined little spot was the residence of Sharpe, Archbishop of St Andrews; of Thomas Bassendyne and Robert Lekprevik in 1570-74, two of our earliest Scottish printers; and here William Falconer, the author of "The Shipwreck," was born.—A little below Knox's House, on the right, is No. 10, Tweeddale Court, at the bottom of which, in an enclosed court, stands the fine old town mansion of the noble family of Tweeddale, now occupied by the Messrs Oliver & Boyd, publishers. It is a building of the early part of the 17th century; and the last family occupant was the fourth Marquess, who was Secretary of State for Scotland in 1742. It was afterwards occupied by the British Linen Banking Company; and, in 1808, was the scene of one of the most mysterious murders that had ever taken place in the city. One evening about dusk, as one of the Bank porters, named Begbie, was entering the close, having in his possession upwards of £4000, which he was bringing from the Leith Branch, he was, when only a few paces from the busy public thoroughfare, suddenly stabbed to the heart with a knife, and robbed of the large sum he carried. And although a reward of 500 guineas was offered, no trace of the murderer could ever be obtained.

St Mary's Wynd, on the right, before the formation of the South Bridge, was the main outlet to one of the great roads to the south, and the seat of several of the principal inns. It derived its name from an ancient Cistercian nunnery, which stood on its west side, dedicated to St Mary. A great many old buildings that formerly stood on the east side have recently been swept away in the progress of city improvements; and amongst these was the Old White Horse Inn, at which Dr Johnson put up on his arrival here in 1773. On the opposite side is

Leith Wynd, anciently one of the principal outlets and avenues to the town, and the scene of many a lawless act and desperate fray. At the foot of this wynd, in open day, in February 1592, John Graham of Killearn, one of the supreme criminal judges, was waylaid and murdered, and not one of the perpetrators was ever brought to justice. Down this steep incline, too, clattered Graham of Claverhouse, and thirty of his dragoons, when on his way to raise the Highland clans in favour of King James, while the town was beating to arms to pursue him. At the bottom of the wynd, on the right, is

Paul's Work, a locality which derived its name from an altar or chapel, dedicated to St Paul, and which formed part of an hospital founded here in 1479, by the Bishop of Aberdeen. But the buildings having subsequently fallen into decay, were reconstructed, and diverted from their original purpose, and given over to certain Dutch manufacturers, who had been invited from Delft, in Holland, with the object of instructing poor boys and girls in the making of woollen stuffs, hence the name—Paul's Work.

THE CANONGATE

Extends from the Nether Bow to Holyrood, and, like the High Street and the Lawnmarket, was anciently the abode of the noble and the wealthy. Here dwelt the Dukes of Hamilton and Queensberry, the Countesses of Tweeddale and Lothian; the Earls of Breadalbane, Ilyndford, Haddington, Dalhousie, Panmure, Moray, and Mar, and a host of others equally distinguished. "As the main avenue from the palace to the city," says Chambers, "it has borne upon its pavement the burden of all that was beautiful, all that was gallant, all that has become historically interesting in Scotland for the last six or seven hundred years." And although age and the exigencies of modern sanitary requirements have wrought sad havoc amongst the old houses that formerly stood here, there still remain not a few to which belong historical and literary associations of the most interesting kind. Scott, who loved every locality of the Old Town, delighted to linger here. "No funeral hearse," says Lockhart, "crept more leisurely than did his landau up the Canongate; and not a queer tottering gable but recalled to him some long-buried memory of splendour or bloodshed, which, by a few words, he set before the hearer in the reality of life." Part of this old street was built as early as the twelfth century; and many of the existing houses date as far back as the sixteenth; one bears the date, 1565.

The first place of note on the left, is the Morocco Land, No. 285, an interesting old edifice with an antique gabled façade to the street, adorned with the figure of a turbaned Moor occupying a pulpit, and regarding which various romantic stories are told, one of which is, that a young citizen of Edinburgh, having been condemned to death for some riotous proceedings, escaped from prison the night before the day appointed for his execution, took ship at Leith, and fled abroad. But having been captured by pirates, and sold as a slave, he won the favour of the Emperor of Morocco, by whom he was promoted to rank and wealth. Having returned to his native city, at a period when the plague was raging, and the provost's only daughter lay at the point of death, he intimated his possession of an elixir of wondrous potency, and undertook to cure her and did. The result is soon told. He married her, and settled down in this house as a wealthy citizen of the Canongate; and, in gratitude to his royal patron, adorned the front of his residence with the effigy of his Moorish majesty.—A little farther down, on the same side, is New Street, whose last century occupants were Lord Kames—his house is at the head of the street, on the east side, facing the Canongate; Lord Hailes, Sir Philip Ainslie, Lady Anstruther, Dr Young, a celebrated physician of the period; Miss Jean Ramsay, a daughter of the poet, &c.—Almost opposite is the Playhouse Close, No. 196, in which, in 1746, the first theatre in Edinburgh was erected, and where, on the evening of the 14th of December 1746, Home's tragedy of "Douglas" was first presented to the public. A few paces to the east, a ringed spot on the causeway indicates where St John's Cross, the ancient eastern boundary of the capital formerly stood, and where Charles L., at his ceremonial entry into Edinburgh in 1633, knighted the provost.—A little further down, on the same side, entering through an archway, is

St John Street, an aristocratic quarter of the last century, begun in 1768. In a house at the head of the street, facing the Canongate, the Earl of Hopetoun resided in 1788; and in the first floor of the same building on the west side of the street, Smollett, the novelist, resided in 1766, with his sister, Mrs Telfer of Scotstown. No. 13, on the east side of the street, was the residence of Lord Monboddo, and his lovely and accomplished daughter, Miss Burnet, who died prematurely of consumption on the 17th of June 1790, and whom Burns, who was a frequent guest of her father's, describes so glowingly in his "Address to Edinburgh," and whose early death he has so touchingly commemorated. No. 10, on the same side, was the residence of James Ballantyne, Scott's confidential critic and partner; and here those select dinners took place, that Ballantyne was in the habit of giving occasionally to his choice literary allies and personal friends, that he might read to them a chapter or two from some forthcoming romance of Scott's. Scott himself, Lockhart, who so graphically describes the scenes, Erskine, Terry, Sir William Allan, George Hogarth, W.S., Mrs Ballantyne's brother, and the author of a history of music, &c., were frequent guests. The first house, on the west side, a few paces south of the archway, was the meeting place of the Canongate Kilwinning Lodge of Free Masons, where Burns was made a member and poet-laureate of the lodge. A house a little to the south of this, with its gable to the street, and a garden to the south, was the residence, in 1780, of the Earl of Wemyss. Exactly opposite St John Street, there is a large and lofty stone land which has had for occupants the Countess of Eglinton, David Hume, who wrote most part of his history here, and others of like note.—To the east of this, on the opposite side, is

Moray House, a large and conspicuous edifice, originally erected by the Countess of Home in 1628, from whom it passed, in 1645, to the noble house of Moray, whose town mansion and property it remained for two hundred years. Oliver Cromwell resided here in 1648, and held his levees in the principal rooms. Two years later, the mansion was the scene of much festivity and rejoicing on the occasion of the marriage of the Earl of Moray's eldest daughter to Lord Lorn. The day of the marriage happened to be the day on which the great Marquess of Montrose was dragged a prisoner up the Canongate upon a hurdle, and the principal wedding guests, along with the bride and bridegroom, so far forgot their dignity as to step out on the stone balcony in front to witness the sight and to jeer at their old enemy in his degradation. Two days afterwards Montrose perished on the scaffold, and eleven years later, that same Lord Lorn, known to fame as the Marquess of Argyll, was beheaded by the "maiden." At the time when Moray House was in the temporary occupancy of Lord Chancellor Seafield, many confidential deliberations, in connexion with the Treaty of Union in 1707, took place within its walls; and it was in the little summer-house which adorned the stately old terraced gardens behind (now shorn of its original pleasant appearance), that the Commissioners met to sign the Articles, when the violence of the enraged mob compelled them to desist. The subscription was afterwards completed in a cellar, now a news-vender's shop, No. 177 High Street. After having been occupied for some time by the British Linen Company's Bank, this old residence was, in 1847, transformed into the Free Church Normal School, and the fine garden became the playground of children.—A few paces further east, on the left, is Canongate Jail and Court-House, which is regarded as a good example of Scottish architecture of the time of James VI. It is surmounted by a small spire, and displays a projecting clock. A portion of the street flat is now used as a police station, over the door of which is placed the burgh armorial bearing, with the motto—"SIC ITUR AD ASTRA"—verily a strange way indeed to the stars! The old Court-house is now occupied as the Registration Office for the district. By the side of the wall, eastward of the entrance to the police station, is the ancient market cross, which formerly stood in the centre of the roadway.—A few steps eastward bring us to

The Canongate Church, erected in 1688, from funds bequeathed by one Thomas Moodie in 1649. It is a plain-looking structure with a painted front, surmounted by an ornamental model of a stag's head. The well-known Dr Hugh Blair, and the late Principal Lee, were at one time parish ministers here. In the surrounding graveyard lie the remains of Ferguson, the poet whose tombstone, raised at the expense of Robert Burns,

"directs pale Scotia's way

To pour her sorrows o'er her Poet's dust;"

Dr Adam Ferguson, historian of the Roman Republic; Dugald Stewart, Professor of Moral Philosophy; Adam Smith, the well-known author of the "Wealth of Nations;" David Allan, the artist; Dr Burney, author of the History of Music, &c.

A little further down, on the same side, is No. 129, Pannure Ploose, which gave access to Pannure House, the residence of the Earls of Pannure. Here also Adam Smith resided for the last twelve years of his life.—On the opposite side within an enclosure, is No. 90, Milton House, built and occupied as a town mansion by Andrew Fletcher of Milton, Lord Justice-Clerk of Scotland in 1724.—Further down, on the right, is Queensberry House, a huge ungainly pile, with centre and projecting wings, now used as a House of Refuge for the Destitute. It was built in the time of Charles II, by the first Duke of Queensberry, the cruel and unprincipled minister of the last two Stuarts. The most distinguished occupant of the house, however, was the wife of the third Duke, the beautiful and accomplished Lady Catherine Hyde, the patroness of the poet Gay, and whose sprightliness and wit have been sung in the poetry of Pope, Swift, and Prior. Gay, who accompanied the Duke and Duchess to Scotland in 1729, resided here for a short time; and tradition points out an old house on the opposite side, which was formerly an alehouse kept by one Janet Hall,—Jenny Ha's, as it was called—where the poet is said to have spent some of his time in the company of Allan Ramsay and a few other choice spirits of the city.

On the left, entered by Galloway's Entry, is Whiteford House, built by Sir John Whiteford, and latterly occupied by Lord Bannatyne, who died here in 1823. A little further down is No. 31, Whitehorse Close, which contains the Whitehorse Inn, an ancient hostelry erected in 1623, and which Scott, in "Waverley," makes the resort of the cavaliers of Prince Charles Edward's army, and the quarters of Captain Waverley.—Proceeding eastwards, towards Holyrood, we reach a radiated arrangement of the causeway, which marks the site of the Girth Cross, the ancient boundary of the Abbey Sanctuary—the only remaining place of the kind in Scotland. An imperium in imperio, it has its own courts, and judges, and laws, and can protect its subjects from all the bailiffs in the kingdom. Along the wall of the Abbey Court-house, on the right, will be observed a series of pointed arches that have been built up. These indicate the ancient Gothic porch and gatehouse which led into the Abbey Close. On the west side of the Palace Yard is the royal mews and guardhouse. The Fountain.—The beautiful fountain in the centre was erected in 1859, at a cost of £1700. This elaborately carved structure is a restoration of the fountain that anciently adorned the quadrangle of Linlithgow Palace; and the figures and heads are principally representations of historical characters, some of whom were associated with Holyrood. They were designed by Mr Thomas of London, and nearly all carved by Mr John Rhind of this city.

HOLYROOD PALACE AND CHAPEL.

Admission may be obtained to view the interior every lawful day from 11 o'clock A.M. till 6 P.M. in summer, and from 11 A.M. till 4 P.M. in winter. A charge of sixpence is made, except on Saturdays, which is a free day.

We now enter the precincts of a place in which centre many of the most interesting historical associations of the kingdom. When Margaret, the Saxon wife of Malcolm Canmore, came to Scotland, she brought with her a golden casket shaped like a cross, within which was preserved a portion of the "Rude" on which our Saviour suffered; and at least so the annalists of the time allege. This holy relic was bequeathed by the good Queen as an heirloom to her sons; and, notwithstanding the monkish legend of the miraculous deliverance from the stag, it may be safely asserted that it was when this legacy came into his possession that King David I., in 1128, bethought him of dedicating the Abbey which he founded here to the "Holy Rude." The original buildings have long since disappeared. Even the existing ruins of the Chapel Royal form no portion of the handiwork of those "rich crafty masons" whom David procured from France and Flanders to erect the Abbey and its church, but are the remains of the chapel which was rebuilt on the site of the old one about the year 1460.

The Palace of Holyrood House was distinct from the Abbey or Monastery, and was founded by James IV. in 1501. The building, however, made little progress during his reign. In 1528 James V. erected the north-west towers, where are located Queen Mary's apartments. The rest of the existing Palace was built by command of Charles II. in 1671-79, after a design furnished by Sir William Bruce of Kinross, who seems to have been successful in harmonising the new with the old portions. The Palace as it now stands is a spacious and imposing quadrangular structure, in what is called the Palladian style, enclosing a piazza-bounded court 94 feet square. The principal front faces the west, and consists of a double battlemented tower on each side, which are connected by a receding screen or range of building two storeys high. Over the grand entrance, which is decorated on each side with pillars, are the royal arms of Scotland, above which is a cupola, roofed by an imperial crown in stonework. The other sides of the quadrangle are three storeys high.

On entering the Palace, the visitor is generally conducted in the first place to the Picture Gallery, the door of which is the first he comes to as he turns to his left. This fine apartment is a portion of the additions made in Charles the Second's time, and measures 150 feet in length by 24 feet in breadth. On its walls are hung about a hundred imaginary portraits of both fabulous and reputed kings of Scotland, all painted in 1684-86 by a Flemish artist named De Witt. Besides these miserable caricatures, there are two pictures in the gallery that are well worthy of being looked at by all lovers of art, the one being a representation of James III. of Scotland and his son, afterwards James IV., and the other being a portrait of Margaret of Denmark, the Queen of James III. These two paintings were long in the Royal Collection at Hampton Court, but were restored to Scotland in 1857.

On leaving the Picture Gallery, the next rooms visited are those which Lord Darnley used to occupy, in which are a number of interesting portraits. From these we ascend to Queen Mary's Apartments on the third storey of James the Fifth's towers. The first apartment entered is the audience chamber, in which now stands a venerable state bed, said to have been used by Charles I., while resident in Holyrood; by Prince Charles Edward, before and after the battle of Prestonpans; and by the Duke of Cumberland, on his return from Culloden in the spring of 1746. The next apartment to this is the bedchamber, in which are shown the queen's bed, some pieces of tapestry, and portraits of Henry VIII. and Queen Elizabeth. At the south-west corner of this chamber is a narrow door admitting to the dressing-room, a tiny place, some ten feet square, hung with faded tapestry. On the north side is a small door which opens on the secret stair by which the assassin of Rizzio ascended to the royal apartments; and close to the private staircase door is the entrance to the supper-room, or rather closet, where, on the night of the 9th of March 1566, the unfortunate Rizzio was dragged from behind the person of the queen, to whose garments he had clung for protection, and after being hustled through the bedroom and antechamber, during which he received nearly fifty wounds, was finally despatched at the head of the staircase by the daggers of the Earl of Morton, Lord Ruthven, Lord Lindsay, the Master of Ruthven, and "divers other gentlemen." Some dark stains said to have been made by his blood are still pointed out at the head of the stair.

Descending to the piazza of the inner court, and proceeding eastward, we reach the ruins of the Chapel Royal, which consists of the remains of the nave, originally 148 feet long and 66 feet broad, and a wall built by the first Reformers across its east end, to convert it into a parish church. Almost all the west front, with its richly ornamented doorway, is part of the original edifice, and is a beautiful specimen of the mixed Norman and early Gothic. The windows over the great doorway, and the ornamental tablet between them, are additions of the time of Charles I. In this old chapel Charles I. was crowned, and James II. and James III. and Queen Mary and Darnley were married; and here lie the remains of David II., James II., Mary of Gueldres, James V., the queen and second son of James V., the Duke of Albany, Lord Darnley, and many others of lesser note.

Leaving this, and turning southward, we enter

The Queen's Park, and pass in an easterly direction along the Queen's Drive. Nearly opposite to the southern entrance gate of the Palace is St Margaret's Well, a small octagonal building of great antiquity, with a groined roof supported by a pillar in the centre, from which the water flows. Continuing our progress along the Drive, we catch a glimpse of the ruins of St Anthony's Chapel perched on the rising ground to the right. This chapel was a hermitage of the Carmelite Friars, attached to the Preceptory of St Anthony, Leith. The well of the same name, so celebrated in Scottish song, issues from beneath a rock a little lower down. A small artificial sheet of water, called St Margaret's Loch, lies at the base of the hill on which the chapel stands. Passing this, the Drive ascends the Whinny Hill, bringing into view the Piershill Barracks, Portobello, and the Firth of Forth. At the bend of the road Dunsappie Loch meets the eye, as well as the locality where the army of Prince Charles Edward encamped both before and after the battle of Prestonpans. Should the visitor be desirous of reaching the top of Arthur's Seat, he may begin the ascent most easily from this point, as the hill is less abrupt here than on any of its other sides. From the elevated position where we now are, we overlook the picturesque village of Duddingstone, with its loch and swans, and its quaint old Norman Church, in which Thomson the landscape painter used to preach, and see, embosomed amid the trees on the rising ground beyond, the ruins of Craigmillar Castle, where Queen Mary often resided. The Drive now leads through a deep cutting in the rock, but ere long a fine view of country southward and westward opens before us. The suburb of Newington, with its villas and gardens, occupies the foreground, while the vista beyond is bounded by the hills of Braid and Blackford, and by the range of the Pentlands. The carriage road now descends a valley, and winds round the base of Salisbury Crags; but the higher road, on the right, a pathway cut in the face of the Crags, is the one most frequently taken, as its elevated platform affords a series of magnificent panoramic views of Edinburgh, the Firth of Forth, and the coast of Fife. It was a favourite walk of David Hume the historian, and of Sir Walter Scott. Descending to the Palace Yard, and crossing to the north, we enter the Abbey Hill, passing, on the right, within the lawn enclosure, Queen Mary's Dial, and on the left Queen Mary's Bath, a quaint, ancient octagonal tower. Ascending Abbey Mount, turning to the left, and proceeding along the Regent Road, the first noticeable object, on the left, is Burns's Monument, erected by subscription in 1830, after a design by Thomas Hamilton, the architect of the High School. The interior is tastefully fitted up as a museum, and contains a number of interesting relics of the poet, which may be inspected daily from 10 to 4, on payment of 2d.—On the right, a little farther on, is

The High School.—The date of the foundation of the High School is unknown, but it is ascertained to have existed as early as the beginning of the twelfth century. From that time to the Reformation, the "Grammar-School of Edinburgh," as it was then called, was under the control of the Abbot or Commandator and Canons of Holyrood. In 1598, through the enlightened zeal of the clergy and Town Council, it was remodelled on a more comprehensive plan; and, from the special patronage vouchsafed to it by James VI., it received the name which it still bears, Schola Regia Edim- burgensis. After the High School had been disjoined from the Abbey of Holyrood, a building was erected in 1578, to receive the pupils, in the gardens of the monastery of the Blackfriars, at the east end of Infirmary Street, near the head of the High School Wynd; but having fallen into decay, and being found otherwise unsuitable, it was, in 1777, replaced by another building, which continued to be used till 1829, when the present edifice was erected, on the south slope of the Calton Hill. Designed by Mr Thomas Hamilton, a pupil of the school, it was founded on the 28th of July 1825, and completed in June 1829, at a cost of £30,000. It is a structure of the purest Grecian Doric, on the plan of the celebrated Temple of Theseus at Athens, the main building consisting of a centre and two wings, having a total frontage of 270 feet. Two lofty corridors, each supported by six Doric columns, connect the centre with the wings. The centre contains the Rector's apartments, a spacious examination hall, 75 feet by 43, a library hall, and one or two smaller rooms; the wings contain the class-rooms for the two Classical Masters, and for their colleagues in other departments. The governing and instructing staff consists of a Rector, two Classical and two English Masters; Masters for French, German, Hindustani, Mathematics and Arithmetic, Writing and Bookkeeping, Engineering, Drawing, Fencing, Gymnastics, and lecturers on Chemistry, Natural Philosophy, Zoology, and Botany, who are appointed by the Town Council, in whom the patronage of the school is vested. The curriculum extends over six years, and embraces every branch of knowledge now recognised as requisite for a liberal education. The High School of Edinburgh is one of the first educational institutions in the country. It has had for rectors and masters a series of the most eminent men that ever adorned the academic office; and, during the last six hundred years, it has exercised over the youth of Scotland an influence that has made itself felt wherever the English language is spoken. Perhaps no educational institution in the country has sent forth so many eminent men, in every department of literature, science, and art, as the following list of a few among the more distinguished of its pupils will show:—

I. Divinity—Dr Hugh Blair, George Hamilton, D.D., Gladsmuir; John Erskine, D.D., Edinburgh, author of "Theological Dissertations;" Greville Ewing (Independent Church, Glasgow), author of "Greek and English Scripture Lexicon;" Robert Haldane, author of "Commentary on the Romans;" Thomas Macknight, D.D., of Greyfriars Church; the Rev. Alexander Brunton, D.D., Professor of Oriental Languages, Edinburgh; the Rev. D. Welsh, D.D., Professor of Ecclesiastical History, Edinburgh; Dr Thomas M'Crie, Professor of Divinity in English Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Dr Paul, Edinburgh; the Rev. Dr Glover, Edinburgh; the Rev. R. M. M'Cheyne of Dundee; the Rev. Charles Watson, D.D., Burntisland; Archibald C. Tait, Archbishop of Canterbury; John Strain, R. C. Bishop of Edinburgh; Dr Crawford, Professor of Divinity, Edinburgh; Dr Milligan, Professor of Church History, Aberdeen; Dr Wallace of Greyfriars.

II. Law—1. Lords High Chancellors of Great Britain—Erskine, Loughborough, Brougham; 2. Vice-Chancellor Sir John Stewart; 3. Judges and Advocates—Lord Dreg-horn, Lord Woodhouselee, Lord Bannatyne, Lord Chief Commissioner Adam, William Alexander, Lord Chief Baron of England; Professor George Joseph Bell, author of "Treatise on the Law of Scotland;" Robert Bell, Lecturer on Conveyancing, and author of "Forms of Deeds;" Lord President Blair, Lord Scothel, Lord President Hope, Lord Justice-Clerk Hope, Lord Craigie, Lord Chief Baron Dundas of Arniston, Lord Clerk Register Dundas, Lord Reston, Lord Hermand, Lord Kinnesdier, Baron Hume, author of "Criminal Law of Scotland;" Judge Advocate Gilbert Hutcheson, author of "Justice of Peace;" Lord Newton, Lord Glenlee, the Lords Meadow bank (father and son); Professor Allan Macnochie (grandson); Sir James Montgomery, Lord Advocate; Lord Cringletie, Sir William Rae, Lord Advocate; Lord William Robertson, (son of the historian); Lord Mackenzie, Lord Medwyn, Lord Moncreiff, Lord Murray, Lord Wood, Lord Pitmilny, Lord Patrick Robertson, Lord Dundrennan, Jeffrey, F. Horner, Cockburn, Rutherford, Neaves, Lord President Inglis, Lord Advocate Moncreiff, Lord Ardmillan, Lord Barclay, James Anderson, Q.C., Walter Ross, author of "Lectures on Conveyancing;" John Watson, founder of "John Watson's Hospital;" Alexander Wight, author of "Treatise on the Laws of Election;" John Wild, Professor of Civil Law, Edinburgh; Lord Balgray, Lord Adam Anderson, Sydney Bell, editor of "Law Reports of House of Lords;" William Blair of Avontown, Judge in Ionian Islands, and author of a treatise on "Slavery among the Romans;" Sir James Gibson-Craig, Bart.; Sir William Gibson-Craig, Bart., Lord Clerk Register; Sir David Dundas, Solicitor-General for England; William Pitt Dundas, Deputy Clerk Register for Scotland; Professor Douglas Cheape; Professor Allan Menzies; Professor Cosmo Innes, the celebrated antiquary; Sheriff Mark Napier, author of "Memoirs of Napier of Merchiston," "Marquis of Montrose," &c.; David Milne, author of "Essay on Comets;" Robert Pitcairn, author of "Criminal Trials of Scotland;" James Reddie, author of "Historical View of the Law of Maritime Commerce;" Professor George Skene, Edinburgh.

III. Medicine—The three Monros, and Robert Knox, anatomists—Professor Sir Charles Bell, author of "Bridge-water Treatise on the Hand;" John Bell, author of "Treatise on Gunshot Wounds;" Dr John Cheyne, author of "Essay on Mental Derangement;" Dr Andrew Combe, Physiologist; Dr Cruickshanks, author of "Treatise on Anatomy;" Professor Andrew Duncan, Edinburgh; Professor James Russell, Edinburgh; Sir A. W. Crichton, Physician to the Emperor of Russia; Professor Fyfe, Aberdeen; Professor R. E. Grant, University College, London; Dr D. B. Reid, author of "Elements of Chemistry;" Sir William Ferguson; Professors Hope, Christison, Syme, Henderson, MacLagan, Crum Brown, (Edinburgh), Young, (Glasgow.)

IV. Literature, Science, and Art—William Drummond of Hawthornden, poet; Robert Blair, author of "The Grave;" Robert Ferguson, the poet; Professor Kell, Oxford; John Law of Lauriston, author of the "Mississippi Scheme;" James Boswell, biographer of Dr Johnson; Professor Bruce, Edinburgh; Professor Dugald Stewart; Dr Gilbert Stuart; Henry Mackenzie, "The Man of Feeling;" Professor Gilchrist of Calcutta; Professor Hamilton, Aberdeen; Sir Walter Scott; Sir John Sinclair of Ulster; William Tytler of Woodhouselee, author of "Inquiry regarding Mary Queen of Scots;" Patrick Fraser Tytler, author of "History of Scotland;" George Combe, phrenologist; Sir E. S. Mackenzie of Coul, author of "Travels in Iceland;" A. N. Carmichael, author of Treatise on "Greek Verb," &c.; William Smellie, author of "Philosophy of Natural History;" George Borrow, author of "Bible in Spain," &c.; John Thomson, first professor of music, University of Edinburgh; J. B. Paterson, author of "Essay on National Character of the Athenians;" James Douglas of Cavers, essayist; Professors Pillans, George Wilson, author of the "Five Gateways of Knowledge," Balfour, Macdougall, Calderwood, Edinburgh; Professors Walker, Sir D. K. Sandford, Ramsay, Arnot, Glasgow; Professor Daniel Wilson, (Toronto), author of "Pre-historic Annals of Scotland;" Alexander Colston, author of essays on "Basis of Moral Science;" James D. Burns, author of "The Vision of Prophecy and other Poems;" Professor Sanders, Calcutta; Leonard Horner, president of Geological Society; Professor Gordon, Glasgow; A. Keith Johnston, F.R.G.S., geographer in ordinary to her Majesty; Allan Stevenson, engineer; Professor Williamson, Canada; Nasmyth, inventor of "Steam Hammer;" Robert Adam, architect; Robert and William Mylne, architects; Thomas Hamilton, architect of High School; Allan Ramsay, portrait-painter to George III.; Sir William Allan, R.A., and P.R.S.A.; James Archer, R.S.A.; Francis Cruickshank, portrait-painter.

V. Navy—Admirals—Sir George Hope, Sir William Hope, Sir Alexis Greig, Sir F. L. Maitland, Sir David Milne, Sir A. D. Y. Arbuthnot, Sir Charles Napier, Sir Richard Dundas, Captain Basil Hall, Captain Lord John Hay, Lord of the Admiralty.

VI. Army—Major-General Thomas Dundas of Fingask; General Sir Ronald Crawford Ferguson; General John Hope (Earl of Hopetoun); Lieutenant-General Sir John Hope; Sir George Murray, Master-General of the Ordnance; Lieutenant-General Sir Joseph Straton; General

Thomas Trotter; General Lord James Hay; Lieutenant Colonel Peter Murray, (Macgregor), Adjutant-General of Bengal Army.

VII. Peerage and Civil Service—Earl of Camperdown; Earl of Cathcart; Princes of Orleans—Duc d'Alençon, Duc de Penthièvre, Prince de Condé; Ninth Earl of Dalhousie, Governor of Canada; Viscount Melville, First Lord of the Admiralty; Mountstuart Elphinstone, Governor of Bombay, and author of "History of India."

On leaving the High School, we approach an imposing range of buildings in the castellated Saxon style of architecture. This is

The Prisons.—The dismal-looking structure in the centre is named Bridewell, and was erected in 1791-96. The building on the west, the Town and County Jail, was raised in 1817, when the Old Tolbooth in the High Street was taken down, and the one on the east, the Debtors' Jail, in 1845-47. —Opposite to the main entrance is the stair leading to

The Calton Hill, one of the principal attractions of the city. It stands 350 feet above the level of the sea, and commands a series of the finest panoramic views to be found in Europe.

"Traced like a map the landscape lies,
In cultured beauty stretching wide;
There Pentland's green acclivities,—
There ocean with its azure tide,—
There Arthur's Seat,—and, gleaming through Thy eastern wing, Dun-Edin blue;
While, in the orient, Lammer's daughters—
A distant giant-range—are seen
North Berwick Law, with one of green,
And Bass amid the waters."

Dugald Stewart's Monument, to the left, at the top of the second flight of stairs, was designed by Playfair, and will remind the tourist who has seen Athens of the "Lantern of Demosthenes." —To the north is the Old Observatory, erected in 1776, on the top of which is an Anemometer, and closely adjoining is The New Royal Observatory, founded in 1818, and built according to a plan furnished by Playfair, suggested by the Grecian Temple of the Winds. At the south-east corner of the same enclosure is the Monument of Professor Playfair, uncle of the celebrated architect of that name, near to which is the unfinished

National Monument, the foundation stone of which was laid on the 27th of August 1822, by George IV. The object of the promoters of this monument was, that it should commemorate the achievements of the Scotsmen who fell in the land and sea battles of Napoleon's times, and be a correct model of the Parthenon at Athens. When twelve massive pillars had been raised, further progress was stayed by lack of funds. Viewed from a distance, the structure has a much finer effect than it could possibly have if finished.—A few yards to the south stands

Nelson's Monument, a circular turret upwards of 102 feet in height, with a winding stair inside, and battlemented summit. It was erected in 1815. On the flagstaff a huge ball is rigged, which, moved by mechanism adjusted to the Observatory, drops daily at one o'clock Greenwich time. Visitors are admitted to the top on payment of 3d. each.

Descending the stairs again, we enter Waterloo Place. This approach to the city was planned in 1815 by Mr Archibald Elliot, the designer of the Prisons, and opened in 1819, on the visit of Prince Leopold, the late King of the Belgians. On the south side of the street is the Old Calton Burying Ground, where are the graves of David Hume, the historian, and Professor George Wilson, the chemist. On the east side of the centre walk of this cemetery is the Martyrs' Monument, a tall obelisk, erected in 1845 to the memory of several gentlemen who were punished in 1793 for advocating Parliamentary reform. A little further west is the Old Post Office buildings, erected in 1819, at a cost of £15,000, and now occupied as The New Waverley Hotel.

Passing the Regent Arch, and the Inland Revenue Offices on the left, we reach

The New Post Office.—This massive structure, which occupies the site of the old Theatre

Royal, is in the Italian style of architecture, and was designed by Mr Robert Matheson of H.M. Board of Works. The laying of the foundation stone, on the 23d of October 1861, was about the last public ceremonial in which the late Prince Consort took part. The building consists of three stories, 66 feet in height to Princes Street, and upwards of 160 at the south end, the front to Princes Street being 137 feet in length, and the façade to the Bridge 178 feet long. It was opened for business on the 7th of May 1866, and cost, including the site, £120,000.

Having returned to the point whence we started, we here terminate our first walk.

II.

St Andrew Square—George Street—Charlotte Square—and hence by Hope Street and Maitland Street to Donaldson's Hospital—thence by Manor Place and Melville Street to Dean Bridge—return by Randolph Crescent, Great Stuart Street, and Ainslie Place to Queen Street—York Place—Broughton—to Inverleith Row—and back by Henderson Row, Pitt Street, Dundas Street, and Hanover Street to Register House.

Leaving the Register House, and proceeding westward to St Andrew Street, we reach

ST ANDREW SQUARE.

Built about 1778, this was for many years the most fashionable quarter of the New Town. It is now, however, chiefly a mart for business, and is in this respect perhaps the most important street in the city. Some idea may be had of the magnitude of the interests at stake here, when it is stated that the liabilities (that is, the total sums insured) of the six leading insurance houses alone amount to nearly £45,000,000! and that their annual income is upwards of £1,600,000! a revenue larger than that of some States!

Entering from South St Andrew Street, the first building on the right, at the corner of Register Street, is

The National Bank.—Established 1825—With a paid-up capital of £1,000,000, it has 74 Branches, and 1554 Partners.—Adjoining is

The British Linen Co.'s Bank.—Established 1746. This Association was originally formed for the purpose of granting loans for the encouragement of the linen manufacture of Scotland, but in the course of years it gradually developed into common banking business, and is now one of the first establishments in the country. The present building, designed by David Bryce, R.S.A., and finished in 1851, at a cost of £30,000, displays in front a series of six Corinthian pillars supporting an entablature, surmounted by six beautifully-sculptured figures representing Navigation, Commerce, Industry, Architecture, Mechanics, and Agriculture. The beauty of the interior—with its magnificent columns of Peterhead granite, its busts of celebrated Scotsmen, its lanterned dome of stained glass, and tessellated Roman-tile pavement—is in perfect keeping with the imposing grandeur of the exterior. With a paid-up capital of £1,000,000 it has 53 Branches, and 967 Partners. (For a tragic incident in the history of this Bank, see under "Tweeddale Court," page 7.)—A few paces further north, in a recess, stands

The Royal Bank.—Established 1727. This building was originally erected about the latter end of the last century, as a town residence, by Sir Lawrence Dundas, Bart., who had acquired a large fortune as a commissary-general in the army, who was Member of Parliament for Edinburgh in 1768, and whose descendants are now Earls of Zetland. The bronze statue, in Roman costume, leaning on a charger, in front of the Bank, is that of John, fourth Earl of Hopetoun, who died in 1823. Under the name of Sir John Hope, he was a distinguished Peninsular officer, and assumed the command of the British Army at Corunna after the death of Sir John Moore. The Bank, with a paid-up capital of £2,000,000, has 84 Branches.—Immediately adjoining is Douglas' (Slaney's) Hotel, the most aristocratic hotel in the city, and the occasional abode of British and Continental royalty, it was originally built as a fashionable mansion for a leading lawyer and somewhat noted character in his day, Mr Andrew Crosbie, a member of the Faculty of Advocates, and the original of Scott's Counsellor Pleydell in "Guy Mannering," who removed hither from his old residence at the foot of Advocate's Close in the High Street about the latter end of the last century. Prosperity, however, seems to have forsaken him in his new abode, for he shortly afterwards lost his fortune by the failure of the Ayr Bank, and died in such poverty, in 1785, "that his widow owed her sole support to an annuity of £50 granted by the Faculty of Advocates." Better luck appears to have attended the dwelling of the eccentric old lawyer, for its roof has since sheltered kings and queens, and a long array of the great ones of the earth.

On the north side, No. 21, is a common stair, in the third floor of which Lord Brougham resided some years, when a boy, in his father's house here.

On the opposite side in a floor of the corner house, entering from St David Street, but overlooking the Square, David Hume resided for some time, and died there on the 25th of August 1776.

The Monument.—The tall fluted column in the centre of the Square was erected in 1821, at a cost of £8000, to commemorate Henry Dundas, the first Viscount Melville, who was Lord Advocate for Scotland in 1775, and who afterwards filled several ministerial offices during the administration of Pitt. He was impeached by the House of Commons for embezzlement while he was Treasurer to the Navy; but was declared not guilty by the Peers. It is 136 feet in height; and the statue on the top 14 feet.

Leaving the Square on the west, we enter

GEORGE STREET.

A fine spacious street, 115 feet wide, and nearly three-fourths of a mile long. Although of comparatively modern erection, many distinguished families have resided here. Sir Walter Scott dwelt here in 1797, and Francis Jeffrey in 1810; Sir Henry Raeburn, the distinguished portrait-painter; the well-known Sir George Sinclair, and his talented and benevolent daughter Miss Catherine Sinclair, authoress of "Modern Accomplishments," &c., also resided here.

The first noticeable structure, on the right, is

The Standard Life Assurance Company, the chaste Grecian front of which is surmounted by a pediment occupied by a sculptured group, by Steell, representative of the "Ten Virgins." A little further westward is

St Andrew's Church.—This was the earliest erected place of worship in the extended royalty or new city, having been erected in 1785, and is nearly circular in form, with a spire 168 feet high above a portico of Corinthian pillars; the spire contains the only chime of bells in Edinburgh. This church is celebrated as being the place in which the notable General Assembly of the Church of Scotland met in 1843, when 121 ministers and 73 elders (all members) seceded from the state connexion, and marched out, with Drs Chalmers and Welsh at their head, to constitute the ecclesiastical community which has since become so well-known by the name of the "Free Church." On the opposite side of the street is

The Commercial Bank—an imposing structure of a mixed Greek and Roman character, designed by Mr David Rhind. The Corinthian portico in front has a noble appearance, the columns being 35 feet high, the entablature 9 feet broad, and the pediment 15½ feet from the base to the apex. The pediment is filled with a colossal group of emblematical figures from the chisel of Handy-side Ritchie.

In the centre of the roadway, where George Street intersects Hanover Street, is the bronze Statue of George IV. by Chantrey. It was erected in 1832, to commemorate the King's visit to Edinburgh in 1822.

The Assembly Rooms, built in 1787, which include a hall of 92 feet long, 42 feet wide, and 40 feet high, and other apartments. The Music Hall, behind them, was built in 1843, at a cost of upwards of £10,000; and is a magnificent apartment, 108 feet long, and 91 feet broad.

Proceeding westward, we reach another work of Chantrey's, the Statue of William Pitt, which was erected in 1833. A little further along is Castle Street, in No. 39 of which, a house on the east side, Sir Walter Scott resided for many years.

St George's Parish Church, on the west side of Charlotte Square, closes the vista of George Street. Its dome gives it the appearance of a miniature St Paul's Cathedral. The body of the building, however, is far from being impressive. It was erected in 1811-14, after a design by Mr Robert Reid, at a cost of £33,000. It is in the Græco-Italian style of architecture; and the cross at its summit is 160 feet from the ground.

Leaving Charlotte Square by Hope Street, and noticing on the south, the beautiful Norman front of St Thomas's Episcopal Chapel, we proceed westward by Midland Street, noticing, in the latter street, on the right, St George's Free Church (Dr Candlish's), in process of erection, and reach, by the Corstorphine road, Donaldson's Hospital, the most princely edifice of which the city or its neighbourhood can boast. This magnificent building was designed by Mr Playfair, and publicly opened in 1851. It is a splendid palatial structure, in the Tudor or Elizabethan order of architecture, and forms the monument of Mr James Donaldson, an Edinburgh printer, who bequeathed, at his death in 1830, the sum of £210,000 to build and endow an hospital for the education and maintenance of boys and girls.

Retracing our steps as far as Athole Place, we pass down Manor Place, and enter, on the right, Melville Street, which contains a fine bronze statue of the second Viscount Melville, by Steell, and, passing along the street, we reach, by way of Queensferry Street, on the left,

The Dean Bridge, a creation of the celebrated Telford. It was built in 1832; and from the parapet a splendid view is obtained of the vale of the Water of Leith, and far down in the ravine below a glimpse is had of the Doric-temple-like erection which Lord Gardenstone raised over the mineral spring known as St Bernard's Well. At the north-west corner of the bridge is,

Trinity Episcopal Chapel, an elegant Gothic edifice, with square tower, nave, and aisles. It was designed by Mr John Henderson, and founded in 1838. Continuing our walk by the main line of road, we pass Buckingham Terrace on the right, and ere long see on a rising ground in the distance, northward, two newly-erected buildings of more than ordinary dimensions. The east-most of the two is Fettes College, founded by Sir William Fettes of Comely Bank, who died in 1836. The testator's purpose was to erect and endow an institution wherein might be educated and maintained a number of young persons whose parents had fallen into adversity through innocent causes. The edifice, now in the course of completion, was planned by Mr David Bryce, R.S.A. The estimated cost is £150,000.

The large structure to the west of the College is the residence of the "indoor paupers" of St Cuthbert's Parish.

Further on, on the left, is

Stewart's Hospital, erected from funds left by Mr Daniel Stewart of the Scottish Exchequer. The building, which was erected in 1849-53, is elegant and commodious, Elizabethan in character, and was planned by Mr David Rhind. Here a number of boys, children of poor, but honest and industrious parents in the City of Edinburgh, are maintained and educated.—On the west side of a road leading down to Bell's Mills from the western vicinity of Stewart's Hospital, is

John Watson's Hospital, a large and substantial structure, finished in 1828 after a design by Mr Burn. The founder was John Watson, W.S., who died in 1759. His desire was that it should be an hospital for foundlings; but the trustees obtained an Act of Parliament to alter this intention, and to devote the funds to the maintenance and education of destitute children. Nearly opposite is

The Orphan Hospital, an elegant building erected in 1833, at an expense of £16,000, from plans furnished by Mr Thomas Hamilton. Chil-men from all parts of the country are eligible for admission.

The first road to the left, after crossing the Dean Bridge, leads to

The Dean Cemetery, formed in 1845, on the site of Dean House, the family seat of a brave old baronial race, now extinct, the Nisbets of the Dean. The cemetery itself has associations of a most interesting kind. It contains the ashes of Sir William Allan, the painter; Professor Wilson, Lords Jeffrey, Cockburn, and Ruthersford; David Scott, the painter; Playfair, the architect; Edward Forbes, the naturalist; George Combe, the physiologist; and many other eminent Scotsmen.

Leaving the cemetery by the western gate, and passing Bell's Mills, and the village of the Water of Leith, on the left, we proceed by Randolph Crescent, Great Stuart Street, Ainslie Place, and St Colme Street, to Queen Street, at one time the fashionable promenade of the town, and from which a very fine view of the Forth, and the high lands to the north, is obtained. In No. 62, here, Francis Jeffrey resided for some years; and, further eastward, the well-known Sir Henry Moncrieff. Between Castle Street and Frederick Street is St Luke's Free Church; further eastward, No. 14, is the Caledonian United Service Club; and adjoining, on the east, No. 9, is the Physicians' Hall, which was built in 1845, after a design by Thomas Hamilton, and is adorned in front with a double Corinthian portico, supporting statues of Esculapius, Hippocrates, and Hygeia, from the chisel of Handyside Ritchie. A few paces further east is Queen Street Hall, the Synod Hall of the United Presbyterian Church, and at No. 4, the Philosophical Institution, containing library, reading-room, and news-room, and to which strangers, members of kindred institutions, are admitted free.

Passing eastward into York Place, where Sir Henry Raeburn, Dr George Combe, and Dr Abercromby, and other distinguished persons have resided, the first noticeable building is on the right. A few paces from North St Andrew Street is

St George's Episcopal Chapel, a quaint, dingy-looking little edifice, in the Gothic style of architecture, dating from 1794. It was designed by the celebrated Robert Adam; and within its walls the venerable Dean Ramsay began his preaching life in Edinburgh. James Grahame, the amiable author of "The Sabbath," was at one time an unsuccessful candidate for the incumbency of this church.—At the north-east corner of the street is

St Paul's Episcopal Chapel, a beautiful Gothic structure, consisting of nave and aisles, measuring 123 feet by 73, and built in 1818 after a design by Mr Elliott, at a cost of about £12,000. The Rev. Archibald Alison, author of the once popular "Essay on Taste," and father of the distinguished historian, was incumbent here for many years before his death in 1839.—On the opposite side of the street is Broughton Street, in which is

St Mary's Roman Catholic Chapel, the principal place of worship belonging to the Roman Catholics in Edinburgh, and built in 1813, at an expense of £8000, after a design by Mr James Gillespie Graham. It has an elegant Gothic front, with pinnacles rising to the height of 70 feet, and contains a fine organ and a beautiful altar-piece.—Closely adjoining it is

The Theatre-Royal, a new building erected in 1866, and embracing in its construction all the recent improvements for rendering theatrical representations in the most effective manner. The old Adelphi Theatre, which at one time occupied this site, was burnt down in 1853. The Queen's Theatre and Opera House took its place, but was also destroyed by fire in 1865.

Proceeding down Broughton Street, we pass, on the left, a plain-looking Ionic building, used as a place of worship by disciples of the celebrated Edward Irving.—Near to it, and forming the south-east corner of Albany Street, is a Congregational Chapel; at the opposite corner stands

St Mary's Free Church, an important example of the Perpendicular Gothic style of architecture, the erection of which cost about £13,000.

Adjoining it is one of the elementary schools, which the Governors of George Heriot's Hospital were empowered, by Act of Parliament, to erect from their surplus revenues. There are now thirteen of these schools in Edinburgh—five for infants, and eight for juveniles—in which children of poor burghesses and residents within the boundaries of the city are educated free.

Pursuing our way northwards, we pass, on the right, Broughton Place, at the north-west corner of which is St James's Episcopal Chapel, and at the east end a United Presbyterian Church, with a handsome Doric portico, erected in 1824.—A little further northwards is another ecclesiastical edifice, viz.,

St Mary's Parish Church, possessing a front of considerable elegance, and a spire rising to the height of 168 feet. It was erected in 1824, after a plan by Mr Thomas Brown.

Leaving this, we advance to the village of Canonmills, with its bridge spanning the Water of Leith, on the left bank of which is a series of buildings in the design of a Moorish fortress, and erected in 1824 for an oil-gas scheme, which fell through. In Tanfield Hall, one of these buildings, the first General Assembly of the Free Church was held on the 18th of May 1843.—Proceeding northward to Inverleith Row, a short distance brings us to

The Experimental Gardens of the Royal Caledonian Horticultural Society. These finely-arranged grounds, ten acres in extent, were formed in 1824, and are designed to promote improvements in the cultivation of fruits, flowers, and vegetables. Visitors are freely admitted on week-days without payment.—Adjoining, on the north, is

The Botanic Gardens, formed in 1822-24, and comprising 14½ acres. They contain a museum, a lecture-room, extensive hot-houses, palm-houses, &c. The public are admitted free to all parts of the gardens every day from 10 to 6; the palm and hot-houses, however, are only open to strangers on Saturdays from 12 to 4.—A little farther to the north, on the right, is a road striking off towards the east, which leads to Warriston Cemetery, with its chaste little chapel, tastefully laid-out-grounds, and numerous monuments.—Inverleith House, the residence of Cosmo Innes, Esq., is in the neighbourhood.

Retracing our steps as far as Canonmills Bridge, turning southwards, we reach Henderson Row, and in which is

The Edinburgh Academy, a low, plain-looking Doric structure, erected in 1824, after a design by W. Burn, at a cost of upwards of £14,000. The education afforded within its walls is of a high class order. There are what is technically called two schools—the classical and the modern. In the one boys are prepared for the learned professions, and in the other they are equipped for entering upon civil and military service, or upon mercantile pursuits. The pupils' roll of this Academy contains not a few names that have become known to the great world of public life, such as the Right Hon. and Most Rev. Dr Archibald Campbell Tait, the present Archbishop of Canterbury; the Right Rev. Dr David Anderson, at one time Bishop of Rupert's Land; Sir Colin Blackburn, one of the Justices of the Queen's Bench; the late William Edmonstone Aytoun, at one time Editor of Blackwood's Magazine, and distinguished alike as a professor and as an author; Sir William Dunbar Mochrum, Bart., for several years a popular Member of Parliament and a Lord of the Treasury; the Right Hon. the Earl of Fife; and Mount Stuart Elphinstone Grant Duff, the highly-accomplished M.P. for the Elgin Burghs, and Under-Secretary of State for India.

The Deaf and Dumb Institution is a plain-looking commodious mansion, pleasantly situated within garden grounds, to the west of the Edinburgh Academy, and was established in 1810 for the board and education of deaf and dumb boys and girls.

St Stephen's Church is a stately octagonal edifice, in a mixed Roman style, with a square tower 163 feet high at the north termination of St Vincent Street, to the southward of the Deaf and Dumb Institution. It was designed by William Henry Playfair, and erected in 1828, as one of the parochial churches of the extended royalty, at a cost of £25,000. In the low ground immediately behind the church, there formerly stood an ancient scattered village called Silvermills, a portion of which is still extant. In the low ground at the east end of Henderson Row, in North Pitt Street is

The Royal Patent Gymnasium, one of the most interesting and attractive places of amusement in Edinburgh; and no stranger visiting the city should depart without seeing it, containing, as it does, some of the most curious and amusing gymnastic inventions ever seen. It was introduced here at considerable expense by its proprietor, Mr Cox of Gorgie House, for the purpose of affording healthful and exhilarating out-door recreation to great numbers at once; and was opened in April 1865, by the Provosts, Magistrates, and Councillors of Edinburgh and Leith, and a large number of the leading inhabitants of the city and county. Amongst the many curious things here, may be mentioned a "Rotary Boat," 471 feet in circumference, and seated for 600 rowers; a "Velocipede Paddle Merry-go-Round," 160 feet in circumference, and seated for 600 persons, who propel the machine by sitting astride on the rim and pushing their feet against the ground; a "Giant See-Saw 'Chang,'" 100 feet long and 7 feet broad, like a bridge supported on an axle, and capable of containing 200 persons, alternately elevating them to a height of fifty feet and then sinking almost to the ground; a "Self-adjusting Trapeze," in five series of three each, enabling gymnasts to swing by the hands a distance of 130 feet from one Trapeze to the other; a "Compound Pendulum Swing," holding about 100 persons, and kept in motion by their own exertions, with no end of Rotary Ladders, Vaulting and Climbing Poles, Stilts, Spring Boards, Quoits, Balls and Bowls. A very great source of attraction to youngsters is the Small Boats and Canoes on the Ponds, propelled by various novel and amusing methods. There is also an Athletic Hall, with an instructor in attendance. The most recently-introduced novelty, however, is the Velocipede, with the largest Training Velocipede Course in Scotland. The charge for admittance is 6d.—under twelve, 3d.

Ascending the face of the slope southwards, we pass Great King Street, built in 1820, where Sir William Allan, the painter, lived and died, and speedily reach Queen Street, from which we pass, by way of St David Street, St Andrew Square, and Register Street, to the end of our second walk.

III.

North and South Bridges—Infirmary Street—North College Street—Nicolson Street and Square—Buecluch Street—Potterrow—Bristo Street and Port—Charles Street—George Square—Buecluch Place—Forrest Road—Lauriston—hence by Home Street and Leven Street to Morningside, and thence return by Bruntsfield Links and Meadows to Grange, and back by Meadow Walk, Forrest Road, George IV. Bridge, and Princes Street to Register House.

Leaving the Register House, and crossing the street, we reach

The North Bridge, which runs straight south, and was built in 1767-1772, at a cost of £18,000. It consists of three great central arches, two small open side arches, and a number of small vault arches at the ends. The span of each of the great arches is 72 feet; and the height, from the ground to the top of the parapet of the centre arches, is 68 feet. The entire length, from Princes Street to the High Street, is 1125 feet. The view eastwards and westwards from the centre of the Bridge, in a clear day, is very attractive.—Proceeding southward, and passing the High Street, right and left, we enter

The South Bridge, which was formed in 1785-88, and cost £15,000. The purchase of the old buildings to make way for it, cost £50,000; and the new building areas on it were sold for £80,000. Some of the sites sold at the rate of £96,000 per acre; and some even as high as £150,000. It consists of 22 arches; but they are all concealed by the buildings along the side, with the exception of the central one across the Cowgate. Some of the business establishments here are amongst the oldest and most extensive in the town; one firm, indeed, dates its origin from the time of Charles the Second; the founder of another firm, retired not a great many years ago with a fortune of £40,000.—Proceeding southwards, we pass, on the right, Adam Square, where Robert Dundas of Arniston, Lord President of the Court of Session, lived, and died on the 13th of December 1787. The sitting statue on the pedestal is that of James Watt, and was erected in 1853.—On the left is Infirmary Street, in which is situated,

The Royal Infirmary.—It was erected in 1738, for the philanthropic purpose of affording relief to the "curable distressed," not only of Edinburgh, or even Scotland, but of the world. The yearly average of patients in its wards is upwards of 3000. As a proof that its benefits have been appreciated by the general public, it is sufficient to state that about £80,000 have been recently subscribed to erect a better building for the accommodation of its patients.

The two ecclesiastical buildings opposite to the Infirmary are Lady Yester's Parish Church, with a plain Gothic front, built in 1803, and a chapel belonging to the United Presbyterians, erected in 1822. The building at the foot of the street, facing westwards, and now forming part of the Surgical Hospital, was the High School of Edinburgh from 1777 till 1823, when it was sold to the managers of the Infirmary for £7500. The first High School was erected on the same site in 1578, and was used as such till the present building was erected. To this dull-looking place, then, for more than 270 years the youth of the Scottish metropolis repaired for the acquisition of knowledge; and here the well-known Dr Adam taught such pupils as Henry Mackenzie, the "Man of Feeling," Scott, Jeffrey, Brougham, Cockburn, Horner, and a host of others, whose names are known wherever the language is spoken.—Nearly opposite Infirmary Street is

The University.—It is a large quadrangular edifice, in what is known as the Græco-Italian style of architecture, extending 255 feet from north to south, and 358 from east to west. The original college, founded in 1582, comprised a range of mean-looking buildings, which were demolished in 1789, to give place to the present massive pile. If the plans of the original architect, Mr Adam, had been carried out in their integrity, the structure would have been much more imposing and magnificent than it is; but as the erection progressed, funds failed, and a curtailment of the original design became necessary. This was accomplished by Mr Playfair, and in 1815, Parliament granted an annual sum of £10,000 for ten years to carry out the proposed modifications. The work of teaching began in the old buildings in 1583, under Robert Rollick, the first Principal. By degrees the fame of the College, and its long line of distinguished teachers, spread far and wide, and pupils from all quarters flocked to it. Its early-world fame is still maintained, and although the youngest of the Scottish universities, it annually enrolls the largest number of students. The aggregate yearly value of the fellowships and scholarships (all founded since 1858) is £1400. The library of the University, the principal apartment of which is a magnificent room 200 feet long and 50 feet broad, occupies the south side of the quadrangle, and contains several hundred curious manuscripts, and upwards of 130,000 printed volumes.

The Industrial Museum, still unfinished, is situated behind the University, with which it is connected by a small glass-covered bridge. It is in the Venetian Renaissance style, from a design by the late Captain Fowke, and consists of a series of courts opening into a great hall 260 feet long, 70 feet wide, and 70 feet high. The laying of the foundation-stone of this building, on the 23d of October 1861, was the last public act of his late Royal Highness the Prince Consort. The Museum is open free on Wednesdays from 10 to 4; and on Fridays and Saturdays from 10 to 4, and from 6 to 9. A charge of 6d. each is made for admission on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays from 10 to 4.

It is well worthy of a visit, as it contains objects of interest to all classes of the community. Besides the specimens of the "Industrial" department, may be seen one of the finest collections of birds in the world, and also the most complete assortment of minerals believed to exist in the kingdom.

In North College Street is the College Wynd, which was anciently known by the name of "The Wynd of the Blessed Virgin Mary in the Field," in a house at the top of which, now swept away, Sir Walter Scott was born; in an adjoining house lived the celebrated chemist, Dr Black; and here also Oliver Goldsmith took up his abode while studying medicine at the University.—A little to the west is the Horse Wynd, where the Countess of Galloway, Lord Kennet, Baron Stuart, and other titled people formerly resided, and where their houses still remain. Still farther east, within a railed wall, stands Minto House, the town mansion of the Earls of Minto.

A few paces south of the University is Nicolson Street, built about the end of the last century, on the east side of which, a little way south of Drummond Street, is

The Royal College of Surgeons, a beautiful building in the Grecian style, with a handsome portico and pediment, supported by six fluted Ionic columns, erected in 1833, after a design by W. H. Playfair, at a cost of £20,000. The extensive museum, containing a valuable collection of anatomical and surgical preparations, may be seen on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Fridays, from 10 till 3, and on Saturdays from 12 till 3, by order from a member of the College.—Nearly opposite is

Nicolson Square, in a house in which the sixth Earl of Leven, Lord High Commissioner to the General Assembly for many years, long resided.—A little farther south, on the left, No. 58, is

The Blind Asylum, one of our most useful and deserving public charities, and which was originated in 1765, by the benevolent exertions of Dr David Johnston, minister of North Leith.

Still farther south, on the same side, is West Richmond Street, a little way down which, on the right, is the church in which Dr Thomas M'Crrie, the distinguished biographer of Knox and Melville, preached for many years.—A little beyond Richmond Street, on the left, a large archway leads to Simon Square, on the east of which is Paul Street, where Sir David Wilkie first took up his abode on his arrival in Edinburgh in 1799, and from which he afterwards removed to a better lodging in East Richmond Street, and thence to a comfortable attic in Palmer's Land, West Nicolson Street. The latter apartment, it may be interesting to know, had been occupied for some years previously by Alexander Runciman, the artist.—Still proceeding southwards, a few paces brings us, on the right, to Nicolson Street Church, erected in 1820, and where the well-known Dr John Jamieson, the author of the "Etymological Dictionary of the Scottish Language," and other works, preached for many years. It has a handsome Gothic front, with two octagonal towers 90 feet high, and a very elegant doorway.—Taking the first opening to the right, southward, we reach

Buccleuch Church, an unpretending little structure, erected in 1755, at a cost of £800, but which has recently been restored and embellished at an expense of over £2000. It is adorned with several very fine memorial windows—one very beautiful one, designed by the present Marquis of Bute, and erected at his expense, to the memory of an ancestress of his, Flora, daughter of Macleod of Rasay, who lies buried in the small churchyard adjoining. Here, by the way, in this obscure and almost forgotten little spot, are the graves of Dr Thomas Blacklock, "the Blind Poet," whose timely and appreciating, encouraging letter to Burns first drew him from his obscurity; and the celebrated Dr Alexander Adam, author of the well-known work on "Roman Antiquities," and for forty-three years Rector of the High School—the teacher and friend of Jeffrey, Brougham, Horner, and a host of other eminent men, he was so highly esteemed that he was borne thither, on the 29th of December 1809, in the midst of a public funeral, such as Edinburgh has seldom seen. The masters of the school, and the pupils, 600 in number, walked in procession, followed by the Magistrates and Council, the Principal and Professors of the University, the Judges, and city ministers, and over 700 gentlemen.

Retracing our steps northward, we reach, on the right, Potterrow, an ancient aristocratic locality, which, so late as 1716, contained the residence of the Earl of Morton. But it has other, and more interesting associations still. The first interview between Mrs M'Lehose, the romantic Clarinda, and Burns, her Sylvander, took place at the house of a Miss Nimmo, in Alison Square, here; and here also Campbell, the poet, resided during his stay in Edinburgh, and wrote his "Pleasures of Hope."—A few paces north from Alison Square, on the left, is

Middleton's Entry, from which entrance is obtained to a small desolate-looking court of antique buildings, bearing the name of General's Entry, and in which Viscount Stair and General Monk formerly resided, from the latter of whom it took its name. It was in a house, on the first floor of an old tenement on the north side of this court that the beautiful and accomplished Mrs M'Lehose resided with her two children, and where she received the visits of the ardent poet. Singularly enough, too, Miss Jean Lorimer, the flaxen-haired Chloris of some of the poet's finest lyrics, and the daughter of a prosperous farmer, at a place called Kemmis Hall, on the banks of the Nith, after undergoing many vicissitudes, and having for a time "had her portion with weeds and out-worn faces," was seized with consumption while residing in Edinburgh, and retired to an obscure abode here in Middleton's Entry. After lingering for some time in loneliness and suffering, supported by the charity of strangers, she died in September 1831, and was buried in Newington Churchyard.—Emerging from the Entry by the west, we enter Charles Street, in a house in No. 7 of which Lord Jeffrey was born—Adjoining, on the south, is

George Square, erected in 1776, and for many years afterwards the most aristocratic quarter of the town. "In my youth," says Lord Cockburn, in his interesting "Memoirs," "the whole fashionable dancing, as indeed the fashionable everything, clung to George Square." Here resided the Duchess of Gordon, the Countess of Sutherland, the Countess of Glasgow, Viscount Duncan, the hero of Camperdown, the first Lord Melville, and his friend, Lord President Blair, who died suddenly at his house here on the 20th of May 1811, and had a public funeral, "with all the civic pomp that Edinburgh could supply," Honourable Henry Erskine, &c. The house No. 25 was long occupied by the father of Sir Walter Scott, who spent the earlier years of his boyhood here. The old square, with its pleasant trim-kept gardens, has still an air of antiquated grandeur about it, and retains not a few traces of its former dignity and seclusion.—Immediately behind, on the south, is Buccleuch Place, a somewhat retired, sombre-looking street of tall stone buildings, erected in 1780. In a house on the third floor of No. 18 here, Lord Jeffrey resided for some years when he began life, and here Sydney Smith, Brougham, and others met with him to project the Edinburgh Review. The large isolated tenement facing the south-east entrance to George Square, was built and used for many years as Assembly Rooms, for the aristocratic denizens of this select quarter. "In these beautiful rooms," says Lord Cockburn, "were to be seen the last remains of the stately ball-room discipline of the preceding age." It is now occupied as dwelling-houses.

Returning to Bristo Street, and proceeding northwards, we reach Lauriston, at the north-east end of which, within a wall, is the Darien House, erected in 1698 for a scheme that proved abortive. It was afterwards used as a lunatic asylum for the paupers of the adjoining workhouse; and it was here, while an inmate of this dismal abode, that Ferguson the poet died.

A little further northwards is Bristo Port, which takes its name from an extinct gateway in the old city wall which formerly stood here. The archway on the right, bearing the name of the Hole in the Wa', indicates the site of an ancient inn.—Passing southwards, along Forrest Road, we notice, on the left, the front of the New North Free Church, with projecting basement, ornamented with a small Gothic colonnade; and, on the right, The City Workhouse, a tall dismal-looking pile, erected in 1743.—Turning westwards into Lauriston, our attention is speedily arrested by the noble pile founded by the jeweller of King James the Sixth, and known as Heriot's Hospital.—The foundation-stone of this magnificent building was laid in 1628; but it is not now known who the architect was, although Inigo Jones gets the credit of having furnished the plans. The cost of the erection, which was completed in 1650, exceeded £30,000. It is a turreted quadrangle, in a kind of Gothic style, measuring 162 feet along each side, enclosing an open court 94 feet each way, and has over 213 ingeniously-designed and beautifully-carved windows. According to George Heriot's will the hospital was for "the maintenance, relieve, bringing up, and education of poore fatherlesse boyes, freemen's sonnes of the towne of Edinburgh." At present there are about 180 boys so provided for within its walls. The surplus funds of the Hospital have accumulated so rapidly, that it now maintains thirteen free schools in different parts of the city, attended by upwards of 3300 boys and girls.

On the opposite side of the road is a kindred institution named George Watson's Hospital, founded in 1738 for the maintenance and instruction of the male children and grandchildren of decayed merchants in Edinburgh. The centre portion of the building was erected in 1741, and the two projecting wings in 1857. Owing to a growing feeling in the community that the hospital system of training children is too monastic, a number of the boys of this establishment now receive their education at the High School.

Continuing our way westwards along Lauriston, we pass the Vennel on the right, where may be seen a portion of the old city wall bounding Heriot's grounds in this direction. To the left, a few yards farther on, is Archibald Place, at the bottom of which is located

The Merchant Maiden Hospital, erected in 1816 after a design by Mr Burn, at a cost of £12,000. This institution was founded in 1695 by the Merchant Company and Mary Erskine, widow of James Hair, druggist in Edinburgh, for the children or grandchildren, daughters of such as are or were merchant-burgesses of Edinburgh, or ministers thereof, or have been governors of, or benefactors to, the Hospital. Seventy-five girls are here maintained and educated.—Still proceeding westward, we pass, on the left, Chalmers' Hospital, for the Sick and Hurt. It was founded by George Chalmers, plumber in Edinburgh, who died in 1836. According to his will the bequest (£30,000) was allowed to accumulate until 1861, when the building was erected.

On the same side of the street, a little farther on, is a Church belonging to the United Presbyterian body, and near to it, in Lauriston Gardens, is the Convent of St Catherine. The Roman Catholic Church of the Sacred Heart is in Lauriston Street—the street diverging to the right.—Still progressing by the main road, and following it as it bends towards the south, a few minutes' walk brings us to Gillespie's Hospital, an asylum for respectable old men and women. This admirable institution (would that there were more such in Edinburgh!) is pleasantly situated within extensive grounds. About 15 males and 28 females are maintained in it. It was founded, in 1801, by James Gillespie of Spylaw, a merchant and tobaccoist in Edinburgh. The building was designed by Mr Burn.—In the immediate vicinity of Gillespie's Hospital is

The Barclay Free Church—a rather peculiar example of the Venetian Gothic style, designed by F. T. Pilkington. Its elegant spire greatly relieves the monotony of the surrounding scenery, and is discernible from many distant points. The expense (£10,000) of erecting this church was defrayed from a bequest for that purpose by a wealthy old lady named Barclay.—We now enter Bruntsfield Links, a portion of the old Borough Muir, on which King James IV. assembled his army before setting out on his ill-starred march to Flodden. Here the citizens still play at the ancient national game of golf. The pathway striking off across the Links in a south-easterly direction leads to Whitehouse Loan, where is located

St Margaret's Convent, erected in 1835, after a design by the late J. Gillespie Graham, and attached to which is a very elegant chapel in the Saxon style of architecture, after a design by A. W. Pugin.—The road skirting the western margin of the Links takes us to Merchiston and Morning-side. It was here, in the Castle of Merchiston, a fine old chateau, with modern additions, that John Napier, the illustrious inventor of logarithms, was born, lived, and died.

Morningside is a pleasant salubrious village, abounding with modern villas and elegant residences. Near the parish church stands the house in which the great preacher, Dr Chalmers, died in 1848. The whole of this district was embraced in the Borough Muir; and in the wall of the public road may still be seen the large "Bore Stone" in which James IV. planted his standard in 1513.—In the lower portion of the village is

The Royal Edinburgh Asylum for the Insane, one of the most efficient institutions of the kind in Scotland, and has accommodation for 600 patients.

Beyond it are Blackford and the "fuzzy Hills of Braid," the scenes of Sir Walter Scott's boyhood rambles—

"Blackford! on whose uncultured breast,
Among the broom, the thorn, and whin,
A truant boy, I sought the nest,
Or listed, as I lay at rest;
While rose, on breezes thin,
The murmur of the city crowd,
And, from his steeple jangling loud,
Saint Giles's mingling din."

From the crown of Blackford, too, he tells us Lord Marmion surveyed King James's host "spread o'er the Borough Muir below," and, "when seated with the martial show," viewed with rapture the distant city as it flowed "with gloomy splendour red."—To the north-east of Bruntsfield Links are

The Meadows, a fine spacious common, about a mile and a half in circumference, and once the most fashionable promenade in the city. "There has never in my life," says Lord Cockburn in his "Memorials," "been any single place in or near Edinburgh which has so distinctly been the resort at once of our philosophy and our fishing. Under these poor trees walked, and talked, and meditated all our literary and scientific, and many of our legal, worthies of the latter end of the last and the beginning of the present century. Previous to 1658, the space which they occupy was filled with water, known as the Borough Loch; but having been thoroughly drained and laid out with walks, shaded with trees, the place now forms a delightful promenade.

On the north side of the west division may be seen Sunnyside House, the Royal Hospital for Sick Children; and on the south side of the eastern section is the Trades' Maiden Hospital, established for maintaining and educating the female children or grandchildren of craftsmen.—Beyond it is the Grange Cemetery, where lie the remains of Dr Chalmers, Hugh Miller, Sir Thomas Dick Lauder, and a host of Scotsmen, once eminent in the ecclesiastical world.—To the east of the cemetery is

Grange House, formerly the residence of Kirkaldy of Grange, one of the assassins of Cardinal Beaton; of Principal Robertson, the historian; and also, more recently, of Sir Thomas Dick Lauder, author of "Legendary Tales connected with Morayshire," and other works.—To the north is Chalmers' Memorial Church, a Gothic structure of the Geometric period, designed by Mr Patrick Wilson, and erected at a cost of over £5000. The preacher here is Dr Horatius Bonar, well known by his numerous contributions to religious literature.

Leaving the Grange, we return by Chalmers' Crescent, the Meadow Walk, George IV. Bridge, the Mound, and Princes Street, to the Register House.

FOREIGN & BRITISH MARBLE WORKS, SHRUB PLACE, LEITH WALK, EDINBURGH.

ANDREW WALLACE & CO. beg to intimate that, the Railway Works at Leith Walk being completed, they have now erected extensive premises on the same ground occupied by them for forty years, and respectfully solicit a continuance of the high patronage so liberally bestowed in the past.

A. W. & Co. would only add that they import their Marbles direct from the Quarries, use Improved Steam Power, and do the first business out of London, and at the Lowest Prices possible.

MONUMENTS, CHIMNEY-PIECES, BATHS, &c.
Repairs moderately and judiciously made.

BALLANTYNE & CO.,

PRINTERS,

STEREOTYPERS, AND ELECTROTYPERS.

BALLANTYNE AND CO. offer to Publishers, Authors, and the Public generally, all the advantages in Printing which their Establishment—the most amply furnished and extensive in Scotland—commands. They are enabled to execute work of the best description at Hand-Press or Machine, or Machine Work of ordinary quality, and to print all kinds of Music at moderate rates of charge.

Insurance Lists, Forms, and Prospectuses tastefully printed. Trade Catalogues and Lists rapidly and economically produced.

Additions are constantly being made to the already extensive Printing Plant; and by giving close attention to every improvement in Typography, they hope to maintain the prestige earned by the Establishment in its connexion with the first Publishing Houses in the Kingdom, during upwards of half a century.

Estimates supplied for Composing, Stereotyping, and Printing Books or Serials in any style or quality of work, including paper and binding if required.

CARRIAGE PAID TO ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTRY.

PAUL'S WORK,
EDINBURGH, May 1869.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF CARRIERS.

* * * In pursuance of the Act 1st Wm. IV., cap.
68, parcels and packages can only be received and conveyed on the following conditions, viz.:—That the Carriers and their agents shall not be liable for the loss of any parcel containing Coin, Notes, Gold, or Silver (manufactured or unmanufactured),
Jewellery, Watches, Clocks, Silks, Furs, Lace, Muslins, Glass, China, Books, Musical Instruments, Paintings, or Law Papers, where the value exceeds £10, unless so declared, signed for, and an increased charge paid at the time of booking. Nor will they be answerable for perishable goods, breakage, leakage, damage by bad or insufficient packing, friction, or otherwise, fire, accidents from machinery, or detention by steam, railway, or other conveyance. Parcels and packages, after being once tendered and refused, will be retained, subject to the charges being paid. No claim for damage or loss will be entertained unless made within three days after delivery.

STAMP AND LEGACY DUTIES, &c.

ADHESIVE STAMPS.—The Board of Inland Revenue gave notice by advertisement, 20th April 1862, that an impressed stamp of 1d., and an adhesive stamp of 1d., had been provided to be used indiscriminately for Receipts, Drafts, Certified Copies of Registers of Births, Baptisms, Marriages, Deaths and Burials, Contract Notes, Delivery Orders, Policies of Insurance against accidents in travelling. The adhesive stamp has "Inland Revenue" around a bust portrait of her Majesty, and below "One Penny." The impressed stamp has on it "One Penny," and the date in figures. The old stamps may still be used. The stamps appropriated by name are, Bills and Promissory Notes, Bills of Lading, Proxy impressed Stamps, and Postage Stamps.

In cancelling adhesive stamps, instead of writing the name of the party or his firm in full, it shall be sufficient if the initials shall be written, stamped, or impressed in ink on the stamp, together with any other particulars required by law, provided the stamp shall be effectually cancelled, so as not to admit of being again used. (24 & 25 Vict. c. 91, § 33.)

See STAMPING OF DEEDS after being executed.

ADMISSION as a burgess, or into any Corporation or Company in any Burgh in Scotland, in lieu of the duties of £1 and £3 formerly payable, 5s.

ADMISSIONS of other descriptions various; as to which see the schedule annexed to 55 Geo. III. c. 184. See also LICENCE, below.

ADMISSION to act as Advocate, £50; as Writer to the Signet, Solicitor, Agent, Attorney, or Procurator in any court, £25; to act as Agent in Supreme Courts without indenture, (in addition to the said £25,) £60; do. in Inferior Courts, without indenture, (in addition to the said £25,) £30; to act as Notary-Public, £20; to be fellow of College of Physicians, £25; to degree of Doctor of Medicine, £10; to ecclesiastical benefice in Scotland, £2.

AFFIDAVITS and DECLARATIONS, (23 Vict. c. 15.)—For every sheet or piece of paper, parchment, or vellum, on which the same shall be written or printed, 2s. 6d. (Affidavits and declarations authorised to be made before Justices of Peace are exempted.)

AGREEMENT, (on and after 3d April 1860,) for a Lease or Tack of Lands, &c., not exceeding seven years; and,

AGREEMENT, MINUTE, or MEMORANDUM, (on and after 3d April 1860,) containing the terms and conditions on which Lands, &c., are let, held, or occupied for any such term. The same duty as on a Lease or Tack.

Provided that any Lease or Tack afterwards made, in pursuance of and conformably to the above, shall be charged with the Lease duty, but not higher than 2s. 6d., exclusive of Progressive duty, notwithstanding the terms and conditions may be varied, not affecting the Stamp duty. The Lease may be impressed with a stamp denoting the payment of the proper duty on the Agreement, Minute, or Memorandum.

AGREEMENT or MEMORANDUM (after 5th July 1865) for letting a dwelling-house or tenement, or part of such, for less than a year, at a rent payable weekly or monthly, and not exceeding the rate of 3s. 6d. a-week, (28 and 29 Vict. c. 96, § 5.) 1d.

AGREEMENT containing the terms and conditions on which a furnished dwelling-house is let for a period less than a year, where the rent for such period shall exceed £25, duty, 2s. 6d.

AGREEMENT for Lease for period not exceeding seven years;

AGREEMENT for Lease for less than a year at a rent payable weekly, &c.; and,

AGREEMENT for letting a furnished house for less than a year, if the duty shall not exceed 2s. 6d., may be stamped if brought to the Commissioners at London, or their office in Edinburgh, or lodged with the Distributor of Stamps in the country within fourteen days after being made.

[The stamp, if adhesive, to be cancelled by the parties to the instrument (if exceeding two, one on each side only) by writing upon or across the stamp his name, and before or at the time of the first party signing the instrument, the date of the instrument must be written on the stamp. In default, stamp of no avail. Proof of writing upon or across the stamp a necessary part of the evidence of signing or making the instrument. Every person who signs incurs a penalty of £5, if instrument has not on it an impressed stamp or adhesive stamp cancelled, or who does not sign across adhesive stamp, and also the agent who may have prepared the instrument. (24 and 25 Vict. c. 21, § 14 and 15.)]

AGREEMENT, or minute or memorandum of Agreement, without a clause of registration, and not charged otherwise, nor expressly exempted from all Stamp duty, where the matter is of the value of £5 or upwards, whether the same shall be only evidence of a contract, or obligatory upon the parties from its being a written instrument, together with every schedule, receipt, &c., endorsed or annexed, 6d. Progressive duty on words, 6d.

Letters forming an Agreement. If any of such Letters shall be stamped with a duty of 1s., it shall be sufficient, whatever the number of words in them.

Exemptions.—Agreements for the hire of any labourer, artificer, manufacturer, or menial servant.

Memorandum or agreement for or relating to the sale of any goods, wares, or merchandise.

Agreements entered into in the United Kingdom for or relating to the service in the colonies of any person as an artificer, clerk, domestic servant, handicraftsman, mechanic, gardener, servant in husbandry, or labourer. (17 & 18 Vict. c. 83, § 21.)

Agreements in compliance with or under the provisions of the Merchant Seaman's Act, 7 and 8 Vict. c. 112, or the Mercantile Marine Act, 13 & 14 Vict. c. 93.

Note.—The Agreement, if liable to one duty of 6d., may be stamped if brought to the Commissioners at London, or their office at Edinburgh, or lodged with the distributors of stamps in the country, within fourteen days after being made. If after, at London or Edinburgh, on a penalty of £10. (7 & 8 Vict. c. 21, § 5.) If the matter of the Agreement shall be under the value of £20, the penalty is 20s. If liable to further duty than 6d., it is subject to the same Regulations as Deeds. See Stamping of Deeds.—The duty of 6d. on an Agreement may be denoted by an adhesive stamp; but every party who signs the Agreement must, at time of so signing, write upon or across the stamp his name, and date of the day and year of writing the same. In default, stamp of no avail. Proof of writing upon or across the stamp as aforesaid, a necessary part of the evidence of the Agreement. (23 & 24 Vict. c. 111, § 12.)

ALLOTMENT, Letter of. See SCRIP.

ALLOTMENT, Letter of, after 12th Aug. 1867, of any share of any company, or proposed company, or in respect of any loan raised, or proposed to be raised, by any such company; or Letter of Allotment issued or delivered in the United Kingdom of any share of any colonial company, or proposed company, or in respect of any loan raised, or proposed to be raised, by or on behalf of any Foreign or Colonial Government, State, Company, or Corporation, and the

All documents or writings usually termed letters of credit, or whereby any person to whom any such document or writing is or is intended to be delivered or sent, shall be entitled to be intended to be entitled to have credit with, or in account with, or to draw upon any other person for, or to receive from such other person any sum of money therein mentioned.

Exemptions from the duties on Drafts or Orders.—All letters of credit, whether in sets or not, sent by persons in the United Kingdom to persons abroad, authorising drafts on the United Kingdom, (16 and 17 Vict. c. 59.)

DRAFT or ORDER, after the 24th May 1858, for the payment of any sum of money to the bearer on demand, which being drawn upon any banker within fifteen miles of the place where such draft or order is issued, was formerly exempt from Stamp duty, (21 Vict. c. 20).....1d.

The following is from schedule of 23 Vict. c. 15, under BILL of EXCHANGE, DRAFT, or ORDER :—

“All Bills, Drafts, or Orders, for the payment by any banker, or person acting as a banker, of any sum of money, though not made payable to the bearer or to order, and whether delivered to the payee or not ; and all Writings or Documents entitling or intended to entitle any person whatever to the payment from or by any banker, or person acting as a banker, of any sum of money, whether the person to whom payment is to be made shall be named or designated therein or not, or whether the same shall be delivered to him or not, shall respectively be deemed to be bills, drafts, or orders for the payment of money chargeable with Stamp duty, as if the same had been made payable to bearer or to order. Provided always, that any one Document or Writing, although directing the payment of several sums of money to different persons, shall be chargeable with Stamp duty, as one order only.”

Draft or Order, Writing or Document, for the payment, or for entitling any person to the payment, by or through any banker, of any sum of money, sent or delivered to the banker, and not to the person to whom payment is to be made, or any person on his behalf, to be held not to have been and not to be chargeable with any higher Stamp duty than one penny, although payable at any time after date. Duty may be denoted by adhesive stamp, to be cancelled as in the case of a draft on demand. (23 & 24 Vict. c. 111, § 17.)

Exemptions.—Any draft or order drawn by any banker upon any other banker, not payable to bearer or to order, and used solely for the purpose of settling or clearing any account between such bankers.

Any letter written by a banker to any other banker, directing the payment of any sum of money, the same not being payable to bearer or to order, and such letter not being sent or delivered to the person to whom payment is to be made, or to any person on his behalf ; and all warrants or orders for the payment of any annuity granted by the Commissioners for the Reduction of the National Debt, or for the payment of any dividend or interest on any share in the Government or Parliamentary stocks or funds ; and all drafts or orders drawn by the Accountant-General of the Court of Chancery in England or Ireland, shall be exempt from all Stamp duty. (23 Vict. c. 15.)

Note.—26 & 27 Vict. c. 105, repeals the Act 17 Geo. III. c. 30, and so much of any other Acts as continue or revive the said Act, or as prohibit or impose penalty for or on account of publishing, uttering, or negotiating in England any promissory or other note, not being a note payable to bearer on demand, bill of exchange, draft, or undertaking in writing, being negotiable or transferable, for payment of 20s., or above that sum, and less than £5, or on which 20s., or above that sum, and less than £5, shall remain undischarged, made, drawn, or endorsed in any other manner than as directed by the said Act of 17th year aforesaid, and also the 17th sect. and schedules C and D of an Act passed in the 8th and 9th year of Her Majesty's reign, c. 38, requiring or directing that all such notes, bills, drafts, or undertakings as aforesaid, which shall be issued in Scotland, shall be made, drawn, or indorsed according to the forms contained in the said schedules.

[The duty on drafts or orders may be impressed on the paper, or an adhesive stamp may be affixed. (16 & 17 Vict. c. 59, § 3.) See Adhesive Stamp.—Where an adhesive stamp is used, the maker of the draft to cancel the stamp by writing on it his name or initials. Penalty for omission, &c., £10. (16 & 17 Vict. c. 59, § 4 and 5.) The payer of the draft or order shall, when he pays it, write the word "paid" on the stamp. Penalty for omission, £20. (23 Vict. c. 15, § 12.) Banker may affix stamp to an unstamped draft and cancel it, and pay the draft, charge the person who ought to have paid it with the stamp, or deduct it from the sum. Draft good, but not to relieve of penalty. (23 & 24 Vict. c. 111, § 18.) Penalty for removing adhesive stamps, or using them a second time, or doing any act to defraud of duty, £20. (16 and 17 Vict. c. 59, § 4 and 5.)]

...	4000 and upwards—	every bill of the set, for every £1000, or part of £1000, 3s. 4d. (23 Vict. c. 15.)

Note.—The duty on a Foreign Bill, on and after 3d April 1860, drawn or endorsed out of the United Kingdom for the payment of money on demand, is the same duty as on an Inland Bill of Exchange, for the payment of money otherwise than on demand. (23 Vict. c. 15.) See above. The word "endorsed" is held by the Board of Inland Revenue to have no practicable effect. See Times, 20th and 22d April 1860.

Foreign Bill drawn in but payable out of the United Kingdom on demand, although to be endorsed out of the United Kingdom, if not drawn in sets, would be liable to duty of 1d.

[The duties on Foreign Bills, drawn out of the United Kingdom, are to be denoted by adhesive stamps. The holder to affix the adhesive stamp if one not on it before he negotiate it, and cancel the stamp by writing his name or the name of his firm, and the date on it. (17 & 18 Vict. c. 83, § 3.) If the Bill or Note be received by the holder with the adhesive stamp effectually obliterated and purporting, and appearing to be duly cancelled, the same, as regards such holder, shall be deemed to be so. If not cancelled, the holder may do so, as if he were the person first negotiating the Bill or Note. On his doing so, the Bill or Note shall be duly stamped. The person who ought to have cancelled the stamp not relieved of any penalty incurred by not cancelling the same. (24 & 25 Vict. c. 91, § 33.) The Act 23 Vict. c. 15, § 12, provides that the party paying the bill shall, when he does so, write the word "paid" upon the stamp. The amount of duty on adhesive stamps is impressed on two parts. The Board of Inland Revenue recommend that the cancellation should be on one of the parts, and the other left legible. § 5 of 17 & 18 Vict. c. 83, shall apply to bills payable on demand endorsed out of the United Kingdom. (27 & 28 Vict. c. 56, § 2.)]

If a Foreign Bill payable abroad, and as to which the provision "drawn in sets of three or more" apply, shall be drawn in a single bill, the duty will be the same as on an Inland Bill; and if in a set of two, the duty on each will be the same as on an Inland Bill. This is in accordance with the opinion of the Board of Inland Revenue, (see North British Daily Mail, 3d November 1854.) But the Board have given an opinion that a Foreign Bill drawn abroad and payable in this country in duplicate or triplicate only represents one transaction, and is liable to the duty on one Inland Bill of the same account,—that is, if one of the parts have the full duty, the others may be unstamped, (see Times, 6th November 1854.) The schedule of the Act does not provide for such a bill being drawn in sets. Bills bearing to be drawn out of the United Kingdom are to be deemed Foreign Bills so drawn, although they may in reality be drawn in the United Kingdom. (17 & 18 Vict. c. 83, § 4.) A person in the United Kingdom drawing and issuing a bill payable out of the United Kingdom in a set, must draw the whole set, and a person transferring or negotiating such bill must transfer and deliver, stamped, the whole number of the set. Penalty £100. A person taking such bill must get the whole set stamped, otherwise he cannot recover on it or make it available. (Id. § 6.) This applies only to bills drawn within and payable out of the United Kingdom. Bills payable on demand, and endorsed out of the United Kingdom, wheresoever drawn, are held to be Foreign Bills, but chargeable with the same duty as inland bills not payable on demand. (27 & 28 Vict. c. 56, § 2.)

INLAND BILL, DRAFT, or ORDER, for the payment of any sum of money, though not made payable to the bearer, or to order, if the same shall be delivered to the payee, or some person on his or her behalf, the same duty as on a bill of exchange for the like sum, payable to bearer or order.

INLAND BILL, DRAFT, or ORDER for the payment of any sum of money weekly, monthly, or at any other stated periods, if made payable to the bearer, or to order, or if delivered to the payee, or some person on his or her behalf, where the total amount of the money thereby made payable shall be specified therein, or can be ascertained therefrom, or shall be indefinite, the same duty as on a bill payable to bearer or order on demand.

PROMISSORY NOTE for the payment of any sum of money by instalments, or for the payment of several sums of money at different days or times, so that the whole of the money to be paid shall be definite and certain, the same duty as on a promissory note, payable otherwise than to the bearer on demand, for a sum equal to the whole amount of the money to be paid.

BILLS OF LADING.....6d.

[Bills of lading cannot be stamped after signing. The penalty for signing unstamped bill of lading is £50. (5 & 6 Vict. c. 79, § 24.)]

BONDS AND OTHER SECURITIES.

BOND (personal) given for any certain sum of money not exceeding	£50	1s. 3d.
Exceeding	£50 and not exc. 100	2s. 6d.
	100	3s. 9d.
	150	5s. 0d.
	200	6s. 3d.
	250	7s. 6d.

And where the same shall exceed £300, then for every £100, and also for any fractional part of £100,—2s. 6d.

BOND as a security for moneys to be thereafter lent, advanced, or paid, or which may become due upon account-current, together with any sum already advanced or due, or without, as the case may be,—

Where the money secured or to be ultimately recoverable shall be limited not to exceed a given sum,—The same duty as on a bond for such sum.

Where uncertain, and without any limit,—The same as on a bond for a sum equal to the amount of the penalty.

Where there is no penalty, the bond shall be available for such an amount only as the ad valorem stamps will cover.

PERSONAL BOND given as a security for the transfer or retransfer of any share in any of the Government or Parliamentary Stocks or Funds, or of the Banks of England or Ireland, or of the East India Company, or of any other company or corporation,—The same ad valorem duty as on a bond for a sum of money equal to the value of the stock or fund secured, according to the average price at the date of the bond, or on either of the ten days preceding, or the latest day preceding on which there shall have been a known sale.

BOND, DEBENTURE, or other security for money made by or on behalf of any Foreign or Colonial Government, State, or Company, (not being a bill or promissory note chargeable with duty, nor an instrument chargeable with duty as a bond, or for which a composition is payable,) which shall be issued, delivered, assigned, transferred, or negotiated within the United Kingdom, if not exceeding £25,—8d., (31 & 32 Vict. c. 124, § 10;) if above £25, the same duty as on a bond in the United Kingdom.

This is not to apply to instruments bona fide made and issued out of the United Kingdom, as security for money raised on loan in foreign parts, and not lent by any person resident in the United Kingdom, and the interest whereon shall not be paid within the United Kingdom. Persons making, issuing, delivering, transferring, or negotiating in the United Kingdom any such security, or paying interest or dividend thereon before it be duly stamped, are liable to a penalty of £20. (25 Vict. c. 22, § 38.)

PERSONAL BOND given as a security for the payment of any sum of money, or for the transfer or retransfer of stock secured also by a wadset, or other instrument paying duty as a wadset, or for the performance of covenants contained in such instrument, or for both those purposes, provided such other instrument bear even date with, and be referred to in such bond—

Where the sum of money or the value of the stock secured shall not exceed £800,—The same ad valorem duty as on a mortgage or wadset for securing the like amount or value.

Exceeding £800,—£1.

PERSONAL or HERITABLE BOND given as an additional or further security for the payment of any sum of money, or for the transfer or retransfer of any share in any of these stocks previously secured by a bond or other security therein referred to, which has paid the proper ad valorem duty on bonds at the date thereof,—

Where the sum or the value of the stock shall not exceed £1400,—The same ad valorem duty as on a bond or mortgage, for securing the like sum or value;

Where said sum shall exceed £1400,—£1, 15s.

BOND—12th Aug. 1867—Transfer or Assignment, disposition or assignment, of any such bond, or of any bond, debenture, or other security charged with stamp duty by 25 Vict. c. 22 (by Foreign and Colonial Government), for every full sum of £100, or part of £100, assigned (30 & 31 Vict. c. 90, § 23)—6d.

Transfers, &c., of Bonds charged with the fixed maximum duty of £1 or £1, 15s. shall not be charged with more than such fixed maximum duty. (30 and 31 Vict. c. 90, § 23.)

PERSONAL or HERITABLE BOND given as the only or principal security for the payment of any annuity upon the original creation and sale thereof,—The same ad valorem duty as on a conveyance upon sale in consideration of the sum or value given or agreed for the purchase. See CONVEYANCES.

PERSONAL BOND given as a collateral or auxiliary security for the payment of any annuity upon the original creation and sale, where granted or conveyed or secured by any other deed or instrument paying the ad valorem duty on conveyances upon the sale of any property—

Where such ad valorem duty shall not exceed 20s., such bond shall be chargeable with a stamp duty of equal amount therewith;

And where such exceeds 20s.—£1.

PERSONAL or HERITABLE BOND given as a security for the payment of any annuity, (except upon the original creation and sale), or of any sum or sums of money at stated periods, (not being interest nor rent upon a lease,) for any definite and certain term, so that the total amount to be paid can be previously ascertained,—The same ad valorem duty as on a bond of the like nature for the payment of a sum of money equal to such total amount.

PERSONAL or HERITABLE BOND given as a security for the payment of any annuity, (except as aforesaid), or of any money at stated periods, (not being interest nor rent upon lease,) for the term of life or any other indefinite period, so that the whole cannot be previously ascertained,—

Where the annuity or sum secured shall not exceed £50 per annum,—£1;

Exceeding £50 and not exceeding £100 per annum,—£2.

And where exceeding £100 per annum, then for every £100, and also for any fractional part of £100 per annum,—£2.

But where there shall be both a personal and heritable bond in separate deeds of the same date for securing any such annuity, &c., and the ad valorem duty above charged amounts to £2 or upwards, the heritable bond only to be charged with the ad valorem duty, and the personal bond to be charged only with the duty of £1.

BOND of any kind or description given for any other purpose than as aforesaid,—
The duty chargeable by any act in force at passing 13th and 14th Vict. c. 97.

But no such bond shall be charged with any greater amount of stamp duty than the ad valorem duty before charged upon a bond given for the payment of a definite and certain sum of money to the same amount as the penalty of such bond.

BOND of RELIEF to a cautioner or surety,—£1, 15s.

BOND for the due execution of an office, and to account for money received by virtue of such office,—£1, 15s.

BOND given for, or in respect of, duties of customs or excise, or for preventing frauds or evasions thereof, or for any other matter relating thereto—relanding of plate—registering of British vessels,—5s.

HERITABLE or PERSONAL BOND, of any kind whatever, not otherwise charged nor expressly exempted from all stamp duty,—£1, 15s.

[The above provision, that the duty shall not exceed the ad valorem duty on a sum the same amount as the penalty in the bond, applies to the four preceding entries.]

...	275	300	1	10 0

And where the purchase or consideration money shall exceed £300, then for every £50, and also for any fractional part of £50,—5s.

It is directed that the purchase-money or consideration shall be truly expressed and set forth in words at length in or upon every deed or instrument of conveyance; and where such consideration shall consist, either wholly or in part, of any stock or security, the value thereof respectively, to be ascertained as after mentioned, shall also be truly set forth, as aforesaid, in or upon every such deed or instrument; and such value shall be deemed to be the purchase or consideration money, or part thereof, as the case may be, in respect whereof the ad valorem duty shall be charged.

And where the consideration, or any part of the consideration, shall be stock in the public funds, or any Government debenture, or stock of the Banks of England or Ireland, or any debenture or stock of any corporation, company, society, or persons or person, payable only at the will of the debtor, the duty shall be calculated (taking the same respectively, whether constituting the whole or a part only of such consideration) according to the average selling price thereof respectively, on the day, or on either of the ten days preceding the date of the deed or instrument of conveyance, or if no sale shall have taken place within such ten days, then according to the average selling price thereof on the day of the last preceding sale; and if such consideration, or part thereof, shall be a mortgage, bond, or debenture, the amount whereof shall be recoverable by the holder, or any other security whatsoever, whether payable in money or otherwise, such calculation shall be made according to the sum due thereon for both principal and interest.

In any case where property shall be sold and conveyed in consideration of any rent-charge or annuity, or any annual or periodical payment to be made permanently or for any indefinite period, so that the total amount of the money to be paid for such property cannot be previously ascertained, which rent-charge, annuity, or other payment shall be made subject to redemption or purchase upon terms and conditions specified in the deed or instrument whereby the property sold shall be conveyed to, or vested in, the purchaser, or any person by his direction, the money or the consideration mentioned in the said deed or instrument as that on payment or transfer, delivery or satisfaction, of which the said rent-charge, annuity, or other payment shall be redeemed or purchased, or repurchased, or shall cease to be payable, shall be deemed to be the purchase-money or consideration, on the sale of the said property so sold and conveyed, and in respect of which last-mentioned purchase-money or consideration the ad valorem duty shall be chargeable; and where any such last-mentioned consideration shall consist wholly, or in part, of any stock or security mentioned in the Act 13 and 14 Vict. c. 97, the value thereof shall be ascertained as in such Act is in that behalf provided; and where any such annuity, rent-charge, or other payment aforesaid shall be made, subject to redemption or purchase, or repurchase or discontinuance, upon payment or satisfaction of any money or value to be ascertained or calculated in manner provided in the said deed or instrument, the amount of such money or value shall, for the purpose of charging the said ad valorem duty, be ascertained or calculated, as in such deed or instrument shall be so provided. (16 and 17 Vict. c. 59, § 11.)

[Moneys secured on the property, and all moneys which the purchaser has to pay, are to be deemed purchase-money, or part of it for payment of the duty.]

COPIES of EXTRACTS from the public register, or from books of any court of record, 2s. 6d.; and where the same shall contain more than 600 words, any less quantity of words over and above the first 600 words, or above any second, third, or other full quantity of 600 words, a further duty of 2s. 6d.

Copy attested of any agreement or deed for the security or use of a person not being a party or taking benefit under it,—1s.

Progressive duty for every 720 words,—1s.

Copy attested of a will, testament, or codicil, or of a confirmation of a testament, testamentary or dative,—same duty as above.

COPY, CERTIFIED COPY, or EXTRACT (on and after 3d April 1860) of or from any register of births, baptisms, marriages, deaths, or burials,—1d.

The said duty to be paid by the person requiring any such Copy or Extract.

INSURANCE.

1. LIFE.

POLICY, where (after 28th August 1860) the sum insured shall not exceed

£25,£0 0 3
(23 and 24 Vict. c. 111, § 10.)

Where the sum insured shall exceed £25 and not exceed £500,—Then for every £50, and any fractional part of £50,.....0 0 6

Where it shall exceed £500, and shall not exceed £1000,—Then for every £100, and any fractional part of £100,.....0 1 0

Where it shall exceed £1000,—Then for every £1000,.....0 10 0
(16 and 17 Vict. c. 59.)

(23 and 24 Vict. c. 111, § 8; 24 and 25 Vict. c. 91, § 29.) Duties may be denoted by adhesive stamps, which may be provided, and in the meanwhile by any adhesive stamps not appropriated by name to any other instrument, or impressed stamps, or by a combination of both. Where adhesive stamp issued, (probably misprinted in Act for used,) it shall be cancelled by writing, stamping, or impressing in ink, name or initials, date, and particulars relating to the insurance for which stamp adapted. In default, penalty £10. (23 and 24 Vict. c. 111, § 9; 24 and 25 Vict. c. 91, § 33.])

2. FIRE.

Duty on each policy, or other instrument, (after 25th June 1865,) and on any note or memorandum given as a receipt for money preparatory to such policy, (28 Vict. c. 30,).....1d.

Besides a Duty at the rate of 1s. 6d. per cent. yearly on every insurance made, continued, or renewed, after 25th June 1865.

(See Schedule of Act for provision as to insurances effected or renewed between 27th April 1865 and 25th June 1865 for period of time extending beyond 25th June 1865.)

Insurances by foreign companies of property in this country, liable to same duties as insurances by companies in this country. (19 Vict. c. 22.) Re-assurances not chargeable with percentage duty, but with the policy stamp. (Ib. § 6.)

Exemptions.—Public hospitals; also agricultural produce, farming stock, and implements of husbandry, provided the insurance shall be effected by a separate and distinct policy. Also exempted, any workman's tools, for the benefit of the workman, not exceeding £20, if by a separate policy, or by a distinct sum being insured on them. (23 and 24 Vict. c. 111, § 11.)

3. SEA.

Policy of insurances made for a voyage, "and also for time, or to extend or to cover any certain time beyond twenty-four hours after the ship shall have arrived at her destination, and been there moored at anchor," chargeable with duty for a voyage and for time. (30 Vict. c. 23, § 11.)

For every policy, after 31st May 1867, of sea insurance for or upon any voyage—In respect of every full sum of £100, and in respect of any fractional part of £100 thereby insured,—3d.

For every policy of sea insurance for time—In respect of every full sum of £100, and in respect of any fractional part of £100 thereby insured, when the insurance shall be made for any time not exceeding six months,—3d.

When the insurance shall be made for any time exceeding six months, and not exceeding twelve months,—6d.

Re-assurances made be made notwithstanding prohibition in 19 Geo. II. c. 37, and policies of such re-assurances shall be liable to stamp duty. (27 & 28 Vict. c. 56, § 1.)

But if the separate interest of two or more distinct persons shall be insured by one policy for a voyage or for time, then the duty of 3d., or the duty of 3d. or 6d., as the case may require, shall be charged thereon in respect of every full sum of £100, and every fractional part of £100, thereby insured upon any separate and distinct interest. (30 Vict. c. 23, schedule B.)

"Sea insurance" means any insurance (including re-insurance) upon any ship, or the machinery, tackle, or furniture of any ship, or upon goods, merchandise, or property on board of any ship, or upon the freight or other interest which may be lawfully insured in, or relating to, any ship.

"Policy" means any instrument whereby a contract or agreement for sea insurance shall be made. (30 Vict. c. 23, § 4.) Commissioners of Inland Revenue to provide blank policies printed (form sch. E to Act), stamped. These forms may be bought at price of duty. Before de-living out, officer of Inland Revenue to mark or write thereon day, month, and year of delivery. Penalty for wilful neglect, £100. (Ib. § 5.)

No contract or agreement for sea insurance (other than such insurance as is referred to in 25 and 26 Vict. c. 63, § 55) shall be valid unless expressed in a Policy. Policy shall specify the particular risk, names of underwriters, and sums insured. If omitted, policy null and void. (Ib. § 7.) Policy for any time exceeding twelve months null. (Ib. § 8.) Policy not good or available in law or equity unless duly stamped; and cannot be stamped after it is signed or underwritten by any person, except in two cases, to wit:—

1. Policy of mutual insurance may be stamped, with additional duty, provided it shall not be underwritten at the time to an amount exceeding the sums the stamps already on it will warrant.
2. Policy made abroad may be stamped within the time specified in the Act 28 and 29 Vict. c. 96, § 15—to wit, two months after being received in the United Kingdom. (Ib. § 9.)

Alterations on the terms and conditions of a Policy may be made after it is underwritten, if made before notice of determination of risk originally insured, and shall not prolong the period beyond six months in the case of a Policy for less than six months, or beyond the period allowed by the Act in the case of a Policy made for more than six months, and if the property of the articles insured remains the same, and no additional or further sums shall be insured. Carriers by sea or other person, who, for money paid as additional freight or otherwise, takes the risk of goods, &c., when on board ship, or engages to indemnify the owner of such goods, &c., from loss, such shall be deemed a contract for a sea insurance.

Penalty of £100 is imposed on a person who shall become an assurer upon a sea insurance unless by Policy duly stamped. (Ib. § 13.)

Penalty of £100 is imposed on a person who shall procure a sea insurance unless there shall be a Policy duly stamped. (Ib. § 14.)

Penalty of £100 is also imposed upon a broker, agent, or other person negotiating a sea insurance contrary to the Act, or writing an agreement for a sea insurance not duly stamped. (Ib. § 14.)

Penalty of £100 is imposed for issuing a document purporting to be a copy of Policy, if there shall not be a duly stamped Policy existing at the time—(Ib. § 15.)

Broker, agent, or other person negotiating a sea insurance shall not have right to charge for his trouble, nor for the premium which he may have paid, unless there shall be a duly stamped Policy. Money paid to such broker, &c., shall be held to be paid without consideration, and shall remain the property of the employer, his executor, or assigns. (Ib. § 16.)

4. OTHER INSURANCES.

Policy of any lawful insurance, not Life Insurance, Fire Insurance, or Sea Insurance, viz., Policy of Insurance upon any property or interest whatever from loss or damage of any kind; also Policy of Insurance whereby any sum of money shall be assured to be paid only upon the death of any person from accident or violence, or otherwise than from natural causes, or as compensation for a personal injury. Also Policy of Insurance whereby any sum of money shall be assured to be paid as, and for loss or damage, or compensation for, or indemnity against, loss or damage, arising from or consequent upon the happening of any accident.

Where the premium or consideration for such assurance, insurance, or agreement shall not exceed 2s. 6d., 0s. 1d.
Exceeding 2s. 6d. and not exceeding 5s., 0s. 3d.
And where the same shall exceed 5s., then for every 5s. and also for every fractional part of 5s.,... 0s. 3d. (23 and 24 Vict. c. 111.)

If the insurance be made on such terms that these rates cannot be applied, then there shall be charged upon the policy, in respect of the amount of the sum insured, the same rate of stamp duty as on a policy of life insurance. (28 and 29 Vict. c. 96, § 10.)

[Accidental Death Policy not to be chargeable as a life policy. The above not to repeal or alter the duties payable under 12 and 13 Vict., by the Railway Passengers' Assurance Company. (28 and 29 Vict. c. 96, § 11.) For preventing frauds, 16 and 17 Vict. c. 59, § 6, to apply to these duties, and also to all other duties on policies of insurance, excepting Sea Insurance, imposed by 28 and 29 Vict. c. 96. And further, if any person shall make, sign, or deliver out a policy not duly stamped, he shall forfeit £20. The managing directors, secretary, or other principal officer of an Insurance Company, as well as the Company, shall be liable to the penalty. Ib. § 13.]

["Policy" shall mean and include any agreement or other instrument, by whatever name the same shall be called, whereby any insurance shall be made, or agreed to be made. Ib. § 14.]

5. FOREIGN INSURANCES.

Foreign Policies for a person carrying on the business of insurance within the United Kingdom, or by which any loss or damage or sum of money shall be payable or recoverable in the United Kingdom upon the happening of any contingency, are liable to the same stamp duties as policies made in the United Kingdom. May be stamped within two months after being received in the United Kingdom, but cannot be stamped afterwards. (28 and 29 Vict. c. 96, § 15.)

* Term not exceeding 35 years.

‡ Exceeding 100 years.

As to the duties in the first column, if the rent shall be under £20, and if a sum of money, by way of fine, premium, or grassum, shall be paid, the same duty as on a conveyance of sale; if the rent shall be above £20, both the lease duty and conveyance on sale duty. In the case of a lease to which the second and third columns apply, where there is a fine, premium, or grassum, and whatever the amount of rent, both the ad valorem lease duty and conveyance on sale duty. (13 and 14 Vict. c. 97; and 17 and 18 Vict. c. 83.)

LEASE or TACK made for any term or period less than a year, at a rent reserved or payable for the same, shall be chargeable with the same ad valorem duty as a lease or tack, at a yearly rent of the same amount as the sum so reserved or payable. (17 and 18 Vict. c. 83, § 23.)

LEASE of a furnished dwelling-house for a period less than a year, where the rent shall exceed £25, for such period, 2s. 6d. (24 and 25 Vict. c. 21.)

N.B.—The stamp may be adhesive. See AGREEMENT, as to cancelling, &c.

LEASE of a dwelling-house or tenement, or part of such, for less than a year, at a rent payable weekly or monthly, and not exceeding the rate of 3s. 6d. per week, (28 and 29 Vict. c. 96, § 5,)1d.

LEASE or TACK of any mine or minerals or other property of a like nature, either with or without any other lands or heritable subjects, where any portion of the produce shall be reserved to be paid in money or kind—

If it be stipulated that the value shall amount at least to a given sum per annum, or it be limited not to exceed a given sum, to be specified, then the ad valorem duty shall be charged in respect of the highest of such sums.

And where any yearly sum is reserved in addition to or together with such produce, relative to the yearly amount or value of which there is no such stipulation or limitation, the ad valorem duty shall be charged in respect of such yearly sum.

And where both a certain yearly sum and also such produce relative to the yearly amount or value of which there shall be such stipulation or limitation is reserved, the ad valorem duty shall be charged on the aggregate of such yearly sum, and also of the highest yearly amount or value of such produce.

[Where a grassum or rent is in grain, it is to be charged according to the stipulated rate of conversion, and if none be stipulated, according to the fars on an average of seven years. Where there are separate grassums or rents payable to separate pro indiviso proprietors in the same deed, the stamp is on the cumulo amount.]

LEASES in pursuance of Dwelling-Houses Act, 18 and 19 Vict. c. 88, and Transfers thereof,—Stamp duty may be impressed on paper, or denoted by special adhesive stamp. (18 and 19 Vict. c. 88, § 21.)

LEASE or TACK of any kind, not otherwise charged,—£1, 15s.

ASSIGNMENT or surrender of a lease or tack upon any other occasion than a sale or mortgage, including a lease or tack for a term of years exceeding 35, (23 and 24 Vict. c. 111.)—A duty equal to the ad valorem duty with which a similar lease or tack would be chargeable, but no higher duty than £1, 15s., shall be charged.

And no Stamp duty, except the ad valorem duty, shall be chargeable for any lease expressed to be granted in consideration of the surrender of an existing lease and also of a sum of money.

MANDATE. See LETTERS OF ATTORNEY, &c.

MARRIAGE CONTRACT. The leading head under which marriage contracts are chargeable is "Settlement." By the statutory note under this head, it is provided that instruments containing settlements of lands or other property, or other matter or thing, besides the settlement of money or stock, shall be chargeable with duty in respect of such, as if contained in a separate deed. A marriage contract may therefore be liable to a number of different duties. If definite and certain sums, and shares of stocks, are settled so as an interest to any extent shall be given, which shall certainly take effect, and not be altogether contingent, these are liable to the ad valorem Settlement Duty. If an annuity is provided to widow or others, such is liable to Bond of Annuity Stamp Duty. Obligations to pay sums to widow, such as for mournings, are liable to ad valorem Bond Duty. All settlements of property, or other matters not liable to pay sums to the trustees for the children, specific duty, will be covered by one general deed duty, over and above the other duties. An obligation by the husband to if any, would be liable to the Bond Duty, not Settlement Duty, being contingent.

[The stamp duty of 5s. imposed by 55 Geo. III. c. 184, on a certificate of marriage, and on a certificate of reception of the holy sacrament, is repealed by the 28 and 29 Vict. c. 96, § 21.]

MORTGAGES, HERITABLE BONDS, &c.

Wadset, and heritable bonds, disposition, assignation, or tack in security affecting property heritable or movable; also infetment of annual rent, but without any personal bond or obligation therein contained for payment of the money secured; also letter of reversion or back bond, for qualifying absolute conveyance of any property; and also any deed whereby a real burden shall be created on lands or heritable subjects; as a security for any definite and certain sum of money not exceeding

£50.....	1s. 3d.
Exc. £50 and not exceeding £100,	2s. 6d.

150	200, 5s. 0d.
200	250, 6s. 3d.
250	300, 7s. 6d.

And where the same exceeds £300, for every £100, and fractional part of £100, —2s. 6d.

Where the deed is made as a security for the repayment of money to be thereafter lent, advanced, or paid, or which may become due upon an account current, together with any sum already advanced or due, or without, other than any sums to be advanced for the insurance of any property comprised in such security against damage by fire, or for the insurance of any life or lives, or for the renewal of any grant or lease upon the dropping of any life or lives, pursuant to any agreement in any deed whereby any estate or interest held upon such life or lives is granted, assigned, or assured, or whereby any annuity is granted or secured for such life or lives—

If the total amount of the money secured or to be ultimately recoverable is limited not to exceed a given sum,—The same duty as on a wadset for such limited sum.

And if the total amount is uncertain, and without any limit, then the same shall be available as a security or charge for such an amount only as the ad valorem duty denoted by the stamp will cover.

And where the same is made as a security for the transfer or retransfer of any share in any of the Government or Parliamentary Stocks or Funds, or of the Bank of England, or of Ireland, or of the East India, or of the South Sea Company, or of any other company or corporation, in consideration of stock or money advanced or lent at the time, or previously due and owing, or forborne to be paid, being payable,—The same duty as on a mortgage for a sum equal to the value of the stock or fund secured according to the average price at the date of the mortgage, or on either of the ten days preceding, or on the latest day preceding on which there has been a known sale.

And where the same respectively shall be made as a security for the payment of a sum of money, and also for the transfer or retransfer of a share in any of the said stocks or funds, the said ad valorem duty shall be charged in respect of each.

And in case the same respectively shall be made as a security for the payment or transfer, to different persons, of separate and distinct sums or shares,—The ad valorem duty shall be charged for each separate and distinct sum or share therein specified and secured, and not upon the aggregate amount.

And where any such deed or instrument shall be made respectively as a security for the payment of any annuity, or any sum by way of repayment, or in satisfaction or discharge, or in redemption of any sum lent, advanced, or paid, as, or for, or in the nature of a loan intended to be repaid, discharged, or redeemed, in manner aforesaid,—The same duty as on a mortgage or wadset for the sum of money so lent, advanced, or paid.

TRANSFER, disposition, or assignation of any wadset, or other such security, &c., after 5th July 1865—

For every £100, or fractional part of £100 of the amount or value of the principal money or stock already secured, thereby transferred, assigned, or disposed,—6d. And where any further sum of money or stock shall be added to the principal already secured. The same duty as on a wadset, &c., for the amount or value of such further money or stock. And in every other case not expressly provided for, £1, 15s. (28 and 29 Vict. c. 96, § 17.)

Such instrument is not chargeable with further duty (except progressive duty) by containing any further or additional security for the payment, transfer, retransfer of such money, stock, interest, or dividends, or any new covenant, proviso, or other matter whatever in relation to such money or stock, interest or dividends.

Any deed made for the further assurance only of any property already constituted a security, by a deed which has paid the ad valorem duty—

Also any deed made as an additional or further security for any sum, &c., already so secured—

Where the total amount of value already secured does not exceed £1400,—The same duty as on a wadset for the amount. And in any other case,—£1, 15s.

If any further sum be added to the principal, the deed is chargeable only (exclusive of progressive duty) with the ad valorem duty on wadsets, &c., in respect of such further sum.

RECONVEYANCE, surrender, discharge, or renunciation of any wadset, or other such security, or of the benefit thereof, or of the money or stock secured—

Where the total amount of the principal shall not exceed £1400,—The same duty as on a wadset for the amount. And in any other case,—£1, 15s.

NEWSPAPERS.—Any newspaper printed on one sheet not exceeding 2295 inches in superficies, 1d.

A supplement printed on one sheet, and with the newspaper not exceeding 2295 inches in the whole, is free of duty.

Any other supplement not exceeding 1148 inches, ½d.

Any two supplements, each printed on one sheet, and together not exceeding 2295 inches each, ¾d.

The superficies is one side of the paper, and exclusive of the margin.

It is not compulsory to stamp newspapers, excepting for transmission by post. (18 Vict. c. 27, § 1.)

RECEIPTS for money amounting to £2 or upwards,—1d.

RECEIPTS or ACKNOWLEDGMENTS for sums paid or deposited in any bank, or in the hands of a banker, for or upon letters of allotment of shares, or in respect of calls upon scrip, or shares of or in any joint-stock or other company, or proposed or intended company, wheresoever such company may be, loan, or proposed or intended loan, raised, or proposed to be raised, by or on behalf of any foreign or colonial government, state, corporation, or company, are liable to duty. (16 & 17 Vict. c. 59, and 28 & 29 Vict. c. 96, § 16.)

The following provisions as to what shall be deemed a receipt, and the exemptions from receipt duty by 55 Geo. III. c. 184, are still in force.

Any note, memorandum, or writing whatever, given upon the payment of money, whether signed or not, shall be a receipt if it shall import or signify that any sum of money, debt, or demand, or any part thereof amounting to £2 or upwards, has been paid or settled.

According to decisions, a simple acknowledgment of a sum of money in loan, or of the correctness of a debt, or of a deposit of money, is not liable to stamp duty, either as a receipt or promissory note.

Among the exemptions from receipt duty are—Receipts written on promissory notes, bills, drafts, or orders for the payment of money, duly stamped.

Receipts written on any bond, mortgage, or other security, or any conveyance, deed, or instrument whatever, duly stamped, acknowledging the receipt of the consideration money therein expressed, or the receipt of any principal money, interest, or annuity thereby secured.

The exemption of letters by the general post acknowledging the safe arrival of any bills of exchange, promissory notes, or other securities for money, is repealed by 17 and 18 Vict. cap. 83, § 13.

[Stamps may be impressed or affixed.

Where adhesive stamps are affixed, the grantor is required to cancel the stamps by writing, stamping, or impressing in ink, his name or initials on them. Penalty for omission,—£10. Penalty for removing adhesive stamps, or using them a second time, or doing any fraudulent act to defraud of duty,—£20. (16 and 17 Vict. c. 59, §§ 3, 4, and 5; 24 and 25 Vict. c. 91, § 33.)]

See CHARTER for WRIT of RESIGNATION.

SASINE.—Instrument of sasine given on any charter, precept of clare constat, or precept from Chancery, or on any wadset, heritable bond, disposition, appraising, adjudication of any heritable subjects not of burghage tenure,—5s. Progressive duty,—5s.

Note.—An instrument of sasine proceeding on two precepts, even although in one disposition, is liable to two duties of 5s.

The instrument, under the hands of a N.P., in favour of an heir or dispoinee of a creditor in an heritable security—Form, No. 3, 8 and 9 Vict. c. 31; the notarial instrument, § 1; the notarial instruments under the Titles to Land Acts, 21 and 22 Vict. c. 76; and 23 and 24 Vict. c. 143, are liable to Notarial Act Duty only.

SCHEDULE or INVENTORY of heritage or movables, or containing the terms of any proposed sale, lease, &c., or regulations for the cultivation and management of any farm, &c., separate from and referred to in lease, bond, deed, agreement, &c., chargeable with any Stamp duty not exceeding 10s.—The same duty as shall be chargeable on such lease, bond, agreement, &c.; and where referred to in such, chargeable with a duty exceeding 10s.,—10s. Progressive duty,—10s.

SCRIP CERTIFICATE, after 4th August 1853, —the duty of 1d. imposed by 16 and 17 Vict. c. 63, § 8, repealed after 12th Aug. 1867. (30 and 31 Vict. c. 90, § 22.)

SCRIP.—Letter of Allotment of any share of any company, or in respect of any loan raised, or proposed to be raised, by any such company, or letter of allotment issued or delivered in the United Kingdom of any share of any foreign or colonial company, or proposed company, or in respect of any loan raised, or proposed to be raised, by or on behalf of any foreign or colonial government, state, company, or corporation; including letter of renunciation, or other document having the effect of a letter of allotment in favour of any person,—1d.

SCRIP CERTIFICATE or other document entitling any person to become the proprietor of any share of any company, or proposed company, or Scrip Certificate or other document issued or delivered in the United Kingdom entitling any person to become the proprietor of any share of any foreign or colonial company, or proposed company,—1d.

SCRIP or other document denoting, or intended to denote, the right of any person as a subscriber in respect of any loan raised, or proposed to be raised, by any company, or any Scrip or other document issued or delivered in the United Kingdom, denoting, or intended to denote, the right of any person as a subscriber in respect of any loan raised, or proposed to be raised, by or on behalf of any foreign or colonial government, state, company, or corporation,—1d.

[If a person sign, grant, issue, or deliver letter of allotment or Scrip Certificate before the same shall be duly stamped, to forfeit £20. (30 and 31 Vict. c. 90, § 21.) The stamp applicable is the impressed stamp, not adhesive.]

SETTLEMENT.—Any deed or instrument, whether voluntary or gratuitous, or upon any consideration other than a bona fide pecuniary consideration, whereby any definite and certain principal sum or sums of money, or any definite and certain shares in any stocks or funds, shall be settled or agreed to be settled upon or for the benefit of any person or persons, either in possession or reversion, either absolutely, or for life or other partial interest, or in any other manner whatsoever,—if such sum or sums, or the value of such share or shares, together, shall not exceed in the whole £100,—5s.

And if the same shall exceed £100, then for every £100, and fractional part of £100,—5s.

Bonds, debentures, policies of insurance, covenants, or contracts settled, or agreed to be settled, shall be deemed to be settlements of the principal sums of money in them. But in the case of policies of insurance, if no provision for keeping them up, the duty shall be charged only on the value of such policies. (27 Vict. c. 18, § 12.)

As to the mode of ascertaining the value of the foreign and colonial stocks, funds, and securities, and sums in foreign and colonial currency, see ib. § 13.

All such deeds which contain any settlement of lands or other property, or any other thing besides the settlement of such money or stock, shall be chargeable with such further duty as any separate deed containing such settlement of lands or other property, or other thing, would have been chargeable with, exclusive of the progressive duty.

And where there is more than one such deed chargeable with any such duty exceeding £1, 15s., one of them only shall be charged with the ad valorem duty; and also where any settlement shall be made in pursuance of any previous articles chargeable with, and which shall have paid any such duty exceeding £1, 15s., it is not chargeable with the ad valorem duty; and the deeds not chargeable with the ad valorem duty shall be charged with the duty to which they are liable under any more general description in the stamp schedules; and on the whole being produced duly executed and stamped, the latter shall also be stamped with a particular stamp for denoting the payment of the said ad valorem duty.

Exemption from this ad valorem duty.—Wills, testaments, and testamentary instruments, and dispositions mortis causa.

SHARE WARRANTS to bearers under the Companies (1862) Amendment Act, (30 & 31 Vict. c. 131,) three times the ad valorem conveyance on sale duty on the nominal value of the stock, (ib. § 333.)

TRANSFER of shares in the stock and funds of any corporation, company, or society, (not the Bank of England, Bank of Ireland, South Sea Company, or East India Company,) upon sale or mortgage. See CONVEYANCE, MORTGAGE.

TRANSFER of such shares not otherwise charged under mortgage or conveyance upon sale,—£1, 10s.

TRANSFERS of debenture stock of any company. For every £100, and any fractional part of £100,—2s. 6d. (31 & 32 Vict. c. 124, § 24.)

TRUSTEES.—Appointment or assumption of new trustees. See DEED.

WILLS, TESTAMENTS, and TESTAMENTARY INSTRUMENTS, and DISPOSITIONS mortis causa dated on or after 3d April 1860, are not chargeable with any Stamp duty. (23 Vict. c. 15, § 7.)

WRIT OF ACKNOWLEDGMENT by any person infest of lands in Scotland, in favour of the heir or disponee of a creditor fully vested in right of an heritable security constituted by infestment,—10s. (16 and 17 Vict. c. 63, § 6.)

WRIT of acknowledgment, Sch. E of Registration Long Leases Act (20 and 21 Vict. c. 26) of heirs in lease,—5s. (31 and 32 Vict. c. 101, § 116.)

INVENTORY DUTY.

I. PERSONAL ESTATE :—

Exhibition of the Inventory, and mode of paying the Duty.

All and every person or persons who, as executor or executors, or otherwise, shall enter upon the possession or management, in whole or in part, of any personal or movable estate in Scotland of any deceased person, shall, within six months thereafter, exhibit upon oath in the Commissary Court an Inventory, duly stamped, of all the personal or movable estate and effects of the deceased. The Inventory and testamentary writings left by the deceased, if any, shall be recorded in the Books of the said Court. (48 Geo. III. c. 149, § 38.)

Inventories and relative testamentary writings are to be given up and recorded in, and confirmations granted by, the Commissary Court of the county wherein the deceased died domiciled; and in the case of persons dying domiciled furth of Scotland, or without any fixed or known domicile, having personal property in Scotland, the Commissary Court of Edinburgh. (21 and 22 Vict. c. 56, §§ 3 and 8.)

Oaths and Affirmations to Inventories of personal estates, to be given up and recorded in any Commissary Court, may be taken either before the Commissary or his Depute, or the Commissary-Clerk or his Depute, or before any Commissioner appointed by the Commissary, or before any Magistrate or Justice of the Peace within the United Kingdom or the Colonies, or any British Consul. (21 and 22 Vict. c. 56, § 11.)

If the deceased person died domiciled in Scotland, it shall be competent to include in the Inventory of the personal estate in Scotland, the personal estate in England and Ireland. The estate in England and Ireland shall be separately stated in the Inventory, and the Inventory shall be stamped with a duty corresponding to the entire value of the estate situated within the United Kingdom. If confirmation be required, the domicile must be proved, and the Commissary must find it to be in Scotland. A Confirmation, in which shall be included personal estate in England and Ireland, on being produced in the Principal Probate Court in England, and the Court of Probate in Dublin, and a copy thereof deposited with the Registrar, together with a copy of the Interlocutor of the Commissary finding that the deceased died domiciled in Scotland, is to be returned sealed, and is thereafter to have the same force and effect in England and Ireland, as if Probate or Letters of Administration had been granted by these Courts. (21 and 22 Vict. c. 56, §§ 9, 12, and 13.)

The provisions of the Act are merely permissive to pay Inventory Duty on the whole personal estate in Great Britain and Ireland where the deceased died domiciled in Scotland, and the like provisions as to the payment of Probate and Administration Duty where the deceased died domiciled in England and Ireland. It is therefore still competent to pay Inventory Duty on the Estate situated in Scotland, and Probate or Administration Duty in respect of the estate in England and Ireland. In the case of a person dying domiciled furth of the United Kingdom having personal estate situated in Scotland, this mode of paying the duty must be followed, as in that case there is no provision for payment of Stamp Duty, in respect of the personal estate in England or Ireland, on the Inventory, or obtaining confirmation in respect thereof.

Additional Inventory—Corrective Inventory.

If there be any omission in the Inventory inferring payment of further duty, an additional Inventory of such is required to be exhibited by 48 Geo. III. c. 149, § 38; and § 40 provides that the same shall also specify the amount or value of the estate and effects of the same person comprised in the former Inventory. By 16 and 17 Vict. c. 59, § 8, such additional Inventory shall be chargeable only with such amount of Stamp Duty as, together with the Stamp Duty charged upon the former duly stamped Inventory of the estate and effects of the same deceased person, shall make up the full amount of Stamp Duty, in respect of the total amount of all the estate and effects of the deceased specified in the said additional and any such former Inventory. If the estate shall be over-estimated, or if something shall be improperly included in the Inventory, an Inventory on a stamp corresponding to the ascertained value must be exhibited, and the original inventory will be allowed on affidavit as a spoiled stamp, within six months after the recording of the second Inventory.

Personal Property disposed of by Will under an absolute power liable to Inventory Duty—Indian Government Promissory Notes, &c., Personal Property in England—British Ships at Sea—Property to be valued at the time the Inventory is sworn to, and the Inventory to include the proceeds accrued on the property down to that time.

Personal estate which a person, dying after 3d April 1860, shall have disposed of by will, under any authority enabling such person to dispose of the same as he shall think fit, shall be deemed personal or movable estate of the person so dying, for the purpose of payment of Inventory, Probate, or Administration Duty. (23 Vict. c. 15, § 4.) The duties shall be charged on the property in respect of which the same are payable, and shall be paid thereon by the trustees or owners thereof, to the executors, for the benefit of the persons entitled to the personal estate of the deceased, (Id. § 5.) Indian Government Promissory Notes and Certificates issued or Stock created in lieu thereof, being assets of a deceased person, the interest of which shall be payable in London, registered in London, or enfaced in India for the purpose of such registration, before the death of the owners; also Indian Government Promissory Notes with coupons attached, in the same circumstances as to registration, and Certificates issued, or Stock created in lieu thereof, shall be personal estate and bona notabilia in England of the deceased, (23 Vict. c. 5, § 1.) Also any ship, or any share of a ship, belonging to a deceased person, registered at any port in the United Kingdom, notwithstanding such ship at the time of the death may have been at sea, or elsewhere out of the United Kingdom, shall be deemed to have been at the time aforesaid in the port at which she may be registered, (27 & 28 Vict. c. 56,) and liable to Inventory, Probate, or Administration Duty. "The Inventory and additional Inventory of any person deceased, required to be exhibited and recorded in the proper Commissary Court in Scotland, shall be stamped with duty according to the value of the property contained therein at the time they shall be respectively sworn to, including the proceeds accrued thereon down to that time; and the duty, or deficient duty, according to such value and proceeds, and interest thereon at the rate of five per centum per annum, shall be a debt to Her Majesty by the person making oath to said Inventory and additional Inventory, and his heirs and successors; and if such Inventory and additional Inventory shall not be exhibited and recorded, the Inventory Duty on all the personal or movable estate and effects of the deceased, and interest thereon at the rate of five per centum per annum from the expiry of the period of six months after the death of such deceased person, shall be payable and shall be a debt to Her Majesty by the person who shall intronit with or enter upon the possession and management of such personal or movable estate and effects, or any part thereof, and his heirs and successors." (23 and 24 Vict. c. 80, § 5.)

II. HERITABLE SECURITIES.

The Act 31 & 32 Vict. c. 101, § 117, makes heritable securities movable, as regards succession in the creditors, from and after the commencement of the Act, 31st December 1868, and this whether the security shall have been granted before or after that date. These securities, therefore, will, after the above date, be liable to inventory duty, the same as other movable property, and should be included in the inventory of the personal estate. Such securities will still be money secured on heritage; and in so far as they may not come under the statutory provisions applicable to personal property, the Acts 23 Vict. c. 15, and 23 & 24 Vict. c. 80, will apply to them. The mode of payment of duty by special inventory, as provided in 23 & 24 Vict. c. 80, will not be competent, in so far as they are movable property, and come under the statutes applicable to personal property. The Act 23 & 24 Vict. c. 80, will still apply to heritable securities excluding executors, which are, by the above section of 31 & 32 Vict. c. 101, to remain heritable, and also to personal bonds excluding executors.

III. GENERAL OBSERVATIONS.

Modes in which Duty may be paid when deceased domiciled in Scotland, and personal property in Scotland, England, and Ireland, and money secured on Heritage.

In the case of a person dying domiciled in Scotland, having personal property in Scotland, England, and Ireland, and also heritable securities excluding executors, and personal bonds excluding executors:—I. Duty in respect of the whole may be paid on the Inventory required to be recorded in the Commissary Court; II. Or Inventory Duty may be paid on the personal property situated in Scotland, including heritable securities made movable by the Act 31 & 32 Vict. c. 101, § 117, and Duty may be paid on a "Special Inventory" of the heritable securities excluding executors, and personal bonds excluding executors, and Probate or Administration may be obtained in England and Ireland in respect of the personal estate in these countries, and duty paid in respect of such on these several instruments.

Mode in which Duty may be paid when deceased domiciled furth of the United Kingdom.

In the case of a person dying domiciled furth of the United Kingdom leaving personal estate in Scotland, England, and Ireland, an Inventory must be given up in Scotland, Probate or Administration taken out in England and Ireland, and Duty paid on such in respect of the property in each country.

For Probate and Administration Duty, Debts and sums of money due from persons in the United Kingdom to a deceased, on obligation or other speciality, shall be estate and effects of deceased within the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Court of Probate in England or Ireland in which the same would be if they were debts upon simple contract, without regard to the place where the obligation or speciality shall be at the time of the death. (25 Vict. c. 22, § 39.)

Exemptions.—1. Inventory of the Estate of any common seaman or soldier dying in service.

2. Additional Inventory where the duty on the whole estate does not exceed that already paid on the former Inventory.

Note.—Forms of Inventory and Additional Inventory will be found in the "Juridical Styles," vol. iii., Appendix, pp. 8 and 11. Forms may also be obtained from the Solicitor of Inland Revenue, Edinburgh.

RETURN OF INVENTORY DUTY.

The inventory duty and probate and administration duty are paid on the whole personal property, without deduction of debts; but the Act 5 and 6 Vict., c. 79, § 23, provides for a return being given on proof of the constitution and payment of the debts. This return must be claimed within three years; but the time will be prolonged on application to the Board of Inland Revenue. A return of the duty paid on heritable securities may also be made in certain circumstances. See 23 and 24 Vict., c. 80, §§ 4 and 6. No return shall be given in respect of any voluntary debt due from any person dying after 28th June 1861, expressed to be payable on the death of such person, or payable under any instrument which shall not have been bona fide delivered to the donee three months before the death of such person. (24 and 25 Vict., cap. 92, § 3.)

LEGACY-DUTY.

On Legacies, Residues, &c.	Duty per ct.
To children or their descendants, or lineal ancestors,	£1 0
Brother or sister, or descendant,	3 0
Uncle or aunt, or their descendants,	5 0
Grand uncle or aunt, or their descendants,	6 0
All other relations or strangers,	10 0

The husband or wife of the deceased is not chargeable with duty. If the legatee's husband or wife is of nearer consanguinity than the legatee, duty is payable according to such near relationship. (16 and 17 Vict., cap. 51, § 11.)

This duty is payable for every legacy out of the personal or movable estate, or out of or charged upon the real or heritable estate of the deceased, or out of any moneys to arise by the sale, mortgage, or other disposition of the deceased's real or heritable estate, or any part thereof: Also for the clear residue (after deducting debts, funeral expenses, legacies, and other charges first payable thereout) of the personal or movable estate, whether the title to such residue shall accrue by virtue of any testamentary disposition, or upon a partial or total intestacy: And also for the clear residue of the moneys to arise from the sale, mortgage, or other disposition of any real or heritable estate, directed to be sold, mortgaged, or otherwise disposed of by any will or testamentary instrument. (55 Geo. III., cap. 184, schedule part III.)

Annuities commencing to be payable on the death of persons dying after 19th May 1853, are valued for legacy duty according to tables annexed to the Succession Duty Act, (16 & 17 Vict., c. 51;) and Annuities commencing to be payable previous to that date, by the Tables annexed to the Legacy Duty Act, (36 Geo. III., cap. 52.)

Duty is not exigible on legacies or residues under £20; but if a legatee take two or more legacies under any testament, which shall together be of the amount of £20, each shall be charged with duty though each or either may be separately under that amount.

Duty on legacies and residues in arrears, interest thereon at four per cent. is payable. (31 & 32 Vict. c. 124, § 9.)

N.B.—Printed forms and regulations regarding all the succession duties will be obtained gratis, on application at the Inland Revenue Office, Edinburgh; and at the offices of the distributors of stamps in the country. Practical directions as to the settlement of the legacy duty will be found in "Juridical Styles," vol. ii., Appendix, p. 27.

SUCCESSION DUTY.—The duty commences on the death of persons dying after the 19th May 1853 (16 & 17 Vict., c. 51, §§ 2 and 54,) and seems to be imposed on all property, both heritable and movable, passing by death, not liable to the duty on legacies and successions to personal estate upon intestacy—the duty imposed by the Legacy Duty Acts. The duty on heritable property is charged on the annual value, after allowance of the necessary outgoings (§ 22), as an annuity for the life of the successor (§ 21), which is to be valued by tables annexed to the Act.

Personal property is liable to duty according to the value of the succession; and money charged on heritage—heritable securities—is chargeable as personality (§ 1.)

The property chargeable with duty is called "Succession," (§ 1,) and "Successor" denotes the person entitled to it, and "Predecessor" the person from whom the interest of the Successor is derived, (§ 2.)

Rates of Succession Duty.

Lineal issue, or lineal ancestor of the predecessor,—£1 per cent.

Brothers and sisters of the predecessor and their descendants,—£3 per cent.

Brothers and sisters of the father or mother of the predecessor and their descendants,—£5 per cent.

Brothers and sisters of the grandfather or grandmother of the predecessor and their descendants,—£6 per cent.

Any other person,—£10 per cent.

The husband or wife of the predecessor is not chargeable with duty (§ 18), and if the successor's husband or wife shall be of nearer consanguinity than the successor, duty is payable according to such nearer relationship (§ 11).

The following are also exemptions from the succession duty:—

1. Successions from the same predecessor, passing on any death, not amounting in principal value to £100 (§ 18).
2. Any succession of less value than £20 in the whole (ib.)
3. Legacies and personal property charged with legacy duty, in respect of the same acquisition (ib.)

Duty on successions in arrear, interest thereon at the rate of four per cent. is payable. (31 & 32 Vict. c. 124, § 9.)

Note.—The collection of the succession duty forms a branch of the business of the Legacy Duty Department of the Inland Revenue. Forms of the accounts may be obtained at the Legacy Duty Office, Edinburgh, and at the offices of the distributors of stamps in the country. Practical directions as to the settlement of the succession duty will be found in "Juridical Styles," vol. ii. p. 38.

DISCOUNT ON THE PURCHASE OF STAMPS.

Purchasers of stamps (except receipt, labels for medicines, newspapers, and postage stamps) at London, Edinburgh, or Dublin, under the value of £10 each, but to the value of £30 or upwards in whole, are allowed discount at the rate of 30s. per cent. (12 and 13 Vict., c. 80.) The like discount is allowed to any person lodging at Edinburgh, for paper or forms containing printed matter only, to be impressed with stamp duties under the value of £10 each, but to the value of £30 or upwards in whole.

To persons who, at one time, shall produce at the office of Inland Revenue in London, Edinburgh, or Dublin, paper to be stamped with, or shall purchase at the office in London, Edinburgh, or Dublin, stamps to the amount of £2 or upwards, or of any distributor or sub-distributor of stamps at any place not within the distance of ten miles from the said offices respectively, stamps to the amount of £1 or upwards, denoting any rate of duty not exceeding 1s. on Bills of Exchange, Drafts or Orders, or Promissory Notes, or Stamps, for denoting the duty of one penny on any instrument or document whatever, (except postage stamps and customs stamps,) an allowance shall be made of tenpence for every 20s. of the amount of the duties denoted by such stamps. (23 and 24 Vict. c. 111, § 3.) Any person selling such stamps shall not make any charge for the paper whereon the same are impressed. Penalty for doing so, or demanding or receiving a greater price or sum than the amount of the stamp duty,—£10. (Ib. § 25.)

REGULATIONS AS TO EXCHANGING SPOILED STAMPS.

The Solicitor's Office, No. 5 in the Inland Revenue Office, is open for the allowance of spoiled stamps every Tuesday and Thursday, from 12 noon to 2 P.M. The distributors of stamps at the following places also receive spoiled stamps for allowance:—Aberdeen, Ayr, Banff, Cupar-Fife, Dumfries, Dundee, Elgin, Forfar, Glasgow, Greenock, Inverness, Peebles, Perth, Stirling, and Tain.

A supply of forms of affidavits is kept by the Solicitor and the above distributors, and claimants may attend at the Solicitor's Office, and have the affidavits filled up and taken; or they may get copies of the forms, and take the oath before a Justice of the Peace, and afterwards lodge the affidavits and the stamps with any of the above officers. If the claim be admitted, a ticket is issued, stating that application is to be made for the new stamps after Monday se'ennight, and within six weeks from the date of the ticket. If not made within that time, the claim will be forfeited.

The stamps, if belonging to parties resident in Edinburgh, or within ten miles thereof, must be presented for allowance within six months after being signed in the case of executed instruments, and six months after being spoiled in the case of unexecuted instruments. If the stamps belong to persons beyond that distance, six months in the former, and twelve months in the latter case.

Bills and notes delivered to payees, or negotiated or issued in any way, and bills accepted or tendered for acceptance, cannot be exchanged unless a new bill be produced, in all respects the same excepting the correction of the error.

As to the exchange of sea policies of insurance, see 30 Vict. c. 23, § 17. The cases for allowance are—

1. Where Policy shall be inadvertently filled up in an incorrect or improper manner;
2. Or be obliterated, or otherwise spoiled, and rendered unfit for use;
3. Or shall be filled up for some insurance which shall not be proceeded in, and the same shall not be signed by any underwriter, but in no other case.

Application must be made within six months after the policy shall be spoiled or become useless.

Unsigned instruments are allowed if inadvertently spoiled. Signed, if void in law from the beginning; from error or mistake, unfit for the purpose originally intended; from death, or refusal to sign, of any person whose signature is necessary; from the want of the signature of some material and necessary party; from refusal to act under, or from non-acceptance—they shall be unfit for or fail of the purpose intended; or if the transaction be carried through by another instrument duly stamped. (See 53 Geo. III. c. 108.) In the case of transfers of stock signed by the seller alone, and other instruments if by one party, new deeds require to be produced to the proper officer of stamps, who, as to transfers, is instructed to certify in what particulars they differ from those spoiled.

Stamps of a different description may be obtained for any stamp spoiled if it be of the value of £6 or upwards. Application for this purpose to the Commissioners of Inland Revenue should be lodged with the affidavit. The Commissioners, by 3d and 4th Will. IV., c. 97, § 19, may, if in their discretion they think fit, refund, in money, the amount of spoiled stamps. They are also authorised to repay the amount of stamps for which the possessor has no immediate use, if applied for within three months after being purchased. In both cases is deducted the per centage allowed by law on the purchase of stamps.

STAMPING DEEDS AFTER BEING SIGNED.

Beyond Twelve Months.—The duty or deficiency of duty shall be due and payable to her Majesty, and also the penalty of £10. The deed will only be stamped on payment of the whole or (as the case may be) the deficiency of the stamp duty remaining payable on it, and over and above such duty a penalty of £10; and if the whole amount of said duty or deficiency shall exceed £10, then, in addition to said duty and penalty, there shall be paid, by way of additional penalty, interest on the duty or deficiency at the rate of five per cent. from the date or first signing of the deed; but such interest shall not exceed the amount of the said duty or deficiency of duty.

Within Twelve Months.—If the deed shall be brought to the Commissioners of Inland Revenue within twelve months after the first signing or executing, in order to be stamped, it may be stamped without payment of the penalty, or on payment only of a portion thereof, provided it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the Commissioners that the deed was not duly stamped previously to being signed, by reason of accident, mistake, inadvertency, or urgent necessity, and without any wilful design to evade or delay the payment of duty. (13 and 14 Vict., c. 97, § 12.)

Abroad.—If the deed shall be executed by any party abroad, it may be stamped without any penalty, if brought to be so within two calendar months from the time of being received in the kingdom, upon proof of the facts to the satisfaction of the Commissioners. (13 and 14 Vict., c. 97, § 13.)

Adhesive Stamps.—Where adhesive stamps may be affixed to any instrument, an officer of Inland Revenue, authorised by the Commissioners, may, on the instrument being produced to him, affix and cancel the adhesive stamp. The instrument shall thereupon be deemed sufficiently stamped. But this not to apply to instruments not allowed to be stamped after being made, signed, or issued, nor to instruments after the expiration of the period limited for stamping them. The penalty required to be paid on stamping of the instrument is not affected by this provision. (24 and 25 Vict., c. 91, § 32.)

N.B.—The following Notice, dated 17th April 1868, has been issued as to receiving and stamping Instruments and Forms at Edinburgh:—

“Instruments and Forms will be stamped at No. 10 Waterloo Place, Edinburgh, subject to the following conditions:—

“INSTRUMENTS.—Instruments (other than Agreements liable to a duty of 6d., and Charter Parties—as to stamping Agreements and Charter Parties, see Notes under these heads—) which may be lawfully stamped, will, if presented within two months after the first date, be received on any lawful day, except Saturday, between the hours of 10 A.M. and 2 P.M.

“Instruments lodged on Friday before 2 P.M., or on Saturday before 12 noon, will be delivered to the person or persons presenting the relative ticket or tickets on the following Monday, or on the first lawful day thereafter, between the hours of 1 and 2 P.M. If lodged on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday, Instruments will be delivered out, on presentation of the relative tickets, between 1 and 2 P.M. on the day immediately following that on which they were lodged, or on the first lawful day thereafter, except Saturday. Each Instrument must be called for on the day and at the time indicated when the Instrument was lodg-

- ed; and the ticket must be produced when the Instrument is called for.
- "Agreements liable to a duty of 6d. will be received within fourteen days after date, and stamped and delivered out as above indicated.
- "Charter Parties will be received within seven days after date on the payment of a duty of 6d. and 4s. 6d.; after seven days, and within one calendar month after date and first signing, on payment of the duty and £10.
- "FORMS (Drafts, Receipts, &c.) will be received on every lawful day, between the hours of 10 and 11 A.M., and will be delivered out between 10 and 11 A.M. on a day which will be indicated in the respective tickets delivered to the persons lodging such Forms, or in printed notices to be thereafter addressed to them.
- "It will materially conduce to the despatch of business if the Forms to be stamped

- shall be made up in packets not exceeding 10,000 or thereby.
- "In ordinary cases, and in the absence of any undue pressure, Forms will be delivered out within forty-eight hours after they shall have been lodged.
- "Schedules for the use of persons lodging Instruments or Forms will be supplied at the office.
- "The duties to be impressed on Instruments or Forms must be paid to the cashier, No. 3 Lobby, before the goods are lodged.
- "Of the goods lodged, due care will be taken; but it must be understood that the risk is with the owners and not with the office.
- "If an opinion shall be required as to the duty payable in respect of any Deed or Instrument, application for an adjudication schedule must be made at the Solicitor's Office, No. 5."

GENERAL POST-OFFICE, EDINBURGH.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL FOR THE UNITED KINGDOM,
HIS GRACE THE DUKE OF MONTROSE.

RATES OF POSTAGE, AND CONDITIONS OF TRANSMISSION.

LETTERS.

Inland Rates of Postage.—Letter weighing $\frac{1}{2}$ oz., 1d.; above $\frac{1}{2}$ oz., and not over 1 oz., 2d.; $1\frac{1}{2}$ oz., 3d., and so on, increasing 1d. every $\frac{1}{2}$ oz., or fraction thereof, if prepaid, and 2d. if unpaid.

Weight.—The weight of inland letters is unlimited; but they must not exceed 2 feet in length and 1 foot in breadth, unless for the public departments; and they must be prepaid with stamps.

Letters not to be Returned.—Letters once posted cannot be returned upon any pretence whatever; but must be forwarded to those to whom they are addressed.

Late Letters.—In Edinburgh late letters are only received for ten minutes after the closing of the box, with an additional 6d. stamp; but for the two London mails, at 5.30 and 8.30 P.M., the time is extended to twenty minutes.

Contents of Letters.—Letters containing anything of a perishable or dangerous nature, or that might prove injurious to other letters, are not forwarded, but are sent to the Returned Letter Section.

Redirected Letters.—Redirected letters are charged new rates of postage, just as if posted for the first time. But if not prepaid at the time of reposting, they will only be charged the prepaid rate on delivery. Stamps put on redirected letters should not be placed over the old ones.

Registered Letters.—Inland letters or book-packets can be registered on the payment of a fee of 4d. in addition to the ordinary postage. The full amount in stamps for both postage and fee must be on the letter when presented for registration; and it must be presented half-an-hour before the closing of the box, otherwise it will be liable to a late fee of 4d. Registered letters should never be dropped into the box, but presented at the window, and a receipt obtained for them. If dropped into the box, 8d., or double the ordinary fee, is charged. All letters, not registered, containing coin, are charged a fee of 8d., which must be paid before delivery.

Money Orders.—An order from one Post-office on another, for any sum not exceeding £2, may be obtained for 3d.; above £2 and not exceeding £5, 6d.; above £5 and not exceeding £7, 9d.; above £7 and not exceeding £10, 1s., above which sum no single order can be granted. A money order must be presented for payment before the end of the second month after that in which it is issued, otherwise a new order will be necessary, for which a second commission must be paid; and if not presented before the end of the twelfth month, the money will not be paid at all. For the colonies, the regulations are the same as for inland orders, but they do not lapse till the end of four months, and the commission is, for £2, 1s.; above £2 and not exceeding £5, 2s.; above £5 and not exceeding £7, 3s.; above £7 and not exceeding £10, 4s., which is the highest sum for which a single order can be drawn.

NEWSPAPER, BOOK, AND PATTERN POST.

Newspapers.—All periodical publications, including newspapers, published in the United Kingdom, at intervals not exceeding thirty-one days, and which shall bear a stamp or stamps denoting the stamp-duty, may be transmitted and retransmitted through the post, within the United Kingdom, free of postage, for fifteen days from the date of publication, under the following regulations:—Publications not exceeding two sheets must have one penny stamp, three sheets a three-half-penny stamp, and four sheets a twopenny stamp. The title and date of every publication must be printed at the top of every page, and it must be folded in such a manner that the stamps are distinctly visible on the outside. It must either have no cover, or be in a cover open at the ends, and contain no enclosure, nor have any other writing or mark on it, or on the cover, but the name and address of the party to whom it is sent. If it has any writing besides the address of the person to whom it is sent, either on the paper or cover, or if it is retransmitted by post without the old address having been cut off, it will be charged 2d. In case of any other irregularity, it is dealt with as an unpaid letter, or charged double book postage.

Inland Book Post.—Each packet not exceeding 4 oz., 1d.; 4 oz. and not exceeding 8 oz., 2d.; and so on, 1d. being charged for every additional $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. or part thereof. But the following conditions must be observed:—The packet must be prepaid in full, by affixing on it the necessary number of stamps—must be either without a cover, or in a cover open at the ends or sides—must not contain any letter either wholly manuscript, or partly written and partly printed, open or sealed, nor any sealed enclosure whatever, and must not exceed two feet in length, and one foot in width or depth. All letters found in a book packet will be charged the unpaid letter rate, and 1d. additional. If any letter is written on a book or its cover, it will be charged unpaid letter postage.

Inland Pattern Post.—A packet of patterns not weighing more than 4 oz., 2d.; under 8 oz., 4d.; and 2d. for every additional $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. or part thereof, but no packet of patterns must exceed 24 oz. The postage must be prepaid in stamps; and there must be no writing or printing other than the address, and the name of the sender, a trade mark and numbers, and the price of the articles.

RATES OF POSTAGE ON LETTERS AND NEWSPAPERS TO THE PRINCIPAL COLONIES AND FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

The rates of postage for Patterns to Foreign Countries and the Colonies are the same as Books. They must not be of intrinsic value when sent to a Foreign Country; however, there is no restriction to the Colonies. No packet must exceed 24 oz. in weight; those marked a must not exceed 8 oz. Newspapers marked b must not exceed 4 oz. each.

* To those Places, and by the Route marked *, the Letter Postage must be paid in advance.

Newspapers to the Colonies and Foreign Countries must be posted within Fifteen Days after their publication; and the Postage on them must be paid in advance.

List of Post Towns and Towns in Scotland which grant and pay Money Orders.

When one place only is mentioned, in the following list, it is a Head Office, and when there are two, the first is a Sub-Office, and the second is the Head Office to which the first is subordinate. With very few exceptions, all Head Offices are Money-Order Offices; but it sometimes happens that there is a Money-Order Office nearer the Sub-Office than the Head Office. In such cases the Money-Order Office is added as a third name for the information of those who may wish to remit money to the neighbourhood.

Offices at which both Money Order and Savings Bank business is transacted are marked thus, *.

The hours of despatch from Edinburgh to every town in the following list, will be found in the Table at page 580. When the name of a Sub-Office is not found in the Table, the hour of despatch to that Office will be the same as to the Head-Office to which it is contiguous. For instance, neither Aberarder nor Ardross will be found in the Table; but as Inverness will be seen to be the Head Office to these towns, so the hour of despatch for these places will be the same as that for Inverness. And so with all others.

HACKNEY COACH FARES.

The Driver in all cases to give the Hirer a Reference-ticket when engaged, and to produce Bye Law and Table of Fares on demand.

When a carriage is at a Stance, it shall be held to be disengaged, and no engagement shall be refused.

Fares by Distance.

When a party, not exceeding two grown-up persons, and without any luggage other than a carpet-bag, or the like, enters a carriage at a stance, or when driving along disengaged, they shall be driven half-a-mile for 6d.; and if they return they shall pay another 6d.

N.B.—This rule does not apply to Fares to and from Railway Stations.

An idea of the distance from one place to another may easily be formed, by noticing that it is half a mile from the REGISTER HOUSE to the following places, viz. :—South Castle Street; West end of Regent Terrace; Surgeon's Hall, Nicolson Street; and Gayfield Square, Leith Walk.

When parties return (which they will have the option of doing), and the fare going is 1s., the carriage shall wait ten minutes without any charge for waiting; when 1s. 6d., fifteen minutes; when 2s. and upwards, twenty minutes. If the carriage be detained longer, a charge will be allowed for waiting, at the rate of 6d. for every twenty minutes, or part thereof, commencing at the periods when the free waiting expires.

When a carriage is called, but not used, a charge of 6d. shall be allowed if the place to which it is called be under half a mile from the Stance, and 1s. if beyond that.

Fares by Time.

It shall be in the option of the hirer to employ a carriage within the bounds of Police by time, for bona fide shopping, making calls, and the like, where the driving is not continuous. The charge in such cases shall be 1s. for the first half hour, and 6d. for every additional quarter of an hour.

For an airing in the country within seven miles from the Cross of Edinburgh, and returning either by the same or a different road, the fare will be 6d. for every ten minutes, or 3s per hour. A drive round the Queen's Drive to be considered an airing. Unless the hirer wishes a slower rate, the rate of driving when out an airing shall be at least six miles an hour.

Whether the Fares be by Distance or by Time, the hirer pays tolls.

If there be more than four grown persons driven, a charge of 6d. extra shall be made for each additional grown person, and a charge of 6d. for each two children above six years of age. No additional charge for one child above six, or children under six.

For luggage exceeding 100lb. in weight there shall be a charge of 6d. extra; but there shall be no charge for luggage under that weight.

The Driver shall assist in loading and unloading in all cases when required.

From Twelve at night till Seven morning, double Fare.

The above Fare for One-Horse Carriages; and there shall be no additional charge when Two horses are used.

Owners or drivers may agree to drive at lower fares than those fixed. In that case, should they demand more than the fare agreed upon, they shall be liable as for an overcharge.

Fares may be withheld.

Any party shall be entitled to withhold payment of the fare—

When the Reference-ticket is not offered on entrance;

When the Bye-Laws, Table of Fares, and Driver's License are not shown on demand; and,

When an overcharge is Made.

Property left.

All property left in carriages shall be immediately returned to the owner, if known: or, if not known, shall be delivered to the Deputy City Clerk, at the Council Chambers, within twenty-four hours, and the Driver shall be rewarded in such cases as the Magistrate may direct.

Redress.

When the Driver fails or refuses to complete an engagement.

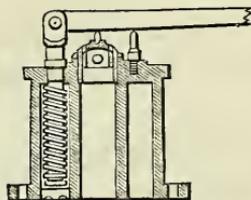

Parties aggrieved will obtain redress on application to the Procurator-Fiscal, at the City Chambers, within eight days after the date of the offence.

A Book containing the rules and a map of the distances, to be had at the City Chambers, Price 6d.

SAFETY AND ECONOMY IN THE USE OF STEAM.

SWANN'S PATENT SAFETY VALVE.

PATENT RELIANCE FEED WATER VALVE.

MR JAMES ECKERSLEY, Consulting Engineer, as Agent for the Steam Boiler Insurance and Steam Power Company, (limited,) having devoted special attention to the securing of economy and safety in the generation and use of Steam, has pleasure in recommending to the notice of all requiring Steam Power, Swann's Patent Safety Valve—hundreds of which are now in use, giving the greatest satisfaction. It has stood the test of time, has received the approval of the Boiler Insurance Companies and all the most eminent Engineers of the day, besides having been favourably criticised by the leading Mechanical Journals.

Mr E. would also draw attention to the Improved Patent Reliance Feed Water Regulating Valve, which meets a want long felt but never before supplied—viz., a trustworthy and reliable means of securing a constant uniform level of water in the Boiler. The Reliance Regulating Valve is the only apparatus which answers this purpose effectively.

Mr E. begs also to inform the Public that, having ceased to be Manager for Swann's Patent Safety Valve, he has recently opened Extensive Premises, in conjunction with an experienced and first-class Mechanist, Mr John Laverick, in ST STEPHEN'S STREET, where, under the firm of ECKERSLEY & LAVERICK, they now manufacture the above Valves, and execute all kinds of Engineering work with economy and despatch.

THE BUSINESS of this ASSOCIATION embraces every beneficial form of LIFE ASSURANCE, ANNUITIES, and ENDOWMENTS for OLD AGE.

NINE-TENTHS OF THE PROFITS ARE DIVIDED AMONG THE ASSURED.

DURING 1868, the ASSOCIATION issued 618 NEW LIFE POLICIES, assuring £439,870, and producing in NEW PREMIUMS £15,443. The INVESTED FUNDS at Christmas 1868 amounted to £691,045 sterling.

NON-FORFEITURE POLICIES.

PUBLIC ATTENTION is invited to the special advantages presented by the NEW METHOD of LIFE ASSURANCE by TEN YEAR NON-FORFEITURE POLICIES. The PREMIUMS on these POLICIES, securing the FULL SUM ASSURED, are payable during the first TEN YEARS only; while each yearly payment (after the first) secures an EQUIVALENT AMOUNT of ASSURANCE although the subsequent Payments should be discontinued. The Policies are thus free from risk of forfeiture on account of non-payment of the Premium.

NON-FORFEITURE POLICIES are also issued for Whole Term Assurances effected by FIFTEEN or TWENTY ANNUAL PAYMENTS, which, after Payment of not less than a fifth part of the whole number of Premiums contracted for, secure an EQUIVALENT AMOUNT of ASSURANCE corresponding to the number of Premiums actually paid.

NON-FORFEITURE POLICIES by Limited Payments are issued, on similar terms, for ENDOWMENT ASSURANCES payable at SPECIFIED AGES or at Death.

TABLES of RATES for ASSURANCES by this method, with or without PARTICIPATION in PROFITS, may be had on application.

FIFTH DIVISION OF PROFITS.

The FIFTH QUINQUENNIAL INVESTIGATION will take place at CHRISTMAS 1870, WHEN PARTICIPATING POLICIES EFFECTED DURING 1869 UNDER FULL ANNUAL PREMIUMS WILL BE ENTITLED TO TWO YEARS' BONUS ADDITIONS. In this Office the BONUS ADDITIONS have never been at a lower rate than ONE POUND TEN SHILLINGS PER CENT. PER ANNUM on the SUMS ASSURED by WHOLE LIFE POLICIES—a RATE which has now been maintained, without diminution, for upwards of TWENTY-FIVE YEARS.

DISTRIBUTION OF PROFITS.

Nine-tenths, or Ninety per cent., of the Profits are divided every Seven Years among the Participating Policy-holders.

Policies of Five Years' duration becoming Claims between one Division of Profits and another, are entitled to an Intermediate Bonus.

The principle according to which the Company divides its Profits bestows upon each Policy a Share corresponding to the proportion of the whole Profits which it has contributed. No class of Policy-holders has any unfair advantage over another. Young Policies as well as old receive the Share to which they are entitled.

Five Periodical Investigations have already been made, and the results of the equitable principle of Distribution are shown in the large Bonuses which have accrued to those who have attained an advanced age, or whose Policies have existed for a long period, and who are therefore entitled to a large proportion of the Profits.

ACCUMULATED FUND,.....£320,000.

ANNUAL REVENUE,.....£105,000.

THE COMPANY was established in the year 1837, for the transaction of all varieties of Life and Fire Assurance Business. Its subscribed Capital is £1,000,000 sterling, held in Ten Thousand Shares by a numerous and wealthy Proprietary widely scattered throughout England and Scotland.

The following Table will show the increase of business in the Life Department during the last five years; and the increase in the Fire Department is equally satisfactory:—

PERIOD.	No. of Policies Issued.	Amount Assured.	Total Annual Premiums.
Five Years 1863-7.....	3,616	£1,016,700	£199,262
Five Years 1858-62.....	2,209	538,386	137,304
Excess in favour of the present Quinquennium.	1,407	£478,314	£61,958

ALL CLAIMS are settled with liberality and the utmost promptitude, in order that the full benefit of the assistance and relief which Assurance is designed to afford should be secured to Assurers or their representatives.

A CASH BONUS of 22 PER CENT., equivalent to a REVERSIONARY BONUS of from 30 to 60 PER CENT., according to the age of the Assured, was declared at the last Division of Profits.

LOANS from £50 to £1000 are granted by the Company on Personal Security, and the assignment of a Life Policy to be effected with the Company.

In 1863,	180,000
In 1868,	225,000

DISTRIBUTION OF PROFITS.

Five-sixths of the Profit arising from the whole Life Business are divided every Five Years among participating Policy-Holders, on equitable principles—viz., in the proportion each party has contributed to the Fund.

BONUSES

have been declared in 1841, 1846, 1851, 1856, 1861, and 1866. At the last Investigation in 1866,

A REVERSIONARY BONUS was allocated upon those Policies entitled to participate, in proportion to the Premiums paid during the five preceding years, varying from about one to upwards of one and a half per cent. per annum on the sums assured, according to age and duration of the Policy.

BONUS DECLARED EVERY FIVE YEARS.

The next Investigation and Division of Profits take place on 1st August 1871.

NO EXTRA PREMIUM charged for residence in Australia, New Zealand, Canada, or the United States of America north of the 38th degree of north latitude.

POLICIES may, under certain conditions and exceptions, after five years' endurance, be made indisputable, and the assured permitted to travel or reside beyond the limits of Europe, without payment of Extra Premium.

Prospectuses and all other information may be had on application at the Head Office, or to any of the Company's Agents.

REDUCED RATES FOR THE EAST AND WEST INDIES, AND CHINA.

THE Directors have adopted a new Scale of Rates for the East and West Indies, and China, considerably lower than those formerly charged by this, or, they believe, any other Company, but differing from the old system, in respect that no reduction takes place on the assured returning to Europe or proceeding to any other part of the world not chargeable with an extra premium.

According to this method, the Assured, instead of being subjected to a heavy Extra Premium during the years of residence in the Tropics, has the option, by paying a fixed rate, of throwing the Extra over the whole currency of the Assurance.

ANNUITIES ARE SOLD ON VERY FAVOURABLE TERMS.

Premiums may be paid Yearly, Half-Yearly, or Quarterly, for a limited number of Years only, or by a Single Payment. No Entry Money or Stamp Duty charged.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

FIRE INSURANCES effected at the current rates of Premium. No charge is now made for Policy Stamp, and Losses are settled in a prompt and liberal manner.

THE SCOTTISH EQUITABLE LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY is an Institution peculiarly adapted for securing family provisions. It is a purely Mutual Assurance Society. The whole Profits are allocated every FIVE YEARS, and no part is, as in the case of a Proprietary Company, diverted from those who are assured, and paid away to Shareholders. The additions which have already been made to Policies, afford the clearest evidence of the prosperity of the Institution, and the great advantages derived by its members.

The Vested Bonuses are always stated as Additions to the Sums assured, but they may at any time be surrendered, in whole or in part, for their present value, or applied to reduce the future premiums (for Life or for a period of five years), as the Policy-holders may require.

AMOUNT OF EXISTING ASSURANCES,.....	£6,800,000
ACCUMULATED FUNDS,.....	1,830,000
ANNUAL REVENUE,.....	250,000

Foreign Residence.—The Assured are allowed to travel or reside in any part of Europe in time of peace without licence; and, on application, licence will be given, without payment of Extra Premium, to reside in Canada, the Northern States of North America, Australia (to the southward of 30° south latitude), New Zealand, and the Cape Colony. A small extra premium is charged for the risk of the voyage to the three last-mentioned places.

No extra Charge is made for Military Service of any description within the United Kingdom.

Indisputable Policies.—Policies of Five Years' standing may be declared Indisputable on any ground whatever, except non-payment of the Premiums, on satisfactory evidence that the Assured have no prospect of going beyond the limits of Europe.

Surrender of Policies.—A liberal allowance is given on the Surrender of Policies on which three years' Premiums have been paid.

Loans to Policy-holders are granted to the extent of the Surrender value of their Policies, at a reasonable rate of Interest, free of all expense and without any other security than the deposit of the Policies. These Loans may be repaid at any time.

This Institution combines every advantage of the Modern System of Life Assurance, with perfect security to the Assured.

Policies Payable during Life—Indisputable—Not Liable to Forfeiture.

THE ROYAL NAVAL, MILITARY, AND EAST INDIA LIFE DEPARTMENT

Affords peculiar advantages to Officers and others in the Navy, Army, and Mercantile Marine.

The European is especially authorised by Parliament to Guarantee the Fidelity of Government Officials.

COMPARATIVE PROGRESS.

The Public appreciation of the principles of the Society may be seen by the great Increase of New Business of the last Nine years, taken in triennial periods,—

NEW PREMIUM INCOME in 1859, 1860, 1861,	£101,000
“ “ “ in 1862, 1863, 1864,	£123,000
“ “ “ in 1865, 1866, 1867,	£180,745

SPECIAL ADVANTAGES.

The application of the Profits to rendering the Policy payable during the lifetime of the assured. The avoidance of all uncertainty, or litigation, by making Policies indisputable.

The assistance granted to an Assurer in the Payment of his Premium; thus averting the chance of losing the Benefit of the Policy by forfeiture, through inability to pay the Premium.

Life Policies in full force during the Days of Grace.

ANNUITIES GRANTED ON VERY LIBERAL TERMS, the Health of the Annuitant being taken into consideration.

The EUROPEAN ASSURANCE SOCIETY guarantees the fidelity of persons holding GOVERNMENT and other Situations of Trust.

Officials in or under the TREASURY, CUSTOMS, INLAND REVENUE, GENERAL POST OFFICE, BOARD OF TRADE, WAR OFFICE, ADMIRALTY, THE HOME, COLONIAL, and INDIA OFFICES, POOR-LAW BOARD, OFFICE OF HER MAJESTY'S WORKS, &c., and other Public Departments, are guaranteed at reduced rates of premium.

LIFE ASSURANCE COMBINED WITH GUARANTEE confers important advantages by the abatements made in the Life Premiums.

 Besides the Government, the leading Banks, Railway Companies, Life and Fire Offices, Public Companies, Institutions, and Commercial Firms, accept the guarantee of the Society.

G. S. MITCHELL, Secretary in Edinburgh.

SCOTTISH WIDOWS' FUND

LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY.

FOUNDED A.D. 1815.

HEAD OFFICE—9 ST ANDREW SQUARE, EDINBURGH.
LONDON—4 ROYAL EXCHANGE BUILDINGS, CORNHILL.

The Leading Feature of this Old Established and well-tried Society is its Mutual Principle, which Secures to the Policyholders the Division of the whole Profits among themselves, without any deduction for Dividends to Shareholders, as in Life Assurance Companies of the Proprietary Class. This single circumstance retains for Distribution among the Policyholders Large Sums of Money which would otherwise be lost to them.

The Largest Division of Profits ever made by the Society was that declared at the Annual Meeting of Members held on 24th May 1867. The Profit realised during the seven years ending 31st December 1866 amounted to no less than £834,183, 10s. 1d., which sum was divided among the Policyholders in the manner fully explained in the Report read at the Meeting, copies of which may be had, free of charge, on application.

Increase of Business.

During last Septennial Bonus Period, 1860 to 1866, the Society issued Policies for New Assurances amounting to the large sum of £5,461,884. Comparing the New Assurances effected in 1860, the first year of that period, with the New Assurances effected in 1867, the first year of the current Period, 1867 to 1873, the following is the result :—

New Assurances 1860,	£ 380,305
New Assurances 1867,	811,411
	£431,106

Difference in favour of 1867,

Being an increase of £113 per cent.

Security enjoyed by the Members, and their future Prospects.

The Balance-Sheet and details of the Valuation of the whole Liabilities of the Society published in last Report fully and clearly make known to all Actuaries and skilled persons the Entire Financial condition of the SCOTTISH WIDOWS' FUND; while to the general public they afford the means of ascertaining for themselves the character of the security and prospects of future advantage which such a financial condition presents. By no other means than the publication of such information as is contained in the Balance-Sheet and Valuations referred to, can the real position of a Life Assurance Institution be made known.

Resources of the Society.

Annual Revenue exceeds,	£600,000
Invested Funds exceed,	£4,690,000

Persons effecting Assurances now will do so at a time when the Society has acquired a select Business of the highest class, the growth of upwards of Fifty Years of uninterrupted prosperity, and has reached an annually-increasing rate of progress which has never been exceeded in the history of Life Assurance in this country. Moreover, although the Society never took over the Funds of any other Office by amalgamation, its Life Assurance Fund is larger than that of any similar Institution. Its Financial Power secures for the Society the best and most remunerative Investments which the country affords. The natural effect of these and the other circumstances above referred to must be the realisation of a rate of Profit unattainable by Offices less favourably circumstanced; and when it is kept in view that the WHOLE Profit actually realised is divided among the Policyholders alone, the conclusion necessarily follows, that Life Assurance could not be conducted under more favourable conditions for Policyholders than it is in the Scottish Widows' Fund.

DEPOSITS AND DEBENTURES.

THE ASSOCIATION receives Money on DEPOSIT or DEBENTURE BOND, at Rates varying from 3 to 4½ per cent., according to the market value of money at the time. If preferred a uniform Rate of Interest will be given on Deposits for fixed periods of from one to five years, on terms to be arranged. The Debenture Bonds will be granted for three, five, or seven years.

SAFETY OF DEPOSITS AND DEBENTURES.

The ASSOCIATION lends its Funds on HERITABLE PROPERTY only, and at rates corresponding to the market value of money. All the Loans are repayable by instalments, which adds greatly to their safety, any depreciation which might take place in the value of the security being more than met by the gradual diminution of the Loan. The risk arising from the Investments of the Company is thus small, and they are enabled to give comparatively high rates for Deposits. In addition to the fact that the Loans are all secured on Heritable Property only, Depositors have the farther guarantee of the Company's large subscribed Capital.

LOANS.

Loans are granted on Security of Land, Houses, and every description of Heritable Property.

The Loans are repayable in periods of from four to sixteen years. If desired, part only may be made repayable by instalments—the remainder bearing interest, payable half-yearly.

Borrowers can pay off their Loans at any time, either in whole or in part; or the period of repayment can be altered to one more suitable.

PROPERTY INVESTMENT COMPANY OF SCOTLAND.

THE OPERATIONS OF THIS COMPANY EMBRACE THREE OBJECTS :—

1. Accumulation of Savings.

A Share in the Company is constituted by a Fortnightly payment of One Shilling ; and a Fortnightly payment of Four Shillings, i.e. for Four Shares, accumulating at 5 per cent. compound interest (the ordinary rate of profit), amounts in fourteen years to £100, of which £27, 4s. is interest.

No Fines are imposed for arrears in contribution, and Unadvanced Shares can at any time be withdrawn.

2. Advances for Property.

Advances are made to Shareholders for Purchasing, Building, or Redeeming Debts on Houses, Shops, or Offices. An annual payment of £10, 2s. for 14 years extinguishes both principal and interest for every £100 advanced. Advances can at any time be redeemed.

A small Sum annually, in addition to rent, soon enables a Shareholder to become his own landlord.

3. Deposits.

A liberal Interest is allowed on Deposits. Depositors incur no liability as Shareholders, and their claims for Principal and Interest are preferable debts on the Company. Deposits are repayable as arranged.

PUFFERY! PUFFERY!! A DIALOGUE.

THESE glaring announcements which daily I see
In the Boot and Shoe trade are a puzzle to me—
CLEARING OUT, GREAT REDUCTIONS, and BARGAINS
they show,
Yet though giving way, still the richer they grow;
The good sense of people they fain would ignore—
Just Puffery, my girl!—just Puff!—nothing more.

And these goods from BANKRUPTS and FIRES have a run,
That looks somewhat suspicious—they never get done.

SELLING OFF! SELLING OFF! is a cry never ceases, Yet the faster they sell them their Stock still increases.

All merchants of honour such tricks should deplore—

Just Puffery, my girl!—just Puff!—nothing more.

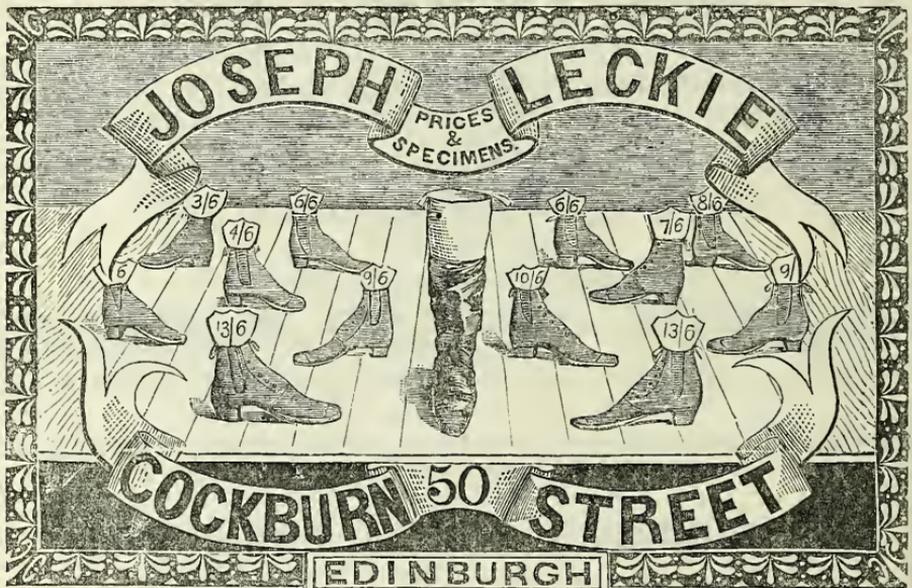

The most trifling repairs of a shop never fail
To give a pretext for a sham of a sale,
And COPPER-TIPPED Toes now must surely prevail, Since the puff on the TWIG'S blown long on the gale.

Such silly expedients are now a great bore—
Just Puffery, my girl!—'tis a Puff!—nothing more.

This PUFFING and BLOWING so specious has grown,
Makes many men pause ere they talk of their own,

Though there's many in trade, I've oft heard you say,

Who's goods far eclipse this pretentious display,
Who's profits and prices, you've told me before
Are as low as can be,—can we ask any more?

BOOTS FOR THE PEOPLE.

THERE'S Boots and Shoes for gentle dames,
An' men o' high degree;
But a' too dear to suit the means
O' honest folks like we.
The Sewed Boots that the folks ca' Cheap
Hae nearly set me mad;
They've fa'en in pieces aff my feet,
Being sewed sae wretched bad.
But LECKIE'S Shoes wi' Pegs and Screws,
If gude folks only kent it,
His Yankee Boots—without dispute's
The best that's yet invented.

For Men braw Garibaldi's there,
And fine Glove Kid for Ladies;
O' Boys' and Girls' a Thousand Pairs,
And winsome anes for Babies.
An' a' sae Bonnie an' sae Cheap,
Ye need be in nae swither,
But come yer ways tae COCKBURN STREET,
An' we'll get pairs together;
For LECKIE'S Shoes wi' Pegs an' Screws,
If a' body but kent it—
These Yankee Boots end a' disputes—
The Best that's yet invented.

WHEN a person takes cold, the lungs become charged with phlegm, which, oppressing the constitution, a natural effort is made for its relief—this effort is a cough. The only safe and prudent remedies to be adopted are those which assist Nature in her work, by loosening phlegm, and exciting a freedom of expectoration, until the evil is removed.

is admirably adapted to promote expectoration, ease the breathing, loosen the phlegm, abate fever, allay the tickling which occasions the cough, without tightening the chest; while in more chronic disorders, as periodical Coughs, or inveterate Asthma, it is equally valuable in its effects, though, of course, longer perseverance in the use of the medicine is required.

Prepared with great care by T. ROBERTS & CO., 8 CRANE COURT, FLEET STREET, LONDON, and can be obtained of all respectable medicine vendors in the kingdom, in bottles at 1s. 1½d. and 2s. 9d. each.

LAMPLOUGH'S PYRETIC SALINE.

Important to Clergymen, English Ministers, British Consuls, and Europeans seeking to reside in safety in Foreign and Tropical Climates, or those having charge of others.

THIS SALINE makes a most agreeable and invigorating Drink, that prevents and cures Measles, Fevers, and Headache. Prescribed by many of the most eminent medical men, and is patronised by numbers of the aristocracy, forms a most agreeable renovating beverage; its efficacy in sickness, general debility, and eruptive complaints, is supported by the testimonials and recommendations of nearly all our London Physicians and medical gentlemen, and it has been recommended by their letters to Her Majesty's Commissariat as a specific in fevers and other affections of the blood.

The late Dr Turley states, in a letter, that in the worst cases of Scarlet, Yellow, and Typhus Fevers, he found it in his experience and family to act as a specific, no other medicine being required.

John Spurgin, Esq., M.D., &c., Great Cumberland Street, London, offers his testimony of approbation, especially in Affections of the Liver or Bilious Fevers, and in Obstinate Constipation.

Letters from the Governor of the West India Islands, and from other Colonies, received during the month of June 1868, and one from Sierra Leone, state that it has proved a perfect cure in African, Jungle, and Yellow Fevers.

SCOTT'S CELEBRATED VEGETABLE PILLS.

THESE Pills have now been before the Public (principally in Scotland) for upwards of thirty years, and the incalculable amount of good they have effected is the best test of their genuineness. Many a once emaciated but now strong healthy person speaks most convincingly to their value. Thousands bear testimony to their worth, and, as the ingredients from which they are manufactured are now much improved, the Public cannot obtain a safer or more efficacious Medicine.

For the speedy and effectual removal of Colds, Diphtheria, Gravel, Dropsy, Costiveness, Indigestion, and all affections of the Liver and Kidneys. Pulmonary Consumption, Running Sores, and all kinds of Cutaneous Eruptions, these Pills are unsurpassed by any Medicine ever offered to the Public.

HUBBUCK'S PATENT WHITE ZINC PAINT.

THE most durable and beautiful paint known, is cheaper than White Lead, and is proved to be superior for all purposes, than the pernicious Lead Paint, and equally adapted for all climates.

Its whiteness is unaffected by bilge water, boiling sugar, or noxious gases.

It is free from any poisonous ingredient, and suited in all respects to the use of the painter.

Each Cask of pure White Zinc is Stamped "HUBBUCK, LONDON PATENT."

Inferior Zinc Paint, so marked, having been sold in Foreign Markets, the Patentees offer a Reward of FIFTY POUNDS for information which will lead to the conviction, in an English or Colonial Court, of those who have pirated their Mark. Both Exporters and Retailers are liable for its sale.

Retail from 1s. 6d. each.

THE best and cheapest Article ever introduced to the Public, for expeditiously and brilliantly polishing Knives (when dressed with the WELLINGTON KNIFE POLISH). The India Rubber, forming an elastic medium between the Knife and Board, prevents Friction, and consequently the Knives are not worn and injured as by other methods.

They polish so rapidly that it does away with the necessity of the Machines, and the annoyance occasioned by their constantly being out of order, and when in that condition destroying the Knives.

The WELLINGTON KNIFE POLISH is prepared expressly for the above Boards, and Knives constantly cleaned with it present the appearance of New Cutlery. The operation is cleanly, and free from dust and annoyance.

Sold in Packets, 3d. each; and Canisters, 6d., 1s., 2s. 6d., and 4s. each, by Ironmongers, Oil and Italian Warehousemen, and Brushmakers, Grocers, &c.

NON-MERCURIAL SILVERSMITHS' SOAP,

MANUFACTURED BY

JOHN OAKLEY & SONS,
WELLINGTON EMERY & BLACK LEAD MILLS,
LONDON.

THE SILVERSMITHS' SOAP is expressly prepared for Cleaning and Polishing Silver, Electro-Plated & Britannia Metals, Tin, Zinc, Plate Glass, Marble, Gas Globes, Lustres, &c.

The Manufacturers can with confidence recommend this Article for any of the above purposes, and guarantee its being perfectly free from Mercury or any other of the injurious ingredients too frequently used in the manufacture of Plate Powder.

Be careful to ask for OAKLEY'S, and see that each Tablet bears the Manufacturer's Name.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.

Dip in water a piece of flannel, and rub upon the Soap until a thick lather is formed; apply it to the article to be cleaned; wash in clean warm water, and dry with a soft cloth; then rub with a dry wash leather, and the polish will be immediate and lasting, surpassing in brilliancy that produced by the finest Rouge or Plate Powder.

For cleansing Chased Surfaces the lather should be applied with a soft brush.

Price 6d. each Tablet.

BALLANTYNE & CO.,

PRINTERS,

STEREOTYPERS, AND ELECTROTYPERS.

BALLANTYNE AND CO. offer to Publishers, Authors, and the Public generally, all the advantages in Printing which their Establishment—the most amply furnished and extensive in Scotland—commands. They are enabled to execute work of the best description at Hand-Press or Machine, or Machine Work of ordinary quality, and to print all kinds of Music at moderate rates of charge.

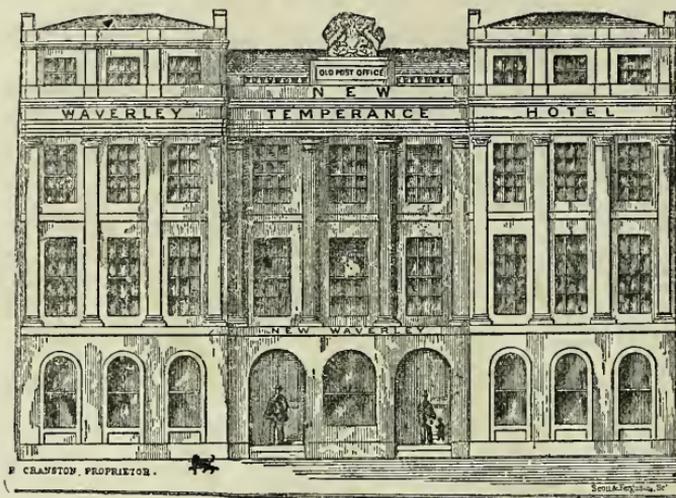

Insurance Lists, Forms, and Prospectuses tastefully printed. Trade Catalogues and Lists rapidly and economically produced.

Additions are constantly being made to the already extensive Printing Plant; and by giving close attention to every improvement in Typography, they hope to maintain the prestige earned by the Establishment in its connexion with the first Publishing Houses in the Kingdom, during upwards of half a century.

Estimates supplied for Composing, Stereotyping, and Printing Books or Serials in any style or quality of work, including paper and binding if required.

CARRIAGE PAID TO ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTRY.

HOTELS.

THE WAVERLEY, in PRINCES STREET, having for years been too small for the still increasing public patronage bestowed upon it, R. CRANSTON has leased from the Government the late General Post-Office. The Establishment has been converted into one of the Largest and Finest Hotels in Scotland, as a companion Hotel to the Old Waverley in Princes Street, under the name of the

NEW WAVERLEY.

Special attention has been devoted to the accommodation and convenience of Commercial Gentlemen. For comfort and appointments the Commercial Room is equal to any in the city, and the Commercial Stock Show Rooms are on the Ground Floor, superior to and as cheap as any in Edinburgh. The New Waverley almost immediately adjoins the New Post-Office, in the business centre of the City.

The Ladies' and Gentlemen's Public Room is spacious, and commands a view of the far-famed Calton Hill, and has been furnished in a manner regardless of expense..

Several elegantly furnished Private Parlours have been provided.

The Large well-Ventilated Smoking Room is supplied with all the Newspapers and Periodicals of the day.

The Bedrooms are lofty and well-ventilated, and for comfort and elegance of Furnishings, are equal to those of the highest priced Hotels.

Attached to the Hotel, with separate entrance, is a Large Hall, seated to hold about 800 persons, in which, by pre-arrangement, Excursion Parties can be Breakfasted, &c., at reduced prices.

Charges and Rules here as at the other Waverleys:—

LONDON: 37 King Street, Cheapside.
GLASGOW: 135 Buchanan Street.
EDINBURGH: 43 Princes Street.

PLAIN BREAKFAST OR TEA, 1s.; DINNER, (FULL,) 1s. 9d.; BEDROOM, 1s. 6d.;
PRIVATE PARLOUR PER DAY, 2s. 6d.; SERVICE, 9d.

NO INTOXICATING DRINKS ALLOWED ON THE PREMISES.

DR J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE

IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

ADVICE TO INVALIDS.—If you wish to obtain quiet refreshing sleep, free from headache, relief from pain and anguish, to calm and assuage the weary achings of protracted disease, invigorate the nervous media, and regulate the circulating systems of the body, you will provide yourself with a supply of that marvellous remedy discovered by Dr J. COLLIS BROWNE, (late Medical Staff,) to which he gave the name of

CHLORODYNE,

And which is admitted by the Profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for COUGHS, CONSUMPTION, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA.

CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases known as DIPHThERIA, FEVER, CROUP, AGUE.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in DIARRHŒA, and is the only specific in CHOLERA and DYSENTERY.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of EPILEPSY, HYSTERIA, PALPITATION, and SPASMS.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in NEURALGIA, RHEUMATISM, GOUT, CANCER, TOOTHACHE, MENINGITIS, &c.

CHLORODYNE is the great sheet Anchor in domestic and family use, both in Nursery and Lying-in Room; to the Traveller most indispensable, and to Naval and Military Men a "sine qua non."

The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Fort that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any kind in Cholera was Chlorodyne.—See Lancet, December 31, 1864.

Extract from Medical Times, January 12, 1866:—"Is prescribed by scores of orthodox physicians. Of course it would not be thus singularly popular did it not 'supply' a want and fill a place."

CAUTION.—BEWARE OF PIRACY AND IMITATIONS.

CAUTION. { Vice-Chancellor Sir W. PAGE WOOD stated that Dr J. COLLIS BROWNE was, undoubtedly, the Inventor of CHLORODYNE; that the story of the Defendant, FREEMAN, was deliberately untrue, which, he regretted to say, had been sworn to.—See Times, July 13, 1864.

Sold in Bottles at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., and 4s. 6d. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE" on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming Medical Testimony accompanies each bottle.
