"ECLIPSE"

SEWING

MACHINES

SHEPHERD, ROTHWELL, & HOUGH, SOLE MANUFACTURERS AND PATENTEES.

No Person should purchase a Sewing Machine without having seen the "ECLIPSE," and particularly noted its intensely practical and eminently useful improvements, which have been effected with the sole object of securing durability, nicety of adjustment of wearing parts, great ease in working, and freedom from complication, the failing point of so many machines.

Patents granted January and September, 1875, for improvements, from amongst which may be mentioned:—The Stitch regulator, securing great durability in feeder, adjustment to wear, silence when at work, length of stitch seen and regulated on the top of the machine.

The Hinge joint to facilitate cleaning, &c., &c.; the adjustable shuttle driver; the adjustment of the needle to different degrees of work, from muslin to leather.

The Shuttle supplies a great want, dispensing with the complications which have hitherto been the great and only drawback to Shuttle Machines. In threading the "Eclipse" Shuttle, there is only one hole through which to pass the thread, the tension is obtained on an improved principle, and the saving of time

PATENT "ECLIPSE" SHUTTLE.

Easiest in the world to thread.

One hole to thread instead of nine, 900 per cent. saved in time.

effected by its use must be of the highest importance to manufacturers working a number of machines, whilst in a proportionate degree it is of equal importance to the owner of every single Sewing Machine.

BY HER MAJESTY'S ROYAL LETTERS PATENT.

No. 1 Machine. Price, 35s.

The grand aim of the present day is to economise time and lighten labour. Many inventions have already done much to relieve the really hard work of washing; but an undoubted success has been gained by over all other Machines in the market. It has rapidly become a universal favourite with all classes, being unequalled for its SIMPLICITY, USEFULNESS, and EFFICIENCY.

The universal testimony is—"We would not do without them for three times their cost."

The "MARVELLOUS" WASHER has now become one of the most popular inventions of the day, the success of a small portable and efficient Machine is an established fact—the "Marvellous" Washer having a larger sale than any other Washing Machine in the market. Even those who have room for the larger Machines prefer the "Marvellous," because it does its work equal to any, and is the only one in use which does not wear the clothes. The principal on which this Machine is constructed is without doubt the most speedy and effectual method of washing. As will be seen from the accompanying sketches, the clothes, saturated with water, are passed between beaded rollers, which crimp the fabric, the plain side rollers acting in such a manner as to forcibly drive out the water with the dirt thus loosened. By this means all articles are evenly washed, as all portions of the clothes are acted upon equally by the rollers, so that seams and creases are thoroughly cleansed.

IT WILL DO A DAY'S WASHING IN TWO HOURS,

AND POSSESSES THE FOLLOWING ADVANTAGES:—

- It occupies less space than any other Machine.
- It is very simple, and not liable to get out of order, on account of its simplicity.
- It is very easy to work—a child can manage it.
- It is very durable, light, and portable.
- The wear and tear of clothes is not so great as with hand labour. A piece of writing paper may be wetted and passed through the rollers without injury.
- It will wash anything, from a piece of muslin to a counterpane, and does not injure buttons.
- No rubbing or scrubbing is required; and after washing is done the rollers can be taken out and the tub be used as a bath for children, or other domestic purposes.

No. 2 Machine. Price, 35s.

THE LION SPRING WRINGING & MANGLING MACHINE.

This Machine possesses the following advantages:

- 1st.—It is always ready to wring or mangle a small or large article, and requires no adjusting of springs or levers.
- 2nd.—It is very simple, it cannot get out of order, and is unequalled for durability and efficiency.
- 3rd.—Whatever thickness of clothes are passed between the rollers the COG WHEELS ARE ALWAYS IN GEAR.

HAS NO EQUAL!

ALWAYS READY!

The municipal government is vested in a provost, six bailies, dean of guild, treasurer, and nineteen councillors. In parliament Dundee is represented by two members. The present representatives are James Yeaman, Esq., Dundee, and Edward Jenkins, Esq., London. Facilities for railway travelling are afforded by the Caledonian and the North British Railway Companies. The Perth and Dundee branch of the Caledonian Company being connected with the West Coast route from London, &c., and the Northern branch of the North British Railway Company with the East Coast route (through Edinburgh and Fifeshire), while the Dundee and Arbroath line of the Caledonian Company (over which for some distance the North British have running powers), affords an outlet to Forfar, Arbroath, Montrose, Brechin, Aberdeen, and the north-east of Scotland generally. There are also two branch lines, the Forfar direct, and the Dundee and Newtyle. The stations are about half a mile apart, the one being at the east and the other at the west end of Dock street. To save going by way of Broughty Ferry and Tayport, as well as to shorten the distance to Edinburgh, the North British Company are at present constructing a bridge across the Tay. It is on the lattice girder principle, the girders resting on brick columns, and at some points on cast-iron pillars. It is to consist of 89 spans, varying in width. Fourteen of the centre ones will be 200 feet wide and 88 feet above high water. The length is about two miles, and will consist of a single line of rails. It was estimated to cost about £217,000, but it is now thought it will greatly exceed this sum. Dundee is situated on a beautiful and commanding site, which, gradually rising from the Tay, offers a fine view from the opposite coast of Fife, more especially the eastern and western slopes, which are studded with mansions, villas, terraces, churches, public parks, &c., and when viewed from the river, which is here about two miles wide, has a very pleasing appearance. The business part of the town has within the last few years undergone a great change for the better. Many narrow streets, courts, pends, &c., have been swept away, and in place of them are fine wide streets, lined with magnificent offices, warehouses, shops, &c. Extensive alterations are still being carried on in the High street and Murraygate, and a fine street is being formed from Albert square to Commercial street; indeed, it would be difficult to point to any part of the town where improvements are not taking place, and building operations being vigorously carried on. The valuation of property in 1858 was £194,690; in 1875 it had risen to £572,167. A great deal might be said about the antiquity of Dundee, and the number of times it has been besieged, taken, and re-taken, and nearly destroyed by the ravages of war, and of its quick recovery, and again ranking among the principal towns of Scotland; but in a work of this description we think it of more importance to our subscribers to show how it stands at the present with regard to its trade, commerce, &c. In 1815 the management of the harbour was placed in the hands of Commissioners, appointed annually; in 1830 the management was transferred to Trustees, to be elected annually, the Provost, Bailies, and Dean of Guild to be perpetual trustees. The harbour is now (1876) capable of accommodating vessels of any size. It consists of four wet docks, covering an area of about 35 acres. There are two dry docks, one of which (500 feet in length) was recently opened, and will accommodate two of the largest sized vessels at the same time. Besides the above there are ferry and tidal harbours. The cost of the improvements effected since 1815 is over three quarters of a million sterling. From the following statement it will be seen that there has been a steady increase in the revenue for half a century:—Shore dues: 1816, £4,411; 1829, £10,134; 1858, £20,592; 1871, £32,405 14s. 11d. In 1875 the harbour dues were over £45,000.

The number of vessels which entered the port

In 1835 was	3,981	burthen	259,736 tons
1849	4,921	385,095	“
1858	2,939	233,671	“
1864	3,083	336,013	“
1870	2,380	357,225	“
1871	2,559	418,401	“

The tonnage of vessels entering the port in 1875 was 463,415. It will be noticed that there is a falling off in the number of vessels and an increase in the tonnage; this is explained by the great number of large vessels engaged in the direct trade with Calcutta in the jute trade. Screw steamers sail regularly from Dundee to London, Leith, Liverpool, Hull, Newcastle, Aberdeen, &c., and a fleet of fine vessels leave here to prosecute the seal and whale fishing, in the seasons. Dundee was at one time famous for the manufacture of plaiding, and other woollen goods, but this branch has long become extinct. The manufacture of linen commenced, and for at least a century Dundee has been noted for the excellent quality of its linen goods, and at the present time many large firms, with most extensive works, are engaged in this branch of manufacture. Jute was introduced into Dundee about 1825, and after a time, through improvements made in the machinery for preparing and manufacturing it, the trade increased, until it became equal to the linen trade, and now, as will be seen by the imports of jute, flax, hemp, tow, codilla, &c., that there are nearly four times the weight of jute imported as of all the other articles mentioned put together. The enormous increase in the manufacture of this article is attributed to the cheapness of the goods manufactured from it, and through the stoppage in the supply of cotton during the American civil war.

The following are the returns of the quantities of flax, &c., imported in various years since 1850.—In 1850, flax, 25,526 tons; flax codilla, 9,133; hemp, 1,062; hemp codilla, 18. In 1865, flax, 19,724; flax codilla, 2,955; hemp, 1,210. In 1870, flax, 23,953; flax codilla, 6,513; hemp and hemp codilla, 1,132. In 1871, flax, 38,767; flax codilla, 10,046; hemp, 1,364. In 1875 the flax, hemp, tow, and codilla imported amounted only to 30,743 tons. An idea of the progress made in the jute trade may be gathered from the following:—In 1849 the imports (exclusive of coast-ways), amounted to 8,176 tons; in 1850, to 8,127 tons. In 1865 the total receipts at the harbour reached 36,291 tons, and in 1869-70-71, as follows:—

	1869 Tons	1870 Tons	1871 Tons
Direct from Calcutta	27,844	30,537	60,690
Coasting (principally from London)	36,347	43,341	24,166
By railway	18,185	7,862	8,176
Total	82,376	81,740	93,022

The following shows the direct import of jute from Calcutta:—

Year	No. of vessels	Tonnage	Bales
1872	77	94,450	649,677
1873	81	101,445	709,871
1874	62	77,401	523,197
1875	62	83,252	573,230

The direct import in 1836 was only 300 tons. The horse power of mills and manufactories has increased from 63 in 1810 to about 10,000 in 1876. The number of mills and factories at present is considerably above 100 in Dundee and neighbourhood. There is also a considerable import of timber, coal, corn, oil, blubber, seal skins, &c. Wood, iron, and composite shipbuilding is most extensively carried on here by several eminent firms. There are also very large foundries, engine and boiler works, saw mills and timber yards, tanneries, breweries, boot and shoe factories, and works for the manufacture of Dundee marmalade, preserves, and confectionery, the largest of which is Messrs. Keiller & Sons. The banking business is well represented here, there being about 20 branch banks in the burgh, besides a number of Post Office Savings' Banks. Three newspapers are published here daily, and two weekly, also a weekly periodical called The Peoples Friend. The gas and water supply is in the hands of the commissioners. An excellent supply of water is now obtained from the Loch of Lintathen, and from Monikie, which together yield a supply of about fifteen million gallons daily. There are some fine public buildings, institutions, &c., in the town, among which may be mentioned the Royal Infirmary, Albert Institute, High School, Town House, Kinnaird Hall, Post Office, Royal Exchange Buildings, Police Buildings and Prison, Industrial Schools, Morgan Hospital, The Asylum, &c., &c. The Albert Institute, Albert square, is a large new building, erected from designs by Mr. Gilbert Scott, and the eastern portions from designs by Mr. Mackenzie, a local architect. The building comprises a public hall, library, reading room, and museum. The library, reading room, and museum are free to the public, the town having adopted the Free Libraries Act. In the grounds in front of the Albert Institute is a statue of George Kinloch, the first representative of the burgh in the reformed parliament: it is cast in bronze. The artist was Mr. Steel, Edinburgh. There is also, at the north-east corner of the grounds, a bronze statue of James Carmichael, an eminent engineer and inventor, of Dundee, which was erected at a cost of £1,500, and was unveiled on the 17th of June, 1876. Mr. John Hutchison, R.S.A., was the artist. There is also a very handsome fountain situated at the west end of the institute. The High School, erected in 1834, at a cost of £10,000, is a fine building facing Albert square. Near this is the Post Office, a good building, erected at a cost of about £5,000. The Royal Exchange and Chamber of Commerce was erected in 1852, at a cost of about £10,000. A fine new Cattle Market, Slaughter Houses, &c., have recently been erected in East Dock street, at great cost. The Public Baths have recently undergone great alterations and improvements; they are now very handsomely fitted up with every accommodation. The Royal Infirmary, erected in 1853, occupies a fine commanding site near the Barracks. In 1872-73 the average number of patients daily resident was 105, in 1873-74 it was 128. The Blind Institution, situated in Dallfield walk, chiefly owes its origin to Mr. and Mrs. F. Molison, and is a most deserving institution, its objects being to provide the poor blind with the means to gain a livelihood by honest work. It is under the able management of Mr. J. W. Garraway. The Morgan Hospital, occupying a commanding site above the Baxter Park, is for the education, lodging, boarding, and clothing of one hundred boys, the sons of tradesmen, mechanics, and persons of the working classes generally, whose parents stand in need of assistance. The sons of persons, inhabitants of, and born and educated in Dundee, have the preference of admission, then the sons of persons, inhabitants of, and born and educated in Forfar, Arbroath, or Montrose. The institution owes its existence to the benevolence of the late Mr. Morgan, a native of Dundee, who left the bulk of his fortune to carry out the above-mentioned objects. The total sum secured—after a law plea in regard to the validity of the will—for the erection and maintenance of the institution was £73,500: the building was erected at a cost of over £20,000. The Royal Orphan Institution was founded in 1815. It is a handsome building, situated on the Ferry road. In October, 1875, there were 37 boys and 17 girls in the institution. The Baldoan Asylum, established for the treatment of imbecile children, was opened on the 6th January, 1855, and is under the patronage of Her Majesty the Queen. On December 31st, 1875, there were 27 boys and 19 girls in the institution. The asylum is under the supervision of the Commissioners in Lunacy. In the Baldoan Orphanage at the end of 1875 there were 18 orphans. The report of the Directors of the Dundee Association for the Education of the Deaf and Dumb for 1875 says:—"The history and object of this association are now well known to the community. When Mr. and Mrs. Drysdale many years ago opened a Seminary in Dundee for the education of mute children, it was soon found that the friends of many of them were unable from poverty to take advantage of its training. The association was instituted for the purpose of aiding them either by boarding the children in the Seminary, or by paying the school fees, according to circumstances. The association, since its formation, has been instrumental in securing this object. A very large number of pupils have been aided by it, who are now profitably employed at various occupations. The number of pupils on its funds has been much the same during the last three years as formerly. In 1863-4 and 1864-5 eight children were boarded in the house, and nine were paid for as day scholars. In 1865-6 there were seven boarders and eight day scholars. Mr. and Mrs. Drysdale continue to conduct the Seminary to the satisfaction of the Directors. The pupils are receiving an excellent education in the usual branches of knowledge. In addition to writing, arithmetic, geography, and history, a large amount of information is conveyed to them in an astonishing measure, and the directors are happy to report that Mr. Drysdale is as assiduous as ever in attending to their religious training. Indeed, the most of his former pupils residing in this neighbourhood attend religious worship conducted by him in the Seminary every Sabbath. The funds of the association are, on the whole, in a prosperous condition." The Home, Paton's lane, an institution for the reformation of females, was established in 1848, under the patronage of her late Royal Highness the Duchess of Kent, and is under the management of a committee of ladies. The Dundee Industrial Schools are situated in Ward road. At the 29th annual meeting of the subscribers to the Dundee Industrial Schools Society, held 19th January, 1876, the number of inmates was nearly the same as that at the close of the previous year, being 150 boys and 54 girls. The departments of work carried on at this institution are paper bag making, coal mat making, sack sewing, brush making, firewood prepared, plain printing, tailoring, hand sewing, knitting, and machine sewing. Orders for any of the above are gladly received. The educational establishments of Dundee will compare favourably with those of any town in Scotland. In addition to the High School there are a number of Board Schools, and many private educational establishments and boarding and day schools. From a report of the general and executive committees of the "Mars" Training Ship Institution, submitted to the sixth annual meeting of the Governors, held 21st February, 1876, it will be seen that at the close of 1875 there were on board the "Mars" 294 boys, of whom 97 had been received in the course of the year. Of the boys then on board 143 were from the county of Edinburgh, 13 from Aberdeenshire, 27 from Fifeshire, 86 from Forfarshire, 15 from Perthshire, and 19 from more distant localities. From these figures it will be observed that the committees have faithfully fulfilled their original undertaking, by rendering the "Mars," though stationed in the Tay, an institution for the whole East of Scotland. They may just repeat that this will continue to be an essential feature in its management. During the year 92 boys were discharged from the ship. Of these, three entered the Royal Navy, 69 entered the merchant service, 17 went to trades on shore, and three were returned to their friends. There were also six deaths—three from scarlatina, two from consumption, and one by drowning. It should be noted here that of the boys who entered the merchant service 48 went direct from the "Mars," while 21 who at first went on shore returned, and were fitted out to sea. This has been the case more or less from the commencement; but the experience of the committees is, that if the boys were left to their own choice, three-fourths of them at least would choose a seafaring life. There are other charitable institutions, and many mortifications devoted to education connected with the town. The inhabitants of Dundee have little reason to complain of their spiritual wants not being supplied. Our list of places of worship will show that they number about 80, and there is little doubt that nearly all are well attended. Although many of them will seat a large congregation, only a few can claim any great architectural beauty. The following are somewhat attractive:—The Steeple Church, Nethergate, fine tower, recently restored; St. Mark's, Perth road, beautiful spire; St. Andrew's, Cowgate, fine spire; St. Enoch's, Nethergate, noble towers; St. Paul's Episcopal, tower and spire, upwards of 200 feet in height; St. Paul's Free, Nethergate, fine spire; McCheyne Memorial, Perth road, highly ornamented and beautiful spire. The Cemeteries of the town are the Eastern Necropolis, the Western Necropolis, and one the Dundee Western Cemetery (belonging to a limited company). The two first named and the burying grounds of St. Peter's, St. Andrew's, the Constitution road, Roodyards, and Logie are under the care of Mr. McKelvie, Cemeteries Superintendent. In 1863 a splendid Public Park of upwards of 30 acres was presented to the town by Sir David Baxter, Bart., and endowed with funds necessary to maintain it. The park, which is at the east end of the town, was beautifully laid out by Sir Joseph Paxton; and, with the endowment, has cost Sir David not less than £50,000. In 1869 the corporation acquired Balgay hill, a wooded eminence at the west end of the town, to be used partly as a Public Park and partly as a Cemetery for the west end of the burgh. The portion retained as a Public Park is 36 acres in extent. It is finely wooded, and, from the higher parts of the ground, magnificent views are obtained. Altogether, it is one of the finest parks in the kingdom. In addition to these two parks, the inhabitants have the Magdalen Green, close by the river at the west end of the town, and the Barrack Park, as places of recreation. There is also a fine promenade and an esplanade, each nearly a mile in length, and in summer, pleasure trips by steamers on the Tay to Arbroath, Montrose, The Bell Kock, Broughty Ferry, Newport, Newburgh, The Earn, Perth, &c., are of daily occurrence at very cheap fares. The market days are Tuesday and Friday; and there is a cattle and sheep market held in the Cattle Market every Tuesday. Fairs—Stobbs's fair, for cattle, sheep, and horses, on the first Tuesday after the 11th of July. Dundee first fair, for cattle and horses, on the 26th August—if that day falls on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, or Friday, if not, the first Tuesday after the 26th of August. Dundee Latter Fair, for cattle and horses, on the 19th September (the same rule applying as that regulating the first fair). Feeding markets for servants are held on the 26th of May and on the 22nd November, or on the first Friday thereafter.

LIFF and BENVIE is a parish adjoining Dundee, a portion of it and the poorhouse being situated within the burgh. The village of Liff is about six miles from Dundee. There are several other villages in this parish, including Lochee, Birkhill-Feus, Muirhead of Liff, Bullionfield, and part of Invergowrie. The Caledonian Railway runs through the parish.

BIRK HILL-FEUS is a small village about two miles from Lochee, and five miles from Dundee.

BULLIONFIELD is in the parish of Liff, and contains a paper mill a short distance from the Invergowrie railway station, upon the Perth and Dundee line.

MUIRHEAD OF LIFF is a small place containing a church and school, three miles from Lochee and six miles from Dundee.

INVERGOWRIE is a village situated partly in Perthshire and partly in Forfarshire, one portion being in the parish of Longforgan, the other in that of Liff. It is four miles from Dundee, and contains a Free church and a board school.

MAINS and STRATHMARTIN is a united parish adjoining Dundee. The parish contains several bleach works, and the small villages of Baldovan, Bridgefoot, Downfield, Mains and Strathmartin, which are all within a distance of four miles from Dundee. An asylum for the treatment of imbecile and idiot children and an orphanage was founded at Baldovan by Lady Jane Ogilvy. A few particulars respecting this institution will be found in our notice to Dundee.

LOCHEE is a large village containing several good streets. It is on the east border of, and in the united parish of Liff and Benvie, situated about three miles from the High street, Dundee, and forms part of the burgh of Dundee. It contains several mills and factories for the spinning and manufacturing of flax, jute, &c. goods; the principal of these being those of Messrs. Cox Bros., the Camperdown Linen Works. The Dundee and Newtyle branch of the Caledonian Railway passes through the village, and omnibuses ply between Lochee and Dundee about every hour. In the immediate neighbourhood are several quarries of excellent freestone. There are places of worship belonging to the Establishment, Free Church, Episcopalians, Baptists, Roman Catholics, and the United Presbyterians. There are branches of the Royal Bank of Scotland, City of Glasgow Bank, and North of Scotland Bank, and the Post Office Savings' Bank.

ARBROATH,

ST. VIGEANS, ARBIRLOT, MARYWELL, AUCHMITHIE, AND COLLISTON.

ARBROATH formerly called Aberbrothock, is a sea-port and royal burgh, 60 miles N.N.E. from Edinburgh, 16½ from Dundee, 15 S.E. from Forfar, and 12 S. from Montrose by road, and about 20 by rail. It is governed by a Provost, three Bailies, and twelve Councillors, and unites with Forfar, Montrose, Brechin, and Inverbervie in sending one member to Parliament. W. E. Baxter, Esq., is the present member. This is a town of early origin, owing its rise to an important monastic institution, founded here by William the Lion, about the year 1178; the remains of this edifice consists of ruinous towers, columns overthrown, Gothic windows, cloisters, staircases, &c. A part of the abbot's lodgings, which stands a little distance from the church, still remains. It was very extensively endowed with lands and other gifts by Kings William I., Alexander II., and Robert I., and their nobility. There are several fine streets in the town, of which High street is the principal, being the widest and nearly a mile in length. The establishments of the tradesmen here will compare favourably with those of any town of its size in Scotland. The coast to the north of Arbroath is very rugged, and there are numerous caves, arches, and curious shaped rocks made by the action of the waves; a footpath runs close to the cliffs, and affords the visitor a fine view of all the objects of interest and a great expanse of ocean. There are some good buildings in the town, including the Town House, Guildhall, Market Hall, High School, Poorhouse, Infirmary, Public Hall, Trades' Hall, &c. The Public Hall, High street, erected by a Limited Company, was opened in 1867, and cost about £6,000. It contains a museum, in which may be seen very valuable specimens of shells, fossils, &c. The principal hall is about 90 by 45 feet, with built platform about 45 by 16 feet, and two retiring rooms under same. The body of the hall is seated for about 900, and the gallery 100; this is let for balls, soirees, concerts, &c. The small hall is about 45 by 23 feet, and has an orchestra. The museum room is the same size as the principal hall. There is a library, a club, and several reading rooms. There are six banking establishments, a savings' bank, and the Post Office Savings' Bank. Two newspapers are published weekly, and the Dundee Advertiser has a branch office here. Railway accommodation is afforded by the Caledonian and North British Companies. The staple trade of the town is the manufacture of sail cloth, canvas, &c. and at the present time (1876), there are about 30 mills and factories engaged in the spinning of yarns and the manufacture of linen and other goods. There are several extensive foundries and machine shops, also tanneries, breweries, a large shipbuilding yard, asphalt works, roperies, boot and shoe factories, &c. A large trade is done in corn, potatoes, coal, lime, timber, &c. The fishing trade is of great importance, hundreds of the inhabitants being engaged in it, and the fishing as a rule is vigorously and successfully carried on. Arbroath until recently had but a tidal basin, but has now an extensive wet dock and tidal basin. Great alterations have been made within the last three years by the harbour trustees, and have been executed under the charge of the superintendent (Mr. George Rhind). The removal of the bar and the deepening of the fairway to the harbour by dredging have been carried out successfully during the time the new wet dock has been in process of formation. Dynamite was used for blasting the rock at the entrance to the harbour. The size of the wet dock is as follows:—Length of quayage about 14,000 feet; area, three acres; top of coping to foundation, 22 ft. 6 inches. Ordinary spring tides 17 feet 6 inches of water; neap tides on the dock slip 13 feet. The works completed include the north quay wall of tidal basin; south quay wall of wet dock; east and west retaining walls of the Brothock River; and the dock entrance. These with the cost of dredger, dredging, hoppers, tug boat (Gipsy King), and other plant had, up to the end of June, 1876, cost about £23,000. The works yet to be carried out are estimated to cost about £7,000. The steam patent slip laid down by the harbour trustees (and included in the above costs) will carry a vessel of 700 tons; it was laid down in place of the old slip, worked by hand, which was only guaranteed to carry a vessel of 200 tons. The number of vessels belonging to the port in 1850 was 122, tonnage, 13,509. In 1854, 81, tonnage, 11,856. In 1858, 103, tonnage, 13,929. In 1864, 82, tonnage, 12,300. In 1868, 81, tonnage, 12,946. In 1872, 68, tonnage 10,021. The number of vessels registered 31st December, 1875, was 66, showing a tonnage of 11,003. In 1874 the number was 65, with a tonnage of 10,394. The number of vessels entered inwards from over sea was 74, the tonnage of which was 12,372; 40 of these were foreign, with a tonnage of 6,211; and 34 British, with a tonnage of 6,161 tons. The number of vessels entered inwards in 1874 was 95, with a tonnage of 15,526, which shows a decrease in 1875 of 21 vessels and 3,154 tons. There were only two vessels cleared outwards for foreign ports. The total number of vessels entered inwards with cargoes was 235, with a tonnage of 21,533; of these 276 were sailing vessels, with a tonnage 21,134, and nine were steam vessels, with a tonnage of 449. In 1874 the number of vessels entered inwards with cargoes was 231, with a tonnage of 20,895, showing an increase in 1875 of four vessels and 638 tons. The principal imports were 28,939 tons of coal, showing an increase over 1875 of 1,144 tons. The total number of vessels cleared outwards with cargoes was 145, with a tonnage of 9,376, of these 114 were sailing vessels, with a tonnage of 8,423, and 31 steam vessels, with a tonnage of 1,148. In 1874 the number of vessels cleared outwards was 139, with a tonnage of 9,032, showing an increase in 1875 of six vessels and 494 tons. The chief exports were 29,163 quarters of grain, and 5,968 tons of potatoes, showing an increase in 1875 of 5,990 quarters of grains and 1,117 tons of potatoes. The Customs revenue of the port, for the year ending 1863, was £13,010; for the year ending March, 1868, £23,791; ending March, 1871, £21,094; for the years 1873, 1874, and 1875 are as follows:—British spirits, 1873, £6,767 11s. 0d.; 1874, £6,045 9s. 0d.; 1875, £6,338 13s. 0d. Customs revenue, 1873, £15,861 13s. 1d.; 1874, £16,743 5s. 8d.; 1875, £16,577 2s. 7d. The flax and hemp imported in 1874 was 11,137 tons, the declared value of which was £423,984, and in 1875 8,222 tons, declared value, £316,616, thus showing a decrease in 1875 of 2,915 tons, and on the declared value of £107,368. The declared value of other goods imported was £9,720, which in 1874 was £10,295, which shows a decrease for 1875 of £575. The total value of all goods imported in 1875 was £326,336, or a decrease of £107,947 in comparison with 1874.

The Bell Rock is situated about 12 miles from Montrose, and, as is well known, the lighthouse on the rock ranks as one of Stephenson's greatest achievements. The signal tower in connection with the above is situated in Ladyloan, Arbroath; it was erected in 1810, is about 80 feet in height, and is supplied with a very powerful telescope placed in the signal room at the top of the tower. In connection with this tower there are dwellings for the four lighthouse keepers and a boatman, who form the staff. Each of the keepers passes six weeks on the rock and two weeks on shore. Signals are given to the persons at the lighthouse on the rock, by the light-keeper on shore, daily, from nine to ten morning, and two to three afternoon, weather permitting. There is a boat belonging to the Northern Lights Commissioners engaged in going to and fro once a fortnight, weather permitting, and at other times when signalled. A Police Court is held weekly, on Monday, a Justice of Peace Court on the first Monday of every month, and a Sheriff Small Debt Court on the third Wednesday in January, March, May, July, September, and November. The places of worship are very numerous, and some of them very handsome and commodious. There is a High School, several public board schools, and private boarding and day schools. The market is held on Saturday, and the fairs on the last Saturday in January, for general business and hiring servants; on the first Saturday after Whit-Sunday for hiring; July 18th (if it fall on a Saturday, if not, on the following Saturday), for general business and hiring; and the first Saturday after Martinmas for hiring.

ST. VIGEANS is a parish, and contains the small villages and hamlets of St. Vigeans, Marywell, Auchmithie, and Colliston, also a part of the town of Arbroath. The first-named contains the Parish Church, situated about one mile from Arbroath; the others are all within a distance of four miles from Arbroath. The parish is bounded on the north and east by Inverkeilor, on the south by the German Ocean, and on the west by Arbroath, Arbirlot, and Carmyllie. The Parish Church has been recently re-built.

ARBIRLOT parish adjoins Arbroath and St. Vigeans, and is bounded on the south-east by the German Ocean. The village is about three miles west of Arbroath. It contains an Established and a Free Church, and a Board School. About a quarter of a mile south-west of the village stands Kelly Castle, belonging to the Earl of Dalhousie. Bonnington is a small place in this parish.

AUCHTERHOUSE,

LONGFORGAN, LUNDIE, FOULIS, AND TEALING.

AUCHTERHOUSE is a parish situated in the south-west corner of the county of Forfar, and on the south of the Sidlaw hills; it is about seven miles N.W. from Dundee, and is bounded on the south by Liff, on the south-east by Mains and Strathmartin, on the east by Tealing, on the west by Lundie, and on the north by Glamis. There is a parish church and a board school. The parish contains about 4,000 acres.

LUNDIE is a parish situate at the head of the valley of Dighty, in the western part of the county, it is bounded on the east by Auchterhouse, on the south and west by Foulis, and on the north by the Sidlaw hills, which divide it from Ketlins and Newtyle. Foulis Easter in Perthshire is united to this parish, it is situated at the eastern extremity of the Carse of Gowrie, of which a beautiful view is obtained from here. In point of situation, and rich and varied scenery in every direction, few places can excel it. The church of Foulis, which was built in the year 1143, is still perfectly entire. Grey freestone abounds in the parish.

LONGFORGAN is a parish in the county of Perth, extending on the southern extremity of the Tay for more than four miles, it forms the eastern boundary of the Carse of Gowrie, and is surrounded on three sides by Ketlins, Abernethy, Inchture, Lundie and Foulis, Liff and Benvie. The village is situated at an elevation of about 130 feet above the Tay, and commands an uninterrupted prospect of the intermediate country to the east, and to the south and south-west. Castle Huntly, which was erected in the fifteenth century, is a noble specimen of an old baronial residence; its walls are ten feet thick, and the height of the round tower is 116 feet, from the top of which a beautiful view of the Fife coast, with the Ochills and other loftier mountains, can be obtained. The parish church is conveniently situated, and there is also a board school. Mylnefield is a small village in this parish.

TEALING is a parish about six miles long and three broad; it is bounded on the east and west by Auchterhouse and Murroes, the river Fithie separates it from Mains and Strathmartin on the south, and a line drawn nearly along the summit of the Sidlaw chain of hills would separate it from the parish of Glamis on the north. Grey slate, freestone, and moorstone are found in the parish.

BRECHIN,

WITH THE PARISH OF FARNELL.

BRECHIN is a market town and royal burgh, situated on the north bank of the South Esk, 27 miles N.N.E. from Dundee, 25 S.S.W. from Stonehaven, 70 N. from Edinburgh, 8 W. by N. from Montrose, about 12 N.E. from Forfar, and is a station on a branch line of the north-eastern section of the Caledonian Railway. The town consists of one main street, about a mile in length, with several smaller ones diverging. Some of the streets about the cross are very steep. The borough joins with Forfar, Montrose, Arbroath, and Inverbervie in returning one member to parliament. The present member is W. E. Baxter, Esq., of Kincauldram, Dundee. The town is governed by a Provost, two Bailies, a Dean of Guild, Treasurer Hospital Master, and seven Councillors, who are also police commissioners. A Sheriff Court is held on the third Tuesday of January, March, May, July, September, and November, the two last mentioned courts are for adjudicating small debt claims; a borough or bailie court is held on every alternate Wednesday, and oftener when necessary, the bailies are the judges. Flax spinning and the manufacture of linens is the staple trade of the district. There are two distilleries on a large scale and a paper mill, employing a large number of hands. A newspaper entitled the Brechin Advertiser was established here in 1848, and has a large circulation throughout the district; it is published on Tuesdays. The antiquity of Brechin as a royal burgh is of remote date; formerly the town was walled, but the gates have been long removed, and at the present time it bears the appearance of a well built thriving town, having been greatly improved during the last few years. Between the town and the river stands Brechin Castle, an ancient seat of the Maules of Panmure, now represented by the Right Hon. the Earl of Dalhousie; it is built on a precipitous rock overhanging the stream. It sustained a siege of twenty days, in 1303, from the English army under Edward I., but Sir Thomas Maule, its commander, being killed, it surrendered. The south front, towards the river, consists of some remains of the original structure, with some more recent erections, including a handsome square tower; the west front is formed with regularity, in the style of the seventeenth century, with round towers at the angles. In ancient times the Abbey of Culdees existed here; and in 1150, when Brechin was constituted an episcopal see by David I. it is supposed that the site of this establishment was that selected for the foundation of the cathedral. An interesting fragment remains of the hospital of Maison Dieu, founded by William Brechin, in 1264. The Cathedral of St. Ninian, which now forms the parish church, stands on the north verge of a precipitous ravine, which separates the burgh lands from those of Brechin Castle; the length is one hundred and sixteen feet, and the breadth sixty-one; the steeple is seventy feet in height, surmounted by a hexagonal spire of fifty feet. Contiguous to the cathedral stands the round tower, which is supposed to have been erected about the year 1010, and built of freestone, eighty-five feet in height to the cornice, and twenty-five feet more to the pinnacle of a modern spire. It has several windows, four in particular, at the top, facing the cardinal points. The entrance to the tower is by a door near the ground, on the outside, which was built up, but has lately been re-opened, and the whole edifice repaired by the Commissioners of Woods and Forests, when new wooden ladders were erected. Numerous figures in an antique style of carving, and a rude representation of the crucifixion, are the surrounding ornaments of the door. The diameter of the tower at the bottom is sixteen feet. Formerly there were two small bells in it, which were removed to the small steeple, where they now hang. There are several handsome churches belonging to the various denominations of Presbyterians, Free Church, and Scotch Episcopalians, and numerous educational establishments. The Mechanics' Institution, in Castle street, a very elegant building, was erected at the sole cost of the late Lord Panmure, who also presented to the institution numerous valuable paintings, and also granted £100 to be invested at interest, which amounts to about £40 per annum. The front of the building is in the tudor style of architecture, with castellated parapet, ornamented with pinnacles; a fine tower rises in the centre, from the summit of which a magnificent prospect is obtained. This town has given birth to several individuals of genius and literary distinction, among whom may be enumerated—Maitland, the laborious historian of Edinburgh and London; Dr. Gillies, the historian of Greece, and his brother, Lord Adam Gillies. The market is held on Tuesday, and the fairs (held on Trinity Muir) the third Wednesday or Thursday in August, and the Tuesday before the last Wednesday in September. The great sheep, cattle, and horse fair (on Trinity Muir) commences on the second Wednesday in June, and continues for three days—this is one of the largest in Scotland. "Croft" markets, for cattle, are held in the town, and horse markets also, towards the end of February and beginning of March.

FARNELL is a parish four miles south from Brechin, and about six south-west from Montrose. The parish, which is bounded on the south by Rossie Muir, on the north by Brechin, on the east by Maryton, and on the west by Kinnell and Brechin, is about three miles in length and two in breadth. Kinnaird Castle, the family seat of the Earl of South Esk, is considered one of the finest in this part of the country, being situated in a deer park of about 1,000 acres in extent. The castle has an imposing and princely appearance. It is of square form, with towers of various dimensions, and contains a splendid collection of oil paintings.

Post Office, Church st, Brechin. BROUGHTY FERRY,

NEWBIGGING, MONIFIETH, MURROES, AND WELLBANK.

BROUGHTY FERRY is a very extensive modern village, on the Frith of Tay, about four miles east from Dundee, 12½ from Arbroath, and 6½ from Carnoustie, on the Dundee and Arbroath branch of the Caledonian Railway. It was, some few years ago, constituted a burgh and is now under the government of the Magistrates and Police Commissioners. It takes its name from the old ruined castle of Broughty or Burgh-Tay, situated on a rocky eminence jutting into the water. This castle is now restored and made a formidable defence for the mouth of the Tay. Broughty is divided into two districts, East Ferry and West Ferry—the former is in the parish of Monifieth, the latter in that of Dundee, it is regularly built and has improved very considerably during the last few years, having become the place of residence of many of the principal bankers and merchants of Dundee, whose pleasant houses and cottages are thickly scattered on the hillside, and along Monifieth road. Here are branches of the Royal Bank of Scotland, the City of Glasgow Bank, and a Savings' Bank. Police Courts are held every Monday at half-past nine a.m. The village is lighted with gas. There are some excellent Salt Water Baths, a Library, Life Boat Institution, &c. Sixty or seventy years ago East Ferry comprised only a few fishermen's huts, built along the beach; but at the present time the population is considerable. There are no public works here, the inhabitants being chiefly engaged in fishing. A new pier and harbour has been constructed at a cost of about £3,800, projecting in the river about 200 feet due south, with a width of 30 feet. The slip is of a uniform breadth of twenty feet, running from the top of the pier down to low water, partly underneath the platform at a gentle declination—this arrangement will accommodate vessels at low water, and the landing and embarking passengers at any state of the tide. About half-a-mile to the north of Broughty Ferry is Fort-hill. In 1550 the works on this hill being surrendered to an allied army of Scots, Germans, and French, under M. Des Thermies, were dismantled, and at the present day they present merely shattered relics. There are in the village several very handsome places of worship, three large board schools, and several private one.

MONIFIETH is a parish extending inland about $\frac{4}{5}$ miles from south to north, it is bounded on the east by Barry, on the west by Murroes and Dundee, on the south by the Frith of Tay, and the north by Monikie. The village of Monifieth is situated about two miles east from Broughty Ferry, and a short distance from the sea; it contains some very fine villas, two machine shops, and a flour mill. It has a Parish and a Free church, and a fine board school. The village is of considerable size and is rapidly increasing.

NEWBIGGING is a small hamlet in the parish of Monikie; it contains a united Presbyterian church, a very neat building, and also a public school.

MURROES parish is three miles in length by two in breadth, lying on the road from Brechin to Dundee, being five miles distant from the latter place. It is bounded on the west by Mains and Tealing, on the east by Monifieth, on the south by Dundee and Mains, and on the north by Inverarity. There are several quarries in the parish.

CARNOUSTIE,

WITH BARRY, MONIKIE, MUIRDRUM, PANBRIDE, NEWTON OF PANBRIDE, AND EAST AND WEST HAVENS.

CARNOUSTIE is a village in the parish of Barry, situated on the coast of the German Ocean, six miles S. by W. from Arbroath, and about ten miles E. from Dundee. It is much resorted to in the summer months by visitors from all parts of Scotland, on account of its facilities for sea bathing. There are many handsome residences in and near the village, and on the link or downs there is a fine Golf Course and Club-house, opposite which, promenade concerts are held on Saturday evenings in the summer season. On the Brae, to the north of Dundee-street, there is a splendid Bowling Green, one of the largest in the county. The linen trade is carried on here by several firms; there are also many good shops and hotels. The places of worship are an Established Church, a Free Church, and Presbyterian Church. There is also a chapel for the original Secessionists and a building used by the Episcopalians.

BARRY is a parish extending about three miles from east to west, and four miles from north to south. The village is situated nine miles E. from Dundee, and about eight miles S.W. from Arbroath, on the road to Broughty Ferry. The southern part of the parish is used principally for grazing sheep and cattle, the northern part contains many large farms, which are all well cultivated. At Buddonness, on the southern extremity of the parish are two lighthouses to guide vessels on their entrance into the Tay, but from recent surveys by Captain Stanley, R.N., of the mouth of the Tay, and the great changes in the sand-banks at the entrance to the river, one, or both of these are likely to be removed, and a floating light placed at the most eastern point of Abertay bank, also a bell buoy on the other side.

MONIKIE is a parish nine miles north from Dundee, six north-west from Broughty Ferry, and about five from Carnoustie (its post town). It contains the Parish Church, Free Church, and a church at the village of Newbigging for the United Presbyterians. About half a mile east of the Parish Church stands a monument of stone, on the Hill of Cambustone, which was erected during the lifetime of the late Lord Panmure, by his tenantry as a testimonial for the many favours they had received at his hands. This monument stands at an elevation of 500 feet above the sea level, and is itself 105 feet high, it is in the form of a bold rustic column, rising from a broad handsome basement in which are several apartments, the summit is reached by spiral stone stairs, and from the circular parapet magnificent views are obtained, in clear weather, extending over portions of no less than seven counties. The approach to the memorial from the top of the Marshes, on the east, leading from Carnoustie, is by a beautiful avenue of silver firs about half a mile in length, and near the top of this avenue stands an ancient stone cross, about seven feet high, known as the Cross of Cambus, and according to tradition is said to be the tombstone of Cambus, the leader of the Danish invaders, who, after the battle of Barry in 1010 fled to this hill, where he was overtaken and slain; it is covered with rude carvings, and is regarded with a kind of reverent interest. On the west of the Panmure monument are the Monikie reservoirs, three in number, the largest one covers an area of over 70 acres, and will hold about 279 million gallons, the next in size will hold 175 million gallons, and the clear water basin 42 million gallons. Besides these a dam has been constructed across a deep gorge near Crombie Mills, and the waters of Crombie Burn thus collected form part of the Dundee water supply.

PANBRIDE is a parish about $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles inland from the German Ocean, containing the villages of Muirdrum and Newton of Panbride. In the northern part of the parish stands Panmure House, whose extensive enclosures and plantations cover an area of about 1,200 acres. The mansion is large, having a total frontage of 464 feet, and is at present in the occupation of O. G. Miller, Esq. The coast is flat and rocky, but has two open harbours at East and West Haven, where small vessels can discharge their cargoes in mild weather.

INVERARITY, KINNETTLES AND RESCOBIE, CLOCKSBRIGGS, KINGSTON-BY-FORFAR, LOANHEAD, KIRKTON, DOUGLASTOWN, AND NEIGHBOURHOOD.

FORFAR is a royal burgh and county town, 14 miles from Dundee, 13 from Brechin, 5 from Glamis, 15 from Arbroath, and 5½ from Kirriemuir on the Scottish North-Eastern and the Dundee and Forfar Direct Railways. The railway station is comparatively new, having been built to replace the old one, which was situate a little more central than the present one, but was small and inconvenient. New roads and streets have been formed in the vicinity of the new station and are being rapidly built on, and adds very much to the appearance of the town. The burgh is governed by a provost, three bailies, and eleven councillors. The Town House situate about the centre of Forfar is used by the Police Commissioners and for county meetings. It contains also the Subscription Reading Room, which is supplied with all leading papers, periodicals, &c., also a Public Library which contains about 3,400 volumes. Underneath one portion of it is a small market house and office for the Collector of Petty Customs. Police Courts are held in the Police Court Room, Chapel street, every Monday and at other times when necessary. Sheriff, Civil, and Criminal Courts, are held in the New Sheriff Court Buildings daily if required. A Sheriff Small Debt Court is held every Thursday during Session, as follows:—January 15th to March 15th; April 4th to July 31st, and October 1st to December 15th. Near the Town House are the New County Buildings in which are the Offices of the Town Clerk and the Town Chamberlain. The other Public Buildings comprise the New Sheriff Court House, the County Prison, the Poorhouse, the Infirmary, and the Reid Hall. The latter was erected by Mr. Peter Reid, a local tradesman of Forfar. It is a handsome stone building and very suitable for large meetings, balls, parties, concerts, theatricals &c. The burgh unites with Montrose, Brechin, Bervie, and Arbroath in sending one member to Parliament. The present member is W. E. Baxter, Esq., of Kincauldram. The chief trade of the town is the manufacture of linens, &c., there being about dozen power loom mills and factories engaged in this branch of manufacture. There are several bleach works, and tanning, brewing, and rope making is also carried on to some extent. There is a good iron foundry and several stone quarries are worked in the immediate neighbourhood. The banking establishments are the Commercial Bank of Scotland, Royal Bank of Scotland, National Bank of Scotland, Union Bank of Scotland, Bank of Scotland, British Linen Co.'s Bank, National Security Savings' Bank, and the Post-office Savings' Bank. There are several good hotels and posting establishments in the town. The parish church, High street, is a very fine edifice, with handsome tower and spire. There is another church of the Establishment in St. James' road, two Free Churches, an Episcopal, a Congregational, a United Presbyterian, and a Baptist Church. The latter, built of concrete, was opened on Sunday, the 10th September, 1876. It will comfortably seat 400. The cost, including site, will amount to about £1,700, a great portion of which was raised before the opening of the Church. There are also some very fine board schools and several private boarding and day schools. The public cemetery occupies about nine acres on the south side of the town, and is very handsomely laid out. On a mound at the top of the cemetery is a monument, erected by public subscription to the memory of Sir Robert Peel. On the west side of the town is a fine loch, nearly a mile in length by half a mile in breadth, abounding with pike, perch, and trout, and is much frequented by wild ducks, &c. The market is held on Saturday, and cattle markets are held every Wednesday during the winter season, from November to April, on the large open space in the east of High street. A fair is held on North Moor for horses and cattle on the second Wednesday in each month from April to November. A fortnightly cattle market has been recently established and is held in the immediate vicinity of the railway station.

INVERARITY is a parish four miles from Forfar, its post town, bounded by Forfar, Monikie, Murroes, Guthrie, Dunnichen, Kinnettles, Tealing and Glamis, situated on the Forfar and Dundee turnpike road. It contains an Established Church and a board school.

KINNETTLES is a parish about two miles in length and about the same in breadth, three miles east from Forfar, its post town, and two miles from Glamis, and contains a parish church and a fine board school. Kirkton and Douglstown are small villages in the parish.

RESCOBIE is a parish about three miles east from Forfar, its post town, situated between the hills of Turin and Dunnichen. It is bounded by Forfar, Aberlemno, Guthrie, Kirton, and Dunnichen. There are several stone quarries here. Auldbar Road Station is in this parish. There is a parish church, a board school, and an excellent library.

GLAMIS,

WITH THE JOINT PARISH OF EASSIE AND NEVAY.

GLAMIS, a parish comprising 14,483 acres, is bounded on the south by Tealing, Auchterhouse, and Newtyle, on the west by Eassie and Nevay, on the north by Airlie, and on the east by Forfar and Kinnettles. The village, a small one, is situated in the Vale of Strathmore, 5 miles west from Forfar, 5 south from Kirriemuir, 12 north-east from Coupar Angus, and 12 north from Dundee. The principal object of interest in this district is Glamis Castle, which stands in a park near the village. It was anciently a royal residence and the scene of the death of Malcolm II. in 1034, and afterwards became the property of Macbeth, after whose death it fell to the Crown. It is an edifice of princely and antique appearance consisting of irregular tall towers, some of which are of remoter date than others. Near the castle stands a remarkable curiosity, namely, a great number of dials, thus disposed—on a pedestal stand the figures of four lions rampant, life size, each holding a dial in their fore paws, facing the four cardinal points. From their heads rise a huge mass of stone, something like a pine-apple in shape, with the protuberances upon it formed into dials, making the number of these ancient timepieces eighty-four. The castle, with its historic associations, the pedestal, and Malcolm's gravestone—a huge stone of rude design, standing in the garden of the Manse—form the chief attraction to tourists. The castle is now the residence of the Right Hon. the Earl of Strathmore, and is open to visitors on Tuesdays. Charleston is a small village in the parish. Fairs are held on the first Wednesday in April, first Wednesday in May, first Wednesday after the 26th of May, first Saturday after the 28th of October, and first Wednesday after the 22nd of November.

EASSIE and NEVAY is a joint parish seven miles from Forfar, seven south-west from Kirriemuir, and about three miles west from Glamis. The Scottish North-Eastern Railway passes through the parish, joining the Dundee and Coupar Angus line about a mile north of Newtyle. The parish church, a neat building, was erected in 1833. Acreage, 5,061.

Post Office, Glamis, John Langlands, postmaster.—Letters from all parts arrive (from Forfar) at 8.45 a.m. and 3.30 p.m. and from Meigle at 1.20 p.m. Letters are despatched to all parts (to Forfar) at 11.45 a.m. and to Meigle at 2.20 p.m. Nearest Money Order Office at Forfar, five miles distant.

* * * Letters for Glamis and Charleston should be addressed near Forfar, and for Eassie and Nevay near Meigle, Perthshire.

INVERKEILOR,

LUNAN, ETHIEHAVEN, LEYSMILL, AND CHAPELTON.

INVERKEILOR is a parish presenting a front of five miles to the sea at Lunan Bay. It is of an oblong form, extending west about nine miles, and four and a-half at its greatest breadth. The Keilor rivulet runs through the parish to the sea; and the small fishing village of Ethiehaven is situated at the mouth of that river. Leysmill and Chapelton and Chance Inn are also villages in the parish. There are an Established church and a Free church, the latter erected in the year 1843. It likewise contains several schools. The ridge of the coast at this point is very rocky and precipitous being about 200 feet above sea level, and continues gradually rising in a southerly direction for four miles to Dickmountlaw Hill in the adjoining parish of St. Vigeans.

LUNAN is a small parish, bounded on the south by the river Lunan, on the north by Maryton and Craig, on the east by the German Ocean, and on the west by Kinnell, and is situated about four miles from Montrose and seven from Arbroath. The bay forms a segment of about five miles at each extremity, about a mile of which are bold, rugged, and perpendicular rocks, rising in pyramid shaped columns to 100 or 150 feet high, and is one of the finest bays in Scotland.

Post Office, Chance Inn, Inverkeilor, Thomas Thomson, postmaster.—Letters from all parts arrive (from Arbroath) at 8.40 a.m. and from Frickheim at 1.30 p.m. and from Lunan at 1.40 p.m. and are despatched to Arbroath at 1.50 p.m. and to Frickheim at 9 a.m. Money Order Office and Post Office Savings' Bank, and Postal and Telegraph Office.

 Letters for Chapelton, Ethiehaven, Leysmill, and Lunan should be addressed near Arbroath.

KIRRIEMUIR,

AIRLIE, BRIDGEND, CORTACHY AND CLOVA, DYKEHEAD, FOLDA, GLENISLA, GLENPROSEN, KINGOLDRUM, LINTRATHEN, PADONARUM, PITMUDIE, AND WOODEND.

KIRRIEMUIR is a market town and parish, 18 miles north from Dundee, 5½ for Forfar, and 5 north from Glamis, the parish is divided into two districts, separated by part of the parish of Kingoldrum, the northern part is called Glenprosen. The parish is about 20 miles in length. The Countess of Home is superior of the burgh. Mr. Duncan Wilkie is baron baillie, and there are twelve Commissioners of Police. The town consists of several very irregular streets, but its appearance has much improved of late years. There is a branch line of railway from the Scottish North-Eastern section of the Caledonian Railway. A neat and commodious station is conveniently situated at the west end of the town. The staple trade is the manufacture of linen goods. There has lately been erected two large power loom factories, which add greatly to the industry of the town. There are also many factories for handloom weaving. A great portion of the inhabitants are engaged in this business. There are two tanneries in the town and stone quarries in the immediate vicinity. A good trade is done in timber, slate, coal, manures, grain, &c. There is a police court held when necessary, and a sheriff's court is held on the third Monday in May, July, September, November, and January, for the recovery of small debts. The banking establishments are the British Linen Company, the City of Glasgow Bank, the National Bank of Scotland, and the Union Bank of Scotland. There are also several respectable hotels and a temperance hotel. A local paper the Kirriemuir Observer, edited by William B. Mills, is published once a month. The places of worship are an Established, two Free, two United Presbyterian, an Original Seceders', and an Episcopal Church. There is an academy, erected and endowed from a bequest made in 1829, by Mr. John Webster, writer and banker. There are also board schools and an Episcopal school. A little to the east of the town is the cemetery, situated on the side of an eminence, the grounds of which are beautifully laid out. The market day is Friday. Hiring market, Friday, if term day, or first Friday after. Fairs are held first Monday in January, February, March, April, and May, first Wednesday after Glamis, which is first Wednesday after 20th May, July 24th if Wednesday, if not, the Wednesday after; first Wednesday after the 18th of October, and first Wednesday after Glamis which is the first Wednesday after 22nd November. Glenprosen and Padonarum are in Kirriemuir parish, the former distant about six miles and the latter about three.

AIRLIE is a parish about six miles west from Kirriemuir, its post town, bounded by the parishes of Linttrathen, Kingoldrum, Kirriemuir, Glamis, Eassie, Meigle, Alyth, and Ruthven. In this parish are the ruins of Airlie Castle.

CORTACHY and CLOVA, a joint parish about six miles from Kirriemuir, is about nineteen miles in length, but very narrow, bounded by the parishes of Lochlee, Crathie, Tannadice, Lethnot, and Kirriemuir. Within the parish of Cortachy is Cortachy Castle, the seat of the Earl of Airlie. Dykehead is a small village in this parish.

GLENISLA is a parish situated about 14 miles from Kirriemuir on the borders of Perthshire, it contains an Established and a Free Church, a board school, and a general assembly school. Woodend and Folda are small villages in this parish.

KINGOLDRUM a parish and village, about four miles distance from Kirriemuir, is in length about six miles, and in breadth about three miles. It is bounded by the parishes of Kirriemuir, Cortachy, Airlie, and Linttrathen. It contains an Established Church and a board school.

LINTRATHEN is a parish about eight miles from Kirriemuir and is about twelve miles in length, bounded by Airlie, Glenisla, and Kingoldrum. Dundee derives a large portion of its water from Linttrathen. The celebrated rock of Linttrathen is near the parish church. Here is a good board school. Bridgend and Pitmudie are small villages in this parish.

Post, Money Order, and Telegraph Office, Kirriemuir, John Stiven, postmaster.—Letters from all parts arrive at 6.50 and 9.30 a.m. Letters are also despatched to Forfar, Dundee, Glasgow, and Edinburgh at 7.15 a.m. and to all parts at 12.30 noon and 5 p.m.

Letters for Airlie, Cortachy and Clova, Kingoldrum, and Linttrathen, should be addressed near Kirriemuir.

For lifting, and at the same time throwing off the weight from the Centres of the Beam, whilst loading and unloading the Scale, thereby causing the knife edges of the centres to retain their sharpness without any repairing considerably longer than any ordinary Scale.

These Scales are well adapted for the use of Butter Merchants, Corn Dealers or Millers, Leather Factors, Wholesale Grocers, Warehousemen, Silk Merchants, and others, where accuracy, combined with quick despatch of business is required.

The Advantages to be derived by the use of these Machines:—

1st.—The simplicity and ease in working enabling a boy to work them.

2nd.—The Prevention of Error in weighing, as is the case in many instances with the ordinary machine.

3rd.—Doing away with the lifting of the Goods on and off the Scale, as the Goods can be trucked on and off the Goods end as it rests on the floor.

4th.—The Beam being the best make, and the Centres got up very fine, enables the user to weigh with the greatest accuracy. And many other advantages over the ordinary Scale or Machine.

MONTROSE,

CRAIG, DUN, FERRYDEN, HILLSIDE, LOGIE-PERT, MARYTON, AND USAN.

MONTROSE is a market town, royal burgh, and seaport, 38 miles from Aberdeen, 30 from Dundee, 21 from Forfar, 13 from Arbroath, and 72 from Edinburgh. The burgh joins with Forfar, Brechin, Arbroath, and Inverbervie in returning one member to Parliament. The present member is W. E. Baxter, Esq. of Kincaidrum, Forfar. The municipal government is vested in the magistrates and Town Council, and Police and Improvement Commissioners, which comprise the Provost, three magistrates, Dean of Guild, hospital master, treasurer, and twelve councillors. The High street of Montrose is of great width and very clean, the houses being very lofty; not only are the main streets so strikingly clean, but the smaller ones are equally so. The principal manufactures of Montrose comprise flax spinning and the manufacture of linens, sheetings, sail cloth, &c., which are carried on extensively, and among the other branches of importance carried on here we may mention rope and sail making, iron-founding, iron and wood shipbuilding, tanning, fish curing, the manufacturing of starch, brick and tile making, brewing, &c. A most extensive trade is done in timber, slate, corn, coal, &c. The banking interest is represented by eight branch establishments, a Savings' Bank, and the Post Office Savings' Bank. There are several first-class hotels and many good inns, and two newspapers are published weekly—viz. The Review and The Standard. The magnificent suspension bridge which crosses the South Esk was erected at a cost of about £20,000; between the points of suspension it is 422 feet, and together with the approaches it extends 800 feet. The structure is a great ornament to the town. Two light-houses have been erected at a very great expense, and are a most valuable improvement, as they enable ships to enter the port in the darkest of nights. The quays in the harbour are very judiciously planned—built in the most substantial manner, and there is a wet dock and a patent slip. The port has a custom-house belonging to it. The number of vessels belonging to the port in 1871 was 94, with an aggregate tonnage of 16,616. The Customs' revenue for the port, for the years ending March, 1863, was £18,413; in 1864, £11,844; in 1865, £9,590; in 1868, £4,742 2s. 5d.; in 1871, £3,930 7s. 6d.; in 1876 (May) it was upwards of £5,000. The shipping trade includes flax, corn, timber, coal, cured fish, manures, salt, &c. The tonnage of vessels arriving between May 1875 and May 1876 was, foreign, 32,491; belonging to Montrose, 7,356; coasting belonging to Montrose, 28,775; coasting not belonging to Montrose, 20,668; total, 89,310. This place is celebrated as the birth-place of Joseph Hume, the distinguished statesman, who represented Montrose for a great number of years in the British Senate, and to whose memory a beautiful monument has been raised in High-street. About the centre of the High-street is the Town House, a neat, plain building of two storeys. The Post Office is nearly opposite. There are Assembly Rooms, Public Baths, &c. in the town. The public buildings and mortifications of Montrose are numerous; among these are the Royal Lunatic Asylum, the Infirmary and Dispensary, the Ancient Hospital Fund, under the guardianship of the town, the Rossie Reformatory, and Dorward's House of Refuge, all of which occupy capacious and ornamental structures. There are also several Mortifications, which afford assistance to the deserving and indigent poor of the town. There are a number of private boarding and day schools, Board and Free Church schools. The Montrose Academy, situated on the Links, is a handsome erection, surmounted by a neat dome; the establishment comprises a rector and five very able assistants. Mathematics, Greek, Latin, and modern languages, writing and arithmetic, English grammar, drawing, &c. are included in the course of teaching. Several libraries and reading rooms are supported, the principal being the one in a part of the Town House. An interesting museum is maintained in a very tasteful building in Fannure-place. The market is on Friday; the great hiring fairs are held on the Fridays after Whit Sunday and Martinmas (old style). The parish church is a very fine edifice occupying a central position in the town, it has two galleries, and is capable of holding 2,500 people; it has a fine tower surmounted by a spire, which can be seen at a great distance. The other places of worship include the Established, Free, Congregational, English Episcopal, Scotch Episcopal, Evangelical Union, United Presbyterian, and Wesleyan Churches.

CRAIG parish, immediately opposite Montrose, is about two miles broad and six long, bounded on the east and south by the German Ocean, on the north by Montrose, and occupies the peninsular corner of land between Montrose basin and the sea. The islet called Ineh Brayock, or Rossie Island, belongs to the parish, also the two small villages of Usan and Ferryden.

DUN is a parish and small village about four miles from Montrose, bounded by Stracathro, Logie Pert, Maryton, Farnell, Brechin, and Montrose, on the north bank of the South Esk. In the parish is a small lake.

MARYTON is a parish about four miles from Montrose on the west side of Montrose basin and the south side of the South Esk, bounded on the west by Farnell, on the south by the sea and Lunan, on the north by Montrose, and on the south-east by the parish of Craig. The parish derives considerable advantage from its proximity to Montrose.

LOGIE-PERT is situated about five and a-half miles south-east from Montrose, bounded by the North Esk river, and the parishes of Dun, Montrose, and Stracathro. The parish church is situated on the banks of the North Esk, and there is a board school. At Dubton is the junction station for Montrose, on the Caledonian railway. Hillside, a nice little village, is partly in this parish. There is a flax-spinning mill and a bleach works.

Post Office, 176, High-street, Montrose, David Sinclair, postmaster.—Arrivals (Sundays excepted). ABERDOUR.

ABERDOUR is a parish nearly square in form, being about 3½ miles each way, and is pleasantly situated on the north bank of the Firth of Forth, in the county of Fife, 8 miles from Kirkcaldy, 10 N.W. from Edinburgh (across the Firth), and 3 from Burntisland, which is the nearest railway station. It is an excellent bathing place, and is much resorted to in the summer months by the citizens of Edinburgh on account of the ready access obtained by steam vessels and other means from the opposite shore. The small island of Inchcolm belongs to the parish of Aberdour. In the village are an Established Church, a Free Church, and one for Episcopalians. There are schools attached to the two former.

Post Office, Aberdour, John Goodsir, postmaster.—Letters arrive from all parts (from Edinburgh) at 10-0 a.m. and 7-0 p.m., and are despatched thereto at 5-30 a.m. and 1-0 p.m. Money Order and Telegraph Office and Savings' Bank.

ANSTRUTHER (East & West),

CELLARDYKE, AND THE PARISH OF KILRENNY.

ANSTRUTHER EASTER is a royal burgh, bounded on the east by Cellardyke, on the west by Anstruther Wester, on the north by Kilrenny, and on the south by the Firth of Forth, and is situated about 10 miles south from St. Andrews, and 22 east from Kirkcaldy. The town is governed by a provost and two bailies, a treasurer, and five councillors, elected under the Scottish Borough Reform Acts. This burgh is united with St. Andrews, Cupar, Craill, Kilrenny, Anstruther Wester, and Pittenweem in returning one member to parliament. A sheriff's small debt court is held here quarterly for the parishes of Anstruther Easter and Wester, Craill, Pittenweem, Kilconquhar, Elie, Kilrenny, Newburn, and St. Monance; and a weekly corn market is held every Friday. The principal trade of the town is fish curing which is carried on extensively; and a considerable business is done in the export of grain, potatoes, &c. The Anstruther and Leith Steam Packet Company run a steamer every alternate day between here and Leith, calling at Craill, Pittenweem, Elie, Largo, and Kirkcaldy; and a number of coasters belong to the port. The East of Fife line of railway has its terminus here. Anstruther is one of the principal fishing stations in Scotland; in 1825 there were only 58 boats, from 18 to 20 feet long, the number now is 212, of which 172 are from 36 to 45 feet long over all, and from 11 to 18 tons register; 40 are from 15 to 24 feet long, and from 2 to 6 tons register. The harbour being found too small for the increasing trade of the district, the three burghs of East and West Anstruther and Cellardyke united their efforts, and obtained government assistance for an union harbour, which, with the former harbour, gives a space of 13½ acres and accommodation for 500 fishing boats, and will admit vessels from 200 to 500 tons burthen at half flood. There are three banking establishments here. Dr. Chalmers, the celebrated orator and divine, and Professor Tennant, author of "Anster Fair," and also Professor Goodsir, of the Edinburgh University, were natives of this town.

ANSTRUTHER WESTER, which adjoins Anstruther Easter, is also a parish and royal burgh, and holds its charter of incorporation from James VI.; a bridge connects the two burghs. It is bounded on the east by Anstruther Easter, on the west by Pittenweem, on the north by Carnbee, and on the south by the Firth of Forth. It is governed by a chief magistrate, one bailie, a treasurer, and six councillors. The inhabitants are principally employed in agricultural pursuits. Great improvements have been effected in this town within the last half century, the main street having been widened from 13 to 30 feet, and the formation of a neat footway or pavement, at an expense of £450, contributed equally by the burgh and the county; the streets are well lighted, common sewers and other conveniences constructed, whereby the thoroughfares are kept in a clean and orderly state.

KILRENNY is a parish and royal burgh, the former is situated one mile from Anstruther and three from Craill. The coast here is one continued range of rocks, with two small creeks, which form the harbour of Anstruther and the port of Cellardyke, or Nether Kilrenny. Here is an Established church and a public school. This burgh is governed by a provost, two bailies, a treasurer, and five councillors; and, in conjunction with the Anstruthers and other places before named, returns one member to parliament.

CELLARDYKE, or NETHER KILRENNY, is an extensive fishing village in the above parish, and forms part of the burgh of Kilrenny. It takes its name from the circumstance of containing cellars or store houses for fish. The greater number of the inhabitants are fishermen, and about 170 boats belong to the place. Fish curing, cod liver oil, and water-proof oil clothing, and fishing material manufacturing are extensively carried on here.

Post Office, 66, James-street, Cellardyke, Thomas Brown, postmaster.—Letters from all parts arrive (from Anstruther) at 10-30 a.m., and are despatched thereto at 3-10 and 9-45 p.m. Money Order Office, Telegraph, and Savings' Bank.

AUCHTERMUCHTY is a parish and a royal burgh, about 3 miles from Falkland, 2 from Strathmiglo, 5 from Ladybank, 5 from Newburgh, 9 from Kinross, 19 from St. Andrews, 14 from Perth, 15 from Kirkcaldy, and 10 from Cupar-Fife, situated on the main road from Kinross to Cupar-Fife; and is a station of the Fife and Kinross branch of the North British Railway, which branch terminates at Lady bank, where it joins the main line for Edinburgh, Dundee, Perth, &c. The burgh is governed by a provost, three bailies, and nine councillors. A sheriff's small debt court is held about every three months. There are several good streets lighted with gas, by a gas company, whose works are in the town. The Town Hall and the Victoria Hall comprise the public buildings. The banking interest is represented by the Bank of Scotland, Union Bank of Scotland, a Savings' Bank, and the Post Office Savings' Bank. The Commercial and the Royal are the principal hotels. The manufacture of linen is the staple trade, four firms being engaged in it to a considerable extent. Malting is extensively carried on. The scale beam works of John White and Son employ a number of hands. Distilling and brewing is carried on to some extent. There are also three saw mills. The town is nearly equally divided by a stream called the Burn or Loverspool, over which there are a number of small bridges. The places of worship comprise the Parish Church, situated near the centre of the town, a Free Church, two United Presbyterian Churches, and one for Baptists. There are two fine board schools, a school conducted on the Madras principle, and an establishment for the education of young ladies. Fairs are held on the first Monday in February, last Monday in April, July 2nd, first Monday in October and December.

DUNSHALT is a small village in the parish of Auchtermuchty, one mile therefrom, and two from Falkland. Here are gas works. Linen and farina manufacturing and brick making is carried on here. There is an Evangelical Union Church and a Hall belonging to the Dunshalt Mutual Improvement Society.

Is a parish and a royal burgh, situated on the shore of the Firth of Forth, 2½ miles W. of Kinghorn, 3 E. from Aberdour, and 8 from Edinburgh, and is the terminus of the Edinburgh, Perth, and Dundee Section of the North British Railway. The burgh is managed by twelve councillors, including a provost, two bailies, a dean of guild, and a treasurer; and in connection with Dysart, Kirkcaldy, and Kinghorn, returns one member to parliament. The town consists of one long main street, from which several smaller ones diverge, being all well paved and gas lighted. The shipping of coal and iron, herring curing, and coopering are the principal branches of trade. The parish of Burntisland was anciently called Kinghorne Wester, and was originally a burgh of regality under the Abbot of Dunfermline; it was purchased from him by James V. in 1541, and erected into a royal burgh, was confirmed by James VI. in 1587, and renewed by Charles I. in 1632. Rosend Castle, which is the only building of antiquity worthy of notice in the burgh, was often the resting place of Queen Mary on her journeys to Falkland. From the excellent position of Burntisland as a seaport town, being secure from almost every wind that blows, its excellent bathing ground, and its contiguity to Edinburgh, it has now become a fashionable summer residence. The links at the east end of the town are much resorted to for golfing and promenading. The harbour, which is allowed to be the best in the Firth, is very capacious, the water being of great depth; it has an excellent dry dock, and a lighthouse stands on the entrance to the haven. The basin is said to have been formed by Cromwell, whose dyke or wall, from the foot of Rosend Castle to the island, is still extant. The pier, with the right of ferry, is the property of the railway company, who have a number of steamers stationed here. A substantial middle pier runs out into the harbour, by which vessels of large tonnage are accommodated. The breakwater, extending seaward over 500 feet, and the quay wall on the east side, extending about 350 feet, and running parallel with the breakwater, forms loading berths for large vessels, there being 24 feet of water at high spring tides, and 9 feet at the lowest ebb, spring tides. The town possesses a large and elegant hall, which was built at the expense of the late Joseph Young, Esq.,

of Duncan, for concerts, lectures, and other public meetings, and was presented by his executors as a free gift to the town. The places of worship are the parish church, which was built about the end of the sixteenth century, but was not established the parish church till 1632; it is a commodious and venerable edifice, overlooking the sea; an United Presbyterian church, and a Free church, and one for the Episcopalians. There is a Board School and an Episcopal school.

Post Office, 94 High-street, Thomas Hutchison, postmaster.—Letters from Edinburgh and the South arrive at 7-30 and 10-40 a.m. and 5-20 p.m., and are despatched thereto at 7-50 a.m., 2-15, 5-20, and 8-20 p.m. From Perth and the North arrive 8-30 a.m. and 6-20 p.m., despatched at 6-25 a.m. and 4-20 p.m. Money Order Office, Savings' Bank, and Telegraph Office.

CRAIL & KINGSBARNES.

CRAIL is a parish and seaport, 4 miles from Anstruther, 10 S.E. from St. Andrews, and 26 E. from Kirkcaldy. It is situated on the extreme east of the county, being bounded on the east by the sea, on the north by the sea and Kingsbarns, on the west by Kingsbarns and Denino, and on the south by Carnbee, Kilrenny, and the sea. Crail received a charter from Robert Bruce in 1306, which was confirmed by five sovereigns. The town chiefly consists of two streets, the ends of which were in days of yore closed with strong gates. Vestiges of a chapel, which was dedicated to St. Rufus, remain. On the top of a cliff are traces of a castle, where David I. at times resided. Ada, mother of Malcolm the IV., gave certain houses in Crail to the monks of Dryburgh. An ancient church in the town is a good specimen of pointed architecture. In the neighbourhood are a few mansions and a castle worth visiting. A cave is shown as the place where Constantine II. was beheaded by the Danes in 872; and not far from the town are the scenes of fierce fights between the Scots and Danes. Two miles east of Crail is Fifeness, the most eastern point of land in Fifeshire. The Carr Rocks, a dangerous ridge, extends into the sea, and beyond there is St. Andrews Bay. The places of worship are an Established, Free, and United Presbyterian Churches. There are also two public schools.

KINGSBARNES is a parish about 3 miles from Crail and 7 from St. Andrews, about 3½ miles in length and 2½ in breadth, and situated at the extreme east of the county. It is bounded on the south by the parish of Crail, on the west by Crail, St. Leonards, and St. Andrews, and on the north and east by the German Ocean. There is no trade of any importance carried on here. There is an Established Church and a public school.

CUPAR-FIFE,

CREICH, DAIRSIE, KILMANY, LOGIE, MONIMAIL, AND MOONZIE.

CUPAR-FIFE is a royal burgh, and the capital of the county of Fife, pleasantly situated on the left bank of the river Eden, is a station on the line of the Edinburgh, Perth and Dundee branch of the North British Railway, 9 miles north-east from Falkland, 32 miles north from Edinburgh, and 12½ miles south from Dundee. Being the county town and head burgh of the shire, the public business relating to both is transacted here. The ordinary sheriff court, and the commissary courts, are held every Tuesday during the session, and the sheriff small debts court on the first and third Thursday of each month during the same period. The principal trade of Cupar is the manufacture of linen, and there are many other branches, all of which are in a flourishing condition. The Duncan Institute, situated in Crossgate is a very fine building, it consists of library, museum, reading-room, and lecture hall, and was founded by the late Miss Duncan for the benefit of the working classes. The Baxter Institute for the education of young ladies, is situated in Westport. The old prison, which stands on the north side of the river is used as stores and dépôt for the Fife Militia Artillery. The present gaol stands on rising ground north of Dundee road. The county buildings, newsroom and library, and two first-class hotels, are situated in St. Catherine street. There are six branch banks—one of the British Linen Company, the Commercial Bank of Scotland, the Clydesdale Banking Company, the Royal Bank of Scotland, the City of Glasgow Bank, and the National Bank, together with a Bank for Savings. Five newspapers are published in Cupar weekly, namely—the Fife Herald, Thursday; the Fife News, Saturday; the Fife-shire Journal, Thursday; the People's Journal, Saturday; and the St. Andrew's Citizen, Saturday. The places of worship are, the parish church and a chapel in connection therewith, and others for the Free Church, United Presbyterians, Episcopalians, Baptists, and Roman Catholics. On Wednesday, July 19th, 1876, the foundation stone of a new Free Church (to take the place of the one above) was laid by Lady Baxter of Kilmarnock, it is situated on an elevated site north-east of the Bonnygate. The weekly market for corn is held on Tuesday, and a cattle market on the first Tuesday in every month.

CREICH is a parish about three miles long and two broad, bounded on the north by Balmerino and Kilmarnock, on the west by Abdie and Dumbog, on the south by Moonzie and Monimail, and on the north by Flisk, and situated about five miles west of Cupar. There is a handsome parish church, and a Board school.

The church, which is in the Saxon style of architecture, was erected in the seventeenth century. There is also a Roman Catholic chapel in the parish.

It is situated five miles from Cupar, and is bounded on the east by Forgan, on the west by Moonzie and Creich, on the south by Logie and Cupar, and on the north by Balmerino. The parish is in a high state of cultivation, and is well drained and watered. There is a parish church and school, also a United Presbyterian Church at Rathillet.

LOGIE is a small parish, four miles in length, and about a mile and a-half in breadth, bounded on the east by Leuchars, on the west by Kilmany, on the south by Dairsie, and on the north by Forgan, and is situated six miles north from Cupar. There is a parish church and school.

MONIMAIL is a parish containing the villages of Bow of Fife, Easter Fernie, and Letham, it is six miles in length and four in breadth, bounded on the south by Cults and Collessie, on the north by Dunbog, Creich and Moonzie, on the west by Abdie, and on the east by Cupar, from which place it is situate about five miles. On the summit of Mount Hill, in the northern part of the parish, there is a monumental pillar to the late Earl of Hopetoun, 92 feet in height and surmounted by a square capitol of 15 feet, it is hollow and has a spiral staircase to ascend to the top, from whence a fine view can be obtained of the Firths of Forth and Tay. The parish church is at Monimail, it is a handsome building and contains near 600 sittings. There is also a Free Church at Bow of Fife, and a board school in the parish.

MOONZIE is the smallest parish in the county, being only two miles long by one and a-half broad. It is situated about three miles west from Cupar and is bounded on the south by Monimail, on the north by Kilmany, on the west by Creich, and on the east by Cupar. There is a parish church and school.

DUNFERMLINE,

CROSSFORD, HALBEATH, TOWNHILL, WELLWOOD, SPITTAL, AND MILES MARK.

DUNFERMLINE is a city, a royal burgh, and parish, containing a population, according to the census of 1871, of 23,123. It is the chief town in the western part of the county of Fife, 16 miles N.W. from Edinburgh, 81 S.S.W. from Cupar, 21 from Stirling, and 47 N.E. from Glasgow, situate 3 miles north from the Frith of Forth, and 300 feet above the level at Limekilns, which is the nearest part of the coast. Thus elevated, it commands a prospect remarkably various and beautiful, extending over fourteen different counties, and its salubrious situation renders it one of the healthiest cities in Scotland. The government of the burgh is vested in a provost, four bailies, a dean of guild, treasurer, chamberlain, and town clerk, and joins with Stirling, Inverkeithing, Culross, and Queens Ferry in sending one member to parliament. Within the last thirty years the improvements have been considerable, not only by the extension of the cross streets but by the addition of a large suburb to the east and west. At the east end of the town there is a fine public park, extending to between 30 and 40 acres. The staple trade is the manufacture of table linen, for which it is noted. There are also other branches of trade, among which may be mentioned the manufacture of fire clay goods, iron and brass founding, brewing, dyeing, and the manufacture of tobacco. The coal trade is extensively carried on. There are five branch banks, and several good hotels, the principal being Milne's, situated in the centre of the town. The public buildings consist of the following:—The County Buildings or Guild Hall, in High-st., which contains the Post Office, Savings' Bank, and Public Library; the Music Hall, which is used as a Corn Exchange every Tuesday; the Prison, the Workhouse and Fever Hospital are at the eastern extremity of the town. The new offices of the British Linen Co.'s Bank, in High-street, were opened on the 18th of September, 1876, and is one of the handsomest buildings in the town. It is in the Tuscan style of architecture, and built with Polmaise stone, after the designs of David Cousins, Esq., city architect, Edinburgh. The cost of the erection was about £8,000. The following are now (1877) in course of erection:—The New Corporation Buildings, Bridge-st; Carnegie Public Baths, Schoolend-st; and the Public Hall, St. Margaret-st. But the most elegant building of modern erection is the Abbey Church, which is of Gothic architecture, and surmounted by a tower of 100 feet. While excavating the foundation for this place the tomb of the celebrated monarch King Robert the Bruce was discovered, 490 years after death. Adjoining the new is part of the old abbey. There has been erected in the southern transept of the abbey a very chaste and exceedingly beautiful memorial in honour of the late Lady Augusta Stanley, wife of Dean Stanley. The Dean entrusted the execution of the work to Miss Grant, of London, who has to the very full given ample justice to her subject—the execution of the work giving every and positive indication of Miss Grant's high powers as a sculptor. The cenotaph—which is executed in very fine relievo style, and measures 3 feet in breadth, and stands fully 6 feet high—is of statuary marble. In the upper portion there is embodied a very striking likeness of the deceased, underneath which are six angels. Again, underneath, is the following inscription, composed by the Dean himself:—

To the Dear Memory of Augusta Elizabeth Frederica Bruce,
 Fifth Daughter of Thomas, Seventh Earl of Elgin and Kincardine. The beloved wife of Arthur Penrhyn Stanley, Dean of Westminster.
 Born at Broomhall, April 3, 1822.
 Died March 1st, 1876.
 Buried in Westminster Abbey, the scene of her latest and dearest affections.
 She retained through all changes her deep attachment
 To the home of her childhood and the resting-place of her race.
 The above words are inscribed on the left side of a crest of the Stanley and Bruce arms. Towards the right are the words:—
 "I love Dunfermline; I love my own, my own Broomhall.
 Let the people of Limekilns and Charleston never forget me."
 She stretched forth her hands to the needy,
 And in her tongue is the law of kindness.
 The heart of her husband doth safely trust in her,
 And her own works praise her.
 "We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren."
 The parish church has been collegiate and under the care of two ministers since 1645. There are also places of worship for the various other denominations.
 The educational establishments comprise the Dunfermline Grammar School, the Dunfermline Commercial Academy, and several private academies.
 There are two Public Libraries, a Subscription News Room, Mechanics and Scientific Institution, and various other associations, a list of which will be found in the Directory. The market is held on Tuesday for grain, and the cattle market every third Tuesday in the month. The North British Railway have a station here.

Crossford, Halbeath, Townhill, Wellwood, Spittal, and Miles Mark are small villages in the parish from one to three miles distant from Dunfermline.

DYSART

Is a parish and parliamentary burgh in the county of Fife, situated two miles from Kirkcaldy, on a gentle declivity towards the Frith of Forth. It is a station on the Edinburgh, Perth, and Dundee section of the North British Railway, and is bounded on the east by Wemyss, on the west by Kirkcaldy, Abbotshall, Auchterderran, and Kinglassie, on the north by Markinch, and on the south by the Frith of Forth. The town consists of four streets, running nearly east and west, and intersected by three running south-east. Loughborough road, situate between Sinclair-town and Dysart, adds much to the improvement of the town, being studded with numerous villa residences. The castle of Ravenscraig, which stands in a steep crag fronting the sea, is the most remarkable object of antiquity in the town, being spoken of by Sir Walter Scott in his "Lay of the Last Minstrel." The principal trade of the town is the weaving of ticks, checks, and other linen fabrics, also tweeds, druggets, and winceys, there being several power-loom factories for the manufacture of these goods; there are also two flax spinning mills, the colliery of Lord Rosslyn, and a steam forge. Coal is the principal export. The number of vessels inwards from foreign ports for the year ending March 1876 was 393, outwards, foreign parts, 619; coasting trade, same period, inwards 440, and outwards 211. Dysart is governed by a provost, two bailies, and six councillors, and joins with Kirkcaldy, Kinghorn, and Burntisland in returning one member to parliament. The present member is Sir George Campbell, Bart. There are three places of worship, the Established, Free, and United Presbyterian Churches; also two board schools. At present there is no market in the township. The Earl of Rosslyn has a seat in the neighbourhood.

Post Office, High-street, Dysart, William Buist, postmaster.—Letters arrive at 8.5 a.m., 11.15 a.m., and 5.45 p.m., and are despatched at 7.30 a.m. and 1.5 p.m. Money Order Office, Postal Telegraph, and Savings' Bank.

INVERKEITHING,

DALGETTY, NORTH QUEENSFERRY, ST. DAVID'S, FORDELL, HILLEND, JAMESTOWN, ROSYTH, AND CROSSGATES.

INVERKEITHING is a royal burgh, a sea-port, and the capital of its parish; most agreeably situated on an acclivity springing from the margin of the bay of the Firth of Forth, in the county of Fife, and about 2 miles from North Queensferry, 14 N.W. from Edinburgh, 13 S.W. from Kirkcaldy, 4 from Dunfermline, and 31 S. from Perth. There is now in course of construction a line of railway, which it is expected will add greatly to the prosperity of the town. The burgh, in conjunction with Dunfermline, Stirling, Culross, and South Queensferry sends one member to parliament. The town consists chiefly of two streets, well paved and gas lighted, and containing some excellent and well furnished shops; there are also in the neighbourhood a large ironfoundry, fire brick and tile works; and rope making and ship building are carried on extensively. There are many remains of antiquity, among which may be mentioned Rosyth Castle, which bears date 1561. This castle is alluded to in Sir Walter Scott's novel of the "Abbot" as being the birthplace of Oliver Cromwell's wife. The harbour is capacious, and the bay is noted as a place of security in all winds. The places of worship are a church of the Establishment, and one for United Presbyterians. There is also a board school, and societies for the Propagation of Christianity. A fair is held on the first Friday in August. Hillend, James Town, and Rosyth are hamlets in the parish of Inverkeithing.

NORTH QUEENSFERRY is a parish annexed to Dunfermline. The port and point of land opposite to Queensferry (or South Queensferry), in Linlithgowshire, is well known to travellers, as a steamer passes to and from several times daily. There are large whinstone quarries, employing a number of men.

DALGETTY is a parish bounded on the east by Aberdour, on the west by Inverkeithing, on the south by the river Forth, and on the north by Dunfermline; in length it is 5 miles, and in breadth $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles. St. Davids is a small port in this parish, about $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles east from Inverkeithing. The advantage that this place affords for the shipment of coal, which is brought from the colliery at Fordell by a railway line five miles in length, is very great. Upwards of 500 tons of coal can be shipped daily. The pier, which is capable of receiving vessels of 500 tons to receive their cargoes, is the property of G. W. M. Henderson, Esq.

CROSSGATES is a village partly in the parish of Dunfermline and partly in that of Dalgetty, about a quarter of a mile from the station on the North British Railway. The manufacturing of fire clay and terra cotta goods is extensively carried on here by Ord Adams, Esq., and affords employment to a number of the inhabitants of this district. The places of worship are an Established Church and one for Presbyterians. There is also a board school.

FORDELL is a village in Dalgetty parish, and about a mile S.E. of Crossgates. It is chiefly inhabited by miners, who are employed on the estate of G. W. M. Henderson, Esq.

KETTLE is a parish and village in the county of Fife, seven miles from Cupar, five from Anchtarmuchty, one mile from Ladybank, its post town, and is a station on the North British Railway. The village is well supplied with gas, the works of the company being half-a-mile distant, which also supplies Ladybank. The principal branches of trade carried on here are the manufacture of linen and reed and camb making. KILCONQUHAR, BARNYARDS, EARLSFERRY, COLINSBURGH, AND ELIE.

KILCONQUHAR is a parish situated on the shore of the Firth of Forth, in the county of Fife, and is a station on the Leven and East of Fife Railway. It is bounded on the West by Newburn and Largo, on the north by Ceres and Cameron, on the east by Carnbee and on the south by Elie and the Firth of Forth. Balcarras, the residence of Sir Coutts Lindsay, Bart., is a beautiful mansion, the gardens of which are said to be the finest in Fife-shire. There are other elegant seats in the district. Kilconquhar loch, near the village, is worthy of notice, it is nearly one mile in length and the same in breadth. The Established Church is a substantial building situate in the centre of the village. There is also a good board school. Fairs are held here on the 14th of May and the 8th of November. This parish contains four villages, namely, Kilconquhar, Barnyards, Colinsburgh, and Earlsferry.

EARLSFERRY is a royal burgh about five miles from Largo, three from Colinsburgh, and two from Kilconquhar, and is governed by a chief magistrate, one baillie, a treasurer, and seven councillors. In 1872 a handsome town hall was erected in the burgh. The village is much resorted to in the summer months on account of its excellent sea bathing. The principal business carried on here is hand loom weaving.

COLINSBURGH is a village one mile and a quarter from Kilconquhar, and two and a-half from Elie. There is a branch of the Commercial Bank of Scotland, a good hotel, and several well-stocked shops. The places of worship are the Parish Church and one for United Presbyterians at Kilconquhar. There is also a board school.

ELIE is a small parish, containing the village of its own name. Its length is about two miles, and breadth one mile. It is 5 miles from Largo, 4 from Pittenweem, 2½ from Colinsburgh, and 1¼ from Kilconquhar. A little to the north of the village is Elie House, the residence of William Baird, Esq. The Leven and East of Fife line of railway have a station here. The General Police Act for Scotland is adopted here, to which is annexed Liberty and Williamsburgh. It is governed by a chief magistrate, two baillies, and three commissioners. The harbour is good, having a good depth of water. The beach is sandy and well suited for bathers. There are a good many substantial residences fronting the sea. At the west of the village is newly erected a Golf Club House, one of the best of its kind in the county. The places of worship are the Parish Church, a Free Church, and an Independent chapel. A handsome public school and teachers house attached, also an infants school. The subscription library in the village contains upwards of 3,000 volumes and is open daily. The trade of the place is principally confined to the export of grain and potatoes as also fishing. There is a branch of the National Bank of Scotland here, and also a Savings's Bank.

KINGHORN

Is a town and parish situated in the county of Fife, on the side of a hill sloping to the Frith of Forth, and on the Edinburgh, Perth, and Dundee branch of the north British Railway, 2½ miles from Burntisland and 3 from Kirkcaldy. The only trade of any importance carried on here are flax spinning, glue manufacturing, and iron ship building. The town consists of one main street, from which several smaller ones diverge. It is governed by a provost, two bailies, a dean of guild, a treasurer, and six councillors. An elegant edifice answers the purpose of town house and gaol. The courts formerly held here are now transferred to Kirkcaldy. The burgh, in conjunction with those of Dysart, Kirkcaldy, and Burntisland, returns one member to parliament. The harbour has fallen to decay, and the nearest now is about half a mile distant, at Petty-Cur, which for many years was the ferry-place for Edinburgh, now transferred to Burntisland. The island of Inchkeith, distant about three miles from Petty-Cur, has the appearance of a barren rock; on visiting it, however, both arable and pasture land are discovered. It also contains a small harbour and light-house, for the security of vessels sailing up the Frith. The places of worship are a church of the Establishment, a Free Church, and an United Presbyterian Chapel; and there is also a public school.

Post Office, High-street, Thomas Henderson, post-master.—Letters from all parts arrive (from Edinburgh) at 8 a.m., 11 a.m., and 5.30 p.m., and are despatched thereto at 8 a.m. and 5.30 p.m. Letters from Kirkcaldy arrive at 8.30 a.m. and 6 p.m., and are despatched thereto at 7.20 a.m. and 5 p.m. Money Order Office, Telegraph, and Savings' Bank.

KIRKCALDY,

AUCHTERTOOL, PATH-HEAD, SINCLAIRTOWN, AND GALLATOWN.

KIRKCALDY is a royal burgh, seaport, and market town, situated on the south coast of Fife and on the north shore of the Firth of Forth, 33 miles S.W. from Dundee and 14 N. from Edinburgh, and is a station on the North British Railway. The civic government of the town is confided to a provost, two bailies, a dean of guild, and a treasurer; the council consists of twenty-one members, but, owing to the passing of a Bill introduced this session for the purpose of extending the boundaries so as to include the burgh barony of Abbotshall and the districts of Pathhead, Sinclairtown, and Gallatown, the future council will consist of twenty-seven members—nine from each of these wards—and the number of magistrates will be increased to one provost, four bailies, one treasurer, and one dean of guild. The population of the extended burgh will be about 25,000. The burgh is conjoined with Kinghorn, Dysart, and Burntisland in sending one member to parliament; the present member is Sir George Campbell. The chief magistrate is provost and admiral of the port, and is assisted by assessors of admiralty. There is also a board of harbour commissioners, of which the provost is chairman. The paving, cleaning, and lighting is under the management of the town council. The town comprises numerous well-built streets and detached dwellings, and when viewed from the heights presents a very picturesque appearance, embracing the town and landscape beneath and around. When viewed from the sea it bears an equally picturesque appearance, being surrounded by finely enclosed fields and the beautiful grounds and conspicuous tower of Raith, and the grounds surrounding the elegant mansion of Dunniker. The principal trade of the town and neighbourhood consists of flax spinning and the manufacture of ticks, checks, sail cloth, &c., which is extensively carried on by both power and hand looms. The other principal branches of industry comprise bleaching and dye works, the manufacture of earthenware, floor cloths, machine making, ironfounding, rope and twine manufacture, &c. There are numerous well-stocked shops, which will compare favourably with towns of much greater magnitude; and there are four good hotels. The streets are well paved and lighted with gas. The Bank of Scotland, the British Linen Company, the City of Glasgow, the Commercial Bank of Scotland, the National Bank of Scotland, and the Union Bank of Scotland have each branches here. The town is well supplied with water. The gathering ground of the water works is situated on the south slope of the Lomond Hills, about 2,200 acres in extent, principally of hill pasture, and at an average elevation of 1,000 feet above the level of the sea. The water is stored in two large reservoirs, covering an area of 140 acres, and varying in depth from one to 26 feet. The quantity of water stored in these reservoirs when full is 220 millions gallons. Ballo reservoir—the largest of the two—is capable of holding 31½ millions cubic feet of water, and as the most of the area of this reservoir is of a peaty nature the water is mostly used for compensation purposes, the maximum quantity of which must be 750 gallons per minute. Where the stream (from which most of the water is taken) begins to enter into the mossy bed, the clean water is separated from the dirty by means of a self-acting apparatus, and carried for about 1½ miles in a pipe into the other reservoir—Drumain. From this the water is led into the filter-beds, and after passing through these, carried by means of cast iron pipes to the distributing reservoir, which is about four miles from the extreme end of the water district. This reservoir holds 1½ millions of gallons, or 2 days supply with the present consumption, but only 1½ days supply should the town increase so much as to require the maximum quantity. The present population supplied with water within the limits of compulsory supply is 23,000, but in addition to this Wemyss Castle and village of Wemyss are also supplied, at a fixed rate per thousand gallons consumed. The total length of the distributing pipes is about 15 miles, and these are large enough to supply double the quantity of water required, thus allowing for any sudden emergency, as in case of fire. Private houses are supplied with water without any additional charge over and above the domestic rate, which of course varies according to circumstances. Mills and other public works are supplied (by meter) at a fixed rate per thousand gallons. The outlay for building, land and other necessary purposes has been about £55,000, the interest of which is raised by means of an assessment on the annual value of all property within the limits of compulsory supply. The works were authorised to be made by an Act passed in July 1867, begun in 1868, and finished in about 15 months after they were commenced, Provost Swan being chairman and John Sang, Kirkcaldy, engineer. The number of vessels belonging to the port is 26, with an aggregate tonnage of 3,110. A branch from the main line of railway traverses the entire length of the harbour—a great convenience to operations of loading and unloading vessels. The harbour is almost dry at low water, but at full tide is capable of admitting vessels of large burden. This port is the seat of a custom house having control over about 60 miles, extending from Donny Point to Fifeness. The number of vessels inward from foreign parts for the year ending March 1876 was 918; outward foreign parts, 1534; coasting trade, same period, inward, 2,092; and outward, 1,476. The revenue of the port for the year ending March 1868 was £31,983, for the year ending March 1871, £34,018, and for the year ending March 1876, £44,290. The sheriff holds a circuit court on the first Tuesday in each month, under the Small Debts Act. The justices of the peace sit when necessary for adjudicating claims under other pecuniary acts. The union poor-house, which is the joint property of the parishes of Kirkcaldy, Abbotshall, Burntisland, and Kinghorn, was erected in 1849, and opened for the reception of inmates in May 1850. The cost of the building was upwards of £5,000. It is beautifully situated on the lands of Abden, in the parish of Kinghorn, commanding an extensive view of the Firth of Forth, and is capable of accommodating about 150 paupers. The Corn Exchange is situated in Cowan-street. The first stone of this building was laid with masonic honours in May 1859. The parish church, which is in the Gothic style of architecture, stands on an eminence above the town; the other places of worship are a Free church, two United Presbyterian churches, and Episcopalian, Baptist, Independent, and a Roman Catholic chapel. The principal educational establishments besides the parochial or burgh school is Philp's Institution for instructing children of both sexes, selected from among those of the poorest inhabitants; in connection with this charity there are schools at Pathhead, Abbotshall, and Kinghorn.

The property bequeathed by Mr. Philp for erecting and sustaining schools in these places is estimated at nearly £70,000. The pupils are admitted between the ages of six and fifteen, and are taught only the plainest elementary branches; thirty shillings per annum is allowed for clothing each pupil. The Institution was erected in 1841. The East Kirkcaldy Public School, which is now (1876) near completion, will accommodate 560 pupils. It is situated on the high ground at the top of Maryhall-street and Glebe Park-street, and contains two principal rooms, five class rooms, board room or master's room, and mistress's room; large shelter sheds and enclosed play grounds, with parapet and railings. The architecture is in the English style, with mullioned windows, having a circular entrance at girls' and a square belfry at boys', with slated pointed roof and east terminal gilded. The teachers and janitors' residences occupy the south side of the ground, surrounded with gardens and enclosed with parapet and railing to match the school, with which they form a picturesque group, at a total cost of about £5,000 sterling. The architect is Mr. John Milne, of St. Andrews, the patentee of the pyro-pneumatic room grate, with which these buildings are being fitted for warming and ventilation. These Schools are finished and opened. There are also board schools in course of erection in Milton-road, which will give accommodation to about 560 children, according to government standard. It is a rather plainer building than the one in Glebe Park-street, and is estimated to cost £5,000, including houses and offices. There is also a charitable trust by John Thomson, for educating poor children and for annuities for the support of poor inhabitants. There are also several private seminaries for the education of the wealthier classes. There is a working men's club and reading room, and a subscription library, and three advertising newspapers are published every Saturday. The market, which is a stock market for the sale of grain, and is the most important in the county, is held on Saturday. The only place for outdoor recreation and amusement is the Dunnikier Athletic Grounds, situated about 200 yards east from the Railway Station, covering an area of four acres, and contains hot and cold baths, full-sized bowling alleys, long shooting range, pedestrian race course, quoiting rinks, skittle, cricket, bowling, and croquet grounds, skating and curling ponds, and all kinds of gymnastic apparatus.

ABBOTSHALL is a parish and almost an integral part of Kirkcaldy, the principal street, called the Links, running in a direct line with the high street of Kirkcaldy. The trade and manufacture are of the same character as those of Kirkcaldy. The places of worship are Established and Free churches.

AUCHTERTOOL is a parish and village, situated in the midst of a beautiful landscape. It is 7 miles long and 1½ broad. With the exception of a distillery and a coal and iron works, agriculture is the chief pursuit of the inhabitants. There is an Established church and a board and endowed school in the parish.

PATH-HEAD is a village in the parish of Dysart, situated on the face of a hill, looking towards the Firth of Forth, and extending near to the town of Kirkcaldy. Gallatown and Sinclairtown are also in the same parish. The trade of these places is similar to that of Kirkcaldy, viz., the manufacture of linen goods, dowlais, ticks, sheetings, flax spinning, &c. The places of worship are an Established and two Free churches and a meeting house for Baptists. There is a commodious school, erected some years ago by the trustees of the late Robert Philp, Esq., and a public school.

LARGO

(UPPER AND NETHER),

AND LUNDIN MILL, WITH THE PARISH OF NEWBURN.

LARGO is a parish nearly four miles and a-half in length and three in breadth. It is situated on the shore of the Firth of Forth in the county of Fife, and is distant 11 miles from St. Andrew's, 9 from Cupar, 5 from Elie, and 3 from Leven. The parish contains the villages of Upper and Nether Largo and Lundin Mill. The most striking feature in this district is Largo Law, a conical hill which is upwards of 900 feet above the level of the sea, from the top of which a splendid view can be obtained of the Frith of Forth, the Lothians and the surrounding country. In the small village of Upper Largo stands the parish church an ancient edifice with a spire. The Leven and East of Fife Railway passes at a distance of one mile from the village of Upper Largo and through the village of Nether Largo, where there is a station. There is a hospital here, founded in 1659, the present building being in the Gothic style, which is very handsome and was erected in 1832. There is large garden ground attached, it is supported by means of an endowment by a Mr. John Wood, a native of the place, and is solely for the benefit and support of 13 poor persons and 6 scholars to be maintained and educated at the school at Newburn. Any man of the name of Wood may get admission here, to whatever part of Scotland he may belong. The National Bank of Scotland and a Savings' Bank are established here. Both Upper and Nether Largo attract a great number of visitors in the bathing season. There is a market held here every Thursday.

NETHEE LARGO is a fishing village, one mile from Upper Largo and has a good and safe bay where vessels may take shelter in stormy weather. There is an extensive herring net factory here which employs a considerable number of women. The proprietors residence, a very handsome villa, adjoins the works.

LUNDIN MILL is a village one mile west of Nether Largo. The weaving of linen is the principal employment for its inhabitants. There is a considerable number of handsome villas at Lundin Links which are let out to families in the bathing season. It has a good temperance hotel where horses and carriages can be got on hire.

NEWBURN is a parish two miles east of Largo. Its length is about three miles and its breadth about a mile and a-half. This is quite a rural parish and its inhabitants are wholly engaged in agricultural employment.

Post Office, Upper Largo, John Marr, postmaster. —Letters from all parts arrive at 9 a.m. and 7 p.m., and are despatched at 4 and 10 p.m. Money Order Office, Post Office Savings' Bank and Telegraph Office.

Letters for Newburn and Lundin Mill should be addressed near Largo, Fifeshire, and for Largo should be addressed Fifeshire.

LESLIE,

WITH THE PARISH OF KINGLASSIE.

LESLIE is a parish in the county of Fife, upwards of four miles in length and three in breadth, situated on the public road, up the vale of Leven, leading into Kinross-shire. It is distant nine miles N.W. from Kirkcaldy, three from Markinch, twelve miles S.W. from Cupar, and the same distance east from Kinross, and is a station on the Edinburgh, Perth, and Dundee branch of the North British Railway. The town consists principally of one street, running from east to west, and several smaller ones, which are very irregular, the houses being of very ancient date. Many improvements have been made in the burgh within the last thirty years, and during that period its size has been nearly doubled. This increase is attributable to the prosperity of its manufactures, consisting of linens, flax spinning, floor cloths, paper making, and bleaching; the works of Messrs. John Fergus & Co. finding employment for a large number of hands. There are also several very good drapery and grocery establishments, and two hotels. There is also a library established under the title of the "Leslie Institute Library." A branch of the Union Bank of Scotland was opened here in 1850, and there is a National Security Savings' Bank. Leslie is governed by the police commissioners, consisting of chairman, clerk, and two bailies. The places of worship are the Parish church, a Free church, and two Presbyterian churches; there are also two public schools in the parish. Fairs are held on the first Tuesday after the 11th of April, and on the first Friday in October. The April fair is considered to be one of the largest in the county of Fife. Prinlaws is in this parish.

KINGLASSIE is a parish four miles long and two broad, is bounded on the east by Markinch, on the west by Portmoat, on the south by Auchterderran, and on the north by Leslie. The village is 2 miles from Leslie and 3¼ N.E. from Lochgelly. The inhabitants are chiefly employed in agriculture and the linen and coal trades. The places of worship are an Established and a Free church. A fair is entitled to be held on the third Wednesday in May, and on the Thursday before Michaelmas (old style).

Post Office, Leslie, Elizabeth Easson, postmistress.—Letters from all parts delivered at 9.10 a.m., 12.5 noon, and 6.45 p.m., and box cleared for despatch at 6.45 a.m., 1.35 p.m., 4.30 p.m., and 7.25 p.m. Money Order Office, Telegraph, and Savings' Bank.

Post Office, Kinglassie, Robert Dick, postmaster.—Letters from all parts arrive (from Kirkcaldy), at 11.30 a.m., and are despatched thereto at 2 p.m. Nearest Money Order Office at Leslie. Letters for Kinglassie should be addressed near Kirkcaldy.

LEVEN,

IN THE PARISH OF SCOONIE, WITH INNERLEVEN.

LEVEN is a town in the parish of Scoonie, 9 miles from Kirkcaldy, 4 from Wemyss, and 3 from Largo. It is situated on the east coast of the Frith of Forth, at the mouth of the river Leven, from which it derives its name. The town consists of several good streets, which are thoroughly drained, well lighted with gas, and supplied with very good water. It is a burgh and barony, and has one senior and two junior magistrates. The purposes of lighting, cleansing, and water are carried out by commissioners under the General Police Act for Scotland, and the sheriff holds a small debt circuit court here quarterly. A branch railway from Thornton Station, on the Edinburgh, Perth, and Dundee section of the North British Railway, gives the town the benefit and facility for that mode of transit; this branch railway extends to Anstruther. The town has also the benefit of a harbour, for which an act of parliament was obtained on the 24th of July, 1876, for the improvement of the same and to authorise the construction of a wet dock and other works; the probable cost of the alterations is estimated at £33,000, and is expected to be finished in three years. The principal imports are flax, tow, grain, and timber. The town is greatly improved and its trade augmented, so that it may now be called one of the most thriving of the small towns in the county. The staple trade is the preparation and spinning of flax, the weaving of linen, and seed crushing; the mills of the former employing a large number of hands. The Durie Ironfoundry, a concern long established, is very extensive, and produces specimens of work that may compete with any of a similar kind in Scotland. Messrs. Henry Balfour & Co., the proprietors, manufacture both for the home trade and exportation. Close to the town are the Hawkslaw works of Messrs. Small & Boase, hemp spinners, employing about 400 hands. A bone dust mill, corn mills, bleach fields, the manufacture of bricks, tiles, ochre, and salt, and rope making are the other branches of work carried on in the vicinity. The West of Fife Coal Co., of Kely and Blairadam, have leased the eastern portion of the coal seam in the Wemyss estate in this neighbourhood, and boring operations are shortly to be commenced; this, with the harbour improvements, will greatly increase the trade of Leven. There are three branch banking houses and several fire and life agency offices. The Caledonian Hotel, to which a large posting establishment is added, affords superior accommodation to families, tourists, or commercial travellers. A number of elegant villas are situated a little to the east of the town, and several handsome mansions are in the neighbourhood. There are also a number of handsome houses and cottages on the Links, at the south of the town, where there are some fine open downs, on which several golfing societies exercise in that healthy amusement, and annually play for gold and silver medals. In the summer time many of the inhabitants let their houses for the season, Leven being the resort of a number of respectable families from Edinburgh and the interior for the benefit of sea bathing. A handsome stone bridge crosses the Leven, connecting the town with the village of Innerleven.

SCOONIE.—The parish of Scoonie is bounded by the Firth of Forth on the south, by Wemyss, Markinch, Kennoway, and Kettle on the west, by Ceres on the north, and by Largo on the east. Its length from north to south is 5 miles, and its greatest breadth 2½ miles; the surface rises inland from the shore to an elevation of about 600 feet, and there are several heights which command an extensive view of the Forth and the Lothians. The land generally is in a high state of cultivation. The minerals are ochre, coal, and ironstone. It contains the town of Leven, which is a burgh and barony. The parish church stands close to the town; a Free church, an United Presbyterian and Episcopal chapels are the other places of worship. There are two public schools and an infant school. Fairs are held on the second Wednesday in April, the Thursday (market) after first Wednesday in July, and the third Wednesday in October.

Post Office, Bank-street, Stephen Youden, post-master.—Letters from Edinburgh, and the South, North, East, and Buckhaven arrive at 8.30 a.m., 12 noon, and 6.30 p.m., and are despatched to Edinburgh, the South, and North at 7 a.m., 1.30 p.m., and 4.15 p.m.; to the East of Fife at 8 a.m., 11.30 a.m., and 5.50 p.m. Money Order Office, Telegraph, and Savings' Bank.

LIMEKILNS,

BRUCEHAVEN, AND CHARLESTOWN.

LIMEKILNS with Brucehaven, in the parish of Dunfermline, is a small seaport in the county of Fife, situated on the north bank of the Firth of Forth. At one period it was a place of considerable trade, but the harbour is at present only used for the mooring of vessels. Shipbuilding is carried on at Brucehaven shipyard, and several owners of vessels employed in the coasting trade are resident here. There is a congregation of United Presbyterians.

CHARLESTOWN is a village a short distance from Limekilns, and also in the parish of Dunfermline. It is the property of the Earl of Elgin, who formed a commodious harbour and extensive lime works in the vicinity, enormous quantities of which are exported annually; it is likewise the shipping port for several of the adjacent collieries. The accommodation found at the harbour here, for loading and unloading vessels, is most excellent. An iron foundry, a steam saw mill and timber yard, are among the other businesses of this flourishing little place.

Post Office, Charlestown, George Blyth, postmaster. —Letters from all parts arrive (from Dunfermline) at 9.15 a.m. and 12.30 noon, and are despatched thereto at 2 p.m. and 10 p.m. Money Order Office, Savings' Bank, and Telegraph.

ABDIE, DUNBOG, FLISK, GLENBURNIE, GRANGE, AND LINDORES.

NEWBURGH is a parish, burgh, and seaport, situated on the south bank of the River Tay, and in the County of Fife, six miles from Auchtermuchty, 11 from Perth, 15 from Dundee, 10 from Cupar, and is a station on the Edinburgh, Perth, and Dundee Lines of the North British Railway. It consists of one long street, parallel with the River Tay, and a few lanes leading to the shore and the railway station. The government of the town is vested in a provost, bailies, and councillors. The manufacture of linen goods was at one time carried on very extensively. At present there are five firms engaged in this branch (all hand loom), but not to any great extent, as at present the demand for the kind of goods manufactured here is very limited. Considerable quantities of timber, slate, grain, potatoes, coal, salt, artificial manures, pavement, &c., are imported and exported. At the harbour there are four quays, all belonging to different proprietors. The dues are the same, viz., one penny per register ton on all vessels discharging, loading, or ballasting. The receiver also pays one penny per ton. Passenger steamers ply between Dundee and Perth, calling at Newburgh, about three times daily, from May to October. Newburgh is celebrated for its fruit, especially pears and plums. It is said the sale of fruit in a good season realises several thousand pounds. The Town Hall stands near the centre of the town, and has a tower containing a clock. There are two banking establishments, the Bank of Scotland and the Commercial Bank of Scotland, also a Savings' Bank in connection with the latter, and the Post Office Savings' Bank. There is a Public Library containing about 2,000 volumes, and a Church Library. The places of worship comprise a Church of the Establishment, a Free Church, a United Presbyterian, The Evangelical Union, and a Baptist Church. There is an excellent Board School at the east end of the town. Fairs are held on the third Friday in June, and on the first Tuesday in December for hiring servants.

ABDIE parish adjoins Newburgh, commencing about half a mile from the town, and extends several miles, and contains the small villages of Glenburnie, Grange, and Lindores; here is the Loch of Lindores.

DUNBOG is a parish situated four miles from Newburgh, and six miles from Cupar, bounded by the Tay, Monimail, and the parishes of Flisk and Abdie. It contains a Parish Church and a Board School.

FLISK is a parish six miles east from Newburgh, and eight miles from Cupar. It is bounded by the Tay, and the parishes of Creich, Abdie, Balmerino, and Dunbog. The parish is very small, consisting chiefly of farms. There is a church and a Board School.

Post, Money Order, Savings' Bank, and Telegraph Office, Newburgh, James Wood, postmaster.

NEWPORT,

BALMERINO, FORGAN, AND WOODHAVEN.

NEWPORT is a large village in the parish of Forgan, on the south bank of the Tay, and immediately opposite Dundee, in the county of Fife. It consists of several good streets and many beautiful terraces, places, and villas. This place has greatly increased of late years, owing to so many of the Dundee merchants, tradesmen, clerks, &c., making it their place of abode. Situated as it is on rising ground it affords delightful views of the Tay, Dundee, Broughty Ferry, and the parks, mansions, &c., on the opposite shore. It is lighted with gas. Contains a church of the Establishment, a Free, and an Independent church. There is also an excellent board school and several private schools. Steamers ply between Newport and Dundee about every hour from early morning until late at night. There is an hotel here.

FORGAN is a parish and village. The latter (very small), containing the parish church and board school, is about a mile from Newport. The parish is entirely agricultural, and is about four miles in length and two in breadth. Newport is in this parish. Woodhaven is a small hamlet in Forgan parish, one mile from Newport.

BALMERINO is an agricultural parish, about four miles from Newport, on the south bank of the Tay. It contains the small villages of Balmerino and Gaudry, Established and Free churches, and a board school.

Post, Money Order, Telegraph Office, and Savings' Bank, Newport, Euphemia M. McNaughton, post-mistress.—Letters from all parts arrive (from Dundee) at 7 a.m. and 12 noon, and are despatched

PITTENWEEM,

ABERCROMBIE, ARNCROACH, CARNBEE, OVENSTONE, AND ST. MONANCE.

PITTENWEEM is a royal burgh, seaport, and parish, 24 miles N.N.E. from Edinburgh, 21 from Kirkcaldy, 5½ S.S.W. from Craik, 11 S. from St. Andrews, 3½ from Kilconquhar, one from Anstruther, 5 from Colinsburgh, and 27 from Burntisland. It is bounded by Wester Anstruther, the Firth of Forth, Kilconquhar and St. Monance, and is a station on the East of Fife Railway, which line joins the North British main line at Thornton Junction. The town consists of about half a dozen streets, the appearance of which has of late years been much improved, owing to new erections and improvements. The burgh is governed by a provost, two bailies, eight councillors and a treasurer, who hold courts in the Town Hall when necessary. Pittenweem with Cupar, St. Andrews, the Anstruthers, Craik, and Kilrenny send one member to parliament. The Town Hall is a good building, the large room of which is well adapted for meetings, balls, theatrical performances, &c., for which purposes it is let as required. The Freemasons also hold their meetings in it. The harbour is spacious and well protected, and the fishing is vigorously prosecuted by a large fleet of full sized fishing boats, which are as a rule manned by seven men, including the captain. The owner or owners of each boat contribute a certain sum towards the expense of the harbour. Fish curing is extensively carried on, and large quantities of wet fish are despatched to all the principal markets in Scotland and England. Brick making and boat building is carried on to some extent. There are two branch banks, a Savings' Bank, and a Post Office Savings' Bank in the town. Besides the Church of the Establishment (or Parish Church), there is one each for Presbyterians and Episcopalians. There are also two Board Schools.

ST. MONANCE (or St. Monans) is a parish about two miles from Pittenweem, on the coast. It is bounded by Carnbee, the Frith of Forth, Pittenweem, and Elie and Kilconquhar. The village is large, and has a good harbour, and fishing is extensively carried on. There are 98 fishing boats, mostly of large size; each boat is manned with six hands and a skipper (or captain), the latter owning the boat as a rule. The owner or owners pay a pound for each boat in the herring fishing season, and sixpence weekly for each man (or 3s. 6d. each boat) during the rest of the year, and this goes towards the harbour expenses. St. Monance is a burgh of barony, governed by a chief magistrate, two bailies, twelve councillors, and a treasurer, who change every year if not re-elected. Fish curing and boat building is rather extensively carried on. There is a Parish Church and a Free Church and two Board Schools in the village. Abercrombie is a hamlet in this parish.

CARNBEE is a parish and village three miles from Pittenweem. The parish also contains the village of Arncroach and the hamlet of Ovenstone. At the former there are a few retail shops, and at the latter a millwrights and a smiths shop. Kellie and Balcormo Collieries are also in this parish; likewise a Church of the Establishment, and two Board Schools. A ridge of hills run through the parish, the highest of which is Kellie Law, having an altitude of 800 feet above the level of the sea.

ST. ANDREWS,

BALMULLO, BOARHILLS, CAMERON, DENHEAD, DENINO, GUARD BRIDGE,
 KINCAPLE, LATHONES, LEUCHARS, PEAT INN, RADERNIE,
 ST. LEONARDS, AND STRATHKINNESS.

ST. ANDREWS is a city, royal burgh, and seaport, situated on a rocky ridge, overlooking a spacious bay, 39 miles N.N.E. of Edinburgh, 10 miles from Anstruther and Cupar, and about six from Leuchars and Crail; it is bounded by the Eden and Bay of St. Andrews on the north, by Kingsbarns and St. Leonards on the east, by Denino, Cameron, and Ceres on the south, and by Kemback and Leuchars on the west, and is a station on the Edinburgh, Perth, and Dundee Section of the North British Railway. The city is governed by a provost, dean of guild, four bailies, twenty-nine councillors and a treasurer. The burgh unites with Cupar, Anstruther, Kilrenny, Crail, and Pittenweem in returning one member to parliament. It was constituted a royal burgh by David I., in 1140, and was probably the most populous city in Scotland before the Reformation, but has greatly declined in size since that era. The charter which was conferred by David I. was confirmed by Malcolm II., the unfortunate monarch who was slain in Glamis Castle in 1034. The charter, silver keys of the city, and the axe which was used for the decapitation of Sir Robert Spottiswoode and some other royalists are still to be seen in the town house. In 1559 the Cathedral, a splendid Gothic structure, was destroyed by a mob excited by the impassioned eloquence of the great reformer, John Knox. Near its ruins is a lofty square erection called the Tower of St. Regulus, from the top of which may be obtained magnificent views of the surrounding country, the city, the bay, and the Bell Rock. The tower is supposed to be upwards of 1,000 years old. On the shore is a small eminence called the Witch Hill, where those convicted of witchcraft suffered, near to which is a monument erected to the memory of the martyrs, Patrick Hamilton, George Wishart, and Walter Mill. This obelisk, erected in 1842, is forty-five feet in height. St. Andrews has ever been regarded as a place of importance in the history of Scotland, and at one time was the ecclesiastical capital of the kingdom. It will always possess great attraction to the antiquary, the historian, and the tourist abounding as it does with objects of interest on every hand. Its sacred edifices, scholastic institutions, and numerous ancient relics gives St. Andrews a name and a fame which few places can boast. One of the most interesting relics of this city is the ancient wall, which runs along the south side of the town, near to the old Cathedral and tower of St. Regulus. It has fourteen round and square towers, each having a niche on the outside for a saint, and was erected by Prior John Hepburn, in the year 1516. The University of St. Andrews was founded by Bishop Wardlaw, in 1411, and is the oldest in Scotland. In the 16th century it included three distinct colleges, St. Salvator's, St. Leonard's, and St. Mary's. The college of St. Salvator was erected by Bishop Kennedy, in 1456, St. Leonard's in 1512, and St. Mary's in 1447. The two first named were united in 1747. The University library contains about 100,000 printed volumes, and a great number MSS. The museum contains an interesting collection of objects of antiquity, and specimens illustrating the natural history of the district. The Madras College is a modern institution; the foundation stone was laid on the 9th April, 1832. This noble institution was founded and endowed by Dr. Andrew Bell, who was also the founder of several similar establishments in other towns in Scotland. The Parish Church was erected in the twelfth century, but is still in good preservation and repair. Within the door on the right side is a splendid monument of Archbishop Sharpe; it is composed of white marble. The figure of the prelate is represented in the attitude of kneeling. It was erected by his son in 1769, and was thoroughly restored at a cost of upwards of £100, in 1850. The College Church is a fine specimen of Gothic architecture, and there are places of worship for other denominations. The trade is principally of a local character. There are four banking establishments in the town, and several good hotels. The market is held on Monday, and the fairs on the second Monday in April, the second Tuesday in August (old style), and the first Monday in November (new style.)

CAMERON is a parish situated about three miles south from St. Andrews; it is about five miles in length and four in breadth. Coal, lime, and iron abound in this parish. The greater portion of the land is under cultivation. It is bounded on the east by Denino, on the west by Ceres, on the north by St. Andrews, and on the south by Carnbee and Kilconquhar. Lathones, Radernie, and Peat Inn are villages, and a portion of the village of Denhead is in this parish, the other portion being in the parish of St. Andrews.

Boarhills, Kincauld, and Strathkinness are small villages in the parish of St. Andrews.

DENINO is a parish four miles south of St. Andrews, bounded on the east by St. Leonard's and Crail, on the west by Cameron, on the north by St. Andrews, and on the south by Crail and Carnbee. The parish is about three miles in length and about the same in breadth. Sand and ironstone abound in the parish.

LEUCHARS is a parish and village pleasantly situated on the road from St. Andrews to Dundee, about six miles from the former town and one mile from the coast. There is a brewery and several brick works in the place, and paper making is carried on in the neighbourhood. The Edinburgh, Perth, and Dundee branch of the North British Railway passes through the parish, and there is a station in the village. The church is very ancient, it is supposed to have been erected in the twelfth century, and is considered one of the most perfect specimens of Saxon architecture in Scotland. There is also a Free Church in the parish. Guard Bridge is partly in this parish and partly in that of St. Andrews.

ST. LEONARDS is a small parish consisting of detached portions in and around St. Andrews, and is identical with it in most of its interests.

TAYPORT,

WITH THE PARISH OF FERRY-PORT-ON-CRAIG.

TAYPORT is an extensive village in the parish of Ferry-Port-on-Craig, at the mouth of the Tay, five miles from Dundee, opposite to Broughty Ferry, and about three miles from Newport. The Edinburgh, Perth, and Dundee section of the North British Railway terminates here, and passengers and goods are Many handsome villas have of late years been erected here, and are chiefly occupied by Dundee merchants. The City of Glasgow Banking Company have a branch here. The places of worship are the Parish Church, a Free Church, an United Presbyterian Church, and a Baptist Church. There are also excellent board schools.

TORRYBURN.

CARNOCK, CAIRNEYHILL, OAKLEY, SALINE AND TORRY.

TORRYBURN is a parish and village, the latter is pleasant and salubrious, and the former is beautifully diversified, and the high grounds command fine views of the Firth of Forth and the Lothians. It is 4½ miles W. from Dunfermline, 2 E. from Culross, and 6 E. from Kincardine. It lies in the south-west corner of the county, being from four to five miles in length by about two in breadth. The parish, which is formed by the baronies of Torry and Crombie, derives its name from the Gaelic word Torry, signifying the "King's Height," and Burn, the Scottish name for rivulet. It is impossible to form a harbour here on account of the rocky state of the shore, but there is a pier at Crombie Point for landing goods and passengers. Oakley Station, on the North British Railway, is two miles from the village. The village of Lower Torry is within the parish, and adjacent to the village of Torryburn. The places of worship are the Established and Free Churches. There is also a board school. A fair is held at Torryburn on the second Wednesday in July.

CARNOCK is a parish and village, the latter being four miles from Dunfermline. No business of any importance is carried on here. The ground is very fertile and in a high state of cultivation.

OAKLEY and CAIRNEYHILL are villages in the parish of Carnock, the first named being about a mile from the village of Carnock. The iron foundry of Mr. David White, who employs a number of hands, is situate here. The village of Cairneyhill is about three miles from Dunfermline. The places of worship are a Church of the Establishment and a Free Church at Carnock, and one for Presbyterians at Cairneyhill.

SALINE is a parish about five miles in length and four in breadth, and extends to the borders of Perth and Clackmannanshire. The village is two miles from Oakley Station, and six from Dunfermline. The inhabitants are principally engaged in agriculture. There is an Established Church and a Free Church in the village, also a board school.

(EAST AND WEST),

BUCKHAVEN AND METHIL.

EAST WEMYSS is a village in the parish of Wemyss, situated on the Firth of Forth, and consisting of one long street; it is four miles from Dysart and five from Kirkcaldy. The manufacture of linen is the chief trade of the village; there is also a brewery and a malting house. There is an Establishment and a Free Church in the village; also a public and a Free Church school.

The village of WEST WEMYSS is about a mile west of East Wemyss, and is governed by two bailies, thirteen councillors, and a treasurer. Coal is wrought close to the harbour. The only objects of interest in the village are Wemyss Castle, the seat of Randolph Gordon Erskine Wemyss, Esq., situated on the brink of an eminence and surrounded on the land side by beautiful pleasure grounds and plantations; and the ancient castle of Macduff, now a ruin. This massive structure crowns the height above the shore, and commands a most extensive view seaward. A chapel of Ease is the only place of worship. The parish which is on the south coast of the county, contains the villages of East and West Wemyss, Coaltown of Wemyss, Buckhaven, Methil, Kirkland, and Methil-hill. It is bounded on the south by the Firth of Forth, on the west by Dysart, on the north by Markinch, and by Scoonie on the east. It is 6 miles in length from east to west, and 1½ miles broad.

BUCKHAVEN is a village in the parish of Wemyss, and distant one mile east therefrom. Flax spinning and rope and twine manufacturing are extensively carried on here, and find employment for a number of the inhabitants. The village is noted for its brisk pursuit of the fishing trade, and possesses a good harbour for the accommodation of boats engaged therein. There is a Free Church and two public schools.

The village of Methil, with the neighbouring villages of Methil-hill, Kirkland, Inverleven, and Buckhaven, were formed into a parish in March 1875. The principal trade of the village consists of fishing, coal mining, rope spinning, and salt manufacturing. There is a Church of the Establishment in the village.

Post Office, East Wemyss, Margaret Souttar, post-mistress.—Letters from all parts arrive (from Dysart) at 9.40 a.m. and 7.10 p.m., and are despatched thereto at 6.10 a.m. and 3.50 p.m. Nearest Money Order Office is at Wemyss.

Post Office, West Wemyss, Alison Millie, post-mistress.—Letters from all parts arrive at 9.30 a.m. and 7.5 p.m., and are despatched thereto at 6.20 a.m. and 3.50 p.m. Money Order Office, Savings' Bank, and Postal Telegraph Station.

Beaton, postmaster.—Letters from all parts arrive (from Leven) at 10.30 a.m. and 8 p.m., and are despatched thereto at 5.20 a.m. and 3.10 p.m. Money Order, Telegraph Office, and Savings' Bank. KINROSS.

FOSSOWAY, TULLIEBOLE, CROOK OF DEVON, BLAIRNGONE, CARNBO, POWMILL, RUMBLING BRIDGE, BALGEDIE, KINNESSWOOD, AND SCOTLANDWELL.

KINROSS is a parish and town, and the capital of the county of its name, situated about 19 miles from Cupar-Fife, 14 from Dunfermline, 9 from Auchtermuchty, 17 from Perth, 23 from Stirling, 14 from Kirkcaldy, 16 from Queensferry, 12 from Dollar, and 27 from Edinburgh. It is governed by commissioners appointed under the "Police and General Improvement Act. Sheriff and Small Debt Courts are held in the County Hall, Kinross, weekly, on Tuesday during the session, and once a fortnight (and oftener if necessary) during vacation. The County Buildings contain the court rooms, the police station, the county prison, the Sheriff Clerk's office, and a residence for the Chief Constable. The Town Hall, situated about the centre of the High street, has a square tower, which contains a bell. The large hall is used for meetings, balls, concerts, and once a week the Corn Exchange is held in it. The town consists chiefly of one main street, with a few small ones branching off. It is lighted with gas. There are some good shops, three hotels, three banking establishments, and a Savings' Bank. A newspaper, The Kinrosshire Advertiser, is published here every Saturday. The woollen mills comprise two for wool spinning, and one for wool spinning and woollen manufacturing. There is also a linen factory worked by a limited company. The other important places of business include a dye works, foundry, tannery, corn mill, saw mill, &c. The Gas Works are situated about half way between Kinross and Milnathort, and supplies both towns. The places of worship are an Established, a Free, and two United Presbyterian Churches, and one for Episcopalians. There are two schools under the School Board. Lochleven, with its ruined castle (in which Queen Mary was imprisoned, and from which she escaped), and its numerous islands are a great source of attraction during the summer months. At the time of the survey the Loch contained four islands, The Inch, or Serfs Island, containing 35½ acres, Castle Island, 2 acres, Reed Bower about the fifth of an acre, and the Paddock Bower, or Roy's Folly, about half an acre, and its superficial area, including the islands, was 4,350 imperial acres. In 1830 the Loch was reduced to 3,543 acres by the completion of an extensive drainage scheme, which reduced it nine feet below its original level, and disclosed three other small islands, so that there are now seven islands in the Loch. The height of Lochleven above the sea level is 360 feet, and its mean-flow amounts to 4,000 cubic feet per minute. The Castle Island is a favourite resort of pleasure seekers, and in summer many picnic parties assemble under the wide-spreading trees on the island, or in the rooms of the castle tower, which are fitted up with tables and seats for their special accommodation. There is a fine fleet of first-class boats, and a staff of careful boatmen are kept constantly in attendance at the pier. Lochleven trout, common trout, charr, perch, pike, eel, &c., are very abundant. The angler may judge by the following report as to the sport to be had here:—"Lochleven Angling Association Limited, 1876. During the past season there have been killed in all 5,093 trout, weighing 5,668½ lbs., being an average weight of 1-113 lbs. for each trout. There have been netted during the past season 1,484 pike, and it is estimated that about other 200 were killed with the rod. The number netted during the past season is about equal to the number that were killed during the three years preceding. Through the kindness of Mr. Gibson Maitland, one of their number, the directors were able in June last to put about 6,000 young fry into the best feeders of the Loch. The various streams running into the lake afford extensive and excellent spawning ground, and to keep up an ample stock of trout. There have been captured in one season 3,000 pike, and an average of nearly 400 stones, or 5,600 lbs. of eels have been captured yearly." A market, principally for corn, is held in Kinross on Monday. Fairs are also held in Kinross on the fourth Monday of March, second Monday of June, fourth Monday of July, and fourth Monday of October. Hiring fairs, 4th Monday in July, and Thursday after 2nd Tuesday in October. Live stock sale on Monday once a fortnight.

FOSSOWAY and TULLIEBOLE is a united parish situated partly in Kinross and partly in Perthshire, but mostly in the latter. The villages of Crook of Devon and Blairngone, and the hamlets of Powmill and Carnbo are in the parish. In addition to the Parish Church at Crook of Devon, there is a Quoad Sacra Church at Blairngone, and there are Board Schools at Carnbo, Blairngone, and Crook of Devon. There is one hotel at Rumbling Bridge, and railway stations on the Devon Valley Line, at Crook of Devon and Rumbling Bridge. The scenery in this district is very beautiful, and is much resorted to by tourists.

PORTMOAK is a parish bounded by Lochleven, Orwell, Strahtmiglio, Leslie, Kinglassie, Ballingry, and Cleish. The inhabitants are chiefly employed in agriculture. Scotlandwell is a village in the parish, situated $\frac{3}{4}$ miles from Kinross, and four miles from Leslie. The places of worship are a Free Church and a Church of the Establishment; there is also a Board School here. Kinnesswood is a thriving village in the same parish, $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles from Kinross, two from Scotlandwell, and six from Leslie. Easter and Wester Balgedie are also hamlets in the parish. There is a United Presbyterian Church in the former.

CLEISH is a parish and village three miles from Kinross, three from Blairadam, four from Kelty, two from Cleish-road, and is a station on the Devon Valley Line of the North British Railway. It is bounded on the west by Dunfermline and Fossoway, on the south by Beath, and on the east by Ballingry. The parish contains the villages of Cleish, Maryburgh, and Kelty proper. The Parish Church is at Cleish, also a board school.

FORGANDENNY, which is partly in the counties of Perthshire and Kinrosshire, is about eight miles from Kinross.

MILNATHORT,

ARNGASK, ORWELL, DAMHEAD, DUNCRIEVIE, DRUNZIE, AND NEWTON OF BALCANQUHAL.

MILNATHORT is a large village in Orwell parish, situated two miles north from Kinross, and consists of two good streets and half a dozen smaller ones, which are lighted with gas, the expense being paid by voluntary subscription. The affairs of the village are managed by a committee composed of inhabitants of the village and parish. At the junction of the principal streets is the town hall (erected by subscription), a fine building, with square tower, spire, clock, and one bell; the latter rings daily at 5.30 a.m., 8 p.m., and 10 p.m. The interior of the hall consists chiefly of one large and lofty room, lighted with six fine windows. This room is let for concerts, meetings, &c. The corn exchange is also held in it weekly, on Wednesday. The police office, which has two cells for prisoners and a house for the officer, occupies the rear of the building. The principal business carried on in Milnathort is the spinning of woollen yarns and the manufacturing of woollen goods. There are also a linen factory, a brewery, a large corn mill, and a branch of the City of Glasgow Bank. The churches comprise an Established, a Free, and an United Presbyterian. There is a fine board school; also a very handsome school, with residence for the master adjoining, which was erected by James Brand, Esq., in memory of his father, who was a native of the village. There is also a boarding and day school for young ladies. A weekly stock sale is held on Wednesday. Fairs, first Monday in May and July, second and last Monday in August, first Monday in November, and the Monday before Christmas.

ORWELL is an extensive parish, situated north of Kinross, and contains the village of Milnathort, the railway stations of Milnathort and Mawcarse, and the ruins of Burleigh Castle.

ARNGASK is a parish and small village, distant about 7 miles from Kinross, 5 from Milnathort, 5 from Strathmiglo, and 6½ from the Bridge of Earn. The parish is partly in the three counties of Fife, Perth, and Kinross. The burn or river Farg separates the Perth portion from Fife and Kinross, and the Eden is the boundary between the two latter. The Parish Church is in Fifeshire, the Free Church in Kinross, and the board school in Perthshire. The parish, for registration purposes and under the Poor Law and Education Acts is considered as belonging to Fifeshire.

DAMHEAD is the principal village in Arngask, and Duncricvie and Newton of Balcanquhal are small hamlets in the parish.

Post Office, New-road, Milnathort, Andrew Thomson, postmaster.—Arrival of letters from Edinburgh, the South, and Ladybank at 9 a.m.; from all parts, Edinburgh, and the South at 12.50 p.m.; from all parts, Edinburgh, South, and Ladybank at 7.25 p.m. Despatches to all parts at 6.25 a.m.; to Kinross at 8.25 a.m. and 6.40 p.m.; to Kinross and the West at 12.15 noon; to Edinburgh, South, and Ladybank at 3.30 p.m. Damhead, Arngask, and Duncricvie villages are served (by messenger) from Milnathort.

ABERDEEN,

OLD ABERDEEN, OLD MACHAR, CULTS, WOODSIDE, AND

NIGG (KINCARDINESHIRE).

The ancient and flourishing city and seaport of Aberdeen, the metropolis of the North of Scotland is situated at the mouth of the Dee, 117 miles (by rail) north from Edinburgh, 152 from Glasgow, 74 from Dundee, 152 S.E. by E. from Inverness (103 by road), 50 from Banff, 44 from Peterhead, 47 from Fraserburgh, 17 from Banchory Ternan, 32½ from Aboyne, and 43½ from Ballater. Aberdeen is the northern terminus of the Caledonian Railway at its junction with the Great North of Scotland railway system, including the Deeside railway. The city is of great antiquity, and for ages has been celebrated as a seat of learning, and since the introduction of railways and steamboats as a means of locomotion it has steadily increased in commercial importance and population. At the commencement of the seventeenth century a large number of small ships belonged to the port, and a considerable export and import trade for that period was carried on with the northern ports of the continent as well as with the English and Scotch coast. During the progress of the Civil War and the dreadful visitation of the plague this trade almost died out, again reviving in course of time, and in 1818 we find the number of vessels registered was 237, of the aggregate tonnage of 36,471. In later years, owing to the fact of vessels being constructed of larger size than formerly, the number of vessels belonging to the port had not so much increased as the tonnage, the shipping belonging to the port on the 31st of December in each of the following years being:—1866, 276 vessels, 91,830 tonnage; 1867, 272 vessels, 96,742 tonnage; 1868, 271 vessels, 98,059 tonnage; 1869, 270 vessels, 103,455 tonnage; 1870, 252 vessels, 101,944 tonnage; 1871, 244 vessels, 100,765 tonnage; 1872, 286 vessels, 101,188 tonnage; 1873, 235 vessels, 103,149 tonnage; 1874, 228 vessels, 107,411 tonnage; 1875, 215 vessels, 102,682 tonnage. The statistics of the trade of the port during the past five years show a steadily progressive increase, the exports in 1871 being 121,530 tons; 1872, 122,972 tons; 1873, 118,497 tons; 1874, 126,147 tons; 1875, 135,590 tons, consisting of cotton, flax, and woollen manufactured goods; paper, hides, soap, preserved provisions, beef and pork, oat-meal, corn, spirits, granite for paving purposes, wood for colliery purposes, and other miscellaneous goods. The imports during the same years in 1871 was 382,320 tons; 1872, 395,011 tons; 1873, 378,250 tons; 1874, 392,451 tons; 1875, 415,332 tons. The imports in 1875 of coals amounted to 209,512 tons; wood for shipbuilding purposes, 29,434 tons; iron, 8,889 tons; Esparto grass and rags, 8,903 tons (for paper making); chemicals, 4,421 tons; salt (principally for curing purposes), 7,463 tons; agricultural manures (lime, bones, Guano, and manufactured manures), 42,639 tons; corn, 22,847 tons; oil cake, linseed and rape seed (cattle food), 5,673 tons; sugar, 4,893 tons; slates, 5,532 tons; cement, 5,905. The number of animals exported and imported in 1874 were 31,664, and in 1875 33,927.

The valuation of lands and heritages in the city of Aberdeen in 1866-7 was £233,674; 1875-6, £323,194. The valuation of the railways, waterworks, and tramways within the burgh in 1875-6 was £13,848 and is not included in the amount given above. The number of municipal voters on the register 1875-6 was 12,149. The city parliamentary register 1875-6 contains 13,856 voters. The preceding figures though not including the enormous traffic by the two lines of railway give some idea of the present commercial prosperity of the port. Aberdeenshire is especially noted for granite. Since the first working of the quarries some 300 years ago it has grown to become a considerable source of wealth to the city. The houses of the city were principally built of wood up to the year of the great fire 1741 the magistrates and council then passed an act for the outer walls of all dwellings to be constructed of stone or brick. This and the demand for granite pavement for the streets of London gave a considerable impetus to the trade. From its unequalled durability it is largely used in the construction of docks, piers, bridges and other public works. The extensive granite polishing works in Aberdeen find employment for a large number of hands. The blocks from the quarry are here cut, sculptured, or polished to any design as may be ordered for tombs monuments or architectural embellishments. The demand for polished granite for the American, colonial as well as home requirements has largely increased during the past ten years and led to the establishment of new works annually. The manufacture of woollen goods has been located in the city and neighbourhood for upwards of 250 years. In the reign of Charles I. a patent was granted by his Majesty to the then Provost Jaffray and others for establishing a woollen manufactory in the Correction Wynd in the year 1636 for the production of broad cloth, serges, kerseys, &c., since which period it has been extensively carried on with varying success. The class of goods now produced include the celebrated Aberdeen winseys, unequalled in quality by any other manufacturers, also tweeds and other cloths, stockings and other hosiery, worsted and woollen yarns, &c. Flax spinning and the manufacture of linens is extensively carried on by Messrs. Richards & Co., Broadford Works, and cotton spinning at the Banner Mill by Messrs. Robinson, Crum, & Co., Limited, and the manufacture of tapes at the Rosemount Works by Messrs. Leslie, Gray, & Co. A new mill has recently been erected for jute spinning and manufacturing by a Joint Stock Co. Paper making is one of the most important branches of industry in the neighbourhood, the mill of Messrs. Pirie & Sons, of Stoneywood and Union Works, having been established about a century ago; the other manufacturers are Messrs. C. Davidson & Co., Limited, who are also manufacturers of paper bags, wrapping papers, &c., and the Culter Mills Paper Co., Limited. Paper for printing purposes is also manufactured by Messrs. Tait & Sons at their Inverurie mills. The manufacture of combs is extensively carried on by three firms here, also the manufacture of preserved provisions, including soups, fish, vegetables, &c. For the supply of cattle food, manures, and other agricultural materials, coals, &c., three Joint Stock Companies have been some years in successful operation, viz., the Aberdeen Commercial Co., Limited, the Aberdeen Lime Co., Limited, and the Northern Agricultural Co., Limited. These companies are large importers, and have agents or depots at the various railway stations in the country, the Northern Agricultural Co., just named, are also manufacturers of linseed oil, rape oil, linseed cake, &c. The shipbuilders of Aberdeen have obtained a world-wide celebrity for the fast sailing and other superior qualities of the vessels constructed by them, known as the "Aberdeen Clippers." These vessels, of yacht-like symmetry, are perfect models of beauty. The number and tonnage of vessels (iron and wood) built in each of the following years was as follows:—

1871, 11, 4,817 tonnage; 1872, 17, 11,449 tonnage; 1873, 19, 7,582 tonnage; 1874, 11, 8,860 tonnage; 1875, 9, 6,495. Several large roperies are in full operation here, also sail makers, ship riggers, boat builders, wrights and shipsmiths, and other traders connected with shipping. There are several large iron foundries, iron works, boiler makers, engineers, millwrights and machinists, and agricultural implement works, saw mills, timber yards, three distilleries, chemical works, colour, paint and varnish works, and corn mills, Aberdeen is one of the principal fishing stations on the coast, the herring fishery is prosecuted here with much success by several hundred boats during the season. The fish are cured and shipped to the continental and other markets. Haddock, codfish, and other descriptions are caught off the port and forwarded to the southern markets by rail. Large supplies of game, poultry, &c. are also despatched from Aberdeen and adjacent district to the same destination. The salmon fisheries of the Dee and Don rivers, and the adjacent coast are important, though of late years there has been a marked decline in this branch of the fishery. Large supplies of meat of prime quality in carcase are forwarded from Aberdeen to the London market by railway and steamer weekly. The first banking company formed in the city commenced operations in 1752 and not answering the expectations of its founders had but a short existence. The Aberdeen Banking Company, formed in 1766 was, however, thoroughly successful, and for a lengthened period was the principal bank in the North of Scotland. In the year 1849 it was incorporated with the Union Bank of Scotland, sinking its original title. The Union Bank of Scotland occupy handsome premises in Castle-street with branches in Union-street (west), and George-street, Aberdeen, also in the principal towns in Scotland. The Aberdeen Town and County Bank, established upwards of half a century, has branches in every town and village of importance in the county, also in the counties of Banff, Kincardine, Inverness, &c. The head office of the bank in Aberdeen, in Union-street at the corner of St. Nicholas street, is a fine building, occupying a central position in the business portion of the town, with branches on the Quay, at the west end of Union-street, in George-street, and at the village of Woodside. The North of Scotland Banking Co., Aberdeen, was established in 1836, the head office of the Bank, situated at the corner of King-street, in Castle-street is a building displaying considerable taste on the part of the architect. The bank has established a market branch in Exchange-street, a branch in Union-street (west), and in George-street, as well as in every town and village in the counties of Aberdeen, Banff, Kincardine, &c. In addition to the above there are branches of the under-mentioned banks in the city, viz., the Royal Bank of Scotland, the National Bank of Scotland, the City of Glasgow Bank, the British Linen Company's Bank, and the Commercial Bank of Scotland. The National Security Savings' Bank of Aberdeen, in Exchange-street is a flourishing institution, designed for the special benefit of the working classes and small depositors generally. The Lord Provost of the city and members of Parliament for the city and county, and other influential gentlemen are trustees and managers of the bank. Two prosperous and wealthy fire and life assurance companies have their head offices in Aberdeen, the Northern, established in 1836, and the Scottish Provincial, established in 1825, also two marine assurance companies. Visitors to Aberdeen will find ample first-class hotel accommodation at the "Douglas" in Market-street, the "Imperial" in Stirling-street, and the "Palace" in Union-street. There are other highly respectable inns and temperance hotels, as mentioned in the classified directory. The city returns one member to the imperial parliament; the present member is John Fairley Leith,

Esq. Two newspapers are published daily in Aberdeen, in addition to several weeklies. The names of the papers and publishers, with the days of issue, will be found under the head Newspapers in the classified list of the Directory. The newspapers generally are ably edited and largely circulated amongst all classes of the community in the city and the north of Scotland and other parts of the Kingdom. The number of newspapers circulated amongst the working classes is very great, owing to the creditable fact that however humble the Aberdonian labourer may be he is able to read and write. Aberdeen is largely resorted to for sea bathing purposes in the summer season. The beach, extending several miles, being composed of fine hard sand, is especially adapted for the purpose. Bathing carriages and hot sea water baths have been established on the beach by the Messrs. Duncan, who during the past season have received well-merited encomiums from their numerous visitors. In several quarters of the city are numerous interesting specimens of old street architecture. The streets that have been laid out and the buildings erected, however, during the past half century are in striking contrast to the older portions of the town. The principal street, Union-street, is one of which the Aberdonians are justly proud, being of great length and width, the buildings being erected with due regard to uniformity in style of architecture, the material (grey granite) employed in their construction presenting a light and cleanly appearance. Various improvements are projected in different parts of the city, and will probably ere long be carried out. The construction of a bridge across the new channel of the Dee is now likely to be proceeded with; the site selected will probably be in a line with Market-street. The fearful catastrophe by which 32 lives were lost on the sacramental fast day in the spring of 1875, caused by upsetting of the ferry boat to the Torry side of the river, has demonstrated the necessity of the erection of the bridges without further delay. The various institutions of a charitable, social, educational, and humane character are numerous, and will not allow description in this portion of the work, but can be found under the head Public Buildings, &c., in the Directory.

CHURCHES AND CHAPELS.

The East and West Churches are one building in the Gothic style of architecture, erected on the site of the ancient parish church of St. Nicholas. St. Clement's or Foot Dee Church has a tower 45 feet high, with a clock presented by the magistrates. Greyfriars or College Church stands on the east of Broad-street, near Marischal College. St. Andrews or Scotch Episcopalian Chapel, in King-street, is an elegant edifice built in 1813. The South Church, in Belmont-street, is in the Gothic style. The North Church, in King-street, is a handsome building in the Grecian style. Old Machar Church is situated at the north extremity of Old Aberdeen in the parish of Old Machar. In addition to these places of worship, there are others for various denominations, the names of which, with their officiating ministers will be found on a subsequent page.

The two colleges which form the University of Aberdeen are very ancient seminaries of learning, King's College in Old Aberdeen, and Marischal College, near Mars Castle, the former was instituted in 1494, and the later building was finished in 1841 at a cost of £38,000. The Grammar School is at the west end of the town, and is a handsome building in the Scotch baronial style. The Asylum for the Blind is in Huntly-street. The inmates are taught various trades, and manufacture ropes, twines, nets, baskets, matting, &c. The Institution for the Education of the Deaf and Dumb in Belmont-street is well worthy of mention, The Old Mill Reformatory School is conducted on principles that have elicited the approbation of numerous visitors from all parts of the Kingdom, the same remarks applies to the Industrial School, Skene-square, where, under the management of Mr. Shearer and assistants the boys and girls are taught various trades to enable them on leaving the school to earn a respectable livelihood. C. F. Runcy, Esq., advocate, Aberdeen, is the secretary of both these institutions. There are various other educational institutions a list of which will be found in the directory.

The accommodation in the Old Post Office not being sufficiently ample to meet the rapidly increasing business of the department particularly since the purchase of the telegraphs by Government a handsome new building has been erected at the foot of Market-street, which affords ample room for the present and immediate future requirements of the city. The following figures will give some idea of the increase of post office business since the year 1866. Letters, &c., delivered at Aberdeen in 1866 was 72,538 per week, 3,771,976 in the year; in 1870, 80,556 per week; 4,188,912 in the year; in 1875, 90,126 per week; 4,686,552. The money orders issued and paid during the year 1875 were:—Head office—issued, 29,684; value, £55,836 10s. 7d. Branch offices—issued, 8,732; value, 13,576 17s. 1d. Totals—issued, 38,416; value, £69,413 7s. 8d. Head office—paid, 51,563; amount, £98,764 16s. 6d. Branch offices—paid, 620; amount, £880 17s. Totals—paid, 52,183; amount, £99,645 13s. 6d.

The market for cattle is held weekly on Wednesday. Friday is the general weekly market day for corn, agricultural produce of all kinds, merchandise, &c., the markets are largely attended. The wool fairs in Aberdeen are held on the last Thursday and Friday in June and the Thursday and Friday of the first and second weeks in July. Hiring or feeing markets for farm, &c., servants are held on the Fridays before and after the 26th of May and on the Fridays before and after the 22nd November.

OLD ABERDEEN is about a mile to the north of the city, in the parish of Old Machar. The principal curiosity in the neighbourhood is the old bridge, which crosses the river Don by one Gothic pointed arch, the only structure of the kind in Scotland, said to have been erected by Robert Bruce. The parish of Old Machar lies in the peninsula between the Dee and the Don, where they join the ocean, being from seven to eight miles in length and four in breadth.

NIGG is a parish in Kincardineshire, bounded on the north by the Dee, and on the south and west by Banchory-Davenick. It is four miles in length and two in breadth. The coast is bold and rocky, the north-east point, called Girdleness, is a remarkable promontory, and forms the south side of the estuary of the Dee. The villages of Torry and Cove are in this parish.

ALFORD,

GLENBUCKET, STRATHDON, KEIG, KILDRUMMY, MIDMARR, TOUGH, TOWIE, AND TULLYNESSLE WITH FORBES.

ALFORD is an agricultural parish, about seven miles in length and three in breadth. The village of Alford, very pleasantly situated, presents a particularly clean and respectable appearance. It is the terminus of the Alford Valley branch of the Great North of Scotland Railway, 29 miles (by rail) from Aberdeen and 16 from Kintore junction. There are three branch banks, a first-class hotel, several large general merchants and dealers establishments in the village, a considerable business being transacted with a wide and important agricultural district. Markets are held for Scotch cattle and other live stock (English, Irish, and foreign beasts being prohibited) every third Tuesday. The half-yearly feeing markets being held on the Mondays before the 26th May, and the 22nd November.

KEIG is a parish between three and four miles in diameter, nearly circular in form, is intersected by the river Don, and is distant about 25 miles from Aberdeen. There is a railway station at Whitehouse, on the Alford Valley line.

GLENBUCKET is a small parish in the district of Marr, four miles in length and one in breadth, situated on both sides of the Bucket, a tributary stream to the Don, and 29 miles from Huntly. The ruins of Badenyon House, alluded to in the popular Scotch song of John of Badenyon, are in this parish.

STRATHDON is a parish situated between Glenbucket and Kildrummy. This, as well as the parishes in the district, is well stocked with game, and is largely resorted to during the shooting season. A conveyance carrying the mails and passengers runs daily from Strathdon and Lumsden village to the Gartly railway station, on the Great North of Scotland Railway.

KILDRUMMY is a parish about 16 miles from Huntly and 35 from Aberdeen, and is situated in a valley. The castle of Kildrummy is a ruin of great antiquity, covering an acre of ground, and was distinguished by its seven towers, one of which, from the whiteness of its stones, was called the Snow Tower. Markets are held on the third Thursday in each month, except August, September, and October.

MIDMARR is a parish about 4½ miles in length and 4 in breadth, situated about 15 miles from Aberdeen. The Hill of Fare, which is the principal eminence in this part, is about 1,800 feet above the sea level. Near the southern boundary is the Vale of Corrichie.

TOUGH parish is 22 miles from Aberdeen. Several druidical temples may be seen in this district, one of which, on the hill about two miles from the church, still retains the name of the Old Kirk of Tough. The Alford Valley Railway passes through the parish; the station is at Tillyfourie.

TOWIE is a parish 23 miles from Huntly, and is watered by the Don, which flows through it from east to west. The general appearance of the country is hilly, and the eminences are mostly covered with heath.

TULLYNESSLE and FORBES are united parishes, situated on the North bank of the river Don, 18 miles from Huntly and 27 from Aberdeen. The appearance of the country is hilly, or rather mountainous; some of the hills are of considerable altitude, and game is abundant.

AUCHTERLESS,

FORGUE, MONQUHITTER, CUMINESTOWN, AND GARMOND.

AUCHTERLESS is an agricultural parish, intersected by the river Ythan and by the Great North of Scotland Railway from Aberdeen to Banff. The Auchterless station is 34½ miles from Aberdeen, 16½ from Inverurie, 13 from Banff Bridge, and 4 from Turriff. In the parish (which is seven miles long and three in breadth) are the remains of an extensive fortified camp.

FORGUE is an extensive parish adjoining Auchterless. The well known Glendronach distillery in this parish is situated about nine miles from Huntly; Mr. Scott, the principal partner, is a successful breeder of superior short-horned cattle.
 The parish lies between the two sections of the Great North of Scotland Railway to Keith and Banff respectively; the Huntly station on the former route and Turriff or Rothie Norman stations on the latter are generally selected by persons visiting the parish.

MONQUHITTER is a parish bounded on the east by New Deer, on the west by Turriff, on the north by King Edward, and on the south by Fyvie.
 The parish extends about six miles from east to west, and nine from north to south, and is watered by two small rivers abounding with excellent trout. The surface of the parish is uneven and arable in the lower parts. Cuminstown and Garmond are villages in this parish. In the former is a branch bank and several good shops.

BALLATER,

GLENMUICK, GLENGAIRN, TULLOCH, AND PANNANICH WELLS.

GLENMUICK in the district of Marr and presbytery of Kincardine-O'Neil is a parish 18 miles long and 15 broad, bounded on the north by Strathdon and Leochel Cushnie, contains the village of Ballater, the terminus of the Dee side line of railway, situated in the midst of scenery the most interesting and beautiful in the country. The village and district since the opening of the railway has been largely visited by tourists, for whose accommodation there is a first-class hotel and a number of private residences and respectable lodgings. Balmoral Castle being within a few miles, the village is occasionally honoured by visits from Her Majesty. During the residence of Her Majesty at Balmoral a military guard of honour is stationed at Ballater, a very neat and comfortable small barracks having been erected for their accommodation. The Union Bank and the North of Scotland Banking Co. have agents in the village, and the Aberdeen Town and County Bank have an agent at the Bridge of Gairn, in the parish. A list of the merchants and traders will be found in the Directory. Within a short distance of Ballater is the picturesque Loch Cannor, in which is an island with the ruins of an ancient castle or hunting seat, supposed to have been built by the noted Malcolm Canmore. The ruins of Knock Castle and Birk Hall, one of the Prince of Wales' shooting boxes, are in this parish, also several seats of gentry and landed proprietors. Two miles from Ballater are the mineral wells, baths, and hotel of Pannanich, on the banks of the Dee. The mineral waters are found very efficacious in cases of dyspepsia, scrofula, and other complaints. The hotel is a well conducted establishment, and the number of visitors annually increasing. The parishes of Glengairn and Tulloch are incorporated with Glenmuick. The places of worship are the Established Churches at Ballater and Glengairn, Free Churches at Glenmuick and Cromar, and a Roman Catholic Chapel at Glengairn. In addition to the schools already in existence in the parish a new public school has been recently erected at Glengairn by the School Board; the building is in the Gothic style of architecture, and affords accommodation for 80 pupils. Fairs are held at Ballater on the first Tuesday in May and the second Monday and Tuesday in September (o.s.), and on the Saturday previous to the 22nd of November (n.s.).

Post Office, Ballater, Elizabeth Farquharson, post-mistress.—Letters from all parts arrive (in summer) at 10.30 a.m., 2 p.m., and 7.45 p.m., and are despatched at 7 a.m., 12.15 noon, and 6 p.m. Two mails only during the winter season. Telegraph, Money Order Office, and Savings' Bank.

CRATHIE,

BRAEMAR, BALMORAL, AND CASTLETOWN.

CRATHIE, a parish 51 miles distant from Aberdeen, situated among the Grampian mountains, in the centre of the district of Marr, is an extensive tract of mountainous country, formerly called the Forest of Marr, situated at a considerable elevation above the level of the sea. Ballater, the terminus of the Deeside section of the Great North of Scotland Railway, the nearest railway station to the parish, is about nine miles from the small village and post office of Crathie.

BRAEMAR, formerly a separate parish, but now incorporated with that of Crathie, is situated about 60 miles from Aberdeen. In this district a considerable portion of the ancient forest remains uncleared, and is largely stocked with deer. Owing to its healthy and beautiful situation, Balmoral Castle in this parish, was selected by Her Majesty the Queen and the late lamented Prince Consort, as a place of residence and retirement. Her Majesty spends a considerable portion of each year in this her favourite highland home, to the great delight of the inhabitants, to whom Her Majesty has become endeared by many acts of kind condescension and interest she takes in their welfare. A very large number of visitors are attracted during the summer season to this wild and romantic neighbourhood, especially during the time of Her Majesty's residence at the Castle. A short distance from Balmoral is Abergeldie Castle, the seat of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, and several noblemen and gentlemen have seats or shooting boxes in the parish.

CASTLETOWN (Braemar) is a village on the military-road from Blairgowrie to Fort George. The river Cluny passes through and divides the village, one side of the river being named Auchendyrne. At Lochnagar in this parish is Mr. John Begg's celebrated distillery of pure Highland whisky. The Lochnagar whisky, in addition to being under the special patronage of royalty, is highly esteemed by connoisseurs. Lochnagar mountain rises to the height of 3,789 feet above the level of the sea. The highest mountain in the parish is Ben Muich Dhui, 4,295 feet elevation. The lakes, or Lochs Callader and Brotachan in this neighbourhood, are fairly stocked with trout, salmon, and eels.

Post Office, Braemar, John Henry, postmaster.—Letters from all parts arrive at five minutes before one, and are despatched at half-past four morning, box closes at ten o'clock the previous night. Money Order Office.

Post Office, Crathie, Chas. Thomson, postmaster.—Letters from all parts arrive at twenty minutes before 12 morning, and are despatched at five minutes before 6 morning, box closes at ten o'clock the previous night. During three months in the summer season there is an additional mail.

ECHT,

DRUMOAK, KINELLAR, NEWHILLS, PETERCULTER, SKENE, BLACKBURN, BUXBURN, AUCHMILL, AND STONEYWOOD.

ECHT is a parish containing the village of its name, situated 12 miles west of Aberdeen and about 8½ miles from the Banchory station, on the Deeside section of the G. N. of Scotland Railway. The parish is about five miles in length and the same in breadth, the greater portion of which is under cultivation. Duncricht House, one of the seats of the Earl of Crawford and Balcarres, is the only residence of note. The places of worship are the Established and Free Churches. Fairs are held on the first Monday in every month, with the following exceptions—when they are held on the second Monday in May, the day before Michaelmas fair in October, and the second Tuesday in November.

DRUMOAK parish is about four miles in length and the same in breadth, and is intersected by the Deeside line, on which there are two stations. The chief portion of the parish is in Aberdeenshire, and the remainder in the adjoining county of Kincardine. The parish is situated about ten miles from Aberdeen, its post town.

KINELLAR is an agricultural parish about eight miles from Aberdeen. It contains the pleasant village of Blackburn, situated two miles from the Kinaldie railway station, on the Great North of Scotland main line. The high road from Aberdeen to Inverness passes through the parish.

NEWHILLS is a parish situated five miles from Aberdeen, its post town.

BUXBURN is a thriving village in the parish, and is a station on the main line of the Great North of Scotland Railway. Messrs. Alexander Pirie & Sons paper mills at Stoneywood in this parish are very extensive. Messrs. C. Davidson & Sons, Limited, Mugiemoss Works, are also paper makers and paper bag manufacturers on a large scale. There are several granite quarries and corn mills in the parish. The places of worship are the Established, the Free, and the Episcopal Churches.

PETERCULTER is a parish about eight miles in length and six in breadth, is situated on the banks of the Dee, and intersected by the Deeside line of railway, on which there are stations at Murtle, Milltimber, and Culter, in the parish; the latter is 7¼ miles from Aberdeen, its post town. Paper making is extensively carried on here by the Culter Mills Paper Co., Limited, at their works near the Culter station. There is also a manufactory for woollen goods. A portion of the parish is under cultivation; the surface of the remainder is rocky, marshy, and otherwise unfitted for agricultural purposes. Established and Free Churches in the parish.

SKENE parish is about eight miles from Aberdeen, its post town, and about the same distance from the Kintore Junction station, on the G. N. of Scotland line. The parish, eight miles long and four broad, is agricultural, with the exception of the large mill of Messrs. Alex. Hadden & Sons, woollen manufacturers. Established and Free Churches in the parish. A fair is held on the Tuesday before Easter.

ELLON,

BELHELIVIE, CRUDEN, FOVERAN, NEWBURGH, LOGIE-BUCHAN, AND, SLAINS.

ELLON is a parish containing the town of its name, and is situated on the banks of the river Ythan, 16 miles from Aberdeen. The Portmartine and Buchan section of the Great North of Scotland Railway intersects the parish and has a station about half-a-mile from the town. The distance by rail from Ellon to Aberdeen is 19½ miles, to Peterhead 24½, and Fraserburgh 26. Ellon enjoys a considerable trade with the adjacent agricultural parishes, and contains numerous wholesale and retail establishments, also three branch banks, viz.:—The Union Bank, the Aberdeen Town and County, and the North of Scotland Bank. The manufacture of boots and shoes is also carried on here to some extent and is growing in importance. Ellon was the ancient seat of jurisdiction of the Earldom of Buchan. The Court of Earldom was held on a slight eminence now called the Moathill of Ellon, formerly Earlsbill. Being very pleasantly situated the town is largely resorted to during the summer season by visitors from Aberdeen and other places. The river Ythan is also noted for its trout fishing. Pearls are occasionally found in the river. The celebrated pearl in the Crown of Scotland was found in this river and pearls of various sizes are still found. The New Inn here is a very comfortable and well-conducted establishment. The places of worship are Established and Free churches, and others for United Presbyterian and Episcopal congregations. There are several public schools in the parish. The market is held on the first and third Monday in each month, also on Tuesday after the 11th of May, and on the Wednesday after the 12th of November. Ellon is the seat of a presbytery comprising the parishes of Ellon, Cruden, Foveran, Logie Buchan, Methlie, Slains, Tarves, Uduy and Barthol (the latter quoad sacra).

BELHELIVIE, eight miles from and in the presbytery and postal district of Aberdeen is a parish situated on the coast; a portion of the land is under cultivation.

CRUDEN, eight miles from Ellon its post town, is an extensive parish on the Buchan coast about nine miles in length and seven broad. The high road from Aberdeen to Peterhead runs through the parish which is bounded on the west by Ellon and Longside and Peterhead on the North. The coast in this and adjoining parishes is composed of a series of precipitous rocks and deep chasms—the Bullers of Buchan—a singular conformation of rocks into which the sea rushes and boils with tremendous fury, is one of the natural wonders worthy of note. In this parish are several of the largest granite quarries in the county. Omnibuses run from Peterhead also from Ellon to Cruden daily.

The parish of Foveran contains the village of Newburgh, situated 12 miles from Aberdeen on the coast at the mouth of the river Ythan, across which stream a new bridge is being erected. A large trade is carried on in coal, manures, lime, bones, &c., and there is a branch bank and a good inn in the village. The nearest railway stations are at Logierieve 5 miles distant or Ellon about 6 miles.

LOGIE-BUCHAN, 3 miles from Ellon its post town, and 13 miles from Aberdeen, is a parish intersected by the river Ythan which is here navigable some three miles from its mouth at Newburgh.

SLAINS is a parish on the south-east coast and extremity of the Buchan district 6 miles east from Ellon its post town. Slains Castle the seat of the Earl of Errol is built on rocks rising almost perpendicular from the German Ocean. The view from the castle, of the ocean and coast during the prevalence the furious storms which occasionally visit the coast, is awfully grand. Collieston and Old Castle are small villages.

FRASERBURGH

Is a parish and burgh of barony, containing the flourishing seaport town of that name, and is situated on the south side of Kinnaird Head, the Taixalum promontory of Pliny. It is distant by rail 47½ miles from Aberdeen, and 26 from Peterhead, and by road 42 miles from Aberdeen, 22 from Banff, and 151 from Edinburgh. It has an excellent harbour, and is one of the most important herring fishing stations on the east coast. The arrival of the fishermen with their families, and others who assist in the curing operations, in the month of July, almost doubles the population of the town, and creates considerable excitement, and what is of more importance, is a great source of wealth to its traders and the inhabitants generally, who use every effort to accommodate their visitors, who are increasing rapidly with each succeeding year. The town, originally built in the form of a square, has been considerably extended during the last few years, owing to the increased success of the fishing operations. The streets are kept in excellent order, and are lighted with gas. The affairs of the burgh are regulated by a provost, a baron baillie, and twelve councillors. A Sheriffs, Small Debt Court is held quarterly in the Town House. There are two first-class hotels in the town, also several good inns. The banking interest is represented by four establishments, viz., the Aberdeen Town and County Bank, the Bank of Scotland, the North of Scotland Banking Co., and the Union Bank of Scotland. There is an excellent harbour, which was much improved by powers conferred by Act of Parliament, 2 and 3 Victoria, cap. 65. The Balaklava harbour contains an area of 14 acres, the North harbour 3½ acres, and the South harbour 5 acres. There are four quays, of the aggregate length of 3,700 feet, two entrances from the sea—one between the North and South piers, 70 feet wide, and one to the Balaklava harbour, 110 feet wide. The South harbour is entered from the North harbour by an entrance of 36 feet in the pier which separates them; the depth of water on sill, ordinary spring tides, is 13 feet 3. The present harbours having been found insufficient for the growing wants and safe refuge of the large fleet of fishing boats and other vessels frequenting the port, an Act of Parliament has been obtained for further extension and improvements of the harbour. It is proposed to widen the present Balaklava pier by adding an additional breadth of 15 feet for 1,000 feet; a parapet wall will also be erected along the back of the Balaklava pier, 13 feet from the surface of the pier, and 23 feet above high water mark, an addition of 7 feet, which will give much greater protection from the waves. The extension will consist of a breakwater, running from the present termination of Balaklava pier in an east south-east direction to the length of 680 feet, thence in a south south-east direction for a further length of 180 feet, terminating on the rock known as the Outer Bush. The new breakwater will be 30 feet wide at the outer end, and will completely protect the harbour entrances from all points at which they are at present exposed, and consequently facilitate access and egress. The works are estimated to cost £60,000, which sum the Public Works Commissioners have advanced on loan. The Harbour Commissioners have fortunately secured the services of John H. Bostock, Esq., c.e., as resident engineer. The foundation stone was laid amidst great demonstration of rejoicing on the 23rd of October, 1875, by the Right Honourable Lord Saltoun, of Philorth House, superior hereditary provost of the burgh, a nobleman who has taken a kindly interest in the undertaking. Sir Alexander Anderson, baron baillie of the burgh, and the Harbour Commissioners, of which he is the chairman, have been indefatigable in their exertions to obtain the sanction of the imperial parliament to the undertaking and the necessary means to carry it out, and are deserving of the highest praise. There is a useful patent slip in the harbour for vessels up to 400 tons burthen, and a tolerable road for shipping in a bay nearly three miles in length and upwards of one in breadth. The places of worship consist of a Church of the Establishment, a Free Church, a Scotch Episcopal Chapel, and one each for United Presbyterians, Congregationalists, and Baptists. There are also several private and public schools in the parish. The markets, chiefly for corn, are held on Tuesday and Friday, fairs on the second Wednesday in March, second Thursday in June, and second Friday in September (all old style).

GARIOCH,

CLUNY, CULSALMOND, DAVIOT, INSCH, KEMNAY, LESLIE, MONYMUSK, OYNE, PITCAPLE, PREMAY, AND RAYNE.

GARIOCH (or the Chapel of Garioch or Logie-Durno), is an extensive parish and seat of a presbytery, situated about 20 miles from Aberdeen, 5 from Inverurie, 20 from Huntly, 30 from Banff, and 33½ from Keith. The main line of the Great North of Scotland Railway passes through the parish, the Pitcaple Station on this line being situated about 1¼ miles from the Parish Church (or Chapel) of Garioch. The battle of Harlow was fought in this district in 1411, between the Earl of Marr, and Donald, Earl of the Isles. In this desperately contested and bloody engagement many of the members of the first Scottish families were engaged, also the then Lord Provost of the City of Aberdeen. The ruins of the Castle of Balquhine are in this parish, and are particularly noted for a fine echo, said to be the most distinct in North Britain. The district is principally agricultural.

CLUNY is also an agricultural parish of considerable extent, situated about 18 miles from Aberdeen, 9 from Inverurie, and a short distance from the Monymusk Station on the Alford Valley branch of the Great North of Scotland Railway. Castle Cluny and Castle Fraser, erected about the commencement of the 15th century, are both in this parish. There are also several remains of druidical temples, cairns, &c.

CULSALMOND, 28 miles from Aberdeen, and about 10 miles from Huntly, is an agricultural parish, noted for its fertility. In the adjoining parish, Insch, is a station on the main line of the Great North of Scotland Railway. The annual fair of St. Sairs in Culsalmund is held on the Wednesday after the last Tuesday in June (old style).

DAVIOT, a parish in the district of Garioch, is 19 miles north-west from Aberdeen, and is about five miles in length by four in breadth; the surface is level, and has a south-eastern exposure. It has two druidical temples, one of which forms part of the churchyard. The small village of Daviot contains a church of the Establishment, and a school belonging to it.

INSCH is a parish, burgh of barony, and village in the Garioch district, 27½ miles from Aberdeen, 13 from Huntly, and 26 from Keith. Insch enjoys a considerable trade with the surrounding agricultural districts, contains various merchants establishments, three Branch Banks, a Savings' Bank, a large corn mill, &c. Blue slate is obtained from quarries on the hill of Foudlan in this parish. Railway communication is afforded by the main line of the Great North of Scotland Railway; the station is situated about a quarter of a mile from the village. An Established Church, a Free Church, and a Congregational Chapel are the places of worship.

LESLIE is a parish adjoining Insch, in the Garioch district. A church of the Establishment, a Free Church, and a Congregational Chapel are the places of worship. The inhabitants are principally engaged in agricultural pursuits.

KEMNAY is a parish and railway station, situated about 4 miles from Inverurie, 18 from Aberdeen, and 11½ from Alford, on the branch line of railway to the latter place. In the parish are several extensive granite quarries. The neighbourhood of Kemnay is very picturesque. Kemnay House and grounds are particularly worthy of notice.

MONYMUSK parish is about seven miles long, and from four to five broad, and is distant from Inverurie eight miles. The village is well built, in form of a square, with the church in the centre, and the houses being constructed of granite, the place altogether has a remarkably neat and clean appearance. The railway station, on the Alford branch of the Great North of Scotland Line, is about half-a-mile from the village.

OYNE, a parish in Garioch district, stretching about six miles in length, by from two to three in breadth, is mostly of a fertile and cheering aspect. Aberdeen is about 25 miles distant, and Huntly 14 miles. Oyne is also a station on the main line of the railway just named. In this parish may be seen the ruins of an old castle, which tradition states to have belonged at one time to the family of Leith.

PREMAY is an agricultural parish, lying to the west of Oyne, by which it is bounded. It is situated 24 miles from Aberdeen.

RAYNE is an agricultural parish 4½ miles in length and about 3 in breadth. In the central part of the parish stands the village of Rayne, 3½ miles from Pitcaple, its post town and railway station, and on the public road, along the Urie, is the little village of Old Rayne, distant 24 miles N.W. from Aberdeen and 9 from Inverurie; it is in Rayne that the church is situated. An annual fair is held on the second Tuesday in August, on the Thursday before the 26th May, and the Thursday before the 22nd November.

CAIRNIE, GLASS, DRUMBLADE, AND GARTLY.

HUNTLY, one of the market towns in the county, is a burgh of barony, the seat of a presbytery, and a station on the main line of the Great North of Scotland Railway, situated 40½ miles (by rail) from Aberdeen, 156½ from Edinburgh, 192 from Glasgow, 24½ from Inverurie, 12½ from Keith, and 24 from Banff; the distance by road to Edinburgh is 123 miles, to Inverness 66, and to Fochabers 18. The town of Huntly presents a particularly respectable appearance; many of the buildings are of modern erection, and the business premises of most of the merchants and traders are large and well stocked with commodities of every description. Several branch banking establishments, agricultural implement works, woollen and hosiery manufactories, &c., flourish here, in addition to a large general trade with an extensive and important agricultural district. Visitors find every accommodation at and excellent hotel, or at the several inns in the town. Stewart's Hall, in Gordon-street, recently erected, contains a large room, well adapted for public meetings, concerts, or other amusements. The lofty tower (in which it is intended, we believe, to place a clock, illuminated by night) is a notable feature in the surrounding landscape. The town occupies a healthy situation, on a point of land at the junction of the small rivers Bogie and Deveron, each of which streams are crossed by a bridge. Within a short distance of the town are the interesting ruins of Huntly Castle, the ancient residence of the Gordon family. The castle was laid in ruins after the battle of Glenlivet, in the year 1594. Huntly Lodge, the residence of Michael Hughes, Esq., is a modern mansion, situated in the beautiful grounds surrounding the castle. The places of worship are the Parish, Free and Episcopal Churches, United Presbyterian, Congregational, and Roman Catholic Chapels. Several public and charitable educational establishments are well sustained and conducted with ability. The Gordon Schools were opened in 1841, by the late Duchess of Gordon. The school premises, which are handsome and fitted in every convenient way for their purpose, comprise four departments, namely, the parochial school, the school of the Free church, the industrial school, and one for the infants; the teachers of the two latter classes have residences in the establishment. A home for the aged, founded and endowed by the late Alex. Scott, Esq., of Craibstone House, affords an asylum for the aged destitute of both sexes. Markets for cattle are held on the first and third Wednesday of every month, and for horses on the 1st Wednesdays in January, March, July, and October. Markets for hiring servants are held on the Thursday before the 26th May, the second Thursday in July, and the Thursday before the 22nd November. The harvest hiring market is held on the Thursday before the 3rd Wednesday in July.

CAIRNIE (near Huntly) is a large parish, the chief portion of which is in Banffshire, and the remainder in Aberdeenshire. Though mountainous for the most part, the land is cultivated as far as possible, and produces average crops. The village is situated six miles from Huntly, its post town.

GLASS, 8½ miles from Huntly, is an agricultural parish, also situated in the two counties of Aberdeenshire and Banff.

DRUMBLADE, six miles from Huntly, its post town, is also an agricultural parish, about 5½ miles in length and 4½ in breadth.

GARTLY parish, of which the Duke of Richmond and Gordon is the sole landed proprietor, is twelve miles long and six broad, situated partly in Aberdeenshire and partly in the adjoining county of Banff. Gartly is a station on the Great North of Scotland Railway, 35½ miles from Aberdeen, and five from Huntly. An omnibus, conveying passengers to Rhynie, Lumsden, and the Strathdon district, leaves the station every week-day afternoon. The parish, which contains a quarry of blue slate, is generally hilly, but extensive tracts are in a high state of cultivation.

Post Office, The Square, Huntly, John Porter, postmaster.—Letters arrive from all parts at 9.10 a.m. and 1.5 p.m. and are despatched thereto at 9 a.m. at 12.50 noon at 4 p.m. in winter, and in summer at 7 p.m. Letters arrive from the north at 9.55 a.m. and 1.50 p.m. and are despatched thereto at 12.20 noon. A bag from Aberdeen every Saturday night at seven. Letters arrive on Sundays (by mail gig from Keith), at 5.30 p.m. and are despatched thereto at 7 a.m. Money Order Office, Telegraph and Savings' Bank.

Post Office, Gartly, John Dallas, postmaster.—Letters arrive from Aberdeen and the South at 9.45 a.m. and 12.50 noon, and from the north at 10 a.m. and are despatched to Aberdeen and the South at 8.20 a.m. and 4.20 p.m. (in summer the afternoon despatch is three hours later), to the north at 9.40 a.m. and 12.30 noon. Nearest Money Order Office is at Huntly.

INVERURIE,

KEITH HALL, PORT ELPHINSTONE, KINMUICK, KINKELL, AND KINTORE.

INVERURIE is a very ancient royal burgh, town, and parish, bounded on the south by the river Don and on the north by the river Urie (from which the parish takes its name). The town is situated on the main line of the Great North of Scotland Railway, 16 miles from Aberdeen, 24½ from Huntly, 22½ from Turriff, 33½ from Banff Bridge and Macduff, 5 from Old Meldrum, and 10 from Dyce Junction. The local government of the burgh is vested in a provost, three bailies, a treasurer, and four councillors, and in conjunction with Banff, Cullen, Elgin, Kintore, and Peterhead returns a member to the imperial parliament. These places, styled the Elgin district of burghs, have constituencies 1875-6 numbering 3,627, of which number 385 are located in Inverurie. Mountstuart Elphinstone Grant Duff, Esq., is the present member. The Town Hall is a fine granite building, occupying a commanding situation at the head of the Market place; in addition to offices, &c., it contains a large room suitable for public meetings, judicial proceedings, &c. The Sheriff Court for the recovery of small debts is held here quarterly in March, June, October, and December. Inverurie is pleasantly situated in the midst of a very picturesque district, and is a favourite resort during the summer season, the rivers before named affording ample sport to the angler. The Kintore Arms, a very superior hotel in every respect, is conveniently situated near the railway station, and contains baths, a library, and every requisite for the comfort of visitors. Keith Hall, in the adjoining parish, is the residence of the Earl of Kintore, who derives the title of baron from Inverurie. The local trade of the town is in a thriving condition, the cattle markets are largely attended by both buyers and sellers of stock, large quantities of meat in carcase is forwarded to the London market weekly, the tanning of leather is extensively carried on by Mr. Davidson. Four banking companies have branch establishments in the town, and in addition to the hotel before named there are several respectable inns. With reference to the early history of Inverurie it may be mentioned that in the preamble to the oldest charter in existence (one granted to the burgh by Queen Mary) it is stated that Inverurie had been a burgh from time immemorial; according to tradition, however, King Robert erected it into a burgh to commemorate a victory gained by him in the neighbourhood. The places of worship in the parish are Established and Free Churches, and Episcopalian, Congregational and Methodist Chapels, and a Roman Catholic Chapel. Several of these are of considerable architectural pretensions, and are striking features in the town. A new Free Church in the Gothic style of architecture—with spire, is in course of erection in West High street; this handsome edifice will replace the church formerly used for worship in the same neighbourhood. There are public schools affording ample accommodation for the present educational requirements of the district. Markets are held every third week:—2nd January, 23rd January (cattle), 13th February, 6th March, 27th March, 17th April, 8th and 29th May (cattle), Wednesday before 26th May (feeing), 19th June (cattle), 10th and 31st July (cattle—and 4th Tuesday (feeing), 21st August (cattle), 11th September (cattle), 2nd and 23rd October (cattle), 13th and Wednesday before 22nd November (cattle), 4th and 25th December (cattle).

PORT ELPHINSTONE, on the opposite bank of the Don, a short distance to the south of Inverurie, but connected with it by the bridge erected in 1791, is a pleasant village, near which are the extensive works of Messrs. Tait, paper makers and millers.

KINTORE is also a royal burgh, town, parish, and railway station, 13 miles from Aberdeen, 3 from Inverurie, and 16 from Alford by the branch railway, which here joins the G. N. of Scotland main line. In the town are several good retail establishments and two inns, and in its immediate vicinity the extensive nursery grounds of Messrs. Smith & Son. In this parish are numerous cairns and tumuli, which are said to point out the position where Robert Bruce overtook and destroyed the army of Edward I., after the defeat of Comyn, Earl of Buchan, near Inverurie; and within the parish is Hall Forest Castle, formerly a hunting seat of King Robert, now the property of the Earl of Kintore, to whom three-fourths of the parish belongs. The burgh is governed by a provost, two bailies, a dean of guild, and a treasurer, who are assisted by a council of burgesses. As one of the Elgin district of burghs, Kintore shares in the return of a representative to parliament. Markets are held 11th January, 1st February, 14th March, 16th May, 4th July, and 28th November. The places of worship are the Established and Free Churches. The village of Port Elphinstone, though contiguous and closely connected with Inverurie, is in Kintore.

KEITH HALL and KINKELL, formerly separate parishes, are now united under the name of Keith Hall. The parish is separated from that of Inverurie by the narrow stream of the Urie, near its confluence with the Don. Keith Hall (before mentioned), the seat of the Earl of Kintore, Lord-Lieutenant of Aberdeenshire, is situated in this parish, in the midst of an extensive well-wooded demesne; the grounds adjoining the mansion are laid out with great taste, and are frequently open to the public by the permission of the Earl, a nobleman who is deservedly respected, not only in the neighbourhood but throughout the county, for his many estimable qualities. The Society of Friends have had a place of worship in this parish at Kinmuick for nearly two hundred years; the meeting house contains a library of interesting works relative to the society.

KINCARDINE-O'NEIL,

CHARLESTOWN OF ABOYNE, GLENTANNER, BIRSE, LUMPHANNAN, AND TORPHINS.

KINCARDINE-O'NEIL is a parish and village, the latter situated three miles from the Torphins Station, on the Deeside Section of the Great North of Scotland Railway, 26 miles from Aberdeen, and 16 from Ballater. The village, situated on the banks of the Dee, and on the public road from Aberdeen to Ballater, is a quiet and pleasant retreat in summer for those in search of retirement, or anglers; the latter find excellent sport in the Dee. There are several traders establishments, and a good inn in the village. The parish is agricultural, some portions are hilly, and there are extensive plantations. Fairs are held on the second Tuesday in May, and on the Wednesday and Thursday after the last Tuesday in August (old style). At Torphins, in this parish, a church has been recently erected, and the district formed into a quod sacra parish. Markets are held, for cattle, &c., on the first Thursday in February, 5th of March, the 2nd Monday in June, and the 2nd Thursday in December.

ABOYNE, or CHARLESTOWN OF ABOYNE, is a village in the parish of its name, district of Marr, most pleasantly situated on the north bank of the Dee, 32½ miles from Aberdeen, and 11 from Ballater. Aboyne is a station on the Deeside line above-mentioned, and during the summer months is much frequented. The streams are noted amongst anglers, as also the woods, forests, and moorlands in the surrounding district for game of various kinds. The Huntly Arms Hotel affords excellent accommodation for visitors to this delightful locality. In the village of Aboyne are several merchants and traders shops, a banking establishment, a corn mill, public schools, &c. A handsome suspension bridge across the Dee, built at the sole expense of the Marquis of Huntly, is a great convenience to the residents in the parishes on both sides of the river, Aboyne Castle, the seat of this nobleman, is situated here, in the midst of an extensive and well-wooded demesne. Fairs (cattle and horses), are held at Aboyne on the third Thursday in January, March, April, May, August, September, and December, the last Wednesday in June, the last Friday in July, and the first Tuesday and Wednesday in October (old style.) Hiring Fair is held on the first Tuesday in May.

BIRSE, situated on the south bank of the Dee, is a parish ten miles in length, and about the same in breadth. A considerable portion of the parish is hilly, and unsuitable for cultivation; the level tracts are fertile. Aboyne, on the opposite bank of the river, is the nearest railway station.

LUMPHANNAN is an agricultural parish and station on the Deeside railway, 15 miles from Aboyne, 27 from Aberdeen, and 16½ from Ballater.

NEW & OLD DEER,

AUCHNAGATT, FETTERANGUS, LONGSIDE, MINTLAW, MAUD, AND STUARTFIELD.

NEW DEER is an extensive agricultural parish in the centre of the Buchan district, extending 14 miles in length and about 7 in breadth. At Maud, about three miles from the village, is a railway station, on the Fortmartine and Buchan section of the Great North of Scotland Railway. This station is situated 13 miles from Peterhead, 16 from Fraserburgh, and 31 from Aberdeen, and is the telegraph station for the district. The parish is intersected by the river Ugie, which encircles the park and grounds of Brucklay Castle. The castle, erected in 1540, occupies a romantic situation, and is one of the principal attractions of the neighbourhood. Fairs for horses, cattle, and sheep are held at stated times, and are well attended. In the village are various retail establishments, doing a considerable trade with the surrounding prosperous agricultural district. OLD DEER is an extensive agricultural parish in Buchan, containing an area of 27,439 acres, a portion of which, 2,812 acres, forms a detached portion of Banffshire, which includes the village of Fetterangus. The village of Old Deer is situated about 10½ miles west from Peterhead, 26 north from Aberdeen, and one mile from the Mintlaw station of the Great North of Scotland Railway. The river Ugie intersects the parish, along the banks of which are several mills. The Abbey of Deer is about a mile from the village; this place was built in the 13th century, and is now mostly in ruins. The Druids' temple at Biffie is an object of great attraction to the antiquarian and traveller. The mansion, woods, and beautiful grounds of Colonel Ferguson, of Pitfour, are the great objects of interest to visitors to the district.

LONGSIDE, also an agricultural parish, in Buchanan, contains the village and railway station of its name, the village is about 30 miles north of Aberdeen, 6 west of Peterhead, and 4 from Old Deer. There is an Established Church, an Episcopal Chapel, a Free Church, and a parochial school in the village; a new school has also been erected for girls. The village of Mintlaw, in this parish, is 3 miles from Longside, on the road leading from Aberdeen and Fraserburgh; it is also a station on the Great North of Scotland Railway. Fairs are held at Mintlaw on the second Tuesday in every month.

NEW MACHAR,

CRAIG DAM, DYCE, FINTRAY, AND UDNY.

NEW MACHAR is a parish, village, and railway station, in the Buchan district, situated about 11½ miles by rail and about 10 by road from Aberdeen. The parish is 10 miles in length and 2½ broad, is flat and in an excellent state of cultivation generally. The river Ythan and the Great North of Scotland Railway (Fortmartine and Buchan section) intersect the parish. There is a small lake near the boundary of Old Machar, called Bishop's Loch, in which is an island, whereon stands the ruins of a castle once belonging to the bishops of Aberdeen. At CRAIG DAM (near Tarves) is the chapel of the members of the United Secession, endowed by Mr. P. Barron, of Harpley, in Norfolk. Fairs are held on the third Thursday in January, March, May, and November, and the second Thursday in July.

DYCE is an extensive parish, situated about 4 miles from New Machar and 7½ from Aberdeen; to the parish kirk or by rail to the Dyce Junction station 6 miles. The manufacture of chemical manures is carried on here at works near the railway station, and there are extensive granite quarries in the hills, known as the Tyrebegar Ridge.

FINTRAY is a parish situated 10 miles from Aberdeen and a short distance from the Kinaldie station, on the G. N. of Scotland Railway. The river Don flows through the parish; on and near its banks agricultural operations are carried on successfully, the other portions are not favourable for cultivation. The parish is about five miles long and four broad.

UDNY is an agricultural parish in the Buchan district, about five miles square, situated 14 miles north from Aberdeen. Udney Castle, the elegant mansion of J. H. F. Udney, Esq., of Udney, is the principal residence in the parish. The G. N. of Scotland Railway runs through a portion of the parish on the east. Cattle markets are held on the last Thursday in each month, at the Udney Railway Station.

OLD MELDRUM,

BOURTIE AND TARVES.

OLD MELDRUM (or Meldrum) is a parish, a burgh of barony, and a market town, the latter situated on the crest of an eminence commanding extensive views of the adjacent delightfully picturesque portions of the county. The town is distant 5 miles from Inverurie, 18 miles (by road) from Aberdeen, and 27 from Banff. A branch line from Inverurie connects it with the main line of the Great North of Scotland Railway system. The principal object of interest in the neighbourhood is Meldrum House, the seat of B. C. Urquhart, Esq.; it is in the antique style of architecture, and is surrounded by fine scenery. In addition to a good retail trade the principal branches of business are an extensive distillery, a brewery and agricultural implement works. There is an Established and a Free Church and one each for Presbyterians and Episcopalians. Extensive well-built school premises have been recently erected to supply the educational requirements of the neighbourhood.

BOURTIE is a parish situated between Meldrum and Inverurie, in length it is four miles and in breadth two. Agriculture is the chief employment of the inhabitants. There is an Established Church and a board school.

TARVES is a parish about nine miles in length and six in breadth, bounded on the north by Methlick and on the west by Old Meldrum from which it is distant 5½ miles. The parish is a flat surface on the general outline and the soil is for the most part fertile. The nearest railway station is at Old Meldrum.

PETERHEAD,

BODDAM, BUCHANHAVEN, BURNHAVEN, AND INVERNETTIE.

PETERHEAD, a burgh of barony, seaport, and one of the principal fishing stations on the north-east coast of Scotland, is situated in the district of Buchan, Aberdeenshire, 32 miles N.E. from Aberdeen (44½ by rail), 18 S.S.E. from Fraserburgh (29 by rail), 34 S.S.E. from Banff, 159 by rail from Edinburgh and 196 from Glasgow. Peterhead is the terminus of the Fortmartine and Buchan section of the Great North of Scotland Railway system. There are several trains daily to Aberdeen and the south, to Fraserburgh, via Maud Junction, and to Banff and the north by Dyce Junction. Since the opening of the line in 1862 it has operated very beneficially on the trade of the town and district. Up to a comparatively recent date Peterhead ranked only as a creek under Aberdeen, it is now, however, a separate independent port, its jurisdiction extending from the Ythan river on the south to Rattray Head northwards. The harbours have been considered of importance from an early date. In the reign of Charles II. an Act of Parliament dated 1661 was passed for a contribution for repairing the said harbours; in 1705 the Scottish Privy Council authorised a voluntary contribution within the parish churches of the three Lothians and west of the Forth for the same object; voluntary contributions were also sanctioned by the Convention throughout all the royal burghs of Scotland in the years 1729-39, since which period various Acts of Parliament have been obtained for extension, improvement, and maintenance of the harbours. To meet the increasing requirements of the shipping and fishing trades of the port, the Act of Parliament recently obtained provides for the amendment of the constitution of their management. The trustees will now comprise the provost of the burgh, the preses and factor of the Merchant Maiden Hospital, one person elected by the town council, one by the provost and magistrates, six by the proprietors of land and heritages, three by shipowners, and three by the ratepayers of the harbours. The dues received can only be applied to the payment of interest, liquidation of the debt, and the necessary expenses of management and maintenance. Peterhead possesses the advantage of north and south harbours, respectively of eleven and seven acres in extent, communicating by means of a canal or channel, over which is a cast-iron swing bridge, upon the construction of which upwards of £8,000 was expended. In the north harbour are graving or dry docks, and at the entrance to both harbours are good lighthouses. There is a spacious bay, with good anchorage, on the south of the town, on the opposite side of which stands the Buchaness lighthouse, having a beautiful revolving light. The south harbour has twelve to fourteen feet of water at medium springs, and eight to ten feet at neap tides; and the north harbour has, at spring tides, eighteen feet of water. At an early period its vessels traded to the ports in the Baltic, the Levant, and to America. The peninsula upon which Peterhead is built is the most easterly point of Scotland. The streets of the town present a cleanly appearance, the houses, etc., being built of grey granite. The elegant public hall buildings and those in Chapel-street recently erected have considerably improved the appearance of the centre of the town. The sanitary condition of the burgh is carefully attended to, and the supply of water has been recently much improved. Eighty years ago the first vessel was despatched from Peterhead to the Arctic seal and whale fishery; it has since been prosecuted with varying success. In 1857 thirty sailing vessels and two steamers were engaged in this hazardous business; the number of vessels has considerably declined during the past few years, but Peterhead is still largely interested in this speculative industry. From the commencement of the herring fishery in 1818 by a Joint Stock Company it has grown to be one of the principal sources of wealth to the burgh and its inhabitants, 219,588 barrels having been cured at this station in 1874, and in 1875 205,305, principally shipped to continental ports. The projected improvements and increased accommodation in the harbour for the boats will still further develop the trade. The curing establishments are on a most extensive scale, and during the season present a scene of considerable activity. Cod fish and other descriptions are largely taken and forwarded by rail fresh to the southern markets. Within a few miles of the town are the extensive granite quarries for which Peterhead is celebrated. Monuments, tombs, architectural embellishments, &c., for which the red and grey granite is so eminently suited, are sculptured, worked, and polished at two large works in the vicinity, and largely exported to the English and American markets. The manufacture of woollen goods is extensively carried on by Messrs. Thomas Smith & Co., at the Kirkburn and Millbreck Mills. There are also large saw mills, timber yards, breweries, iron foundry, agricultural implement works, ship and boat building establishments, works for the preparation of cattle feeding stuffs, manures, &c. The fish curers also find constant employment for a large number of coopers in the manufacture of herring barrels. The Scottish Highland Distillery Co. Limited, Invernettie, are extensive distillers of pure Highland whisky. Timber is largely imported from Swedish and Norwegian ports for barrel staves, &c., also coal and salt, the latter principally from the Cheshire mines, via Liverpool and Runcorn. There are five banking establishments in the town and several hotels. Two weekly newspapers are published here, the East Aberdeenshire Journal (formerly the Buchan Observer) on Friday, and the Peterhead Sentinel on Wednesday. Both of these papers circulate largely throughout the Buchan and adjoining districts. The market is held on Friday. The town enjoys a good local trade with the adjoining agricultural parishes. The wholesale and retail merchants and traders' establishments are large and well-stocked with commodities of every description. A market for the sale of horses, cattle, and sheep has been recently successfully established. The town house occupies a commanding situation at the head of the principal street; it contains the town hall and the court room, in which the baillie court sit. The building is surmounted by a fine spire, 125 feet in height, containing a clock, illuminated by night. Immediately in front of the town house is a fine bronze statue of Field-Marshal James Francis Edward Keith, born in 1696, at Inverugie, about two miles from the town. The pedestal bears the following inscription:—"Field-Marshal Keith, born at Inverugie, 1696; killed at the battle of Hochkirchen, 14 October, 1758. The gift of William 1st, King of Prussia, to the town of Peterhead, August, 1868. Probus vivit, fortis obit." The sheriffs' court is held weekly in the court house, Queen-street. The town enjoys the privileges of a royal burgh, and with Kintore, Inverurie, Elgin, Cullen, and Banff returns one member to parliament. The present member is Mountstuart Elphinstone Grant Duff, Esq., of Eden, near Banff, and 4 Queensgate Gardens, London, who has represented the burghs since 1857. The Established church, situated at the conjunction of the south and west roads, combines elegance with convenience, and has a fine spire; and recently has been erected two Quoad-Sacra chapels, in Queen-street and at Blackhill. The Episcopal chapel is a handsome modern edifice, in the design of which the architect has displayed considerable taste. The other places of worship are, one for the Free church, a new chapel erected in 1870 for Independents, an United Presbyterian chapel, one for Methodists, a Baptist Meeting house, and a chapel for Roman Catholics. The governors of the Merchant Maiden Hospital of Edinburgh, proprietors of the estate of Peterhead, have recently laid out and enclosed a large space of suitable ground for a public cemetery. Since the elective franchise was conferred upon the burgh, the magistrates and councillors are elected by the householders in the burgh. Amongst the literary institutions of Peterhead may be mentioned as the principal a reading society, established in 1808, and a mechanics' institution, founded in 1836. There is also a solicitors' library. In the handsome range of buildings recently erected in Chapel-street is located a very valuable museum, the property of the late Adam Arbuthnot, Esq., by whom it was bequeathed to the authorities for the use of the town, containing a great variety of specimens collected from the animal and mineral kingdoms. This collection is under the care and management of the magistrates and town council. There are several excellent schools. The wells of Peterhead formerly enjoyed a high reputation and were much frequented; the water is chalybeate, and possesses excellent medicinal qualities. A very agreeable excursion can be made from Peterhead to the interesting ruins of Inverugie Castle, 2½ miles distant. A portion of the walls of the castle still remain. A magnificent view is obtained of the valley of the Ugie by ascending to the roof by the winding staircase in one of the towers. The ruins of Ravens-craig Castle are situated about a quarter of a mile from Inverugie, on the opposite side of the river, and are well worthy of the notice of the antiquarian, being a fine specimen of the Scotch baronial style of the thirteenth century.

BODDAM is a neat village and considerable fishing station, in the parish of Peterhead, about four miles south of that town. The harbour here was extended a few years since by the Earl of Aberdeen, at a cost somewhat exceeding £2,000, and an Act of Parliament was passed in 1845 constituting Boddam a port or harbour. Some years ago the estate of Boddam was purchased from the Earl of Aberdeen by William Aiton, Esq., who resides on the estate. The fishery here is prosecuted with great diligence and success. A manufactory of herring nets is successfully carried on in the village. A chapel of ease and a good parochial school, supplementary to Peterhead, are in the village. Large school premises have been recently erected to meet the requirements of the district.

BUCHANHAVEN and BURNHAVEN are fishing villages near Peterhead.

INVERNETTIE is likewise in the parish of Peterhead, and is chiefly inhabited by fishermen. An extensive distillery has been established here by the Scottish Highland Distillery Co.

RHYNIE & ESSIE,

AUCHINDOIR, KEARN, LUMSDEN, CABRACH, CLATT, AND KENNETHMONT.

RHYNIE (united with Essie) is a very extensive parish comprising an area of 12,883 acres, situated in the district of Strathbogie. The village of Rhynie, about 38 miles from Aberdeen, 5½ from Gartly Station on the Great North of Scotland Railway, and 10 from Huntly, contains several merchants' establishments, two banking establishments, two inns, and enjoys a considerable local trade. It is much frequented during the shooting season, the extensive tract of hilly country adjacent, abounding with game. Agricultural operations are carried on with much success on the lands adjacent to the river Bogie which flows through the parish. In the neighbourhood of the hills the soil is light and gravelly, but productive to a certain extent. The principal eminence in the neighbourhood is the "Tap of Noth," which rises 1,832 feet above the level of the sea. On the top of the hill is a vitrified fort. In the parish is a woollen mill and several saw mills, the various streams affording an unlimited supply of water power. A conveyance from the Gartly Station passes through the village daily en route to Lumsden and Strathdon. Markets are held on the first Wednesday in June, the day after Keith in September, and the day after Kennethmont in October. Feeing markets are held on the Mondays before the 26th of May and the 22nd of November; also cattle markets during the winter are held on the Saturday following the fourth Monday in each month.

AUCHINDOIR (united with Kearn) is a parish 15,324 acres in extent. The village of Lumsden is in this parish, and is situated about 34 miles from Aberdeen and 5 from Rhynie on the high road from Huntly and Gartly to the Strathdon district. A branch bank and several good retail establishments are located in the village. Lumsden is the polling place for the 6th West Aberdeenshire District at the election of a member to the Imperial Parliament. Fairs are held on the last Tuesday in April, last Friday in May, and third Tuesday in August (o.s.).

CABRACH is a mountainous parish about 47 miles from Aberdeen partly in Banffshire and partly in Aberdeenshire. Game is abundant throughout the district.

ROSEHEARTY,

PITSLIGO, PITULLIE, AND SANDHAVEN.

ROSEHEARTY is a village in the parish of Pit-sligo, 18 miles east from Banff, and about five miles west from Fraserburgh. The harbour, which is about to be considerably improved by the extension of the Portrie Pier and other works, will afford increased protection and accommodation for the fleet of boats engaged in the herring fishery, and for other vessels frequenting the harbour. Fish curing is carried on extensively here, and there is a branch bank in the village. The imports are chiefly timber, coal, and salt, and the exports fish and grain. The places of worship are an Established, a Free, and an United Presbyterian Church, and there is a public school in the village.

PITSLIGO is a parish situated on the sea coast, between Fraserburgh and Aberdeen, commencing about two miles west of Kinnaird Head. The only object of interest in the parish is Pit-sligo Castle, an ancient structure, and formerly the seat of Lord Pit-sligo. The inhabitants are chiefly engaged in fishing, and others in agriculture.

SANDHAVEN and PITULLIE are villages in the above parish, situated between Roseheart Point and Kinnaird Head. Fish curing is carried on to some extent in both villages.

Post Office, Roseheart, Mrs. Janet Duncan, post-mistress.—Letters arrive from all parts (from Fraserburgh) at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m., and are despatched at 10 a.m. and 3.25 p.m. Money Order, Telegraph Office, and Savings' Bank.

STRICHEN,

ABERDOUR, NEW PITSLIGO, PENNAN, AND TYRIE.

STRICHEN, in the district of Buchan, is an important village in the parish of its name and a railway station on the Fraserburgh line of the Great North of Scotland Railway 37 miles north (by rail) from Aberdeen 10 from Fraserburgh, 6 from Maud Junction and (by road) 20 west from Banff and 16 west-by-north from Turriff. The village, which is very pleasantly situated, enjoys a trade with the surrounding district. The Aberdeen Town and County Bank and the North of Scotland Banking Co. have each agencies here, and there are several general merchants establishments as well as other branches of industry including the manufacturing of tweeds, winceys and other woollen goods, extensively carried on by Messrs. Vass at a mill in the neighbourhood. The large figures of a horse and a stag formed by light coloured stones placed on the side of one of the lofty hills in this parish, generally excite the curiosity of the visitor from their singularity. The places of worship are a Church of the Establishment, a Free Church, an Episcopalian Chapel, also one for the Roman Catholics. Fairs are held here on the first Thursday of every month, and a hiring fair on the first Wednesday after the 12th of November.

ABERDOUR parish (now generally called New Aberdour to distinguish it from other places of the same name), is situated 9 miles west from Fraserburgh (its post town) and 16 from Banff. The parish extends along the Moray Frith about 10 miles, the shore being one series of precipitous rocks in which numerous chasms and caverns have been formed by the action of the waves. Upon a precipice overhanging the sea are the ruins of the ancient castle of Dundargue. Pennan is a small fishing village in this parish.

TYRIE is a parish situated five miles from Fraserburgh. The principal place in the parish is the village of New Pitsligo, 5 miles from Strichen, founded by the late Sir Wm. Forbes. A portion of the inhabitants are employed in agricultural pursuits and others in weaving linen. The Union Bank of Scotland has a branch in the village. The places of worship are the Established Church, the Free Church, the Congregational and Episcopalian Chapels. The village church of Tyrie is a very ancient structure situated in the Northern part of the parish.

TARLAND & MIGVIE,

COULL, LEOCHEL-CUSHNIE, AND LOGIE-COLDSTONE.

TARLAND and MIGVIE are united parishes, on situated in a valley six miles from the railway station the western borders of Aberdeenshire. The village at Aboynie, 31 from Aberdeen, 16 from Alford, and 11 of Tarland (a burgh of barony) is beautifully situated between Ballater. The village now enjoys the advantage of telegraph communication, and there are two good inns, at one of which conveyances are obtainable. The level portion of the country adjacent to the village is under cultivation, and a considerable amount of planting has of late years been done on the slopes of the hills, which occupy a large portion of the area of the parishes. The Union Bank of Scotland and the Aberdeen Town & County Bank have each branches here, and there are also good retail establishments in the village. A Sheriff Small Debt Court is held four times a year for the settlement of debts of £12 or under. The Established Church, a neat building, forms a conspicuous object on approaching the village from the south. The members of the Free Church have also a place of worship here. A School Board has been formed, under whose superintendence the educational requirements of the district are duly provided for. Fairs are held on the Wednesday before the 5th of January, and on the 5th, if Wednesday, second Wednesday and last Wednesday in February, first Wednesday and Wednesday after the 26th in May, Friday after St. Sairs in June, on the Friday after first Tuesday in August, Wednesday after Aboyne in October, Tuesday and Wednesday after 22nd, or on that day if a Tuesday in November, and on the Wednesday before the 5th in December.

COULL is a parish in the district of Marr, the inhabitants of which are principally engaged in agricultural pursuits. The principal portion of the parish is in an excellent state of cultivation, occupying a sheltered situation. The nearest railway station is at Aboyne, the adjoining parish on the south.

LEOCHEL-CUSHNIE (formerly the parishes of Leochel and Cushnie, but now united), is 27 miles distant from Aberdeen. Craigievar, the seat of Sir Wm. Forbes, Bart., is in this parish. There are also the ruins of two ancient castles at Craigievar. The parish of LOGIE-COLDSTONE adjoins the above-named.

Post and Telegraph Office, Tarland, Wm. Hay, postmaster. Letters arrive from all parts at 12 noon, and are despatched at 5.30 a.m.; box closes at 10 p.m. Nearest Money Order Office at Aboyne, 6 miles distant.

Post Office, Craigievar, George Adam, postmaster.—Letters arrive from all parts at 12 noon, and are despatched at 6 a.m.

TURRIF,

KING EDWARD AND NEW BYTH.

TURRIF is a town of considerable importance, the seat of a presbytery and a free burgh of barony in the parish of its name, very pleasantly situated near the river Deveron and the Great North of Scotland line of Railway from Aberdeen to Macduff and Banff, the station at Turriff being 32½ miles from Aberdeen, 11 from Macduff or Banff, 17 N.N.W. by road, from Meldrum, 6 from Cuminestown, and 8 from New Byth. Turriff enjoys a considerable trade with a large portion of the northern part of the county, of which the large and well-stocked merchants and traders' establishments are sufficient evidence. Provision and fish curing is successfully carried on. Various other branches of industry flourish in the town, including agricultural implement works and coach building. Four of the important banking corporations have branches here, and the hotel accommodation is all that could be desired. A charter was granted in 1511 by James IV. in favour of Thomas Dickson, prebend of Turriff, entitling the inhabitants to hold a market weekly on Sunday and three fairs annually, each to continue eight days. Markets for cattle, &c., are now held on the second and fourth Wednesday in each month, and hiring or feeing markets on the Saturday before the 27th of May, the fourth Wednesday in July, and the Saturday before the 23rd November. The town being situated on an eminence commands an extensive view of the adjacent picturesque country. Forglen House, the seat of Sir George Abercrombie, Bart., and other elegant mansions are in the neighbourhood. The presbytery of Turriff includes the following parishes and missions:—Auchterless, Drumblade, Forglen, Forgue, Fyvie, St. Mary's Mission, Fyvie; Gamrie, Inverkeithney, King Edward, Macduff, Millbrex, Monquitter, New Byth, Turriff, and Ythan Wells. The Rev. Donald Stewart, King Edward, is clerk to the presbytery. The places of worship include the Established and Free churches, and an Episcopalian chapel. In addition to the usual public schools, there is a highly respectable boarding school for young ladies.

KING EDWARD or KEN-EDAR is an extensive parish, bounded on the south by Turriff and Monquitter, on the east by Fyvie, and on the north by Gamrie. The G. N. S. railway station of King Edward is 6½ miles from Turriff and 4½ from Macduff. The parish, which extends 12 miles in length from south-east to north-west, and from two to five miles in breadth, is only partly under cultivation, but improving annually.

NEW BYTH, eight miles distant from the Turriff or King Edward railway stations, is a village and quoad sacra parish, situated on the south-east border of King Edward.

Post Office, Turriff, George Alexander, postmaster.—Letters arrive from Aberdeen and the South at 9.15 a.m. and 1.15 p.m., and are despatched thereto at 6 a.m., 12.15 p.m., and 4 p.m. Letters also arrive from the North (from Banff) at 6.40 a.m. and 12.40 p.m., and are despatched thereto at 9 a.m. and 12.50 p.m. Local mails from Cuminestown, Garmond, and New Byth line of road arrive about 9 a.m., and are despatched at 9.30 a.m. Money Order Office, Telegraph, and Savings' Bank.

AUCHINBLAE & FORDOUN.

AUCHINBLAE is a market town situated on the banks of the river Luther. It is distant 26 miles from Aberdeen, 11 from Stonehaven, 16 from Montrose and 2½ from Fordoun station on the Caledonian Railway. Branches of the North of Scotland and the City of Glasgow Banks are established here as also a National Security Savings' Bank. The town is lighted by gas. A Public Hall was erected in 1870 by public subscription at a cost of £500, and can accommodate nearly 400 persons. The principal trade here is tow spinning, established as early as 1795. This being a place noted for the pureness of the air, romantic walks and beautiful scenery, it is visited in the summer months by families from different parts of the country. The parish church, erected in 1829, is on a high rock and forms one of the most beautiful parts of the parish. It is a large handsome building in the Gothic style, with a tower nearly 100 feet in height. The manse is close to the church. In the valley below is the Free Church, a neat building, but much smaller than its neighbour. Markets are held at Auchinblae for the sale of cattle and hiring on the third Thursday of April, on Wednesday after the second Tuesday of May (old style), the 26th of May (hiring), Paldy fair (sheep) first Wednesday; cattle, first Thursday; horses, first Friday after first Tuesday in July (old style); on the day after Kincardine O'Neil in September, and on the 22nd November (hiring).

FORDOUN (the name of the parish) is a very small hamlet containing only a few houses and a small inn, close to the village of Auchinblae, but at Fordoun station, a distance of two and a-half miles, there are numerous shops having the appearance of doing a good retail trade, as also a good inn and posting establishment. Markets are held here every alternate Monday from October to May for the sale of cattle and grain.

Post Office, Auchinblae, James Buchan, postmaster.—Letters from all parts arrive (from Fordoun) at 7.15 a.m. and 2.45 p.m. and are despatched thereto at 11.50 a.m. and 7.30 p.m. Money Order Office, Savings' Bank, and Telegraph Station.

Post Office, Fordoun Station, Wm. Smith, postmaster.—Letters arrive from all parts, except Aberdeen and Stonehaven, at 6 a.m. and from all parts at 1.40 p.m. the north only at 5 p.m. and are despatched for all parts south at 1 p.m. and 4.30 p.m. for the North 9.30 a.m. 2.40 p.m. and 10 p.m. Money Order Office, Savings' Bank and Telegraph Station.

CULTS, MARYCULTER, PORT LETHEN, AND HILLSIDE.

BANCHORY-DAVENICK is a parish situated partly in the county of Kincardine and partly in Aberdeenshire, the river Dee here forming the boundary between the two counties. The Deeside portion of the parish, studded with many elegant mansions and villa residences, is one of the most pleasant suburbs of the city of Aberdeen. The villages of Hillside and Port-Lethen are in this parish. The parish of Maryculter lies on the south bank of the river Dee, about 3½ miles from Aberdeen. The neat wooden bridge for foot passengers erected across the river giving access to the Cults station, on the Deeside Railway. The Deeside hydropathic establishment at Heatcot, in this parish, most beautifully situated on the south bank of the river Dee, is under the superintendence of Dr. Johnstone. In addition to the advantage of the healthy and bracing climate, for which Deeside is celebrated, visitors residing at Heatcot have the privilege of fishing in the river Dee, which runs through the estate.

BERVIE,

ARBUTHNOTT, GOURDON, KINNEFF AND CATTERLINE.

BERVIE or INVERBERVIE is a parish and town of the same name; the latter is a royal burgh, a station on the Bervie and Montrose Railway Co.'s line, and the principal town for some miles round. It is situated 6½ miles from Fordoun, 10 from Laurencekirk, 13 from Montrose, 10 from Stonehaven, 25 from Aberdeen, 1 from Gourdon, and 4 from Johnshaven. The town is composed of one main street and several others branching therefrom, and contains some good buildings, the principal of which are the parish church, banks, and public hall. The banking interest is represented by branches of the Aberdeen Town and County Bank, North of Scotland Banking Co., National Securities Savings' Bank, and the Post Office Savings' Bank. The Public Hall is a handsome building, which has recently been built by public subscriptions; there is also a Town Hall and Oddfellows' Hall, all of which are let out for public meetings, amusements, &c. The places of worship are a Church of the Establishment and a Free Church; the former is a very handsome building, in the Gothic style of architecture, and is situated in the centre of the town. There are two schools here, one of which is under the management of the School Board; the other, a female school, is named after the late Mr. John Gordon, through whose liberality it was chiefly erected. Bervie was constituted a royal burgh by charter, from King David II. James VI. renewed the charter, confirming all the privileges and immunities granted by David. The burgh is governed by a provost, three bailies, a dean of guild, a treasurer, and nine councillors. It joins with Montrose, Arbroath, Brechin, and Forfar in returning one member to parliament. The sheriff's small debt court is held at Bervie on the third Monday in January, April, July, and October. The town is lighted with gas. The spinning of flax and tow is carried on here to a considerable extent, and affords employment to a large number of the inhabitants, there being five firms engaged in that business. The manufacture of woollen goods is also carried on here by one firm; there are also two firms engaged in the manufacture of wineceys and sacking. In addition to the above, the firm of W. & S. Munro carry on the business of manufacturing chemists. The weekly market is held on Wednesday, and fairs on the Thursday before the 19th of May and September.

GOURDON is a thriving fishing village in the parish of Bervie and a station on the Bervie and Montrose Railway. It is situated one mile from Bervie, which is its post town, and three from Johnshaven.

ARBUTHNOTT is a parish bounded by Bervie and Kinneff. There is no village in the parish. There is a Church of the Establishment and a board school.

KINNEFF-WITH-CATTERLINE is a parish on the sea coast, bounded on the west by Arbutnott and the south by Bervie. The inhabitants are chiefly employed in fishing. The places of worship are a Church of the Establishment and a Free Church; there are also two board schools and an Episcopalian school in this parish.

JOHNSHAVEN,

BENHOLM, AND ST. CYRUS.

JOHNSHAVEN is a village in the parish of Benholm, 4 miles from Bervie, 9 from Montrose, and 14 from Stonehaven. It contains an extensive manufactory for hemps, sackings, &c., which gives employment to a number of the inhabitants. There is also a good brewery here, but the principal trade in the village is fishing. A drinking fountain, of Aberdeen granite, has been recently erected here by public subscription, in memory of the late Rev. James Glen, a.m., Free Church minister. Brotherton Castle, the seat of Hercules Scott, Esq., is near this village. The parish of Benholm is mostly level and uncultivated. The places of worship are an Established Church, a Free Church, and one for United Presbyterians. There are also two board schools in the parish. The Montrose and Bervie Railway have a station at Johnshaven.

ST. CYRUS is a parish and village, the latter situated 4 miles from Johnshaven, 5 from Montrose, and 8 from Bervie, and is a station on the Montrose and Bervie Railway. The sea salmon fisheries along the coast are very valuable. The principal occupation of the inhabitants is salmon fishing. The parish contains limestone quarries, and there is also plenty of excellent freestone. The places of worship are the Parish and Free Churches, there are also two board schools and one private school, which is maintained by Miss Grahame, of Kirkside.

STONEHAVEN,

CAIRNHILL, COOKNEY, CRAWTON, DUNNOTTAR, FETTERESSO, MUCHALLS, NETHERLEY, NEWTONHILL, RICKARTON, AND SKATEROW.

STONEHAVEN is a town and seaport distant by rail about 16 miles from Aberdeen, 66 from Banff, 60 from Peterhead, 26 from Montrose, 41 from Forfar, 42 from Arbroath, 58 from Dundee and 74 from Perth. By road it is 15 miles from Aberdeen, 10 from Bervie, and 23 from Montrose. It is situated on the coast and on the rivers Carron and Cowie, and is divided into an old and a new town. The former, in the parish of Dunnottar, is a burgh of barony, under the superiority of Viscount Keith's trustees, and has a chief magistrate, second baillie, three councillors and town clerk. The new town, in Fetteresso parish, is not a burgh, but is governed by an association of feuars and householders, who elect a provost, bailies, and councillors, and discharge all the duties of a town council; all monies for improvements, &c. have to be raised by public subscription. The new town is laid out on a regular plan, having broad streets, with a square in the centre. In this square stands the market buildings, erected in 1827, with reading rooms in the upper storey and shops beneath. The buildings are private property, but a very handsome spire 130 feet high, erected in the centre of them is the property of the town, having been erected by public subscription. At present there is being erected a fine town hall, estimated to cost from £3,000 to £4,000. The old town consists of a few principal streets and several narrow ones. The shore head and the harbour, which is a natural basin sheltered by high rocks, and has good quays for loading and unloading vessels. There are eight vessels belonging to Stonehaven, averaging about 100 tons each. About 40 fishing boats are employed in haddock fishing, but during the herring season it is not unusual to have from 100 to 200 boats engaged. The boats come here from all quarters. The only charge made on boats is 5s. for each for the herring season. The revenue of the Harbour in 1875 was about £550. The imports are coal, lime, salt, timber, bark, stone for building and paving and millstones, also staves for fish barrels. The exports consist chiefly of grain, timber, and potatoes. The manufacture of woollen goods, tanning, brewing and distilling are carried on to some extent. A newspaper is published weekly. There are three banking establishments and several good inns. Sheriff Courts are held in the County Hall every Wednesday during Session and Small Debt and Debts Recovery Courts every alternate Wednesday. A fine new lifeboat and rocket apparatus are stationed at Stonehaven and have proved of service. The county buildings, offices, gaol and police station are in old town. The Combination Poor's House, a fine stone building is situate about half a mile from Stonehaven. It was opened for the reception of inmates on the 28th August 1867. The district comprises the parishes of Arbutnott, Banchory-Davenick, Banchory-Terman, Bervie, Dunnottar, Durris, Fettercairn, Fetteresso, Fordoun, Glenbervie, Kinneff, Laurencekirk, Marykirk and Strachan. The Established Churches of Dunnottar and Fetteresso are situate about half a mile from the town; there is also a Free, an United Presbyterian and an Episcopal Church. A new Episcopal Church is now (1877) in course of erection, the nave and aisles only being built at present, leaving tower, spire and chancel to be afterwards added. The portion at present in course of erection will cost upwards of £3,500, and will seat over 400 persons. The foundation stone was laid by the late Right Rev. Bishop Forbes, on St. Matthew's Day, 21st September, 1875. This was the bishop's last episcopal act. He died on 8th October, 1875. The architecture is what is generally called the early transition style, a mixture of Norman and early Gothic. A Roman Catholic Chapel is also being erected at the sole expense of Mrs. W. Rickart-Hepburn. There are some fine board schools in the town and neighbourhood. The market day is Thursday. Fairs are held 25th May and 21st November; if the above dates should happen on Sunday they are held the Saturday before. BANFF, ALVAH, BOYNDIE, ORD AND WHITEHILLS.

BANFF is a royal burgh and a parish, distant about 155 miles N. by E. from Edinburgh, 80 east from Inverness, 46 N. by W. from Aberdeen, 35 from Elgin, 25 from Fochabers, 13 from Cullen, 18 from Keith, 8 from Portsoy, and 1 from Macduff, pleasantly situated on the west bank of the Deveron. The burgh is governed by a provost, three bailies, treasurer, dean of guild, three councillors, town clerk, and town chamberlain, and with Macduff, Cullen, Elgin, Inverurie, Kintore, and Peterhead returns one member to parliament; the present representative is M. E. Grant Duff, Esq. Ordinary and small debt courts are held in the Court Room, County Buildings, once a week, and police courts are held in the Town House when necessary. The town comprises several good streets, which are clean, and contain many fine buildings, including the County Buildings, Town House, churches, schools, banks, hotels, &c. In addition to these there is the museum, baths, literary institution, custom house, county prison, county asylum, life boat, rocket apparatus, and coast guard station. Railway communication is afforded by the Great North of Scotland Railway Co., who have two stations near the town, one at the harbour the other at Banff Bridge. Buses meet every train and ply to all parts of the town and neighbourhood. The river Deveron is crossed by a bridge of seven arches, about half-way between Banff and Macduff. From the bridge a fine view is obtained of Duff House, the seat of the Earl of Fife, surrounded by parks and plantations. The mansion is partly in the Corinthian and partly in the composite style of architecture

The harbour of Banff is secure, but has not a great depth of water. The port of Banff is sixth on the list of Scotch ports as regards tonnage of sailing ships. The total number of vessels on the register is 118, the tonnage 17,000 tons. The number of fishing boats is 27. Principal imports, coal, timber, iron, slates, salt, and manures; exports, corn, meal, and fish. A large trade is done in fish curing. There are also a large foundry and implement works, ship-building yards, rope and sail works, a woollen factory, a brewery, a tannery, and a distillery. The banking interest is represented by six branch banks, a savings' bank, and a post office savings' bank. The Banffshire Journal newspaper is published here every Tuesday, and enjoys a wide circulation. The places of worship are a Church of the Establishment, Free and United Presbyterian Churches, and chapels belonging to Episcopalians, Baptists, Independents, Roman Catholics, and Wesleyan Methodists. Chalmers' Hospital was founded in 1861, in terms of a bequest by the late Alex. Chalmers, Esq., of Clunie, long a merchant in the town of Banff, and is for the support, maintenance, cure, and relief of destitute sick paupers (if not in actual receipt of parochial relief), lunatics, and other diseased and poor infirm persons, of both sexes, born, domiciliated, and resident in any town or parish of the county of Banff; the inhabitants whereof shall make collections at their respective parish churches in aid of the funds of the hospital. It is adapted to accommodate 60 patients. A permanent revenue for the support of the hospital is derived from the rental of the lands of Clunie, Knockorth, and Leithers. Besides the above there are several other bequests, by various persons, for the relief of the poor, aged, and infirm of the town. There are several private establishments in Banff for the education of young ladies and gentlemen, of which Boyndie House and St. Leonards are the principal. The burgh board schools are very large, and have an average attendance of nearly 400 children. The weekly corn and provision markets are held on Friday; Brandon fair on the Friday before the 19th May, and on the Friday before the 17th of November; the harvest feeing market on the 18th of August.

ALVAH is a parish commencing about a mile from Banff and extending about $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles; the breadth is very irregular. The river Deveron is here crossed by a bridge, erected by the Earl of Fife. There is a Church of the Establishment and board schools. The hill of Alvah is a conspicuous landmark for this coast.

ORD is a quoad sacra parish, erected 1869, and is comprised of part of the parishes of Banff, Alvah, Boyndie, and Marnoch. The church is about six miles from Banff.

WHITEHILLS is a fishing village in the parish of Boyndie, $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles W.N.W. of Banff; here are fish curing establishments and brick works. The parish, which is five miles by two, contains an Established Church, a Free Church, and a Wesleyan Methodist Chapel. The ruins of Boyndie Castle and the Banffshire Lunatic Asylum are in this parish.

BUCKIE,

CLOCHAN, ENZIE, GOLLACHIE, BELLIE, PORT GORDON, PORTESSIE, PORT TANNACHIE AND RATHVEN.

BUCKIE, in the parish of Rathven, is one of the most important fishing station in Scotland, having a total of 252 boats engaged for that purpose. It is situated 7 miles from Fochabers, 6 from Cullen, 11 from Portsoy, 12 from Keith, and about 19 from Banff. A new harbour, built solely of Portland cement concrete, is in course of erection, at the sole expense of John Gordon, Esq., of Cluny, and is estimated to cost about £50,000. When finished it will cover an area of eight acres; depth of water in the inner harbour at ordinary stream tide 21 feet, and at low water 10 feet; length of quayage accommodation for the discharge of vessels about 2,500 lineal feet. The ground in the immediate vicinity is being laid out for the erection of warehouses, shops, and new streets for dwellings. The harbour is expected to be finished in the early part of 1878. Buckie contains three banks, a tobacco manufactory, a herring net manufactory, and many fish curing establishments and boat building yards. The places of worship are an Established Church, an Episcopal Church, a Free Church, a Roman Catholic Chapel, and an United Presbyterian Church. There are many very fine board schools in the town and parish. Small debt and police courts are held occasionally.

PORT GORDON is a village about two miles from Buckie, and has a good harbour, provided by the Duke of Richmond and Gordon in 1874, who is owner of the village. There are here 60 large boats for herring fishing and six for white fishing, also fish curing establishments.

GOLLACHIE, the property of Gordon of Cluny, and Port Tannachie, belonging to A. Steuart, Esq., of Anchlunkart, forms part of the village of Port Gordon.

PORTESSIE is a fishing village, about a mile east from Buckie. Here are about 100 fishing boats. Several fish curing establishments and boat building yards; also a Wesleyan Chapel.

RATHVEN is a parish about 10 miles in length by about 4 in breadth, and is situated on the coast of the Moray Frith. The greater portion of the land is hilly, but the level parts near the sea are arable and fertile. There is a Church of the Establishment and a board school.

ENZIE is a quoad sacra parish, comprised of portions of Rathven and Bellie parishes and the village of Port Gordon. There is an Established, a Free, and a Roman Catholic Church; also board schools. Clochan is a hamlet in this parish, and about five miles from Buckie.

Post Office, Church-street, Buckie, Alexander Hendry, postmaster.—Letters arrive from North and South at 10 20 a.m.; from Cullen, Portsoy, and Banff at 2.50 p.m.; and from North and South at 5.40 p.m. Letters are despatched to Banff, Portsoy, &c., at 9.25 a.m.; to North and South at 1.50 p.m.; to Cullen at 4.25 p.m.; and to North and South at 10 p.m. Sunday delivery to callers at 6 p.m. Money Order, Telegraph Office, and Savings' Bank.

KEITH,

BOTRIPHNE, NEWMILL AND GRANGE.

KEITH is a parish and town of the same name; the former is chiefly in the county of Banff, but a small portion of it extends into Morayshire. Keith is divided into three distinct towns, Old Keith, New Keith, and Fife Keith. New Keith is a town of some importance, built on the banks of the Isla, and is composed of several good streets. It is also a station on the North of Scotland and Highland Railway Company's line, situated about 170 miles from Edinburgh, 53 from Aberdeen, 18 from Banff, 17 from Elgin, 12 from Huntly, 10 from Rothes, and 8 from Fochabers. The town contains some good buildings, the principal of which are the churches, banks, and the Longmore Hall; the latter is a handsome building recently erected through the liberality of William Longmore, Esq., and presented by him to the inhabitants of the town. The banking interest is represented by branches of the Aberdeen Town and County Banking Co., North of Scotland Banking Co., the Union Bank of Scotland, and Post Office Savings' Bank. The places of worship are a Church of the Establishment, Free Church, Episcopalian Church, and a Roman Catholic Chapel; there are also three good schools under the management of the School Board, and a private academy for young ladies. The town is lighted with gas. Fife Keith, which is of more recent date than New Keith, is chiefly composed of one main street and others branching therefrom; the former is called Regent street, and is a very fine street, containing some good buildings. The North of Scotland Banking Co. have a branch office here. The manufacture of Scotch tweeds, agricultural implements, manures, &c., affords employment to a large number of hands. The business of tanning and leather selling is also carried on here to some extent by John Forsyth & Co. In addition to the above there are large flour and meal mills, a distillery, and a brewery.

NEWMILL is a small village in the Keith parish. There is a Church of the Establishment and a board school here.

BOTRIPHNE is a parish situated about 4½ miles from Keith, the inhabitants of which are chiefly employed in agriculture. There is a Church of the Establishment, a Free Church, and a board school in the parish; also a railway station at Drummuir, on the North of Scotland Railway.

GRANGE is a parish situated about four miles from Keith, and is a station on the North of Scotland Railway. There is an Established Church, a Free Church, and an United Presbyterian Church here; also three schools under the management of the School Board. MACDUFF, CROVIE, GARDENSTOWN, GAMRIE, AND DUBFORD.

MACDUFF is a burgh of regality (by charter 1783) and a sea-port in the parish of Gamrie, situated a mile east from the town of Banff, on the side of a hill descending towards the sea shore. The town has risen, within a century, from being a small fishing village to a place of considerable commercial importance, and is governed by a provost, two bailies and four councillors. There is also a police board consisting of six commissioners, three of whom are police magistrates who try any police cases which may arise. The harbour is large and convenient, and has one large dock. There is 11 feet of water at stream tides, and 7 at neap tides. There are 25 vessels belonging to Macduff and about 50 large fishing boats. The imports are chiefly timber, slate, coal, lime and bones, and the exports grain and meal. In the town are a number of fish-curing establishments, bone, meal, and saw mills. Rope and sail making and boat building is also carried on. There are two branch banks and a Post Office Savings' Bank, also a railway station on the Great North of Scotland Railway Company's line. The town hall is near the harbour. A Church of the Establishment, a Free Church, and an Independent Chapel are the places of worship; there are also board schools, and "Murray's Institution" for poor children. Macduff forms a portion of the parliamentary burgh of Banff, and is also a quoad sacra parish. Dubford is a small hamlet in Gamrie. GARDENSTOWN is a village in Gamrie parish, nine miles east of Banff, and 14 west of Fraserburgh; here is an Established Church or Chapel of Ease and one for the United Presbyterians. There is a branch of the North of Scotland Bank here. Crovie is a small village one mile from Gardenstown. The total number of fishing boats in the two villages is 150. The parish of Gamrie extends about eleven miles along the coast.

PORTSOY,

FORDYCE, AND SANDEND.

PORTSOY is a seaport in the parish of Fordyce, 18 miles from Keith, 11 from Buckie, 8 from Banff, and 6 from Cullen, situated on the Moray Frith. It was made a burgh of barony in the year 1550. The town is small but a very considerable business is carried on in fish curing, ship and boat building, &c. In the neighbourhood are brick works, a marble quarry, a distillery, a woollen manufactory and lime works. The harbour is good for vessels up to 200 tons burthen. The imports are coal, salt, timber, &c. The stone from the quarries, which are now held by Messrs. George MacDonald & Co. has obtained the name of "Portsoy marble," and is wrought into beautiful vases, ornaments, chimney-pieces, columns, mural work, &c. The burgh is under the jurisdiction of a baron baillie and a justice of the peace. The Earl of Seafield is superior. The town and adjoining district was erected a quoad sacra parish in 1871. The places of worship are a church of the Establishment, a Free Church, an Independent chapel, an Episcopal chapel, a United Presbyterian Church and a Roman Catholic chapel. The school board has just erected in Chapel street a spacious and elegant school, having everything necessary for the comfort of those attending it.

FORDYCE is a village situated about three miles from Portsoy, and owns at the present day some celebrity from its educational institutions. Smith's academy is a handsome modern building in which boys are educated and clothed, £10,000 having been left by George Smith, Esq., of Bombay, for that purpose. It was here that Sir James Clark, Bart., physician in ordinary to Her Majesty and John Forbes, Esq., physician extraordinary to his late Royal Highness the Prince Consort, received the early part of his education. A market is held in the village once a year, 8th November, for horses, feeing, &c. Sandend is a small fishing village about 2 miles from Fordyce.

Post Office, Square, Portsoy, James Clark, postmaster.—Letters arrive from the South at 10.30 a.m. and 2.20 p.m. from the north and west at 11.40 a.m. and from Banff at 1 noon and 5.45 p.m. and are despatched to north and south at 7.55 a.m. and 3 p.m. to the south at 11.30 a.m. to the north and west at 12.45 noon and (on Saturday's only), at 7.35 p.m. Rural messengers for Bogmunchals despatched at 12 noon and Tullynaught at 2.30 p.m. Money Order, Telegraph Office and Post Office Savings' Bank.

JOHN TAYLOR, HEATING ENGINEER, 71, WOOLMANHILL, ABERDEEN, FORMERLY OF GILMORE PARK, EDINBURGH,

Begs to intimate to gentlemen who may be desirous of having their Houses, Business Premises, Churches, or other Buildings, made comfortably warm during the winter, that he undertakes the accomplishment of this by means of his Small Pipe Hot Water Apparatus, constructed to suit all buildings.

The advantages of his Heating Apparatus over others are, that the heat is immediately got up, they are safe, there is no smell, draft, nor dust; and all parts of the Building are equally and comfortably warmed, while the expense of fuel is astonishingly small for the amount of heat produced, and with which no other Heating Apparatus can compare.

J. T. guarantees the efficiency, the soundness, and substantiality of all his Apparatus.

Prices moderate and best material only used.

J. T. has for the last 26 years devoted his whole time and attention to the warming of buildings, during which he has constructed and fitted up some hundreds of Heating Apparatus in different parts of Scotland, all of which are giving entire satisfaction.

Having had extensive practical experience in this business, and by his personally superintending, in detail, the completion of all its parts, parties entrusting him with this kind of work may depend upon everything connected therewith being satisfactorily completed.

J. T. will be glad to wait on and advise parties wishing his Heating Apparatus as to the most satisfactory methods of plan and arrangement; and will give a minute written estimate of all costs on application.

ABERDEEN SEA BATHING

AND

HOT SEA-WATER BATHS.

Every year it is becoming more generally recognised that the Granite City affords facilities for Bathing that will favourably compare with those of the most celebrated watering places in the kingdom. The breezy downs where healthful recreation may be enjoyed, the beautiful beach with which the bay is fringed, and the security ensured by the presence of vigilant attendants, are all gaining for Aberdeen increasing fame as a place where those who seek for health may most satisfactorily spend the months of Summer. But, besides the advantages afforded by nature, the Messrs. Duncan have, for the benefit of those who may desire their baths in privacy, erected an establishment which is so fitted and accommodated that visitors will find themselves supplied with every pleasure which a luxurious bath at home could provide. All the newest appliances for furnishing ease and enjoyment have been adopted, everything conducive to comfort has been employed, and to all who visit the establishment the utmost courtesy will be extended. The high commendations here ascribed to both Beach and Bathing Establishment, are not put forward merely by the advertisers, but is the heartily expressed opinion of many a tourist who has had experience of every well-known watering place at home and abroad.

CURR'S COFFEE ESSENCE.

TRADE MARK.

THIS ESSENCE is Extracted from the Finest Mocha Coffee, by a new and much improved method, whereby the fine Refreshing Fragrance of Fresh Roasted Coffee is preserved to a degree not hitherto attained, and differs from other Coffee Essences in its resemblance to the best Coffee made in the ordinary way.

Considering the extreme convenience of Coffee in this form, the maker of this Essence has been long of opinion that if an Essence could be produced which would make a Cup of Coffee equal to the finest Coffee that could possibly be made in the ordinary way, and at the same cost, such an Essence would be a boon to the community of Coffee Drinkers, and could not fail in the long run to take the place of all other Coffees; after much careful labour, and many improvements, he offers this Essence with much confidence of its success. It is preserved with Refined Sugar, and is improved in taste by a small blending of Pure Chicory.

The "AGRICULTURIST" is the only Farmers Journal printed and published in Scotland and is read by almost every Scotch Farmer. It is essentially a practical paper, being issued exclusively in the interest of agriculture, and treating of that subject in all its branches.

The "AGRICULTURIST" is published every Wednesday Afternoon in time for the evening mails and contains a Review of the British Corn Trade and all the chief Corn and Cattle Markets of the week held in the United Kingdom. From its very large circulation amongst Farmers and Land Owners in England and Scotland it is a first-class Journal for advertising—

Farms to Let; Farms for Sale; Agricultural Estates for Sale; Sales of Pure Bred Stock, such as Shorthorns, Herefords, Alderneys, Clydesdales, &c.; Agricultural Seeds; Artificial Manures; Agricultural Implements, Machinery, and Engines.

Money Orders should be made payable to CHARLES ANDERSON, Jun., Edinburgh.

THE COMBINATION COOKING RANGE.

ITS SPECIAL ADVANTAGES ARE—

An Open and Close Fire Range combined in one, which can in less than half a minute be absolutely converted from the one to the other without detaching any portion of the range. When used as an Open Range and the Vent inclined to smoke, the cure is simply to open the Flue Dampers, close the fire by slipping the Sliding Hobs over it, and drawing the Plates of the Vent Damper from either side across the Vent, thus forming a perfect Close Range.

This Range will be found so easily converted that it will be convenient to have it open when little cooking is required, a cheerful fire kept, and little fuel consumed. Then when a special amount of cooking is needed, it can instantly be closed, when a large hot plate forming the whole length and breadth of the Range is got, and heating one or more ovens at the same time.

Made in all sizes by Best Makers.

TO ALL STEAM USERS

BROADBENT'S

PATENT FLOATING

BOILER SCUMMERS

ARE INVALUABLE.

THEY INCREASE THE SAFETY OF THE BOILERS AND SAVE COAL.

SILVER MEDAL AWARDED AT THE MIDDLETON AGRICULTURAL SHOW, 1871.

In submitting this important invention to the notice of steam users and others, we feel confident of being able to supply a want which has long been felt, namely, a really good scummer, the thorough efficiency of which has been proved by the best of all tests—practical application. The great superiority of the movable or floating Scummer over the fixed Scummer is very evident; for while the latter can only remove the scum when at a particular elevation, the former carries it away successfully, no matter what may be the height of the water.

This Apparatus deserves the special attention of the owners of Marine Boilers, as its adoption would prevent, to a great extent, the large and rapid accumulation of scale, to which these boilers are peculiarly subject. The mechanism is slightly different from that applied to Stationary Boilers, in order to secure the proper working condition of the Scummer during any motion of the vessel. Whatever the vessel's position the Float will be level with the surface of the water.

Another important feature is its simplicity of construction, rendering liability to get out of order very slight.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS ON THE SCUMMER.

Too much importance can scarcely be attached to a really good Scummer, as it removes, in a great measure, a prolific source of expensive, and often lamentable results; in short, few users of steam boilers can be ignorant of the very numerous evils attendant on corrosion and incrustation. By the use of our Scummer the number of these evils may, at least, be materially reduced.

The Scummer ought always to be placed near the back end of the boiler, as the scum is carried there by the current of the water from the firing end.

ADVANTAGES ARISING FROM THE USE OF THE FLOATING SCUMMER.

INCREASED SAFETY AND DURABILITY OF THE BOILER, AND STEAM EASIER GENERATED, is attained by the scum being blown outside the boiler, and prevents that rapid accumulation of scale and deposit, allowing the heat from the furnaces to act more direct upon the water, at the same time with less injury to the boiler plates.

LESS WEAR AND TEAR ON THE ENGINE CYLINDER AND VALVE SURFACES, by the steam passing from the boiler in a purer state, i.e., free from scummings; the surface of valve facings are kept clean, they do not get fluted, fit well, and consequently, do their work better; the cylinder does not get (what is known among engineers) painted by a deposit of scum. There are more break-downs caused through this evil than any other, for immediately the scum gets upon the cylinder the friction is increased, and the velocity of the piston is suddenly retarded, causing a severe back lashing in the wheels, and often results in a stoppage of the whole works until the wheels are replaced. By the cylinder being kept clean the turning is more regular, and less steam required.

Price per Boiler £15 Nett.

Price for Self-acting Motion to work the Scummer ... £2 ..

THE SCUMMER CAN BE ATTACHED TO BOILERS IN A FEW HOURS.

The following is an extract from a paper on the evil effects of incrustation:—

WASTE OF COAL AND WEAR OF STEAM BOILERS.

Professor Joseph G. Rogers, in a paper upon steam-boiler waters and incrustation, read before the American Association for the Advancement of science, says:—"The evil effects of scale are due to the fact that it is relatively a non-conductor of heat. It has been demonstrated that a scale of 1-16 of an inch thick requires an extra expenditure of 15 per cent. more fuel. As the scale thickens the ratio increases. When it is $\frac{1}{4}$ of an inch thick 60 per cent. more is required; at $\frac{1}{2}$ inch, 150 per cent. and so on. To raise steam to a working pressure of 90 pounds the water must be heated to 320 Fah. If a $\frac{1}{2}$ inch scale intervenes the boiler must be heated to 700 degrees—almost a low red heat. The higher the temperature at which iron is kept the more rapidly it oxidizes, and at any temperature above 600 degrees it soon becomes granular and brittle from carbonization or conversion into the state of cast iron. Weakness of boilers thus produced predisposes to sudden explosions, and makes expensive repairs necessary.

TESTIMONIALS.

Oldham Edge Iron Works, February, 1871.
We have one of Broadbent's Patent Floating Scummers at work, and are pleased to state that it gives entire satisfaction.
J. PRITCHARD & SONS.

Vale Mill, Hollinwood, near Manchester, August 7th, 1872.
DEAR SIR,—In answer to your inquiries, we have had five of Broadbent's scummers (one on each boiler) at work about twelve months, and are glad to say that we are very well pleased with them. We find the SCALE in the boilers gradually diminishing, and the Pistons almost free from DIRT, consequently needing less TALLOW. Before we applied the Scummers we cleaned the pistons every three months, but now we clean them once in six months, and yet we do not find one quarter of the DIRT in the cylinders that we used to do.
Yours very truly,
p. pro PROCKTER, LITTLER, & Co., THOMAS PROCKTER.

Park Mills, Hollinwood, near Manchester, February 15th, 1872.
SIR,—We have pleasure in testifying to the efficient working of Broadbent's Patent Scummer. Previous to applying it, we were very much troubled with "Engine Priming," we never are now; the boiler is also very much cleaner.
Yours respectfully,
H. L. & G. BAXTER.

Albert Mills, Hollinwood, near Manchester, February 17th, 1872.
We have had your Patent Scummers at work for some time, on four of our boilers, and think them very useful for preventing incrustation, and likely to continue operative for a long time without getting choked, or otherwise out of order.
Yours truly,
W. J. & B. LÉES.

Moorside Mills, Oldham, March 2nd, 1872.
SIR,—We have very great pleasure in testifying to the efficacy of the Patent Scummers you have applied to our boilers. We have let the boilers off now after four months' working, and are glad to find that no scale or residue whatever exists, although we have usually cleaned our boilers once every six weeks, and were nevertheless troubled with scale to a great extent.
Yours respectfully,
THOMAS MELLODEW & Co.

Mr. J. BROADBENT. Stayley New Mills, Stayleybridge, February 17th, 1873.
DEAR SIR,—I have pleasure in stating that the Patent Floating Boiler Scummers you applied to my four boilers are doing their work exceedingly well. I work them double the time I used to do without cleaning, and I find scarcely any scale adhering to the flues. I can with confidence recommend them to all users of steam power where they are troubled with scale.
I am, dear sir, yours truly,
For GEORGE ADSHEAD, ISAAC K. CLAYTON.

Willow Bank Mill, Rochdale Road, Oldham, September 17th, 1873.
SIR,—The Scummer which you have put on our boilers a few months ago seem to be working very satisfactory so far.
Yours respectfully,
KERSHAW & BAMFORD.
