HOW TO LEAD A WISE LIFE.

Labour over ometh all things.

RESPECT is better procured by exacting than soliciting it.

WHENEVER you make a mistake, make it teach you something.

THOSE who cannot have what they like, must learn to like what they have.

WITHOUT steadiness of character in social life there can be no true friendship.

NOR to give cheerfully when we give to God is to take all the value out of the gift.

BE not too familiar with thy servants : at first it may beget love, but in the end 'twill breed contempt.

Good fortune and bad are equally necessary to man, to fit him to meet the contingencies of this life.

OUR rule in life should be to think first how we should like others to treat us, and act accordingly to them.

SEEK wisdom, and you will be sure to find her ; but if you do not look for her she will not look for you.

A LITTLE management may often evade resistance which a vast force might vainly strive to overcome.

THERE is this of good in real evils—they deliver us while they last from the petty despotism of all that were imaginary.

NEXT to knowing when to seize an opportunity, the most important thing in life is to know when to forego an advantage.

ONE may go wrong in many different ways, but right only in one ; and so the former is easy, the latter difficult ; easy to miss the mark, but hard to hit it.

WE should act with as much energy as those who expect everything from themselves ; and we should pray with as much earnestness as those who expect everything from God.

EVERY duty we omit obscures some truth we should have known. Every duty done strengthens the truth from which we do it, and makes it shine in the fresh setting of good which our action has provided for it.

INCOMPARABLY the highest and fortunately the least uncommon form of genius is wisdom in the conduct of life ; for this form involves in a far greater degree than any other the constant exercise of that courage which is inseparable from genius.

HUMAN happiness has no perfect security but freedom ; freedom none but virtue ; virtue none but knowledge ; and neither freedom, nor virtue, nor knowledge, has any vigour or immortal hope, except in the principles of the Christian faith, and in the sanctions of the Christian religion.

CHARACTER is a perfectly educated will.

HE that does good to another does good also to himself.

THERE is no virtue in doing right simply because we have to.

IF you want enemies, excel others ; if you want friends, let others excel you.

IT is conferring a kindness to deny at once a favour which you intended to refuse.

GRANT graciously what you cannot refuse safely, and conciliate those you cannot conquer.

IF you wish to appear agreeable in society you must consent to be taught many things which you know already.

WISDOM consists not in seeing what is directly before us but in discerning those things which may come to pass.

A WOMAN should never accept a lover without the consent of her heart, nor a husband without the consent of her judgment.

WHATEVER disgrace we have merited, it is almost always in our power to re-establish our reputation.

ONE reason why the world is not reformed is because every man would have others make a beginning, and never thinks of himself.

CHARACTER is made up of small duties faithfully performed, of self-denials, of self-sacrifices, of kindly acts of love and duty.

THE art of being able to make a good use of moderate abilities wins esteem and often confers more reputation than greater real merit.

EVERY man is ready to give in a long catalogue of those virtues and good qualities he expects to find in the person of a friend ; but very few of us are careful to cultivate them in ourselves.

THE two most precious things on this side the grave are our reputation and our life. But it is to be lamented that the most contemptible whisper may deprive us of the one, and the weakest weapon of the other. A wise man, therefore, will be more anxious to deserve a fair name than to possess it, and this will teach him so to live as not to be afraid to die.

THERE is nothing more becoming any wise man than to make choice of friends, for by them thou shalt be judged what thou art : let them, therefore, be wise and virtuous, and none of those that follow thee for gain ; but make election rather of thy betters than thy inferiors, shunning always such as are needy ; for if thou givest twenty gifts, and refuse to do the like but once, all that thou hast done will be lost, and such men will become thy mortal enemies.

Never Despond.

The most perilous hour of a person's life is when he is tempted to despond. The man who loses his courage loses all ; there is no more hope of him than of a dead man. But—it matters not how poor he may be, how much pushed by circumstances, how much deserted by friends, how much lost to the world—if he only keeps his courage, holds up his head, and with unconquerable will determines to be and to do what becomes a man, all will be well. It is nothing outside of him kills ; it is what is within that makes or unmakes.

"BE MERRY, FRIENDS!"

"Few things are as healthy as laughing."—TISSOT.

FIRST CRITIC: "Very poor play, but it has some merit." Second Critic: "Yes. It's soon over."

"ARE you in pain, my little man?" asked the kind old gentleman. "No," answered the boy, "the pain's in me."

"WELL, Sambo, how do you like your new place?" "Oh, very well, massa." "What did you have for breakfast this morning?" "Why, you see, missus biled three eggs for herself, and gib me de brof."

Husband: "Don't you think that you are rather unreasonable to expect me to take you to a ball, stay awake until four o'clock, and then get up at eight to go to my work?"

Wife: "I may be a bit unreasonable, but it's perfectly brutal of you to mention it."

Mrs. Parvenu: "I want one of those globes." Shopman: "Here is one, madam, that is used in all our schools." Mrs. Parvenu: "Well, if you will have me a few more islands painted on them empty spaces, I'll take it."

"It has come to my ears that you are calling me 'the governor,'" said the old man sternly. "Are you?" "I might as well admit it," said the young man contritely. "You ought," continued the old gentleman, "you ought to have more respect for your mother."

"WILLIAM, I have deceived you." "In what way, dearest?" "I have let you go on and believe that papa was a lawyer." "And wasn't he?" "No, dear William, he wasn't." "But I have often heard him speak of his famous cases." "Yes, William—they were sausage cases."

Fimson: "Is Mr. Noodles in?" Boy: "Not yet, but I expect him every minute." "It's ten o'clock, isn't it?" "Most. The clock will strike in half a minute, if not sooner. There she goes!" "All right. I promised to be here at ten o'clock and pay him some money. Tell him I called, and he wasn't in." (Rushes off.)

Bashful Regan (after a long pause): "I'm a-thinking I shall go an' list for a sojer, Widow Skelly." "Faith, thin, it's a poor sojer you'll make!" "Phwat do yez mane?" "Oh, nothing! Only a man who kapes on callin' on a widdy for a couple of years without pluck enough to shpake his moind hasn't the makin' of a sojer in him."

COLLECTOR: "Say, look here; I'm tired of calling here about this bill." Debtor: "Well, I'm mighty glad to hear it."

"You didn't run after that thief that snatched your watch?" "No; if he can make the old thing keep time he's welcome to it."

Lawyer: "Now, you must be confidential with me. Did you really rob the bank?" Excashier: "No, sir. I am an honest man."

Lawyer: "Then I can't defend you. Where would my fees come from?"

IN Lexington, Kentucky, a negro girl was arrested for carrying a razor in her hair. "What were you doing with that razor?" asked the Recorder. "I warn't doin' nuthin' wid it when dey kotched me," she said; "I wuz jest a-looking' fer a lady dat I didn't like!"

"THIS is a splendid chance for you to tackle papa, George." "How so?" "He's just come home from a fishing excursion, and if he can get you to listen to his stories he'll give you anything you ask for." "I'll do it for your sake, dearest."

Two men, talking of steam, were unable to command words to define that of which they spoke. "Steam," said one of them, "is steam." A sailor, who overheard them, interposed with the following definition: "Steam is a bucket of water in a tremendous perspiration."

Doctor: "You ought to take that child into the country for several weeks every summer." Mother: "Oh, doctor, I'm sorry to say we are not rich enough." Doctor: "Well, then, have her sent by a fresh-air fund." Mother: "But, doctor, we're not poor enough!"

"You must forgive me, madame, for giving you that frightfully ugly man over there as a vis-à-vis, but unfortunately I could not find anybody else." "Ah, that doesn't matter, Mr. Malaprop; I am quite accustomed to having him as vis-à-vis. He is—my husband."

A MAN last winter entered a telegraph office at Eccles and wrote out a telegram, which he asked the clerk to send at once. In about a quarter of an hour he returned and said, "Now tha's not sent that telegram." "Yes, I have," said the clerk. "But I say tha's not," replied the man, "for I've been outside watching 't wires for th' last quarter of an hour, and it's not gone yet."

The Bears and the Bees.

*As two young bears in wanton mood,
Forth issuing from a neighb'ring wood,
Came where th' industrious bees had stor'd*

*In artful cells their luscious hoard;
O'erjoy'd they seiz'd with eager haste
Luxurious on the rich repast.
Alarm'd at this the little crew*

*About their ears vindictive flew.
The beasts, unable to sustain
Th' unequal combat, quit the plain;
Half blind with rage, and mad with pain,*

*Their native shelter they regain;
There sit, and now, discreeter grown,
Too late their rashness they bemoan;
And this by dear experience gain,
That pleasure's ever bought with pain.
So when the gilded baits of vice
Are plac'd before our longing eyes,
With greedy haste we snatch our fill,
And swallow down the latent ill;
But when experience opens our eyes,
Away the fancied pleasure flies:
It flies, but oh! too late we find
It leaves a real sting behind.—MERRICK.*

Worthing.

THIS pleasant and popular watering-place lies ten miles west of Brighton, and is fifty-two miles from London. It is a desirable resort for invalids and persons of consumptive habit. It is a clean, respectable-looking town: the streets are broad and particularly well paved. There is a marine parade, a mile and a quarter in length, a long range of firm sands, and an iron promenade pier, 660 feet long, constructed in 1882. The mother parish of Worthing is Broadwater, the church of which, three-quarters of a mile north of Worthing, has some fine old monuments and brasses. Pottery and other Roman remains have been found at Worthing. Its rise as a watering-place began about 1760.

Bridal Superstition.

IT is still commonly believed in some out-of-the-way parts of the country that no bride must go to the altar without "something old and something new, something borrowed and something blue." Neither must she, after her toilet is complete, look at herself in the mirror. She must see that no bridal guest wears a costume entirely black, as that would bring her sorrow. On changing her gown, she must throw away every pin used in the bridal attire.

Sun rising and setting are here given in Greenwich time. For local time at Dublin, subtract 25 m.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

Sow early Mazagan and long-pod beans during the first and last weeks of the month; early peas in the beginning of the month; onions on very light soils; parsley, short-topped radish, and hardy green and brown Dutch lettuce. All kinds of fruit trees should be pruned; wash those trees which are infested with insects with soapsuds and flower of sulphur and tobacco liquor. Prepare for making-up hot beds for early cucumbers and melons. Sow salads, carrots and kidney beans on slight hotbeds. Plant dried tubers and bulbs of border flowers if not done in autumn. Transplant herbaceous plants in light soils if not done in autumn; also deciduous trees, shrubs, and hedges. Lay edgings when the weather is fine. Sow mignonette, stocks, etc., in pots. Sow sweet peas and a few hardy annuals on a warm border. The protection of choice plants will now require particular care. Water plants in pots sparingly.

THE PARADE, WORTHING.

Kisses by Mail.

THE young postmaster of a village in Somerset was hard at work in his office when a gentle tap was heard upon the door, and in stepped a blushing maiden of sixteen, with a money order which she desired cashed. She handed it, with a bashful smile, to the official, who, after closely examining it, gave her the money it called for. At the same time, he asked her if she had read what was written on the margin of the order.

"No, I have not," she replied, "for I cannot make the writing out. Will you please read it for me?"

The young postmaster read as follows: "I send you 10s. and a dozen kisses."

Glancing at the bashful girl, he said: "Now, I have paid you the money, and I suppose you want the kisses?"

"Yes," she said; "if he has sent me any kisses I want them, too."

It is hardly necessary to say that the balance of the order was promptly paid and in a scientific manner.

On reaching home the delighted maiden remarked to her mother:—

"Mother, this post-office system of ours is a great thing, developing more and more every year, and each new feature seems to be the best. Jimmy sent me a dozen kisses along with the money order, and the postmaster gave me no fewer than twenty."

Securing a Client.

IT is well known that a great many barristers in the Temple have been having a bad time during the last year or so. One evening last winter a certain young barrister—now a Welsh M.P.—went across to the Inner Temple library. He was surprised by the sudden appearance of his errand-boy, who was looking very excited. "If you please, sir," the boy gasped, "a gentleman is waiting for you at the chambers with a brief! He can't get out, sir; I've locked him safely in!"

Recipes for Mental Ailments.

AGAINST Fits of Fury.—Go at once into the open air, far away from human beings, and shout to the wind, and tell it what a fool you are.

Against Attacks of Discontent.—Set out for the houses of the poor. Look at their narrow rooms, their hard beds, their poor clothes and shoes. Observe what is put on their breakfast, dinner, and supper table. Ask what their earnings are, and calculate how you would fare had you no more. When you get home you will no longer be discontented.

Against Ambition and Vanity.—Go into the graveyard and read the inscriptions on the tombstones. They show what is the end of all earthly striving. Your house, too, will be there some day, with a little earth for your pillow and corruption for your body.

Against Despair.—Look at the good things God has given you in this world, and remember the better ones He has promised for the next. He who looks for cobwebs in his garden will find not only them, but spiders as well. But he who goes to find flowers will certainly return with perfumed roses.

The Spanish Premier Assassinated.

On the 8th of August, 1897, Señor Canovas, the Spanish Premier, fell a victim to an Anarchist murderer named Golli, at Santa Agueda, in the Basque Provinces.

The assassination of Señor Canovas was undoubtedly the result of the most cold-blooded premeditation. Golli deliberately watched his opportunity, and only fired when there was no chance of missing his victim. In fact, he declared as much to the examining magistrate before whom he was brought after his arrest. Señor Canovas and his wife had attended mass in the chapel attached to the Baths of Santa Agueda. After service the Premier was engaged in conversing with some newspaper correspondents when the assassin approached.

The murderer was twenty-six years of age, and a native of Boggia in Naples. He came to Spain in 1896, and resided in Barcelona, where he took part in the proceedings of various Anarchist associations. Later on he visited France and Belgium, and only returned to Spain in July of 1897. He left Madrid for the Santa Agueda baths at the same time as Señor Canovas, and there awaited his chance of committing the crime.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

Sow beans and peas in the beginning and end of the month; a few early cabbages, red cabbages, and savoy in the last week. Sow also early horn carrot, Dutch turnip onions for a full crop in light soils, with a few leeks. Sow chervil and fennel and lettuces, with radishes and round-leaved spinach, twice in the course of the month; small salads every fortnight. Plant Jerusalem artichokes, garlic, horse-radish, and early potatoes. Strawberries may be planted about the end of the month. Transplant for seed, cabbage, cauliflower, turnip, etc. Transplant to the bottom of a south wall a few of the peas sown in November for the first crop. Prune apricots, peaches, nectarines, and plums before the buds be much swelled; also apples, pears, cherries, gooseberries, currants, and raspberries before the end of the month. Continue the forcing of all kinds of fruit. In the flower garden, in good weather, plant dried roots, including most of the finer florists' flowers. Continue the transplanting of hardy biennial flowers and herbaceous plants. Sow in the last week mignonette and hardy annuals in a warm border for subsequent transplanting. It is to be observed that by sowing in February and again in March or April, one is able to obtain a succession of flowers of the same kind in the summer and autumn. Chinese roses and those of robust growth should now be pruned, but do not shorten strong-growing varieties much, except those shoots intended to produce wood for next season.

Ten Noble Poems.

WHICH are the ten noblest poems in English literature, "measured by the test of poetic form, ethical insight, and spiritual inspiration?" The question was addressed recently to a large number of eminent Americans by a resident in Chicago, who is of an inquiring turn of mind.

The following are the first ten on the list as it emerges from a collation of the replies which were received: "Intimations of Immortality" (Wordsworth); "Saul" (Browning); Gray's "Elegy"; "Rabbi Ben Ezra" (Browning); "Ode to a Skylark" (Shelley); Lowell's "Commemoration Ode"; "The Ancient Mariner" (Coleridge); Bryant's "Thanatopsis"; "The Eternal Goodness" (Whittier); and "Tintern Abbey" (Wordsworth).

No Use Rowing Now.

SCENE—Scotch salmon river in the neighbourhood of Inverness.

Artist: "And how about refreshments when you are out a-salmon fishing?"

Scotch Boatman (despondingly): "Ha—refreshments, indeed! The days of refreshment was like 'Lochaber, no more.' When I was come here, sirr, twenty or nineteen years ago, we wass treated like gentlemen. Oh, yiss—it was pleasant and comfortable then! Efery poatman as wass out on ta loch for ta day wass to get a quart pottle of whuskey for her nainsel; but now it wass a teetotal whatefer. We wass now to get a pint—not a drop more! What is a leetle pint amang wan, sirr? Shust a tickler o' her gums, ant nosing more. Ha, sirr; it will pe no laughin' sport! To tell you ta true story, sirr, it wass not—yiss, it wass not—of no use rowing a poat now at all, at all."

Keep Watch on Your Tongue.

SOFT words soften our own soul. Angry words are fuel to the flame of wrath, and make it burn more fiercely. Kind words make other people good-natured. Cold words freeze people, and hot words scorch them, and bitter words make them bitter, and wrathful words make them wrathful.

There is such a rush of all other kinds of words in our day, that it seems desirable to give kind words a chance among them.

Kind words produce their own image on men's souls. And a beautiful image it is. They soothe, and quiet, and comfort the hearer. They shame him out of his sour, morose, unkind feelings. We have not yet begun to use kind words as they ought to be used.—Blaise Pascal.

Courting in Devonshire.

THE following stanzas on Devonshire courtship by Eden Phillpots have a true West of England flavour:—

*Birds gived awwer singin',
Flittermice wass wingin',
Mists lay on the meadows—
A purty sight to see.*

*Down-long in the dimpsy, the dimpsy,
the dimpsy—*

Down-long in the dimpsy, Theer went a maid wi' me.

*Five gude mile o' walkin',
Not wan word o' talkin',
Then I axed a question
An' put the same to she.*

*Up-long in the owl-light, the owl-light,
the owl-light—*

*Up-long in the owl-light,
Theer comed my maid wi' me.*

Yarmouth.

THIS is a watering-place of a particularly invigorating character. The sea view which it commands is magnificent, and Yarmouth Roads being very safe anchorage it is much frequented by merchant vessels and colliers on the east coast; often no fewer than five hundred vessels may be seen at anchor at once. There is a fine, clean sandy beach stretching from the mouth of the river Yare on the south, to the village of Caistor on the north, a distance of about five miles. The curing of fish is an important industry at Yarmouth, "Yarmouth bloaters" being celebrated throughout the kingdom.

Up-to Date
Maud Miller.

MAUD MILLER on a summer night went out on her bike in the bright moonlight... She pedalled around from six to ten on a trip that would fag the strongest men; but her heart was light and her spirits gay, for it wasn't work, 'twas nothing but play. Next morning, however, she'd a pain in her head, she was all played out and stayed in bed, while her mother hustled in the kitchen below—not to ride a wheel, but to make things go. Though the morning was hot, and she worked by the fire, she didn't collapse like a punctured tyre. Alas for the girl and the woman, see. Things are not as they used to be.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

Sow main crops of beans, peas, cabbage, onions, leeks, carrots, parsnips, Brussels sprouts, borecole, lettuces, and spinach. Sow turnips and savoys in the beginning and end of the month. In the last fortnight sow asparagus, cauliflower, sea kale, celery, &c. Small salads should now be sown every ten days. Plant early potatoes in the first week, and a main crop during the last fortnight. Jerusalem artichokes, sea kale, asparagus, and peas, raised in frames, may now be planted. Propagate by slips, the various pot-herbs, as mint, sage, savory, tansy, &c. Finish the pruning of fruit trees before the middle of the month. Begin grafting in the third week. In the last week sow hardy annuals in the borders with biennials that flower the first season. Thin out and plant some of the autumn-sown annuals. This most important month for getting in main crops of various kinds is proverbial for boisterous weather, but take advantage of fine intervals.

Sites for Dwelling-houses.

HEALTHY soils for dwelling-houses are granites, metamorphic rocks, clay-stone, limestone, sandstone, chalk, gravel, and sand. Unhealthy are clay, sand and gravel with clay subsoil, alluvial soil and marsh-lands, with the exception of peat-lands. Among the unhealthy soils ought also to be included all made soils, particularly those that are formed so often in towns from rubbish heaps and the emptyings of all the dust-lins in the district.

Hollows, whether on low or high ground, should be avoided, as well as the bottom of a valley between hills rising on each side, and too close proximity to the foot of a hill. Again, when a house is built on a hillside, the ground should not be dug out so that a cliff rises immediately behind.

Valuable shelter, not only from cold winds but from fogs, may be afforded by trees, but it is not generally advisable to have them close round a dwelling, at least in large numbers, since they impede the free circulation of air, and tend to confine evaporation beneath their shade. The more fresh air we have the better.

People who Buy Dream Books.

"I SELL a most surprising number of publications of the prophetic almanac and dream book class," said a London suburban bookseller the other day to a man who was bragging about the schoolmaster being abroad.

"The greater number of my customers in this way are workgirls and domestic servants, or young married women of the 'small villa' class; but the strangest part about the sale of these dream books is the number of youths and young men—shop-boys, junior clerks and so on—who greedily buy them. Judging from conversations I have had on scores of occasions, nine-tenths of the purchasers are great believers in the foretelling of events in one way or another, and most of them have some wonderful story to tell of prophecy or of a dream coming true in their own cases. It seems incredible in these days, I admit, but here are my sales' accounts, and you can see for yourself what a business I do with people who want to know how to interpret their dreams.

"To give you an example of what I hear, only last Friday a very attractive girl, the book-keeper at a butcher's near here, came in and said, 'I am to be married on Wednesday. In a bit of fun, I followed the directions in the dream book I bought of you, and I dreamt that I was going to marry a man just like the intended husband I have since chosen!'

"People often come in and, having bought some small article, say, 'Would you mind letting me glance for a moment at one of the dream books you sell? I had a strange dream the other night, and I want to see what it means.' I have even had a prosperous tradesman in here saying that he should not open a certain branch shop, because by the dream book he had bought the portents were not favourable. I sell any amount of these things."

A Seafaring Yarn.

GEORDIE had been engaged as ship's cook, and as he was not very well acquainted with the business he often had to ask what, and how much, he should cook. One morning he asked a sailor what he thought he might cook for breakfast.

"Rice," replied Jack, who wanted to have a bit of fun.

"How much will I cook?" asked Geordie.

"Well, I think a bucketful will do," said Jack.

Geordie got the rice, and commenced to boil it. It swelled, and he soon found that the pan was too small. He baled some of it into another, and kept on till he had all full, and still the quantity seemed to increase. Getting tired of it, as a last resource he tied down the pan-lids, and, shutting the galley-door, went on deck. The captain, coming along, asked Geordie why he wasn't preparing breakfast. Geordie replied: "Whist, man! I'm cooking rice, and I don't know the minut it will burst the door!"

Conversation.

JESTERS do oft prove prophets.

A HEAVY heart bears not a nimble tongue.

SPEECH is given to all: wisdom to few.

SOME people take more care to hide their wisdom than their folly.

WHILE the gift of conversation proves a clever man, the want of it is no proof of a dull one.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

Sow asparagus, sea kale, beet, carrots, and onions on heavy soils; also peas, beans, turnips, spinach, celery, cabbage, savoys, and German greens for succession. Sow broccoli and kidney beans both in the second and in the last week. Plant cauliflower, cabbages, sea kale, lettuces, and finish the planting of the main crop of potatoes. Attend to the hoeing and thinning of spinach, onions, turnips, &c. Earth-up cabbages, cauliflowers, peas, beans, and early potatoes. Stake peas. Blanch sea kale and rhubarb in the open air by covering with straw or leaves. Sow main or succession crops of annuals of all sorts; half-hardy annuals in warm borders or slight hotbeds. Biennials and perennials should be sown before the middle of the month. Plant Tigridia pavonia and fine stocks. Finish the transplanting of herbaceous plants by the end of the first week. Plant out tender deciduous trees and shrubs raised in pots. Remove part of the coverings of all tender plants in the first week, and the remainder at the end of the month. Lawns should be mown and rolled regularly.

A FROLICSOME PLAYMATE.

*Let Hercules himself do what he may,
The cat will mew, and dog will have his day.*
SHAKESPEARE.

TRUTH.

*SEIZE upon Truth
where'er tis found—
Among your friends, among your foes,
On Christian or on heathen
ground:
The flower's divine, where'er
it grows.*

EXTREMES MEET.

*The extremes of glory and of shame,
Like east and west, become the same.
No Indian prince has to his palace
More followers than a thief to the gallows.*
BUTLER.

A Visit to Ireland.

THE Duke and Duchess of York paid a long-planned visit to Ireland as the guests of the Lord Lieutenant and Lady Cadogan, in the autumn of 1897.

One of the incidents of this visit is commemorated in our engraving on the opposite page, which shows the Duke going through the solemn ritual of investiture as a Knight of the most illustrious order of St. Patrick.

The declaration read by the Duke was in the following terms:—

"I declare upon my honour that during the time I shall be a Fellow of this Most Illustrious Order of St. Patrick I will keep, defend, and sustain the honours, rights, and privileges of the Sovereign of the said Order, and well and truly accomplish all the statutes, points, and ordinances of the said Order, as though they were read to me from point to point and article to article, and that, wittingly and willingly, I will not break any statutes of the said Order or any article in them contained excepting such as I shall have received a dispensation from the Sovereign."

The Grand Master then pronounced a solemn admonition, the Duke having been first girded with a sword and robed in an azure mantle. On the ceremony being completed, the Duke's banner was unfurled, and his title was publicly declared.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

Sow small salads every week; radishes and lettuces thrice; spinach once a fortnight; carrots and onions for late drawing; kidney beans in the first week and last fortnight; peas and beans, cauliflower, cabbages, Brussels sprouts, &c., for late crops. Continue the various operations of hoeing and earthing-up the different crops. Pick caterpillars from gooseberry bushes and wall trees on their first appearance. Remove from raspberries and strawberries all suckers and runners that are not wanted. Sow annuals for succession. Propagate by cuttings dahlias, pansies, double wallflowers, rockets, scarlet lychns, and lobelias by dividing the roots. Plant out during the last week dahlias, hardy pelargoniums, and stocks, protecting the dahlias from slight frosts. In dry weather water becomes necessary to many plants in the open ground, but it should not be used unless positively required. This is a rule to be followed all through the summer.

THE DUKE OF YORK MADE A KNIGHT OF ST. PATRICK.

Some Dont's For Wives.

DON'T expect impossibilities from your husband.

Don't snub him in the presence of strangers.

Don't henpeck him just because you know he is quiet and will stand it.

Don't treat him as if you had come down off a pedestal to marry him.

Don't worry him to death because you cannot have your dearest wish granted.

Don't run to your mother with all his faults; rather bring his good qualities to light and hide his failures.

Don't think that, now you are married, he doesn't care whether you curl your hair or not.

Don't expect him to be amiable with a breakfast of tough steak, greasy potatoes, cold rolls, and muddy coffee.

An Indian Sword-player.

AN Indian sword-player declared at a great public festival, at which Sir Charles Napier was present, that he could cleave, vertically, a small lime laid on a man's palm without injury to the member; and Sir Charles extended his right hand for the trial. The sword-player, awed by his rank, was reluctant, and cut the fruit horizontally. Being urged to fulfil his boast, he examined the palm, said it was not one to be experimented on with safety, and refused to proceed. Sir Charles then extended his left hand, which was admitted to be suitable in form; yet the Indian still declined the trial; and when pressed, twice waved his thin, keen-edged blade, as if to strike, and twice withheld the blow, declaring he was uncertain of success. Finally, he was forced to make trial, and the lime fell open, cleanly divided: the edge of the sword had just marked its passage over the skin without drawing a drop of blood!

Spectacles in Fashion.

WHEN spectacles were first introduced it was considered fashionable to wear them even by people who were not in the least near-sighted.

In Spain they formed part of the costume of every well-bred person. This absurd use of glasses was meant to increase the gravity of the appearance, and consequently the veneration with which the wearer of them was regarded.

A young monk having, through the assistance of his family, caused his convent to succeed in an important lawsuit, thought himself liberally rewarded when the prior, having embraced him, said, to testify his gratitude, "Brother, put on spectacles."

The glasses of spectacles were proportioned in size to the rank of the wearer; those worn by the Spanish nobles were as large as one's hand. The Marquis of Astorga, Viceroy of Naples, after having had his bust sculptured in marble, particularly enjoined the artist not to forget his beautiful spectacles!

The Revenge of Æsop.

*A BLOCKHEAD once a stone at Æsop threw:
"A better marksman, friend, I never knew,"
Exclaimed the wit, and gaily rubbed his leg;
"A hand so dextrous ne'er will come to beg.
Excuse these pence; how poor I am, you know!
If I give these, what would the rich bestow?
Look, look! that well-drest gentleman you see;
Quick, prove on him the skill mispent on me!
Here, take the stone. Be cool—a steadfast eye—
And make your fortune with one lucky shy."
The blockhead took the counsel of the wit;
He poised the pebble, and his mark he hit.
"Arrest the traitor! He has struck the king!"
And Æsop, smiling, saw the ruffian swing.*

Stamford.

STAMFORD is an ancient oorough town in Lincolnshire. It is pleasantly placed on the banks of the Welland river, and its appearance when seen from a distance is remarkably picturesque, many of the old buildings being grouped together with the towers and steeples of the neighbouring churches. Agriculture is the almost exclusive pursuit of the surrounding district. Stamford is chiefly remarkable for its ancient remains. It first appears in history in the middle of the sixth century.

Modern Aphorisms.

Go slow, my friend : you have time and eternity both before you.

THERE are successes far more humiliating than defeat.

HE who is ashamed of his poverty would be equally proud of his wealth.

WE are all very proud of our reason, and yet we guess at fully one-half we know.

SOME people's virtues sit upon them as their clothes do ; they look as though they pricked dreadfully.

I BELIEVE in dispensation ; but when a man gets drunk, and falls down the cellar stairs and breaks his neck, I lay it to the whisky, not to the dispensation.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

Sow peas and beans for late crops. The kinds used for early crops are likewise best for this purpose. Sow salading every ten days ; also carrots and onions for drawing young. In the beginning of the month sow endive for an early crop. In the first week sow turnips for succession, and in the third week for a full autumn crop. Pull and store winter onions if ripe. Train and prune the summer shoots of all descriptions of wall- and trellis-trees. Net over cherry trees to protect the fruit from birds. Destroy insects by repeated washings and directing tobacco smoke against them, or by strewing snuff (or the fine powder of tobacco) upon them. Take up all bulbs and dry them in the shade before removing them. Remove all kinds of decaying crops. Sow perennials, if neglected last month, to be planted out in the spring. Watering out of doors is more or less necessary during this month for newly planted vegetables and flowers. After watering, loosen the ground round plants with the hoe.

An Early Start.

LITTLE Isaac Moses, whose grandfather began life as an errand-boy and finished as a millionaire, was paid by his mother a penny a dozen for pins picked up from the carpet, to keep the baby from getting them.

"Nurse," said little Isaac, as his stock of pennies increased, "do you know what I am going to do when I have sixpence?"

"No," answered the nurse.

"I am going to buy a paper of pins and scatter them all over the floor, and then pick them up," replied the young financier.

Cultivate Tact.

THERE is no quality more to be desired to make a woman a social success than that of tact. Its possessor knows the right thing to do, and the right time for doing it, and thus gains a reputation for cleverness and for many virtues which a tactless person would never win from her circle of acquaintances, no matter how excellent her qualities of both heart and head.

The tactful woman is not only a patient listener but she is a thoroughly good one. She shows no weariness even when she has heard the same story more than once from the same person, and appears to enjoy hearing jokes as much as her companion enjoys telling them.

A tactful woman generally gets her own way with people, and yet in such a manner that they always suppose they are following their own and not her inclinations.

The fact is that she knows when a man is approachable, and likely to be amenable to her wishes, and when it is best to leave him alone. Tact is a weapon guided with a multitude of precautions and feminine wiles by the wise woman, and it is only the wise who possess it.

Keeping in Practice.

THE other day the passers-by in one of the streets of Buda-Pesth had their attention diverted to the third storey of a house, where, standing on a window-sill, a young woman was performing the most daring evolutions, in such a position that a false step would have precipitated her into the street below.

By way of reply to the warnings which were addressed to her by the spectators, who were almost paralysed with terror, she kissed her hands repeatedly to the assembled crowd.

Convinced that they had to deal with a lunatic, a gentleman entered the open door of the house, found his way into the room, and succeeded in bringing the young person down from her dangerous position.

In answer to his question she presented him with her card, on which stood the words, "Kathinka Bodros, rope dancer." She informed him that she had formerly belonged to a company of acrobats who had failed, and she had been compelled by necessity to take service as a chambermaid. While cleaning the windows she had been unable to resist the temptation to practise her evolutions and pirouettes "by way of keeping her hand [feet?] in."

Last Hours.

HERE is no death! What seems so is transition;
This life of mortal breath
Is but a suburb of the life Elysian
Whose portal we call death.—LONGFELLOW.

Opportunities.

OPPORTUNITY flies, O brother,
As the cloud that quick doth pass:
Oh, make use of it! life is precious.
If we let it go—alas!

HAFIZ.

HAWARDEN CASTLE.

HAWARDEN CASTLE derives its present celebrity from its having been the residence of the late William Ewart Gladstone, the distinguished statesman. It was there that he died on the 19th of May, 1898.

The modern castle or, strictly speaking, mansion, of Hawarden was built in 1732 upon the site of Broad Lane Hall, the seat of the Ravenscrofts, which came into Sir John Glynne's possession by his marriage with the daughter of Henry Conway and Honora Ravenscroft. It stands in a richly-wooded knoll, crowned by the picturesque remains of an old fortalice, now reduced to the dimensions of a tower or keep, mantled with ivy, and still massive though crumbling to ruin.

On the death without issue of Mrs. Gladstone's brother, Sir Stephen Glynne, a life interest in the Hawarden property passed to the late Mr. Gladstone, with a reversion to his eldest son. This son, Mr. William Henry Gladstone, sat in Parliament for some time, and was a Lord of the Treasury from 1869 to 1874, but passed into the other world at a comparatively early age in 1891. He was married to a daughter of Lord Blantyre, and has left a boy, who is heir to the Hawarden property.

Here Mr. W. E. Gladstone died at five o'clock on the morning of the 19th of May, his end coming so peacefully that the fact had to be announced by the medical attendants to the distressed members of his family who were present.

A Gallant Charge.

MANY brave deeds were done during the Tirah campaign, but few could equal the gallantry of the Gordon Highlanders in the action of the 20th of October, 1897, when the Dargai ridge was stormed.

At the critical moment, after several unsuccessful attempts had been made to carry the heights, the men were drawn up, and Colonel Mathias, who commanded, addressed them. "Men of the Gordon Highlanders!" he said, "the General says that position must be taken at all costs. The Gordon Highlanders will take it."

This announcement the men received with a ringing cheer, and at the word of command to advance they bounded after their leader. Dashing across the open ground, their officers at their head, they scaled the height and drove the enemy from their position, the 3rd Sikhs and other troops following close behind them.

As the Highlanders were led down the slopes back to camp after their splendid and successful charge, they were spontaneously cheered by all the other regiments. They then fell out and helped in the work of carrying down the Gurkhas who were killed in the action.

Individual instances of conspicuous personal bravery among the troops were numerous, and many men lost their lives in heroic attempts made to save their wounded comrades.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

Sow peas in the first week for the last crop of the season. In the last week sow yellow turnips for a full winter crop, and spinach for an early winter supply. Plant full crops of celery, celeriac, and endive about the middle and end of the month; late crops of broccoli, cauliflower, and coleworts in the last week. Gather and dry medicinal and pot herbs; also propagate such by slips and cuttings. Continue the summer pruning and training of all wall trees, with the destruction of insects. Plant strawberries in pots for forcing next winter. Take up the remainder of tuberous roots, such as anemone and ranunculus, and finish by the end of the first week. Propagate herbaceous and other plants that have gone out of flower by means of slips and cuttings. Advantage should be taken of rainy weather for planting, otherwise copious watering will be necessary. In dry weather it is a good plan to dip the roots in puddle before planting.

GALLANT CHARGE OF THE GORDON HIGHLANDERS AT DARGAI.

Children Objected to.

LANDLORDS are getting very particular about their tenants as well as their rents. If a person has a dozen children he is very coolly told that he cannot have the premises.

"Have you any children, madame?" inquired one of these sharpers of a lady in modest black, who was looking at one of his houses just finished and in perfect order.

"Yes," said the gentle mother; "I have seven, sir, but they are all in the churchyard."

A sigh and the dew of a tear gave impressiveness to the painful remark, and without further parley the bargain was closed.

Her little flock were waiting for her in the churchyard round the corner, and were delighted to hear that she had found a snug house so speedily.

The landlord says he will never trust a woman in black after that.

What Cynics Say About Women.

WOMEN's friends are cushions in which they stick their pins.

A woman has never spoiled anything through silence.

Who takes an eel by its tail and a woman at her word holds nothing.

Friendship between two women is usually a plot against a third.

In going to ask a favour, a man says to himself—"What shall I say?" But a woman asks herself—"What shall I wear?"

Heine says that every man who marries is like the Doge wedding the Adriatic Sea. He knows not what he will find—treasures, pearls, monsters, unknown storms.

Women are all alike. When they're maids they're as mild as milk; once make 'em wives, and they lean their backs against their marriage certificates and defy you.

The Bicycle Face.

NONE of the evils which we would warn our fair bicycling friends to be on their guard against is the acquirement of that terrible malady, the bicycle face." The possession of "the bicycle face" is no enviable one, and, although easily acquired, is not so readily remedied as might be supposed.

It attacks, principally, very nervous riders, and, in fact, if you take the trouble to scan the countenances of the bicycle riders—men and women—whom you meet in the streets, you will notice that large numbers of them wear a strained, fixed expression, and that this is generally more noticeable in roads or streets where there is a good deal of traffic. If not corrected in time, the face gradually settles into a hunted, drawn look, the brows become contracted, and there is a rigid appearance about the eyes which is the reverse of prepossessing.

The trouble is, that this expression does not pass away but becomes habitual, and as it is contracted almost unconsciously, it is well that learners should be on their guard.

The "bicycle face" is a well-known malady in America, and is rapidly becoming prevalent in this country.

As the habit is generally due, in the first instance, to nervousness, it is obvious that considerable self-control and will-power must be exercised to overcome the tendency to contract the facial muscles. Whenever you feel that the muscles of the face are contracting in the way we have described, the lips firmly compressed, and the eyes strained, pull yourself together and make a persistent effort to relax the features as much as possible.

A friend who was discussing the pros and cons of bicycle riding with us recently, said—"I never think a woman looks her best on a bicycle. Nine out of ten of them wear such an anxious expression—just as if they were working a treadmill."

Weymouth.

THIS well-known seaport and watering-place is situated in Dorset, at the mouth of the small river Wey, opposite the isle of Portland. A mile to the south-west of Weymouth is Sandsfoot Castle, a fort erected by Henry VIII. for the protection of the shipping. The chief exports of Weymouth are Portland stone, bricks and tiles, and provisions, and the imports are coal, timber, garden and dairy produce, and wine. Ship- and boat-building, rope- and sail-making and weaving are carried on. Weymouth has steam communication with the Channel Islands, France, and various ports on the English coast.

For Young Married People.

TRY to be satisfied to begin on a small scale. Try not to look at richer homes and covet their costly furniture. Try being perfectly independent from the first, and shun debt in all its forms. Try to avoid the too common mistake of making an unwise effort to "begin where the parents ended." Try to be cheerful in the family circle, no matter how annoying may be the business cares and the house-keeping trials. Try to remember that it matters but little what "people think" provided you are true to yourselves, to right, and duty, and keep your expenses within your means.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

Sow winter and spring spinach in the beginning and about the end of the month; parsley and winter onions for a full crop in the first week; cabbages, cauliflower, savoys, and German greens about the middle of the month, for planting out in spring; lettuces in the first and last week; small salads occasionally. Plant and earth-up celery and endive. A few coleworts may still be planted. Net up, in dry weather, gooseberry and currant bushes, to preserve the fruit till late in the autumn. Every exertion should now be made to preserve the ripening fruit on the walls from insects, and to destroy wasps' nests. Sow auricula and primula seeds in pots and boxes. During this month the hues of autumn will begin to make their appearance, but its approaches in the flower borders may be deferred for a considerable time by regularly removing decayed flowers of such plants as throw out a succession.

A Dear Girl's Friends.

A FIER they had kissed each other, and each had duly admired the other's new hat, Amy said—

"So Dolly is married?"

"So I've heard," returned Fanny.

"Nice girl, isn't she?" ventured Amy.

"Oh, very!" returned Fanny.

"I wouldn't say a word against her for the world."—"Neither would I. How do you suppose she ever got him?"

"I'm sure I don't know; do you?"

"No; I would give anything to know."

"So would I. It certainly wasn't her good looks."—"Oh, no!"

"Nor her cleverness."—"The idea is absurd."

"I can't understand it at all. They say that he had to be dragged to the church."

"I shouldn't wonder. Dolly wouldn't be everybody's fancy."

"Rather not. Still, I am glad she has caught someone. She is a dear girl, and it would be cruel to say anything against her."

"Indeed it would. I wouldn't do it for the world."—"Neither would I."

Amusing Bulls.

IT was a Scottish woman who said that the butcher of her town only killed half a beast at a time.

It was a Dutchman who said that a pig had no marks on his ears, except a short tail.

It was an English reporter who stated that at a meeting of the Ethnological Society there were "casts of the skull of an individual at different periods of adult life, to show the changes produced in ten years."

It was a Portuguese mayor who enumerated, among the marks by which the body of a drowned man might be identified when found, "a marked impediment of speech."

It was a Frenchman who, contentedly laying his head upon a large stone jar for a pillow, replied to one who inquired if it was not rather hard: "Not at all, for I have stuffed it with hay."

The Duchess of Teck.

THE Duchess of Teck (Princess Mary of Cambridge), a grand-daughter of King George the Third, first cousin to the Queen, and mother of the Duchess of York, died at an early hour on the 27th of October, 1897, at White Lodge, Richmond. Some few days previous, shortly after the return of her Royal Highness from the North, symptoms were observed of the return of a malady by which she had been prostrated in the spring of 1897, and which had then necessitated an operation. Medical aid was at once called in, but the illness increased and another operation was found necessary. This was performed successfully, but the Duchess gradually sank, and died in about three hours. The Duchess, who has throughout her life been very active in philanthropic work, was in her sixty-fourth year.

The funeral of the Duchess took place on the 3rd of November in St. George's Chapel, Windsor Castle. A large number of illustrious persons were present, including the Prince and Princess of Wales, Prince Henry of Prussia, the Duke of Cambridge, the Duke of Teck, and the Duke and Duchess of York. The officiating clergy at the funeral service were the Bishop of Peterborough and the Dean of Windsor. At the close of the service the coffin was lowered into the royal vault.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

Sow a few small salads for late crops; lettuce and spinach, if not done last month, for spring crops. Plant endive and lettuce. If broccoli be too strong or tall to withstand the winter, lift them, and lay them nearly up to the neck in the earth. Lift onions, and lay them out on a dry border or gravel walk. Lift potatoes and store them. Finish the autumn pruning and training of fruit-trees. Gather and store carefully the autumnal sorts of apples and pears. Plant strawberries for a main crop. Sow in the beginning of the month all half-hardy annuals if not done last month; also the different species of primula, and the seeds of all such plants as, if sown in spring, come up the same season, but, if sown in September or October, vegetate readily the succeeding spring. Continue the propagation of herbaceous plants and plant evergreens. If a bed is prepared expressly to sow pinks as show flowers, it should be done now. The soil should be good loam, about a foot and a half deep. Keep walks and borders as neat as possible.

THE FUNERAL OF THE DUCHESS OF TECK.

Well-dressed Ladies.

DON'T attempt to vie with those of superior means in inferior materials.

Don't wear unbecoming garments simply because they are "the fashion": wait till the fashion changes.

Don't spend your morning in a dressing-gown, however tastefully made.

Don't try to imitate the dress of the sterner sex.

Don't dress loudly for out of doors.

Don't forget that shabby gloves and hose spoil the handsomest toilette.

Don't wear patched boots and a two-guinea hat.

Don't wear smart dresses with untidy under-clothing.

Don't wear anything you can't pay for.

Don't wear rustling silk or rough serge in a sick-room.

Don't wear high heels if you wish to walk gracefully.

Don't forget that if you are well dressed you should have manners to match.

Waiting.

*SERENE I fold my hands and wait,
Nor care for wind, or tide, or sea;
I rave no more 'gainst time or fate,
For lo! my own shall come to me.*

*I stay my haste, I make delays.
For what avails this eager pace?
I stand amid the eternal ways,
And what is mine shall know my face.*

*The stars come nightly to the sky;
The tidal wave unto the sea;
Nor time, nor space, nor deep, nor high,
Can keep my own away from me.*

JOHN BURROUGHS.

What is War?

BE BELIEVE half the people that talk about war have not the slightest idea of what it is. In a short sentence it may be summed up to be the combination and concentration of half the horrors, atrocities, crimes, and sufferings of which human nature on this globe is capable.—JOHN BRIGHT.

How to Spell Turner.

ENGLISH spelling is remarkable for its indefinite variety. As long as "tisis" is spelled "phthisis," the voice of the spelling reformer should be heard in the land. Mr. Turner, in view of our present method of spelling, was entirely consistent:—

Dobbs met his friend Turner in the train. They were both going to London, and stopped at the same hotel. Turner registered his name:—"E. K. Phtholognyrrh."

Dobbs, noticing it, exclaimed:—

"Here, what are you assuming such a foreign, outlandish name for? Are you in any trouble?"

"Not a bit of it," replied Turner; "and I am not assuming any foreign name."

"What kind of a name is it, then?"

"That is my identical old name, and it is English, too—pronounced 'Turner.'"

"I can't see how you make 'Turner' out of those thirteen letters; besides, what is your object in spelling that way?" asked Dobbs.

"Well, you see, nobody ever noticed my name on the register when I wrote it 'Turner,'" exclaimed the latter; "but since I commenced writing it 'Phtholognyrrh,' I set them all guessing. They wonder what nation I am from; what my name is. It is, as I said before, English spelling. 'Phth,' there is the sound of 't' in 'phthisis'; 'olo,' there is the 'ur' in 'colonel'; 'gn,' there is the 'n' in 'gnat'; 'nyrrh,' is the sound of 'er' in 'myrrh.' Now, if that doesn't spell 'Turner,' what does it spell?"

Llangollen.

THIS is one of the popular holiday resorts of North Wales, the centre of numberless delightful walks and excursions.

The name of Llangollen has been made familiar as a household word through its having been the abode of the "Ladies of Llangollen"—two queer old souls who, when they were young, vowed for celibacy and a cottage, as violently-attached ladies do vow, only with this difference—they fulfilled their vows.

They were Irish, and they fled from matrimony as from a pestilence, and found in Llangollen a haven of rest where, for more than half a century, they lived, and where their remains now repose in the churchyard near the church door.

Their names were Lady Eleanor Butler and Miss Ponsonby. Mathews the elder once saw them at the theatre, and thus describes them:—"Oh, such curiosities! . . . As they are seated there is not one point to distinguish them from men: the dressing and powdering of the hair; the well-starched neckcloths; the upper part of their habits, which they always wear, even at a dinner-party, made precisely like men's coats, and regular beaver black hats. They looked exactly like two respectable superannuated old clergymen."

Their residence was at Plas Newydd, about a quarter of a mile from the town of Llangollen, on the south side of the vale.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

PLANT small salads and radishes in the first week; Mazagan beans and early frame peas in the last week. If the winter prove mild, they will be somewhat earlier than those sown next month or in January. Plant cabbage in beds or close rows till wanted in spring. Store potatoes, beet, carrots, parsnips, etc., by the end of the month. This is the best season for transplanting fruit-trees. Store and lay up very carefully during the month all sorts of apples and pears, the longest-keeping sorts not before the end of the month if the weather be mild. A great part of them may be placed in a close cellar. Plant the greater part of the common bulbs about the end of the month, with a few anemones for early flowering. Put in cuttings of all sorts of evergreens. The garden kinds of roses may now be pruned, and the suckers removed. Thrift and other edgings may still be planted. Destroy weeds, and keep the walks and other parts of the garden neat and clean. Protect very choice flowers from heavy rains.

When You Should Not Read.

EVERYBODY reads now, but do they read at the proper times? Here are some rules laid down by a well-known oculist, which may be found useful:—

1. Don't read in railway trains or in vehicles in motion.
2. Don't read lying down, or in a constrained position.
3. Don't read by firelight, moonlight or twilight.
4. Don't read by a flickering gaslight or candlelight.
5. Don't read books printed on thin paper.
6. Don't read books which have no space between the lines.
7. Don't read books more than fifty minutes without stopping, whether the eyes are tired or not.
8. Don't hold the reading close to the eyes.
9. Don't study at night, but in the morning when you are fresh.

The natural stimulus of the retina is white sunlight, and this is, of course, the best kind of light for the eye to work with. The most pleasant of all light is the diffused light from a northern sky.

Disinterested or Otherwise.

“WHERE will Frau Meyer go now that both her daughters are married? To her son-in-law's house in Frankfurt, or to that of her other son-in-law in Stuttgart?”

“One wants her in Stuttgart, and the other wishes she would go to Frankfurt.”

“What dutiful sons-in-law!”

“I beg your pardon. The one in Frankfurt wants her in Stuttgart; the one in Stuttgart wants her in Frankfurt.”

Learning to Sing.

FIRST make a choice of a teacher who, from careful inquiry or, better still, personal knowledge, you feel convinced has combined with good judgment and honest interests the necessary training to warrant your putting yourself in his care; then, having done this, and being perfectly satisfied that your choice is a wise one, don't change. There is no fixed rule for singing, and the man or woman who is in earnest and works hard will be able to discriminate the good from the bad, if there be any.

The best groundwork is a thorough study of the different solos in the best known oratorios, and each one should be perfectly mastered before learning another.

The following hints should be kept in mind:—

1. Learn the solo by heart, so that you can sing it perfectly without the piano, paying particular attention to the different gradations of tone and time marked on the music.
2. Study the words separately and thoroughly, and try and express their feeling when you sing, as if you were really the character you represent for the time.
3. Be most particular in keeping time.
4. Pronounce every word distinctly, especially the consonants at the ends of words.

A Spanish Defeat.

ONE of the memorable incidents of the war between the United States and Spain took place on the 3rd of July, 1898. In broad daylight on that day the American fleet blockading Santiago in South-Eastern Cuba saw the Spanish squadron of four armoured cruisers and two destroyers leaving the narrow entrance to the harbour in single line. The American fleet concentrated with all possible rapidity, and gave chase to the enemy, who stood westward along the Cuban coast. An amazing engagement followed, in which the Americans hardly suffered at all, whilst every one of the six Spanish vessels was driven ashore in a sinking plight. The Spanish Admiral—Admiral Cervera—and about thirteen hundred men fell into the hands of the enemy.

Prince Bismarck.

SINCE Napoleon passed away in his island prison, death has claimed no greater figure than the famous statesman, Prince Bismarck, who died on the night of the 30th of July, 1898, in his home at Friedrichsruh. He was one of the few men of whom his contemporaries can predict with some assurance that his work will endure. It stands before mankind "four-square to all the winds of fate" in the unity of the German people under the ægis of the German Empire.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

Sow early frame peas and Mazagan beans in the second week for an early crop. Protect endive, celery, artichoke, and sea kale with stable litter or ferns; mulch asparagus with hotbed manure; take up endive, late cauliflower, early broccoli, and lettuces, and lay them in an open shed or in old cucumber or melon pits, which will protect them from frost, and afford a supply during winter. Plant all sorts of fruit-trees in fine weather—the earlier in the month the better. Commence and carry on the various operations of pruning and nailing when the weather permits. Plant dried tubers of border flowers, but the finer sorts had better be deferred till spring. Protect such half-hardy plants as were not sheltered last month. Plant deciduous trees and shrubs as long as the weather continues favourable, and before the soil has parted with the solar heat absorbed during summer. This is the reason why early autumn planting is so strongly recommended. Tulips must be planted in the first week if the weather permits. They are usually planted in rows six inches apart along a four-foot bed. They should be set from three to four inches deep, and surrounded with sand, in the same way as hyacinths.

DESTRUCTION OF THE SPANISH FLEET OFF SANTIAGO DE CUBA.

He Thought of His Brother.

"MABEL," said Henry (and, in spite of his effort to control himself, the voice was tremulous), "Mabel, I do not kneel at your feet" (and he wasn't—he was sitting bolt upright on the sofa) "to plead for myself. I came here only to beg you to think of my brother George. He—he loves you dearly, Mabel, and should you refuse his plea I tremble for the consequences. He is alone in the world, and he wants a sister-in-law. Oh, will you not be one to him?"

A Servant Girl and Her Adviser.

A GLASGOW domestic servant was recently looking for "a place." She was recommended to apply at a large house in Partick; but she was told that the mistress was very strict.

Entering the gate, she saw an old man working in the garden, and plucking up courage, told him her errand and her fears, and asked him for his advice.

He advised her to go and see the lady herself, adding: "I get on fine masel'."

In a short time she emerged smiling
"I like her looks," she said to her adviser,
"and I'm engaged. Come with me, and I'll stan' ye a dram."

"Lassie, I daurna," he replied; "the mistress might notice it on me, and it might cost me ma place."

"Notice it!" cried the temptress; "nae fear o' that, if you just put some o' that parsley you're working wi' into your mouth."

Eight days after, the new kitchenmaid had occasion to pass through the hall shortly before dinner. Judge of her surprise when she saw her old friend the gardener coming down the stairs in evening dress.

Grasping a neighbour by the arm, she gasped: "Wha's that man?"

"That! Oh, that's the maister."

How Not to Succeed.

SELL goods as though doing a favour to your customers.

Confide everything to the office-boy. Run down your business rivals.

Always look on the dark side. If your clerks are cheerful, sit down on them.

Pay the lowest salaries in town. Take no holidays, and give none to your assistants.

Never pay a bill until you have to. When you dun a man, insult him in some way.

Go unshaven, shabby, and down at the heel. Keep your shop or warehouse dusty, dingy, and dirty.

Complain of the past, present, and future of business. Find fault from morning to night.

Don't keep up with the times. Lose your hold on the trade, then make an assignment.

Be afraid of acquiring too much knowledge about your business and about things connected with it.

If you are working for anyone, regulate your exertions on philosophical principles, and never do more than you are paid for.

"If."

*If a man could live a thousand years,
When half his life had passed
He might, by strict economy,
A fortune have amassed.*

*Then having gained some common-sense,
And knowledge, too, of life,
He could select the woman who
Would make him a true wife.*

*But as it is, man hasn't time
To even pay his debts,
And weds to be acquainted with
The woman whom he gets.*

A Statesman's
Funeral.

THE funeral of the late Mr. W. E. Gladstone took place in Westminster Abbey on the morning of the 28th of May, 1898, with ceremonies at once simple and impressive, and in presence of one of the largest and most representative congregations that has ever gathered in the ancient church on a similar occasion. Nearly 150 peers, and upwards of 400 members of the House of Commons, attended and walked in procession to Westminster Hall, where the funeral procession was formed. The short route from Westminster Hall to the Abbey was occupied by a crowd as dense as could well be gathered in so small a space.

Within the Abbey every available space was occupied. Shortly after 10 o'clock Mrs. Gladstone entered with several members of her family—the whole assemblage rising to receive her. The coffin having been placed under the lantern, the Dean of Westminster read the first part of the service, and thereafter, while a hymn was being sung, the coffin was taken to the graveside and was lowered into the place prepared for it.

After Norroy King of Arms had formally proclaimed the style and titles of the departed statesman, another hymn was sung, and the ceremony closed with the reforming of the procession and its return to Westminster Hall.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

Sow a few beans and peas as in November. Very few operations can be carried on this month, with the exception of trenching and digging in dry weather—operations which should by all means be attended to. The ground should be thoroughly turned up for exposure to the frost and snow. Plant all sorts of fruit-trees in mild weather. Mulch over the roots of tender trees, such as apricot and peach, as they are often so far affected by frost as to be barren in the coming year. Proceed with pruning and nailing wall-trees, whenever an opportunity occurs. Examine the fruit that is in the store-room every week, and remove all that is found to be in a state of decay. As to the flower-garden, the directions for last month will be found equally applicable to this. The store-plants in the pit must be kept dry and have full exposure whenever the weather is fair and not frosty; keep them free from dead leaves or damp litter.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE W. E. GLADSTONE IN WESTMINSTER ABBEY.

Reflections of a Postage Stamp.

"FEAR," said the postage stamp, when it found itself fastened to a love-letter, "that I'm not sticking to facts."

A Robber in a Portmanteau.

THE proprietress of a small inn at Valenciennes a few years ago met with an adventure almost rivalling that which befell Charles II. when the bass viol with its vivacious contents was brought into the palace by the orders of Buckingham.

A man presented himself at the inn and made a request to be admitted, together with a very bulky portmanteau. He requested leave to deposit it in a corner of the tavern until, after resting and refreshing himself, he should be disposed to carry it upstairs.

When the hour arrived for closing the house the portmanteau remained still below, and the good woman, on entering the room to put up the shutters, looked at it, and to her horror perceived that something moved within it.

So great was her terror that she sank down speechless and breathless in a chair, and in that position was found by a gendarme, who came to protest against the late hour at which the place was kept open.

As soon as the cause had been explained to this minion of the law, he forgot the object of his visit in his curiosity to explore the piece of luggage, and, drawing his sword, soon solved all doubts by cutting open the leather.

He had no sooner done so than a good stout man jumped out, pistol in hand, and fell upon the gendarme, who was on his guard and used his weapon with good effect.

The baggage and its owners were both accordingly arrested forthwith, and were soon mourning in prison the failure of their ingenious but, in this case, abortive scheme.

Friendship.

WE may not be able to win friends or to hold them, but every one of us ought to be able to be a friend unfliningly. Friendship consists in loving rather than in being loved, and the measure of our worth in friendship is in our faithfulness as friends.

Ten Robber Toes.

*THERE is a story that I have been told,
And it's just as old as babies are old;
For sweet Mother Eve, as everyone knows,
Told her babies the tale of the toes.*

*Told to her babies how ten little toes,
Each one as pink as the pinkest pink rose,
Once on a time were naughty and bad,
And sorrow and trouble in consequence had.*

*How this big toe wanted butter and bread
After his mamma had put him to bed.
And this lying next said, "S'posen we go Down to the pantry and get it, you know."*

*And this wicked toe cried, "Come along quick;
Let's sugar the butter ever so thick."
And this naughty toe said, "Jelly for me
Top of the butter and sugar, you see."*

*And this little toe cried, "Goody, let's go,
We'll slip down the stairs so quiet and slow."
So ten robber toes, all tipped with red,
Stole silently out of their snowy white bed.*

*While this wicked toe so jolly and fat,
Helped nine naughty toes to pitty-pat-pat
Along the big hall, with pillars of white,
And down the back stairs devoid of light.*

*Then this little toe got a terrible scare,
For he thought in the dark of a grizzly bear.*

Dr. HANDLEY C. G. MOULE, Principal of Ridley Hall, Cambridge, says:—"As a short explanatory commentary on the whole Scriptures, I know nothing so good as the Annotated Paragraph Bible of the Religious Tract Society. It is as careful and able a piece of work as it is unpretentious; I find it of constant use as a book to keep at hand during my private devotional reading of the Word of God."

The Rev. F. B. MEYER, of Christ Church, Westminster Bridge Road, says:—"It would be impossible for me to express how much I owe to the Annotated Paragraph Bible. It was a happy day when I first came on this mine of wealth; and I have never found anything better of the kind. It is admirable for daily reading. The references are copious, and selected with much care. The summaries of the arguments of the Epistles are marvels of lucidity, whilst the notes compress bookfuls of learning into a few lines. The present edition seems greatly improved, and embodies the results of comparison between the Authorised Version and Revised Version."

This makes it still more valuable. I have seen and handled and bought Bibles of all sorts, but for the ordinary reader I do not know of one more handy or helpful than this; nor is this to be wondered at when we consider the devout and learned men by whom this storehouse of Scriptural information was compiled. I unhesitatingly commend it."

The CHRISTIAN says:—"This noble volume is suitable for the fullest and freest use in the Christian home; and may be safely selected by such as desire to present a beautifully-printed, self-interpreting Bible to their friends."

The BRITISH WEEKLY says:—"It is still unrivalled as a Bible in one volume containing sufficient explanatory notes."

The SUNDAY SCHOOL CHRONICLE says:—"We are often asked by Sunday School Teachers to recommend a short Commentary on the whole Bible, and, take it all in all, we know of none quite equal to this."
