WHOLESALE & FURNISHING

Ironmongers, Iron and Seed Merchants,
14 CASTLE STREET, FORFAR.

Sole Authorised Agents in Forfar and District for
"SUNBEAM CYCLES."

“ Before the season closes we expect to see the ‘SUNBEAM’ one of the most popular mounts in the North.”
—Wheeler.

“ The ‘SUNBEAM’ is everything you could expect a good high-grade bicycle to be.”— Cycling.

THE “SUNBEAM” IN JAPAN.

“ The ‘ROYAL SUNBEAMS’ are grand. The way they stood the ride down the Tokaido (the road down which I have just been riding) is little short of wonderful. Just imagine if you can, going at one minute at a pace of about twenty-two an hour on a grand surface, and then plunging nearly up to the axles in mud in a hollow right in the centre of the road, and then being brought up quite sharp—in fact, dismount. The machines seem not a bit the worse for it. The tyres, too (Clinchers), have only been pumped once since they left England.”—From Mr JESSOP’s descriptive journey in Japan.—Cycling.

WELL-MATCHED.

*"My true love hath my heart, and I have his :
By just exchange one to the other given."*

SIR PHILIP SIDNEY.

WORDS WHICH MAY INFLUENCE US.

The wealth of the mind is the only true wealth.

HARD work is only hard to those who do not put heart in it.

THERE are no really strong people in this world but good people.

THE art of happiness in love consists in giving everything without asking for anything.

IT is a faith in something and enthusiasm for something that makes life worth looking at.

THERE is no day born but comes like a stroke of music in o the world and sings itself all the way through.

GOVERNMENT and co-operation are in all things the laws of life; anarchy and competition the laws of death.

MAKE yourself complete master of what you have learned, and be always learning something new; you may then be an instructor of men.

WEALTH is a steep hill which the father climbs slowly, and which the son often tumbles down precipitately.

SINCE I cannot govern my tongue, though within my own teeth, how can I hope to govern the tongues of others?

GREAT talents need to be balanced with great humility. It is a lack of this ballast that causes people with the big head to topple over.

THESE words from the Bible are often quoted—"Put not your trust in princes," but the end of the sentence is forgotten—"for they are but men."

THE thoroughly great men are those who have done everything thoroughly, and who have never despised anything, however small, of God's making.

WHETHER any particular day shall bring to you more of happiness or suffering is largely beyond your power to determine. Whether each day of your life shall give happiness or suffering rests with yourself.

WHATEVER your sex or position, life is a battle in which you are to show your pluck, and we be to the coward. Despair and postponement are cowardice and defeat. Men are born to succeed, and not to fail.

THERE are two things which will make us happy in this life if we attend to them. The first is never to vex ourselves about what we cannot help; and the second, never to vex ourselves about what we can help.

THE human heart is like a millstone in a mill. When you put wheat under it, it turns and grinds and bruises the wheat into flour; if you put no wheat under it, it still grinds on, but then it is itself that it grinds, and it slowly wears away.

WHEN facts are wanting, and speculation, or conjecture, is the basis of our opinion—or belief or faith—we are as helpless as if navigating unknown seas in thick weather. When we are off soundings, of both authority and reason, a plummet of feathers is as good as a plummet of lead.

THREE things come not back—a sped arrow, a broken word, a lost opportunity.

A MAN begging for bread and buying beer is a great discouragement to charity.

IF you want your wife to be an angel, treat her like one, and see what comes of it.

LOVINGKINDNESS is greater than laws, and the charities of life are more than all ceremonies.

THE world is full of people who want to do good, but they are in no hurry about making the start.

THERE is a paradox in pride: it makes some men ridiculous, but prevents others from becoming so.

WHENEVER you hear a man dissuading you from attempting to do well on the ground that it is "Utopian," beware of that man.

NEVER wait for a thing to turn up. Go and turn it up yourself. It takes less time, and it is surer to be done.

THINGS that will wear are not to be had cheap, whether it be a fabric or a principle; if it is to endure, it must cost something.

IF wrinkles must be written on our brows, let them not be written upon the heart. The spirit should never grow old.

NEVER be discouraged by trifles. If a spider breaks his thread twenty times, he will mend it as many. Perseverance and patience will accomplish wonders.

No man can be said to have reached the higher walks of life, for when he has reached where the higher walks are supposed to be, he stops walking and commences to ride.

A HOUSE ought to be an interpretation of the mind of its owner; in reality it is seldom anything of the kind, because inexperience and haste put it together, and everyone knows that what is there remains.

THE chief art of learning is to attempt but little at a time. The widest excursions of the mind are made by short flights frequently repeated; the most lofty fabrics of science are formed by the continued accumulation of single propositions.

MERELY to avoid what is disagreeable has nothing to do with pride of station. Vulgar society is disagreeable, which is a sufficient reason for keeping aloof from it. Among people of refinement, association or even friendship is possible in spite of difference of rank and fortune.

JEALOUSY violates contracts, dissolves society, breaks wedlock, betrays friends and neighbours; nobody is good, and everyone is either doing or designing a mischief. Its rise is guilt or ill-nature, and by reflection it thinks its own fault to be other men's, as he that is over-run with the jaundice takes others to be yellow.

Sunshine.

*World was never brighter
Than it is to-day:
Hearts were never lighter—
Don't care what they say.*

*Never mind the weather—
Get up when you fall;
We'll get there together,
Singing, after all.*

LISTEN TO THE LITTLE PEOPLE.

Children and fools are prophets.

"ROBBIE," said the visitor kindly, "have you any little brothers and sisters?" "No," replied we Robbie solemnly; "I'm all the children we've got."

"Who were the foolish virgins?" brought the prompt answer from a wise little girl, "Them as didn't get married."

A SUNDAY-SCHOOL teacher told his infants to ask any questions they had in their minds, and a little one asked, "When is the circus coming?"

"You never saw my hands as dirty as that," said a mother reproachfully to a little girl of eight. "Because," said Julia, "I never knew you when you were a little girl."

"PAPA, will you buy me a drum?" "Ah, but, my boy, you will disturb me very much if I do." "Oh, no, papa; I won't drum except when you're asleep."

THE little girl was nursing her dolly very carefully. "Is dolly sick?" asked the child's mother. "Yes, mamma, the poor little sing can't digest all 'at sawdust what she's eated."

Little Brother: "I know the gentleman's name that was talking to Cissie under the mistle-toe last night." "What is it, Bobbie?" "It's George Don't. I heard her say 'George, don't, ever s many times when nobody was there."

A LITTLE boy was being shown the engraving of a human skeleton by his father. After studying it for some minutes in silence, he looked up into his father's face inquiringly, and said, "Papa, how did this man manage to keep in his dinner?"

"Boys," said a teacher in a Sunday-school, "can any of you quote a verse from Scripture to prove that it is wrong for a man to have two wives?" He paused, and after a moment or two a bright boy raised his hand. "Well, Thomas?" said the teacher, encouragingly. Thomas stood up and said, "No man can serve two masters." The question ended there.

"So you enjoyed your visit to the menagerie, did you?" inquired a young man of his adored one's little sister. "Oh, yes. And, do you know, we saw a camel there that screwed its mouth and eyes around awfully, and sister said it looked exactly as you do when you are reciting poetry at evening parties."

An excellent suggestion was that contained in the remark of a little ten-year-old girl from the country, who had been visiting a summer friend in her city home. "Did you have a good time?" asked the child's mother when the girl came back from her week's visit. "Beautiful!" replied the little traveller, with great enthusiasm. "Why, they were so polite they made me feel just as if I was the one that was at home and they were visiting. I had a beautiful time!"

"WHY, mamma," asked a sweet young miss of five, "why do people have two ears when they can only hear one thing at a time?"

LITTLE Daisy's mamma was trying to explain to her the meaning of a smile. "Oh, yes, I know," said the child; "it's the whis-per of a laugh."

A LITTLE girl asked her brother what was capital punishment, and he said that he thought it was being locked up in the cupboard with the jam and other nice things.

Mamma: "Harry, you must be sill. No respectable person will stamp and pound and shout the way you are doing." Harry (doubly agrieved): "Why, mamma, I was only just imitating the way papa preaches."

Mamma: "You must be very careful. The doctor says your system is quite upset." Little Dot: "I guess it is. My foot's asleep. Folks must be awfully upset when they goes to sleep at the wrong end."

A LITTLE boy who was told that the tiny baby sister he was bending over had come from heaven, looked at her awhile, and then said, softly, "Please tell us all about heaven, baby, before you forget it."

"ROCK-A-BY, baby!"

began the new nurse in a Boston family. "Desist!" exclaimed the infant imperiously. "I am aware that the vibration of the atmosphere will cause a cradle suspended in a tree-top to oscillate."

Bobbie: "What are descendants, father?" Father: "Why, the people who come after you." (Presently) "Who is that young man in the passage?" Bobbie: "That's one of sister's descendants, come to take her for a drive."

A LITTLE girl, four years old, happened to be sliding upon the ice during the frost, when she suddenly fell heavily, and was evidently badly hurt. At the sound of her sobs a friend rushed to her assistance, and caught her in her arms. "You poor little thing! how did you fall?" she asked, sympathetically. The mite raised her head and replied, between her sobs, "Vertically." So much for kindergarten training!

A WEALTHY lady and her little daughter were listening to the morning music on the piazza, when the lady's-maid handed her a letter which she tore open and proceeded to read. The little daughter looked at her and exclaimed, "I'm sorry; I hoped that was from pa. Why doesn't he write?" "How do you know it isn't from pa?" the mother inquired. "Because you're reading a lot of it," the little girl replied. "If it was from pa, it would just say, 'Dear ma, am sorry you aren't feeling well. Enclosed please find cheque. Your loving husband, SAM.'"

Contentment.

*Contentment, parent of delight,
So much a stranger to our sight,
Sav, goddess, in what happy place
Mortals behold thy blooming face?
Thy gracious auspices impart,
And for thy temple choose my heart.
They whom thou deignest to inspire,
Thy science learn, to bound desire;
By happy alchemy of mind,
They turn to pleasure all they find.*

Old Harry Point.

ONE of the sights of the Dorset coast near Swanage is Old Harry Point, shown in our engraving. Near it is a delightful bay, rich in seaweeds and shells.

What it Was.

THE fair girl sat in her boudoir at her ebony escritoire writing a letter. She showed every sign of suppressed emotion, and her pen raced over the paper as if she would win by a dozen lengths. She muttered to herself at times as if her anger was too much for silence, and her face was flushed.

At last the letter was finished, and when she had sealed it, she slapped it down on the desk with such force that the magnificent inkstand of bronze and silver fell to the floor with a crash, shivered into a hundred fragments.

The girl's mother in the room below heard the noise and ran frightened into the hall.

"Oh, Imogene!" she called in breathless eagerness, "what was that?"

"Nothing, mamma," replied the girl, going to the door.

"But I heard a terrific crash," the mother insisted, "Didn't you break something?"

"Yes, mamma. It was only my engagement with Mr. Hackenberry." And the fair Imogene returned to her escritoire and stuck a stamp on the fatal letter.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

BEFORE January is at an end a few flowers are in bloom. Train neatly roses, clematis, honeysuckle, and other creeping plants. Any still unplanted bulbs, such as the tulip, narcissus, etc., should be put in the ground during the first open weather. Any bulbs planted in the close of last year, and now appearing above the ground, should be looked to; it is well to shelter the more valuable sorts by layers of fern-leaves from frost and snow. Delicate plants must be taken particular care of at this time. Unless they are protected, they are in more danger of being harmed by frost now that the sun has more power, though they are less liable to be harmed by damp. In houses, cinerarias, primulas, etc., will now be in flower. If the weather permits, sow early peas and beans in sheltered borders. Should bees be kept, feed them, if the weight of the hive shows that they require feeding. After each fall, shake the snow off evergreens.

Armoured Ships.

THE first account we have of an armoured ship is in 1530. It was one of the fleet of the Knights of St. John, entirely sheathed with lead, and it is said to have successfully resisted all the shot of that day.

At the siege of Gibraltar, in 1782, the French and Spaniards employed light iron bomb-proofing over their decks.

In the Doctor's Hands.

IN sickness, unhappily, the simplicity of the means often forms a hindrance to their sufficient application. Dr. Holland well observes: "What is obvious can rarely be brought into a successful competition with what is vague and obscure in the treatment of diseases."

We sometimes hear illiterate persons rail at prescriptions being written in Latin, whereas they would be the first to underrate the means prescribed in their mother-tongue. Mystery is a wonderful healing.

The First.

THE first house ever numbered in London was one abutting east of Northumberland House, Strand.

The first advertisements known of in England were in the shape of small bills affixed to the doors of St. Paul's Church.

The first play-bill issued from Drury Lane Theatre was on April 8th, 1663, the piece represented being The Humourous Lieutenant.

The first royal letter was written by Henry V. to the Bishop of Durham, Feb. 13, 1418.

The first book containing musical characters was issued in 1405 from the press of the celebrated "Wynken de Worde."

The model of the first English steam-vessel was laid before the Board of Admiralty in 1789.

OLD HARRY POINT.

What Man Can Do.

A MAN can walk for several hours at a speed of from 3 to 4 miles an hour. Under exceptional circumstances he has accomplished over 8 miles within the hour, and an average of $2\frac{1}{4}$ miles per hour for 141 hours.

In running he has covered about $11\frac{1}{2}$ miles in an hour.

In water he has proved himself capable of swimming 100 yards at the rate of 3 miles per hour, and 22 miles at the rate of over 1 mile per hour.

He has shown himself able to jump a height of 6 ft. $3\frac{3}{4}$ in., and a length of 22 ft. 3 in.

The Ashantee Expedition.

THE history of this expedition will be familiar to most of our readers. In the autumn of 1895 an ultimatum was despatched to King Prempeh, the monarch of Ashantee, requiring him to consent to the presence of a British Commissioner at Coomassie, and to the establishment of a British protectorate over Ashantee. He was also called upon to abandon human sacrifices, slave-trading, and the subjugation of the neighbouring tribes.

On the delivery of this ultimatum the king took no notice of it, and it was at last decided to send an expedition against him, under the command of Sir Francis Scott.

This expedition was a success. In his march to Coomassie, the capital of Ashantee, all the obstacles which Sir Francis had to encounter were of a material kind. King Prempeh wisely forebore making any attempt at resistance.

The entry into Coomassie was effected on the 17th of January. As the various contingents of the British force entered the town, they formed up in the palaver square. King Prempeh, surrounded by his chiefs, was seated on one side of the square, and made no manifestations of any kind while the troops formed up and lined the square.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

WHENEVER the weather is favourable, set about any work that was hindered in January by frost or snow. Creepers with drooping flowers, such as glyceria, cobia scandens, etc., should now be trained horizontally, while roses and others are to be trained upright. Pinks, polyanthuses, thrift, box, and all plants employed for edging borders, may be moved in suitable weather. On mild days admit air freely to auriculars, pelargoniums, and other hardy pot plants. In the last week of the month sow mignonette and hardy annuals in a warm border for subsequent transplanting. Sow radishes in a sheltered border, but protect them with fern leaves or light litter, and uncover at every favourable interval. Peas sown now will be ready for the table about as soon as those planted in November, and will yield a more abundant crop. Plant them in drills wide at the bottom, and spread the seed regularly. It is a common error to sow them too thickly and in narrow drills; the wide drill is particularly important for marrow-fats and other branching sorts. Sow Bath or green Egyptian cos lettuce. Currant and raspberry bushes unfold their leaves at the end of this month. Prepare netting and other protection for wall trees, and use it when the buds begin to swell during the prevalence of north-easterly winds. Before the buds are much swelled, prune apricots, peaches, nectarines, and plums; and also apples, pears, cherries, etc.

THE BRITISH ENTRY INTO COOMASSIE.

The Thoughtful Dog-Stealer.

A FRIEND of Landseer's asked him to paint his dog for him; but on the day fixed the animal was found to have been stolen.

The artist promised to recover it, if possible, and went to a well-known dog-stealer, telling him to let him have it—no questions asked.

The man said he could not possibly find it under a fortnight, and at the end of that time appeared with it. "You see," he said, "I did steal the dawg; but I sold it to such a trump ov a hold lady for such han howdacious price, I thought I must let 'er 'ave the benefit of it for a fortnight!"

He had Said the Same Once.

"JAMES, dear, will you bring me up a scuttle of coal from the cellar?" said a busy wife.

"That's just the way with you!" said James with a frown, as he put down his book and rose from the arm-chair.—"Just that way with me?"

"Yes!" he snapped, "as soon as you see me enjoying myself, you have something or other for me to do. Didn't you see I was absorbed in my reading?"—"Well, dear, I will do it myself."

"Yes, and tell everybody—your mother especially—that you have to carry your own coal up from the cellar. No, I'll do it. Let me mark my place."

So he marked the place in the book at which he had ceased reading, and when he went down to the cellar, grumbling all the way, she picked up the volume and found that it was a love-story. The passage he had been absorbed in was as follows:—"My darling, when you are my wife I will shield and protect you from every care. The wind of heaven shall not visit your face too roughly, those pretty hands shall never be soiled by mental tasks, your wish shall be my law, your happiness —"

Just then he reappeared, and, dropping the scuttle upon the floor, said, "There's your coal! Give me my book."

The Origin of Tithes.

THE first charter by which tithes were granted in England may be considered as a curious historical document. The following is given as a literal translation of it:—

"I, Ethelwolve, by the grace of God, King of the West Saxons, etc., with the advice of the Bishops, Earls, and all persons of distinction in my dominions, have, for the health of my soul, the good of my people, and the prosperity of my kingdom, taken the honourable resolution of granting the tenth part of the lands throughout my whole kingdom to the Church and ministers of religion, to be enjoyed by them, with all the privilege of a free tenure, and discharged from all the encumbrances incident to lay-fecs. This grant has been made by us in honour of Jesus Christ, the Blessed Virgin, and all Saints, and out of regard to the Pascal solemnity, and that Almighty God might vouchsafe his blessings on us and our posterity. Dated at Wilton, Ann. Dom. 854, at the Feast of Easter."

A Japanese Editress.

THE Japan Gazette, published in Yokohama, was edited by a woman, who has been deposed through a change of proprietorship. In her valedictory she says:—

"It has been urged more than once that under the present editorship it has been impossible for our contemporaries to write freely; but when we recall the fact that we have been termed a liar and a virago, likened to a senseless creature who pokes the fire from the top, stigmatised as an irate female, a female fibber, and alluded to in a variety of other amicable ways, we are tempted to wonder to what limits journalistic freedom aspires to soar." She then adds:—

"I leave thee not with vain regret,
Nor yet with vow to thee forget;
A man, I might have filled thee yet,
My Editorial Chair!"

Rouen.

THE city of Rouen is one of the most picturesque and one of the busiest and liveliest places in France. It is situated on the right bank of the Seine, eighty-seven miles north-west of Paris by railway. The cathedral, one of the noblest metropolitan churches in France, is a remarkably fine specimen of Gothic architecture.

When My Gretchen Sings.

WHEN my Gretchen sings, I somehow forget That day with its worry, and care, and free; That my cottage is poor, is poor and plain, And brown with the beating of snow and of rain; That the carpets are thin, and the curtains mean, And the pictures are few and far between. I forget all this when my Gretchen brings The baby, and tucks it, and softly sings. The little one close to her dear heart creeps, And it prattles, and laughs, and smiles, and sleeps. Old are the tunes, and yet older the words, But both are sweet as the songs of birds. I wonder and ask, as I walk the floor, Why I am so rich, and others so poor? She guesses my thoughts, and softly sings, And the song in the room like a censer swings.

—S. P. M'ANUS.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

ANY anemone roots left over from the autumn should now be planted. In this way a succession of flowers is secured late in the season. Divide Chinese chrysanthemums, and place them in small pots, or into a border of rich soil, to pot later in the season. Pot scarlet lobelias, and place them in a sunny window or a moderate hot-bed. At the end of the month the seeds of hardy annuals may be put into the ground in light soils. They should be sown in small patches, and covered with a little dry earth.

Transplant last year's layers of carnations into beds or large pots at the end of the month. Sow Canada clover for bees. In the kitchen garden there is much to do this month. Sow lettuce and carrot seed, and radishes later in the month. Plant potatoes in rows two feet apart, and ten inches between the sets. Graft apples, pears, cherries, and plums; for this the middle of the month is said to be the best time. Fruit-trees and shrubs may be transplanted, but it should have been done in November.

ROUEN.

A Tale of Good Luck.

"THERE was a young man on a station in South Australia," says a well-known writer, "who, three or four years before I heard the tale, was receiving 20s. a week and his 'tucker' as a boundary-rider.

"He was playing euchre with a friend, who, after he had lost all his ready money, staked an original share, which he had just purchased for £100 or £120 in a new silver mine, known as Broken Hill Silver Mine. The boundary-rider won.

"A few months later he and another friend went up to the mine to see how it was going on. As they were returning to Adelaide they caught a dangerous fever, and they were nursed by a stranger.

"The friend died; the successful euchre-player recovered.

"When he was better he said to the stranger, 'You have rendered me the greatest service one man can render to another, for you have saved my life. You ought to have a share of my luck. I will divide with you. Here's a cheque for £15,000. My share in Broken Hill is worth £30,000.'

"I was telling this story at the table of a friend of mine in London a few months after my return to England; there was only one guest besides myself, and he was a well-known stock-broker from Melbourne.

"When I had finished he said, 'Yes; I know the boundary-rider very well, and did business for him. The story is quite true. He held his share for a time, and sold out at an enormous price; but if he had held till now, he would have been worth £600,000.'

Wise Words.

WHITTIER mentions in one of his letters that an aged clergyman said to him: "Young man, when you are as old as I am, you will understand that it is easier to be pious than it is to be good."

Whittier himself, when old, said to a youth, "My lad, if thou wouldst win success, join thyself to some unpopular but noble cause."

The Birds Have Come.

THE birds have come! The birds have come!

*God bless them, how they sing!
They fill the air with melody,
And make the whole world ring;
The blackbird and the robin,
And all the birds of spring.*

*I hear them in the bare tree-tops,
That stand so dull and grey;
I hear them sing in quips and chirps,
And merry roundelay;
And if I longer listen,
They'll sing my heart away.*

*What though the sky be dark and chill,
And winds blow fierce and wild?
We know the flowers will bloom again
Where often they have smiled.
For oh! the birds are singing
Brave songs of springtime mild.*

*And when we hear, hope buds anew;
We can no longer weep,
For lo! as in the fairy tale—
The birds the secret keep—
Awakes again a princess
Who erstwhile slumbered deep.*

Success.

LET a man start with fixed principles and with a determination to win by the practice of fairness toward all, and he is bound to succeed. He needs to look out for his business and see that those under him are as honourable in every way. A man who does that will find friends among both customers and fellow business men.

A True Lady.

A TRUE lady not only is always at ease, no matter with whom she is conversing, but she contrives also to make her companion as much at ease as herself. Some people, quite unintentionally, cause uncomfortable pauses in conversation, simply by the habit of hearing in perfect silence a remark which is not actually a question. It is not that they wish to ignore it, but it does not occur to them that a reply or comment is required, so the unfortunate utterer of the remark feels snubbed, and ceases to chat with the same animation as before. One simple rule to bear in mind will go a great way toward winning the reputation of being a pleasant companion. It is always to show some interest in whatever is said to you. Often the subject may be one in which you have not the slightest concern, but you must show interest all the same.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

THE principal sowing of all the hardy annuals should now be finished; the sowing of the half-hardy should be completed by the end of the month. Transplant hardy biennials, such as wall-flowers, Brompton stocks, hollyhocks, etc., if this was not done in autumn. Auriculas in bloom should be protected against sun and rain, but should be allowed as much air as possible. They must be watered regularly, and the use of manure water on alternate days will improve the bloom. The water should never go on the leaves. One may now make to advantage cuttings of verbenas, heliotropes, etc. Watch rose-trees and free them from grubs. Garden pests—caterpillars, beetles, red spiders, ants, etc.—are now very active. Repot window plants, and thin them out if necessary. Rake beds smooth, turn up gravel walks, and clip box-edgings. In a shady place insert slips of sage, thyme, lavender, and other herbs, and sow mustard and cress under a south wall. In the fruit garden disbudding—that is to say, relieving the shoots of wall-trees of some of their buds just when they begin growing—is now to be attended to.

The Pig was Comfortable.

 PEASANT in Galway was one day standing at the door of his cabin. He did not look particularly well off, and an English tourist passing stopped to speak to him. As he did so he saw the children inside the house playing with a pig. The Englishman was shocked. "My good fellow," he said, "why have you that pig in the house? It does not seem right." "Why not, sor?" answered Pat; "why not? Sure, an' hasn't the house every accommodation that any raysonable pig would require?"

Lord Leighton.

THE funeral of Lord Leighton took place with solemn ceremony in St. Paul's Cathedral on the 3rd of February, 1896. The coffin, which had lain in the Octagon Room of the Royal Academy pending the funeral, was surrounded and covered by great numbers of wreaths. The mass of wreaths having been removed and piled on a car, the coffin was carried down and placed on the hearse in the courtyard of Burlington House shortly before 11 in the morning, and a procession was formed to St. Paul's Cathedral. It included between thirty and forty carriages, conveying the pall-bearers, representatives of various Royal personages, relatives of the deceased, officials, Academicians, Associates and students of the Royal Academy, and was headed by members of the Artists Volunteer Corps. The procession, passing through great crowds of spectators, arrived shortly after noon at the Cathedral, in which a very large and representative congregation of mourners had assembled. As the coffin was placed in front of the opening leading to the crypt, where it was to be deposited, Colonel the Hon. W. Carington, who attended to represent the Queen, placed upon it a wreath sent by her Majesty. The lesson was read by the Dean, and the rest of the service was conducted by the Archbishop of York.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

HALF-HARDY plants that have been sheltered during the winter may be uncovered about the middle of the month; such as have been housed may be brought out and planted in beds or allowed to stand in pots as required. This is a favourable time for putting in cuttings of double wall-flowers, rockets, and other hardy perennials. If heartsease be now propagated by cuttings, and placed in a shady border, it will flower in the autumn; and the largest flowers will be produced by these young plants. Continue the sowing of peas; those already up will require sticking. Plant potatoes and sow radishes; sow mustard and cress. To procure a succession, sow cress once a month and mustard once a fortnight. The ground should be made level and watered, and the seed thickly scattered and not covered with earth, but merely pressed into the soil with a flat board or the back of a spade. Keep a sharp look-out for weeds.

FUNERAL OF LORD LEIGHTON.

A Writer at Work.

A RAPID writer can write thirty words in one minute. To do this he must draw his pen through the space of a rod, sixteen and a half feet.

In forty minutes his pen travels a furlong, and in five and a half hours a full mile.

He makes on an average sixteen curves or turns of the pen for each word written.

Writing at the rate of thirty words per minute, he must make eight curves to each second; in an hour, 28,800; in five hours, 144,000, and in 300 days, working only five hours each day, he makes not less than 43,200,000 curves and turns of the pen.

All Shout Together.

A GREAT part of the din that beats upon the air of China comes of the raising and lowering of masts and sails, for on all except the sea-going craft the masts are hinged, and are for ever being pulled up or let down. To do this work the Chinese crews are bunched together on each deck, where they shout with each output of strength. "Hee-tah, hee-tah, hoo-ah, hoo-ah, hee-tah!" they chant, or grunt, whenever two, or twenty, or two hundred Chinamen work together at anything. A common sight in the cities is to see fifty of them pounding the earth for the foundation of a new building. Every man, upon a high scaffold, tugs at a rope, and all the ropes meet at one big rock, that is lifted and dropped incessantly upon the ground to harden it. I say "every man," but there are always boys, and even baby boys, at some of the ropes. All shout together, beginning at daybreak, when all work begins, after which sleep can only be courted with chloroform. Whenever two men work at anything, they chant, whether it is at the work of carrying a coffin in a funeral or a bedstead out of a house.

She and I.

THEY say that the weather is bad—that the snow

Lies thick on the ground, that the skies are grey,

That the world is a mourning for summer: I know

That the summer's noon closes the winter's day,

That out in the city the winds sob and moan;
But what do I care if the world's all awry,
For with us the sun shines as we sit here alone,
For she is at work—and so am I.

They say that the world—that's to say, people in it—

Are treach'rous and false when they seem to be fair,

And the praise of the mob, when you've striven to win it,

Is just like an iceberg—it's brilliant—and bare,
That nothing is worth half the trouble we give it,
That tears sound through when we're half mad with glee;

But I am content with my life—as I live it,
For I am at work—and so is she.

They say that life isn't worth living—that sorrow

Lies hid in our hearts when we laugh; well—perhaps;

We care naught for this, and we don't want to borrow

The joy of the world—we're content with our scraps!

And if you would know why I'm gay, notwithstanding

The chills of the world, and its people—just see
That my darling and I have a sweet "understanding,"

When all the world works—and so do we.

Fresh Air.

AN excellent physician says: "To strengthen the lungs nothing is so good as to inhale long-drawn breaths of pure air through the nostrils many times a day, expanding the lungs fully each time." He asserts that this practice alone has saved many patients to whom it had been ordered, who would otherwise, in all probability, have died soon of consumption. Fresh air is heaven's best gift to man.

The Royal Scottish Academy.

THE engraving on the opposite page represents the building in Edinburgh in which the annual exhibition of modern paintings of the Royal Scottish Academy takes place during the spring. The same picturesquely situated building gives shelter to the National Gallery of paintings. The collection consists of the combined cabinets of several public bodies, together with many valuable gifts and bequests almost yearly made to it by patriotic citizens.

"The White Feather."

A COWARD is said to "show the white feather," because gamecocks employed in fighting never have white feathers. Should one appear it shows that the bird is not of a pure breed.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

GARDEN flowers now make a fine show. This is the time for laburnums, honeysuckles, lilies, early roses, etc. Young plants of pelargoniums, fuchsias, etc., which will be required for autumnal window plants, should now be moved into well-drained pots and plunged into a border. Commence the grafting and budding of roses. Take up the bulbs of tulips, hyacinths, etc., as soon as the leaves grow yellow. Keep them dry in paper bags till the season for planting comes round again. Some of the quick-flowering annuals—such as Virginia stocks—may still be sown, and the more tender kinds which have been reared in a hot-bed planted out. Cuttings of verbenas and heliotropes now strike readily. Plentifully water newly-planted seedlings and all hot-house plants. Sow mustard and cress the same as last month. Sow the last crop of long-pod beans and peas for the season. Turnips are to be sown for succession in the first week of the month, and for a full autumn crop in the third week. Train the summer shoots of all sorts of wall and trellis trees. Net over cherry trees, to protect them from birds. If plants are infested with worms, water them with lime-water as the surest means of getting rid of them.

Reminded of His Daughter.

THE late Madame Patey, the popular songstress, was delighting a large audience in the Town Hall at Birmingham, when a working man at the rear of the building was observed to be in tears. There was nothing in the words of the song to account for this display of feeling, for the famed prima donna was singing in the Italian tongue; but the grief of the man became more pronounced and annoying ere Madame Patey had concluded.

At length, amid a thunder of applause, the singer retired, and the stranger was asked the reason of his grief.

"She reminds me so of my darter!" said the tearful one. "She was in the singing line."

"But surely your daughter could not sing like that?" queried a man on the next seat.

"No," answered the mourner, with another sob; "but you never could tell what she was singin' about!"

Stupidity Detected.

DR. DELAUNAY, a well-known Paris scientist, has made some curious observations which show the connection between little things and great.

To ascertain the qualities of an applicant cook, he says it is sufficient to give her a plate to clean or a sauce to make, and watch how she moves her hand in either act. If she moves it from left to right, or in the direction of the hands of a watch, you may trust her; if the other way, she is certain to be stupid and incapable.

The intelligence of people may also be gauged, the doctor says, by asking them to make a circle on paper with a pencil, and noting in what direction the hand is moved. The good students in a mathematical class draw circles from left to right.

The inferiority of the softer sex, as well as of the male dunces, is shown by their drawing from right to left. Asylum patients do the same.

Beside the Stile.

*WE both walked slowly over the yellow grass,
Beneath the sunset sky;
And then he climbed the stile—I did not pass—
And there we said good-bye.*

*He paused one moment; I leaned on the stile
And faced the hazy lane;
But neither of us spoke until we both
Just said good-bye again.*

*And I went homeward to our quaint old farm,
And he went on his way;
And he has never crossed that field again
From that time to this day.*

*I wonder if he ever gives a thought
To what he left behind—
As I start sometimes, dreaming that I hear
A footstep in the wind.*

*If he had said but one regretful word,
Or I had shed a tear,
He would not go alone about the world,
Nor I sit lonely here.*

*Alas! our hearts were full of angry pride
And love was choked in strife;
And so the stile beyond the yellow grass
Stands straight across our life.*

Seeing Ourselves as Others See Us.

'Twould be a most dangerous gift, O potent fay!
Whatever feather-headed poets say,
To stand outside and see our various selves
As we are seen—by mortals and by elves.

Within a certain woodland's blessed shade
There dwells a star-eyed, red-lipped little maid,
Whose glance so arch, so altogether tender,
Would bring a whole battalion to surrender.

By twice ten thousand promises she's mine;
But did she know her beauty so divine,
Could she but see—as I—the grace that's in her,
There'd be no longer hope for this poor sinner.

And had I seen, ere winning this fair creature,
My monstrous ugliness, in form and feature,
As her discarded lovers now do view it,
I never would have had the face to do it.

Generosity.

THE only time when a man is generous in drawing the line between his own and his neighbour's property is when he shovels the snow off the pavement.

To-day.

Lo! here hath been dawning
Another blue
day,
Think will thou
let it
Slip useless away?

Death of Prince Henry of Battenberg.

THE unexpected death of Prince Henry of Battenberg changed the general satisfaction with which the nation received the news of the successful and bloodless issue of the Ashantee Expedition into mourning. He had caught fever when in the discharge of his duties, but was reported as getting better. A relapse, however, set in, and on the evening of the 26th of January, 1896, he died quietly at sea. His frank and amiable character and his soldier-like bearing had won for him a high degree of popularity.

At the time of his death the cruiser on board of which he was, was not far from Sierra Leone. His body was brought home, and arrived at Portsmouth on the morning of the 4th of February.

The same afternoon the Royal Yacht Alberta arrived from Osborne with the Princess Beatrice, Princess Christian, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught, and the Princes Louis and Francis Joseph of Battenberg, who went on board the cruiser, where a service was held. After the Princesses had returned to the Alberta, the body was transferred to the yacht and conveyed to Osborne.

Prince Henry of Battenberg was the son of Prince Alexander of Battenberg (Hesse), and was born on the 5th of October, 1858. He married Princess Beatrice on the 23rd of July, 1885.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

The flowering of plants reaches its height this month. Continue to take up bulbs as the foliage decays, and place annuals or other plants in the places left vacant. In showery weather thin out annuals; they will supply the plants wanted for filling up. Pippings of pinks and carnations may be struck, and layers may be laid down about the middle of the month. Bud roses. Cut down pelargoniums that have done blooming, and take what cuttings are required: they will now strike readily. Lettuce plants and plants recently sown must be watered in dry weather. Peas and scarlet-runners now require sticking, and potatoes must have the earth drawn round the roots. Plant out broccoli and also celery. Roses, elder, lavender, and other plants are now gathered for distilling. Propagate pot-herbs by slips and cuttings. Budding—of use in the case of many fruit-trees, and the chief means of propagating roses—is the principal operation of the month.

LANDING OF THE BODY OF PRINCE HENRY AT COWES.

A Curious Medal.

GUSTAVUS ADOLPHUS, Sweden's great hero, commemorated one of his victories, obtained in the year 1632, by a medal on which was struck the following chronogrammatical inscription:—

ChrIstVs DVX; ergo TrIVMphVs.
3 6 4 2 4 5 6 4 I 4

In this chronogram all the letters representing the Roman numerals have been brought into use, which, arranged in the order set forth by the figures arranged beneath them, read as MDC=1600; VVVV or 4×5=20; X=10; and II or 1×2=2; or, 1632.

Wigs in the Olden Time.

QUEEN ELIZABETH had no fewer than eighty attires of false hair.

It is probable, however, that in this respect she was equalled, if not outdone, by her fair cousin, the Queen of Scots. For Knollys writes to Cecil: "Mary Seaton, who is praised by the Queen as the finest busker, that is to say, the finest dresser, of a woman's head of hair that may be seen in any country. . . . Yesterday and this day did she set a curled hair upon the Queen that was said to be a perewyke, that showed very delicate."

Mary wore her periwigs to the last, and was executed in an auburn peruke. During her life she was so much addicted to changing the form and colour of her hair, that on this account many of her portraits are rendered difficult of identification.

Towards the end of the reign of Charles II. wig-wearing had become all but universal in England. We find the custom constantly alluded to in the literature, the drama, and the art of the period.

Buddhistic Wisdom.

HAPPY is the man who ha'h sown in his breast the seeds of benevolence; the produce thereof shall be charity and love.

From the fountain of his heart shall rise rivers of goodness, and the streams shall overflow for the benefit of mankind.

He assisteth the poor in their trouble; he rejoiceth in furthering the prosperity of all men.

He censureth not his neighbour; he believeth not the tales of envy and malevolence, neither repeateth he their slanders.

He forgiveth the injuries of men—he wipeth them from his remembrance; revenge and malice have no place in his heart.

The griefs and anxieties of men excite his compassion; he endeavoureth to alleviate the weight of their misfortunes; and the pleasure of success rewardeth his labours.

The Minstrel.

*A WORN old man, with flowing locks and white,
With brow as pallid as the April flowers,
With eyes so deep, so blue, it seemed the hours
Aging all else had left undimmed their light—
Held an old violin close-clasped and tight,
And improvised with all his master-powers,
Defying grief, while from his bow in showers,
Fell notes that sang both sorrow and delight.*

*He, hungry, cold, and clad but scantily,
Played all his timid tongue dare not reveal,
His youth's vain efforts, manhood's strife, the sore*

*And bitter sorrows only death can heal—
Lo! swift awakens from his ecstasy,
A servant struck him trembling from the door.*

The Strength of Ice.

ICE one inch and a half thick will support a man; four inches thick will support cavalry; five inches thick will support an 84-lb. cannon; ten inches thick will support a multitude; eighteen inches thick will support a railroad train.

A Fraud.

THREE burglars worked all night on a safe in an office, and when they finally got it open they found six postcards and five postage-stamps to reward them. The only revenge they could take was to stick the stamps on the wall and write on one of the cards: "A feller who keeps a big safe without anything in it is a fraud."

The Pass of Brander.

ONE of the most picturesque Highland lochs is Loch Awe, and one of the most remarkable features in its neighbourhood is the Pass of Brander. Through this pass the waters of the loch find an outlet by means of the River Awe, which discharges into Loch Etive. Its extreme narrowness made it in days of old a place of great strength, and it was here that the Clan Macdougall of Lorn was almost destroyed by King Robert Bruce. Cairns, on the opposite sides of the stream, near the entrance of the pass on the north, mark the scene of the conflict.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

EXAMINE bulbs that are out of the ground; they must not be allowed to become damp, for then they will mould, and be of little value. Plants, such as fuchsias, which are meant to bloom in the windows in autumn, should be prevented from flowering now. Take off the tops of chrysanthemums. All bands tied round buds and grafts should now be loosened and removed when they are no longer required. According to some, it is better to pot auriculas now than in May. Sow cinerarias, petunias, and calceolarias: if left to the spring, these plants will not flower till the following year. Plant out biennial stocks in the borders where they are intended to bloom. Pick off dead leaves and reduce stray growth. Sow lettuce to stand the winter, spinach, and cauliflower, and transplant lettuces and every sort of cabbage. Hoar and thin turnips. A few coleworts may still be planted. Caterpillars should be destroyed. Savoy and cabbages, which are particularly subject to their attacks, should be sprinkled with lime on dewy mornings.

Sorrow and Health.

THE nervous system requires complete rest after blows caused by sorrow. Recent medical observations show that the physical results of depressing emotions are similar to those caused by bodily accidents, fatigue, chill, partial starvation, and loss of blood.

Grief cannot be ignored, neither can it be cheered up. It must be accepted, and allowed to wear itself away. Readjustment comes slowly.

Sorrow, grief, and all great misfortunes should be regarded as conditions similar to acute infectious diseases, which they resemble in result; and later, as convalescence from such diseases.

Seclusion, rest, sleep, appropriate food, fresh air, sunshine, interests that tax neither mind nor body, these are requirements in this class of illness.

The cure of the condition following depressing emotion calls for the same treatment in greater or less degree. The poison of grief is more than a name.

To urge work, study, travel, the vain search for amusement, is both useless and dangerous. For a time the whole organism is overthrown, and a temporary seclusion is imperative for proper readjustment.

After some bereavement the custom of wearing mourning has a distinct moral value. But its period of use must be brief—a few weeks, months, perhaps a year—otherwise dense black draperies become a burden, an æsthetic blunder, and a source of depression in themselves.

The Last Story Told.

A PARTY of gentlemen at a Birmingham Hotel were telling stories one night recently of famous shots, and of how many quails, partridges, ducks, and other birds had been killed at a single discharge.

After listening to what seemed a wilful exaggeration by different narrators, a stranger who was present volunteered his experience of his only use of the fatal double-barrelled gun as follows:—

“I went into the field one day to try gunning. The only game discovered was an immense flock of blackbirds. I should say that there were 10,000 in the flock. Slowly I crawled up towards them, and when not more than four rods away the birds rose in a solid mass. I fired both barrels, and how many do you think I killed?”

Different guesses were made by the party, ranging from twenty to four hundred.

“Not one,” said the stranger; “but I went out with my brother to look for results, and we picked up four bushels of legs. I had shot a little under.”

This was the last story told.

“Thou Didst Not Say Me Nay.”

I PRESSED thy hand at parting, thou didst not say me nay;

A smile so soft on dimpled cheek and roguish lip 'gan play,

I dared to kiss that tempting cheek,

I dared those honeyed lips to seek;

E'en now I scarce believe it true—thou didst not say me nay.

I asked, might I return, Love!—thou didst not say me nay;

And now I have no rest by night, nor have I peace by day.

And still I fear to come again,

And half misdoubt my wondrous gain;

And half misdoubt that I have dreamed thou didst not say me nay.

Dr. Jameson's Surrender.

THE incidents connected with Dr. Jameson's incursion into the Transvaal are so well known that to repeat them is almost superfluous. A few cross shots were fired after midnight on the 31st of December, 1895, by Dr. Jameson's force on the one side and the Boers on the other. Then Dr. Jameson's troopers laagered for the night.

"At daybreak," says one of his men, "we went on. We proceeded until about 1 p.m., when we were stopped by the Boers' artillery. We returned the fire, and silenced them in about an hour. The next firing occurred in the afternoon, when a very heavy storm came on, but still we climbed the hill. . . . By that time both men and horses were much in need of water. Fighting went on all this time, and towards evening, noticing that the Boers meant to surround us, we formed a laager, placing waggons outside and horses inside. The men then all placed themselves outside the square some way in front of the horses, sheltered by their saddles."

Dr. Jameson did not give in until he saw that the men were so knocked up that fighting only meant that his force would in the end be shot down; and seeing that no help was coming from Johannesburg, he hoisted a white shirt on a rifle as a flag of truce.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

DAHLIAS and some hardy annuals are still in flower. Place auriculas under shelter for the winter at the end of the month: but they should still have as much light and air as is consistent with shielding them from frost and heavy rain. Take cactuses indoors, and give them very little water. Make cuttings of China roses. Plant out pinks in the beds where they were meant to flower. Thrift, daisy, or gentianella edgings may now be planted: the earth should be pressed firmly round the roots by breaking it with the back of a spade. Dog's-tooth violets, narcissus, crocus, snowdrop, and suchlike bulbs, if out of the ground, must now be planted. Earth up celery, and plant lettuce in a sheltered border for winter use. This is the best time for forming new beds of horseradish. Plant endive. Lift onions and place them on a dry border or gravel walk. Keep down weeds which now grow apace. Hazel-nuts, acorns, blackberries, and elderberries, are now ready for gathering. Cider and perry are now made. The temperature of the year takes a turn. Last month the mean temperature was 61° 28', this month it is 60° 14'.

JAMESON'S SURRENDER AT KRUGERSDORP.

A Wise Teacher.

FATHER: "Do you think my daughter will ever be able to sing?"

Teacher: "Nevare, monsieur."

Father: "Then what's the use of giving her any more vocal lessons?"

Teacher: "A great deal of use, monsieur. I give her lessons two-three months more, and by-and-by I teach her that she can't sing. That is very good musical education for a young lady."

Father: "By gimini, you're right! If she can't sing, and you can convince her she can't, the lessons won't be thrown away."

Cheap Hospitality.

A MISER, residing in a little town in Normandy, could not bring himself to return the civilities of his friends; consequently, one fine day his name was dropped from the list of invitations.

To recover the loss of so many sumptuous repasts, he would have to entertain his hosts in his turn, and he did not relish that.

At last he was struck by a brilliant idea, and he sent out his cards of invitation.

In the middle of the banquet, which was on a magnificent scale, horrible cries were heard, and our amphitryon ran out to ascertain the cause. Soon afterwards he returned, pale, excited, his hands covered with blood.

"What has happened?" cried the guests.

"A workman, the poor father of a family, has been run over just opposite my door!"

And without saying another word, the miser, obeying a generous impulse, snatched up a plate, in which he placed a few louis, and, handing it round, collected about six hundred francs, which he hastened to deliver to the interesting sufferer.

Next day the guests found that the accident was a myth, invented by the miser to recoup himself for the cost of his dinner.

Things Left Undone.

IT isn't the thing you do, dear,
It's the thing you leave undone,

Which gives you a bit of heartache

At the setting of the sun;

The tender word forgotten,

The letter you did not write,

The flower you might have sent, dear,

Are your haunting ghosts to-night.

The stone you might have lifted

Out of the brother's way,

The bit of heartsome counsel

You were hurried too much to say.

The loving touch of the hand, dear,

The gentle and winsome tone

That you had no time nor thought for,

With troubles enough of your own.

These little acts of kindness,

So easily out of mind,

These chances to be angels

Which even mortals find—

They come in night and silence

Each mild reproachful wraith,

When hope is faint and flagging,

And a blight has dropped on faith.

For life is all too short, dear,

And sorrow is all too great,

To suffer our slow compassion

That tarrys until too late.

And it's not the thing you do, dear,

It's the thing you leave undone,

Which gives you the bitter heartache,

At the setting of the sun.

There are Exceptions, However.

AN IRISHMAN asked a Scotchman one day why a railroad engine was always called "she."

Sandy replied: "Perhaps it's on account of the horrible noise it makes when it tries to whistle."

A Change in Literature.

UNTIL the end of the eighteenth century literature and art were separable arts; literature being occupied exclusively with thoughts, and not concerned with the folds of the dress, their shape, and the tones they took in the shadow, and again the tones they took when the lady bade her lover good-bye, passing as she said the words into the light of the lamp which stood on a small table, and whose pink shade was clearly defined on the rich purple of the window-curtains. — GEORGE MOORE.

Dunvegan Castle.

DUNVEGAN CASTLE, in the island of Skye, is the residence of the MacLeods of MacLeod. It is situated near the head of Loch Follart. The most ancient part of the building is said to have been erected in the ninth century. Another portion, consisting of the lofty tower, was added a few centuries afterwards by Alastair Crotach, the humpbacked son of William, who fell at the battle of the Bloody Bay in Mull, and was head of the family in the close of the fifteenth century. In the castle there are many relics of the past. Amongst them are the horn of Rory Mdr, and the fairy flag mentioned by Sir Walter Scott in the diary of his Hebridean voyage, and more particularly described in the notes to the "Lord of the Isles."

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

CHINESE chrysanthemums, Michaelmas daisies of various kinds, mignonette, Russian and Neapolitan violets are now in bloom. Dahlias, hollyhocks, etc., keep their blooming till injured by the frost. Early in the month pot any plants intended for the windows early in spring; plant them in dry soil. Prepare beds for tulips, hyacinths, etc. They should be dug to the depth of eighteen inches and well drained. Take up scarlet lobelias, divide them, and plant them in pots for the winter; they are apt to decay if left out. Dig up parsnips, carrots, potatoes, and beets. Spinach beds should be weeded out, and August-sown lettuces planted out if not done last month. Winter crops are now being sown in the field. Potatoes and other vegetables are being housed. Fences should now be repaired and drains cleaned, and the garden should be kept as neat as possible. Stack or house wood to be used for firing.

DUNVEGAN CASTLE.

How to Tell a Thief.

"I ALWAYS remember a man by his eyes," said Detective Sliman, an experienced officer. "If I once get a square look at a man's eyes I would recognise him if I met him in Inverness. The eyes never change; the face is always changing. A man with strongly marked features can deceive the shrewdest detectives if the latter have not made a study of the eyes.

"There are men whose faces are completely altered by shaving off a moustache. Even a week's growth of beard and a change of clothing will completely disguise some men. There are men who look like gentlemen when clean shaven, and like tramps with a three days' stubble on their faces.

"A change from a stiff to a soft hat completely alters some, but if you have noted their eyes you cannot mistake them. Every trade and profession stamps its imprint upon the eyes. If you will notice closely you will see that the eyes of the merchant differ from those of the lawyer, the eyes of the day labourer from those of the skilled mechanic.

When Trouble Comes.

WHEN trouble comes, don't let despair
Add to the burden you must bear,
But keep up heart, and, smiling, say—
"The darkest cloud must pass away."

Don't say, "Why is it?" with a frown,
And go with heart and head bowed down,
But lift them both, and let your eyes
Behold the sunshine in the skies.

Don't sit and brood o'er things gone wrong,
But sing a hopeful, helpful song,
Or whistle something light and gay,
And thus drive half your cares away.

Sing of the pleasant things life knows;
Not of the thorns, but of the rose.
Each life knows some joy every day,
Sure as December leads to May.

The man who sings when trouble's here,
From trouble has not much to fear;
Since it will never tarry long
When stout heart meets it with a song.

But brood o'er care, and we can make
This life a burden that will break
The stoutest back. But sing, and lo!
The load is lifted. Let it go!

Then don't forget when things go wrong
To try the magic of a song,
For cheerful heart and smiling face
Bring sunshine to the shadiest place.

Assassination of
M. Stamboloff.

M. STAMBOLOFF, the ex-Prime Minister of Bulgaria, has been truly described as the man above all others to whom the present position of that country, its freedom and independence, are due. At the time of his death he was about forty years of age, and till his fall in June, 1894, he was regarded as one of the foremost statesmen in Europe. The autocratic and high-handed methods which were alleged against him made him many enemies, and in the end brought about his assassination.

This event took place in July, 1895. He met his death by the hands of a band of assassins, who had been watching their opportunity. They fell upon him on the 15th of the month when he was returning to his house from a visit to a club.

The assassination was characterised by circumstances of considerable barbarity. He lost one eye, and both of his hands were so cut about that they had to be amputated immediately afterwards. This, however, could not save his life, as there were fatal wounds about the head. He died on the 18th of July.

His friends openly charged the Government with conniving at the murder, a charge which Prince Ferdinand, who was then at Karlsbad, repudiated with great indignation.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

THERE may be flowers in the garden in this and the following month. The common monthly rose and several varieties of laurestine are in blossom. Evergreen trees and shrubs are now in great beauty. Take up dahlia roots carefully in fine weather and label them. Let the roots dry gradually, and then lay them in a shallow box, cover them with sand, and house them in any dry place where they are free from frost. Plant tulips and hyacinths in beds as early as possible in the month. Plant them three or four inches deep and six inches apart. Protect them from heavy rains till the roots have taken firm hold of the soil. This can be done with fern leaves or straw fastened down by willow rods. Plant deciduous trees and shrubs whilst the weather continues favourable, and before the soil has parted with the solar heat absorbed during summer. Finish taking up potatoes, carrots, beets, and parsnips. Take up early broccoli, endive, late cauliflower, and lettuces, and lay them in an open shed or in old melon pits, which will protect them from frost and afford a supply during winter.

ASSASSINATION OF M. STAMBOLOFF.

Always Attractive.

"TELL us," cried the group of maidens, "how to remain always young and attractive."
 "That is easy," replied the sage, without even lifting his eyes from his book. "Get a fortune and stay single."

How to be Strong.

SANDOW, the "strong man," says that his first golden rule is—if you want to be strong, do not eat too much. Nothing shortens life and minimises power as the almost universal habit of taking too much food.

The only rule as to how much food should be taken is that the system should be kept free from hunger until the usual time for the next meal.

If you wish to be strong, do not drink tea or coffee, and when the stomach is empty take nothing but distilled water.

Another point is, never try to economise in sleep. Sandow says he sleeps nine hours and often more. You should sleep in a warm bedroom, and bathe almost as frequently as you eat. At any rate, you should always have a cold bath morning and evening.

Sandow says he has not much faith in gymnastics as they are usually taught. His faith is pinned to dumb-bells, and he does all his training with them, supplemented with weight lifting.

If you wish to be strong, says Sandow, do not overstrain yourself; develop your muscles by the easiest and lightest exercise. By a constant use of dumb-bells any man of average strength can bring his muscles to the highest possible development.

In exercising it is very important to stand correctly and to breathe properly. The right way to breathe properly is to take long, full breaths, and to expel the air slowly. If you breathe properly, stand as you ought to do, get plenty of pure air, sufficient, but not too much, wholesome food, you will be sure to be healthy and strong.

Character Reading.

"BY six qualities," says an old writer, "may a fool be known: anger without cause, speech without profit, change without motive, inquiry without an object, putting trust in a stranger, and wanting capacity to discriminate between a friend and foe."

The Miser.

*A HARD, close man was Solomon Ray,
 Nothing of value he gave away;
 He hoarded and saved,
 And he pinched and shaved,
 And the more he got the more he craved.
 The hard-earned shillings he toiled to gain,
 Brought him little but care and pain;
 For little he spent,
 And all that he lent,
 He made it bring him twenty per cent.
 This was the life of Solomon Ray,
 The years went by, and his hair grew grey;
 His cheeks grew thin,
 And his heart within
 Grew as hard as the shillings he worked to win.
 But he died one day, as all men must,
 For life is fleeting and man is dust:
 And the heirs were gay
 That laid him away;
 And that was the end of Solomon Ray.
 They quarrelled now, who but little cared
 For Solomon Ray while his life was spared;
 His lands were sold
 And his hard-earned gold
 All went to the lawyers, I am told.
 Yet men will pinch, and cheat, and save,
 Nor carry their treasures beyond the grave;
 All their gold some day
 Will melt away,
 Like the selfish savings of Solomon Ray.*

Assassination of the Shah of Persia.

The Shah of Persia was assassinated in the Mosque of Shah Abdul Azim, near Teheran, on the 1st of May, 1896. His Majesty, accompanied by the Grand Vizier and several attendants, shortly before two o'clock in the afternoon walked through the outer court of the shrine of Shah Abdul Azim, where he gave a banknote to an Arab and spoke kindly to a water carrier. The entrance to the inner court is closed by two chains, and the Shah had just passed the first when the assassin, armed with a revolver, approached and fired. The Shah was immediately taken to his carriage and conveyed to the palace in Teheran, where he was attended by Dr. Tholozan. His Majesty expired shortly after four o'clock.

This event removed from the political stage a figure by no means unfamiliar to the people of this country. His visits to Europe had made him known to many of us, and his sudden and violent end arrested attention to a greater degree than if he had remained in the semi-fabulous obscurity that normally envelopes far-off Eastern potentates. It is to be regretted that by his apparent sympathy with Western civilisation the late Shah raised hopes of social reform and commercial progress in Persia which were never justified. There is indication, however, that his successor will make effort in this direction.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

THE work to be executed in the flower-garden is much the same as last month. Tea-roses that are in exposed situations should be taken up and placed safely out of the reach of frost. Any fuchsias that are to remain out all the winter should have their roots covered with litter or coal-ashes. In frosty weather sprinkle a little light litter over any choice things in open beds. Make plantation of rhubarb, sea-kale, asparagus, and horseradish. Sow early peas and beans on dry warm slopes. A delicate salad may be obtained in five or six weeks by packing roots of dandelion in leaf-mould and putting them in gentle heat. Dig round old fruit-trees. If any trees grow too luxuriantly to bear well, root-prune them. Continue, if necessary, to make new drains, to improve water-courses, and to plant hedges. Turn up the ground thoroughly for exposure to the frost and snow. Inspect the fruit in the store-room at frequent and regular intervals and remove whatever is found to be in a state of decay.

ASSASSINATION OF THE SHAH OF PERSIA : BRINGING HOME THE BODY.

For All Who Wish to Marry.

SELECT the girl. Agree with the girl's father in politics and with her mother in religion. If you have a rival, keep an eye on him; if he is a widower, keep two eyes on him.

Do not assure the girl that you have no bad habits. It will be enough for you to say that you never heard yourself snore in your sleep.

Do not put too much sweetstuff on paper. If you do, you will hear it read in after years, when your wife has some especial purpose in inflicting upon you the severest punishment known to a married man.

Go home at a reasonable hour in the evening. Do not wait till the girl has to throw her whole soul into a yawn that she cannot cover with both hands. A little thing like that may cause a coolness at the very beginning of the game.

If you sit down on some molasses-candy that little Willie has left on the chair while wearing your new summer trousers for the first time, smile sweetly, and remark that you do not mind sitting on molasses-candy at all, and that "boys will be boys." Reserve your true feelings for future reference.

If, on the occasion of your first call, the girl upon whom you have placed your affections looks like an iceberg, and acts like a quiet cold wave, take your leave early, and stay away.

Do not be too soft. Do not say, "These little hands shall never do a stroke of work while they are mine," and "You shall have nothing to do in our home but to sit all day long and chirp to the canaries"—as if any sensible woman could be happy fooling away valuable time in that sort of style! And a girl has a fine retentive memory for the soft things and silly promises of courtship, and occasionally, in after years, when she is washing the dinner-dishes or patching the worst end of your trousers, she will remind you of them in a cold sarcastic tone of voice.

Duelling.

THE duel is a survival of the trial by ordeal. Rowland Yorke is supposed to have brought it to England in 1587, but earlier than that it was not unusual to see a glove hung over the altar in church, as a challenge to anyone who should take it down.

The Looking-Glass.

*THE world is a looking-glass
Wherein we look all day,
And each one sees reflected there
His own true image, foul or fair,
Sullen, or sad, or gay;
Lit up with love or dark with hate,
Or cheered by heaven or soured by fate.*

*The sweet eyes meet an answering smile,
The glad face fronts the sun;
The mourner nothing sees but shade,
And shivers, lonely and afraid;
The guilty-hearted one
Reads in the glass, without a doubt,
His sin detected and found out.*

*The innocent child looks gaily in
With frank and fearless gaze,
And sees a face reflected there
Bright as his own is fair;
The old man full of days,
Peers with his tired eyes and sees
But weariness and vanities.*

*The world is a looking-glass
Wherein ourselves are shown,
Kindness for kindness, cheer for cheer,
Coldness for gloom, repulse for fear,
To every soul its own;
We cannot change the world a whit,
Only ourselves which look in it.*

Post Office Telegrams.

The charge for telegrams throughout the United Kingdom is 6d. for the first twelve words, and ½d. for every additional word. Addresses are charged for. Figures are counted at the rate of five figures to a word. Postage stamps are used for payment, and the public are required to affix them to the message forms just as they are required to affix them to letters. A receipt for the charges can be obtained at a cost of 2d.

For the rates charged for foreign telegrams, see the Post Office Guide, published quarterly.

Letter Post.

To and from all parts of the United Kingdom, the prepaid rates are:—
Not exceeding 1 oz.	1d.
Excdg. 1 oz., not exc. 2 oz.	1½d.
" 2 " " " " " " " "	2d.
" 4 " " " " " " " "	2½d.
" 6 " " " " " " " "	3d.
" 8 " " " " " " " "	3½d.

and so on at the rate of ½d. for every additional 2 oz.

A letter posted unpaid is chargeable on delivery with double postage, and a letter posted insufficiently paid is chargeable with double the deficiency. Foreign and Colonial Postage Rate is 2½d. per ½ oz.

Inland Book Post.

The Book Post rate is one halfpenny for every 2 oz. or fraction of 2 oz. Every Book Packet must be posted either without a cover or in an unfastened envelope, or in an easily removable cover. No Book Packet may exceed 5 lb. in weight, one foot six inches in length, nine inches in width, and six inches in depth.

Parcel Post.

Parcels not exceeding 11 lb. in weight are received at any post office for transmission between places in the United Kingdom.

The rates of postage are 3d. for a parcel not exceeding 1 lb. in weight, and 1½d. for every additional pound. For example, 2 lb. cost 4½d.; 3 lb., 6d.; and so on up to 11 lbs. which cost 1s. 6d.

The dimensions allowed for an inland postal parcel are:—

Greatest length ..	3ft. 6in.
Greatest length and girth combined ..	6ft. 0in.

A Parcel Post has also been established between this country and many foreign countries and the British Colonies and possessions generally. For rates and regulations, see the Post Office Guide.

Postage on Inland Registered Newspapers.

Prepaid Rate.—On each Registered Newspaper, whether posted singly or in a packet, the postage when prepaid is one halfpenny; but a packet containing two or more Registered Newspapers is not chargeable with a higher rate of postage than would be chargeable on a Book Packet of the same weight—viz., one halfpenny for every 2 oz. or fraction of 2 oz.

Inland Pattern and Sample Post.

This post is absolutely restricted to bond fide trade patterns and samples. 4 oz. are charged 1d.; 4 to 6 oz., 1½d.; 6 to 8 oz., 2d.

Post Cards.

Post Cards, bearing a halfpenny impressed stamp, are available for transmission between places in the United Kingdom only. They are sold at 10 for 3½d., or of finer quality, 10 for 6d. They can also be had in smaller numbers or singly. Reply Cards are now sold.

Letter Cards are sold at 8 for 9d. Smaller numbers in proportion. Foreign Postal Cards, 1d.; reply 2d.

Money Orders for the United Kingdom.

Money Orders are granted in the United Kingdom at the following rates:—

For sums not exceeding £1. 2d.; £1 to £2, 3d.; £2 to £4, 4d.; £4 to £7, 5d.; £7 to £10, 6d.

Money may now be sent by Telegraph Money Order at the following rates:—

For sums not exceeding £1. 4d.; £1 to £2, 5d.; £2 to £4, 8d.; £4 to £7, 10d.; £7 to £10, 1s.

In addition to the commission a charge is made at the ordinary inland rate for the official telegram of advice and its repetition.

Money Orders payable Abroad.

Money Orders, payable abroad, are issued in the United Kingdom at the following rates:—

If payable in France, Switzerland, Belgium, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Germany, Italy, &c. &c.—

On sums not exceeding £2, 6d.; £2 to £5, 1s.; £5 to £7, 1s. 6d.; £7 to £10, 2s.

Postal Orders.

Postal Orders are issued at the following rates: on those for 1/- and 1/6, the charge is ½d.; for 2/-, 2/6, 3/-, 3/6, 4/-, 4/6, 5/-, 7/6, 10/-, 20/6, the charge is 1d.; for 15/- and 20/-, 1½d. Broken amounts may be made up by affixing stamps to the face of the Order.

Registration and Compensation.

By the prepayment of a fee of twopence any postal packet (parcels included) may be registered to any place in the United Kingdom. Every packet to be registered must be given to an agent of the Post Office, and a receipt obtained for it. The Postmaster-General will give compensation up to a maximum limit of £50 for the loss and damage of Inland Registered Postal Packets of all kinds. The ordinary fee of 2d. secures £5; the payment of 3d. £10; 4d. £15; 5d. £20; 6d. £25; 7d. £30; 8d. £35; 9d. £40; 10d. £45; and 11d. £50.

Post Office Savings Banks.

No deposit of less than a shilling is received, nor any pence, and not more than £50 in one year. No further deposit is allowed when the amount standing in depositor's name amounts to £200 inclusive of interest. Interest is allowed at the rate of 2½ per cent. (or sixpence in the pound) per annum—that is, at the rate of one halfpenny per pound per month.

At every Post Office in the United Kingdom, forms for making small deposits are issued gratuitously. Each form has twelve divisions, in each of which a penny postage stamp can be placed; when the twelve are filled in, it is received at any Post Office Savings Bank as a shilling.

Any person can invest, at any Post Office Savings Bank, small sums in Government Stock. Not more than £200 can be invested in any one year. The amount held by the investor must not exceed £500.

REGISTERS OF BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, AND DEATHS.

Copies of these are kept at Somerset House, and may be searched on payment of a fee of one shilling. If a certified copy of any entry be required, the charge for that, in addition to the shilling for the search, is two shillings and sevenpence, which includes a penny for stamp duty. The registers contain an entry of births, deaths and marriages since 1st Jan. 1837. Copies can always be obtained from the Registrar for the district, or the Superintendent Registrar who has the custody of the registers (including those of persons married at the churches) when filed.

MARRIAGES.

In the case of marriage by banns, if the contracting parties reside in different parishes, the publication must be made in the churches of each parish for three consecutive Sundays. If three months be permitted to elapse after the third time of publication, the banns become useless, and the parties must either obtain a licence or submit to the republication of the banns. Civil Marriages can be performed before a duly licensed Registrar. Particulars of such can be obtained at all Registry Offices.

HOW TO STUDY WILD FLOWERS. By Rev. GEO. HENSLOW, M.A., F.L.S., etc., author of "Plants of the Bible." With many Illustrations. Crown 8vo. 2s. 6d. cloth boards.

This book is intended to help those who wish to study wild flowers. For this purpose the flowers themselves need to be carefully dissected, and the letterpress and illustrations, of which there are many, have been carefully prepared with this object in view. The chapters are not merely pretty talks about flowers; they aim at helping the careful and earnest observer to understand the beauties and marvels of these wonderful works of God.

A GIFT FOR A PET.

By ANNIE R. BUTLER, author of "The Promised King," etc. Crown quarto. Profusely illustrated, and bound in coloured picture cover, 2s. 6d.

This book is for very little children, and consists very largely of pictures. At the same time the letterpress has been most carefully prepared, the aim being not only to catch the eye, but also to help both the mind and heart of its little reader. The volume should be most acceptable as a Christmas or Birthday present.

Three and Sixpence each.

HEROES OF THE GOODWIN SANDS.

By the Rev. THOMAS STANLEY TREANOR, M.A., Chaplain of the Missions to Seamen, Deal. With many Illustrations. Fourth Edition, Crown 8vo. 3s. 6d. cloth.

"An admirable book for boys."—Scotsman.
 "A book to make one proud of one's country-men."—Yorkshire Post
 "One of the most acceptable prizes at schools."—Friend.

BY THE SAME AUTHOR.

The LOG OF SKY PILOT;

Or, Work and Adventure around the Goodwin Sands. By THOMAS STANLEY TREANOR, M.A., Chaplain of the Missions to Seamen, Deal. With Illustrations. Crown 8vo. 3s. 6d. cloth.

"A book that is strangely and solemnly fascinating. Mr. Treanor is a veritable successor of the Apostle Paul, especially in regard to perils by water."—Times.

Five Shillings Each.

THE LAST LOAD HOME.

By the Rev. Prebendary J. R. VERNON, M.A.; author of "The Harvest of a Quiet Eye," "Random Truths in Common Things," etc. Illustrated. Imperial 16mo. 5s. cloth, gilt edges.

"Written in Mr. Vernon's best and brightest style."—Church Bells.

"He not only 'looks through nature up to nature's God,' but turns the little unnoticed circumstances and surroundings of our unpoetical nineteenth-century life into things of beauty."—The Record.

CHARLES HADDON SPURGEON. PERSONAL REMINISCENCES.

By the Rev. W. WILLIAMS, of Upton Chapel. With Illustrations from Unpublished Letters and Photographs. Crown 8vo. 5s. cloth.

"It well illustrates the spiritual insight, the mother-wit, the kindly and genial nature, and rare practical sagacity and common-sense of the great preacher and pastor."—The Times.

"A well arranged and often most charming and amusing volume."—English Churchman.

THE LIFE OF JESUS CHRIST THE SAVIOUR.

For Young Men and Women. By Mrs. S. WATSON. With Engravings. Crown 8vo. 5s. cloth boards.

"Mrs. Watson's book is admirable. It tells the story with great simplicity and ease of style; but there is evidence that difficulties have been carefully considered, and much light is thrown upon those points which, as they occur in the Gospels, are obscure to the unlearned reader."—Presbyterian Messenger.

THE ROMANCE OF ELECTRICITY.

By JOHN MUNRO, author of "Pioneers of Electricity," "Electricity and its Uses," "Heroes of the Telegraph," "The Wire and Wave," etc. With Illustrations. Crown 8vo. 5s. cloth.

"A remarkably instructive and entertaining account of the marvels of electric phenomena."—The Times.

Work. The Illustrated Weekly Journal for Mechanics.

A Guinea's Worth for a Penny.

SIR,—I have taken WORK from the first, and not a week passes without my finding something in it to my advantage. Although my business is one quite free from mechanical tools, yet, by the assistance of WORK, the use of such tools has become part and parcel of my daily labour. We hear of "encyclopædias of useful information" which cost pounds, but here is one which, though it cost only a penny, is worth a guinea a number.

SCHOOL TEACHER, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

A Penny a Week buys an Independent Living.

SIR,—WORK has been to me a true and useful instructor, and it is a real pleasure to me to take it home every week. I would rather give up any other paper than WORK. It is the grandest paper for the industrious that was ever printed. No industrious man need be out of work while he can purchase for a penny a week an independent living. I am very proud to be a WORK reader, and have a living and a trade which cost me a penny a week.

Building World.

"BUILDING WORLD is remarkably well written; the illustrations are well executed, all the items are first-class, and the only wonder is that such a paper can be given to the public for a penny. It is crammed full of information, and is fully illustrated."—Sun.

SIR,—Seeing the combination that exists throughout BUILDING WORLD of the theoretical and practical part of everything solely and specially relating to the building trades, one cannot fail to recognise and fully appreciate the inestimable value of the paper itself as a vade mecum or "Inquire Within" to everyone engaged or connected with the subject.—H.
