 COWAN'S
SPECIAL QUALITY OF
Scotch Oat Flour

AS SUPPLIED TO

*Her Royal Highness the Princess Frederica of Hanover,
The Right Honourable the Countess of Southesk, The Right Honourable the Countess of Elgin, The Medical Faculty, &c., &c.*

THE highly nutritive qualities of oatmeal have long been recognised, and of late years this article of diet has become more and more appreciated. It supplies constituents necessary for a robust frame which cannot easily be obtained in any other form. Especially in the rearing of children, oatmeal has been recommending itself to all classes as possessing in an eminent degree, bone and flesh-forming properties.

One drawback there is to the use of this food in the ordinary form. To invalids and persons of delicate constitution, the coarseness of its preparation is a source of serious irritation; and even to persons in good health, the continued use of oatmeal, with its powerfully stimulating effects upon the lower viscera, becomes ultimately injurious.

Cowan's Special Quality of Scotch Oat Flour is carefully prepared so as to preserve all the valuable ingredients found in Oatmeal; and at the same time, it is entirely free from the coarse grit which belongs to the grain in the form of meal. The Oat Flour is accordingly a preparation suitable, pleasant, and nourishing for PERSONS IN HEALTH, and is a special BOON TO INFANTS AND INVALIDS.

RECIPES are given with each tin and bag, showing how to make the Oat Flour into Porridge, Children's Food, Pudding, Gruel, Pancakes, and sustaining and refreshing drinks.

SOLD BY ALL THE LEADING GROCERS.

SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE

THERE are 13,000 distinct varieties of postage-stamps.

RUSSIA has 30,000 miles of coast line, half of it icebound.

THE Japanese—even in the army and navy—never swear.

THE engines of a first-class man-of-war cost nearly £140,000.

NORWEGIANS cannot vote unless they have been vaccinated.

ENGLAND possesses 1,900,445 square miles of African territory.

THERE are always 1,200,000 people afloat on the seas of the world.

EVERY gem known to the lapidary has been found in the United States.

AMERICAN women are growing taller, while the men are getting shorter.

THERE are 172 known species of the fly—a fact which is consoling to us in days of summer.

THE average weight of the brain of a Scotchman is greater than that of any other race on the globe.

THE Russian population represents 110 nationalities, the three great stocks being Finns, Tartars and Slavs.

IRISH and Scotch acres are both larger than English. Of the former, 121 equal 169 English acres; and of the latter, 48 equal 61.

THE British Museum contains over two million volumes of printed books and manuscripts, which are stored upon forty miles of shelving.

A WIRE fence 500 miles long, separating the Colonies of New South Wales and Queensland, designed to keep out rabbits, is one of the wonders of the world.

RESIDENTS in England have £110,000,000 invested in mortgages in foreign countries. These investments annually drain the foreign countries of about £5,500,000.

KING EDWARD has a very small foot, comparatively speaking, for he never wears a larger boot than an "eight." His hats, on the contrary, are of more than average size, running to 7½.

DOCTORS rarely make financial fortunes in Germany. In Berlin there are 1,747 doctors who earn less than £150 a year. Only 250 make £400, and only 170 more than £500.

A BIBLE with celluloid covers has been introduced in a New York police court, and every time the book is kissed a policeman removes with a wet sponge all possible disease germs.

HENRY NEVILLE, the actor, once, when playing in "Rob Roy," got rather mixed in a bold exit speech, which he thus rendered: "I die without disgracing the country I serve or the king that gave me birth."

WHAT is known as the raft spider is the largest of the British species. It receives its name from the fact that it constructs a raft of dried leaves and rubbish united by threads of silk, and thus pursues its prey on the water.

THE first playing-cards that we know of for a certainty were in use in Venice in 1125. There were seventy-two in the pack; the picture cards representing a devil, death, judgment, sun, and moon. We get them, with the changes, through France.

"THE men who make a good living out of burglary nowadays," said a Scotland Yard official to the writer, "are very few. In fact, the profits of the average burglar are so small that I wonder anyone is so foolish as to take the terrible risks of it."

No one is so poor that he or she may not help another along by as much as a kind thought. It is a service which no one is debarred from rendering. The people who think well of us are the people who help us most. They help us to think well of ourselves and to be the good things they think us:

To read of jewels growing on a tree sounds like an old-world fairy-tale, but it is by no means rare to find beautiful pearls in the coconut palm of the Philippine Islands. Yet another precious stone is to be found in the joints of the bamboo cane, the natives wearing them as amulets and charms against disease.

THE SKYLARK AND THE NIGHTINGALE

*When a mountain skylark sings
In the sunlit summer morn,
I know that Heaven is up on high,
And on earth are fields of corn.*

*But, when a nightingale sings
In the moonlight summer even,
I know not if earth is merely earth,
Only that Heaven is Heaven.*

CHRISTINA ROSSETTI.

IMMENSE sums are spent nowadays in fitting out expeditions. Columbus received a yearly salary of £64 odd; the captains of his two ships each received £36, and the crew 9s. 6d. a head per month. The fitting out of the expedition is estimated at £560. So that the total cost of the discovery of America hardly exceeded £1,440.

INSTANCES of what may be termed freak wills—or wills of chance—are common. A tramway conductor received £300, bequeathed to him by a lady whose fare he had advanced when she had lost her purse; and a girl bookkeeper was the fortunate recipient of £8,000 from an old man, an entire stranger, whom she had aided when he was taken ill in the train three years previously.

In old days seeds were often tested by dropping a few at a time into a bowl of water, their excellence or the reverse being judged by the time which they took to go to the bottom. If good, turnip, cabbage, or radish seeds sink at once; cucumber, lemon, and endive requiring more time. If beetroot seeds sprinkled lightly into a cupful of warm water still float at the end of an hour, it is a sure sign that they are not good.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

"HALLO, Scudder, what are you building—a motor shed?" "No; just a hat-box for my wife."

Doctor: "Do you talk in your sleep?"

Patient: "No. I talk in other people's. I'm a clergyman."

Gerlie: "And was he much cast down when your father refused his consent?" Flossie: "No—only one fight."

Sapleigh: "I've got a cold or something in my head, doncherknow!" Miss Cutting: "Well, if there's anything there, it must be a cold!"

Mistress: "Are you not rather small for a nurse?"

Nurse: "No, indeed, madam! The children don't fall so far when I drop them!"

Mike: "An' how's yer wife, Pat?" Pat:

"Sure, she do be awful sick." "Is ut dangerous she is?"

"No; she's too weak t' be dangerous anny more."

"Ah, Willie, I see you didn't get tanned at Southborne!" "Oh, yes, I did; father caught me cutting a piece out of his hammock for a fishing-net!"

He: "Have you explained to your father that I love you?" She: "Yes." He: "What did he say?" She: "Nothing; only went on practising with the dumb-bells."

Uncle Tom: "The baby's looking wonderfully happy to-night." Nurse: "I expect he heard a lady who called this afternoon say that he wasn't a bit like any of his relations."

"DOROTHY: always begins a novel in the middle." "What's that for?" "Why, then she has two problems to be excited over—how the story will end and how it will begin."

Magistrate (sternly): "Didn't I tell you the last time you were here I never wanted you to come before me again?"

Prisoner: "Yes, sir; but I couldn't make the policeman believe it."

Sunday-school Teacher: "Why must we always be kind to the poor, Ethel?" Ethel (slightly mixed): "Because among the sundry and manifold changes of this wicked world we don't know how soon they may become rich."

"OH, my!" exclaimed the excited woman who had mislaid her husband. "I'm looking for a small man with one eye." "Well, ma'am," replied the polite shopwalker, "if he's a very small man, maybe you'd better use both eyes."

Lawyer: "I must know the whole truth before I can successfully defend you. Have you told me everything?" Prisoner: "Except where I hid the money. I want that for myself."

Merchant: "Yes; we are in need of a porter. Where were you employed last?" Applicant: "In a bank, sir." Merchant: "Did you clean it out?" Applicant: "No, sir. The cashier did that."

"THEY say goats haven't got much brains," remarked Jack, meditatively; "yet I don't know. I noticed one devouring a newspaper this morning, and he seemed to me to be taking in every word."

"But I am unworthy, darling!" he murmured, as he held the dear girl's hand in his. "Oh, George!" she sighed, "if you and papa agreed on every other point as you do on that, how happy we should be!"

"TELL me, Freddie," said May Sweetley's admirer to her younger brother, "who is this fellow that's been calling on your sister?" "I don't know his name," replied Freddie; "I call him 'April showers.'" "What for?" "Because he brings May flowers!"

"It was careless of me to say I admired Bacon," remarked the young woman with glasses. "Did you offend some Shakespearean student?" "No. It was a Chicago pork packer. He frigidly remarked that he didn't care to talk shop with me."

"How did you find the steak, sir?" asked the waiter at the cheap restaurant of the man who had dined. "By perseverance," was the reply. "The morsel was hiding under a brussels sprout, but I tracked him down."

Mrs. Bangs: "But her late husband's will expressly stipulated that if she took a second husband her legacy was to revert to his most distant relative." Old Bangs: "That's where she was smart. She hunted up the relative and married him."

Small Boy: "You're in love with my sister, aren't you?" Sappy: "How do you know that?" Small Boy: "Because you're always sending her presents, just like Mr. Brown, who's going to marry her."

"Is this a fast train?" asked a passenger who was tired of sitting at a station at which the train was not supposed to stop. "Of course it is," was the guard's reply. "I thought so. Would you mind me getting out to see what it is fast to?"

THE GOLF GIRL.

*She said: "I am a-weary;
I cannot make my bed,
Nor help with the preserving,
Nor dust my room," she said.*

*And, leaping from the hammock,
She seized her bag of sticks,
And did the eighteen holes in just
Exactly ninety-six.*

SO DID HE.

*She loved a young newspaper man,
And frankly said: "I must confess
Whenever he is by my side
I quite enjoy my evening press."*

MID PLEASURES AND PALACES

THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME

JANUARY-1910.

PRUDENT MEN CHOOSE FRUGAL WIVES.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

Choice bulbs and valuable plants should be protected from frost and heavy rain. Roses, vines, clematis, honeysuckle, and other climbing plants should be trained. When the weather is open plant any bulbs, such as anemones and tulips, that may remain unplanted, and sow early frame peas, common beans, lettuce, onions, carrots, curly parsley, and spinach.

THE EARTHQUAKE AT MESSINA.

THE SICILIAN EARTHQUAKE.

ON December 28, 1908, a terrible earthquake devastated a large part of Sicily. Most of the coast towns on both sides of the Strait of Messina were destroyed, including Messina itself. About 75,000 lives were lost, while the destruction of property was enormous. The King and Queen of Italy hurried to the scene, and personally supervised the measures taken for the relief of the sufferers. This catastrophe was the greatest of its kind ever recorded in history, on account not only of its extent, but its appalling results.

LOVELY WOMAN!

HERE is a bouquet of compliments: "There are but two fine things in the world," says Malherbe, "women and roses." Lessing exclaims, "Woman is the masterpiece of the universe." Bourdon says, "The pearl is the image of purity, but woman is purer than the pearl." Thackeray writes, "A good woman is the loveliest flower that blooms under heaven." Balzac says, "Even the errors of woman spring from her faith in the good." Voltaire declares, "All the reasonings of men are not worth one sentiment of woman." Lamartine asserts that "women have more heart and imagination than men." Otway exclaims, "O woman! lovely woman! Nature made thee to temper man; we had been brutes without you." To which Mark Twain adds, "But for you we should be nothing, for we should not be here."

*In water is tremendous power
When harnessed and in proper gear:
One drop of it will wonders work
When it's a pretty woman's tear.*

"HOME, SWEET HOME."

IT is a pathetic fact that John Howard Payne, the composer of the immortal song "Home, Sweet Home," never had a home, in any real sense of the word, after his boyhood. It was in London, with the broad ocean between him and his country, that he wrote the song by which he will ever be remembered. He never married; he was a wanderer all his life, and he died, as he had lived, in a foreign land. This was at Tunis, where he was United States Consul, in 1852. His body was interred there, but in 1883 the United States Government brought it to Washington—and gave it its final resting-place.

CURSES IN STONE.

PERHAPS it is the virtue supposed to be inherent in writing which explains the frequent occurrence of anathemas in ancient inscriptions. Among those cited by M. Berger, there are few that do not end in a curse. Thus, in the temple of Byblos, we find, "Whosoever, whether he be king or common man, shall add to the work of this altar and the porch which is over against it . . . may the great Baalath of Byblos destroy that man and his posterity from off the face of the earth!" Perhaps the reader may prefer the inscription on the Palmyra synagogue, "The Lord shall take away from thee all the evil plagues of Egypt which thou knowest, and shall smite thine adversaries with them." Here, again, is an epitaph in Nabathean or Aramaean characters: "This is the tomb which Sidon has built. May Dusares and Menat and Qeis curse the man who shall sell it, or buy it, or pledge it or lend it!"

CHATSWORTH HOUSE.

A DUCAL PALACE.

CHATSWORTH, the palatial seat of the Duke of Devonshire, is pleasantly situated on the Derwent, in Derbyshire, near the villages of Bakewell and Edensor. The building, which is almost a square surrounding a quadrangle, is of Ionic style, and presents a fine appearance from the river. Part of it is of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, and part dates from 1820. There are a fine library, some beautiful wood carvings, paintings by some of the old masters, and sculptures. The park and garden are about twelve miles in circumference. The latter contains a great conservatory covering an acre of ground. This conservatory suggested the idea of the great building now known as the Crystal Palace, in which the International Exhibition of 1851 was housed.

PRESERVING ONE'S YOUTH.

THE woman who desires a nice skin and a clear complexion must be just as careful of the food she eats as she is of the clothes she wears. Errors of diet often produce either stoutness or thinness, and a sallow skin with pimples may come from the same cause.

The substitution of milk and cocoa for tea, coffee, and alcoholic drinks, and taking only light, easily digested food, avoiding richly spiced and highly seasoned dishes, with fresh air and exercise, will do much towards promoting a clear skin and preserving one's youth.

If a woman will properly care for the health of her body and mind she may avoid growing old. To the woman who, by right thoughts and correct living, has preserved an attractive serenity of countenance, old age has no terrors. We must try to keep young in our hearts. In this way we shall be counted young.

"CALLER HERRIN'."

THIS ever-popular song was written by Lady Nairne, who was a contemporary of Burns and a member of an old Jacobite family. Her father, Laurence Oliphant, of Gask, followed Prince Charlie through the '45, and never spoke of King George otherwise than as the Elector of Hanover. She married Captain Nairne, afterwards Lord Nairne, in 1806. No one was ever more afraid of a literary reputation than Lady Nairne. Her best songs appeared first in Smith's Scottish Minstrel in 1824, under the assumed initials of "B. B.," and so closely was her secret guarded that even the publisher and editor of that work were unaware of the personality of their contributor. The best known of her songs in the present day are "Caller Herrin'" and "The Laird o' Cockpen," whose popularity never seems to wane.

A CITY OF WOMEN.

THE queerest city in the world is called Kang Harm, and is the home of the Royal Family of Siam. This city's queerness consists in its being a city composed of women and children alone. It is in the centre of Bangkok, has high walls around it, and in its population of 9,000 there is not a single man except the King, who occasionally pays it a visit.

The name of Kang Harm means "veiled woman." There are ships, markets, temples, theatres, streets and avenues, parks, lakes, trees and flower gardens, a hall of justice, judges and executioner, police, generals and soldiers—all, from first to last, women. The city is securely guarded night and day not only against men but against any unauthorised females who may seek to enter.

THE KING AND QUEEN IN BERLIN.

THE KING AND QUEEN IN BERLIN.

ON February 9, 1909, King Edward and Queen Alexandra arrived in Berlin on a visit to the German Emperor, and received a great popular welcome. On the following day the King visited the Rathhaus, the seat of civic government in Berlin, where he was received by the municipal authorities, and on the evening of the same day he attended a State Ball given at the Palace in honour of the Royal visitors. After fulfilling numerous other engagements, the King and Queen left Berlin for London on February 12. Nothing could have exceeded the cordiality of their reception, not only by their imperial nephew the Emperor, but by the people of Berlin.

THE HANDKERCHIEF AS A LOVE TOKEN.

IN Egypt the handkerchief was counted as an amulet, and among the Moors as a love token. Grecian women appear on their vases, musing pensively with a large cloth in the right hand, and among the Romans the utilitarian use of handkerchiefs was deplored by Juvenal. With Elizabeth of England the handkerchief, like all articles of the toilet, was much to be considered, and was trimmed with lace and decked with embroidery. Tiny squares of finest lawn, finely wrought, edged with gold lace and folded neatly, were made purposely for love tokens, and were given by Court ladies to their lovers, who wore the dainty tokens in their hats. The use made of the handkerchief in Shakespeare's tragedy of "Othello," the Moor of Venice, is, no doubt, familiar to all our readers.

"THE DEATH OF NELSON."

THIS immortal and inspiring song was written by S. J. Arnold, of whom little is known, and was composed by John Braham, a celebrated tenor vocalist, who, by his impressive singing of it, at once made it famous. John Braham, whose real name was Abraham, was born in London of Jewish parents, and made his début at Covent Garden in 1787. After studying on the Continent for some years he re-appeared at Covent Garden, and composed the music of his own part for several operas. His subsequent career was one of continuous success. He composed numerous songs and duets, many of which have retained their popularity to the present day.

CHILDREN DEMAND REASONS.

No mother should think it lowering her dignity to stop and give a reason to her children for her actions.

Let the mother put herself in her children's place. Would she feel like obeying cheerfully many commands that seem to be given only to interfere with one's pleasure, and which seem unnecessary and unimportant?

The fact that a mother will explain to her children her reasons and treat her children as though they had some rights, will win a quicker and happier response, and secure prompt obedience to an imperative command at other times when there is not opportunity for explanations.

Even the tiny little tot at the knees understands a great deal more than most mothers appreciate, and a reason stated simply and plainly will make clear many a question that might have proved a vexatious obstacle in the way of obedience.

LIEUTENANT SHACKLETON'S EXPEDITION TO THE SOUTH POLE.

AN ECCENTRIC LONDONER.

ABRAHAM NEWLAND, who was born in 1730 and died in 1807, was one of the twenty-five children of a Buckinghamshire miller. Having, by a piece of good fortune, obtained a junior clerkship in the Bank of England, he rose, by dint of extraordinary aptitude and assiduity, to be chief cashier of the "Old Lady of Threadneedle Street."

This appointment carried with it official apartments in the Bank, and such was his conscientiousness, and his sense of responsibility of his position, that for the remaining twenty-five years of his life he never took a single holiday and never once slept out of the Bank. His only relaxation was a daily drive to Highbury and a daily walk along Highbury Place, to which spot he was mysteriously attached.

By his extraordinarily frugal habits and his acumen in speculation he amassed a fortune of £200,000. He only lived two months after his retirement, the wrench of giving up his duties at the Bank having been too much for him. To a woman who had at one time been his landlady he left £60,000, and she evinced her gratitude by placing over his grave in Southwark Cathedral the meanest of mean tablets.

"COMIN' THROUGH THE RYE."

THE sprightliness and naïveté of this simple little song have made it one of the most popular of all Scottish lyrics. There are many versions of it, and it is not known who was the original author or composer. Burns threw the spell of his genius around it, as he did with many another old Scotch song, but the version which appears in his poems is not the one that is usually sung.

"COME BACK TO ERIN."

THIS famous song was written by Mrs. Barnard, known to the public by her pen-name of "Claribel." She was born in 1830, and between 1858 and 1869 she published some hundreds of ballads, many of which attained an extraordinary degree of popularity at the time. In the present day she is remembered chiefly by the charming ballad "Come back to Erin"—a song whose popularity, it is safe to say, will never wane.

AN ANTARCTIC EXPEDITION.

ON March 23, 1909, Lieutenant Shackleton returned to New Zealand, having reached to within 111 miles of the South Pole. Lieutenant Shackleton is an Irishman by birth. He took to the sea at an early age, and voyaged to many parts of the world. Joining the Union-Castle Line, he had begun to make steady progress in that service when he was appointed to Captain Scott's antarctic expedition in 1900. The experience thus gained was of inestimable advantage to him in his own expedition, and enabled him to get 340 miles nearer the Pole than any previous explorer. On his arrival in this country Lieut. Shackleton was entertained by the Royal Geographical Society and other learned bodies.

A CURIOUS WILL.

NOR long ago the death was announced of the famous General Wistar, who had for years suffered from ankylosis (immobility of the joint) of the right arm, owing to a gunshot wound. It was found that he had left the damaged limb to the Wistar Institute of Anatomy and Biology, which he founded. He also bequeathed to the same institution his brain and above £400,000 in cash.

ZEPPELIN II. IN FLIGHT

THE ZEPPELIN AIR-SHIP.

ON May 29th, 1909, the airship Zeppelin II., with Count Zeppelin on board, ascended from Friedrichshafen with the object of undertaking a long voyage. On the 31st, after a thirty-six hours' journey of nearly 900 miles against contrary winds, the airship descended at Goppingen, in order to replenish the stock of petrol. In doing so, it collided with a tree and its bows were seriously damaged. On the following day, after temporary repairs, the Zeppelin II. commenced its return journey and descended at Laupheim, forty miles from Friedrichshafen. On June 2nd it completed its return journey and landed at Friedrichshafen. This constitutes the most remarkable airship voyage on record, and Count Zeppelin was warmly congratulated by the German Emperor on his achievement. Since the above date many other successful voyages have been accomplished by Count Zeppelin.

A REMARKABLE PLANT.

ONE of the most remarkable plants known to botanists is the drinking orchid, which is found in South America. This orchid takes a drink whenever it feels thirsty, by means of a tube which it lets down into the water. The tube when not in use is coiled up on the top of the plant. The formation of the orchid is different from others of its species, having sharp leaves, lance-head shaped, growing round the root and radiating from it. From the centre of the plant hangs a tube, an inch wide. When touched it gradually contracts and rolls itself up in a spiral coil. As a rule these orchids are to be found growing directly over the water or where water has been.

"THE ASH GROVE."

"THE Ash Grove" was composed by John Parry, who was born in 1776 and died in 1851. Parry printed "A Selection of Welsh Melodies," and included this air in it. Some years afterwards Mr. Charles Mathews sang the air on the stage with great success, and Parry then claimed it as his own composition. He was too honourable a man to make such a claim had it not been really his own, and it was universally conceded that this beautiful and popular air was his creation. But for this avowal, "The Ash Grove" might still have been passing for an ancient Welsh melody, as many other melodies of no greater antiquity continue to do.

THE MODERN VERSION.

"WHERE are you going, my pretty maid?"
 "I'm going a-milking, sir," she said.
 "Dear maiden, I'd like to disclose the fact
 That I'm an inspector under the Act.
 So pray remain, for I want to know
 A thing or two before you go.
 Nay, pretty maiden, you must not weep;
 How far away are the pigs you keep?
 And what percentage of butter-fat
 Does your moo-cow yield? Pray tell me that.
 And how is the health of your pretty pet?
 Has it anthrax, cancer, blackleg, garget,
 Has your sister measles or whooping-cough?
 Is the water clean in the drinking-trough?
 I pray thee answer these questions of fact,
 For I'm an inspector under the Act.
 With the fierce bacilli also I cope
 By means of my powerful microscope.
 Excuse me, I must examine your hand.
 Purely official, you'll understand."

The nob'er the blood the less the pride.

A NAVAL REVIEW AT SPITHEAD.

A NAVAL PAGEANT.

ON Saturday, June 12, 1909, the delegates to the Imperial Press Conference were the guests of the Admiralty, who held a Naval Review in their honour at Spithead. The force assembled comprised more than half the effective force of the Navy. The total numbers in the various classes were: battleships, 24; armoured cruisers, 16; second-class cruisers, 5; scouts and small cruisers, 7; special service ships, 9; torpedo-boat destroyers, 48; and submarines, 35—a total of 144 pennants, making a length, if arranged in one line, of nearly twenty miles of ships! It was certainly a fine display of concrete force, and in spite of adverse weather was most imposing.

The delegates afterwards witnessed a naval attack on the Gunnery School arranged for their entertainment by the officers of H.M.S. Excellent. The display was intensely realistic, demonstrating the methods of landing naval parties, and depicting all the details of a real engagement without its accompanying horrors.

THE KING AND QUEEN OF NORWAY.

AMONGST the most popular of royal personages must be placed Haakon VII. and Queen Maud of Norway. Both are closely connected with our Royal Family, Queen Maud being the daughter of our King and Queen, and King Haakon the nephew of our Queen. Called unexpectedly to the throne in November, 1905, when the union of Norway with Sweden was dissolved, King Haakon has admirably fulfilled his duties as a constitutional monarch, while Queen Maud has won all hearts by her ready sympathy and charm of manner. The young heir to the throne, Prince Olaf, fully shares in the popularity of his parents.

"THE BAY OF BISCAY."

THE music of this stirring song was composed by John Davy, who was born in 1777, and began his musical career in the orchestra of Covent Garden Theatre. His ability for composition soon became known, and, in addition to publishing vocal quartets, madrigals and sonatas, he was engaged to supply music for several dramatic pieces. After upwards of twenty years of such employment he died in St. Martin's Lane, London, February 22, 1824. Many of Davy's songs gained much popularity at the time, although they have now passed out of remembrance, but "The Bay of Biscay" retains—and will probably long retain—its place in public favour. There can be no doubt that his immense application to work cut short his life. For many years his industry was so great that he barely gave himself the necessary time for eating and sleeping. The inevitable result was that he died at a comparatively early age.

HAVE FUN AT HOME.

DON'T be afraid of a little fun at home. Don't shut your house lest the sun should fade your carpets, and your hearts lest a hearty laugh shake down some musty old cobwebs there. If you wish to ruin your sons, let them think that all mirth and social enjoyment must be left on the threshold without when they come home at night. Young people must have fun and relaxation somewhere. If they do not find it at their own hearthstones it will be sought at other less profitable places. Therefore, make the homestead delightful with all those little arts which parents so perfectly understand, and children appreciate.

GUERNSEY HARBOUR AND ST. PETERS.

ST. PIERRE, GUERNSEY.

PORT ST. PIERRE, the chief town of Guernsey, in the Channel Islands, has a magnificent harbour, a school founded by Queen Elizabeth with scholarships to various Oxford colleges, a thirteenth-century church, a ladies' college, and a good market. Guernsey is about twenty-eight miles from the French coast, and has an excellent climate. It is the residence of a Lieutenant-Governor, and has a somewhat oligarchical constitution. The land is mostly held by peasant proprietors, and the old Norman law prevails.

A STORY IN A.

ADOLPH, an Austrian artisan, adored Anna, an aristocrat. And Anna adored Adolph. Another aristocrat, Alfred, an ambassador, adored Anna. Anna abhorred Alfred. Alfred addressed Anna, admitting admiration. Anna assumed amazement. Alfred abjured Anna. Anna admonished Alfred. Alfred adopted aggressiveness. Alfred's audacity alarmed Anna. Alfred attempted abducting Anna.

Anna, afraid and agitated, acquainted Adolph. Adolph accused Alfred. Alfred, angered, abused Adolph awfully. Adolph answered Alfred. Alfred attacked Adolph. Anna, aghast, aided Adolph. Adolph and Anna almost annihilated Alfred. Alfred abdicated absolutely. Anna accepted Adolph. Adolph and Anna abruptly absconded and abandoned Austria altogether, arriving at Antwerp, and always abiding abroad afterwards. Adieu, Anna and Adolph!

"THE MEN OF HARLECH."

HARLECH is a small town in Merionethshire, on the coast, about ten miles north of Barmouth. During the Wars of the Roses its fourteenth-century castle held out against the Yorkists, but in 1468, after a stubborn resistance, it was forced to surrender. This siege is said to have given rise to the Welsh national air, "The March of the Men of Harlech," whose stirring martial strains are everywhere popular. The song was written by a Welsh poet named John Jones, who was born in 1810 and died in 1869.

SEEKING A HUSBAND.

THE Japanese girl who desires to marry does not hesitate to inform the public of her desire. She seeks the aid of the newspaper advertisement columns, and has been known to insert an advertisement after the following manner:

"I understand I am a pretty girl with abundant hair, flower-like face, perfect eyebrows, and a good figure. I have money enough to take life easily and to enable me to spend my years with some beloved man who will ever be my companion, and who can admire the flowers with me by day and the moon by night. If any clever, accomplished, handsome, and fastidious gentleman is disposed to accept this offer, I can assure him that I will be true to him for life; and that, after life is over, I will be ready to be buried with him in one grave."

PRESENTATION OF COLOURS BY THE KING TO THE TERRITORIALS.

TARA'S HALLS.

THE hill of Tara, which is situated in County Meath, Ireland, about six miles south east of Navan, is the site of the capital and palace of the early Irish kings, and a noted seat of learning. It was in the great temple at Tara that St. Patrick preached the Gospel of Christianity to the Druids, and converted them with the king and people to the true faith. With Christianity the Irish people received the knowledge of letters, and learning began to flourish so much that students from all parts of the Continent flocked to the Irish schools. Hence Tara stands for all that is noblest and best in the ancient history of Ireland. On this spot Daniel O'Connell held a monster meeting on August 15th, 1843, when the associations of the place and his own eloquence moved the people to great enthusiasm.

THE KING AND THE TERRITORIALS.

ON June 19, 1909, the King presented colours to his Territorial regiments at Windsor Castle. After the prayer of consecration the detachments from the various regiments marched up towards the King in quick succession, while the bands played stirring tunes. As each reached His Majesty, the appropriate colours were advanced, the King touched them, and they were carried by the colour party round the hollow square to their own detachment. When the presentation was over, every colour party faced the troops, and the new colours, escorted by men with fixed bayonets, were saluted for the first time by their own detachments. Three hearty cheers for the King, followed by a Royal salute, brought the ceremony to a close.

THE QUEEN OF HOLLAND.

QUEEN WILHELMINA of the Netherlands, whose portrait forms our frontispiece, was born in 1880, and succeeded her late father, King William III., when she was a child of 10. During her minority the Queen-Mother, Emma, Princess of Waldeck and Pyrmont, and sister of the Duchess of Albany, administered the affairs of the nation as Regent, with much acceptance. On February 7, 1901, Queen Wilhelmina married H.R.H. Prince Henry of Mecklenburg, and on April 30, 1909, she gave birth to a daughter, in whom are centred the hopes of the House of Nassau and of the people of the Netherlands. Had it not been for this gratifying and long-wished-for event the succession would have passed to a German branch of the family, and Holland would have become practically a German State.

"THE OLD FOLKS AT HOME."

WHEN the late Sir Edwin Arnold was travelling in America he was one day passing through the State of Georgia, and happened to ask the conductor of the train the name of a certain river which lay in front of the track. Quite carelessly he answered, "That's the Suwanee River, mister." The Suwanee River! "In a moment," said Sir Edwin, "the stream had for me a new and extraordinary interest. In an instant the song that all the world knows and sings, "'Way down upon de Swanee Riber,' appeared to be in everything around. The trees seemed to wave it in the evening air, the stream seemed to sing it as it bustled over the rocks. I had come to a corner of America dedicated to that deep emotion of our common humanity—the love of home."

"HERE A SHEER HULK LIES POOR TOM BOWLING,
THE DARLING OF OUR CREW,
NO MORE HE'LL HEAR THE TEMPEST HOWLING,
FOR DEATH HAS BROACHED HIM TO."

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

Plant hyacinths in the first week if possible. Procure and plant any choice flowering shrubs. Keep all young plants clean and free from slugs, and keep the plants in the pit or window constantly free from dead leaves and mouldiness. This is the best month for transplanting, but do not transplant or prune during frosty weather - dull mild weather is the best.

ASSASSINATION OF SIR WILLIAM CURZON WYLIE AT THE IMPERIAL INSTITUTE.

AN INDIAN'S CRIME.

A COLD-BLOODED and senseless murder of a distinguished Indian official took place at the Imperial Institute on July 1, 1909. At the close of an "At Home" given by the National Indian Association, a young Indian student named Dhingra walked up to Sir William Curzon Wylie and fired six shots at him from a revolver. Sir William fell dead, and one of the shots also killed a Parsee visitor, Dr. Lalca. The murderer was prominently associated with the Indian disaffection movement in this country, but the great body of Indian students expressed abhorrence at the crime.

THE WATCH AS A COMPASS.

ALL watches can be used as compasses. Point the hour hand to the sun, and south is exactly halfway between the hour and the figure XII on the watch. For instance, suppose that it is four o'clock: Point the hand indicating four to the sun, and II on the watch is exactly south. Suppose that it is eight o'clock: point the hand indicating eight to the sun, and the figure X on the watch is due south. This knowledge may often be useful.

CURIOUS AMETHYSTS.

An amethyst found in North Carolina many years ago was originally shaped like a turtle, and it is supposed to have been the handiwork of prehistoric carvers. In an effort to improve on the work and make the turtle more perfect, the gem was ruined. It is a singular fact that there are amethysts which will change colour with the weather. If the day be clear and sunny the amethyst will be perfectly clear, but on a cloudy day it changes to a dark muddy colour.

"TOM BOWLING."

CHARLES DIBDIN, the author of "Tom Bowling," was emphatically the sailors' poet. He is said to have written over a thousand sea-songs, many of which are still popular. Not only was he a poet and a musical composer, but he was an actor, a vocalist, a playwright, and proprietor and manager of a theatre. He was also the author of a "History of the English Stage," in five volumes. It may safely be said that, when all his other works are forgotten, "Tom Bowling" will still be sung in every English-speaking country.

WHEN SUCCESS IS A FAILURE.

WHEN you have lost on your way up to fortune your self-respect, your courage, your self-control, or any other quality of manhood.

When the hunger for more money, more land, more houses and property has grown to be your dominant passion.

When it has dwarfed you mentally and morally, and robbed you of the spontaneity and enthusiasm of youth.

When it has made you a physical wreck, a victim of "nerves" and moods.

When it has hardened you to the needs and sufferings of others.

When it has alienated your friends.

MOTHERS OF GREAT COMPOSERS.

SCHUMANN'S mother was gifted with music.

Gounod's mother was fond of painting and music.

Chopin's mother, like himself, was very delicate.

Spohr's mother was an excellent judge of music, but no musician.

GARDENING

FOR THE MONTH.
Plant and prune all sorts of bushes and trees. In pruning roses, remove the old wood, curtail the young straggling branches, adding good store of manure. Cut down any decayed flowers, and dig the borders, taking care not to injure the bulbs. Keep all winter crops free from dead leaves. Inspect the fruit in the storeroom at regular and frequent intervals.

THE OLD VILLAGE, SHANKLIN, I.W.

SHANKLIN, ISLE OF WIGHT.

SHANKLIN is universally acknowledged to be one of the prettiest little seaside towns in the United Kingdom. Mr. Clement Scott says of it, "There is no cool green corner in the island like Shanklin. Its wonderful variety, its woods and streams and brooks and picturesque houses, give it the prize unquestionably for beauty."

By far the most picturesque part of Shanklin is the Old Village, shown in our illustration. The thatched roofs and quaint white fronts of the Shanklin of bygone days have been wonderfully well preserved, and have a delightful environment of rusticity. A few hundred yards up the hill is the red-slated old church, which dates from the fourteenth century, and is well worthy of inspection.

WILL YOU NOTE?

THAT absence of occupation is not rest.

That a little duty cures a lot of doubt.

That the truth which does not liberate you enslaves you.

That prayer is a way from anxiety, but not from activity.

That hardship is often the name that happiness puts on her door.

That late hours are a frequent cause of the appearance of premature wrinkles.

That you cannot expect admiration if you never take any trouble to deserve it.

That if you really care for a person you will not say unkind things to or of them.

That every unselfish thought sends a lasting fragrance into the whole moral atmosphere of the world in which we live.

"AULD LANG SYNE."

Not only in Scotland, but wherever the English tongue is spoken, "Auld Lang Syne" is the favourite parting song of convivial company. Its sentiments have captured all hearts, and its emotions are the natural expression of a universal feeling. Carlyle says of the author, Robert Burns, "He shows himself a poet of Nature's own making; and Nature, after all, is still the grand agent in making poets. A Scottish peasant's life was the meanest and rudest of all lives, until Burns became a poet in it and a poet of it; found it a man's life, and therefore significant to men."

NOT A FAILURE.

Some years ago there died a distinguished poet, ill tended in a hospital. Rich in fame, he was poor in all else. Though he had not wherewithal to live in ease, his name was known from end to end of the civilised world. And not long before his death a worthy lady, who had known him in other days and whose ideals of success were not his, came upon his name in a newspaper.

Assured, good soul, that advertisement meant prosperity, she wrote in a letter this immortal phrase: "I am so glad to hear you have got on so nicely."

Had she seen him, poor and ill kempt, she would have shuddered at his state; and yet, without knowing it, she had told the truth.

For the poet "had got on nicely." Poverty was no check upon his triumph. He had set out not to make money, but to sing songs, and no accident of fate could involve him in failure. He was not a failure.

REGISTERS OF BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, AND DEATHS.

Copies of these are kept at Somerset House, and may be searched on payment of a fee of one shilling. If a certified copy of any entry be required, the charge for that, in addition to the shilling for the search, is two shillings and sevenpence, which includes a penny for stamp duty. The registers contain an entry of births, deaths, and marriages since 1st July, 1837. Copies can always be obtained from the Registrar for the district, or the Superintendent Registrar who has the custody of the registers (including those of persons married at the churches) when filed.

MARRIAGES.

In the case of marriage by banns, if the contracting parties reside in different parishes the publication must be made in the church of each parish for three consecutive Sundays. If three months be permitted to elapse after the third time of publication, the banns become useless, and the parties must either obtain a licence or submit to the republication of the banns. Civil marriages can be performed before a duly licensed Registrar.
