Served in the expedition to the Soudan in 1885 with the 1st Battalion of the Coldstream Guards, and was present in the engagement at Hasheem, at that near Tofrek on the 24th March, and at the destruction of Temai (Clasp).

with the Boers. On the 27th October, 1899, Captain FitzClarence led his squadron from Mafeking across the open, and made a night attack with the bayonet on one of the enemy's trenches. A hand-to-hand fight took place in the trench, while a heavy fire was concentrated on it from the rear. The enemy was driven out with heavy loss. Captain FitzClarence was the first man into the position and accounted for four of the enemy with his sword. The British lost 6 killed and 9 wounded. With reference to these two actions, Major General Baden-Powell states that had this Officer not shown an extraordinary spirit and fearlessness, the attacks would have been failures, and we should have suffered heavy loss both in men and prestige. On the 25th December, 1899, during the action at Game Tree, near Mafeking, Captain FitzClarence again distinguished himself by his coolness and courage, and was again wounded (severely through both legs)."

¹ Colonel Pilcher served in the operations on the Niger in 1837-98, and commanded the expedition to Lapai and Argeyah (mentioned in despatches, Brevet of Lt.Colonel, Medal with Clasp). In August 1898 he received the special thanks of Her Majesty's Government, conveyed through the Colonial Secretary, for services in connection with the raising of the West African Frontier Force. Served in the South African war in 1899-1900 in command of the 3rd Regiment of Mounted Infantry; commanded the expeditions to Sunnyside and Douglas in January 1902; took part in the march to and relief of Kimberley, in the operations at Paardeburg of 24th to 27th February including the surrender of General Cronjé, in the engagements at Poplar Grove and Driefontein, the occupation of Bloemfontein, the engagement at Sanna's Post (mentioned in despatches), the march to Pretoria, the engagement at Diamond Hill, the advance to Balmoral in July and to Rustenburg and Warmbaths in August, and numerous minor engagements (appointed Aide de Camp to the King and Colonel, CB).

Some delay occurring in the execution of the orders issued, Captain the Honourable Ronald Campbell, Coldstream Guards, followed by Lieutenant Lysons, Aide de Camp, and Private Fowler, ran forward in the most determined manner, and advanced over a mass of fallen boulders, and between walls of rock, which led to a cave in which the enemy lay hidden. It being impossible for two men to walk abreast the assailants were consequently obliged to keep in single file, and as Captain Campbell was leading, he arrived first at the mouth of the cave, from which the Zulus were firing, and there met his death; Lieutenant Lysons and Private Fowler, who were following close behind him, immediately dashed at the cave, from which led several subterranean passages, and firing into the chasm below, succeeded in forcing the occupants to forsake their stronghold. Lieutenant Lysons remained at the cave's mouth for some minutes after the attack, during which time Captain Campbell's body was carried down the slopes." ¹ Sir George White served with the 27th Regiment on the North West Frontier during the Indian mutiny in 1857-59 (Medal). Served with the 92nd Highlanders in the Afghan war in 1879-80, and was present in the engagement at Charasiah on the 6th October 1879, and in the various operations around Cabul in December 1879, including the investment of Sherpore; was also present in the engagement at Charasiah on the 25th April 1880; accompanied Sir Frederick Roberts in the march to Candahar, and was present at the reconnaissance of 31st August and at the battle of Candahar (frequently mentioned in despatches,revet of Lt. Colonel, CB., Victoria Cross, Medal with three Clasps, and British Decoration); was awarded the VC "for conspicuous bravery during the engagement at Charasiah on the 6th October 1879, when, finding that the artillery and rifle fire failed to dislodge the enemy from a fortified hill which it was necessary to capture, Major White led an attack upon it in person. Advancing with two companies of his regiment, and climbing from one steep ledge to another, he came upon a body of the enemy, strongly posted, and outnumbering his force by about 8 to 1. His men being much exhausted, and immediate action being necessary, Major White took a rifle, and, going on by himself, shot the leader of the enemy. This act so intimidated the rest that they fled round the side of the hill, and the position was won. Again, on the 1st September 1880, at the battle of Candahar, Major White, in leading the final charge, under a heavy fire from the enemy, who held a strong position and were supported by two guns, rode straight up to within a few yards of them, and, seeing the guns, dashed forward and secured one, immediately after which the enemy retired." Served with the Nile Expedition in 1884-85, during the latter part of the time as Assistant Adjutant and Quarter Master General (Medal with Clasp, and Khedive's Star).
