Life Across the Seas

Here are three series of books which deal with countries and peoples across the seas. The author has, in each case, an intimate personal knowledge of his subject, and the result is not merely an encyclopædic collection of information, but an extremely valuable and graphic introduction to the everyday habits and mode of life of the various peoples; the home, industrial and religious life, the wealth and poverty, the social states of the different communities, all are dealt with in a masterly and intensely interesting manner.

THE TUTOR OF A ROYAL PRINCE

Tells of Lost Vigour Restored when all other Remedies failed.

The gravest care is always taken, and the most searching investigation made, in choosing anyone to whom is entrusted the education of a Prince of a Royal House. Such a tutor is expected to educate almost as much by the force of personal example as by rules and exercises. An onerous and important duty devolved upon Professor Arthur Dale, M.N.S.C., some time Private Instructor to Prince Alexander G. of Teck. The statement of that soldier carries with it a weight which admits of no question. Not only does the officer give the striking account of his own experience as to the extraordinary effect of Mer-Syren Powders, but he puts his experience into practice by introducing this marvellous restorative into the British Army. Read his words for yourself :—

The Mer-Syren Co.,
17, Cockspur Street, S.W.

Aldershot, November 23rd, 1909.

Dear Sirs,—As an Instructor to His Majesty's Forces at Aldershot, and Private Instructor to Prince Alexander G. of Teck, I have very great pleasure in testifying to the extraordinary tonic effect Mer-Syren Powders have on the system. After personally testing the Powders, I immediately decided to introduce them in the Army, and the effect on the general physique of every soldier who has followed my advice has been extraordinary. Mer-Syren Powders are marvellously effective in toning up the system, and the result of taking the Powders has, to my certain knowledge, been extremely beneficial in every case of NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA AND BILIOUSNESS, and has also restored lost vigour and health when every other remedy has failed.—Yours faithfully,

(Signed) ARTHUR DALE, M.N.S.C.

Mer-Syren Powders

The Instantaneous Remedy.

The World-Famed Natural Restorative.

A cure and a tonic. Contains no drugs. Absolutely tasteless and odourless. Not a purgative. Acts like a charm upon the digestive organs, restoring activity and vitality, and correcting all derangements. Upon the digestion depend the health and vigour of the whole body. If the digestion is right—flesh, bone, blood, nerve and brain work healthily and in harmony. Mer-Syren acts mechanically upon the organs of digestion and assimilation, washing them and toning them to natural activity.
