Wonderful Account

OF

Mr. George Spearing,

(A Lieutenant in the Nary,)
Who fell into a Ceal-Pit in Northwoodfide, near Glafyow; where he remained Seven Days and Seven Nights, without any other Support : than Rain Water.
AI SO,

The Surprifing manner of this Deliverance, with an Account of his Behaviour white in that melancholy fituation.

To which is added,
1 Hymn of Praife for his Deliverance.

Publifhed by himifelf, for the information of his Frierdsrand tie Public.

OR SCOTLAND  SDINEURG  FALKIRK :

. PRINTED BY T. JOHNSTON,

WONDERFUE AGGOUNT

Lieuteriant GEORGE SPEARING.

ON Wednefday, Sept. 13. 1769, betweeni 3 and $4-0^{\circ}$ clock afternoon, I went into a-little woód, called North-woodfide, lituated between 2 and 3 miles to the norih-weft of Glafgow, with a feligh to gather a few hazel nuts. I had not been in the wood abave, 15 minutes, nor gather'd more than ten nuts, before I unfortunately fell into an old coal pit, exactly 5 I feet deep, which fiad been made through a folid rock. I was fome little time inlenfible. On recovering my recollection, I found myfelf fitting nearly as a taylor does at his work, tee blood fowing pretty faft from my mouth! I thought I had broken a blood-velfet, and, confequently, had not long to live but, to my itreat comfort, I foon difonvered that the blood proceedèd from a wound in my tongue, which Ifuppoled I had bitten in my fall. Looking at my watch, it was ten minuttes paft four; and getting up, I lurveryed my limbs, and, to my inexpreffible joy, found that not one of thent was broket. I was foon reconciled to my fitualivn, having from niy chîldiood tioought that Yomething very extraordifing was to happen to me in the caurfe of my life; and I thad not the leaf doubt of being relieved in the morning; for, the wood being but [mall?
and fituated near a populous city, it is nuch frequented, efpecially in the nut-feafon, and there are feveral foot-paths leading tbro it.

Night approached, when it began to rain, not in gentle Thowers, bat in torrents, fuch as is at the autumnal equinox. The pit was about 5 feet in diameter, but, not having been worked for leveral years, the fubterraneous paffages were choaked up, fo that I'was ex. poled to the rain, which continued, wito foratl, intermiffions, till the day of my releale, ane, in a very flibrt time $I$ was pll over wet.

In this confortlefs condition I endeavouret. to take fome repofe. A forked frich, which I found in the pit, I placed diagonatiy to the fide of it, which ferved alternately 10 fupport my head as a pillow, or my trody occafionallys. which was much bruifed; but, in the wiole time I renained here, I do not think that ever I flept an bour together. Having pafled a very difagreeable and tedious sight, I was bome what cheered with the appearavce of day-lights and the melody of a robin-redbreaft, that had perched direstly: over the mouth of the pirt; and this pretty little warbler contimed of sint my quarters every morning during my cont fonement; which I conftrued into a happyor men of my future deliverance; and I fincerely believe the truf I had in I'rovidence and the company of this little bird, contributed inuels to that ferenity of mind I conftantly enioyed. At the diftance of about a huundred yaits, in a Cirec time from the pit, there was a wnter mill; the miller's houfe was nearer to me, ard the road to the mill was ftill nearer: fo that I could frequently hear the horles going ors the road to and from the mill. Frequently 1 heard $M_{1 m m a n}$ voices; and I could diftinetly hear the ducks and hens about the miil. I made the beft ule of my. voice on every occafion; but it was to no manner of purpole; for the wind, which was conftantly high, blew in a lime from the mill to the pit, which eafily accounts for what: I heard; and, at the fance time, niy wice was carried the contrary way.

I cannot fay I fuffered much from hunger; after two or three days niy appetite cepafed, hut niy thirft was intolerable: and, though it almoft conflantly raiued, yet I could not, till the third or fourth day prelerve a drop of it, as the earth at the bottom of the pit fucked. it up as faft as it ran down. In this dittrefs I fucked my cloaths; but from them I could extract but little moifture. The thock I received in the fall, together with the diflocation of cone of one of my ribs, kept me, I imagine, in a corainual fever; I cantot otherwife accsint for iny fuftering fo much more from teirfthan I did from hunger. At Jaßt I difcovered the thigk bone of a phall almoll covered wis eith, whict, I was afterwards informed, fell inte the fit atount 18 years before me - I dug timp, and, the rarge end of io jutit a. savity thar= I fuppofe, wight contain a nuart. This the whter stadually drainechinto, but fo very Mover, that it whs a conflerable time helore I could dip à nut-fhetit full át a times, whith I empticd into the palm of my hand; and fo drank it. The water now begets fo increate pretty faff to that Ipvas glad to enlarge my refervoir, infomuch that, (Dm thenthe or 5 th day, I had a fufficieint fupply; and this water was certainly the prefervation of my life.

At the bottom of the pit there were great quantities of reptiles, foch as frogs; toads, large back foals, or \{uss, exc. The fe maxiBus creataresw quldifequenty crawl about me, and often got into my reservoir; nexerthelels, I thought it lie fweetelt water I Jradever tatted aud, at tho diftance of time, the remembrance of it is fo fret, that, were if row peffibie th colin any of it, I am fare I could fivalow it with avidity. I have frequently taken both frogs and toads out of pry reek, where, If foppole, they took feeler while Inept- Tie toads I always deflroyed, but the frogs I carefully preferved, as I did not know but I might he under the neceffity of eating thenf; which r Should not have scrupled to bave doric, Mat. If been very hungry.

Saturday, the Goth, there fell crithateratos, and I had the fatisfaction to hear ihs rates a fore boys in the wood. Immediately I cooled cut with all my mights, bit it was all in vain? tho: I afterwords learned that they actually held mo; but, being prepoffefed with bastion flory of a wild mem heine it tine wood, the ryan away aftightict.

Sundays the ty sh, was my hipthonath, when I completed my frt yen ; and 1 (think it why the next cay that fore of my accualirtarice. -have acuidenty heard that I had gone the way

I did, fent two or three porters out purcofely to fearch the pits for me. Thefe men went to the miller'shoufe, and made enquiry for me; but, on account of the very great rain at the time, they never entered the wood, bit cruelly returned to their employers, telling then they had fearched the pit, and that I was not to be found. Many people in my difmal fituation would, no doubt, have died with defpair; but, I thank God, I enjoyed a perfect ferewity of mind; fo much fo, that on 'the Tuefday-afiernoon, and when I had been fix nights in the pit, I very compofedly, by way of amulement, fell to combing my wig on my' knee, humming. a fune, and thinking on Archer ith the play called the Beaux Stratarem.

At length the morning (Sept. 20.) the happ moming for my deliverabice, came! a day that while my-memory lafts, I will al ways celebrate with rुratitude to Heaven! 'Thro' the brambles and buthes that covered the mouth of rie pit, I could-difcover the fun Ahining bright, and my pretty túrbier was chanting his melodious ftratns, when my attention was rouzed by a confufed roile of human soices, which feemed tol be approacing faft towards the pit. Immediarely. I called cut, and riont agieeabiy' fur= hifed feveral of my àcquantance, who were (in) fearch of mé? As loon as tiey heard my to Sice, they all run towards the pit, and I could dillizguith well knomn voice čxclam, "Good Cod? lie is atill living?" Another of thenz. a very honelt North-Briton, betwixt his fur: prife and joy, could nothetp alking me, in the Hibernian fikle, if I was ftll living? I catted out that I was, and hearty too; jand then gave them particular directions how to proceed in getting me wht.

Fortunately, at that juncture, a Collier belonging to a working pit in the nsighbourtood, was paltig along the road, and hearing the untutal noife in the wood, curiofty led him to enguire into the carff of it; by his affinance, and a rope from the mils, I was foon fafely landed on terra jirme (contivent or main land). Tlie miller's wife very kindly brought fome milk ivarm from the cow; but, on my coming into the frefh air, I grew faint, and could not tafle it. Need I be afhamed to acknowledge, that the firt diclates of my heart prompted me to fall on ny knees, and ejaculate way thankif. giving to the God of my deliverance, fince, at this difeat time, I never think of it but the tear of gratitude farts from my eye?

Every morning white I was in the pit, I tied a knot in the corner of my handkerchief, fuppofing that, if I died there, and nyy body fhould be afterwards found, the nimber of the knots wonld-certify how many days 7 bad lived Almoft the firf queftion my friends afked me was, How long I bad been in the pit? I immediately drey my handkerchief from niy pocket, and defired them 10 eount the knots; on which they found 7, the exace nu tiber of nights I had keen there.

- I was conveyed home, and every mean ưfed for ftrengthenting iny limbs, which were innch benumbed with she damp and coldnefo of the pit; but, throw the ignorance of my phyficians, a mortification feized both my feet, by which the Akin and all the nails of my left foot, and three from ray right foot, came of l like a glove. Tic fleth at the bottoms of my foot being feprated from the bones, I had it cut off; and it was $y$ months offer before I recovered. Shave fiance been the fatter of 9 children.

${ }^{4}$. G. Spearing's Hymn of Praife.

Almighty God! woo, on this day, Div life from neat didft fave, To The I now prefune to pray, And funcre bluffing craves
Ob! grant I ever jury confers. Thy gocidels flexing to me; With grate rut heart and tongue express The praife that's clue to these. While in tope dreary pit. I lay, Wy ide thou didifh fuffrians:

- Aid, to my comfort, I may fay, Thou savior refrefling valine,
Titis, by providential care
Is ic o than ass rid made known.
- Ane reeckes us to Jun difpair; Tor thor art God alone.
The to finite my life thou diff preferce.
2 C db! trad me bow to lives.

 Thy Saviour, Go, ma, King.

