THE influence of poetry on mankind is confessedly great, particularly in the first stages of society. A people, the nearer they are to a primitive state, are always found the more susceptible of the inspiration of the muses. Unsophisticated manners engender bold and original conceptions, and these produce poetry characterized by natural, imaginary, graphic, and sublime descriptions, and an irresistible power over the passions. It is in this stage, that the song commemorative of prowess and moral worth has the effect of promoting and enlarging the virtues it celebrates.

The Highlanders have been highly distinguished among the Keltic race for a successful culture of the bardic science, and they possess very interesting remains of ancient composition.

Such portions of Gaelic poetry as have been published amply display its excellence: the poems of Ossian alone prove undeniably the poetical character of the people with whom those beautiful productions originated, and by whom they have been preserved, to be of a high order.

The compositions of different bards have been published either in whole or in part; and, although none could ever equal the renowned son of Fingal, many exhibit surprising talent and genius.

In order to meet the wishes of many of the most influential and patriotic noblemen and gentlemen connected with the Highlands, as well as to gratify the desire of the natives in general, the present work—being the “BEAUTIES” selected from the native bards, both ancient and modern, known and unknown to the public at large—is now undertaken.

From what he has already published, the qualifications of the Editor, it is believed, are well known to his countrymen. He has had peculiar facilities for the preparation of the present work. Pursuing the subject for many years,—he has traversed the Highlands in all directions, and has been fortunate enough to preserve many fine pieces, which, he has reason to believe, are now wholly lost among the people. Respecting the bards—he is in possession of a large collection of curious and interesting particulars, known to few others. An Introduction is also given which is devoted to a history of their privileges, and the influence of their compositions on the state of society.

The work comprises, besides the lives of the poets, and numerous illustrations and historical notes in the English language, the best pieces of ancient and modern composition, properly classified.

Besides the merit of the poetry, the utility of the work will be otherwise great. It will display the various provincial dialects, and the Glossary will be both interesting and instructive to the philologist and Gaelic Student; while the historian may consult the lives and notes with much advantage, the antiquary and philosopher will find much light thrown upon ancient manners by the whole, especially by the compositions of the CLiar-Sheana-Chain, or the Songsters of the ancient tax, a class of the improvisatori hitherto unnoticed, but who exercised great influence throughout the Highlands.

INTRODUCTION.

THOSE who compose the poems and melodies which stimulate or mollify the passions of mankind, possess a much greater influence in society than can be readily conceived.

If national airs, in ages of refinement and artificial feeling, are found to have so strong a power over the mind, as in the “Ranz des vaches,” or “Erin gu brath,” how much more forcibly must the bold chanting of heroic verse—the plaintive tones of injured innocence—the impressive notes of impassioned exhortation, or the keen touch of satiric spirit, have affected a people like the Gaël, imbued with all the fervour of unaffected nature, and who paid ardent devotion at the shrine of freedom? How highly must an order have been venerated, which possessed an influence, the effects of which were so deeply and so universally felt, and how greatly must the general applause have fanned the flame which burned so ardently in the poet’s heart? The deference paid to the professors of poetry and music, was prompted by a sense of the utility of their labours, and by enthusiastic approbation.

The retention of the Celtic Language and Manners by the unmixed descendants of the most ancient people of Europe, is a singular phenomenon in the history of mankind; and not the least remarkable trait in the character of the race, is their genius for the sister arts of poetry and music. The patriarchal system, as incompatible with an altered state of society, has been broken up, and much indeed of national characteristic has been lost since its abolition. The different condition of the Highland population has lowered the Bardic profession from its former high standing. The powerful stimulus of “the man of song,” is no longer required to animate the clansmen for the battle field, or to preserve by his captivating recitations, the memory of the days of old. His useful services as the Laureat, moral preceptor, and historical instructor, are not now rewarded by the free possession of a good farm, and other rights, but the innate love of poetry has still preserved the unbroken generation of Bards. The people yet highly appreciate the poet’s lays, and the feelings of unabated delight with which the Highlander continues to cherish the Song, show that the ancient spirit has not decayed.

The numerous collections of Gaëlic pieces which have from time to time appeared, evince the national taste, and display the poetical acquirements of the writers, but how small a proportion these bear to the stores yet floating in oral record, selections from which are now submitted to the public! The following pieces will give natives a more extended idea of the value of poetic treasure in their rugged and romantic country, while to the reader who is a stranger to the language in which the immortal Bard of Selma formed his imperishable compositions, the varied lives of so many remarkable and talented individuals, must prove an interesting novelty.

An appropriate introduction to the Beauties of the Gaëlic Poets, appears to be a brief account of that long descended race, which so justly demands regard, and of which they ever formed so important a class. Connected with this is a demonstration that the language in which the following poems appear, is that handed down to their authors from ancestors the most remote.

The Celtic race were the first known inhabitants of Europe, which was occupied throughout by various tribes or clans. The appropriate name which this remarkable people gave themselves was Celtæ, but the terms Calatæ, Galatæ, or Gallatians, and Galli, or Gauls, were adopted by the Greeks and Romans, and were the appellations by which in later ages they were usually distinguished.*

Various etymological conjectures are advanced as explanatory of these designations. A name descriptive of locality does not appear reasonably applicable to nations spread over an extensive continent and its numerous islands; they could neither be described as living in woods, nor on the hills, nor beside the waters, with any propriety, either by themselves or by others.† A more probable derivation is from the fair complexion by which the ancients characterized the race. This is the etymon given by Greek scholars, as if the body was “Galaetoi,” milky coloured; and as G and C are commutable letters, it must be confessed that the Gaëlic Gealta or Celta, has the closest possible resemblance to Celta.

The original seat of the human race was undoubtedly the fertile plains of Asia, but when the Celtic stream first rolled from that productive storehouse of nations, is never likely to become known.‡ Successive waves of migratory hordes must have flowed from the east, impelled by a want of food or a thirst for conquest, long before the Trojan war, when the Keltoi were first known to the Greeks, or when Herodotus, the father of history, informs us they inhabited to the farthest west.§ Their daring enterprise and mighty conquests had shaken the well-settled empires of Greece and Rome, when these nations were yet unacquainted with the regions whence issued the overwhelming hosts, and scarcely knew their terrific foes, save through the disturbed vision of a frightened imagination.||

Various sections of the dense population of western Europe came alternately under historical notice, as their power and influence brought them more prominently into view. The Cimmerii, or Cimbri, the Getæ or Goths, the Seythæ or Celto-Seyths, the Germani, the Teutoni, and the three divisions of Gallia proper; the Celts, Belgs, and Aquitains, successively occupy a predominant share in the eventful page of history. From the testimony of numerous ancient authorities, these appear rather subdivisions of an identic race, than different nations. If Celtæ gave place to Galli, Scythæ became Germanni, &c. The name Lochlin and Lychlin was applied by the British tribes to Germany, and they considered it the same country as Gaul.*

There can be no doubt, that local position, commerce, and other circumstances, will, in process of time, occasion so much difference between branches of an original race, that they will appear, and may be justly considercd different nations. Thus, the Greeks and Barbarians so closely resembled each other, previous to the time of Homer, that no distinction in manners or language appears to have then existed.†

When continental Europe had become fully peopled, emigration to the British isles must have speedily taken place, and the obvious routc was from the opposite coast of Gaul, to South Britain, but at what period the first adventurers arrived, can only be matter of conjecture. Some part of the maritime population were known to the Romans as mercantile settlers from the continent, but those who inhabited the interior, had lost all tradition of their origin, and, like their Gaulish ancestors, believed themselves the indigenous possessors of the island.‡ To the early Greeks and Romans it was unknown, but the assertion has been reiterated that the Phœnicians had established a commercial relation with the natives upwards of 2,800 years ago, and carried on a lucrative trade with them in lead and tin.§

The author of the Argonautica, writing nearly 600 years before our era, speaks of Iernis, which, signifying the western island, [Iar-innis,] would apply to either Britain or Ireland, and Aristotle, who flourished two centuries and a half later, calls the former both Albium and Brettania. These and other scanty notices of a certain island opposite, Gaul, are more curious than satisfactory or important; the fact of an early colonization is proved by the numerous population at the period of the Roman advent, 55, A. C.,|| and the whole was composed of various tribes represented as arriving at different times from the continent, forcing back the previous settlers and presenting those great divisions, in the illustration of whose descent, historians have so laboriously employed themselves.

The Welsh or Cumri, from their general appellation of Ancient Britons, are considered as the original inhabitants, but it is admitted by their own antiquaries, and shown by others, that the Gaël, or in their own lingual form, the Gwyddel must have preceded them.†† The Welsh authorities preserve the names of other colonies which arrived at uncertain periods. The Lloegrws came from Gwasgwn or Gascony, and were the progenitors of those who possessed England, and the Brython, from Lhydaw or Bretagne, who it is said gave name to the island, both being of Cumraeg descent.‡‡

The Romans found the southern coasts occupied by tribes of Belgic origin, who are supposed to have arrived three or four centuries before the birth of Christ. Successive emigrations forced the inhabitants westward, and to the north, but certainly nothing is recorded to warrant the belief, that the whole were not of Gaulic origin.* Scotland was possessed by a Celtic people, divided into twenty-one tribes, some of whom became at times conspicuous from more daringly contending with their ambitious foes, or being chosen to direct the national confederations, but the collective inhabitants were, as they have ever been, denominated by themselves and their brethren in Ireland, Albanich, Albanians; natives of Alban or Albion, a name of which they still are justly proud, thus vindicating their claim to be considered the primordial race.

Several of the great divisions lost their names in the fluctuations of a predatory and unsettled state of society and were ultimately incorporated with more powerful neighbours. The Mæatae, (Magh-aitieh,) dwellers on the plain, whose situation between the prætentures, a sort of debateable land, exposed them more particularly to the devastations of war, but gave ample scope for the acquisition of military renown, lost their prominence when the Romans succeeded in forming their territories into the province of Valentia, and when the legions were finally compelled to leave the island, the Mcats, losing their consequence, were quickly amalgamated with the general body. The CALEDONII who were the ruling tribe in the great confederation which Galgacus led to battle at the Grampians, ceded their warlike pre-eminence to other branches who came into power. The term by which they were distinguished, whatever may be its precise meaning, displays in its composition Caël or Gaël, the appropriate name of the most ancient inhabitants of both Albion and Erin, and it still subsists, if not the native, yet the classical appellation.† The redoubted Picts themselves were at last embodied with their more successful countrymen the Scots, but long retained the evidence of their descent in the designation of Gaëlwadians, and Galloway is still applied to a greatly reduced portion of their ancient kingdom.

No more prolific subject of literary contention has offered itself to the national controversialists, than the lineage of the Pictish nation, that powerful division which so long shared the sovereignty of the kingdom. A prevailing tradition from most early ages, held them as the original inhabitants ;‡ the Roman writers identified them with the Caledonians,§ and in later ages they were recognised as Scots.|| One opinion has many able advocates : it is that they were a Cumraeg nation, using that branch of the Celtic language, but were expelled by the Gaël. Certainly we look in vain for a proof of this in the names which remain, even in the territories of the Strathclyde Welsh, which are believed to have extended to Cumberland—all are Gaëlic.¶ But reverting to another opinion not less keenly supported : were the Picts of Gothic extract ? It is not probable, that at so early an epoch, the Scandinavian wastes could furnish such a force as would be sufficient to expel the Celts and supplant their language, for except there was a very considerable number of colonists, the strangers would inevitably lose their own tongue in mixture with the natives. Language, like manners, is liable to change from many operating causes, and differences in one which is widely spread, especially when unwritten, will greatly increase by the long estrangement of the branches, who own a common descent. Grammarians raise the polished structures, but the simple vocables attest the kindred alliance. The affinity of languages most certainly evinces the ancient connexion of nations, that in course of time become very widely separated. The Greek and Gothic have satisfactorily displayed to the learned their common parentage, and we know that Gallic words predominated in the Latin, derived through that most ancient Celtic race, the Umbri, who were the aborigines of Italy, and this classic tongue in grammatical construction, bore close resemblance to the Gaëlie.*

The assertion has been confidently repeated, that the Belgic portion of the British tribes, Gothic as the Piets, like them, obtruded a different language, which in the form of Saxon and English has superseded in the greater portion of Britain, the primeval tongue. How far this argument can be supported, it will be satisfactory to inquire. Do the names applied to natural objects on record, and as yet preserved in those parts which the two nations inhabited, favour the assumption, or do the Roman historians, our only guides, afford their evidence in its favour? Cæsar describes the South Britons as being in all respects like the people of Gaul, from which country he says they were.† Tacitus informs us, the Gothian was the Gaëlie, and he particularizes two distinguished Belgic tribes, the Cimbri and Aestii, as using the proper British language.‡

The Gothic tribes came to the west of Europe, long after the Celtic migrations had spread population over the land, but the Getæ were Scyths, and these retained the name of Celto-Scyths,§ when their ancient brethren and precursors, the Kelts, had fixed themselves far distant in the west. The Gothic first prevailed in England, and a striking evidence of the progressive change of language among nations of dissimilar pursuits, is the fact related in the Sagas, that widely different as the present English is from the northern tongues, a Saxon could converse so easily with a Scandinavian, in the 10th century, that he could not discover him to be a foreigner.|| The Gothic did not become the language of the low country of Scotland, until comparatively recent times. The whole inhabitants were originally of one race, whatever shades of difference may have been observable in separate districts, of which a clear demonstration is afforded by the entire coincidence of local names, personal appellations, similar modes of interment, and relies of superstition throughout the whole extent of the country; that this race was Celtic, is satisfactorily proved by the terms being significant in the Gaëlie language, and in no other. In the years 547 and 650, the kings of Northumberland ravaged the southern districts, and seizing the country between the Forth and Tweed, filled the province with their Anglo-Saxon vassals, thus first inducing the adoption of the Anglo-Saxon language; and the events of the Norman conquest, 1066, when the royal family, the nobility and their followers were compelled to seek the protection of Malcolm III., mightily assisted in the introduction; for the kingdom became so filled with them, that there was not a farm-house or cottage in the south, which did not contain English men and women servants!¶ The refugees were located on the borders and east coast by the policy of our kings, as a good means of defence against the English and Danes, and it may not have been so practicable to plant them in the inland, the Highlanders bearing such intruders no good will. Moreover, the enterprise of the Saxons led them to prefer the east coast, where the powerful stimulus of commercial advantage, hastened the adoption of their speech; finally, the Scottish kings, from Malcolm Cean-mor to Alexander II., spent part of their lives in England, where they acquired the language, and married princesses of that country, and when the seat of government was removed from the Highlands, theirs became the court language, which gradually extended in the maritime parts. In the heights and distant isles, the pastoral and agricultural population clung with increased tenacity to their original tongue, the patriarchal institutions of Clanship being peculiarly calculated to prevent any disturbance of their social state.

Another portion of the inhabitants remains to be noticed, which had the fortune to preserve its appropriate name, and impart it to the whole. The appellation Scoti or rather Scuite, is apparently a modification of Scyth, the name by which the great unsettled branch of the continental Celts were distinguished, and is descriptive of the wandering life which a large portion of the inhabitants led through their predatory habits, and for the easy pasturage of their numerous flocks.* Those who had store of herds, possessed the only riches of the pastoral state. In Ireland, which was inhabited by the Britons,† who were forced over, as we are told, on the arrival of the Belgæ in England,‡ the Scots were the dominant and noble class, the natives or aborigines being considered an inferior order.§ The epithet was adopted by the monkish writers, but does not appear to have been acknowledged by the Gaël, at least in Scotland, where they have steadfastly adhered to their national distinction.

In Erin as in Albion, the Scotic people were named the Pictish, and were known also as Cruthenich, a name indicative of peculiar habits.|| The close connexion between the Scots of both countries, was such as became nations owning a common origin, in which they had an equal pride. The Dalriadic Kinglet, which the county of Antrim nearly represents, was long subject to the Scottish line, but at last the regal seat was removed to Argyle, and from this little sovereignty came the race of princes who crushed the vigorous independence of the Pictish throne, and so long ruled over the united Gaël. This transfer of the dynasty, whatever may have been the motives which swayed the minds of those who favoured it, was not accomplished without a display of “the high hand.”¶

Did the Dalriadic colony, as a different people, bring to Scotland their own language, and become the first disseminators of the Gaëlic, vulgarly called Erse? This has been rashly asserted, but after what has been said on the subject of language, it seems unnecessary to devote more time in disproving an evident absurdity. The Gaëlic, the primordial tongue used by the whole inhabitants of both countries, has gradually given way on the south and east sides of Scotland. In Carrick it was only lately extinguished: in Galloway it was spoken in the reign of Queen Mary 1542—1566,* and during the same reign we find it the common language in the Gariach district of Aberdeenshire, from the upper parts of which it has receded in our own memory.† This much is to be observed, that within the Garbh-Criochan, or boundaries of the Highlands, where the recession of the Gaëlic has not been in consequence of Saxon settlements, the manners of the people are essentially Gaëlic, and they retain at home and abroad the predilections of their birth, particularly cherishing a just admiration of the bardic art, and possessing the characteristic taste for national melody.

The foregoing opinions are not newly formed: the writer of these pages having in another publication, some years ago, gone at greater length into the subject, is happy to find that his views are now generally adopted.

The Celts, from whom it was reluctantly acknowledged by both Greeks and Romans, that they had derived many of the useful arts and sciences, nay, even their philosophy,‡ were distinguished by very remarkable habits and customs, many of which still characterize their descendants; and their personal appearance offered a striking contrast to that of the inhabitants of Italy and Greece. To whatever cause is to be attributed the general mixture of dark-complexioned individuals among the Gaël, inducing the assertion, so often repeated, that they display the genuine Celtic hue, nothing is more particularly noticed than the fairness of skin, the blue eyes and the yellow hair of all branches of the race. So anxious were the Gauls to improve the glowing brightness of their flowing locks, that in the desire to heighten, by frequent washing and other artificial means, its natural colour, they hit on the manufacture of soap.§ The general appearance of the Celts must have been very peculiar to excite the notice of so many writers,|| and their aspect must have been a matter of ostentation, when its preservation was an object of national care.¶ The bardic effusions have always extolled the golden ringlets as imparting beauty to both sexes, comparing them to the gracefulness of flowing gold—to the loveliness of the golden-haired sun; while one of an opposite colour is alluded to as an exception. The Welsh are perhaps the darkest of the race, for they called the others Gwyddil coch, the red-haired Gaël. The careful arrangement of the hair, was one of the most particular duties of a Celtic toilet, and the practice of trimming or “glibbing” it, was put down in Ireland as an anti-English practice, by act of Parliament.

The comeliness and great stature of the Celts were acknowledged; the Britons and Caledonians, particularly exhibiting that stately appearance which in early society would be an object of pride, and a favourite theme for bardic compliment. The commanding figures of the Fingalian heroes, and those of later date, are always kept in view.

The dispositions of a people are however more worthy of consideration, personal appearance being dependent on physical causes, while the mental affections and moral feelings are influenced by other circumstances.

On the ministers of religion devolve the care of forming the morals, and on legislators the regulation of society by the enactment of laws, the censure of the wicked, and encouragement of the virtuous. These two important functions, so naturally allied, were combined in one individual among the early Celts. That highly interesting and venerable order the Druids, who presided over a religion the most ancient, included the singularly important class, the Bards, the disseminators of knowledge, or rather as some maintain, they were in truth the body, of which the Druids formed a part, if more exalted in rank, certainly not a more numerous nor popular division.

Britain seems to have been the hyperborean island alluded to by Hecatæus, a very ancient writer, who describes it as lying opposite to Gaul, and being as large as Sicily. The inhabitants led the most happy lives, spending great part of their time in playing on the harp, and worshipping the gods in groves and circular temples.* It is certain that in Britain was the grand seminary for Druidic learning, to which the youth from Gaul resorted to complete their course of education, and to which reference was made in all cases of controversy or doubt. In the southern province, therefore, we find the wondrous remains of the stupendous works of Avebury and Stonehenge, with many other circular erections of the Clachan mor of less note throughout England and Wales. In Anglesea was the sacred fane and last retreat of the British druids, while seeking to escape the Roman sword. In Ireland the great Feis, or bardic convention, was held on the hill of Tara, (Teamhair) in Meath, and the science studied in different seminaries. In Scotland, besides other consecrated precincts, was Ellan Druinich, now Iona, the isle wherein the chief establishment of bards was placed, which the celebrated Colum or Columba supplanted by a college of the scarcely less famous Christian order of Culdecs, as he did with that sacred grove where now stands the town of Derry in Ireland.† To this latter country the bards are supposed to have been first introduced by the colony of Danes, and the name, believed to have come from Dan a song, is noticed as a corroborative proof. They would no doubt accompany the first Celtic settlers, and in all probability held their appropriate place among the Milesian adventurers.

Legislation—the services of religion, and the poetical art, were blended in primitive society, and the united duties performed by one person; the priests, the historians, and the lawgivers, were consequently of the bardic order. Although it cannot be admitted as true that “poetry preceded prose,” yet it is not paradoxical to assert that verse was anterior to prose as the medium of record. It was used in intercession with the Deity, and was the vehicle of all praise. The ethics of antiquity were delivered and orally preserved in pithy rhymes; in this way, the earlier decrees of Greece were promulgated, and remained for ages ere they were engraven on tablets in the public ways, and even then the metrical form was not abandoned, nor did the people find another word for law than verse.‡ Strong indeed was the attachment to oral record, but still stronger was the predilection for rhyme; even after writing had come into use, the form of versification was fondly retained. The Brehons or Gaëlic judges delivered their derees in sententious poetry, and

* Diodorus. † Hence the name, from Darach, an oak.

Columba, who is himself believed to have been of the bardic order, and other early ecclesiastics delivered their moral precepts, as no doubt was the common practice, in impressive verse.* It was in this style of composition, that the Gaëlic genealogies of the Scottish kings, repeated by the seanachies at coronations were formed.† In Wales, numerous moral triplets are confidently ascribed to the Druids: in the Highlands, many such apothegms, handed down from the Sean'ir, or men of antiquity, are of similar origin.

The Druids, like the Pythagoreans, a similar sect, were most careful to excrise the memory, and it was a positive law that there should be no written record; the first deviation from which appears to have been, as far as respected religion, but the poems were too mystical to be understood, save by the initiated, and it was not permitted to speak openly of the ceremonials or secrets of their profession; to sing in heroic verse the praises of illustrious men, was the unrestricted and most congenial duty of the bard. How admirably fitted for the assistance of recollection was the use of poetry—how well adapted for diffusing throughout the community, a knowledge of the laws by which foreign and internal relations were directed; of the misfortunes which depressed, or the successes which brightened the national prospects;—the song kept alive the memory of transactions which gained the friendship of neighbours, or exalted military renown—it transmitted to succeeding generations the history of illustrious individuals—the woes and calamities of the unfortunate! How little even now, are the people in general indebted for their acquaintance with events, to the pages of the historian? It is the record of vocal song which so long preserves among the illiterate the remembrance of bygone transactions.

There is much truth in what has been observed on this sort of vehicle for the conveyance of opinion; “songs are more operative than statutes, and it matters little who are the legislators of a country, compared with the writers of its popular ballads.” With the Celts the statutes were really poems, and the observation of Macpherson is just: “The moral character of our ancestors owed more to the compositions of the bard, than to the precepts of the Druids.”‡ The druidic injunction for cultivating the power of recollection, long affected the national character, and in the Highland districts, it cannot be said to have altogether ceased as a popular object. The Gaël frequently met for the purpose of friendly contest in the repetition and singing of their ancient poems, and poetic talent was one of the most respected accomplishments. In Wales, its possession elevated one to rank. A Highland amusement which Johnson describes, is illustrative of the poetic spirit. A person enveloped in a skin enters the house, when the company affecting to be frightened, rush forth; the door is then closed, and before they are admitted, for the honour of poetry, says the doctor, each must repeat, at least a verse. The young men who celebrate the festival of Colain, or bringing in of the new year, are obliged to recite an extempore rhyme before they are admitted to any house. The Dronn, or rump, was called the bard's portion; whoever received it, was obliged to compose a verse; and many a humorous couplet has the present elicited. This is called Beanneachadh Bhaird, or the Bard's Blessing, and it was customary to give a metrical salutation as a mark of respect; a composition in praise of one whose kindness or hospitality had been experienced, was an equally common effort of the muses. Dr Donald Smith, speaking of MS. poems of Ossian, and those collected by Duncan Kennedy, which scarcely differed, observes, "The test which such an agreement affords at a distance of almost three hundred years, of the fidelity of tradition, cannot but seem curious to such as have not had an opportunity of observing the strength which memory can attain, when unassisted by writing, and prompted to exertion by the love of poetry and song."^{*}

The Fear Sgeulachd or reciter of tales in Ireland, although now perhaps reduced to an itinerant mendicant, was formerly a personage whose entertaining and instructive rehearsals always procured becoming respect. These men were walking chronicles, the depositaries of what was old, and the disseminators of passing novelties. A favourite pastime among the Gaël was recitations of the old poems in manner of dramas, for which they were excellently adapted, if not originally so intended.

The chief object of the Celts in the nurture and education of their children, being to promote hardness of constitution and corporeal strength, and to instil into the mind a sense of justice, and the highest notions of freedom and of warlike renown, their institutions were of a serious and martial cast.[†] The population were stimulated by the bardic exhortations from early childhood, to contemn inglorious ease and death itself, and to emulate the heroic virtues for which their ancestors were so highly extolled, as the only means by which they could attain distinction here and happiness hereafter. The labours of those national preceptors were eminently successful, and the bloody and protracted wars which they so intrepidly sustained in Gaul, against the conquerors of the world, tarnishing their arms, before unsullied,[‡] bear ample testimony to the love of freedom. In our own country, was the influence of those patriots less strong? "Neither by Romans, Saxons, Danes nor Normans, could they ever be conquered, either in Britain or Ireland; but as they could not successfully resist the overwhelming numbers, and superior discipline of their enemies in the plain country, they retreated with the highest spirited and most intractable of their countrymen, into the mountains, where they successfully defied the legions of the Roman and Saxon barbarians. For more than a thousand years they maintained their country's independence in the mountains of Wales and Scotland, whence they constantly made incursions upon their enemies. Here it was, where, with their native wild and beautiful music, and in poetry which would not disgrace a Homer, being the production of passion not of art, their venerable Druids deplored their country's misfortunes, or excited their heroes to the fight." These are the words of a Saxon writer, who made the history of the Druids, and their mysterious religion, subjects of the most profound research.[§]

An order which possessed the power of inflaming their countrymen to the fiercest resistance of invasion, and unextinguishable passion for liberty, was subjected to the direst

persecution of their implacable enemies. The cruelty with which the Romans accomplished the slaughter of the British Druids, even in the sacred isle of Mona, had only a parallel in the massacre of the Welsh bards, by Edward the first of England. The indomitable spirit of resistance to aggression, which these illustrious patriots so effectually cherished in their countrymen, aroused the sanguinary vengeance of their ambitious foes, and the same policy, with a subdued severity, animated Queen Elizabeth, and Henry the Eighth, in their proscriptive legislation for the natives of Ireland.

Many instances are on record of the extraordinary power of music, which was always in ancient times an accompaniment to the song. Tyrtæus, by the chanting of his heroic verscs, so inspirited the sinking Lacedemonians, that, rallying, they gained a triumphant victory, and saved the state. Terpander succeeded in appeasing a seditious outbreak, by singing an appropriate composition to the sound of his lyre, and Alcæus rescued his country by the same means. The bards not only inflamed the martial zeal of the people, rousing them to arms in defence of all they held dear, but they accompanied the armies to the field, and their persons being held inviolable by friend and foe, they employed themselves in moving about, sustaining the courage of the troops in the heat of battle ; charging them to acquit themselves like men, and thereby obtain the approbation of their country, assuring them of ample fame on earth, and a joyful existence hereafter, should they bravely fall. “ Ye bards, raise high the praise of heroes, that my soul may settle on their fame !” was an appropriate Celtic ejaculation. To die without this fame was a misfortune felt beyond the grave ; the spirit rested not, when nothing had been done on earth to ensure its posthumous meed of praise.

The bards were also the heralds who summoned the clans to the strife of arms, a duty which was afterwards effected by the fleet bearers of the Crann taradh, and that important official in the establishment of a chief, the Piobair-mor. An instance occurs in the poem of Temora where a bard performs the ceremony ; he proceeds to the hall of Shells, where the chiefs were assembled, and raising aloud the song of war, he calls on the spirits to come on their clouds, and be witness to the heroism of their descendants. The bards were in fact called upon by the leaders, as those on whose well-directed exertions rested the fate of battle, to rehearse the glorious exploits of former heroes, and by urging every motive to exertion, endeavour to carry the day by esprit du corps, not unlike the way in modern times of calling on the pipers—seid suas, play up ? But they stood in no need of command ; they acted in their vocation con amore, and they could excite or appease the warlike passions at their will ; nay, with such awc were these men of song regarded, that they would step between armies which had drawn swords and levelled spears for immediate action ; and the iresful combatants, as if their fury had been tamcd by a charm, instantly dropt their arms.* The shaking of the “ Chain of silence” by the Irish bards, produced the same effect.†

Their prophetic character added greatly to their influence ; for they professed to foretell the fate of wars, and the destiny of individuals. So nearly allied are the gifts of poetry.

and prophecy, that the same individuals were professors of both, and hence it is that we find the Romans using the terms indiscriminately, especially with reference to those in their Gaulish provinces. Of the prophecies of the Gauls, many instances are related; they were held in much estimation for their auguries and predictions, and were consulted by even the emperors of Rome. Those soldiers who were in their armies, perhaps from their national gravity, and dark and figurative manner of expression,* compared with their Italian comrades, were looked on as seeing more clearly into futurity than others. The spirit descended on their successors in the British isles. In the Principality, the faculty in the bardic order was tacitly acknowledged, and Irish history affords many proofs of the conjunction, whilst among the Scottish Gaél, the ability to prognosticate unerringly, was repeatedly claimed, and respectfully conceded. Fingal himself, by concurrent tradition, is allowed, with other attributes of one so illustrious, to have possessed in an eminent degree, the ability to predict coming events. The court poets, about 1323, delivered a prophecy respecting King David, which was fully credited.†

Numerous proofs of the unabated influence of bardic exhortations on individuals, clans, and confederated armies, could be adduced. When the orator, standing on a cairn or other eminence, harangued the assembled host, in energetic verse, descanting in glowing terms on the well earned glories of the race—their heroism and other virtues, reminding them that on present exertions depended their country's fate—their own, their wives and children's safety; that the freedom which their sires bequeathed, it was for them to maintain and faithfully transmit to following generations; and when he warned them that the shades of their noble ancestors hovered near to witness their prowess, and bear them to the realms of bliss, if they bravely fell, the climax was attained, and in the paroxysm of generous resolution, with a simultaneous shout, the whole rushed forward to the mêlée.

Those who survived, were welcomed by the fair with the songs of praise; the bards extolling their exploits in the most laudatory strains.

The War Song of Gaul in the fourth book of Fingal, shows the usual style of the Prosnachadh cath, which is the name applied to it, corresponding to the Irish Rosga cath, and the Welsh Arymes prydain.‡ The address of that intrepid chief of the Caledonian confederation, Galgacus, delivered to his troops previous to the great battle of the Grampians, is highly interesting for its antiquity, the eloquence it displays, and the light it throws on the sentiments of that unconquerable race, to whom the Britons of the south alleged the gods themselves were scarcely equal. The famed Caractacus would animate his forces in a similar manner; and it is probable both delivered their harangues in verse, and may indeed have been of the bardic order. The strife was truly “kindled by the songs of the bards.” “Go Ullin—go my aged bard! remind the mighty Gaul of battle—remind him of his fathers—support the yielding fight; for the song enlivens war,” says the king of Morven.

It is unnecessary to multiply examples: the practice was retained as long as clanship was entire. The Brosnachadh cath Gariach, composed by Lachlan Mac Mhuireach, the bard of Donald of the isles, at the bloody field of Harlaw in 1411, is a specimen, curious for the subject and the strict alliteration in its composition. It has been observed as scarcely credible, that a bard could compose and deliver such lengthened exhortations in the battle field, and impossible to preserve such effusions afterwards, except he was "attended by a secretary!" These, and many similar objections to the authenticity of the ancient remains of Gaëlie bards, have been offered by the late Rev. Edward Davies, author of "Celtic researches," in a very rare work, entitled, "The claims of Ossian considered." This writer, whose remarks we shall have occasion again to allude to, is the most severe assailant of the venerable bard who has yet appeared, and it is to be regretted, that the asperity, promoted by ignorance of the subject, which is evinced throughout his inquiry, tarnishes much the fame he acquired by his other learned productions. The bards doubtless studied the subject of their compositions, previous to rehearsal, and polished or perfected them afterwards. Ossian was as capable of composing Fingal and Temora, as Homer was to form the Iliad, and the deep misfortune, of being "blind, palsied, destitute, broken-hearted and illiterate," p. 53. and the last of his race, was rather favourable to his poetic genius, while it imparted a melancholy spirit. He might not be provided with an "amanuensis," but he had zealous admirers, and attentive auditors to his frequent repetitions; and although Malvina might be 80 years of age, by Mr Davies' chronology, she could well store her memory, less disturbed by the passions of youth, with those affecting songs, which it delighted the hoary bard to repeat.

A striking instance of the irresistible impression of these vigilant monitors occurs in Irish history. The primate of Ireland, in a conference with Fitzgerald, succeeded in convincing him of the folly and the guilt of a contemplated rebellion, when Nelan, the bard, lifting up his voice with his harp, poured forth a touching effusion, commemorative of the heroism of that noble's ancestors—of their wrongs and the inestimable value of freedom, and evoking quick revenge; the gallant Thomas rushed forth and flew to arms.

When aid was sought from neighbouring clans, the bard was the fitting messenger to arouse the sympathy of friends. In late and altered times, the poets exercised, by means of their compositions, a power scarcely inferior to that of their predecessors, in the days of Druidism. If they could not command the favour of a chief, they could neutralize his efforts by their songs, which took the desired effect on the less politic clansmen. Iain Lom and others performed wonders by the power of verse, and respect for their profession. Rob Donn was more useful by the effect of his cutting poems, in favour of Prince Charles, than his chief was prejudicial in his operations with an unwilling clan.

It is necessary here to notice, with attention, the religious tenets maintained by the Druids, that celebrated priesthood, which held unlimited power over a mighty race—which instilled for many centuries of uninterrupted sway, those generous precepts, that not only operated on the mental faculties of the bard, himself so important a member of the community, but formed a national character, which is not even yet effaced. The progress and fall of a system are to be traced, which became like other institutions, corrupt and injurious, through the venality of the professors of poetry, who had survived the religion whence they emanated, which had long been abandoned by the human race, but which left much, long entwined with the holy faith we now maintain, strongly imbuing the poetic genius of the Gaëlie bards. The wild imaginations of the enthusiastic Celts, led them to indulge in many superstitious ideas, but if, like other Pagans, they openly and emblematically admitted a plurality of Gods; the belief in one supreme disposer of human events was the fundamental creed of the bardie hierarchy; and if the people were persuaded of the truth of metempsychosis, or transmigration of spirits into other bodies, the more enlightened portion believed the immortality of the soul, in a state of happiness or misery. In the work of that intelligent Roman soldier and historian, Marcellinus, who was well acquainted with the Gauls, he thus speaks: "the Druidæ of a higher polish and imagination, as the authority of Pythagoras decreed, being formed into societies or fellowships, were addicted wholly to the consideration of matters of divine and hidden import, and despising all human things, they confidently affirmed that the souls of men were immortal."* The simple and sublime doctrines, if it is permitted so to designate them, which the Druids taught, were to reverence the Deity—to abstain from evil, and to behave with bravery; and they enforced their observance with unremitting energy. To the Almighty being, they paid adoration under the open canopy of heaven, esteeming it unbecoming to confine within a covered edifice, the worship of Him who created all things. At His mysterious shrine—circular, as the type of eternal duration,—they invoked divine favour, under the striking symbol of the resplendent sun, the apparent source of universal life. The appellations, Be 'il and Grian, or Granais were applied to the glorious luminary, and they are still used by the Gaël, although they do not attach to them those unchristian ideas, which darkened the mind of his ancestors, or perhaps being at all aware of the origin of terms formerly repeated with feelings of gratitude and veneration.† Many superstitions which yet maintain a hold on his imagination, are traceable to the mysterious dogmas of Druidism. Feelings carried along from ages the most remote, imbued the minds of the Gaëlic poets who indulged the fond persuasion, that the aerial spirits of departed friends hovered near their earthly relatives, rejoicing in their success and happiness, warning them of impending misfortunes, and ready when meeting death, to bear their spirits on clouds to a happier region. This cannot be called a debasing belief.

The only names which the Gaël yet apply to Heaven and Hell, proclaim their origin in days of Paganism. The ideas concerning Flath-innis, the island of the brave or noble, which was supposed to lie far distant in the Western Ocean, and Ifrinn, the cold and dismal isle in which the wicked were doomed to wander, in chilling solitude, so inconsistent with, and diametrically opposed to the Christian faith, could never have been imbibed from the sacred records of divine will. The numerous imaginary beings, with which the Celts filled earth, air, and water, were admirable accessories to the poetic machinery; they were perhaps originally deified, and although not yet discarded from popular belief, they are reduced to the less awful forms of phœas, fairies, beansiths, Glasligs, &c.

By all people, heaven has been pictured as an indescribable refinement, of all that imparts pleasure to the inhabitants of earth; and it is otherwise impossible to form any idea of the joys awaiting the righteous, the reality of which “it hath not entered the heart of man to conceive.” With the Gaël, all the amusements in which they took delight, whilst dwellers in the lower world, were pursued without alloy in their aerial abode. All descriptions of the Celtic paradise, must fall short of their own conception of its glories, but the following effort of an ancient bard to impart some notion of its imaginary excellency, is highly interesting, abounding as it does in that hyperbolie style, which is impressed on all similar compositions. It gives also a curious picture of one of the Celtic sages. “ In former days, there lived in Skerr, a Druid of high renown. The blast of wind waited for his commands at the gate ; he rode the tempest, and the troubled wave offered itself as a pillow for his repose. His eye followed the sun by day ; his thoughts travelled from star to star in the season of night. He thirsted after things unseen—he sighed over the narrow cirele which surrounded his days. He often sat in silence beneath the sound of his groves ; and he blamed the eareless billows that rolled between him and the green Isle of the west.” One day as he sat thoughtful upon a roek, a storm arose on the sca: a cloud, under whose squally skirts the foaming waters complained, rushed suddenly into the bay ; and from its dark womb at once issued forth a boat, with its white sails bent to the wind, and around were a hundred moving oars: but it was void of mariners ; itself seeming to live and move. An unusual terror seized the aged Druid : he heard a voice, though he saw no human form. “ Arise ! behold the boat of the heroes—arise, and see the green Isle of those who have passed away !” He felt a strange force on his limbs ; he saw no person ; but he moved to the boat. The wind immediately changed—in the bosom of the cloud he sailed away. Seven days gleamed faintly round him; seven nights added their gloom to his darkness. His ears were stunned with shrill voices. The dull murmur of winds passed him on either side. He slept not, but his eyes were not heavy : he ate not, but he was not hungry. On the eighth day, the waves swelled into mountains ; the boat rolled violently from side to side—the darkness thickened around him, when a thousand voices at once cried aloud,—“ The Isle, the Isle!” “The billows opened wide before him ; the calm land of the departed rushed in light on his eyes. It was not a light that dazzled, but a pure, distinguishing, and placid light, which called forth every object to view in its most perfect form. The Isle spread large before him, like a pleasing dream of the soul ; where distance fades not on the sight—where nearness fatigues not the eye. It had its gently sloping hills of green ; nor did they wholly want their clouds : but the clouds were bright and transparent, and each involved in its bosom, the souree of a stream ; a beauteous stream, which wandering down the steep, was like the faint notes of the half-touched harp to the distant ear. The valleys were open and free to the ocean ; trees loaded with leaves, which scarcely waved to the light breeze, were scattered on the green declivities and rising grounds. The rude winds walked not on the mountain ; no storm took its course through the sky. All was calm and bright ; the pure sun of autumn shone from his blue sky on the fields. He hastened not to the west for repose ; nor was he seen to rise from the east. He sits in his mid-day height, and looks obliquely on the Noble Isle. In each valley is its slow-moving stream. The pure waters swell over its banks, yet abstain from the fields. The showers disturb them not ; nor are they lessened by the heat of the sun. On the rising hill, are the halls of the departed—the high-roofed dwellings of the heroes of old."*

There is here none of the barbarous ideas which distinguished the Seandinavians. The Celts never dreamt of such joys as were found in Odin's Hall, or of carrying vindictive feelings beyond the grave—no quaffing beverage from the skulls of enemies, and other marks of feroeious minds. There is here no purgatorial state—no such horrid passage, as led to the Elysium of the Greeks—the transit of the spirit from earth, is on clouds accompanied by those of relatives long before removed. There was indeed an intermediate position, occupied by the shades of those who had escaped the more awful penalty, but had no position in the abode of the virtuous. So difficult is it to control the vicious propensities of mankind, that the Druids not only were empowered to pass a sentence, of the most strict excommunication, rendering it highly criminal in any to show the smallest favour to the proscribed, but they carried their pretensions farther, and debarred them from entering Flath-innis. For those who were guilty of venial crimes, or had shown "the little soul," by coming short of the standard of goodness, through cowardice, injustice, &c., which did not incur the severer ban, it was impossible ever to reach the island of the brave. Their sluggish spirits heard no song of praise; they were doomed to hover in miserable solitude, beside fens and marshes, tormented by unavailing regrets.

To a northern people, as warmth is of all sensations the most desirable, so cold is the most to be avoided. Exposure to chilling winds, and a state of intense and continued frigidity, is a calamity, which those who were ill clad, must have dreaded even more than the want of food. It was therefore with them a natural imagination, that the place of final punishment should be wrapt in an atmosphere of everlasting frosts. Ifrinn† was therefore contemplated with feelings of horror, and the dread of being consigned for evermore to its indescribable rigour, operated as a powerful check on the unworthy passions.

Besides piety to the objects of their worship, and unflinching bravery in the battle field, Druidie morality required the exercise of other duties, to merit the beatitude of the Isle of the exalted. The profession of bardism ensured a becoming degree of respect and awe, towards itself; while the patriarchal feelings of elanship bound closely the followers to their natural chiefs and protectors.

Hospitality is a virtue of primitive society—its exercise was a positive law among the Gauls and Germans of old.‡ It continued unrestricted among the Gaël, while their ancient system remained entire, and it is now only cooled, where modern civilization and refinement have intruded on the unsophisticated manners of an open-hearted race. "The red oak is in a blaze; the spire of its flame is high. The traveller sees its light on the dusky heath, as night spreads around him her raven wings. He sees it, and is glad; for he knows the hall of the king. There," he says to his companion, "we pass the night; the door of Fion is always open. The name of his hall is the stranger's home." The feast is spread—the king wonders that no stranger from the darkly heath is come.

* The Author of this Poem, whose name is Douthal, was both a Chief and a Bard of great repute. The accounts which tradition gives of him are various; but the most probable makes him the Poet of Mordubh, King of the Caledonians. A fragment of this Poem has been published in Gillies' Collection, in two Parts, consisting of the First, and nearly half the Second Part. It is now given in three Parts entire; and differs not materially from the Translation given in "Clark's Caledonian Bards"—a small Volume published in the last century.

Mar dhà neul tha siubhal air càrn,
 'Nuair shiubhlas a ghrian air mìn dhliuchd :
 Dubhach bha na glinn roi 'n ceum,
 Ag amharc an tighinn an deoir nan speur.
 Cha 'n fhiù leo an cnocan erion,
 Tha triall chum gruaidh Ard-chraig.
 Mar sin a shiubhlas na suinn,
 An coinneamh a naimhdean borb.
 Air adhart tha ceum righ Alba,
 Mar gharbh chraig an aghaidh tuinn mhoir,
 'N uair chruinnicheas na stuaidh,
 A tabhairt garbh chath do thuilte.

Mar ghaoth oidhche shiubhlas air speur,
 Thainig clann Lochluinn nan sleagh ;
 Cha siubhail osag na h-aonar,
 'S ann comhla tha dubh ghruidh nan sian.
 Dh' eirich airm Albainn gu h-ard,
 Mar thairneanach tha gairm nan cnoc ;
 Mar thuileas dà chlach o bheinn aird,
 'S iad tachairt air ùrlar a ghlinn',
 Mar sin bha toiseach garbh a chath',
 Is iomadh nàmh a thuit leinn.
 Bha uamhann a bhlaire air an fhraoch—
 Bba tuilte fala mu shleagh Cheann-ard ;
 B' iomadh creubhag a lot Mordal—
 Bu chruaidh, borb, flathail, gach fear.
 Ach co b' urrainn seasadh roi' cheud ?
 Chunnaic an Righ ar ceum air ais ;
 Las anam a ghaisgich le feirg,
 'S àllt dearg a leanait a shleagha ;
 Bha taibhsean a naimhdean mu'n cuairt,
 Ach fad' uaithe fein bha na laoich.
 Thainig e mu dhereadh nan deigh,
 Mar thonn a tuitean o'n chreig ;
 'S tric a dh' iarr an fhraig air direadh—
 S tric a thilg an stuadh e bho bhonu ;
 Tha gàraich a chomh-strì garg,
 'S am barr glas briseadh 's a gaoith,

C' uime tha thu grnamach 's an iar,
 A ghrian àluinn ag astar nan nial ?
 Cha b' anfhann na suinn—
 Cha do theich sinn roi 'n mheata.
 'S tric chuir neoil dhorch smal ort fein,
 An aimsir ghaibheach nan sian.
 Ach 'n uair théid fògradh air a ghaoith,
 'S théid caonnag nau speur gu taobl ;
 'N uair bheir thu smachd air na neoil,
 'S a ghlasas a ghaoth air do làimh ;
 'N uair sheallas tu oirne nuas,
 'S do chuach fhalt àluinn a sniomh ;
 'N uair bhios fiann ghàir air do ghnuis,
 'S mòr aoibhneas 'g éideadh gach cnuic—
 'S aighearach lcinn do bhuidh 's na speuran,
 A's beannaichidh sinn do ghathan, a ghrian.
 I mich gu d' leabaidh le ceòl,
 Tbusa tha measg nau reultan mòr ;

Bheir sinne buaidh fathasd,
 Ged' tha sinn a nochd fo leòn.

AN DARA H-EARRANN.

Tri uairean chrath an oidhche
 A sgiath dubh, cheòthach, 's an ear ;
 Tri uairean sheall na reultan,
 Mar neoil ghruidh nan speur.
 Bha osnadh thamailte nan laoch,
 'S a ghaoith ag astar nan càrn ;
 Bha co-shamhla nan sonn o shcan,
 Le corruiich ag siubhal nam beann.
 Chualas trom osnaidh nam marbh,
 'S b' anfhann an guth 's na neoil ;
 Chuimhnich sinne gaisg' an lamh,
 A's ghabh sinn tamailte mhòr.

Air ard-chraig dh' amhaire an righ,
 'S lionar gaisgeach bha fo ghruidh ;
 Bha 'n smaointean soillear dha fein,
 A's labhair e le briathraibh cruidh.
 Air cuis 'n uair laidheas gruaim,
 Théid fuadach an cridhe erion,
 'S théid fir fhann gu luath fo dhion ;
 Togaidh an calma cheann roi 'ghaillean ;
 'S cha bhi fiann taise na ghnnis.
 Tha ceuman nan sian 's an doire,
 'S cha lùb an darach a ghlùn.
 Abraibh sibhse Chinn-fheadhna,
 An tainig sinn o dhaoine erion !
 An ann do gheuga fannu ar sleagh ?
 O dharach Alba nam mor ghniomh,
 'S tric thainig naimhdean o thuath,
 'S c'uin a theich ar sinnse gun bhuidh ?
 An geill sibhse do chloinn na fairge,
 Far am b' àbhaist taiblise nan naimhdean
 Leum bho osaig gu h-osaig,
 Le trom osnadh bhròin nam marbh ?
 Tha chlach ud le mòintich liath
 A cumail cuinhne air treun laoich,
 Ag radh, " Cha do theich ar n' athraiche riabh,
 Fhearan leanaibh dian an lorg ! "

Ag eisdeachd ri briathran an righ,
 Bu dubbach bha na suinn mu'n cuairt.
 Ag amharc claidheamh, sgiath, a's sleagh,
 'S le facail gun bhrìgh ann a chluais.

Sheas Morcheann, Triath Allt-duibh,
 Tri uairean chrath e sgiath,
 Tri uairean bhuaile an darach ;
 " Ainmic bha mo bhullean fann.
 Ainmic fhuair mo naimhdean buaidh ;
 Ge d' thug bliadhain air falbh mo neart,
 Ni 'm beil gealtachd am ghruidh.
 Shaol leam gu'n togadh mo mliac
 Mo leac, 's gu càireadh e mo cheann.

Chaoiudh ni 'n togar sgiath, no leac
Le oigear flathail nan deas lann,
Bha cheum air adhart sa chathe :
Ach d' fhaillich gach caraid mu 'n cuairt.
Bha iomadh namhaid na strì ;
'S thuit an laoch roi' mhlile sluaigh."
" Beannachd" ars 'an righ, " do'n laoch,
Ach na aonar ni 'm faod e falbh ;
Theid Ceann-feadhna nochd na lorg ;
'S dorch do choigrich tamh nam marbh."

Ghlac Ogan Mac-Chorbuidh a sgiath,
An diomhainn duinn gu eiridh grein'
Nan' dean sibh feathamh da'r luchd mì-rùin ?
An sin do labhair Ceannard treun,
'S tric thug siol Albainn an t-slige chiuin ;
Ach c' uin a thainig bàs air coigrich,
'N uair a tbachair iad le mùirn ?
Is treubhach, maiseach, linn Lochluinn,
A's buinig sinn fòs ar clìu.
Ciod uime thuiteamaid mar neul,
Thig le sgleo bho linne bhuirn,
A snamh as air bharraibh nam beann,
'N uair chaidhleas a ghealach fo shuan,
'S a chrathas gailionn clachan trom',
'S fiamh engail air rionnag nan sian ?
Crathaidh mhadainn a ceann 's an ear,
'S eiridh a ghrian le cnach-fhault ciuin ;
Biodh solus a gath' air gach sgiath,
'S bàs a gearradh aimh gach suinn.

A cur air sgiath Dhunairm,
Deir Morfhalt,* fanaihb gach laoch,
Air an tog lanh mhìn-gheal leac,
Ach laidhidh mise nochd air fraoch.
Cha bhi deoir air gruaidh am dheigh—
Cha 'n eirich clach le mo chliù—
Cha 'n abair athair—" mo mhac,"
No gruagach—" mo chreach, mo rùin !"
Lot mo shaighead uchd na ribhinn,
Bha tlachdar thar mhlile mnà.
Bha fuil mo chairdean ag cur sunùid,
Dheth na h-airm dhu'-ghorm 'n am laimh ;
Bu naimhdean a dh'-Alba, m'athraiche,
Aig Righ Lochlann, b' aiumeil iad.
B'aite leam siubhann na faire,
Thog sia gaisgich bhorb mo bhreid.
Thainig gaoth le cabhaig o thuath,
'S thog ua stuaidh le feirg an druim ;
Bha meanbh chathadh g-eiridh mu 'n cuairt,
S neoil ghruamach ag astar os-cinn.
Dh' eirich Albainn air bharr tuinn,

'S chrath gach doir' an ciabh le fälté.
Bha sleibhtean górm gu ceolmhor, binne,
Le cathadh minn bho cheann ar bàrc.
Be Dunairm ceann-uighe nan coigreach,
A's shìn an Ceannard gasd' a lamh.
'S e beatha clann Lochluinn an Albainn,
'N uair bhios meirg fiocaidh air an lamh,
'S lionar ar feidh, a's làn ar sligean ;
'S tha clìu a's misneach 'n ar sgeul ;
'S c'uime chìtear gruaim air coigreach ?
Chaidh sùrd le sòlas air cuirm ;
B' aoibhinn leinn còmhradh ar sith ;
'S bheannaich sinn naimhdean ar tir !

Mar ghath greine air madainn chinin,
'N uair chromar le drìuchd gach geug,
Bha Mìn-bhàs an talla na mùirn,
A's iomadh laoch toirt suil na deigh ;
Ach, thug i a rùn do Mhorfhalt.
Agam cha robh sliabh no suinn ;
Bha mi am aonar sa chathe,
Thuit naimhdean Lochluinn le m' laimh—
Thuit, 's cha d' eirich mo chliù.
Imich thusa, ars' an oigh,
Gu cathaibh righean céin ;
Eireadh do chliù-sa fad as,
A's cluinnidh Mìn-bhàs an sgeul.
Raineach righ Eirinn nan sleagh,
A's thuit a naimhdean le m' lainn ;
Sheinn am bard, as fad' thar chuan
Chualas m' iomradh gu fial.
B' fhaoilidh oighean Innse-fail,
Le 'n lamhan mìn-gheala caoin,
Romham gu furanach fial,
Ach ni 'n d' fhuar a h-aon mo ghradh.
'N tra thraoigh fearg, 's a phill sith,
Phill mi gu òigh nam bàs mìn.
'N uair dh' eirich Dunairm gu h-ard,
Bha ghrian na tamh an cluain seamh,
'S a ghealach a siubhal gu luath
O nial gu nial le baoisge geal—
Thainig guth air osaig na h-oidhiche,
O chirb an doire ud thall,
Mar ghuth na maidne cubhraidh,
Air aiseag gu m' chluais gu mùn mall ;
" Imich, 's ma thuiteas tu ghráidh,
Mo shuilean bi'dh silteach gach trà."
Chrith m'anam le eagal am cliaibh,
Mar nach robh e roimhe riach.
Chunnacas Mìn-bhàs nan gaol
Le àrmunn gasda ri taobh.
Lùb mi 'n tiubhar, ag radh—
" A shaighead ruig cridhe na ceilg"
Nior rachadh an laoch an cein,
A bhuidhean clìu do chridhe 'n ardain.
Rainig an gnuin nimhe a taobh,
A's chlaon an oigh-mhìn air tom.
Bha cuach-fhault dearg le fuli,

* Morfhalt was a Scandinavian. His history, as given by himself, is full of the most affecting incidents. His character is distinguished by valour in the highest degree, and unshaken fidelity, to the Chief of Dunarm, who so hospitably received him on landing in Scotland, and to whom he occasioned the greatest misfortune—the loss of his family!

A's dh'imeach a h-osnadh air osaig na h-oidhche.
 Cion a thainig guin an aoig?"
 Thuirt an laoch, le guth ard,
 "O laimh an fhir nach bu tais,"
 A's thog mi an t-sleagh am laimh.
 A mhacain na h-oidhche uaignidh,
 Thuirt an t-òg le mor iognad,
 "Tha neart a d' laimh, a ghaisgich
 'N uair is faoin do nàmh.
 Nior thog an gaisgeach a shleagh,
 Le cridhe gun àdhadh, gun ghean.
 Falbhaidh do thaibhse duainnidh,
 Le macaibh na gaoithe duibh';
 Far nach tog do lamhan lann,
 'S nach guin do shaighead cridhe gaoil."

B' fhad a ghreis thug sinn,
 Cha chualas Mìn-bhàs le gàir airm;
 Thuit a shleagh o laimh mo nàmh;
 A's chlaon e fadheoigh air an fhraoch.
 Thainig a ghealach o neoil;
 A's chunnacas mo charaid na fhuil.
 "An do thluit thu, bhrathair ghaoil?"
 Thuirt an òigh, 's an t-aog na beul
 "'S nach faic t-atbair thu pilleadh o n t-seilg?"

O ! Mhorfhuilt an tìr chein,
 C'aite an eirich do shleagh?
 Cha chluinn thu guth mo bhrathar fein,
 Cur failt ort till le d' chliù.
 Ach uair eigin thig an laoch,
 A's togaidh e 'n uaigh da rùin.
 Tharuinn mi 'n t-saighead o'n chreuchd—
 S a h-uich mìn-gheal air a lot!
 A's shil mo dbeoir le braonaibh fala
 Na h-ighinn, 's a suilean a plosgadh
 N uair chun' i lamh Mhorfhuilt na fuil,
 'Sgread i mar thannasc, a's theich
 A taibhse air neulaibh na gealaicb.
 Ceithir chlachan le 'n còinnteach liath
 Thogadh sud mu uaigh an laoch:
 Ga chòir sin an suain na tàmh,
 Tha 'n ribhinn bu ghile taobh.

Sileadh oighean deoir a bhròin;
 A's seiniudh na h-eoin gu tiambaidh
 Mu dhoire nan neultan dorcha.
 Rè na h-oidhche ag eisdeachd na gaoitn',
 Bha neoil dhubb dol tharum lnath;
 A's clann an adhair, gu d' theich
 Le mòr gheilt, toirt dhomh-sa fuath!
 Tha Ceannard Dhunairm na onar,
 Ri bròn, 's a sileadh dheur;
 Air uairbh thig e gan còir;
 A's cluinnear a leon air a ghaoith.
 Cha tog es-an a shleagh ni's mò,
 Ach coinnichidh a naimh ma shleagh.
 Tbuit Mac Dhunairm le m' laimh—

Thuit Mìn-bhàs fo dhailire na gealaich.
 An ré na gealaiche nuaidh,
 Théid mi an caramh an t-sluaigh,
 Cha 'n eil mùrn an talla Dhunairm,
 Theid mi, a righ; ach ni' m pill;
 Siubblaidd mi mar ghruaim nan speur,
 A sheideas gu cruidh air an raon,
 'N tra sheargas na luibhean maoth,
 Le anail fhuar na h-eigh-reatha.
 Laidh an damh aig steigh na carraig;
 'S tha eunlaidh luath gun cheòl.
 Tha' n darach gun duilleach uaine.
 Tha cirb an doire ri crathadh;
 A's sian an adhair ga ghlurasad.
 Théid an duine ga theach,
 O fhearg na doinione fuair';
 Ach seallaich athair na soilse
 Air na raoin, 's iad brònach.
 Dearsaigh a chiabhan le maise;
 A's fògraigh se namhaid nan luibh;
 Crathaidh na cnuic an gruaim air falbh,
 'S ni fàilte ris a dol seach.

Suidhibh sibhse so gu là,
 A Cheann-feadha nau slogh,
 A's tuitidh mise am aonar,
 A measg ur naimhdean is geur colg;
 Nach abrar, "Nach toir sibh buaidh.
 Chionn gu'm beil mi fhein na'r measg."

"'S muladach do sgeul r'a luadh,
 A Mhorfhuilt," se thuirt an Righ,
 "Ach ni 'n tuit thu ad' aonar sa chath,
 'S clann Alba an so na'n suain.
 Mar dhealan thu an am na strì,
 Ach coigil do chairdean a Mhorfhuilt,
 Tuitidh fadheireadh an treun,
 Treigidh samhradh an àidh,
 'S thig geomradh le ghruaim gun bhàidh.
 Bha Mìn-bhàs am madainn a h-òige,
 Mar dheò greine am barraibh ògaiu';
 'S co dheanadh còmhlag na fheirg,
 Ri mac Dhunairm a bha garg?
 Cha do laidh e gun a chliù,
 Annas a chria'-thaigh chumhann chaol.
 Gu b' iomràiteach a ghaisge, 's an dàin,
 Sheinn na baird gu blasda binn.
 Ach tha sleagh t-athar, a Mhorfhuilt,
 Fo smal an ad' lamh sa 'n uairs';
 Cha tog thu i 'n aghaidh ar nàmh—
 Cha bhi ful t-athar air do chruaidh."

'S i sleagh Cheannaird Dhuinairm,
 A tha dearg le fuli a nàmh.
 Cha togar ma laun sa chath,
 Tha i *sìnte laimh' ri m' ghradh.

* The ancient custom of laying the implements of war, and of the chase, in the grave with the fallen hero, has

Bu ladair an lamb a liobh
 An t-sleagh so a th' agam fhein ;
 Ach tha e coimhead an taibhse,
 A threig uaith air raon na nial.
 'S an toir a nainhde buaidh,
 Air athair art lài a shean aois ?
 Cha toir—'s e na chiaabhan liath,
 O righ, 'n tra thogam-sa shleagh.

A's tog e a laoich le buaidh,
 Arsa Ceannard bu mhòr cliù,
 Ach, eisd ri truaighean is mó.
 Bha mo thuireadh sa faraon,
 Airson Ainnir a chaidh aog ;
 Ach ni'n toir acain, no bròn,
 Air ais dhuinn an dream tha fo'n fhòd.
 Bu mhaiseach air sliabh Culàluinn,
 Ainnir nan lamh geala, caoin ;
 Dubh mar fhitheach bha a falt,
 'S bha brobach mar eal' air caol.
 Thigeadh smal air dearsadh, gach òigh',
 An lathair nigh'n Shonmhoir nam rath
 Gu'm b' àluinn mathair mo chloinne !
 A bha fonnar an talla a chiùl.
 Thainig nighean Aonair nan Sleagh,
 Da'n robh mo rùn an tìs m' oige ;
 'S ghabh a suil bu mhor goin,
 Culàluinn, am maise mnà.
 Na h-aonar fhuair i mo rùn,
 A's labhair i rithe am foil ;
 Nach ionnmuinn siubhal' an lò,
 'S cubhraidh' Chuilàluinn am beith.
 Tha fir na seilg air beanntaibh cian ;
 Thràigh a mhuir fada null,
 Fagail a carraige sa ghaoith bhlàth.
 A nighean Shailmhoir nam bäs mìn
 Rachamaid siar gun dàil.
 Chaidh iad tro choille nan crann,
 'S fo charraig àird mu'n iadh an cuan,
 Chaidil Culàluinn bu gheal snudh.
 Cheangail a ghuineid mhùnà
 A falt amlagach grinn,
 Na dhuail ri feamainn nan tonn ;
 A's thill i uaipe, cridhe bà !
 Le h-aighear mu gniombh nach àdh.
 Thain an fhairge tonn air thonn,
 A's dhuisg Culàluinn á suain,
 A's b' ioghná' lea ceangal a gruaige.
 O fuasgail mo leadan, a ghraidih ?
 Nach truagh leat fhein mi, òigh !
 C' uime bhuin thu rium cho bà,
 'S mo inhacain-aillidh am dheigh !
 Fhreagair mac talla nan creug, been observed here by Moralt. Abandoned to despair, he probably regarded his spear as of no further use to him ; and, as the only proof he could give of his affection for the deceased, who so unfortunately fell by his hand, he laid it in her grave. Dunarm, being weak through age, gave him his own spear, and made him his adopted son.

Ach bha nighean Aonair uaithe cian.
 Thainig tonn báiteach thar sgeir,
 'S na dheigh cha chualas a h-eigh.
 D'fhagadh i na còdaibh-eun,
 'N tra threig a bhuinn' an sgeir ;
 Tri trathan dh'i bhi mar neul,
 Air aigeal na mara ud shios.

Ach ni'n tearmunn dhut gu bràth,
 A Ghuineid, do bhrathair baoth.
 Thuit an laoch le 'm gheur lann,
 Ged' dhion e mi aon uair sa chath.
 Laimh ris ann an suram suain,
 Laidh thusa a b' uabhrache gniomh ;
 Is minig an aisling na h-oidhche,
 Thig do thaibhse le droch fhamh.
 Ach a Chuil-àill an fhult duibh,
 Is ionmhninn leam thus' am shuan !
 Thig thu gun chith, gun cholc,
 'S cha shenn fear cuairt do chòmhnaidh,
 'N tra dh' eireas gealach gun smal.
 Is minig a chluinnear do ghuth.
 Roi' thighinn na doinionna ghaibh'.
 Cluinnidh am maraich' an òigh,
 A's gabhaidh tamh fo sgeith na creige ;
 A coimhead nan tonn gun bheud,
 Is caomh leis eigh nam boghannan,
 Ged' eireadh iad ard san duibhre !
 Ambuil a thuit mo chaomh, a Mhorfhult,
 A's dh' eirich mo shleagh le buaidh ;
 Cha mhaireann aon ghràdh air thalamh,
 A's leagar mor ghaisgeach san uaigh.

Dh' aithris Ceannard sgeula blhròin,
 'S am feachd bha tosdach trom !
 Bhrùchadh osnaidh a' chleibh,
 'N tra dh' aithris e sgeula na truaighe.
 'S an doire dhaillreach bha thamh,
 Cha d' għluais an osag am fraoch mìn ;
 Cha do shiubhail na neoil thar bheinn,
 'S ni'n robh sian an ciabh nan crag ;
 Bha gach crann a's lus an sith,
 A's laidh a għaoth a sios gu grad.
 Ciod tha dearsadh san ear,
 Faoin chruth le fāite gāire ?
 Tha għealach na cadal gu seamh,
 'S ni'm beil a għriau a tighin air faire.
 'S i oighe an uċċed chreuchdaich a th' ann,
 Le mīle solas tighin' na deann.
 Mìn-bhas gu Mhorfhalt an tir chein,
 A tha giulan sgeith a h-athar.
 Ni'm beil a h-immeachd am feirg,
 Is caomh i air an leirg gu h-ard.
 Cuir fuadach fo smalan na h-oidhche,
 Tha *reull na maidne na dearna ;
 A tighin' mar dhearsadh am moch thrà,
 Toirt fios duinn mu eiridh na greine.

* Moidearg-mhadne.

C' uime tha t-imeachd cho luath,
 Ainnir shuairec's gile gnùis?
 Ach dh-fhag thu mhadaiun òg 'na t-àite,
 Is caomh leth-dheàlrach do chruth;
 Thar bhadan ceathaich na leirge,
 A dh-fhalbas ro' eiridh na greine.

AN TREAS EARRAN.

Bha briseadh na fàire 's an ear,
 'S theich duibhre air sgiathan luathais:
 Dh' imich na reultan fad as;
 'S bha ghrian a togail a cinn àidh,
 'N tra thog am bàrd a ghuth.

Chuir Sunar, Ceann-feadhna nan laoch,
 Tha treun mar charraig nan tonn,
 Mar chnoc air thir-mor nach gluaisear,
 Mise thugaibh, shiol nam beann.
 Tha fhirenn air sgiathan ro threun;
 'S tha sheobhaig ma cheum gu luath;
 Bha fhithich ma loma long!
 Air imeachd nan cuaintean mòr.
 An tabhair ceannard na tir'
 A shuinn dhaibh mar chlosaich?
 Na 'n tuit e sios do'n ghaisgeach,
 Ag tabhairt feidh a shleibhteann ard?
 Uaibhsc, theich o'n chath,
 Tha Siol Lochluinn nan sleagh gcur,
 Ag iaraidh freagairt gu grad.

'S ard guth Shunar gun ag,
 Philidh dhùn nan ciabhan liatha:
 Tha bhriathran labhar neo-mheat,
 A chionn nach eil a naimhdean lioumlhor.

Ach, suidh thus' air an fhraoch,
 A mhacain nam fonn is biun';
 A's theid an t-slige làn mu'n cuairt;
 Cha'n eil ar fuath air clann nam fonn;
 A's pill a rithsd, gu foil,
 Gu Righ Lochluinn, a ghlòir nach àdh;
 Innis dha gu'm beil eunlaidh nan sliabhl,
 Air sgiath an déis an creich fein.
 Thigeadh e le mhiltean sloigh;
 Tha neart n'ar cridhe-ne 'ta mòr

Chual am bard briathran an Righ,
 A's dh-fhalbh e'n ardan a chrì:
 Bha aithris nan taibhse na chuairt,
 O'n chunnait e'n sluagh a thuit.*
 Mar thig an doireann bho thuath,

* The bard, leaving the adverse host, reflected on the high spirit of either army, and inferred the effects that would naturally ensue. Being inspired with such thoughts, he looked forward with a prophetic eye, and pronounced the fall of the people. Hence often the ground of belief in the second sight.

Le gaoth luath a's nialta fliuch,
 A tuirlinn o ghruidhean nam beann,
 Nuas air aonachl, ghlinn, a's shlochd—
 Mar sin thainig Sunar le shuin.
 Bha 'n sgìathan mar nialaibh na h-oidhche—
 Bha 'n aghaidh mar reultan a' lasadh,
 'S na plathanaibh duibhreach, nialach.

Chaidh neart na h-Alba air adhart,
 Mar ghaillbheann-thonn le gair,
 Tha g' imeachd an neart nan sian,
 Tha gluasad o chian gu h-àrd.
 Cluinnidh am maraiche an twirm,
 'S le fiadh theid e na dhàil,
 O nach urr'e nis a sheachnad,
 Tha 'g iomairt air aghaidh na bhàrc.

Cia mar dh'aithriseam fein
 Gniomhan euchdach 'ur n-arm?
 A shealgair Choirre-nan-stùc,
 Chunna' do shuil Mor-clreag—
 A tha togail a chinn gu h-àrd,
 'S a gabhail nan nial na chiabh,
 O mhulach tha tòirleum a nuas,
 Le tailmrich o ghruidhean craig,
 Sruth laidir, tha siubhal gu luath,
 Gu cuan, o aonach a's ghleann,
 'S a tuasaid ri buinne na fairge;
 Ach bu ghaire, a shealgair, an tred.

Mar lùbas a chluseag fhann,
 Fo dhoinionn na h-àibheis, fuair,
 'N uair bhios buaireas thaibhse dian,
 'S na siantan uile fo ghruaim.
 Lùb Siol Lochluinn gu lùath
 Roimh Righ Alba nan sluagh àir.
 Chunnaic Sunar e tighin—
 A's chrath e tri uairean a shleagh.
 Ach crathaidh tu i gu faoin,
 A mhic Lochluinn a ghuth aird.
 Mar charraig roi' dhoineann garbh,
 Tha ceann-feadhna na h-Alba an tràs.
 Am buinne tha neartar, mear,
 Teichidh roimh aghaidh gun chail.

"Ach an do theich mise riamh,"
 'S e labhair Righ Lochluinn nan clar.
 "Mar dhoinionn an adhair mo laimh,
 Cha seas na beanntan fein le'n coill,
 'S le'n stacaibh cragach, am lathair.
 Air an fhairge thug mi buaidh,
 'N uair le feirge do sgaoil an cuan,
 Mu fhearann a's fhonn, ag eigheach,
 Is bheum gach rutha, a's sgeir bheucach.
 Ach 's faoin a labhair thu, chuain,
 Bhuirb nan stuadh-ghlasa baoth?
 Nach tug mi fèin ort roimhe buaidh?
 'S an seas Ceannard an t-sluagh so ri m' thaobh??"

Sin samhul do bhriathraibh an laoich.
 Ach, chrithnich an talamh mu'n cuairt,
 'N tra thog iad an sleaghan ard ;
 Thuit craobhan le m' freumhach buaint',
 'S chrith creagan fo chasan naii treun ?
 A's leum iad o'n leabaidh thaimh.
 'S iomadh cruaidh a bha á truail,
 A's saighead a siubhal a h-iubhar.
 Bha seoid ag amharc an strí,
 'S dà righ a gleac' gu borb.
 Thuit sgiath Shunair gu lar,
 'S thar a shloigh thuige le fiamhl ;
 Thog Mordubh a shleagh gu h.-ard,
 Ach chun' e uchd a nàimh gun sgiath.
 Bha smaointeán air gniomhan éuchd,
 A's ghleidh e laimh air ais.

Bha Morfholt air aghaidh 's a chath—
 Leis thuit laoch air gach buille
 Sheas Ceann-feadhna bho thuath an cein ;
 Bha airde mar chraoilbh fo blà.
 Dh'aom clann Alba air an ais,
 O sgeith laidir mar stuadh o charraig,
 Amhuil darag aosda nan árd,
 'S na siantan ri comhstrí dhian.
 Ach togaidh tu do cheann le buaidh
 Tha maiseach, gun bheud o'n stoirn :
 Mu d' thimcheall tha dion gach uair ;
 'S thig an sealgair o'n fhuachd a d' dhlùthas,
 A's gheibh e dion o'n iunnrais fhuair :
 Mar sin tha sgiath an laoich da shluagh.
 Thog Morfholt a shleagh gu éuchd,
 A's ghabh e'n còdhail a glaisgich,
 'S bu ghàbhaidh còmhrag nam fear borb ;
 Fhreagair mac-talla nan creag
 Do dh' fhuaim an lannan glas' géura—
 Chuir iad coill a's fraoch á bun,
 Le 'n casan air uilinn an t-sleibhe—
 A's chrithnich clanna nan crion,
 Ag coimhead ri gniomh nan tréun-shear

Is mor a ghreis a thug na seoid,
 'S na sloigh a coimhead an éuchdan ;
 Ach chlaou iad araon air an fhraoch,
 'S fuil chraobhach a ruith o'n creuchdaibh.

Sin labhair Morfholt na mor ghniomh,
 Cha'n eirich mo shleagh ni 's mó ;
 'S cha ruisgear mo chruaidh 's a chath.
 Tha aon bhrathair agam fòs,
 Mas' a beò e, Solbha treun,
 Sealgair an fheidh air Bunar :
 Ma thuiteas tu leis gheibh thu cliù—
 Oir cha trù an t-òg gun mheang.

An do thog mi mo lamh, 's mo lann,
 A Mhorfhuilt, a t-aghaidh, mo bhrathair ?
 A sheol an tùs dhomh cleasan lùgh ;
 Ach, ni 'n t-sleagh ni 's mó.
 Fàram lamh mo bhrathair chaoimh,
 'S gu 'n càram an so e ri m' thaobh.
 Theid siùn le cheile air chnuairt,
 Gu teach ar n' athraichean thug buaidh ;
 Biodh ar leabaidh 's an nial,
 An ionadan sian nan taibhse.

Chual an sluagh balbh a ghloir,
 'S bu mhor am bròn air sou an laoich.
 Theich Siol Lochluinn g' an cabhlach,
 A's shil deoir Mhordhuibh mar bhraon ;
 Phill e air ais a shuinn—
 Thog iad leac-lighe gu h.-ard,
 A's sheinn am bàrd cliù an t-seiod.
 Tha darag aosda na chòir,
 'S na mheuraibh mòr tha sranna ghaoth—
 Tha dealan an adhair mu'n cuairt,
 'S cha tig fear turais na dhàil—
 Seachnaidh e 'n t iuil nach àdh,
 An aimsir nan reultan cian—
 Tha dà thaibhse mu'n cuairt an còinleannaidh,
 Le acain bhròn tha siubhal air siantaibh.

COLLATH.

THA acain am aisling neo-chaoin !*

An cadal do laogh, athair ?

Is eagal leamsa doinionn chraidh ;

Tha toirm gun àdh air na flathaibh.

Ciod e, Chollaith, fà t-acain ?

Arsa Aosar a ghuth bhinn.

Chunnacas, deir e-san, slige gu h-òl,
Do shuil nàmh o dhortadh lann.

B' uamhann do m' anam an gniomh !

Ciod c bhrìgh, a shiol nan rann ?

Ach 's faoin so aisling na suain ?

Is faoin neo-bhuan gach uile nl.

Tuitidh an gaisgeach treun ua threis,

A's àillteachd gach cruth gu crion.

Mar shruthas blà na coill—

Mar thig neul dailreach air a ghlène—

Is amhuil sin beatha nam beo !

Cha choigil 's cha chaomhain sinn seud.

Ach, an comhnuidh dhomhs' am thamh ?

A mhic Chollaith, mo ghraidi, ca' beil thu ?

Aona mhic mo cheile chaoimh !

A t-aonar am beil thu air lear ?

Fair an lann ud air an eallachainn,

Mac-samhailt do dhealan nan cath.

Tbog Oglaoch an lann so g'a liobh—

Lann m' athraichean an gniomh nan rath.

Is iomadh cath a's còmhrag cruaidh

Is cuimhne leam a bhi le buaidh.

Fhreagair an sin Aosar nan dàn,

A curaidh, a Chollaith nam buadh,

C'uime—ma bitheadh t-inntinn fo phräml—

Bha Oglaoch mar athraichean treun,

Curaidh treubhach e 's a chath,

A' mosgladhl air faiche nan crnaidh.

'S e bheireadh buaidh thar mhile flath.

A's aosda lag mi nis fo bhròn,

Thuirt Collath, 's a dheoir a ruith !

* Fonar, the Author of this Poem, belonged to the illustrious and once powerful family of Collath. He accompanied his young friend, in his last expedition, to rescue Annir, the betrothed bride of Oglach, and only child of Rutha, whom Ardan, a chief of a distant isle, carried off in the absence of her friends. Her exquisite beauty gained her many admirers. She preferred the Son of Collath. By their marriage the two most powerful families of Caledonia would have been united. But these hopes were never to be realised. The Poem opens with a vision of Collath, and concludes with a lament of the fall of the race of Collath, chief of Carrig. It is partly dramatic.

Tha tuilte dol tharuinn gnì dlù,

A c' ait' am beil m' annsachd fein an diugh.

Gu b' ionmuinn thu Oglaoich threin,

Mo leanabh fein a b' aille cruth !

Bha thu fann roimhimeachd do nàmh,

'S an triall mar thoran thar Mealldubh;

A's thig an là gun teach, gun àigh,

Gun talla, gun fhlaithaibh, gun cheòl,

'S am bi Siol Armuinn fo sprochd,

Mar fbaileas ruiteach tro' neoil.

Ach 's diomhain mo thuireadh gu leir !

Ciod so 'm fà mu'm beil mo chri

Fo bhruallean le aisling chruaidh ?

A bualladh gu critheach, gun fhois,

Mar dhuiilleach roi dhoinionn 's na cluanaibh.

Fhreagair mi fhein gu seamh,

A's tioma bhròn ga 'm chlaoi !

"Am fanam-sa so am thamb," Thuirt Oglaoch, "'s mo ghradh am dhì ?

Cha chaill mi, ars' e-san, mo chliu,

Ann am madainn chaomh na h-oige.

B' eug-samhuil na h-armuinn threuna,

M' athraiche feile, gun ghiomh :

'S ni 'm fanamsa so gun àdh,

Mar gheug gun duille gun bhlà ;

Bheir mi buaidh air ardan fein,

Neo théid mi eug, 's e chual

Mi, as tartar a cheum

A ruighinn gu h-eutrom mo chlnas.

Tba' cruth caoin mar dheo greine,

'S deirge beul no bilibh ròis ;

Tha h-anail ni's cubhraidl na'n sùth,

'S a guth binn mar inneal ceoil

'S i's aille dealbh de'n t-sluagh !

Bheireamsa buaidh da trid !

Aiteal sùl is glaine snuadh,

Ainnir shuaice 's igheann rìgh.

Mar torchair mi 'n oigh le m' lainn,

Ni mi còdhail rithe thall.

Mo chridhe tha 'g eiridh neo-throm,

A leumnaich le aiteas am chom !

O thaibhse nan treun shear, a threig,

C' ait an comhnuidh dhuibh o'n eng ?

An comhnuidh d' ur n' anma an àdh,

Gun cheò na Lanna, no blàr ?

Gach fiùran le òigh gun smal,

Neo-ionan a's sine ri gal."

Thog e ri crannaibh na seoil,

A's dhomhlaich uime a shluaign ;

Ri comh-strì ghailbheach nan tonn,

Bha fonn a ghaoil ann a bheul.
 Cha mheata, am feasd, a chri,
 A's Ainnir da dhì 's an iuil ;
 'S an oidhche fhearthuinneach gu lò,
 Ag udal cuain an aghaidh shian,
 "Fagamaid acain a's bròn," Thuit Oglaoch, "gu clanna nan crion,
 Taosgar gach boinne de m' fhuit.
 Mu'n leigear leo an òigh."
 Dh' eirich leinne cairdean treun,
 Thar lear a thorchar clu—
 Dh' eirich leinn Eilean nan laoch—
 Dh' eirich leinn Fraoch a's a shluagh.
 A chaitheadh ar slighe 's a chuan,
 Ghabh sinn an sin duan mu seach ;
 Sin sheinn duinn filidh nam fonn,
 'S a ghuth bha ard thar tuinn a's lear.

Biodh anam àidh ag taomadh,
 Mar chaocchan ann an nualan ciuil,
 Is eibhinn le m' chluas an torraghau trom !
 Mar chabhlach nan caomh fo shiuil.
 Is ion' le m' chri an t-aiteas ard.
 Tha 'g eirdh àdhmhòr a steach !
 Mar chlaraibh an talla nam fonn,
 Mar chuileann an sonn nach meat,
 Mar fblath-innis mhìle bàrd,
 Biodh smaointe graidh a chri !
 Ionmhuinn gach sile, gach braon,
 Ionmhuin maraon a's Beul-bì,
 Caoin chruth geal nan ioma dual,
 O shiol na cathraiche nuaidh,
 Càir gheal a chamhair a cneas,
 'S a leaca mìn mar na ròis ;
 Amhuilt i 's an t-sobhrach bhàn,
 Reull nan ioma b' àille snuadh ;
 Bha i mar aiteal na greine,
 'S a mbadainn ag eiridh gun ghruaum.
 Ach tuitidh fathasd luibh an raoin ;
 Seargaidh a caoin chruth 's a dreach ;
 "Sruthaidh a blàthan gun bhuain,"
 'S e deir Mac Nuith is geire beachd.

Thug i ceisd, a's a gaol trom
 Do Shonn òg a chaidh thar lear ;
 A's dh'eirich doinionnan lann
 Mu oigh chaoin gheal nan cleachd,
 Tha aigne 'n laoich mar aiteal speur,
 No lasair dhein air aonach ard ;
 Co thraoghas a bhuirb ghàir ?

A chlanna fial nan armunn fiuidhidh,
 Eiribh gu duthaich sad as,
 Gu taomadh oirn mar dhoinionnan ghaibh,
 Ni h-aoibhinn an fheirg a tha las'.
 Ach mairidh cliu nan saoidh gach ial,
 A ghleachdas ri truaighean gun mheath.
 A laochraidh nan sleagh liobhaidh geur,

Togadh oirbh, mear, leumnach, garg,
 Mor—uaibhreach—borb,
 Le uamhann cith agus colg !
 Theid gathaibh leoin tre 'n cridhe ;
 (Is aoibhinn fulang nan treun !)
 Buirbe nan gaisgeach 's an strì,
 Coigil a d' chleibh a's a d' shuain.
 Lamh nan treun gu cath biodh leat,
 'S an àrach fo lamh gu sguab.
 'N tra thraoghas gaitbhéinn na h-àibheis,
 Mar an t-ànrach claoite sgith ;
 Sealhaidh gnuis an iunrais caoin,
 Amhail laoich n' tra philleas sith.
 Ach e-sau a thuiteas le buaidh,
 Tha e faighinn caochladh nuadh ;
 A mhealtuinn ionmhas nan saoidh,
 Nach ionmhuinn a chaoi, a chomhnuidh !

Thainig tioma air mo chri,
 Ri cuimhne na chunna' mi fhein !
 Gualain-chatha nach bu tim,
 Flathaibh fuiteach bha ri m' linn.
 Nach eil a h-aon diu am shean aois ?
 Nach b' eibhinn a bhi leo seach leinn ?
 Cbunnacas soun mor nam buadh,
 Curaidh uaibhreach nan gniomh garg :
 Lubadh nan cathan fo lainn,
 'N uair a mhoscadh e am feirg.
 'S e aigne an laoich a bha ard—
 Bha bhoile mar chaoiribh chruach.
 Cha robh e riamh ann an sìth,
 'N uair ruisgeadh na lannan san strì ;
 Bhaimeachd mar thoran tro ghleann,
 Mar dhealan an adhair bha dheann.
 Ach threig an gaisgeach o chian,
 Carraig-chatha a chridhe fhiat ;
 'S chaidh mar aon ris iomadh còmhlan,
 Cha n-è mo shòlas nach eil e buan.
 Ach teirigidh sinn uile fa-dheoidh,
 A's chi an lò sinn smal' san uaigh.*

Ach mairidh gu suthain 's an dàn,
 Gniomhan alloil aidh nan saoidh :
 'N uair chrionas a cholluinn gu smùr,
 Mar an ùir an còmhachd criadh ;
 Mar cheathach tra nòin air an t-sliabh,
 Triallaidh an deò ag imeachd uainn,
 Far nach teirig grian, no gradh—
 Far a maireanu àdl nan sonn.

Ach, Oglaich, is deacair trom,
 Sean aois a chromas an t-àrd,
 A chaochaileas cruth nam flath,

* Fonar, who was a warrior as well as a bard, recites past events, in which he, together with the aged chief, whose mind is soothed with a recital of the deeds of former days, acted a part : and his own state frequently and naturally occurs to him.

'S a dhallas fradharc chail nam bàrd.
Cia mar sheinneas mi dhut ceòl,
A laoch oig, am chiabhan liath ?
'S e labhair mi fein ris an t-saoidh,
Ceannard òg nam mile cliar.

Chunnacas renll bu dealrach dreach,
A soillse tro' dhuibhre na h-oidhche ;
A's shoillsich a ghealach a rìs,
'S na neoil ag imeachd gu luath.
" Mar aiteal nan reull ud gu h-ard,
Tha maise Ainnir," ars' an laoch,
" A lionadh m' anam do ghradh ;
Ged' tha thusa balbh ad' dheoir !
Còm is meuchaire, mhìne, ghile,
Taomadh gaoil mar dhearsa na h-òidhche !'
A lionadh anam de shòlais,
Is binne guth no fuaim nan clàr,
Is àille dreach no cruth cubhraidh,
An nòinean bhàin fo dhealt nan speur.
Is anmhor an t-aiteas so am chliabh !
Ciod so an sòlas diamhair,
A tha ga'm lionadh guu fhoghnadh ?
Tha m' aigneadh a' leumnaich a ghna,
Le buaidh a's mor ghradh na h-oighe.
Air an t-sleagh so ann am laimh,
Pillidh sinn o'n àr le buaidh !
Pillidh, no tuitidh le cliù,
Air son an rùin a tha bhuainn.
Pillidh mar aon a gaol
Ro chaoin, mar ri caochladh cath.
Tha m' aigneadh a' leumnaich gu còmhrag.
Is ionmhuinn le oighean mac rath.

Aithris dhuinn fhilidh nan dàn,
Thuirt mi fhein am briathraibh ciùin,
Mar bha oigh na h-iomair bhaigh,
Rè a latha an reull iùil.
Beul-bì,* sólus mhìle crì,
Maise mnà a bhil bhì ;
Ighean gaoil bu bhlasda ceol,
A falt mar fhitheach, dubh mar smeoir.
Bha maise a's gradh le cheil' na sealladh,
A mala crom mar ite 'n lön ;
A còm seamh, finealta, fuasgait',
Cha lubadhl a ceum am feirnean.
Bu chruth ionmholt an ribhinn ;
Ach ciod am fà mu'n robh sa 'g radh ?
Gach aona bhuaidh do bhi air finne,
Bha sud air dunach nan laoch,
A thuit mar ghallan nan gleann,
Mar sgathar fiùran nan crann.

* The history of Belvi is introduced here with great propriety. The injured are apt to think their own case without a parallel, and the burden of the afflicted becomes lighter, when they are assured that others suffer the like, or greater hardships.

Ach dh-fhailig mor mhais' a ghaoil,
Chaochail ' cruth àillidh gu h-aog !
'N uair bhual lann Chounlaoich uebd Dhouna-ghaill,
'S a ruith fhuil na thonnan blà !
Chlaon e air uilinn an t-armunn,
An gath nimhe chaidh tro' airnean ;
Gath geur guineacb nan trì cholg,
Os ceann imleig shàth na bholg.
Bha tosga tiugha nam beum luatha,
A reuhadh feoil, a's cnai' ga'm bruasgadh.
Gach lann, mar dhealan an adhair,
Mar fhalaig air, sliabh na lasair,
Dlb'aom na flatbaibh fo mbaoim :
Bu dearg gach srutban san raon.
Thuit e mu throma ghràdh na h-oighe !
Mar chobhar sruth bha fhuil a dortadh,
'S a ruithl—'s e ful a chridhe bh' ann,
A brùcadh tro' chreuchdan nan lann.
Uaith sin, chluinte caoiran na h-oighe' :—
" Och, mo dhorainn, agus m' acain !
Nach deachaidh mi eug o chian,
Mu'n d'fhuaire aon fhleasgach mo ghaol !
Thuit mo rogbainn, thuit mo rùn,
Ach ma thuit e, fhuaire e chliù.
Och ! nach robh sinn, ruin ghil còmhla,
Fo'n fhòd ghròm a gabhail comhnaidh !
Theireadh iad, an sin n'an tàmh,
Tha òg-fhlath nam buadh, 's a ghràdh,
An ceangal buan, an glais a bhàis.
Thuit fad mar luibhean an raoin,
Le'n uile bhlà, 's a mhadainn chubhraidh,
'S ari dealt a boillsgeadh le gath greine."

Mar sin, thàr sinn chuige gu sèamh ;
Bha ar caoimh a tighin' san duibhre ;
Thamh sinn car ghreis air an leirg,
Gu briseadh fàire na maidne.
Bba'n cuan siar mar lainnir,
Le soillse àdlimhor o'n ear ;
A's dealt nan speur air gach blà,
Gu foinéil tlà mar an lear.
Chaidh sinn f'ar n' armaibh gu leir ;
'S chaidh mosgladh fa eilean nan stuadh.
" Rachadhl, thuirt Oglaoch, ard, mear, Romhainn a nis' teachdair luath."
Chuir sinn romhainn Lughmhor òg,
Le fios gu Ardan, gun àdh !
" E chur chugainn Ainnir na mais',
'S gu'm pilleadh ar feachd ga'n cabhlach."
'S e thuirt Ardan a chridhe bhuir,
" Sinn fein a philleadh gu grad,
Air neo gu sguabadh e gach saoidh
Gulear, mar fhaileas roi'n ghaoidh
Gu lubadh e Oglaoch fo lann,
Mar mheangan an doire nan crann."
Dhomhlaich an siu na sloigh
Air an fhaiche gu h-ard,

A's thàr sinn a suas nan codhail
Gun fhiamh, ge b' iomadh na laoich.

Bhuail na saoidh air a chéile,
A's chrith an learg fo'n casan,
Thainig Ardan, mar bhuinne borh ;
Ag iarraidh Oglaoich gu còmhrag,
E-sau sheas roimhe gu treun,
Mar charraig roimh eiridh nan tonn :
Bu chruaidh am buillean 's bu gharg,
'S an chridhe leumnaich nan com.
Mar thuiteas taosgadh a chuain,
'S a dh'islicheas buirbe nan tonn,
Roinbh Oglaoch nam beuma nach clì,
Bha Ardan a fannach' s an stri.
" Am meanglau mi nis a lùbas
Fo d' laimhse, churaidh gun àdh ?
C'uime nach leigeadh tu leam
An òigh a thug thu thar tuinn ?
Ainnir nam meall-shuilean mìne,
'S an domh fhìn a thug i gradh !"
" Cha leiginn leat an oigh chaoin,
No le aon laoch ann ad t-fheachd.
Is cian a shiubhail mi 'n cuan,
Is eileanan stuadh-ghlasa sàil,
'S cha 'n fhacas a samhla fo 'n ghréin,
'S cha sgar o cheile siun ach bas."
Siu mar labhair na suinn,
An crual'-gileachd 's am buinn ga 'n stailc ;
Bha aigneadh an armuinn nach bu chì
Ag eiridh air bhoile 's an stri.
Thug e iarraidh dheacair threun,
A's shàth e churaidh an cridhe Ardain.
Thuirlinn na cathaibh gu domhail,
'S bha Oglaoch am meadhon a nàmh.
Thainig Fraoch nan sonn ga chomhna,
'S bha abhainn fala dòl seach.
Mar dhealan an adhair bha 'n laonnaibh—
An tartar mar thòran adhair,—
Shìn a's thàr iad gu chéile,
A's thuit na treun-fhir sa' bhìlar.
Cha robb Ceanna-bheirt na dhìdinn—
Cha robb roinn gun reuba fuileach !
Mar sin bha iomairt nan laoch,
Gus an do theich na h-iomadh.
Thug sinn ar n'aghaidh gu lear ;
A's thog sinn leinn Oglaoch creuchdach,
A's Fraoch, a's iomadh fear treun,
A chàradh fo lic an cois na tràghad :
A's Ainnir a tharluinn nan dàil,
Fhuaradh ise urad siar,
A cruth a caochladh mar neul !
A's sleagh sàithaithe na cliabh—
A com caoin bu ghile snuadh,
Air caochladh le dìle fala !—
A falt am-lubach cleachdach
Na dhualaibh a falach a taobh—
Bha h-acain leoin fadheoidh,

Mu Oglaoch caomh a graidh !
Thog sinn dà lic le 'n còintich,
A's sheinn an filidh an ciù ;
'S am fuigheal brònach a mhair,
Thog sinn thar lear ar siuil !*
Bha sinn làtha sgith air chuan,
Air udal seach stuadhan ard,
A seoladh gu muladach trom,
As eagais an t-suinn 's a ghràidh.

" A's dh-fhag sibh mo laogh an céin,"
Arsa Collath, 's a dheur a rnith ;
" Bu gheal an cridhe bha na choim,
'S bu chaoine no deo grein a chruth.
Shaoileam, Oglaoch threin,
Gu biodh tu leam fhein an diugh,
Mar neart dhomh am shean aois,
A's feasgar mo là dhomh dlù,
Is gearr an rè a shuair
Thu, Ogain a b'uaisele gniomh !
Bu mhor treoir do lamh 's do lainn :
A's thuit thu, Oglaoch nach bu chì !
Ach mairidh do chliù 'san dàn,
A's triallaidh mìse gun dàil a d' dheigh,
Gu cilean nan flath san iar,
'S mo ghrian a laidle air lear.
'S neo-aoibhinn a sealla an tràs—
Philidh dhàn nach eil i 'm bròn ?"
" Tha," thuit Binn-ghuth gu cùdin,
" Ach duisgidh i thall ud a cèòl.†"
" N uair thréigeas i sinne car seal,
Cha bhi gal air saoidh tha thall,
" Ach Phonair, aithris do sgeul,"
Arsa Collath fein, an sin.
" Eilean mo ghaoil, 's e a t' ann,"
Arsa 'm Filidh, ar fear iuil.
" An t-eilean mu'n iadh an cuan ard,
A togail a chinn gu cùr' !
Togail a chinn tro cheo-allaidh,
A's neul a folach gach stuadh.

Mo chean ort fein, ge d' is cian,
Caraid fhial bu mhor gràdh !
De shiol fhlathaibh nad ceud chath,
Thainig oirn' an là nach àdh !
Thuit na gaisgich, thuit na saoidh.
'S truagh an laoidh a tha na'r beul !
A caoïdh sliochd Chollaith nan gràdh ;
A's tòblà an Rutha a thuit naith cian.
O fhinne gaoil a tha gun mhairg,
'S e mo chreach ! an fhairg tha steach.

* This description of the heroine is beautiful and affecting. On the fall of Ardan she was set at large, and sought her friends in the midst of danger; a spear pierced her side—they found her like a pale cloud, inquiring for the youth of her love with her latest breath !

* Perhaps it is impossible, at this day, to decide with any certainty to what part of the Highlands the AGED BARD belonged, or at what time he flourished. Mrs Grant of Laggan, who has given a metrical version of the above poem, says, "It was composed in Skye," though upon what authority she has not said. The poem itself seems to furnish some evidence that at least the scene of it is laid in Loehaber. Treig* is mentioned as having afforded drink to the hunters. Now Loch Treig is in the braes of Lochaber. We know of no mountaius which is now called Ben-ard or Scur-eilt. Perhaps Ben-ard is another name for Ben-nevis. The great waterfall, mentioned near the end of the poem, may have been Eas-bhà, near Kinloch-leven in Lochaber. The following is almost a literal translation of the above poem :—

THE AGED BARD'S WISH.

O place me near the brooks, which slowly move with gentle steps; under the shade of the shooting branches lay my head, and be thou, O sun, in kindness with me.

At ease lay my side on the grass, upon the bank of flowers and soft zephyrs—my feet bathed in the wandering stream that slowly winds along the plain.

Let the primrose pale, of grateful hue, and the little daisy surround my hillock, greenest when bedewed; my hand gently inclined, and the ealvi† at my ear in its freshness.

Around the lofty brow of my glen let there be bending boughs in full bloom, and the children of the bushes making the aged rock re-echo their songs of love.

Let the new-born gurgling fountain gush from the ivy-covered rock; and let all-melodious echo respond to the sound of the stream of ever-successive waves.

Let the voice of every hill and mountain re-echo the sweet sound of the joyous herd; then shall a thousand lowings be heard all around.

Let the frisking of calves be in my view, by the side of a stream, or on the activity of a hill; and let the wanton kid, tired of its gambols, rest with its innocence on my bosom.

Poured on the wing of the gentle breeze, let the pleasant voice of lambs come to my ear; then shall the ewes answer when they hear their young running towards them.

* We likewise find Treig spoken of in "Oran na comhaebhaig," where the author of that piece says, "Olaidi mi a Treig mo team-shath."

† An herb called St John's wort.

Mu'n cuairt do bhruachaibh àrd mo ghlinn',
Biodh lùbadh ghéug a's orra blà;
'S clann bheag nam preas a' tabhaint seinn,
Do chreagaibh aosd' le òran gràidh.

Briseadh tro chreag nan eidheann dlù,
Am fuaran ùr le torramam trom,
'S freagraidh mac-talla gach ciùil,
Do dh' fhuaim srutha dlù nan tonn.

Freagraigdh gach cnoc, agns gach sliabh,
Le binn-fhuaim geur nan aighean mear;
'N sin cluinnidh mise mile geum,
A' riuth m'an cuairt domh 'n far san ear.

O let me hear the hunter's step, with the sound of his darts and the noise of his dogs upon the wide-extended heath; then youth shall beam on my cheek, when the voice of hunting the deer shall arise.

The marrow of my bones shall awake when I hear the noise of horns, of dogs, and of bow-strings; and when the cry is heard, "The stag is fallen," my heels shall leap in joy along the heights of the mountains.

Then methinks I see the hound that attended me early and late, the hills which I was fond of haunting, and the rocks which were wont to re-echo the lofty horn.

I see the cave that often hospitably received our steps from night; cheerfulness awaked at the warmth of her trees;* and in the joys of her eups there was much mirth.

Then the smoke of the feast of deer arose; our drink from Treig, and the wave our music; though ghosts should shriek, and mountains roar, reclined in the cave, undisturbed was our rest.

I see Ben-ard of beautiful curve, chief of a thousand hills; the dreams of stags are in his locks, his head is the bed of clouds.

I see Scur-eilt on the brow of the glen, where the cuckoo first raises her tuneful voice; and the beautiful green hill of the thousand firs, of herbs, of roes, and of elks.

Let joyous ducklings swim swiftly on the pool of tall pines. A strath of green firs is at its head, bending the red rowans over its banks.

Let the beauteous swan of the snowy bosom glide on the tops of the waves. When she soars on high among the clouds she will be unencumbered.

She travels oft over the sea to the cold region of foaming billows, where a sail shall never be spread out to a mast, nor an oaken prow divide a wave.

Be thou by the summits of the mountains, the mournful tale of thy love in thy mouth, O swan, who hast travelled from the land of waves; and may I listen to thy music in the heights of heaven.

Up with thy gentle song; pour out the doleful tidings of thy sorrow; and let all-melodious echo take up the strain from thy mouth.

Spread out thy wing over the main. Add to thy swiftness from the strength of the wind. Pleasant to my ear are the echoings of thy wounded heart—the song of love.

* Allusion is here made to a fire of wood.

M'an cuairt biodh lù-chleas nan laogh,

Le sranna ghàth, a's chon feagh sléibh,
'N sin dearsaidh an òig air mo ghruaidh,
'Nuair dh-eireas toirm air sealg an fhéidh,

An deoch á Tréig 's an tonn ar ceòl,
Ge d'sheinneadh tàisg 's ge d'rànanadh sléibh,
Sinn te 's an uaimh bu sheamh ar neoil.

From what land blows the wind that bears the voice of thy sorrow from the rock, O youth, who wendest on thy journey from us, who hast left my hoary locks forlorn.

Are the tears in thine eyes, O thou virgin most modest and beauteous, and of the whitest hand. Joy without end to the smooth cheek that shall never move from the narrow bed.

Say, since mine eye has failed, O wind, where grows the rock with its mournful sound? by its side the little fishes whose wings never felt the winds' soft breath, maintain their sportive conflict.

Raise me with a strong hand, and place my head under the fresh birch; when the sun is at high noon let its green shield be above mine eyes.

Then shalt thou come, O gentle dream, who swiftly walkest among the stars; let my night-work be in thy music, bringing back the days of my joy to my recollection.

See, O my soul, the young virgin under the shade of the oak, king of the forest! her hand of snow is among her locks of gold, and her mildly rolling eye on the youth of her love.

He sings by her side—She is silent. Her heart pants, and swims in his music; love flies from eye to eye; deers stop their course on the extended heath.

Now the sound has ceased; her smooth white breast heaves to the breast of her love; and her lips, fresh as the unstained rose, are pressed close to the lips of her love.

Chi mi Beinn-àrd is àillidh fiambh,
Ceann-feadhna air mhile beann,
Bha aisling nan damh na ciabh,
'S i leabaidh nan nial a ceann.

Chi mi Sgorr-eild' air bruach a ghlinn'
An goir a chuach gu binn au tòs.
A's gorm mheall-àild' na mìle giubhas
Nan luban, nan earba, 's nan lön.

Biodh tuinn òg a snàmh le sunnd,
Thar linne 's mìne giubhas, gu luath.
Srath ghiubhas uain' aig a ceann,
A' lubadh chaoran dearg air bruaich.

Biodh eal' àluinn an uchd bhàin,
A snàmh le spreigh air bharr nan tonn,
'Nuair thogas i sgiath an àird,
A measg nan nial cha'n fhàs i tràm.

'S tric i 'g astar thar a chuain,

'S tu seinn dhomh ciùil an aird nan speur.

O! eirich thus' le t-òran ciùin,
'S cuir naigheachd bhochd do bhròin an ceilidh.
'S glacaidh mac-talla gach ciùil,
An gùth túrsa sìn o d' bheul.

Happiness without end to the lovely pair, who have awaked in my soul a gleam of that happy joy that shall not return! Happiness to thy soul, lovely virgin of the curling locks.

Hast thou forsaken me, O pleasant dream? Return yet—one little glimpse return: thou will not hear me, alas! I am sad. O beloved mountains, farewell.

Farewell, lovely company of youths! and you, O beautiful virgin, farewell. I cannot see you. Yours is the joy of summer; my winter is everlasting.

O place me within hearing of the great waterfall, with its murmuring sound, descending from the rock; let a harp and a shell be by my side, and the shield that defended my forefathers in battle.

Come with friendship over the sea, O soft blast that slowly movest; bear my shade on the wind of thy swiftness, and travel quickly to the Isle of Heroes,

Where those who went of old are in deep slumber, deaf to the sound of music. Open the hall where dwelt Ossian and Daol. The night shall come, and the bard shall not be found.

But ah! before it come, a little while ere my shade retire to the dwelling of hards upon Arden, from whence there is no return, give me the harp and my shell for the road, and then, my beloved harp and shell, farewell.

Tog do sgiath gu h-àrd thar chuan,
 Glac do luathas bho neart na gaoith,
 'S eibhinn ann am chluais am fuaim,
 O'd chridbe leòint'—an t-òran gaoil.

Co an tir on gluais a' ghaoth,
 Tha giulan glaoidh do bhoirin on chreig?
 Oigeir a chaidh uain a thriall,
 'S a dh-fhàg mo chiabhl ghas gu'n taic,

B'eil deòir do ruisg O! thusa ribhinn,
 Is mìne mais' 's a's gile làmhi?
 Sòlas gu'n chrioch do'n ghruaidh mhaoith,
 A chaoidh nach geuals on leabaidh chaoil.

Innsibh, o thiréig mo shuil, a ghaoth',
 C' aít' am beil a chuil' a fàs,
 Le glaochan bròin 's na brìc r'a taobh,
 Le sgiath gun deò a cumail blàir.

Togaibh mì—càraibh le'r laimh threin,
 'S cuiribh mo cheann fo bharrach ùr,
 'N uair dh'eireas a' ghrian gu h-àrd,
 Biadh a sgàth uain' os-ceann mo shùl.

An sin thig thu O! aisling chiùin,
 Tha 'g astar dlù measg reull na h-àidhch',
 Biadh gnoimh m' oidhche ann ad cheòl;
 Toirt aimsir mo mhùirn gu'm chuimhn'.

O! m'anam faic an ribhinn òg,
 Fo sgéith an daraich, righ nam flath,
 'S a lamh shneachd ' measg á ciabhan òir,
 'Sa meall-shuil chiùin air òg a gràidh.

E-san a' seinn ri taobh 's i balbh,
 Le cridhe leum, 's a smàmh' na cheòl,
 An gaol bho shuil gu suil a falbh,
 Cuir stad air féidh nan sleibhteán mòr.

Nis thréig am fuaim, 's tha cliabh geal mìn,
 Ri uchd 's ri cridhe gaoil a' fas,
 'S a bilibh ùr mar ròs gun smal,
 Ma bheul a gaoil gu dlù an sàs.

Sòlas gun chrioch do'n chomunn chaomh,
 A dhùisg dhomh m' aobhneas aít nach pill,
 A's beanuachd do t-anams' a rùin,
 A nighean chiùin nan cuach-chiabh grùim.

'N do thréig thu mi aisling nam buadh?
 Pill fathast—aon cheum beag—pill!
 Cha chluinn sibh mi Ochoin! 's mi truagh.
 A bheannaibh mo ghraidh—slàn leibh.

Slàn le comunn caomh na h-òige,
 A's oigheannan bòidheach, slàn leibh,
 Cha leir dhomh sibh, dhuibhse tha samhradh,
 Ach dbomsa geanhradh a chaoidh,

O! cuir mo chluas ri fuaim Eas-mòr
 Le chrònán a' tearnadh on chreig.
 Bi'dh cruit agus slige rí'm thaobh,
 'S an sgiath a dhian mo shinnis sa' chath.

Thig le càirdeas thar a chuain,
 Osag mbìn a għluais gu mall,
 Tog mo cheò air sgiath do luathais,
 'S imich grad gu eilean fhlaitheis.

Far'm beil na laoich a dh-fhalbh o sheau,
 An cadal trom gun dol le ceòl,
 Fosglaidh-sa thalla Oisein a's Dhaoil,
 Thig an oidhche 's cha bhi'm bárd air bhrath.

Ach o m'an tig i seal m'an triall mo cheò,
 Gu teach man' bárd, air àr-bheinn as nach pill.
 Fair cruit 's mo shlige dh-iuunsaidh 'n röid,
 An sin; mo chruit, 's mo shlige ghraidh, slàn leibh.

Note.—This is a curious and valuable relic of antiquity. It affords internal evidence that the doctrines of Christianity were either wholly unknown to the poet, or had no place in his creed. The Elysium of bards upon Arden, the departure of the poet's shade to the hall of Ossian and Daoi, his last wish of laying by his side a harp, a shell full of liquor, and his ancestors' shield, are incompatible with the Christian doctrine of a future state.

That it is a composition, however, long subsequent to the times of Ossian, is evident from the change which the manners of the Caledonians had in the interim undergone; for in the poems of that bard there is scarcely an allusion to the pastoral state. At any rate, the art of taming and breeding cattle was certainly not practised by the Fingalians. Hunting and war seem to have been their sole occupations. Our aged bard, however, lived in the pastoral state of society; a state which many poets have made the subject of that species of poetry denominated pastoral.

Our bard exhibits tender senses, and describes happy situations. He paints the beauties of nature with the hand of a master, and expresses the warmth of his feelings in glowing numbers. His style is nervous, his manner chaste. His fancy wears the native garb of purity and simplicity: and true taste will recognise his composition as the genuine offspring of nature—as real poetry.

The poet has enumerated those rural occupations which afforded him delight in the vigour of life. He has arranged and drawn forth to view rural objects, attended by such circumstances as had made the most pleasurable and lasting impression upon his own mind; and he seems, at the same time, to have been highly sensible of the beauties of nature, and capable of producing those strokes of fancy which cvine poetic merit.

This poem shows that men leading a pastoral life are capable of refined feelings and delicate sentiments, and may be actuated by the best affections of the heart; that long posterior to the days of Ossian, the Christian religion had not perhaps been heard of by the Caledonians; and that they were of opinion that the soul was an airy substance capable of existing in a state of separation from the body, and of enjoying, in the region of the clouds, those agreeable occupations which had given it pleasure upon earth.

* This poem is attributed to Donald Maedonald better known by the cognomen of Dòmhnull mac Fhiuillaidh nan Dùn—a celebrated hunter and poet. He was a native of Lochaber and flourished before the invention of fire-arms. According to tradition, he was the most expert archer of his day. At the time in which he lived, wolves were very troublesome, especially in Lochaber, but Donald is said to have killed so many of them, that previous to his death, there was only one left alive in Scotland, which was shortly after killed in Strathglass by a woman. He composed these verses when old, and unable to follow the chase; and it is the only one of his compositions which has been handed down to us.

The occasion of the poem was this: He had married a young woman in his old age, who as might have been expected, proved a very unmeet helpmate. When he and his dog were both worn down with the toils of the chase, and deerepit with age, his "crooked rib" seems to take a pleasure in tormenting them. Fear, rather than respect might possibly protect Donald himself, but she neither feared nor respected the poor dog. On the contrary, she took every opportunity of beating and maltreating him. In fact, "like the goodman's mother," he "was ayb in the way." Their ingenious tormentor one day found an old and feeble owl, which she seems to have thought would make a fit companion for the old man and his dog: and accordingly brought it home. The poem is in the form of a dialogue between Donald and the owl. It is very unlikely that he had ever heard of Æsop, yet he contrives to make an owl speak, and that to good purpose. On the whole it is an ingenious performance and perhaps has no rival of its kind in the language. Allusion is made to his "half marrow," in the 57th stanza.

Moladh gach aon neach an cù,
Ach molams' n tràp tha dol as.

Creag mo chríde-sa chreag mhor,
'S ionmhuiinn an lòn tha fo ceann,
'S anns' an lag a th' air a cùl,
Na machair a's mùr nan gall.

M' annsachd beinn sheasgaich nam fuaran,
An riasgach o'n dean an damb rànan,
Chuireadh gadhar is glan nuallan,
Féidh na'n ruaig gu Inbhir-Mheorain.

B' annsa' leam na òrðan bodaich,
Os ecann leic ri earadarh sìl,
Bùirean an daimh 'm bi ghnè dhuinhead,
Air leacann beinne 's e ri sìn.

'N uair bhùras damh Beinne-bige,
'S a bhéucas damh Beinn-na-craig,
Freagraidh na daimh ud da chéile;
'S thig féidh a' Coirre-na-snaige.

Bha mi o'n rugadh mi riabh,
Ann an caidridh fhiadh a's earb',
Ch'an fhaca mi dath air bian,
Ach buidhc, riabhach, a's dearg.

Cha mhi-fhìn a sgaoil an comurn,
A bha eadar mi 'sa Chreag-ghuanach,
Ach an aois ga'r toirt o chéile,
Gur grathunn an fhéil' a fhuaras.

'S i creag mo chridhe-s' a Chreag-ghuanach,
A chreag dhuiileach, bhiolareach, bhraonach,
Na 'n tulach àrd, àluinn, fiarach,
Gur cian a ghabh i o'n mhaorach.

Cha mhiniig a bha mi 'g éisdeachd,
Re séideadh na muice-mara,
Ach 's tric a chuala mi mòran,
De chronanaich an daimh allaidh.

Cha do chuir mi duil san iasgach,
Bhi ga iarraidh leis a mhadhar,
'S mor gu'm b' annsa leam am fiadhach,
'S bhi air falbh nan sliabh as-t-fhagharc.

'S eibhinn an obair an t-shealg,
'S àit a cuairt an aird gu beachd,
Gur binne a h-aighear 's a fonn
Na long a's i dol fo bheairt.

Fad 'sa bhithinn beò no maireann,
Deò dhe 'n anam an am chorpa,
Dh-shanainn am fochar an fhéidh,
Sin an spreidh an robh mo thoirt.

C'ait' an cualas ceòl bu bhinne,
Na mothar gadhair mhoir a' teachd,
Daimh sheannga na' ruith le gleann,
Miol-choin a dol annt a's ast'.

'S truagh an diugh nach beò an fheoghalinn,
Gun ann ach an ceò de'n bhuidheann,
Leis 'm bu mhiannach gloir nan gadhar,
Gun mheogail, gun òl, gun bhruidhiun.

Bratach Alasdair nan Gleann,
A sròl fathrumach ri crann,
Suaicheantas shoillear shiol Chuinn,
Nach do chuir suim an clann ghall

'S ann an Cinn-Ghiubhsaich na laidhe,
Tha nàmhaid na graidhe deirge,
Lamh dheas a mharbhadh a bhradain,
Bu mhath e 'n sàbaid na feirge.

Dh-fhag mi san Ruaidhe so shios,
Am fear a b' olc dhoms' a bhàs,
'S tric a chuir e' thagradh an cruathas,
Ann cluais an daimh chabrainch an sàs

Raonull Mac-Dhomhnuill ghlais,
Fear a fhuaire fôghlum gu deas,
Deagh Mhae-Dhomhnuill a chuil chais,
Ni'm beò neach a chòmhraig leis.

Alasdair cridhe nan gleann,
Gnn e bhi ann mor a' chreach,
'S tric a leag thu air an tom,
Sliochd nan sonn leis a chù għlas.

Alasdair mac Ailein mhòir,
'S tric a mharbh sa' bheinn na féidh,
'S a leanadh fad air an tòir,
Mo dhoigh gur Domhnallach treun.

A's Dòmhnullach thu gun mheارachd,
Gur tu buinne geal na crnaghach,
Gur càirdeach thu do Chlain-Chatain,
S gur h-e dalt thu do'n Chreig-ghuanach.

Ma dh-fhàgadh Domhnall a muigh,
Na aonar a' taigh na' fleagh,
S gearr a bhios guag air bhuit,
Luchd a chruidh bi'dh iad a staigh.

Mi'm shuidh air sìth-bhruth nam beann,
A coimhead air ceaùn Locha-Tréig,
Creag ghuanach am biodh an t-shealga,
Grianan ard am biodh na feidh.

Chi mi na Dù-lochain bhuam,
Chi mi Chruach, a's Beinne-blareac,
Chi mi Srath-Oisein nam Fianu,
Chi mi ghrian air Meall-nan-leac.

Chi mi Beinn-Neamhais gu h-àrd,
Agus an càrn-dearg ri bun,
A's coire beag eile ri taobh,
Chìt' as monadh faoin a's muir.

Gur rìmheach an coire dearg,
Far 'm bu mhiannach leinn bhi sealg,
Coire nan tulainchean fraoich,
Innis nan laogh's nan damh garbh.

Chi mi braidih Bhídean-nan-dös,
'N taobh so bhos do Sgurra-lidh,
Sgurra-chòinntich nan damh seang—
Ionmuinn leam an diugh na chì.

Chi mi Srath farsuinn a chruidh,
Far an labhar guth nan sònna,
A's Coire creagach a mhaim,
A' minig a thug mo làmh toll.

Chi mi Garbh-bheinn nan damh donn,
Agus Slat-bheinn nan tom sìth,
Mar sin agus an Leitir dhubbh,
'S an tric a riun mi fuil na' frìth.

Soraidh gu Beinn-allta bhuam,
O'n 's i fhuair urram nam beann,
Gu slios Loch-Earrachd an fhéidh,
Gu'm b'ionmuinn leam fén bhi ann.

Thoir soraidh uam thun an Loch',
Far am faicte 'bos a's thall,
Gu uisge Leamhna nan lach,
Muime nan laogh breac 's nam meann.

'S e loch mo chridhse an loch,
An loch, air am biodh an lach,
Agus iomadh eala bhàn,
'S bh'ihd iad a snàmh air ma seach,

Olaidh mi a' Tréig mo theann-shàth,
Na dheidh cha bhi mi fo mhulad,
Uisge glan nam fuaran fallan,
O'n seang am fiadh a nì 'n langan.

'S buan an comunn gun bhristeadh,
Bha edar mise 's an t-uisge ;
Súgh nam mor bheann gun mhisge,
'S mise ga òl gun trasgadh.

'S ann a bha 'n cominunn bristeach,
Eadar mise 's a Chreag-sheilich,
Mise gu bràth cha dirich,
Ise gu dilinn cha teirinn.

On labhair mi umaibh gu léir,
Gabhaidh mi fhéin dibh mo chead,
Dearmad cha dean mi s an àm,
Air fiadhach ghleann nam beann beag.

Cead is truaighe ghabhadh riabh,
Do 'n fhiadhaich bu mhòr mo thoil,
Cha 'n fhalbh le bogha fo' sgéith,
'S gu là-bhràth cha leig mi coin.

Tha blaidh mo bhogha 'n am uchd,
Le agh maol, odhar is aít,
Ise ceanalt's mise gruamach,
'S cruaigh an diugh nach buan an t-shlat.

Mis' a's tusa ghadhair bhàin,
'S túrsach air turas do 'u eilean,
Chaill sinn an tathuinn a's an dàn,
Ge d' bha siun grathunn ri ceanail.

Thug a choille dhòt-s' an earb',
'S thug an t-àrd dhòm-sa na fèidh,
Cha n eil nàire dhuinn a laoch,
O'n laidh an aois oirnn le chéil'.

Nuair a bha mi air an da chois,
'S moch a shiubhlain bhos a's thall,
Ach a nis ou fhuair mi trì,
Cha għluais mi ach gu mìn, mall.

Aois cha n'eil thu dhunn meachair
Ge nach feudar lein do sheachnad,
Cromaidh tu 'n duine direach,
A dh' fhàs gu mìleanta gásda.

Giorraichidh tu air a shaoghal,
Agus caochlaidhidh tu 'chasan,
Fagaidh tu cheann gun deudach,
'S ni thu eudann a chasad.

A Shinead chas-aodannach, pheàllach,
A shream-shnilleach, odhar, Étidh,
Cia ma 'n leiginn leat a lobhair?
Mo bhogha toirt dhòm air éiginn.

O'n 's mi-fhìn a b' fhéarr an airidh,
Air mo bhogha ro-math iubhair,
No thusa aois bhothar, sgàllach,
Bhios aig an teallach ad shuidhe.

Labhair an aois a rithist;
 " 'S mo 's ruighinn tha thu leantainn.
 Ris a bhogha sin a ghiùlan,
 'S gur mòr bu chuibhe dhut bàta."

Gabh thusa bhuamsa 'm bàta,
 Aois grànda chairtidh na pléide,

Cha leiginn mo bhogha leatsa,
 Do mhathas no d' ar, eigin.

" 'S iomadh laoch a b' shearr no thusa,
 Dh-fhàg mise gu tuisleach anfhan,
 'N déis fhaobhachadh as a sheasamh,
 Bha riomh na fheasgach meannach."

MAIRI NIGHEAN ALASDAIR RUAIDH.

THE real name of this poetess was Mary M'Leod, though she is more generally known among her countrymen by the above appellation. She was born in Roudal, in Harris, in the year 1569, and was the daughter of Alexander M'Leod, son of Alasdair Ruadh, who was a descendant of the chief of that clan.*

It does not appear that Mary had done any thing in the poetie way till she was somewhat advanced in life, and employed as nurse in the family of her chief: neither is there any evidence that she could write, or even read. Her first production was a song made to please the children under her charge.

"An Talla 'm bu ghnà le Mac-Leòid" was composed on the Laird being sick and dying. He playfully asked Mary what kind of a lament she would make for him? Flattered by such a question, she replied that it would certainly be a very mournful one. "Come nearer me," said the aged and infirm chief, "and let me hear part of it." Mary, it is said, readily complied, and sung, ex tempore, that celebrated poem.

"Hithill uthill agus hò" was composed on John, a son of Sir Norman, upon his presenting her with a snuff-mull. She sometime after gave publicity to one of her songs, which so provoked her patron, M'Leod, that he banished her to the Isle of Mull, under the charge of a relative of his own.

It was during her exile there that she composed "'S mi 'm shuidh' air an Tulaich," or "Luinneag Mhic-Leòid." On this song coming to M'Leod's ears, he sent a boat for her, giving orders to the crew not to take her on board except she should promise to make no more songs on her return to Skye. Mary readily agreed to this condition of release, and returned with the boat to Dunvegan Castle.

* There was another, though inferior poetess, of the family of Alasdair Ruadh, who is sometimes confounded with our authoress. Her name was Flora M'Leod. In Gaelic she is called Fionagh Nighean Alasdair Ruaidh. This poetess lived in Trotterness, and was a native of Skye. She was married, and some of her descendants are still in that country. All that we have been able to meet with, of Flora's poetry, is a satire on the clan Mac-Martin, and an elegy on M'Leod of Dunvegan. We have the authority of several persons of high respectability, and on whose testimony we can rely, that Mary M'Leod was the veritable authoress of the poems attributed to her in this work.

Soon after this, a son of the Laird's had been ill, and, on his recovery, Mary composed a song which is rather an extraordinary composition, and which, like its predecessors, drew on her devoted head the displeasure of her chief, who remonstrated with her for again attempting song-making without his permission. Mary's reply was, "It is not a song ; it is only a crònan,"—that is, a hum, or "croon."

She mentions, in a song which we have heard, but which was never printed, that she had nursed five lairds of the M'Leods, and two of the lairds of Applecross. The song ends with an address to Tòrmòd nan tri Tòrmòd.* She died at the advanced age of 105 years, and is buried in Harris. She used to wear a tartan tonnag, fastened in front with a large silver brooch. In her old days she generally carried about with her a silver-headed cane, and was much given to gossip, snuff, and whisky.

Mary M'Leod, the inimitable poetess of the Isles, is the most original of all our poets. She borrows nothing. Her thoughts, her verse, her rhymes, are all equally her own. Her language is simple and elegant ; her diction easy, natural, and unaffected. Her thoughts flow freely, and unconstrained. There is no straining to produce effect : no search after unintelligible words to conceal the poverty of ideas. Her versification runs like a mountain stream over a smooth bed of polished granite. Her rhymes are often repeated, yet we do not feel them tiresome nor disagreeable. Her poems are mostly composed in praise of the M'Leods ; yet they are not the effusions of a mean and mercenary spirit, but the spontaneous and heart-felt tribute of a faithful and devoted dependant. When the pride, or arbitrary dictate of the chief, sent her an exile to the Isle of Mull, her thoughts wandered back to "the lofty shading mountains,"—to "the young and splendid Sir Tòrmòd." During her exile she composed one of the finest of her poems : the air is wild and beautiful ; and it is no small praise to say that it is worthy of the verses. On her passage from Mull to Skye she composed a song, of which only a fragment can now be procured : we give a few stanzas of it :—

" Theid mi le'm dheoin do dhùthaich Mhic-Leòid,
M' iull air a mhòr luachach sin,
Bu chòir dhomh gum bi m' edlas san tir
Leòdach, mar pill cruaidh mi,
Siubhlaidh mi 'n iarr, tro dhùlaclidh nan sian,
Do'n tòr g'am bi triall thuath-cheathairn :
On chualas an aigul buadhach gun bhreug,
Rinn acain mo chléibh fhuadachadh.

" Chi mi Mac-Leòid 's priseil an t-dòg,
Rimheach gu mòr buadhach,
Bho Ollaghair nan lann chuireadh sròlaibh ri crann ;
'S Leòdaich an dream umharra,
Eiridh na fuinn ghleusd air na suinn,
'S feumail rì am cruaidh iad,
'Na fluarainbh gharg an am rusgadh nan àrm,
'S cliutach an t-ainm fhúras leibh.

" Stòl Tòrmoid nan sgiath foirmeachach fial,
Dh' eireadh do shluagh luath-lamhach ;
Deàlradh uam pios, tòrmàn nam plob,
'S deerbh gu'm bu leibh 'n dualachas ;
Thainig teachdair do'n tir gu macanta mìn,
'S ait leam gach ni chualas leam,
O Dhun-bheagan nan steud 's am freagair luchd-theud,
Bheir greis air gach sgeul buaidh-ghloireach.

" 'Nuair chuireadh na laoch loingheas air chaol,
Turas ri gaith ghluaiseite leibh,
O bharraibh nan crann gu tarruinn nam ball,
Teannachadh teann suas rithe,
Iomairet gu leoir mar ri Mac-Leòid,
Charaich fo shròl uain-dhàit' i,
Bho àrois an fhion gu talla nam plos,
Gu'm beannaich mo Rìgh 'n t-usasal ud."

* We knew an old man, called Alexander M'Rae, a tailor in Mellen of Gairloch, whom we have heard sing many of Mary's songs, not one of which has ever been printed. Some of these were excellent, and we had designed to take them down from his recitation, but were prevented by his sudden death, which happened in the year 1833. Among these was a rather extraordinary piece, resembling M'Donald's "Birlinn," composed upon occasion of John, son of Sir Norman, taking her out to get a sail in a new boat.

'Nuair a leigte, &c.

'Nám dhut tighinn gu d' bhaile,
'S tu bu tighearnail gabhail,
Nuair shuidheadh gach caraid mu d' bhòrd.
'Nam dhut tighinun, &c.

Bha thu measail aig uaislean,
'S cha robh beagan mar chruathas ort,
Sud an cleachdad a fhuair thu faois òig.
Bha thu mèasail, &c.

Gu 'm biodh farum air thaileasg,
Agus fuaim air a chlàrsach,
Mar a bhuiineadh do shàr mliac Mhic-Leòid.
Gu 'm biodh farum, &c.

Gur h-e b' eachdraidh 'na dheigh sin,
Greis air uirsgeul na Feinne,
'S air cuideachda chéir-ghil nan cròc.
Gur h-e b' eachdraidh, &c.

CUMHA DO MHAC-LEOID.

Gur e naidheachd so fhuair mi,
A dh-fhuadaich mo chiall uam,
Mar nach bitheadh i agam,
'S nach fhaca mi riamh i;
Gur e Abhall an lis so,
Tha mise ga iargann;
E gun abuchadh meas air,
Ach air briseadh fo chiad bharr.

Gur e sgeula na creiche,
Tha mi nise ga éisdeachd,
Gach aon chneadh mar thig oirn',
Dol an tricead, san deinead,
Na chunnainc, 's na chualas,
'S na fhuaradh o'n cheud là,

Creach nid an t-seobhaic,
Air a sgatha ri aon uair.

Ach a Chlann an fhir allail,
Bu neo mhalartaich' beusan,
Ann an Luinnuinn, 's am Pàris,
Thug sibh barr air na ceudan,
Chaidh n-ur cliù tharais
Thar talamh na h-Eiphit,
Cheann uidhe luchd-ealaidh,
'S a leannan na féileachd.

Ach a fhriamhaich nan curaidh,
'S a chuirein nan leoghan,
A's ogha an dà sheanar,
Bu chaithreamaich' loisteán ;
C'ait' an robh e ri fhaotuinn
Air an taobhs' an Roinn-Eòrpa,
Cha b' fhùrrasd ri fhaighinn
Anns gach rathad, bu dòigh dhuibh.

Ach a Ruairidh mhic Iain,
'S goirt leam fhaighinn an sgeul-s' ort,
'S e mo chreach-sa mac t-athar,
Bhi na laidhe gun eiridh,
Agus Tòrmad a mhac-sa,
A thasgaidh mo chéile !
Gur e aobhar mo ghearrain,
Gu'n chailleadh le chéil' iad.

Nach mòr an sgeul sgriobhaidh,
S nach ionghnadh leibh féin e,
Duilleach na craoibhe,
Nach do sgaoileadh am meanglan,
An robh cliù, agus onair,
Agus moladh air deagh-bheairt,
Gu daonachdach, carthannach,
Beannachdach, ceutach.

Ge goirt leam an naidheachd,
Tha mi faighinn air Ruairidh,
Gun do chorp a bhi 'san Dùthaich,
Anns an tuama bu dual dut ;
Sgeul eile nach fusadh,
Tha mi claisiinn san uair so,
Ged nach toir mi dha creideas,
Gur beag orm ri luaidh e.

Gur ro bheag a shaoil mi,
Ri mo shaoghla gu'n eisdinn,
Gun cluinneamaid Leòdaich,
Bhi ga'm fogradh o'n òigreachd,
'S a'n còraichean glana,
'S a'm fearann gun déigh air
'S ar ranntanan farsuinn,
Na'n rach-te 'n am feum sud.

Gu'n eireadh na t-aobhar
Clann-Raonuill, 's Clann-Dòmhnuill,
Agus taigh Mhic Illeain,
Bha daingheann 'n-ur seòrsa,
Agus fir Ghlinne-Garaidh,
Nall tharais á Cnòideart,
Mar sud, a's Clann Chama-Shroin,
O champ Inbhir-Lòchaidh.

'S beag an t-ionghnadh Clann-Choinnich,
Dheanadh eiridh ri d' ghuaillean,
'S gu'n robh thu na'm fineachd,
Air t-fhilleadh trì uairean,
'S e mo chreach gu'n do Chinneadh
Bhi ma chruinneachadh t-uaghach,
No glaodh do mhna muinntir
'S nach cluinntear, 's an uairs' i.

Tha mo cheist air an oighre,
Th'a stoidhle 's na h-Earadli,
Ged nach deach' thu san tuam' ud,
Far bo dual dut o d' sheanair.
Gur iomadh fuil uaibhreach,
A dh-fhuairich ad bhallaibh,
De shloineadh nan rìghrean,
Leis na chiosaicheadh Manainn.

'S e mo ghaols' an sliochd foirmeil,
Bh'air sliochd Ollaghair, a's Ochraidh,
O bhaile na Boirbhe,
'S ann a stoidhleadh thu'n tòiseach ;
Gur ioma fuil mhorgha,
Bha reota sa chorp ud,
De shlioghd armunn Chinntire,
Iarl' Il', agus Röis thu.

Mhic Iain Stiubhairt* na h-Apunn,
Ged a's gasd' an duin' òg thu,
Ged tha Stiubhartaich beachdail,
Iad tapaidh 'n àm foirneart,
Na ghabhsa meanmadh, no aiteas,
A's an staid ud, nach còir dhut,
Cha toir thu i dhaindeoin,
'S cha'n fhaigh thu le deòin i.

C'uim' an tigeadh fear coigreach
A thagrach ur'n Oighreachd ;
Ged nach eil e ro dhearbhla,
Gur searbh e ri eisdeachd,
Ged tha sinn' air ar creachadh
Mu chloinn mhac an fhir fheilidh,
Slíochd Ruairidh mhoir allail,
'S gur airidh iad fein oir.

* Stewart of Appin was married to a daughter of Mac-Leod of Dunvegan, which made the Mac-Leods afraid that he should claim a right to the estate, on account of Mae-Leod having left no male heir.

MARBH-RANN

DO DH-FHEAR NA COMRAICH.

Tha mise air leaghadh le bròn,
O'n là dh-eug thu 's nach beò,
Mu m' fhiuran faighidneach, còir,
Uasal, aighearrach, òg,
'S uaisle shuidhe mu bhòrd,
Mo chreach t-fhaiginn gu'n treòir eiridh.

'S tu'n laoch gun laigse, gun leòn,
Macan mìn-neal gun sgleò,
B' fhearrail, finealt an t-òg,
De shliochd nam fear mòr,
D'a bu dual a bhi còir,
'S gu'm b'fhiù faiteal do bheoil eisdeachd.

'S tu chlann na h-irenn a b'shearr,
Glan an riamh as an d'fhàs,
Cairdeas rìgh as gach ball,
Bha sud sgriobt' leat am bainn,
Fo laimh duine gun inheang,
Ach thu lion-te de dh-ardan euchdach.

A ruairidh aigeantaich aird,
O Chomraich ghreadhaich an àidh,
Mhic an fhir bu mhor gàir,
Nan lann guineach, cruaidh, garg,
Ort cha d'fhuaradh riamh carb,
Iar-ogha Uilteam nan long breid-gheal.

Fhuair mi m' àilleagan ùr,
'S e gun smal air gun smùr,
Bu bhreac mìn dearg do ghnuis,
Bu ghorm laoghach do shuil,
Bu ghlan sliasaid, a's glùn,
Bu deas, dainghean, a lùb ghleust thu.

A lub abhoil nam buadh,
'S maирg a tharladh ort uair,
Mu ghlac Fhionnlaidh so shuas,
Air each crodhanta luath,
Namhaid romhad na ruraig,
Air dhaibh buille cha b'uair cùs e.

Ach fhir a's curranta lamh,
Thug gach duine gu cràdh,
'S truagh nach d'shuirich thu slau,
Ri nair cumaig no blàir,
A thoirt cùs dheth do nàmh,
Bu leat urrain an là cheudaich.

Bu tu'n sgoileir gun diobradh,
Meoir a's grinne ni sgriobhadh,
Uasal faighidneach, cinneach,
Bu leat lagh an taigh sgiobhaldh,
'S tu nach muchadh an fhirinn,
Sgeul mo chreiche! so shil do chreuchdan.

Stad air m'aighear an dè
Dh'fhalbh mo mharcanta fèin,

Chuir mi'n ciste nan teud,
Dhiult an gobha dhomh gléus,
Dhiult sud mi 's gach leighe
'S chaidh m'onair, 's mo righ dh'eug thu.

Thuit a chraobh thunn a bhlàir,
Rois an graine gu lär,
Lot thu 'n cùneadh a's chràdh,
Air an robh thu mar bharr,
Ga'n dionadh gach là,
'S mo chreach! bhuinig am bàs treun ort.

'N am suidhe na d' sheomar,
Chaidh do bhuidhean an òrduigh,
Cha b'ann mu aighear do phòsaidh,
Le nighean Iarla Chlann-Dòmhnuill,
As do dheigh mar bu chòir dh'i,
'S ann chaidh do thasgaidh san t-sròl ghle-gheal.

Ach gur mis' tha bochd truagh,
Fiamh a ghuil air mo ghruaidh,
'S goirt an gradan a fhuair,
Marcach deas nan each luath,
Sàr Cheannard air sluagh,
Mo chreach, t-fhagail ri uair m'fheime.

Ach fhuair mi m' àilleagan òg,
Mar nach b'abhaist gun cheòl,
Saoir ri caradh do bhòrd,
Muai ri spionaibh an fheòir,
Fir gun tàilisg, gun cheòl,
Gur bochd fulang mo sgeòil eisdeachd.

'Nuair a thionail an sluagh,
'S ann bha'n tioma-sgaradbh cruaidh,
Mur ghàir sheillean am brauach,
An deigh na meala thoirt uath,
'S ann bha'n t-eireadh bochd truagh,
'S iad ma cheannas an t-sluaigh threubhaich.

MARBHRANN DO DH' IAIN GARBH

MACILLECHALUM RARSADH.*

Mo bhend, 's mo chràdh,
Mar dh'eirich dha
'N fhear ghileusda, ghraidh,
Bha treun san spàirn,
'S nach faicear gu bràth thu' n Rarsa.

Bu tu 'm fear curanta, mor,
Bu mhath cumaðh, a's treòir,
O t' nilean gu d' dhòrn,
O d' mhullach gu d' bhròig,
Mhic Muire mo leon,
Thu bhi 'n innis nan ròn,
'S nach faighear thu.

* This celebrated hero was drowned while on a voyage between Stornoway and Raasa.

'S math lùbadh tu pic
O chùl-thaobl do chinn,
'Nam rusgadh a ghill,
Le ionnsaidh nach pill,
'S air mo laimh gu'm bu cinnteach saighead uat.

Bu tu sealgair a gheoidh,
Lamh gun dearmad, gun leon,
Air 'm bu shuarach an t-òr
Thoirt a bhuanachd a cheòil,
'S gu'n d'fhuair thu na 's leoir,
'S na chaitheadh tu.

Bu tu sealgair an fhéidh,
Leis an deargta na bein ;
Ehiodh coin earbsach air éill
Aig an Albanach threun ;
C'ait' am faca mi fein
Aou duine fo 'n ghréin,
A dheanadh riut euchd flathasach.

Spealp nach dibreadh,
An cath, nan strì thu,
Casán díreach, fad' finealt,
Mo chreach dhiobhail
Chaidh thu dhùth oirn, le neart sìne,
Lamh nach dibreadh caitheadh orr'.

'S e dh-fhag silteach mo shuil,
Faicinn t' fhearrainn gun sùrd,
'S do bhaile gun smùid
Fo charraig nan sùgh,
Dheagh mhic Chalum nan tùr a Rarsa.

Och ! m' sheudail bhuam,
Gun sgeul sa' chuan,
Bu ghè mhath sruadh,
Ri grein, 's ri fuachd,
'S e chlaoidh do shluagh,
Nach d' fheud thu 'n uair a ghabhail orr'.

Mo bhèud, 's mo bhròn,
Mar dh' eirich dhò
Muir beucach, mor,
Ag leum mu d' bhòrd,
Thu féin, 's do sheòid
'Nuair reub 'ur seòil,
Nach d'fhaod sibh treòir
A chaitheadh orr.

'S e an sgeul' craiteach
Do'n mhnaoi a d'fhag thu,
'S do t-aon bhrathair,
A shuidh na t'aite,
Diluain Càisge,
Chaidh tonn bält ort,
Craobh a b' aird' de 'n abhal thu.

CHUMHA MHIC-LEOID.

Cha sùrd cadail,
An runs air m' aigneadh,
Mo shuil frasach,
Gun sùrd macnais,
'S a' chùirt a chleachd mi :—
Sgeul ùr ait ri eisdeachd.

'S trom an cùdthrom so dhrùidh,
Dh-fhag mo chùslein gun lùgh,
'S tric snigh' mo shuil,
A tñiteam gu dlù ;
Chail mi iuchair mo chuil :
Ann a cuideachd lùchd-cuile,
Cha téid mi.

Mo neart 's mo threoir,
Fo thasgaidh bhòrd,
Sàr mhac 'Ic-Leòid,
Nan bratach sròil,
Bu phailt' ma'n òr,
Bu bhinn-caismeachd sgeoll ;
Aig lùchd-astair
A's ceòil na h-Eireann.

Co neach ga'n eòl,

Am blasdachd beoil,

Dh' falbh m'aighear gu bràth,
Bi sùd saighead mo chraidi,
Bhi 'g amharc do bhàis,
A ghnuis fhlàthasach àilt ;
A dheagh mhic Rathail,
An àrmuinn euchdaich.

Mac Ruairidh reachd-mhoir,
Uaibhreich, bheachdail,
Bu bhuidh leatsa,

Cruadail 's smachd gun eucoir.

'Uaill a's aiteis,
 'S an bhuat gu faighe,
 Ri uair ceartais,
 Fuasgladh facail ;
 Gun ghruam gu lasan ;
 Gu suairce, snaiste, reusant.

Fo bhùird na ciste,
 Chaidh grùnnad a għliocais,

 An robh cliù gun bhriseadh ;
 Chaidh ùir fò lic air m' eudail.

 Air each crùidteach ceann-ard,
 'S lànn ùr than ort,
 Am beart dhlù dhainghinn :
 Air cùll nan clann-fhàlt teàd-bhuidh.

'S iomadh fear aineoil,
 Is aoidh 's lùchd ealhaidh,

 Air crùin a mhalaир,
 Air iùil 's air ainne,
 Bu chluith gun aithreis bħreug è.

B tu 'n sith-thamb charid,
 Ri' am tigh'u gu bail,
 Ol dion aig fearabh,
 Gun strì gun charraid,
 'S bu mhiam leat mar ruit,
 Luchd inns' air annas sgeula.

Bu tric aoidh chairdean,
 Gu d' dhùn àdhmhòr,

 Cuilm-mhor stàtoil,
 Gun bhuirb gun àrdan :
 Guu diultadh air màl dheirceach.

Thù shliochd Ollaghair
 Bha mor morgha,
 Nan seòl corra-bheann,
 'S nan còrn gorm-ghìlas,
 Nan céòl òrghan
 'S nan seòd bu bħorb ri eigin.

 Na fhuair mi fein deth.

LUINNEAG MHIC-LEOID.

'S mi 'm shuidh air an tulaidh,
 Fo mhulad 's fo ime-cheist ;

IAIN LOM;

OR,

JOHN MACDONALD, THE LOCHABER POET.

THIS celebrated individual, a poet of great merit, as well as a famous politician, was commonly called Iain Lom, literally, bare John; but so named from his acuteness, and severity on some occasions.* He was sometimes called Iain Manutach, from an impediment in his speech. He was of the Keppoch family; lived in the reigns of Charles I. and II., and died at a very advanced age about the year 1710.

We know little of the early education of the Loehaber bard. Of him it might be said, “poeta nascitur non fit;” but from his descent from the great family, Clann-Raonaill na Ceapach, a sept of the M'Donalds, he must have seen and known more of the men and manners of those times than ordinary. His powers and talents soon rendered him a distinguished person in his native country; and subsequent events made him of importance, not only there, but likewise in the kingdom.

The first occurrence that made him known beyond the limits of Loehaber, was the active part he took in punishing the murderers of the heir of Keppoch: the massacre was perpetrated by the cousins of the young man, about the year 1663. The poet had the penetration to have foreseen what had really happened, and had done all he could to prevent it. He perceived that the minds of the people were alienated from the lawful heir in his absence: he and his brother being sent abroad to receive their education during their minority, and their affairs being intrusted to their eousins, who made the best use they could of the opportunity in establishing themselves by the power and authority thus acquired in the land. Although he could not have prevented the fatal deed, he was not a silent witness. He stood single handed in defence of the right. As he failed in his attempt to awaken the people to a sense of their duty, he addressed himself to the most potent neighbour and chieftain Glengarry, who declined interfering with the affairs of a celebrated branch of the great Clann-Dughaill; and there was no other that could have aided him with any prospect of success. Thus situated, our poet, firm in his resolution, and bold in the midst of danger, was determined to have the murderers punished. In his ire at the reception he met from Glengarry, he invoked his muse, and began to praise Sir Alexander M'Donald.

Nothing can give us a better idea of the power of the Highland clans, and of the state of the nation at this period, than this event, which happened in a family, and among a people, by no means inconsiderable. M'Donald of Keppoch could bring out, on emergency, three hundred fighting men of his own people; as brave and as faithful as ever a chieftain called out or led to battle, that would have shed the last drop of their blood in his cause, and yct he had not an inch of land to bestow upon them. The M'Donald of Keppoch always appeared at the head of his own men, although only a branch of the great clan. He might have got rights, as he had just claims to land for signal services: but “would he care for titles givcn on sheep skin?* he claimed his rights and titles by the edgc of the sword!”

* Some say he was called Iain Lom because he was bare in the face, and never had any beard.

The kingdom of Scotland, as well as other nations, often suffered from the calamities that have been consequent on minorities. The affairs of Keppoch must have been in the most disordered state, when a people, warlike and independent in spirit, were trusted to the care, and left under the control of relations—selfish, and, as they proved, unworthy of their trust. The innocent, unsuspicuous young men were sacrificed to the ambitious usurpation of base and cruel relatives. Our poet alone proved faithful; and, after doing what he could, it was not safe for him to rest there. The cause he espoused was honourable; and he was never wanting in zeal. Confiding in the justice of his cause, and his own powers of persuasion, (and no man better knew how to touch the spring that vibrated through the feelings of a high-spirited and disintercsted chieftain,) he succeeded. Being favourably received by Sir Alexander M'Donald, he concernt measures for punishing the murderers, which met his lordship's approval, and indicated the judgment and sagacity of the faithful clansman.

A person was sent to North Uist with a message to Archibald M'Donald (An Ciaran Mabach,) a poet as well as a soldier, commissioning him to take a company of chosen men to the mainland, where he would meet with the Lochaber bard, who would guide and instruct him in his future proceedings.

The usurpers were seized and beheaded. They met with the punishment they so richly deserved; but the vengeance was taken in the most cruel manner; and the exultation and feelings of the man who acted so boldly, and stood so firmly in the defence of the right, have been too ostentatiously indulged, in verses from which humanity recoils. How dif-ferent from his melting strains, so full of sympathy and compassion for the innocent young men whose death he avenged!

The atrocious deed has been palpably commemorated, in a manner repugnant to huma-nity, by “Tobar nan Ceann.”

Sometime thereafter the poet and Glengarry were reconciled. The chief well knew the influence of the “man of song” in the country, and had more policy than to despise one so skilled in the politics of the times—who made himself of more than ordinary conse-quence by the favour shown him by Sir Alexander M'Donald. No one of his rank could command greater defference. There might have been found votaries of the muses that poured out sweeter strains, but he was second to none in energy and pathos, in adapting his art to the object in view, and in producing the desired effect. He was born for the very age in which he lived. To the side he espoused he faithfully stood, and exerted all the energies of his mighty mind in behalf of the cause which he adopted. We shall not say that he was always in the right: in the one already related, he undoubtedly was; in a subsequent and greater cause he made one of a party. A poet is often led away by feeling, by passion and prejudice, when not left to cool reflection, or to the exercise of a better judgment. But Iain Lom entered on his enterprise with heart and zeal. A wider scene of action opened to his view. Usurpation, family feuds, and intestine troubles, gave way to civil war; and the vigilant seer became an active agent in the wars of Montrose.

One trait in the character of our poet, though not common, yet is not singular, and may be worthy of a remark or two. He was no soldier, and yet would set every two by the ears. Men of influence in the country, as well as chieftains at a distance, knew this, and dreaded him. An instance will put this in clear light. In the active scenes of those intestine troubles, a great politician and a famous bard was a person not to be neglected. He became an useful agent to his friends, and he received a yearly pension from Charles II. as his bard.

The Lochaber poet was the means of bringing the armies of Montrose and the Argyleshire men together, at Inverlochay, where the bloody battle that ensued proved so fatal to so many brave men, the heads of families of the Campbell clan.

It will be unnecessary to follow here a history so well known. The Argyleshire men, on learning the intentions of their enemies to make a second descent on their country, marched north in order to divert their course, and save Argyleshire from another devastation. John M'Donald's eyes were open to all that was passing. He hastened to the army of Montrose with the intelligence that the Campbells were in Lochaber. Mr Alexander M'Donald, (better known by his patronymic, Alasdair Mac Cholla,) who commanded the Irish auxiliaries, took John as guide, and went in search of the Campbells. He, after search was made, and finding no trace of them, began to suspect the informer of some sinister motive; and declared, "if he deceived him, he would hang him on the first tree he met." "Unless," answered the poet, who was well informed of the fact, "you shall find the Campbells all here, for certainly they are in the country, before this time to-morrow, you may do so." The enemy at length appeared, and they prepared to give them battle. "Make ready, John," says the commander to the poet, "you shall march along with me to the fight." The poet, as has been asserted of the greatest of orators, was a coward; yet he too well knew his man to have altogether declined the honour he offered him; for Mr Alexander was not the man to be refused. The other was at his wits end. A thought arose quicker than speech; and it was fortunate for him. "If I go along with thee to-day," said the bard, "and fall in battle, who will sing thy praises to-morrow? Go thou, Alasdair, and exert thyself as usual, and I shall sing thy feats, and celebrate thy prowess in martial strains." "Thou art in the right, John," replied the other; and left him in a safe place to witness the engagement.

From the castle of Inverlochay, the poet had a full view of the battle, of which he gives a graphic description. The poem is entitled The Battle of Inverlochay. The natives repeat these heroic verses, as most familiar and recent ones. So true, natural, and home-brought is the picture, that all that had happened, seem to be passing before their eyes. The spirit of poetry, the language, and boldness of expression, have seldom been equalled, perhaps never surpassed; yet, at this distance of time, these martial strains are rehearsed with different and opposite feelings.

The changes which afterwards took place produced no change in the politics of our bard. He entered into all the turmoils of the times with his whole heart, and with a boldness which no danger could daunt, nor power swerve from what he considered his duty. He became a violent opposer of the union, and employed his muse against William and Mary. It mattered little to him of what rank or station his opponents were if they incurred his resentment. He treated his enemies with the same freedom and boldness whether on the throne, at the head of an army, or in the midst of a clan on whose fidelity the chief might always depend. But his friends who were of the party which he espoused were spared, while he made the nicest distinction between the shades and traits of character. How ingeniously he revenged himself on Glengarry in the praises bestowed on Sir Alexander M'Donald! Yet, would he suffer a hair of the head of any of his clan to be touched? No truly.

But how severe was he against a neighbouring clan that was always in opposition to his own. The Campbells he always lashed with the sharpest stripes of satire. The marquess of Argyle, who, on the score of heroism might have shaken hands with himself, felt the influence of the satire and ridicule of the popular bard and politician so much, that he offered a considerable reward for his head. The conduct of M'Donald on this occasion, indicates well the manner in which the character of a bard was respected and held sacred.

The poet repaired to Inverary, went to the castle, and delivered himself to the marquess, demanding his reward. We have already given an instance of his cowardly spirit. No one would accuse him of rashness; for he proved his prudence, caution, and foresight, from the long experience and trials he had in troublesome times. It was, therefore, on the safety granted to the office of bardship that he depended. Nor did he trust too much. He was perfectly safe in the midst of his enemies; even in the very castle of their chief who offered a reward for his head. The marquess received him courteously, and brought him through the castle; and on entering a room hung round with the heads of black cocks, his Grace asked John:—"Am fac thu riamh Iain, an uiread sin de choilich dhubha an aon àite?"—"Chunnaic," ars Iain. "C' àite?"—"An Inbher-Lòchaidh."—"A! Iain, Iain, cha sguir thu gu bràch de chagnadh nan caimbeulach?"—"Se 's duilich leam," ars Iain, "nach urradh mi ga slugadh." i. e. "Have you ever seen, John, so many black cocks together?" "Yes," replied the undaunted bard. "Where?" demanded his grace. "At Inverlochay," returned the poet, alluding to the slaughter of the Campbells on that memorable day. "Ah! John," added his grace, "will you never cease gnawing the Campbells?" "I am sorry," says the other, "that I could not swallow them."

He was buried in Dun-aingeal in the braes of Lochaber; and his grave was till of late pointed out to the curious by the natives. Another bard, Alexander M'Donald of Glen-coe, composed an elegy to him when standing on his grave, beginning thus:—

"Na shìneadh an so fo na pluic,
Tha gaol an leoghaínn 's fuath an tuire, &c."

Iain Lom composed as many poems as would form a considerable volume, the best of which are given in this work.

* This song was composed on account of the laird of Glengarry refusing his aid in apprehending the Keppoch murderers; and in order to provoke the chief, the poet began by singing the praises of Sir Alexander McDonald of Slate, and Sir James his son.

Sliochd a ghàbhail nan steud thu,

* Women were the judges in this case, and a thief who was brought before them for stealing a horse, was allowed to escape while the horse was condemned to be hanged. The occasion was this :—Some time before the present action was raised, the same culprit had stolen the same horse and was prosecuted ; but had the good fortune to get off in consequence of its being his first offence. It seems, however, the horse had found the thief so much the better master that he soon after "stole himself" away and returned, for which, poor fellow he had to suffer the above reward. This story is often referred to among the Highlanders when law and justice are evidently different things, they say—" Cha tugadh an Cille-ma-cheallaig breath bu chlaome."

* "After the murder of the children of Keppoch Iain Manntach, the poet, had to flee for his life to Ross-shire, where he got a place from Seaforth in Glensheal, where he and his family might reside till such time as the murderers could be apprehended, as Seaforth, at the poet's request, had petitioned government for carrying that point into effect. This happened in the time of Sir James M'Donald, sixteenth baron of Slate, anno 1663.

"The government finding it impracticable to bring those robbers to justice in a legal way, sent a most ample commission of fire and sword (as it was then called) to Sir James M'Donald, signed by the duke of Hamilton, marquis of Montrose, earl of Eglinton, and other six of the Privy Council, with orders and full powers to pursue, apprehend, and bring in, dead or alive, all those lawless robbers, and their abettors.

"This, in a very short time, he effectually performed: some of them he put to death, and actually dispersed the rest to the satisfaction of the whole court, which contributed greatly to the civility of those parts.

"Immediately thereafter, by order of the ministry, he got a letter of thanks from the earl of Rothes, then Lord High Treasurer and Keeper of the Great Seal of Scotland, full of acknowledgments for the singular service he had done the country, and assuring him that it should not pass unrewarded, with many other clauses much to Sir James' honour.

"This letter is dated the 15th day of December, 1665, and signed Rothes. Sir James died anno 1678."—Extracted from an unpublished Historical MS. of the M'Donalds.

* This battle was fought between the M'Donalds and the Campbells, on Sunday, February 2, 1615.

† When the Campbells were routed, they endeavoured to cross the river at the above-mentioned ford. To their astonishment, however, the task proved more difficult than they had anticipated; for, some of them losing their footing, their bonnets were carried down by the current. This event delighted and amused the poet; and, in order to make it at the same time ludicrous in itself, and galling to the poor Campbells, he began to address them as follows:—"A Dhuimhneacha Dhuimhneacha, cuimhnichibh 'ur boin-eilean."

'S ceart 's cho cheart mar mo dhurachd,
 Le beachd mo shul gur mi chunnaic ;
 Cha robh againn do sgathan,
 Ach greasad trà do 'n taigh grunnaich ;

 Gach mio-rùn bha do 'n duin ud ;
 Ged bu ladurna 'n cùl-chaint,

Cha b e aingeachd na tuatha,

Na 'm biodh fear a bheoil mhoir ann,
 O nach doirteadh gloir bhreamais !

 'S ged a ghlaic sibh le foill e,
 B' e shein an saighdear bu ghlaine.

Gur maир a dh' earbadh a cairdeas,
 Neach a dh-fhas dheth an t-sloinneadh,
 Na 'm biodh cuimhn' air an lath' ud,
 Fhuair iad t-athair fo 'n comas ;
 Chuir iad smuid ri tur-arda,
 Chaisteil Blaир gu gle shoilleir ;
 'S beag bha dhòchas an là sin,
 Gu 'm biodh iad pàighe na 'n comainn.

'S mor tha eadar dha latha,
 Ged bha e grathunn gun tighinn ;
 Chaidh thu 'n cuirt na bu leatha,
 'N deigh t-athar a mhilleadh ;
 Gun aon bhuille claidheamh,
 Gun satadh biodaig no sgine ;
 Mur gu 'm bathadh tu coinnlean,
 Chaill e 'n oighreachd 'sa 'n cinneach.

'S beag a b' fhiach do Mhae Mhoirich,
 Dhol n' ur coinneamh ach ainneamh ;
 Na ghabhail mar chompach,
 Ach fear da 'n gealt' bhi na charaid ;
 'N deigh a Chomsair Stiùbhairt,
 Thain' sibh 'n tus air le h-an-iocdh,
 Thugadh an ceann deth gun sgrubadh,
 Ann an tìr Lady Murray.

Buail an teud sin gu sealbhach,
 'S na dean searbh i gun bhinneas ;
 'S na toir t-aghaidh neo-clearbhach,
 Do 'n fhear nach earb thu do shlinnein ;
 Ma chuir an righ an t-slat sgiùrsaidh,
 'N glaic do dhuijn gun a sireadh ;
 Uair mu seach air an flurnais,
 Mur bhuill' àird air an innein.

Gloir do 'n Righ th' air a chathair,
 'S maир a ghabhadh mun chluiuneadh ;
 Nò ghuidheadh na bhrcig e ;
 Gach ni dh-eirich sa chumnaic ;
 Mu 's ann le droch-bheart Iudas,
 Dh-fhuaigh thu chlùd air an Lunnainn ;
 Chaill thu 'n luireach 's na breidean,
 'S gach aon eideadh bha umad.

'N cuala' sibhse 'sa 'n duthaich,
 'N rauntar-bùth bh' aig na luchan ;
 'S iad a trusadh ri cheile,
 Na 'n droch reisemeid churta ;
 'Nuair bha eagal a chait orr' ;
 Chaidh droch sgapadh an cui'd diu ;
 'Sa bheisd mhor 'sa 'n robh phlaigh dhiu,
 Sgrios gun agh oirr' mar flurtachd.

Sin 'nuair labhair Dubh-na-h-àmrai,
 A bheisd ghrannd 'sa chrain mhullaich ;
 Cha robh an sabhal nan àth dhiu,
 Beisid le 'n àl nach do chruinnich,
 Nuair bha 'm mòd ga 'r cruidh shàrach'
 'S na cuird a fasgadh ma 'r muineil ;
 'S ann an sud a bha 'n gàtur,
 Co a chàradh iad umaibh.

B' ionann sin sa 'm bun rutha,
 Cha 'n eil iad buidheach da' r 'n an-iocdh ;
 Mar chlach an ionad an uibhe,
 Na 'm biodh luitheachd na 'n tcangaiddh ;
 B' ionann sin 's do shliochd Dhìarmaid,
 Bhi ga 'r biadhadh an an-iocdh ;
 Math an agaidh an uile,
 Chuir mi luchd-sa 'n Aird-reanaich.

'Nuair bha 'n ad oirbh n-uiridh,
 Bha sibh urranta mòdhár ;
 Am blaidhna chaill sibh an currachd,
 'S eiginn fuireach gle shamhach :

Chaill an t-Iarl air 'ur turas,
Mheud 'sa bhuining e mhàl oirbh ;
Gar am b' fhiach leis an duin' ud,
Bhi ri cruinneachadh cnàmhraig.

B' olc a b' fhiach do dhiuc-Atholl,
Dholl an coinne riut Eardsaith,
'N deigh latha Roinn-Liòthunn ;
Thug sibh ioc-shlaint mar earlais,
Mheall sibh null thar an abhainn,
Marcus Atholl 'sa bhrathair ;
Chuir sibh 'n laimh an toll-dubh iad,
'S loisg sibh duthaich iarl Earlaidh.*

Tha thu 'd mharcus am bliadhna,
'S ad shàr iarl air Tulaich-bheardainn ;
'S ged a dheanadh iad diùc dhioit,
'S ro mhath b' fhiu thu an t-aite ;
Tha do thiotal cho lionor,
Chumail dion air do chairdean ;
Geard an rìgh fo d' smachd orduidh,
'S tha thu 'd mhòir-fhear Baile-mhanaidh.

ORAN AIR RIGH UILLEAM AGUS BAN-RIGH MAIRL.

LUNNEAG.

Hi-rinn h-â rinn, ho ro h-o bha ho,
Hi-rinn h-â rinn, ho ro h-o bha ho,
Biodh gach duine agaibh brònach,
Air son foirneart mo rìgh.

'N NIUGH chuala' mi naidheachd,
Air alt nach b'aimhealach leinn,
'N'an cumadh e chasan—
'S gu boidh an t-ath-egeul cho binn—
Righ Seumas le farum,
Cur a dharaich na still ;
O'n 's leat nachdar na mara,
Gluais a's taruinn gu tìr.
Hi-rinn, &c.

Mhic Mhuire na h-òighe,
Coimhead foirneart mo rìgh ;
Co b'urrainn da'r smàladh—
Ach do lamhans' bhi leinn :
Faic a nis prionns Orans',
Cur na còir os a cinn ;
Ach as do chobhair, a Shlan-'ear,
Thig furtachd a's slaint air gach tìun.
Hi-rinn, &c.

A Righ chumhaclidaich, fheartaich,
Ga 'm beil beachd air gach nì,
Cum air aghaidh an ceartas—
An lagh seachranach pill :

* A title formerly in Strathmore, now extinct.

Faic luchd nam breid dàite,
Bhi gun dealt ann ri'n linn ;
'S ma tha 'n eucoir nan aigneadh,
Beum do shliat os an cinn.

Hi-rinn, &c.

'N uair a thainig thu Shasunn,
'S tu rinn aiseag a bhreamais ;
Sheilbh chòir thoirt air eigin,
O athair ceile thug bean dut.
Cha bi reull nan dùilean,
Bha deanadh iuil dut 'san ain-eol ;
Mar bha roimh na trì rìghrean,
'N nair bha Iosa na leanabh.

Hi-rinn, &c.

Thug thu 'm follais an t-Slàu'ear,
Sgeula gràin do luchd teagasig ;
'S gur mòr am fà näire,
'S an coig àintean a bhriseadh.
A nighean fhéin, 's mac a pheathar,
'N aghaidh labhairt an Sgriobtuir,
Mar bheun ghearran 'sa chathair,
'S nach b'flear-taighe da 'n sliochd e.

Hi-rinn, &c.

'S fior mhallaichte 'n lànan,
Chum an Spàin annus an roinn ud ;
Sheilbh chòir thoirt a dh-ainideoin,
Le mùtha malairt an t-slaigteir :
Gé'd' a stadhadh an claidheamh,
Gun bhuille chaith' ach na rinn e,
Bi'dh gach fuil 'g eigheach am flaitheas,
A d' dheigh a latha 's a dh' oidhche.
Hi-rinn, &c.

'S maирg a chreideadh droch naidheachd,
Thig tro amhaich a nàmhaid,
Chuireadh fùdar na ghreadan,
An grund' na h-eaglaise gnàthaicht ;
'S lionor luun tha na teine,
'S a ghrund 'n do spealadh an grain-shop
Ach, chi sinn fhathasd sud diolte,
Mas' a fior a ta 'n fhàistinn.
Hi-rinn, &c.

'N uair chaidh Whitehall losgadh,
Bu mliall do choiseachd gun bhrògan ;
'S mi nach rachadh le pairti,
Air mliire, bhàthadh, na tòite.
Mas' a daoine rinn suas e,
B'fhaoin an cruadal, 's an seoltachd ;
Cha 'n eil mi gearan—mo thruaighe !
Ach a lughad 's a fhuair dhiu an ròstadh
Hi-rinn, &c.

Cha tig ach rùcas a's cealgan,
O chruitean cealgach an ràbuill ;
Cuiribh an t-aibhisdear saoil ris—
Biodh Dia a's daoine ga aicheadh.

Cleas eud bean a chruiteir,
 Fhuair a cursadh 'n sgàth gàraidh ;
 Thog iad airson mar uirsgeul,
 Gu 'n do mhurt e dhearbh-bhrathair.
Hi-rinn, &c.

Gu 'm bu ghrannda na sgeoil sin,
 Thog na deomhain ga dhìbeirt !
 'S nach b' urr' iad ga dhearbhadh,
 Ach mar bhuille searbh da 'n luchd mi-ruin ;
 Gu 'n cuirte isean a chlamhaic,
 An nead clannach an fhireoin ;
 Mac muice a bhalaich,
 Shalcha fala nan rìghrean.
Hi-rinn, &c.

'S maирg rìgh a rinn cleamhnaс,
 Rì Dùitseach shantach gun trocair ;
 Cha h'e 'n onair bu ghnàs da,
 Ged' 's tu brathair-mathair an rògair.
 Ged' a thug thu dha Mairi
 Air laimh, chum a pòsaidh,
 Ghabh e t-oighreachd a t-an-toil
 Thar do cheann, a's thu d' bheo-shlaint.
Hi-rinn, &c.

Bha mac aig rìgh Daibhidh,
 'S bu deas àill air ceann sluaigh e,
 Chaidh e 'n aghaidh an athar,
 S am fear nach cair da bhuaireadh ;
 'N uair a sgaoileadh am blàr sin,
 Thug Dia páigheadh na dhuais da ;
 'S o'n bu droch dhuine cloinn e,
 Chroch a choill air a ghruaig e.
Hi-rinn, &c.

Ach buaidh an droch sgeoil sin,
 Do phriónns Orains gun diadhachd,
 Ged' a rachadh do bhàthadh,
 Cha b' ionann bà dut 'sa dh' iarrainn ;
 Ach mo suilean bhi t-fhaicinn,
 Edar eachabh ga d' stialladh ;
 Dol a d' smaladh 's an adhar,
 Mar luaithe dhaigte ga criathradh.
Hi-rinn, &c.

Sgrios gun iarmad, gun duilleach,
 Cha 'n iarruinn tuille am dhàn duibh ;
 Gun sliochd a dh-iathadh mu t' uilinn,
 Do għniexx broinne droch Mhàiri ;
 Ged' a għlacadh na theum e,
 'S farsuinn beul a mhic-lamhaich ;
 A shean staivoi bhi 'n cunnart,
 Aig na rinn thu thrusadh a cràineig.
Hi-rinn, &c.

Ach seun gun tuisladh air Mairi,
 'S olc an làu tha na togsaid ;

'N ar fhaicear laogh càraig,
 Nuas gu lär as a pocá.
 Cha bhi 'n sean fhacail claoite,
 Air neo 's claon theid a thogail ;
 Tha 'n dà shant 's an droch mhnaoi ud,
 'S annsadh  le no bōban.
Hi-rinn, &c.

Ach na 'n tigeadh an rìgh sin,
 'S a mhac dileas air aidmheil,
 Ged' a theireadh prionns Orains,
 Nach h-i choir a bhi againn,
 Cha bu mho orra Uilleain,
 Air sràid Lunnauin an Sasunn,
 'N ceann fhuadach deth mhuineal,
 Na cluas cuilein an radain.
Hi-rinn, &c.

Prionns Orains a mhì-rath,
 Mas' toil le Rìgh thoirt gu creideamh,
 'S còir an duilleag so thiondad,
 Air a bhan-rìgh nach creid e.
 Ma shaol am bith-shanntach sanntach
 Na mhac-samhla ga ghoid sud ;
 Na a ruitheachd le lànnan,
 Air nighean Seanalair Huitsein.
Hi-rinn, &c.

B'fhearr gu 'm buailcadh e'n staids,
 Tus a bhàidse bu chòir dha,
 N'am bu tuiteam 'sa phlaigh dhuinn,
 Mar fhuair rìgh Phàro, 's a sheorsa ;
 Mar bha chomhairle bhreigc,
 Chuir rìgh Seumas air fògradh ;
 Aithris cleas nan droch rìghrean,
 Leis 'n do dhiteadh Rìgh-boam.
Hi-rinn, &c.

Sgeul buan e do'n mhearcaid.
 'S nach tog a mac a cuid oighreachd ;
 'S ion dith cùram a ghabhail,
 Mu'n dùinear cathair na soills' orr ;
 Thoill i mallachd a h-athar,
 O'n għabb an t-aibhisteir grēim dh'i ;
 'S olc an dùchas a lean rith,
 Chuinnt a seanaир na throiteir.
Hi-rinn, &c.

'S math an toiseach ar seannsa,
 Ma rinn am Frangach a thapadh—
 Ma għlacadh leis Monsai,
 Cha sgeul tum-sgeul ach ceartas,
 Bu mhath gu'm biodh an abdhansa,
 Air a tionsadh gu Sasunn ;
 Na gu faicte an cunnar,
 Cho għrad ri tionda nan cairtean.
Hi-rinn, &c.

* Rehoboam, poetically.

Ach ma stad air an diùc sin,
 'S nach e a run tigh'n ni's fhaide ;
 Leig e cadal do'n chìrein—
 Stad a sgriob mar a chleachd e ;
 Ma leig gach saighdear a ghleus deth :
 'N uair tha leigheart mu'n chaisteal,
 B'shearr gu'm faicinn an coileach,
 No, gu'n gaireadh a chaismeachd.
Hi-rinn, &c.

Mu tha e'n dàn dhut teachd dhachaigh,
 'S nàr dhut t-fhaicinn gun speurad ;
 Ged'a fhuaire thu pairt leonaidh,
 Ri àm fògraith rìgh Sheumais ;
 Ma tha thu cruaidh air an raipeir,
 Seall air slachdan a ghleusaidh,
 Leis an do spionadh mo sgròban,
 Ma's fior Tòmas an Réumair.
Hi-rinn, &c.

* “Crois-tàra,” or “crann-tàra,” was a piece of wood, half burnt and dipt in blood, sent by a special messenger as a signal of distress or alarm. The person to whom it was sent, immediately despatched another person with it to some one else; and thus was intelligence passed from one to another over immense distances in an incredibly short time. One of the latest instances of its being used, was in 1745, by lord Breadalbane, when it went round Loch Tay, the distance of thirty-two miles, in three hours. The above method was used only in the day-time; for in the night, recourse was had to the “Sgorr-thine,” a large fire kindled on an eminence. See Ossian’s “Carrig-thura.” The last mentioned signal is spoken of by Jeremiah to denote distress, chap. vi. 1.

* Captain Andrew Munro sent instructions to Neil Macleod, the laird of Assynt, his brother-in-law, to apprehend every stranger that might enter his bounds, in the hope of catching Montrose, for whose apprehension a splendid reward was offered. In consequence of those instructions, Macleod sent out various parties in quest of Montrose, but they could not fall in with him. "At last the laird of Assynt being abroad in arms with some of his tenants in search of him, lighted on him in a place where he had continued three or four days without meat or drink, and only one man in his company." Assynt had formerly been one of Montrose's own followers, who immediately knowing him, and believing to find friendship at his hands, willingly discovered himself; but Assynt not daring to conceal him, and being greedy of the reward which was promised to the person who should apprehend him by the council of the estates, immediately seized and disarmed him."* Montrose offered Macleod a large sum of money for his liberty, which he refused to grant. Macleod kept Montrose and his companion prisoners in the castle of Aird-bhreach, his principal residence, for a few days. He was from thence removed to Skibo castle, where he was kept two nights, thereafter to the castle of Braan, and thence again to Edinburgh.

AN CIARAN MABACH.

NO,

GILLEASPUIG RUADH MAC-DHOMHNUILL.

ARCHIBALD M'DONALD, commonly called Ciaran Mabach, was an illegitimate son of Sir Alexander M'Donald, sixteenth baron of Slate. He was contemporary with Iain Lom, the Lochaber bard, and his coadjutor in punishing the murderers of the lawful heirs of Keppoch.

In no one could his father more properly have confided matters of importance, requiring sagacity, zeal, and bravery, than in this son. Accordingly he made use of his services when necessary; and put the greatest dependence in his fidelity, prudence, and activity. Ciaran Mabach was no doubt amply requitted by his father, who allotted him a portion of land in North Uist. Grants of land were in those times commonly given to gentlemen of liberal education, but of slender fortune; where amid their rural occupations they enjoyed pleasures unknown to those who in similar stations of life were less happily located. Of this our bard was very sensible during his stay in Edinburgh, as we learn from his poem on that occasion.

It does not appear that our poet was a voluminous writer; and of his compositions there are very few extant. It is to be regretted that so few of his poems have been preserved, as his taste, education, and natural powers, entitle him to a high place among the bards of his country. Gentlemen of a poetical genius could have resided in no country more favourable to poetry than in the Highlands of Scotland, where they led the easy life of the sportsman, or the grazier, and had leisure to cultivate their taste for poetry or romance.

B' ANNSA CADAL AIR·FRAOCH.

Ge socrach mo leabaidh,
B' annsa cadal air fraoch,
Ann an lagan beag uaigneach,
A's bad de'n luachair ri 'm thaobh,
'Nuair dh'eirinn sa' mhadainn,
Bhi siubhal ghlacagan caol,
Na bhi triall thun na h-Abaid,
'G eisdeachd glagraich nan sàor.

'S oil leam càradh na frithé,
'S mi bhi 'n Lìte nan long,
Eadar ceann Saileas Si-phort,
A's rutha Ghrianaig nan tonn,

Agus Uiginnis riabhach,
An tric an d'iarri mi damh-donn,
'S a bhi triall thun nam bodach,
Dha'm bu chosnadadh cas-chrom.

Chia'n eil agam cù gleusda,
A's cha'n eil feum agam dha,
Cha suidh mi air bachdan,
Air slíabh fad o chàch,
Cha leig mi mo ghaothar,
Chaidh faogh'd an tuim bàin,
'S cha sgaoil mi mo luaidhe,
An Gleann-Ruathain gu bràth.

B'iad mo ghradh-sa a ghraidih uallach,
 A thogadh suas ris an àird,
 Dh'itheadh biolair an fhuarain,
 'S air bu shuarach an càl,
 'S mise féin nach tug fuath dhuibhl,
 Ged a b'fhuar am mios Màigh.
 'S tric a dh'fhuilg mi crùadal,
 A's moran fuachd air 'ur sgàth.

Be mo ghradh-sa fear buidhe,
 Nach dean suidhe mi'n bhòrd,
 Nach iarradh ri cheannach,
 Pinnt leanna na beoir;
 Uisge-beatha math dubaitl,
 Cha be b'fhiù leat ri òl,
 B'shearr leat biolair an fhuarain,
 A's uisge luaineach an lòin.

B'i mo ghradh-sa a bliean uasal,
 Dha nach d'fhuaras riāmh lochd,
 Nach iarradh mår chluasaig,
 Ach fior ghualainn nan cnoc,
 'S nach fuiligeadh an t-sradag,
 À lasadh r'i corp,
 Och ! a Mhuire mo chruidh-chas,
 Nach dh'fhuaire mi thu nochd.

Bean a b'algeantaich céile,
 Nam eiridh ri òriùchd,
 Cha'n fhraigheadh tu bend da,
 'S cha bu leir leis ach thu
 Sibh an glacaibh a chéile,
 Am fior eudainn nan stùc,
 'S ann am eiridh na gréine,
 Bu għlan leirsinn do shùl.

'Nuair a thigeadh am foghar,
 Bu bhinn leam gleadhair do chléibh,
 Dol a għabha il-aħnejha,
 Air a mhointich bhuiġ rēidh,
 Dol an coinneamh do leannain,
 Bu għile feamau a's cérir
 Gur h-i 'n eilid bu bhōicħe,
 A's bu bħrisge lōghmhorra ceum.

Note.—This song was composed in Edinburgh while the poet was under the care of a surgeon for a sprain in his foot.

DO SHIR SEUMAS MAC-DHONUILL.*

B' FHEARR am mor ole a chluinntinn,

Stad mo chlaideamh na dħuille,
'S bāth dhomh fuireach r'a rùsgad.

* Raogħuill odhar was a piper. There is a story told about this worthy, to the following purpose :—He was a great coward; and being in the exercise of his calling in the battle-field one day along with his clan, he was seized with such fear at the sight of the enemy, whom he thought too many for his party, that he left off playing altogether, and began to sing a most dolorous song to a lachrymose air, some stanzas of which had been picked up and preserved by his fellow soldiers; and which, on their return from the war they did not fail to repeat. When an adult is seen crying for some trifling cause, he is said to be singing "Port Raogħuill uidhir," "Dun Donald's tune;" and when a Highlander is threatening vengeance for some boisterous and uproarious devilment which has been played off upon him, he will say : "Bheir mis ori gu scinn thu" 'Port Raogħuill uidhir'" i.e. "I will make you sing 'Dun Ronald's tune.'" The following are a few of the stanzas :—

" Be so an talamh mi shealbhach !
Tha gun chládach gun għarbhlač gu'n chħes ;
Anna an rachainn da'm shalab,
'S sluagh gun athadh a teannadh faisg oirn.

Tha mi tinn leis an eagal,

Fhuair mi claidheamh nach iħub ann am dhđrn,
Ach ma ni iad mo mħarbhad,

Oich! 'ma ni iad mo mħarbhad!
Ciod a feum a ni 'n t-airgead sin dhomh-s?"

Tha mi tinn. &c.

DOROTHY BROWN.

THIS poetess belonged to Luing, an island, in Argyleshire. It is uncertain when she was born; but she was cotemporary with Iain Lom; like him was a Jacobite, and also employed her muse in the bitterest satire against the Campbells. Indeed there must have been great pungeney in her songs; for, long after her death, one Colin Campbell, a native of Luing, being at a funeral in the same burying-ground where she was laid, trampled on her grave, impreating curses on her memory. Dunian Maelachlan, of Kilbride, in Lorn, himself a poet, and of whom the translator of Ossian makes honourable mention as a preserver of Gaelic poetry, being present, pulled him off her grave, sent for a gallon of whisky, and had it drunk to her memory on the spot. Her song to Alasdair Mae Cholla, was composed on seeing his birlinn pass through the sound of Luing on an expedition against the Campbells, in revenge for the death of his father, whom they had killed some time before. She is the only poetess who at all approaches Mairi nighean Alasdair Ruaidh as a successful votary of the muse. She composed a great many songs, but, not being much known out of her native island, perhaps, the following piecee is the only thing of hers now extant. A tomb-stone, with a suitable Gaelic inscription, is about to be erected to her memory, in Luing, by a countryman of her own, Mr Artt M'Lachlan, of Glasgow, a gentleman well known for his zeal in every thing tending to promote the honour of Highlanders, and the Highlands.

ORAN DO DH' ALASDAIR MAC COLLA.

ALASDAIR a laoigh mo chéille,
Co chunnaic no dh' ftagh thu 'n Eirinn,
Dh' ftagh thu na miltean 's na ceudan,
'S cha d' ftagh thu t-aon leithid féin ann,
Calpa cruinn an t-sinbhal eutrim,

Cas chruinneachadh 'n t-sluagh ri chéile,
Cha deanar cogadh as t-éugais,
'S cha deanar sith gun do reite,
'S ged nach bi na Duimhnich reidh riut,
Gu 'n robh an righ mur tha mi féin dut.

*E-hò, hi u hò, rò hò eile,
E-ho, hi u ho, 's i ri ri ù,
Hò hi ù ro, o hò ù eile,
Mo dhiobhail dìth nan ceann-fheadhna.*

Mo chruit, mo chlàrsach, a's m' fhiodhall,
Mo theud chiùl 's gach àit am bithinn,
'Nuair a bha mi òg 's mi 'm nighinn,

Gheibheadh tu na bhiadh tu shreadh,
Ged a chaillinn ris mo chinneach—

E-ho i u ho, &c.

Dh' eireadh leat da thaobh na h-amhuin,
Cho lionmhòr ri ibht an draighinn.
E-ho i u ho, &c.

Dh' oladh fion dearg na thonnadh,
Thigeadh steach air moitich Thollaiddh,
'S a thogadh creach o mhuianntir Thomaidh.
E-ho i u ho, &c.

Note.—As the air to which this piece is sung is rather a kind of irregular chant than a tune, the poetess was not necessitated to make all her stanzas of equal length. We know of other even good songs in similar style; and, perhaps, it is in some measure owing to this circumstance that the fertility of imagination, and raciness of language, so apparent in the compositions of some of our untutored bards is to be attributed. Marbhrainn Iain ghairbh, at page 26, is an instance of this.

SILIS NIGHEAN MHIC RAONAILL.

CICELY or JULIAN M'DONALD lived from the reign of Charles II. to that of George I. She was daughter to Mac Raoghnail na Ceapach, and of the Roman Catholic persuasion. Consequently she was an enemy to Protestantism, and hence devoted the earliest efforts of her muse against the House of Hanover. It is said that in her young days she was very frolicsome. She then composed epigrams, some of which are very clever, and in our possession. She was married to a gentleman of the family of Lovat, and lived with him in Moraghach Mhic-Shimidh, a place which she describes in a poem, as bare and barren in comparison to her native Lochaber. This celebrated piece begins with, “A theanga sin'sa theanga shröil,” which was the first piece she composed after her marriage. During her residence in the North she composed “Slan gu bràch le ceòl na clàrsach,” as a lament for Lachlan M'Kinnon the blind harper. This harper was a great favourite of our poetess, and used to spend some of his time in her father's family. He was also in the habit of paying her a yearly visit to the North, and played on his harp while she sung :—

“ Nuair a ghlacadh tu do chlàrsach,
Sa bhiodh tu ga gleusadh lamh rium,
Cha mhath a thuigte le umaidh,
Do chuir chiul-sa, 's mo ghabhail dhan-sa.”

During her residence in the North she composed several short pieces, among which is an answer to a song by Mr M'Kenzie of Gruineard called “An obair nogha.” Her husband died of a fit of intoxication, while on a visit to Inverness. She composed an elegy on him which is here given. The song “Alasdair a Glinne-Garaidh” is truly beautiful, and has served as a model for many Gaelic songs. After the death of her husband, she was nearly cut off by severe illness ; and upon her recovery, engaged her muse in the composition of hymns, some of which are still in use, as appears from a Hymn-book printed at Inverness in 1821. She lived to a good old age, but the time of her death is uncertain.

MARBHRANN AIR BAS A FIR.

'S i so bliadhna 's faid' a chlaoidh mi,

NIALL MAC-MHUIRICH.

NEIL MAEVURICH, the family bard and historian of Clanronald, Mac-Dhònuill, Mhic-'Ic-Ailein, was born in the beginning of the seventeenth century. He lived in South Uist, where he held a possession of land which is known to this day, as marked out and designated Baile-bhàird, i. e. the bard's farm. He was of a succession of poets that the illustrious family kept to record the history of their ancestors, and to fill the station so indispensably requisite in those days, in the halls of chiefs of renown. There were several poets of the name of Mac-Mhuirich, lineal descendants of the same man, who were distinguished from each other in various ways, as specified in the brief account given of Lachunn mor Mac-Mhuirich Albannaich; Neil was simply, if not emphatically, called Niall Mac-Mhuirich, Clanronald's Seanachaidh, or family historian.

He had written, in the Gaelic language, the history of the great clan whose records he kept, and the strains in which distinguished individuals were commemorated for their talents and prowess. But he satisfied not himself with writing what related to the family that honoured him with the office of bard: he likewise had written ancient poetry, and the history of past times.—See the Highland Society's account of the Red Book.

While this celebrated bard was most careful in recording every thing worthy of preservation, it is to be regretted that so little of his own history and works have been preserved. This has been often the case with men of genius. Very few Gaelic bards were at the trouble of writing their own productions: they trusted too much to memory; seldom reflected on what might happen in the lapse of time; never apprehended that succeeding generations would be indifferent about what seemed to them to be of the greatest moment. Neil M'Vurieh, while he adopted the best method of handing down to posterity the invaluable relies of antiquity, might not think it worth his trouble to write his own poems, or record any anecdotes concerning himself. These, like many others, have been lost, with the exception of the two pieces given in this work. He lived to a great age, and was an old man in 1715.

To throw more light on the history of this tribe of poets, we beg to give the following, which is a copy of the declaration of Laehlan M'Vurieh, a son of the bard, written in Gaelic, and addressed to Henry M'Kenzie, Esq., at the time he was writing the Highland Society's report of Ossian:—

BARRA, 9th August, 1800.

ANN an taigh Phadruig Mhie-Neaeil an Torluim goirid o Chaisteal Bhuirghi ann an Siorramaehd Inbhernis, a naoidhamh latha de chiad mhios an fhoghair, anns an dà fhichead bliadhna agus naoidh-deug d'a aois, thainig Lachlunn mae Néill, mhie Laehluinn, mhie

Nèill, mhic Dhòmhnuill, mhic Lachuinn, mhic Nèill mhòir, mhic Lachuinn,* mhic Dhòmhnuill, do shloinne chlann Mhuirich, ann an lathair Ruairidh Mhic Nèill tighearna Bhàra, thabhairt a chòdaich, mar is fiosrach e-san, gur e féin an t-ochdamh glùn déug o Mhuireach a bha leanmuinn teaghlach Mhic-'Ic-Ailein, ceannard Chlann-Raonuill, mar bhardàibh,

* This is LACHUNN MOR MAC MUHURICH ALBANNAICH, or Lachlan mòr MacVuirich of Scotland, the second of this famous tribe of bards.

Where there are several individuals of the same name, it is necessary to have some marks to distinguish them. This has been always attended to by the Gaél though in various ways. It is common to call persons by their patronimics; and among clans, where many have the same name and surname, they could not be distinctly called and recognised otherwise: instead of saying Alexander M'Donald, where two, three, or four were found of the same name, in the same place, they called one, Alexander, the son of Allan, the son of John; another, Alexander, the son of Donald, the son of Neil; and another, the son of Rory, the son of Dugald, &c.

The Gaelic language being susceptible of describing beings and objects most minutely; individuals are frequently distinguished and described from their appearance, or qualities external and internal. Thus our author has been called Lachlan Mòr, in contradistinction to another of the same name who was less. Mòr signifies great in respect of one's person or mind. Its literal meaning is magnitude, and this is the sense in which it has been applied here. But there is another mark by which this bard was distinguished, namely, by his country, Albannach, or of Scotland. Irish bards, or minstrels, were once no strangers in Scotland, and especially the Highlands; for Albainn, the Gaelic term for Scotland, had been particularly applied to the Highlands. The cognomen, Albannach, had been given Lachlan mòr MacVurich emphatically, being the great poet of his day. The language of the two countries being the same, the Scottish Highlanders and Irish understood each other; and there was frequent intercourse between them. They, in fact, were originally the same people; and, instead of disputing about the origin of the one or the other, historians ought to regard them as one and the same, removing from the one kingdom to the other as occasion or necessity required. Of the works of this famous poet, all now extant is an extraordinary one—a war song, composed almost wholly of epithets arranged in alphabetical order, to rouse the Clan Donnill to the highest pitch of enthusiasm before the battle of Harlaw. This poem is entitled in Gaelic:—“BROSNACHA-CATHA LE LACHUNN MÒR MAC MUHURICH ALBANNAICH DO DHOMHNULL A ILE RIGH-INNSE-GALL AGUS IARLA ROIS LATHA MACHRAICH CHATH-GAIRIACH.”* The piece has a part for every letter in the Gaelic alphabet till near the end consisting altogether of three hundred and thirty-eight lines. It would occupy too much space to print it in this work. Here follow the two first, and also the thirteen last lines of the poem:—

A chlanna Cuinn cuimhnichibh,
Cruas an am na h-iorguill.

* * * * *
Gu ur-labhrach, ùr-lamhach neart-mhor,
Gu coisneadh na cath-làrach,
Ri bruidhne 'ur biubhaidh,
A chlanna Chuinn cheud-chathaich,
'Si nis uair 'ur n'aitheachaichd.

A chuileanan chonfhadach,

A bheirichean bunanta,

A leoghainnean lan-ghasta

Aon-chonnaibh iorghiilleach

De laochaibh chrodha, churanta

De chlannaibh Chùinn cheud-chathaich

A chlanna Chuinn, cuimhnichibh

Cruas an am na h-iorguill.

This poem is very valuable in two respects:—First, It is the best proof that could be given of a language, so copious and abounding in epithets, that the number poured out under each letter is almost incomprehensible. What command of language! How well deserved our bard the

* This battle was fought, anno 1411, at a small village called Harlaw, in the district of Garloch, within ten miles of Aberdeen. The cause of it was this:—Walter Lesly, a man nobly born, succeeded to the Earldom of Ross, in right of his lady, whm was daughter of that house. He had by her a son, who succeeded him, and a daughter, who was married to the Lord of the Isles. His son married a daughter of the duke of Albany, son of Robert II., at that time governor of Scotland; but dying young, left behind him only one child. It is said that she was somewhat deformed, and rendered herself a Religious. From her the governor easily preneured a resignation of the Earldom of Ross in favour of John earl of Buchan, his second son, to the prejudice of Donald lord of the Isles, who was grandson of the said Lesly, and supposed the nearest heir. He claimed his right accordingly, but finding the governor, whm probably regarded him already as too powerful a subject, mnt inclined to do him that justice he expected, he immediately raised an army of no less than 10,000 men within his own isles, and putting himself at their head, made a descent on the continent, and, without opposition, seized the lands of Ross, and after increasing his army with the inhabitants, he continued his march from Ross until he came to Garloch, within ten miles of Aberdeen, ravaging the countries through which he passed, and threatening to enrich his men with the wealth of that town. But before he could reach that place, his career was stopped by Alexander Stewart, the grandson of Robert II., and earl of Marr. For this brave youth, by orders from the governor, drew together, with great expedition, almost all the Tha cuimhne aige gu robh leabhar aig athair ris an canadh iad an "Leabhar dearg," de phaipeir, a thainig o shinnisribh, anns a rohh mòran do shean eachdraidh nam fineachan Gàëlach, agus cuid dc "Shaothair Oiscin" mar bha athair ag innseadh dha. Chan cil a h-aon de na leabhraichean so r'a fhaotainn an diugh, thaobh is 'nuair a chaill iad am fearann, gu do chaill iad am misneach agus an dùrachd. Cha'n eil e cinnteach ciod e thàinig ris na craienean, ach gu bheil barail aigc gun tug Alasdair mac Mhaighstir Alasdair 'Ic-Dhòmhnuill ar falbh cuid diubh, agus Raonull a mhac cuid eile dhiubh ; agus gum fac e dha no trì' dhiubhaig tàileirean ga 'n gearradh sios gu criosan tomhais : Agus tha cuimhne mhath aige gu tug Mac-'Ic-Ailein air athair an "Leabhar dearg" a thabhairt seachad do Sheumas Mac Mhuirich a Bàideanach ; gu robh e goirid o bhi cho tiugh ri Bioball, ach gu robh e na b' fhaide agus na bu leatha, ach nach robh ȫrad thiughaid sa chòmlidach ; gu robh na craienean agus an "Leabhar dearg" air an sgrìobhadh anns an làimh anns an robh Gàëlig air a sgrìobhadh o shcan an Albainn agus ann an Eirinn, mu'n do ghabh daoine cleachdadh air sgrìobhadh na Gàëlig anns an làimh Shasunnach ; gum b'aithne dha athair an t-shean làmh a leughadh gu math ; gu robh cuid de na craienean aige féin an deigh bàis athar, ach a thaobh is nach d' ionnsaich e iad, agus nach robh aobhar meas aig' orra, gu deach' iad ar chall. Tha e ag ràdh nach robh h-aon de shinnisribh air a robh Pall mar ainm, ach gu robh dithis dhiubh ris an canadh iad Cathal.

Tha e 'g ràdh nach ann le h-aon duine a sgrìobhadh an "Leabhar dearg," ach gu robh adnomen Albanach ! He lived in the fifteenth century. He could not be ignorant of letters. He was well acquainted with all the idioms of his native language, and had the greatest command over its powers and energies. Nor was he ignorant of the genius of the people whom he addressed. Clann-Domhnuill was the most powerful of the clans in his time. They were foremost in battle, and entitled to take the right in the field ; which was never disputed, till the battle of Culloden, which proved so fatal to many. Our poet, therefore, exhausted the almost exhaustless copia verborum of the language, for the purpose of infusing the spirit of the greatest heroism and love of conquest into the breasts of the warriors.

nobility and gentry between the two rivers Tay and Spey, and with them met the invader at the place above mentioned, where a long, uncertain, and bloody battle ensued ; so long, that nothing but the night could put an end to it ; so uncertain, that it was hard to say who had lost or gained the day ; so bloody, that one family is reported to have lost the father and six of his sons. The earl of Marr's party, who survived, lay all night on the field of battle ; while Donald, being rather wearied with action than conquered by force of arms, thought fit to retreat, first to Ross, and then to the Isles.—Abercromby's Hist.

e air a sgriobhadh o linn gu linn le teaghlach Chlann-Mhuirich, a bha cumail suas scana-chas Chlainn-Dòmhnuill, agus ecannardan nam fincahan Gàchlach eile.

An deigh so a sgriobhadh, chaidh a leughadh dha, agus dh-aidich e gu robh e ceart, ann an làthair Dhòmhnuill Mhic-Dhòmhnuill, fear Bhailc Raghail ; Eoghain Mhic-Dhòmhnuill, fear Gheara-sheilich ; Eoghan Mhic-Dhomhnuill Fear Ghriminis ; Alasdair Mhic-Ghill-eain, fear Hoster, Alasdair Mhic-Neacail, ministear Bheinnc-bhaoghsa ; agus Ailein Mhic-Chuinn, ministear Uist-a-Chinnc-tuath, a fear asgriobh a seanachas so.

TRANSLATION OF THE ABOVE.

In the house of Patrick Nicolson, at Torlum, near Castle-Burgh, in the shire of Inverness, on the ninth day of August, compeared in the fifty-ninth year of his age, Lachlan, son of Neil, son of Lachlan, son of Neil, son of Donald, son of Lachlan, son of Neil Mòr, son of Lachlan, son of Donald, of the surname of Mac Vuirich, before Roderick M'Neil, laird of Barra, and declared, That, according to the best of his knowledge, he is the eighteenth in descent from Muireach, whose posterity had officiated as bards to the family of Clanronald ; and that they had from that time, as the salary of their office, the farm of Staoiligary and four pennies of Drimisdale during fifteen generations ; that the sixteenth descendant lost the four pennies of Drimisdale, but that the seventeenth descendant retained the farm of Staoiligary for nineteen years of his life. That there was a right given them over these lands as long as there should be any of the posterity of Muireach to preserve and continuo the genealogy and history of the Macdonalds, on condition that the bard, failing of male issue, was to educate his brother's son, or representative, in order to preserve their title to the lands ; and that it was in pursuance of this custom that his own father, Neil, had been taught to read and write history and poetry by Donald, son of Neil, son of Donald, his father's brother.

He remembers well that works of Ossian, written on parchment, were in the custody of his father, as received from his predecessors ; that some of the parchments were made up in the form of books, and that others were loose and separate, which contained the works of other bards besides those of Ossian.

He remembers that his father had a book which was called the Red Book, made of paper, which he had from his predecessors, and which, as his father informed him, contained a good deal of the history of the Highland Clans, together with part of the works of Ossian. That none of these books are to be found at this day, because when they (his family) were deprived of their lands, they lost their alacrity and zeal. That he is not certain what became of the parchments, but thinks that some of them were carried away by Alexander, son of the Rev. Alexander Macdonald, and others by Ronald his son ; and he saw two or three of them cut down by tailors for measures. That he remembers well that Clanronald made his father give up the red book to James Macpherson from Badenoch ; that it was near as thick as a Bible, but that it was longer and broader, though not so thick in the cover. That the parchments and the red book were written in the hand in which the Gaelic used to be written of old both in Scotland and Ireland before people began to use the English hand in writing Gaelic ; and that his father knew well how to read the old hand. That he himself had some of the parchments after his father's death, but that because he had not been taught to read them, and had no reason to set any value upon them, they were lost. He says that none of his forefathers had the name of Paul, but that there were two of them who were called Cathal.

He says that the red book was not written by one man, but that it was written from age to age by the family of Clan Mhuirich, who were preserving and continuing the history of the Macdonalds, and of other heads of Highland clans.

After the above declaration was taken down, it was read to him, and he acknowledged it was right, in presence of Donald M'Donald of Balronald, James M'Donald of Gary-helich, Ewan Mac Donald of Griminish, Alexander Mac Lean of Hoster, Mr Alexander Nicolson, minister of Benbecula, and Mr Allan Mac Queen, minister of North-Uist, who wrote this declaration.

Note.—The Author of this piece is Niall mòr Mac-Mhúirich. We have heard the following anecdote, in illustration of this poem. Neil had lately returned to his father's house from the bards' college, in Ireland, from whence, along with the stores of genealogical and other lore with which he had stored his head, he had in addition, brought over a baek-burden of the small-pox, and was lying asleep, on a settle bed, at the back of the house near the fire, when John and Donald M'Arthur, two pipers, came in, and, sitting down on the bed-stoek, began tuneing their pipes preparatory to playing. The horrid and discordant sound of the pipes roused the bard, who, bursting with indignation, in the true style of his profession, began to inveigh against the pipers, in the following mock genealogy of the bag-pipe. It would appear from this, as well as from hints in other poems, that the bag-pipe was never a favourite with the bards; but was rather regarded by them as trenching on their province. The poem was evidently intended to resent the intrusion of the pipers on the bard's slumbers. Nor did it fail of the desired effect; for, the pipers it seems, had intended to make good their quarters for the night; but, on hearing the odd and ludicrous invective against their favourite instrument, enunciated from behind them, they started from their seats with astonishment looking round for an explanation. But when the swollen and pocky countenance of Neil met their view, wrought up we may suppose with no ordinary excitement, terror added wings to their feet, and they fled in the utmost consternation. Neil's father on hearing the poem to the end exclaimed "Math thu fein a mhic, tha mi faicinn nach bu thuras caill' a thug thu dh' Firim;" i.e. "Well done my son, I see your errand to Ireland has not been lost."

IAIN DUBH MAC IAIN 'IC-AILEIN.

JOHN M'DONALD, commonly Iain Dubh Mac Iain 'Ic-Ailein, i. c. John of black locks, son of John, the son of Allan, was a gentleman of the Clanronald family, and was born about the year 1665. He received all the advantages of education, together with the opportunities that the times in which he lived offered to a man of observation. He was immediately descended from the Maer family—a great branch of the Clanronalds—of whom many individuals were highly distinguished for prowess, wit, and poetical powers. He resided in the island of Eig, on the farm of Grulean.

Mr M'Donald was not a poet by profession, although he was considered by good judges not inferior to any bard of his age. He lived in easy circumstances. Amid his rural pursuits, he had ample time to woo the muses, or pass his leisure as inclination or opportunity occurred. He, therefore, put himself under no restraint, but sung when inspired, and made observations on men and manners ; and his remarks were generally allowed to be shrewd and just. Few anecdotes can be expected of a man who passed a quiet life in such circumstances. He always held a respectable rank in society. His poems display taste and elegance, and his compositions, occasional and gratuitous as they were, must have been numerous.

IOMRAICH mo bheannachd,

 Bean's am beil barrachd,
 De charantachd nàduir ;

Chunaic mise gu dligheil,
 A suilean ri snithe,
 'S i' g àireamh mar mhi-àdh,

 O dhearbh nighean a màthar :
 Gu cronachadh sgéula,

O'n shuidhich sibh lù-chairt,

Ar lubadh le tâire,
Ach 's e n rud a thug sgiùrs oirbh,
Gu'm bu chinne le crùn sibh,
'S gu'm b'e dliugh bhur dùthchais,

Ge d' bha sin ann sa tìm sin,
Na mbios 's na mhor mhisleán,
Tha e nis gu truagh lionte,

Ge b'e neach air am beir e,

Ri n iunseadh no 'n àireamh,

Am fear meamnach mor fir-ghlic,
Cha 'n fhaicte e fo dhio bradh,

Bha e mor gu bhi rioghail,

Bha e mor ann an gride,
Ann am firinn 's an càirdeas,
Bu mhor e ri shaiinn,
Bu mhor air gach achd e,
Bu mhor e na phearsa,
Na ghashtachd 's na àilleachd,
Bha e mor air son diulaoich,
Bha e mor gu bhi sùgach,
Bha c mor an dheagh ghiúlan,

Bha e mor ann a misnich,
Bha e mor ann an gliocas,

O n bhàs a thug buaidh air,
Gur a h-iomadh laoch cruadail,

FHIR NAN DRUIMNEAN.

Tha bith ùr an tìr na Dreollainn,
 'S coir dhuinn aithris,
 Tha moran deth tigh'n am biochionnt'
 Ri gnàs Shasuinn,
 Ni'm beil duin' uasal, no iosal,
 No fear fearainn,
 Leis nach àill, gu moran buinig,
 Ceird a bharrachd.
 Tha ceird ùr aig fear nan Druimnean,
 Th' air leinn tha cronail;
 B'aill leis fein a dhol an àite
 Mhaisteir Sgoile,
 An t-oide sin fein a rinn foghluim,
 Le gloir Laideann,
 Ghìacadh leis, gun chead a chairdean,
 A cheaird a bh'aige.

Labhairt—S e an t-aobhar a thug do dhaoine aire thoirt do shannt an sgoileir so, 'nuair a mhíannaich se cheaird do bhi aig oide foghluin, nach laimhsicheadh e i, mar laimhsicheadh an t-oide foghluim fèin i. Oir 'nuair a ghabhadh an t-oide foghluim air a dhàltachan, 's ann a ghabhadh e air na leanabanan, ach 's ann a ghabhadh an sgoileir sanntach so air na daoine àrsaidh mar au ceudna. 'Nuair ghabbadh an t-oide foghluin air a dhàltachan, 's ann a ghabbadh e air na ciontaich, ach 's ann a ghabhadh an sgoileir sauntach air na neo-chiontaich. 'S ann uaith sin a dubhradh—“Saoilidh am fear a bhios na thàmh, gur e fèin a's fearr lamh air an stiùir,” ach cha mhò gur h-c.

Cha'n ionnsaich e clann, no leanabain,
 Mar bu chòir dha,
 Gus am bi iad na'n daoin' àrsaidh
 Fo'n làn sfeòsaig,

Cha tugadh an Cillmocheallaig
 Breath bu chlaoine,*
 No ni rinn an ceann a b' aird',
 A' màs 'ga dhioladh.
 Gabhail do chrios an aois àrsaidh,
 Air màs sean-duin',
 'S fada ma'u ionnsaich an guiomh sin
 Ciall do theangaidh,
 Ge be labhras ris an flear ud,
 Còir, no ea-coir,
 Gabhar air a ghiort' de stràcaibh,
 Le crios fèlidh.

Labhairt—Agus b'fhior do'n duine sin, cha d'fhuaireadh riamb rud a dh'ionnsachadh teanga droch mhuinte, bu mheasa na gabhail air na màsan ann an aobhar na teanga, agus an teanga thuiginn gur h-ann na h-aobhar fèin a fhuar am màs am mor-ghleusadh sin. Mar deanadh sin a ciall ni bu mheasa, cha deanadh e idir ni b'shearr i. Uaith sin a dubhradh—“Am fear nach ionnsaich laimh ri ghlùn, cha'n ionnsaich laimh ri uilean.”

A chuideachd da'm bu chòir bhi diamhair,
 'S a ghnà 'm falach,
 Cha d'fhagad da'n dion bho chunnart,
 Sion de dh' carradh,
 Bha iad aon uair an lathair fianais,
 An taigh gréusaich.
 Dubhairyt nighean Shomhairle†
 Le rabhart, sa gnàs siomhailt,
 'S còir gu'm beannaich sinn gu saibhean,
 Cuid gach Crioduidh.
 B'shearr leam ge nach eil mi maoineach,
 No luach gearrain,
 Gu'm biodh coltas do thriuir
 Gu turn aig Calum.‡

Labhairt—S e aobhar thug do'n mhuaodh beusaich, cheart, chòir, so a radh, a rùn deagh chneasta, chum gu'm biodh aig a fear fèin a leithid, sa bhiodh aig a nàbaidhean; 's nach suil ghointe, no lombais, a bh' aic air cui'd a coimhearsnaich. Mar bh'aig Gillebride Mac-an-t-Saoir ann an Ruthaig, an Tirithe, a mhort an ceithir-fichead ceare le aon bheum-sula, 's a bhris long mhòr nau cuig crannag, a dhaingeoin a cablaichean sa h-acraichean. Uaith a sin a dubhradh—“Sann de'n cheaird a chungaidh.”

Tha bith ùr an tìr na Dreollainn,
 A thog am Baron,
 Air gach aon fhearr a labhras buna-chainnit,
 Rusgadh feamain,
 Ma sgaoileas air feadh gach tire,
 Am bith thog Tearlach,

† The shoemaker's wife.

‡ The shoemaker who had no children.

'S teamn as nach feudadh ri h-uine,
E-fein bli pàighe.
Ma rigeas an gearan so Seumas,
Breitheamh sàr-mhath,
Cha tog e dochair mu dheibhinn,
Ach glag mòr gaire.

Labhairt—Agus bha aobhar na dha aig an t-Siorramh choir air gáir a dheanadh, thaobl gu'n d'rug timchioll-gbearradh airsan, le coimh-earsnachd ban-Spaintich do thachair ris. 'S ann uauth sin a dubhradh, “An duine ni teine math deauadh e-féin a gharadh ris.

Note—The laird of Druimin kept an old schoolmaster in his house, in the double capacity of tutor to his children and goer of errands. The dominie was one day sent to a shoemaker who lived on the laird's grounds, with a message ordering a pair of new shoes for his master. The souter declined the honour intended him, alleging as a reason that it was a standing rule with him, “never to make a pair of shocs for any customer till the last which he had got were paid for.” But there was another, if not rather a piece of the same, reason of the shoemaker's unwillingness to make the shoes—the laird was a dreach paver; one, in fact, who would run on an account to any conceivable length without ever thinking it time to settle it. Well, the wielder of the ferula returned, and reported to his master the ipsissima verba of the son of St Crispin. The laird was so exasperated at the insolence of his retainer, that he immediately determined to be revenged on the souter; and, lest he should have the hardihood to deny his own words, he took the schoolmaster along with him. Now, the souter was a regular lickspittle; a mean, cringing, fawning, malicious, yet cowardly wretch; for, when the laird said to him, “Did you say to this gentleman,” pointing to the dominie, “that you would make no more shocs for me till I had paid for the last I got?” “Oh no, no, Sir,” said the shoemaker, with an air of surprise, “most willingly would I convert all the leather in my possession into shocs for your honour. I have but too much time to work for those who are not so able to pay me, and am therefore always at your service.” The poor dominie was thunder-struck at the barfaced impudence of the “fause loon;” but, ere he had time to utter a word in explanation, the laird had not only laid the flatteringunction to his own soul, but seizing the preceptor by the throat, placed his head between his own knees in a twinkling, and clutching Crispin's foot-strop in the one hand, and lifting the dominie's philabeg with the other, he therewith plied him on the bare buttocks, so hotly and heavily, that he had well nigh expended the “wrath” which he had so carefully been “nursing” for the rascally souter. How many stripes the wight received deponent hath not said, but true it is, the number far exceeded that prescribed by the law of Moses. Indeed it is doubtful whether “the man of letters” might not have lost his “precious spunk,” if the shoemaker's better-half had not flown to his rescue. Gentle dame! well have I designated thee thy churlish husband's “better-half!” for though the poor schoolmaster was both disgraced and pained through his default, his eyes were blind and his heart hard as the “nether mill-stone.” And though it may be that no grey stone points out the place of thy sepulture, yet has the bard embalmed thy name in his song.

AN T-AOSDANA MAC-MHATHAIN.

THIS poet flourished in the seventeenth century. He lived in Lochalshe, Ross-shire, where he had free lands from the Earl of Seaforth, and was called his bard. He was a poet of great merit, and composed as many poems as would occupy a large volume; but as they were not committed to writing, they suffered the same fate with the productions of Nial Mac-Murrie, and were lost by being trusted to memory alone. The two pieces given here is all that can now be found of his works. “Cabar Féigh” was not composed by him, as stated by some collectors of poetry. The first song given here was composed on the Earl of Seaforth, on his embarking at Dorny, of Kintail, for Stornoway. It has been imitated in English by Sir Walter Scott.

ORAN DO'N IARLA THUATHACH

TRIATH CHLANN-CHOINNICH,

Droch slainte'n Iarla thuathaich,
A thriall an de thar chuaintean bhuain,
Le sgioba laidir luasanach,
Nach pilleadh càs na fuathas iad,
Muir gáireach air gach guallainn dh'i;
Air clar do lùinge luaithe,
Gabh mi cead dhiot is fhuair mi 'n t-òr.

Gu'n cumadh Dia bho bhaoghal thu,
Bho charraid cuain 's bho chaolasan,
Bho charraig fhuair gun chaomhalachd,
Seachd beannachd tuath is daonachd dhut,
Buaidh lárach ri do shaoghail ort,
Fhir ghaoil ga t-flaiciun bed.

Gur gaoth a deas a dh-eighinn dhut,
 Gu'n chruas gu'n tais a sheideadh rith',
 Fear bearta beachdail, geur-chuiseach,
 Gu sunndach, bras, neo-eisleanach,
 Bhi fuasgladh pailteas eudaich dh'i,
 Ga bhreideadh air gach bòrd.

Gu'n innsinn gniomh do stiùireadair,
 Fear cuimhueach, ciallach, curamach,
 'Dh' aithnicheadh fiamh a chùlanaich,
 A chuireadh srian ri càrsaireachd,
 Mu'm bristeadh trìlan a chuirnean oirr',
 A mhuchadh e fo sròin.

T-fhearr eolais laidir, fradharcach,

 Min chiunteach, seolta, faighidneach,
 Crann geadha 'na'd laimh adhairtaich,
 Mac Samhail ràsg mhic-fraoire,

Ma chaidh thu null thar chuainteanan,
 Air darach naomh a ghluaiseadh tu,
 Fir bhuille saoir a 'dh fhuaigheas i,
 Bidh barrantas dhaoin' uaisle leat,
 Bidh beannach bhoclid, a's tuatha dhut,
 Cha'n eagal baoghal fuadaich dhuibh,

 Aig fir 's aig mnai 's toil-inntinn orra,
 Ri linn thu theachd gu'n cors.

Gur h-iomadh sruthan firinneach,

 Tha triath na h-Earradh dileas dhut,
 Le 'n connspainn flearail iunsgineach,
 A Lochlainn thig na mìltean,
 Air chuan-sgìth gu teach Mhic-Leoid.

 Cha'n ioghnadbh thu bhi ardanach,
 Sa liuthad fion-fhuil àluinn,
 A tha cairdeach ga do phòr.

AN T-AOSDANA MAC-'ILLEAN.

HECTOR MACLEAN, commonly called Eachann Bacach an t-Aosdàna, lived in the seventeenth century, and was poet to Sir Lachlan M'Lean, of Duart, from whom he had a small annuity. After much inquiry, we have not been able to procure any particulars of his life worth publication, or seen any more of his productions than are published in this work. The following elegy attracted the particular attention of the late Sir Walter Scott, and he has published an imitation, or free translation, which is every way worthy of that great bard.

LACHUNN MAC THEARLAICH.

LACHLAN M'KINNON, alias Lachunn Mac Thearlaich Oig, flourished about the middle of the seventeenth century. He was a native of Strath, Isle of Skye, and a lineal descendant of the Ceann-taighe of the M'Kinnons of that place. His parents were in comfortable circumstances, and although we have no data to ascertain the extent of his scholastic acquirements, it is obvious from a cursory glance at his productions that he was not unlettered,—while the purity and critical correctness of his Gaelic, furnishes ample proof that he studied and understood the structure of that language. He was an excellent musician, and was in the habit, when a young man, of carrying his violin about with him from place to place—more for recreation and amusement, than for any sordid considerations of pecuniary remuneration. The habits and predilections of his countrymen, their excessive fondness of poetry, music and dancing, always secured for such gifted individuals as M'Kinnon, the warmest grasp of hospitality's right hand wherever he went. He seems, however, to have discontinued the practice—in consequence of a low, unmanly attack upon his character and motives by a wandering bard of the name of M'Lennan.

Talents and genius are very seldom bestowed upon any individual without a copious mixture of impulses, that too often seek their gratification in improper indulgences. Burns and Byron were constituted after this manner. Lachlan M'Kinnon happened at one time to be perambulating the Main land, in the district of Lochalsh, where he put up for the night in the house of a respectable farmer. After supper, one of the daughters went out to prepare a bed for the cherished stranger in an out-house or barn. She was accompanied by a little favourite pug called Coireal, and the poet soon followed. Fairly ensconced with the fair and artless maid, and privacy favouring his designs, Lachlan yielded to the impulses of his heart, and the result was an illegitimate daughter, who seems to have inherited the broad humour and poetic genius of her father. Many of her repartees and witticisms have descended to us by oral recitation, but space remonstrates against our noticing but one, which may serve as a specimen of the whole. Some time after her father married, her stepmother was going from home, and meeting her about the door accosted her thus:—" You're my first-foot, and pity you if you are not lucky to meet with l!" " Ask my father," rejoined the young woman, " and he will tell you that I am the most unpropitious omen that could come in your way." " Dear me! how that?" eagerly inquired the stepmother. " Because," continued the other, " I was the first person he himself met, while on his way to marry you, and God knows it was the most unlucky journey he ever made!" But we are digressing, and had almost forgot to say, that during M'Kinnon's struggle to deflower the farmer's daughter, little Coireal sounded so loud an alarm, that he seized it by the hind legs, and dashed out its brains against the wall! This has been made the subject of a very merry song, in which our author comes in for a pretty round flagellation.

Lachlan M'Kinnon died at a good old age, and was buried in his native parish, where some of his grandchildren are still living and much respected.

* Alluding to an Irish Harper of the name of Cailean Cormac, who, in consequence of a misunderstanding, left his master and fled to Scotland, at that time the saving ark of refugees, whether children of prose or verse. During his peregrinations in the hyperborean regions of Caledonia, he visited, according to the custom of the times, many of the Highland Chieftains and families of distinction, whose ears were not yet sufficiently refined to disrelish music, and who, consequently, appreciated his abilities and performances. Among others in whose families the Hibernian minstrel was well received, was that of the Laird of Applecross. On the day of his departure, Applecross, whose generosity was worthy of his country and high rank, gave Cormac a handful of gold pieces out of his right hand, and a similar quantity of silver ones out of his left. Such a splendid instance of genuine Highland liberality, could not but awake sentiments of the most lively gratitude in the naturally feeling bosom of the minstrel; who, upon his arrival in the Emerald Isle, lost no opportunity of trumpeting forth the praises of his benefactor. The tide of his quondam employer's rage having now subsided, and a reconciliation having been effected between the parties,

“ Thug sinn ruaig gu’n sòradh

 ’S mi cuimhneachad nam braithrean sin
 A b’ àillidh dreach a’s gnùis,

“ Ailpeanaich mhath chiar-dhuibh,

 ’S ro mhath a thigeadh claidheamh dhut,

“ Nam togail màil do dhùthchannan,
 ’S ga ’n dìùthachadh riut fèim ;

 ’S ‘nar triuir gu’m bi’dh maid réidh,
 Cha do thog sinn riabl bò Shamhna dhut,
 No Bealltainn cha b’er beus,
 Cha mhò thug öich air tuathanach,
 Bu mhò do thruas ri sheum.”

Bha’n duin’ ud na charaid dhomh,
 ’S cha chàr dhomhl’ chliù a sheinn,

his master asked Cormac:—“ Creid i’ n lamh bo sheile do shuair tu’ n Albainn?” i. e. which was the most liberal hand you found in Scotland? To which he replied:—“ Lamh dheas fir na Comraich”—The right hand of Applecross.—“ Creid i’ n ath te?” which was the next?—“ Lamh chliùs fir na Comraich,” or the left hand of Applecross, was the minstrel’s prompt and quaint reply.

‘S mi smaointeach air na saoidheanu sin
 ’S a bli ga’u caoïdh gu truagh,
 ’S amhuil gheibh mi bhuinig ann,
 Bhi taghaich air luirg fhuaire,
 An taobh a chaidh iad tharais,
 ’S ann tha dachaigh uil’ an t-shluaign,
 Dh’eug Iannraig priuosa Shasuinn ;
 ’S cha dùisg e gu là-luain !

Note.—This beautiful and pathetic song was composed by Mackinnon after the death of some of his relations. It would appear that while they lived, and while his own circumstances continued prosperous, he was much respected throughout the country, and was not unfrequently the guest and companion of the best gentry in the Highlands. No sooner, however, had death deprived him of his friends, and misfortune had robbed him of his gear,* than he began to experience, from the world and his former patrons, the bitter indifference and coldness which poverty too often brings in her train. This he experienced in an especial manner, when, on a Christmas evening having gone to the Castle of Dunvegan, where the rest of the country gentry were, as usual on such occasions, enjoying the hospitality of the chief, poor Mackinnon was not only unnoticed and neglected, but repulsed from the hall, where, in worthier days, and under a worthier laird, he and his fathers were wont to be welcome guests. In consequence of this unhandsome treatment, the indignant bard returned instantly to Strath. While pursuing his homeward journey through the lonely glen, beneath the towering Culcens, and while the fever of his resentment still burned within his bosom, he met, or imagined he met, Generosity, Love, and Liberty, outcasts, like himself, from the hearts and halls of highland lairds, and bitterly inveighing against the tyranny that thus exiled them, unfed and unloathed, from the abodes where they were accustomed to reign and revel. At length having reached his home, he went to bed, probably supperless, and gentle sleep not deigning to woo him, but in its stead the weeping muse, he composed, and, for the first time, sung this song. It was highly esteemed by the Highland bards and seanachais, the latter of whom entitled the tune to which it is sung, “ Tri-amh Fonn na h-Alba,” or the third best air in Scotland;—we have not been able to ascertain what airs were considered the first and second. In reference to the time and place where it was first sung, we may mention that it was a custom of the old highlanders, when they could not sleep, to sing on their beds, and that loud enough to waken all the inmates of the house, who, if the song was good, never grudged their slumbers being thus musically broken.

* Lest this statement may be mistaken, it is only to be inferred that his predecessors had been obliged to dispose of their lands, but that he still had some of the proceeds upon which he lived; but funds in cash, even if considerable, were not regarded in those days so honourable as even a very limited competency arising from a paternal estate.

Note.—The poet happened to be one of a party at the house of Lachunn Og, a relative of his own, when, upon the company "getting fou an' unco happy," they fell to playing at a sort of game called Iomlaid bhiodag. The manner in which it is played is this:—The lights are extinguished, and every man casts his dirk under the table. The dirks are then shuffled with a staff, after which a person, having his right hand tied to his side, and a glove on his left, is blindfolded and put under the table to hand out one by one in rotation to every man who had cast a dirk in : and every body had to keep the dirk which fell to him in this way. M'Kinnon's dirk was by far the best in the whole collection, but he lost it in the lottery, and got in its stead an old coarse dagger belonging to a Kintail man who was present. This person was one of those termed "Clann 'Ic Rath Mholach," i. e. Hairy M'Raes. M'Kinnon was far from pleased with his lot, and he composed this song on the occasion.

 Hùg hoireann hò-ro hùra-bho,

Note.—This song was composed on M'Kinnon hearing that a friend of his was about to marry a rich old widow.

AN CLARSAIR DALL.

RODERICK MORISON, the far-famed harper and poet, commonly called An Clàrsair Dall was born in the Island of Lewis*, in the year 1646. His father was an Episcopalian Clergyman in that place, a man of great respectability and goodness of heart, and a descendant of the celebrated Britheamh Leòghasach. He had other two sons, Angus and Malcolm. At an early age, the three, who were all designed for the pulpit, were sent to Inverness to their education. They were not long there, when the small-pox made its appearance in the town with great virulence ; our three pupils were seized with it, and although the best medical skill was in requisition, so severe was the malady, that Roderick lost his eye-sight, and had his face—otherwise a very fine, open and expressive one,—dreadfully disfigured and contracted by it. His brothers were more fortunate,—they followed up their clerical aspirations, and having gone through the curriculum of their order, Angus got a living in the parish of Contin, and Malcolm was appointed to the Chapel of Poolewe, in the parish of Gairloch, Ross-shire. Balked in his juvenile anticipations, and now incapacitated for any active, civil, military, or other profession, Rory directed his attention to the study of music, for which nature had furnished him with a first-rate genius. In this divine science he greatly excelled, and although he was no mean performer on other musical instruments, the silver-toned harp seems to have been his favourite. On this instrument, he left all other Highland amateurs in the rear.

His superiority as a musician, and his respectable connexions soon served him as a passport to the best circles in the North. He was caressed and idolized by all who could appreciate the excellence of his minstrelsy. Induced by the fair fame of his fellow-harpers in Ireland, he visited that country, and probably profited by the excursion. On his return to Scotland, he called at every baronial residence in his way ; the Scotch nobility and gentry were at the time at the Court of King James in Holyrood-House—Rory

* The Messrs Chambers of Edinburgh, in their Journal, Number 451, of Saturday, September 19th, 1840, say, on the authority of Mr Bunting, that blind Rory was an Irishman. This is incorrect. We know how much Journalists are at the mercy of others, and how easily they are misled ; but without at all expecting any thing like omniscience in the Messrs Chambers, we think, that before lending the weight of their columns to give currency to the mis-statement, they ought to have informed themselves of the facts.

Of Mr Bunting, we know nothing or almost nothing ; but we sympathize with him in his literary researches, and attempts to resuscitate the musical spirit and ancient melody of his country. We protest, however, against his robbing us of our sweetest minstrel—not for the world would we accord to Hibernia the honour of having given birth to Rory Dall—and for this one reason, that he was bona fide born and brought up in the Highlands of Scotland ; and, if a man must be born a second time, it does not necessarily follow, that that event must take place in Ireland. Mr Bunting's blind Rory, goes by the sonorous name of O'Cahan,—we have no objection to this ; neither do we lay claim to any of the estates which descended to the said Rory O'Cahan as his patrimonial inheritance, but we claim for ourselves the honour of consanguinity with Roderick Morison, the blind harper. We have given his birth and parentage ;—we have pointed to the manses of his two brothers,—we have given his own history as a poet, harper, and farmer, and until these facts are disproved, the Irish historian must rest satisfied with his own Rory, and the Messrs Chambers must understand that such things as erroneous statements can be imported over the Irish channel, much easier than a Ross-shire Highlander can be made an Irishman.

wended his way to Edinburgh, where he met with that sterling model of a Highland Chieftain, John Breac M'Leod of Harris, who eagerly engaged him as his family harper. During his stay under the hospitable roof of this gentleman, he composed several beautiful tunes and songs, and, among the rest, that fascinating melody—“Feill nan Crann,” which arose out of the following circumstance: Rory, sitting one day by the kitchen fire, had chanced to drop the key of his harp in the ashes which he was raking with his fingers, as M'Leod's lady entered and inquired of one of the maids—“Ciod e tha dhith air Ruairidh?” “Mhuire! tha a chrann—chaill e san luath e,” was the reply—“Ma ta feumair crann eile 'cheannach do Ruairidh;” continued Mrs M'Leod; and the gifted minstrel, availing himself of the forced or extended meaning of the word crann, forthwith composed the tune, clothing it in words of side-splitting humour, and representing the kitchen maids as ransacking every mercantile booth in the land, to procure him his lost implement!

Shortly after this period, we find our author located as a farmer at Totamòr in Glenclg, at that time the property of his liberal patron M'Leod, who gave him the occupancy of it rent-free. Here he remained during his friend's life, and added largely to the stock of his musical and poetical compositions.

An Clàrsair Dall was fondly attached to his patron, whose fame he commemorated in strains of unrivalled beauty and excellence. The chieftains of the clan M'Leod possessed, perhaps, greater nobleness of soul than any other of the Highland gentry; but it must be observed, that they were peculiarly successful in enlisting the immortalizing strains of the first poets in their favour—our author and their own immortal Mary. Rory's elegy on John Breac M'Leod, styled, “Creach nan Ciadan,” is one of the most pathetic, plaintive and heart-touching productions we have read, during a life half spent amid the flowery meadows of our Highland Parnassus. After deplored the transition of M'Leod's virtues, manliness and hospitality from the earth, he breaks forth in sombre forebodings as to the degeneracy of his heir, and again luxuriates in the highest ingredients of a Lament. Oran mor Mhic-Leoid, in which the imaginative powers of the minstrel conjure up scenes of other days, with the vividness of reality, is a master-piece of the kind. It comes before us in the form of a duet, in which Echo (the sound of music), now excluded like himself from the festive hall of M'Leod, indulges in responsive strains of lamentation that finely harmonize with the poignancy of our poet's grief.

This last song was composed after his ejection from his farm, and while on his way to his native Isle of Lewis. It is not true, as stated by Mr Bunting, that Rory Dall was a wandering minstrel. He indeed occasionally visited gentlemen's houses, but that was always under special invitation—he was born a minister's son, and did not require to earn his bread by wandering from place to place. Rory Dall was much respected in his age and country for those high musical powers which have contributed so much to the pleasure and delight of his countrymen—talents which have obtained for himself the imperishable fame of being one of the sweetest and most talented poets of our country. He died at a good old age, and was interred in the burying ground of I, in the Island of Lewis. Peace be to his manes! never we fear, shall the Highlands of Scotland again produce his like.

* The Highlanders had a practice in the olden times that is still partially observed in certain parts even at the present day, and that tended to keep alive and fan those habits of hospitality and friendly feelings among the inhabitants of particular districts for which they are so justly celebrated. The custom to which we allude, was to meet at an appointed house, on the first Monday of every quarter, to drink a bumper to the beverage of the succeeding, and wish it better or no worse than the present.

Note.—When the harper composed this song, he was residing in Tota-Mòr, in Glenelg, as a farmer, and the few of the clans he alludes to were people that he had good reason to fear would rob him, or, in other words, carry away his cattle—a very prevalent practice in those days. As, therefore, he had little or no means of defending himself, he immediately called his harp and his muse to his aid, and composed this song, in which those dreaded enemies are invested with all the attributes of honour, honesty, and good neighbourhood; and, as far as the bard was concerned, they always acted towards him in the characters his muse was willing to believe they actually possessed.

O R A N

DO DH-IAIN BREAC MAC-LLEOID.

THA mòran, mòran mulaid
An deigh tuineachadh am chòm,
Gur bliadhna leam gach seachduin,
Bho nach facas lain donn;
Na'n cluinninn ged nach faicinn,
Fear do phearsa thigh'nн dò'n fhonn,
Gu'n sgoaileadh mo phràmh's m' airsnenl,
Mar shneachd òg ri aiteamhl trom.

Their mi hò-rò ghealla beag,
'S na hò-rò challan h-i;
Their mi hò-rò ghealla beag,
'S na hò-rò challan h-i;
Challan hì ho hù-ră bhò,
'S na hò-rò challan hì,
Gur fada bho na tràthan sin,
Nach robh mo ghràdh san tìr.

A luchd comuinn so, na'n eisdeadh sibh,
Ri cui'd de m' sgeul, gu'n mheang,
'S mi caoidh an uasail bheadaraich,
Tha bhuam an fheadhs' air chall;
Cha robh eron ri thaotainn ort,
Ach thu bhi faoilidh ann,
Bho'n fhuair mi gu h-ùr éibhinn thu,
'N Dun-éideann, a measg Ghall.
Their mi ho-ro, &c.

Thug mi ionnsaidh fhada,
As do dbeigh 's mi'n cladach cruidh,
Thug mi ionnsaidh bhearraideach,
'S a chàmhanaich Di-luain;
Cha d'huaran an t-òg aigeantach,
Bu mhacanta measg sluaidh,
'S cha'n fhaodainn a mbisg àicheadh,
'S do dheoch-slainte dol m'an cuairt.
Their mi ho-ro, &c.

Thug mi ionnsaidh sgairteal,
As do dheigh an cladach doirbh,
Ged nach tug mi capull leam,
Na agair mi na lorg;
Gu'n robh mo choiseachd adhaiseach,
'S an rathad a bhi dorcha,
Le breisleich mhic-nan-cliathan,*
'S do lamh fhial ga dhioladh orm.

Cha robb fuath na greathachd ort,
Ri t-amhare bha thu caoin,

Air an gabhadh gach neach gaol;
Euchdach, treubhach, urrainach,

Gu fearail, meanmnach, measail,
Air nach faighte an tiotal claoen.

'S e sud an t-airm a thaghainn dùt,
 'S tu'n deigh an retreat,
 As paidhir dhag nach diùltadh,
 Agus fùdar gorm da reir;
 Do ghuina 'n deigh a falmachadh,

 Ma's mac an àit' an athar thu,
 Thig fathast gu bhi mòr;
 Ann san Dùn gu flathail,

 Le aighear thréig mi bròn.

 An nochd theg snas mo ghean.
Their mi ho-ro, &c.

 Cha'n fhaigh mi facial dheth chòmlha.

Cha'n fhaigh mi facial dheth chòmhra,

 Gur uan gu'n mħàthair san treud mi,

 Chuir mi ùigh ann bi dubhach,
 Mu'n ti tha mi 'g iomradh,

* This lamentation was composed on the death of John Breac Macleod.

Chaidh an caisead mo bhruthaich,
 'S mi fo chumha da dìreadh,
 Dol an truimead 's an àirde,
 An diugh a chainig mo dhilobhail :
 Dh' fhalbh mo laitheicean éibhinn,
 O'n a thréig sibh Clár-sgithe,
 Tha mo thaic ann sna h-Earadh
 'N deigh fhalach 'na aonar.

'N deigh fhalach 'na aonar,
 Bi'dh e daonnan 'au uaigheas,
 Sgeul mu'n gearanach daoine,
 'S mnai chaointeach nan luath-bhos,
 'S iad a' co-strì r'a chéile,
 Ceol gun éibhneas seachd truaighe !
 Leum mo chridhe 'na spealtaibh,
 M' an chaisneachd 'n uair chualas.

Gur h-i chaismeachd so chualas,
 A luathaich orn tioma,
 Dh' fhág fo m' osraich fuil bhrùite,
 A' sior-dhrùthadh air m' innigh,
 'S fhaide seachduin na bliadhna,
 O'n a thriall sibh thair linne,
 Le frianhach na fialachd,
 Bh'ann san lion-bhrat air fhilleadh,

'S ann san lion-bhrat air fhilleadh,
 Dh' fhág mi spioradadh nau anfhamm,
 Ceann-uidhe luchd-ealaidh,
 Mar ri earras luchd-seanachais.
 Agus ulaidh aos-dàna,
 Chuir do bhàs iad gu h-imcheist ;
 'S o'n a chaidh thu sa chiste,
 Cha bu mhis a chùis fhàrmайд.

Cha bu mhis a chùis fhàrmайд,
 Ghabh mi tearbadh o'n treud sin,
 Far an robh mi a'm mheanbh-ghair,
 'An toiseach aimseir mo chéitein,
 'S ann an deireadh a Chàrbhais,
 A dhearbadh ar feuchain
 Chaill mi 'n ùr-ghibht, a chreach mi,
 Anu an seachduin na Céusda.

Ann an seachduin na Céusda,
 Diciadain mo bhristidh,
 Chaill mi iuchair na h-éudail,
 Cha mhi aon neach is mist e,
 Gu'n bhrath faighinn gu bràth oirr',
 Sgeul a shàraich mo mhisneach ;
 'S ann fo dhiomhaireachd m' àirnean,
 A tharmaich mo niosgaid.

A tharmaich mo niosgaid,
 Cha'n fhaidh mise bhi slàn deth,
 Se fear tinn a chinn-ghalair,
 A ni'n gearan bochd cràiteach,

'S ann air ata 'n easlaint,
 Nach d' fhiosraich a nàbaidh,
 'S cha mho dl' fhairach e thinneas
 Leis 'n do mhilleadh a shlainte.

Far 'n do mhilleadh mo shlaint-s',
 'S ann a tharmaich dhòmh m' easlaint,
 Gu'n d' chuir aimsir na Càisge,
 Mi gu bràth fo throm airsneal,
 Gheibh gach neach do na dh' fhág thu,
 Rud 'an àite na bl' aca,
 Ach mis agus Mairi,
 A chuir a bràthair 'an tasgaidh.

Chaidh do bhràthair 'an tasgaidh,
 'Se mo chreach-sa gur fior sud,
 'S ann au diugh tha mi 'g acain,
 Mar tha mhac na mhaol-ciàrain,
 Agus ise bochd brònach,
 'N deigh a leonadh o'n chiadain,
 Thug mo mraigheist math uamsa,
 Leis 'n do bhuaineadh mo phian-bhron.

Mo phian-bhron a Mhàiri,
 Mar tha thu fo chumha,
 Nach faic thu do Bhràthair,
 Mar a b' àbhaist gu suhhach,
 An sean-fhacal gnàthaichte,
 An diugh 's fior e mar thubhairt :—
 " Cha robh meoghail ga miad,
 Nach robh na deigh galach, dubhach."

Nach robh na deigh galach, dubhach,
 'Se 'm fear subhach am beairteas,
 Cha'n fhaigh piuthar a bràthair
 Ach gheibh bean àluinn leth-leapach,
 Thainig àr air an dùthach,
 Dia a dhùbladh an carta,
 'S ga cumail an uachdar,
 Gus am buadhaich do mhac e.

Gus am buadhaich do mhac e,
 'N déigh a ghlásadh le gruagaich,
 Lan saibhris is sonais,
 Ann san onair bu dual dut,
 Lean cuis 's na bi leanbail,
 'S na bidh marbh-ghean air t-uaislean,
 Cum an coimeas ruit féin iad,
 'S na toir beum dha t-ainm Ruairidh.

Ruairidh reachdar, run-meanmach,
 Tartach, toirbeartach, teannta,
 Do shì-seanair o'n tainig,
 Cha h'ion do nàmhaid dol teann air,
 'S Ruairidh gasda 'na dhcigh,
 Cha b'e roghainn bu tàire,
 'S an treas Ruairidh fa dheireadh,
 Cha b'e'n gainneanach fàs e.

An treus Ruairidh de'n dream sin,
 A choisinn geall 's cha b' e mì-chliu,
 Cha b' e 'n coilleanach gann e,
 Ach an ceannsgalach mìleant'
 Ma 's tua roinns suas,
 An ceathramh Rauiridh, na dearinad,
 Lean ri sinnssireachd t-aiteam,
 'S n a toir masladh dha 'n ainm sin.

Na toir masladh dha 'n ainm sin,
 'S cuir leanabas fo d' bhrògan,
 Na biodh da oin' aun am barail,
 Ge d' tha car aig an òig ort,
 Bidh gu fiughantach smachdail,
 Rianail, reachdmhor, 'n triath Leòdach,
 'Na faic frìd an sùil brìdean,'
 Cha chùis dòn do Mhac-Leòid e.

Cha chùis dòn do Mhac-Leòid,
 A bhi dòlum 's rud aige,
 Lean an dùthchas bu chòir dhut,
 'S biodh mòr-chuis na t-aigeadh,
 Ach ma leigeas tu dhòt e,
 Bi'dh na ciadan ga t-agairt,
 'G ràdh gur crann shlatag chròn thu,
 'N àit' a gniomharaich bheachdail.

Maide dh' fhàs na chraoibh thoraidh,
 Fo bhà onarach àluinn,
 Ann an lios nan crann éuchdach,
 Bha tlachd nan ceud ann 's gach àit' air,
 Lean an dùthchas bu chathair,
 A mhic an athar a chràidh sinn,
 Na bidh ad chrionaich gu'n duilleich,
 Ann 'san ionad 'n do thàmh thu.

ORAN MOR MHIC-LEOID.

[EADAR AN CLARSAIR AGUS MAC-TALLA.]

Miàd a mhulaid tha 'm thaghall,
 Dh' fhadh treoghaid mo chléibh gn goirt
 Aig na rinn mi ad dheighidh,
 Air m' aghairt 's mo thríall gu port.
 'S ann bha mis' air do thoir,
 'S mi meas robh còir agam ort;
 A dheagh mhic athar mo ghràidh,
 B tu m' aighear, 's m' àdh, 's m' olc.

Chaidh a chuibhlé mu'n cuairt,
 Gu'n do thiunndaidh gu fuachd am blàthas,
 Naile chuna' ml uair,
 Dùn flathail nan cuach a thràigh.

Far biadh taghaich nan duan,
 Ioma' mathas gu'n chruas, gu'n chàs;
 Dh' fhalbh an latha sin bhuan,
 'S tha na taighean gu fuaraidh fàs.

Dh' fhalbh, mac-tall' as an Dùn,
 'N am sgarachdann duinn r' ar triath;
 'S ann a thachair e rium,
 Air seacharan bheannu, san t-shliabh.
 Labhair e-san air thus—
 " Math mo bharail gur tu ma 's fior,
 Chunna' mise fo' mhùirn,
 Roi 'n uiridh an Dùn nan cliar."

A Mhic-talla, nan tùr,
 ' Se mo bharail gur tuá bhà,
 Ann an teaghlaich an fhion,
 'S tu g-aithris air gniomh mo lamh :
 "S math mo bharail gur mi,
 'S cha b' urasd dhomh bhi mo thàmh ;
 G-eisdeachd brosluim gach ceòil,
 Ann am fochar Mhic-Leòid an àigh."

A Mhic-talla so bha,
 Annas a bhaile 'n do thar mi m' iuil ;
 'S ann a nis dhuinn as léir,
 Gu'm beil mis' a's tu féin air chùl.
 A reir do chomais air sgeul,
 'O'n 's fear comuin mì-féin a's tu ;
 'M beil do mhuinntearas buan,
 Aig an triath ud, da'n dual an Dùn ?

" Tha Mac-talla fo ghruaim,
 Annas an talla 'm biodh fuaim a cheòil ;
 'S ionad taghaich nan cliar,
 Gu'n aighear, gu'n mhiagh, gu'n phòit.
 Gu'n mhire, gu'n mhùirn,
 Gu'n iomracha dlù nan còrn ;
 Gun chùirm, gu'n phailteas ri dàimh,
 Gu'u mhacnas, gu'n mhàran beoil.

"S mi Mac-talla, bha uair
 'G eisdeachd fathrum nan duan gu tiugh ;
 Far bu mhuirneach am bén,
 'N am cromadhl do'n ghréin san t-sruth.
 Far am b' fhoirméal na seòid,
 'S iad gu h-òranach, ceolmhor, clùth ;
 Ged nach faicte mo ghnùis,
 Chluinnt' aca sa'n Dùn mo ghuth."

"N am eiridh gu moch,
 Annan teaghlaich, gu'n spròc, gu'n ghruaim ;
 Chluinte gleadhraich nan dös,
 'S an cíle na' cois on t-suain :
 'Nuair a ghabhadh i làn,
 'S i gu'n cuireadh os n-aird na fluair ;
 Le meoir fhileanta bhinn,
 'S iad gu ruith-leumach, dionach, luath."

“ Bhiodh a rianadair féin,
 Cuir an ire gur h-e bhiodh ann ;
 ’S e g-eiridh na measg,
 ’S an éibhe gu tric na cheann.
 Ge d’ a b’ ard leinn a fuaim,
 Cha tuairgneadh e sinn gu teann ;
 Chuireadh tagradh am chluais,
 Le h-aidmheil gu luath, ’s gu mall.

’Nuair a chuit’ i na tàmh,
 Le furtachd na fàrdaich féin ;
 Dhomh-sa b’ fhurasda ràdh,
 Gu’m bu churaideach gáir nan téud.
 Le h-iomaist dha làmh,
 A cuir a binneas do chàch an céill ;
 ’S gu’m bu shiubhlach am chluais,
 A moghunn lughar le luasgan mheur.

“ Ann sa’ fheasgar na dheigh,
 N am teasa na gréin tra noìn ;
 Fir chneatain ri clàir,
 ’S mnai’ freagairt a ghnà cuir leò.
 Da chomhairleach ghearr,
 A labhairt ’s gu’ m b’ard an gloir ;
 ’S gu’m bu thitheach an guin,
 Air an duine gu’n fhuil, gu’n fheoil.”

“ Gheibhte fleasgaich gu’n ghrain,
 Na do thalla gu’n sgráig, gu’n fhuath ;
 Mnai’ fhionna ’n fhuilt réidh,
 Cuir buineis an céill le fuaim.
 Le ceileireachd beoil,
 Bhiodh gu h-ealanta, h-ordail, suaire ;
 Bhiodh fear-bogha ’nan còir,
 Ri cuir meo-ghair’ a mheòir nan cluais.

“ Thoir teachdaireachd bhuam,
 Le deatam, gu Ruaridh òg ;
 Agus innis dha féin,
 Cuid de chunnard ged ’se Mac-Leòid.
 E bhi’g amharec na dheigh,
 Air an Iain* a dh-éug, s’ nach beò ;
 Ge bu shaibhir a chliù,
 Cha’n fhàgdadh e ’n Dùn gu’n cheòl.”

Note.—This song was a favourite with Sir Alexander M’Kenzie, of Gairloch, who paid a person to sing it to him every Christmas night. One of Sir Alexander’s tenants went to him one day to seek a lease of a certain farm. The laird desired him to sit down and sing Oran Mòr Mhic-Leòid till he should write the document. The tenant remarked that he certainly set great value on that song. “ Yes,” was his reply, “ and I am sorry that every Highland laird has not the same regard for it.”

* John Breac M’Leod was one of the last chieftains that had in his retinue a bard, a harper, a piper, and a fool,—all of them excellently and liberally provided for. After his death, Dunvegan Castle was neglected by his son Roderick, and the services of these functionaries dispensed

We here beg the reader to note, that we have not said Rory was an English gentleman, but only hinted that he aped the manners of one. Eight stanzas of this song are purposely omitted, as we think their insertion would be an outrage on our readers’ sense of propriety.

* Mr John M’Leod, son of Sir Roderick M’Leod.

AM PIOMAIRE DALL.

JOHN M'KAY, the celebrated piper and poet was born in the parish of Gairloch, Ross-shire, in the year 1666. Like his father, who was a native of Lord Reay's Country, he was born blind, but with perhaps the exception of a slight shade on their eyes, it would be difficult to the most acute observer to perceive that they had not their sight. When John had acquired the first principles or elementary parts of music from his father, he was sent to the College of Pipers in Skye, to finish his musical studies under the auspices of the celebrated Mac-Cruimmein. There were at this time no fewer than eleven other apprentices studying with this celebrated master-piper; but in the articles of capacity and genius so superior did Iain Dall prove himself to his fellow-students, that he outstripped them all in a very short time. This superiority, or pre-eminence naturally gained him the envy and low-souled ill-will of the others, and many anecdotes have traditionally come down to us illustrative of their rivalry and wounded pride. On one occasion as John and another apprentice were playing the same tune alternately, in the highest key of rivalry, Mac-Cruimmein reprimandingly asked the other, "why he did not play like Iain Dall?" to which the chagrined aspirant replied, "By Mary, I'd do so if my fingers had not been after the skate!"—alluding to the conglutinous touch of his fingers on the chanter-holes after having forked at some of that fish at dinner. Hence originated the taunt which the north country pipers, conscious of their own superiority, are in the habit of hurling at pipers of the more Southern districts—"Tha mheadirean as deighe na sgait?" Genius is never at a loss for developing itself, and where there is actually no casus, its fertility of invention finds abundant materials to work upon. Our youthful piper, it appears, was somewhat unfortunate in the appointment of his bed, during the early period of his apprenticeship; in short, he was infested with certain marauders, which detracted from his comfort and sleep. This circumstance he commemorated in the composition of a piobaireachd appropriately called "Pronnadh nam Mial," which, although his first effort, both as regards its variations and general structure, is equal to any thing of the kind.

One of the Mac-Cruimmeins, a celebrated musician known by the cognomen of Padruig Caogach, owing, we suppose, to his inveterate habit of twinkling or winking with his eyes, was about the time composing a new pipe tune. Two years had already elapsed since the first two measures of it became known and popular; but owing to its unfinished state, it was called "Am port Leathach." Some of the greatest poets have experienced more difficulty in supplying a single line or couplet than in the structure and harmonization of the entire piece—musicians, too, have experienced similar perplexities—and Padruig Caogach had fairly stuck. The embryo tune was every where chanted and every where applauded, and this measure of public approbation tended to double his anxiety to have it finished—but no! the genius of composition seemed to exult at a distance, and to wink at Caogach's perplexity. Tender of his brother's reputation, our blind author set to work, and finished the tune which he called, "Lasan Phàdruiig Chaogaich"—thus nobly renouncing any share of the laudation which must have flowed upon the completion of the admired strain. Patrick, finding his peculiar province usurped by a blind beardless youth, became furiously incensed, and bribed the other apprentices to do away with his rival's life! This they attempted one day while walking together at Dun-Bhorraig, where they threw their blind friend over a precipice of twenty-four feet in height! John alighted on the soles of his feet, and suffered no material injury: the place over which he was precipitated was shown to us, and is yet recognised as Leum an Doill. The completion of "Lasan Phàdruiig Chaogaich" procured great praise for our young musician, and gave rise to the following well-known proverb—"Chaidh an fhòghluim os-ccann Mhic-Cruimein." i. e. "the apprentice outwits the master."

After being seven years under the tuition of Mac-Cruimmein, he returned to his native parish, where he succeeded his father as family-piper to the Laird of Gairloch. He was enthusiastically fond of music, and the florid encomiums which every where flowed in upon him, gave his inventive powers an ever-recurring stimulus. During his stay in this excellent family, he composed no fewer than twenty-four piobaireachds, besides numberless strathspeys, reels and jigs—the most celebrated of which, are "Cailleach a Mhuillear," and "Cailleach Liath Rasaidh."

Finding himself ultimately in comfortable circumstances, he married, and had two children, a son and a daughter—the former of whom was a handsome man. His name was Angus, and he was equal to any of his progenitors in the science of music. When our author became advanced in years, he was put on the superannuated list, with a small but competent annuity; and he passed the remaining part of his life in visiting gentlemen's houses, where he was always a welcome guest. His visits or excursions were principally in the country of Reay and the Isle of Skye. It was during one of these peregrinations, that, hearing in the neighbourhood of Tong, of the demise of his patron, Lord Reay, he composed that beautiful pastoral "Coire'an-Easain," which of itself might well immortalize his fame. It is not surpassed by any thing of the kind in the Keltic language—bold, majestic, and intrepid, it commands admiration at first glance, and seems on a nearer survey of the entire magnificent fabric, as the work of some supernatural agent.

After the death of Sir Alexander M'Donald of Slate, John paid a visit to his old rendezvous, now occupied by his friend's son. The aged bardic-piper soon experienced the verification of the adage—new kings, new laws—instead of being honoured with a seat in the dining-room as usual, he was ushered into the servants' hall immediately below—an indignity he was by no means disposed to pass sub silentio. As the young chief was taking dinner, a liveried servant made his appearance in the hall, and addressing John said—"My master wishes you to play one of those tunes he often heard his father praisc"—"Go back to your master," replied Iain Dall warmly, "and tell him from me, that when I used to play to his father it was to charm and delight his ears, and not to blow music up in his a——!"

Having returned to Gairloch, he never again went from home. He died in the year 1754, being consequently 98 years of age, and was buried in the same grave with his father, Ruairidh Dall, in the clachan of his native parish, Gairloch.

* As Myro, son of the king of Sora,* was one day sailing in his little barque along the Irish coast, he came to a bay, remarkable for its beautiful seclusion. As his eye wandered here and there over every part of the smooth expanse, it at length rested on a group of nymphs desporting themselves, as they thought unseen, and enjoying the cool of a fine summer's eve among the waters. For a time, he fancied them mermaids, or daughters of the sea, and continued to gaze on them with admiration and awe; but observing, as he drew nearer, that their forms were entirely human, he made all sail to ascertain who they were! On observing his approach, they darted like lightning to conceal themselves in the crevice of an adjoining rock, whither fear and modesty compelled them to seek a hasty retreat. Determined to make captive of the fairest, whosoever she might be, he moored his skiff, and went in pursuit. He soon pounced upon them in their concealment, and carried off the most handsome. Awed with terror, and suffused with tears, she on her knees implored him for liberty,—telling him that her name was "Fàine-Soluis," i. e. beam of light, and that her father was king of that part of Ireland. Unmoved by her entreaties, he conveyed her to his boat, and bore her off to his own country, where she lived with him for some time, as the partner of his bed. To her, however, Sora was a place of torment,—for the thoughts of kindred and of home embittered every hour of her existence. Goaded to despair, she formed the resolution of attempting her escape, and, having sallied forth one day, as had been her custom, to the beach, she observed Myro's curach afloat, and no one within view, which she unmoored, and committing herself to the mercy of the elements, nimbly leaped on board. Spreading all sail, and a favourable breeze having sprung up, she was soon driven upon the coast of Scotland, at a spot where Fingal and his attendants were refreshing themselves after the fatigues of the chase. Her eyes beamed with joy as she recognised the hero. After mutual salutations, she informed the king of Morven of what had happened; and, imploring his protection, as her husband was in pursuit, she assured him of her determination to die rather than return. Fingal promised her his aid; but, hardly had her troubled mind composed itself to rest, when the prince of Sora landed in the bay, and demanded his wife from him. The hero, true to his plighted promise, refused. The prince of Sora drew his sword, and menaced defiance.

* The island of Sorcha is frequently mentioned in the poems of Ossian. It is uncertain where it lay, but it seems to have been noted for the cruelty of its inhabitants.—Dr Smith.

Upon which, Gaul, the son of Morni, stepping forth, encountered the stranger. But, valiant as was the arm of Gaul, he had well nigh been overpowered. Oscar, however, the son of Ossian, taking advantage of an exception to the Fingalian law, "not to aid either party in single combat with the right hand," hurled a dart at the young chief of Sora with his left; but which, missing its aim, unhappily pierced Fàine-Solais to the heart. Confounded at the sight, Myro became unnerved, and was overpowered and bound by Gaul. Fàine-Solais was buried where she fell, and the young chief returned to Sora. The episode concerning the Maid of Craca, in the third book of Fingal, is to be regarded as another version of the same story, though perhaps the following poem, entitled "Cath Mhaighre mhòir mhic righ Sorcha," is the more correct. There are indeed several editions of this piece, all of which are good, but this, in our judgment, is the best. It furnishes internal evidence of its antiquity.

ALASDAIR MAC MHAIGHSTIR ALASDAIR.

ALEXANDER M'DONALD, commonly called Alasdair Mac Mhaighstir Alasdair, was born in the beginning of the eighteenth century. His father resided at Dalilea, in Moidart, and was Episcopalian clergyman at Ardnamurchan. He always travelled on foot, there being no roads in that rugged country, in his time, and returned the same day. He was a man of great bodily strength, which his weekly labours and travels required. His strength was, however, sometimes necessarily exerted on other occasions. In his time the people of Moidart and Suainart often met at interments in Eilean-Fionain, then the common burying-ground of both districts; and, as was the custom in former ages, consumed an anchor or two of whisky, and then fought. The presence of the clergyman was often required; and it was not seldom that his strength also was exhibited in parting the combatants. His character and prowess were so well-known that few men dared dispute his right as umpire. All were obliged to succumb to the pacifier; but the Suainart men alleged that he generally laid a heavy hand on them, the Moidart men being his own friends and relatives.

The Rev. gentleman had a large family of sons and daughters. The latter all died of the small-pox, after they had families of their own. An anecdote is still related concerning them. The small-pox raged in Moidart when his children were young, and Mr M'Donald removed with them to Eilean-Fionain, (not the burying-place but another island farther up in Loch-Shceil,) that they might escape the contagion that proved fatal to so many. And they did then escape. But nothing can more clearly convince our want of foresight and utter incompetency to judge of what is best than the result of the Rev. gentleman's care—that is, even taking it for granted that it was a consequence; for his daughters all died of the very malady from which he had been so anxious to guard them, and that at a time which to superficial thinkers would seem to have rendered the calamity awfully more distressing—when their death left several families of motherless children. The distress, we are but too apt to think, would have been greatly lessened if they had been taken away when their father consulted their safety by flight. But the ways of Providence are inscrutable to our dim vision!

Four of Mr M'Donald's sons lived to a good old age. Angus, the eldest, and his descendants, continued tacksmen of Dalilea for a century. Alexander, the subject of this memoir, was the second. His two younger brothers were settled in Uist as tacksmen.

The CLANRONALD of that day countenanced young men of merit. He wished young Alexander, of whom early hopes were entertained, to be educated for the bar. His father wished him to follow his own profession, and gave him a classical education. But our poet, like many a wayward genius, followed his own inclination—and disappointed both his chief and his father. His abilities and qualifications fitted him for any calling; yet there seems to be a kind of fatuity attending those who woo the Muses, which often prevents them from adopting the most prudent and advantageous pursuits.

When attending college, it is certain, however, that he did not neglect his studies, as he was a good classical scholar. His genius was not of that kind which too easily indulges in the indolence and inactivity of life. His powers were great; and his energy of mind adequate to any task in which his will inclined him to act. But he was inconsiderate, or improvident. He entered into the married state before he had finished his studies, and soon found it necessary to attend to other avocations.* [His marriage gave rise to the vulgar error, that he was intended to have been made a priest; but that, disliking the office, he disqualified himself by that rash step; whereas, he was a protestant of the English church.]

As teaching is the usual and most proper occupation of students who must do something towards their own support, the poet, whose studies had been interrupted by his marriage, betook himself to that most useful, but arduous labour. It is said that he was at first teacher to the Society for propagating Christian knowledge.

We find him afterwards parochial schoolmaster of Ardnamurehan, and an elder; consequently a presbyterian. He lived on the farm of Cori-Vullin, at the base of Ben-Shiante, the highest mountain in that part of the country, and adjacent to the noble ruins of Castle Mingarry, a romantic situation on the Sound of Mull, directly opposite to Tobermory, whose rural scenery aided the frequent inspirations of the bard; for, while he wielded the ferula, he neglected not the muses. There many a scene witnessed their delightful amours. He might have devoted more of his time to them than could be well spared from the labours of the farmer, and the duties of the instructor; yet the poet would have his own way, as well as please his own mind. As might have been expected, complaints were preferred against him; and the Presbytery appointed a committee to examine the school. His best friends must have allowed that there was just ground of complaint; yet, the examinators were not inclined to be rigorous. To give a specimen of the progress the scholars were making, the schoolmaster called up a little boy † who had entered the school at the preceding term, and then commenced to learn the alphabet. He read now the Scriptures fluently and intelligibly. The Reverend gentlemen were well pleased with the specimen, and gave a favourable report of the school.

* "He was married to Jane M'Donald, of the family of Dail-an-eas, in Glenetive. He composed a song on her, which is not remarkable for tenderness or affection, but cold and artificial, when compared with his lofty and impassioned strains in praise of Mòrag."—Memoir prefixed to the Glasgow edition of 1839.

† Duncan M'Kenzie, Kilchoan, who lived to the great age of ninety-four; and, in 1828, communicated to us this information. He also told us that in the ensuing summer he was taken from school to attend cattle; and that some time thereafter Mr M'Donald left his school and farm and joined the Prince. "Poor man," added he, "he lost his all." He also mentioned that the country was in an unsettled state for some time, and that he lost the opportunity of getting any more education.

A bard was, even in our poet's time, a conspicuous character, and that not only as the "man of song :" he was highly esteemed in war and in peace. He was first in council ; consulted in all matters of importance as a man of acknowledged talent ; as being shrewd, cautious, and intelligent. An anecdote will show the opinion entertained of our bard even in the eighteenth century. One day the clergyman and he met. They went to have a drink, and some conversation. "There is little public news, and what is the private?" enquired the clergyman. "Very little," was the answer. "Have you heard of any thing at all in my parish that is worth relating, or any thing the reverse?" "Nothing." "Then," said the minister, "I have a piece of news for you." "We shall hear it." "Yes; and it is, that one of my elders has got his nurse in the family way." "Is it possible!" "I understand that it is very true." The poet wondered that he had not heard of it. "How can any thing be known in the country, and I ignorant of it?" said he to himself. They parted. The poet felt chagrined : could not get over it. When he went home, he mentioned to Mrs M'Donald the piece of intelligence communicated by the minister, but could not think who the elder was. She smiled, and told him it was himself,—she being in the family way, and nursing.

Of the changes and troubles of the year 1745, our author had his share. He laid down the ferula and took up the sword ; abandoned his farm, and lost his all, [in a cause which to cool reflection must have appeared hopeless.] Prince Charles must have esteemed him as a highly accomplished scholar and a soldier, enthusiastic in his cause, so much attached to his interest, but, above all, as a bard. He was the Tyrtæus of his army. His spirit-stirring and soul-inspiring strains roused and inflamed the breasts of his men. His warlike songs manifested how heartily he enlisted in, and how sanguine he was in the success of the undertaking. He received a commission.

He not only changed his profession, and put all he had on the chance of the Prince's success, but he also changed his religion : he became a Roman Catholic. [We need not wonder at this, as he was now among his friends and countrymen of that persuasion,—especially as he was given to changes. He was brought up a member of the Church of England ; he was a member of the Church of Scotland when parochial schoolmaster and elder ; and he became a member of the Church of Rome among his own clan and relations. The Mull bard, his constant antagonist, hit upon the true cause of his last change when he says :—

" Cha be 'n creideamh ach am brosgul,
Chuir thu ghiulan crois a phàpa."

After the year 1745, the bard and his elder brother, Angus, a man of a diminutive size, but of extraordinary strength,* escaped the pursuit of their enemies, and concealed

* Some good anecdotes are still current in Moidart about this great little man. He is called Aonghas beag Mac Mhaighstir Alasdair. We deem the following worth preserving :—Colla bân M'Donald, of Barasdale, came one day to a ford of the Lochie which he was meaning to cross, and found Angus sitting on a stone taking off his shoes and stockings preparatory to going over also. The river was considerably swollen at the time, and Barasdale, who was a strong and tall man, accosted Angus as follows :—"My little fellow, keep on your shoes and stockings, as they themselves in the wood and eaves of Kinloch-na-nua, above Borradale, in the district of Arisaig. Their local knowledge of the country, and the care and attention of friends, enabled them to elude all search, surmount difficulties, and endure privations to which many fell a sacrifice.

[A well-authenticated anecdote of the poet and his brother demonstrate the courage of the soldier and the spirit of the times. One day, as they were removing from one place of concealment to another, Angus, observing that his brother's hair was grey, (the side of his head next the ground, cold and frozen, became quite grey the night before,) contemptuously declared him an old man. "I should not wonder," replied Alexander, "were it not a dwarf that called me 'a poor old man.'" Angus, turning instantly round, dared him to repeat his words. They were in imminent danger. The least noise or indication of persons concealing themselves might have betrayed the place of concealment, and it would not have been safe for them to remain any longer in that part of the country. Regardless of the situation and critical circumstances, the poet could not pass over an occasion of cracking a joke, and the spirit of the manikin was too high to suffer any contempt. The fear, however, of provoking the resentment of the redoubtable hero, made the bard observe silence.]

After this eventful period, Alexander M'Donald lived poor. He was invited to Edinburgh by Jacobiteal friends, residing in the metropolis, to take charge of the education of their children, and where he had a better opportunity of finishing the edueation of his own. From Edinburgh he returned to the Highlands, being disappointed of the expected encouragement, and took up his residence in Moidart. He and Mr Harrison, the priest, lived not on the best terms, and therefore he removed to Knoydart, and resided at Inveraoi.* He latterly returned into Arisaig, and resided at Sandaig till his death.

will make you wade the better, and make haste come over with me and keep in my wake ; I will break the force of the stream, which will enable you to get over with the greater ease." Angus knew him, and thanked him for his goodness ; he did also as he was bidden. When they were in the most rapid part of the stream, Barasdale was like to be overpowered by the current, and was for returning ; which Angus dared him on his peril to do ; and, placing himself between Coll and the stream, dragged him by sheer force to the other side. Then said Angus to him, " You called me 'little fellow' on the opposite side of the water ; who, think you, might with greater propriety be called 'little fellow' on this side ? Take advice : Never call any man little till you have proved him ; and always try to form your estimate of a man's character by something more substantial than mere appearance. Remember, also, great as you are, that had it not been for a greater man than yourself you might have been meat for all the eels in the Lochie."

* He composed a number of songs after this : and one of them, entitled "Iomraich Alasdair á Eigneig do dh' Inner-aoidh," displaying curious traits of the irritable and discontented temper that embittered his life when in Eigneig. While there, he represents all things, animate and inanimate, rocks and thorns, thistles and wasps, ghosts and hobgoblins, combining to torment and persecute him. He speaks of Mr Harrison as follows :—

"Am fear
Dheanadh as-caoin-eaglais chruaidh orm,
Mu'n cluinneadh a chluais tr̄l chasadid." *

On the other hand, he represents Inveraoi, in Knoydart, a place like paradise,—full of all good things, blooming with roses and lilies, and flowing with milk and honey,—free of ghosts, hobgoblins, and venomous reptiles. How long he remained in this rocky paradise is not known ; but he appears to have lived some time in Morror, as he composed a very elegant song in praise of that country.

* For this song see the Glasgow edition of 1839, page 88.

He died at a good old age, and was gathered to his fathers in Eilean-Fionain, in Loch-Sheil.

Like most men of genius, who make some noise in the world, Mac-Mhaighstir Alasdair has been much lauded on the one side by the party whose cause he espoused, and as much vilified, and, in some instances, falsified, by the other party. Mr Reid, in his book, "Bibliotheca Scoto-Celtica," seems to have had his information from the last mentioned source. We have taken our account of him from undoubted authorities. We have seen individuals who knew and were intimate with him; and have been acquainted with many of his relatives, and some of his descendants.] Let us now proceed to his works. The first given to the public was his "Gaelic and English Vocabulary," published under the patronage of the Society for propagating Christian knowledge in the Highlands and Islands of Scotland,—a work of acknowledged merit and great usefulness in the schools, and which is very creditable to the author. It appeared in 1741, and was the first Vocabulary or Dictionary of the language ever published in a separate form. It is not alphabetically arranged, but divided into subjects. His poems were first published at Edinburgh, in 1751, and but for their being in Gaelic must certainly have brought on their author the vengeance of the law agents of the crown, for it is scarcely possible to conceive of language more violent and rebellious than that of many of his pieces. The longest and most extraordinary of his poetical productions is his "Birlinn Chlainn Raonuill." "He has in his 'Birlinn,'" says Mr Reid, "presented us with a specimen of poetry which, for subject matter, language, harmony, and strength, is almost unequalled in any language." He must have had the greatest command of the Gaelic language to have composed on a subject that would exhaust the vocables of the most copious.

From 1725 to 1745 he composed his descriptive poems, &c. "Alt-an t-Siucair" is an ignoble stream passing between the farm he occupied and the next to it, which he immortalizes in flowing strains. As a descriptive poem, it is perhaps unequalled by any in the language. Every object which the scene affords is brought to bear upon, and harmonize with, and give effect to the picture with a skill and an adaptation which bespeak the master-mind of the artist. Nowhere does poetry seem more nearly allied to painting than in this admirable production of our bard. His "Oran an t-Samhraidh," or "Ode to Summer," in which he is said to be delightfully redundant in epithets, like the season in its productions which he describes, he composed at Gleneribisdale, situated on the south side of Loch-Suainart, in the parish of Morven. He came there on a visit the last day of April; and rising early next morning, and viewing the picturesque scenes around, was powerfully impressed with the varied beauties of nature, displayed in such ample profusion. His "Ode to Winter" is longer, and indicative of even greater powers of genius. The reason why this poem is not so popular as the forementioned is probably because it contains so many recondite terms and allusions. If it were as generally understood it would doubtless be as well appreciated. It was composed in Ardnamurchan, as well as many others in which scenes and events have been described which enable us to point out the locality and relate the circumstances that gave occasion to them. But after leaving Ardnamurchan, a subject presented itself that required all his energy, exertion, and enthusiasm,—and he was not wanting in either of them. His powers, both bodily and mental, were roused to action. His soul was fired with the prospect in view. He invoked the Muse, and she was auspicious. The few that remain of his Jacobite poems and songs are known to excel all other productions of this mighty son of song. The “Lion’s Eulogy” breathes Mars throughout: so does the Jacobite song, sung to the tune of “Waulking o’ the Fauld,” beginning “A chomuinn rioghail rùnaich.” The song entitled “Am Breacan Uallach” is equally spirited and warlike.

We have good authority for saying that a tenth of these poems and songs have not been given to the world. His son Ronald had them all in manuscript; but having published a collection of Gaelic poetry, and not meeting with much encouragement for a second volume, he allowed his MS. to be destroyed. Dr. M’Eachen, a friend and connexion, had the mortification of seeing leaves of them used for various purposes through the house.

Mr M’Donald could bear no rival. He often selected indifferent subjects to try his own powers. For instance, “The Dairy Maid,” and “The Sugar Brook.” But, while as a poet he merits the highest praise, he is not to be excused for his immoral pieces, which of course are excluded from the “BEAUTIES OF GAELIC POETRY.”

Gu'n liubbrainn gun airsneul,
Ag stòlaibh a cás e ;
'S mar gabhadh i tlachd dhiom,
Cha b' fhada sin beò mi.
O 'n t-urram ! an t-urram !
An t-urram ! do Mhòraig !
Cha mhor nach do chuir i ;
M'fhuil uil' as a h-òrdugh ;
Gu'n d'rug orradh ceum-tuislidh,
Fo ionachd mo chuislean,
Le teas agus murtachd,
O mhoch-thra Di-dòmhnaich.

Fior chomhnart gun charraig,
Gun arral, gun bheòlam ;
Cho mìn ri cloidh-eala,
'S cho geal ris a ghaillionn ;

'S tu ban-righ nan ainnir,

Cuireadh e cruaidh-shnuim
Air o'in ghòraich sin :
Ach thug i so mo chiall,
Uile bhnam gu trian ;
Cha'n fhaca mi riamh
Siunnait Mòraig-sa,
Ghoid i bhuam mo chrì,
'S shlad i bhuam mo chì,
'S cuiridh i 'san chìll,
Fo na fòdaibh mi.

De'n chunnaic mi d' sheòrs thu,
Le d' bhroilleach geal-thuraid,
Nam mullaichean bòidheach ;
Cha'n fhaigh mi de dh'fhuras,
Na ni mionaid uat fuireach,
Ge d' tha buarach na dunach

D'am chumail o d' phòsadh.
Do bheul mar an t-sirist,
'S e milis ri phògadh,
Cho dearg ri bhermillian,
Mar bhileagan ròsan :
Gu'n d'rinn thu mo mhilleadh,
Le d' Chupid d'am bhioradh,
'S le d'shaighdan caol, biorach,
A rinn ciorraim fa m' chòta.

Tha mi lan mulaid,
O'n chunnaig mi Mòrag,
Cho trom ri clach-mhulinn,
Air lunnan d'a seòladh :
Mac-samhail na cruinneig,
Cha'n eil anns a chruinne ;
Mo chri air a ghuin leat,
O'n chunna' mi t-òr-chul
Na shlamagan bachallach.

Gu faineagach, cleachdagach,
Dreach-lubach, glòrmhor ;
Na reullagan clearclach ;
Mar usgraichean dreachmhor,
Le fudar san fhasan
Grian-lasda, ciabh òr-bhuidh.

Do shlios mar an canach ;

Na faicte mo leamhan
'S a mhath-shluagh di-dònaich,
B'i coltas an aingeal,
Na h-earradh's na comhradh ;
A pearsa gon talach
Air a gibhteann tha barrachd ;
A'n, Tì dh' fhág thu gun aineamh,
A rinn do thalamh rud bòidheach.

Ach clia do chreid mi riamh
Gu'n do sheas air sliabh,
Aon te bha cho ciatach

Mar gu'm biodh ban-dìu.
Leagli an crì am chliamh
Le cuid òrrachan.

Ar comhairle na ceilibh orm.
 Ciod eile their no ni mi ?
 Ma'n ribhinn bu tearc ceileireadh,

 Cho iomlan, 's cho eireachdail.
 Cho teiridneach, 's cho biogail,

 Mar ceileir so air Sine,

 No shneachd an Cruachan eilideach
 Na bheir aon fhionnachd eiridneach
 Do'n teine th'aunn am innsgin.

'Nuar chuala mi ceol leadanach
 An fheadain a bh'raig Mòrag,

 O'u buille meoir bu lomarra,
 Gu pronnadh a phuirt uaimhrich !
 'S na h-uilt bu lùghmhor cromainean

Mo cheann tha làn de sheilleanaibh
 O dhéilich mi ri d'bhriodal ;
 Mo shròn tha stoip' à dh-elebor
 Na deil, le teine dimbis ;
 Mo shuilean tha cho dcireasach,
 Nach faic mi gnè gun telesgop,
 'S ge d'bhiodh meudach beinn' ann,

 Dh'fhalbh mo cheudsaidh còporra

 'S mi'm thorroichim air mo chluasaig :
 Air dùsgadh as a chaitream sin
 Cha d'fhuair mi ach aon fhaileas d'i,

 A mheal mi gu seachd uaireau.

Ach, ciod thng mi gu glan fhaireachadh,
 Ach carachadh rinn cluanag :

 'S gu feumainn rag chuir stalcaidh ann,
 Gu'n d'riinn i draoidheachd-chadail domh,

 Gun d' aisig mi mo phogan dù,
 'S cha robh d'a coir dad uaipe.

*Note.—*This is one of the finest productions of the Keltic muse. The bard appears to have been really enamoured, and he pours forth his elegant, rapid, and impassioned strains in a torrent of poetry which has never been equalled by any of his contemporaries. Mòrag was a common country girl; and it is said that the poet's wife became jealous of her rival. The bard had talked of the marriage ties with the greatest contempt, and regretted that he was fettered with the bonds of wedlock. This raised a storm, and the bard sacrificed the mistress to appease the wife, and composed his "Mì-mholadh." Here is an instance of his disregard to truth and common decency, as well as of moral and poetical justice. As the praise was exaggerated and extravagant, the censure was cruel, unmanly, and undeserved. He first raised the object of his admiration to the skies, with the most hyperbolical praise—and then, without any provocation, he suddenly wheels round and overwhelms his goddess with the most slanderous, foul-mouthed and unfeeling abuse. His "M'mholaich Mòraig" is printed in the Glasgow complete edition of his works of 1839.

* We have heard it broadly asserted, that the commencing stanza of this song is a mere translation of the first stanza of a certain song in "Ramsay's Tea Table Miscellany." That there is a general similarity between these two stanzas, is admitted at once; and that M'Donald may have seen the "Miscellany," and also read the stanza in question, is likewise conceded. But that the similarity between the two is such as to warrant the conclusion that he must have seen it, we cannot allow. As to its being a translation, if our opinion were asked, we would say at once "It is not." But we subjoin the lines from the "Miscellany," that the reader may have the better opportunity of judging :—

"As early I wak'd,
 On the first of sweet May,
 Beneath a steep mountain,
 Beside a clear fountain,
 I heard a grave lute
 Soft melody play,
 Whilst the echo resounded
 The dolorous lay."

Note.—The poet here uses a redundancy of adjectives, epithets and alliterations, with more pedantry than becomes pastoral poetry : but, with all its faults, the poem contains many beautiful passages. The address to the primrose is peculiarly elegant and happy—the description of the love of the grouse is also very good—and the address to the black cock is lively and graphic, though it ends with an unlucky and far-fetched conceit.

Note.—This address to the Highland clans is a stately spirit-stirring martial poem, where the bard describes the various Jacobite clans coming forward in warlike array to place Charles on the throne, and leave the Hanoverians under his feet. The satirist (Aireach Mhuile) represents the poet travelling through the country to excite the Highlanders to arms, and it is probable that this song was composed on that occasion. It was well calculated to rouse the warlike clans to the approaching conflict.

Note.—This piece is an animated and faithful description of a beautiful scene in the country, on a summer morning. The bard walks abroad and sees the dew glittering on every leaf and flower—the birds warbling their songs—the animals grazing, and the bees collecting their stores—the fishes are leaping out of the water, and all nature rejoicing in the return of spring, or the luxuriance of summer! The very rivulet seems to partake of the common joy, and murmurs a more agreeable sound—the cows low aloud, and the calves answer responsive—while the dairy-maid is busily engaged at her task. The ground is bespangled with flowers of richer hues than the most costly gems. The horses gather together in groups to drink of the streamlet, and the kids are sporting and dancing about its banks. The ships, with all their white sails bent to the gentle breeze, are passing slowly along the Sound of Mull. The poet selects the most natural, lively, and agreeable images in the rural scene. All good judges admit that there is not a descriptive poem, in Gaelic or English, fit to be compared with this exquisite production.

CRAN LUAIGHE NO FUCAIDH.

Agus ho Mhorag, &c.

Note.—This song has been always highly popular, and is certainly the most spirited and elegant of all our Jacobite songs. Charles is represented under the similitude of Mòrag—a young girl with flowing locks of yellow hair waving on her shoulders. She had gone away over the seas, and the bard invokes her to return with a party of maidens (i. e. soldiers) to dress the red cloth, in other words, to beat the English red coats. The allegory is kept with elegance and spirit, and the poet introduces himself as one who had followed Mòrag in lands known and unknown, and was still ready to follow her over the world if required.

MILE marbhaisg air an t-saoghal,

 Cha do chleachd sinu moim ro' chàch ;
 Tha sinn a nis air ar sgaoileadh,
 Air feadh ghleann, a's fhraoch-beann àrd ;
 Ach teanailidh sinn fòs ar daoine,

Misneach mhath a mhuinnit ghaolach,
 'S gabhaidh Dia dhuinn daonnan càs ;
 Cuiribh dòchus daingheann, faoilteach,
 Anns an aon Tìni dhuin stà :
 'S buanaichibh gu rìgheil, adhrach,

Ach 's feadar dhomhs' a nis bhi falbh uaibh,

A Mhoire sinu th' air ar cèusadh !

TEARLACH MAC SHEUMAIS.

'AIR FONN—"Black Jock."

O ! Tearlaich mhic Sheumais,
 Mhic Sheumais, mhic Thearlaich,
 Leat shiubhlainn gu h-eutrom,
 N am èubhachd 'bhi mìarsal,
 'S cha b' ann leis a phàigh ud,
 A tharmaich o 'n mhuiuc.
 Bheireadh creideamh a's reusan
 Oirn éiridh mar b' àbhaist,
 Leis an ailleagan cheutach,
 'Shliochd éifeachdach Bhàincho ;
 Mo ghràdh a ghruaidh àluinn,
 A dhearsadh orm stuirt.
 Thu 'g iomachd gu sùrdail,
 Air tùs a bhataili,
 Cha fhrosainn an drìuchda,
 'S mi dlù air do shàilean ;
 Mi eadar an talamh
 'S an t-adhar a seòladh,
 Air iteig le aighear,
 Misg-chath, agus shòlais ;
 'S caismeachd phìob' mòra,
 Bras-shròiceadh am puirt.

O 'n eibhinnéachd ghlòrmhor,
 Au t-sòlais a b' airde !
 G' ar lionadh do spionnadhl,
 Air slinneinibh Thearlaich,
 Gu 'n calcadh tu àrdan
 An càileachd ar cuirp ;
 Do làthaireachd mhòr-chuisseach,
 Dh-flògradh gach fàlliinn,
 Gu 'n tiuntadh tu feòdar
 Gach feola gu stàilinn,
 'Nuair sheal'maid gu sunndach,
 Air fabhra do rüisg.
 Gu gnùis torrach de chruadal,
 De dh' uaisle, 's de nàire,
 Nach taisiceadh fuathas,
 Ro' luaidhe do nàmhaid ;
 'S mar deanadh fir Shasuinn
 Do mhealladhl, 's do thrèigsiuin,
 Bhiodh an crùn air a spalpadh,
 Le d' thapadh air Séurlas,
 A dh-aindeoin na bést'.
 Leis an d' érich na h-uile.

Gu 'm b' fhoirmeil leam tòrmair
 Na 'n òrghanan àluinn !
 'S tein'-éibhinn a lasadh
 Gu bras-gheal air sràidibh !
 'S na croisibh ri h àrd-ghaoir,
 Mhòir Thearlaich ar Prionns' !

Gach uinneag le foineal
 A boisgeadh le dearsadh,
 Le solus nan coillean,
 'S deas mhaighdeann d'an smàladh ;
 'S gach ni mar a b' araiddh.
 'G cuir fàilt' air le puimp !
 Na canoin ri bùirich,
 'S iad a' stùradh an fhàlidh,
 A' cuir crith air gach dùthaich
 Le muiseag nan Gàel ;
 Agus sinne gu lù'-chleasach,
 Mùirneach lan àrdain,
 Am marsail gu miùinte,
 Ard-shundach m' a shailean—
 'S gann bha eudrom 's gach fear dhùinn,
 Trì chairsteil a phuinnt !

MO BHO BUG AN D R A M.

'AIR FONN—"The bucket you want."

LUINNEAG.

Ho rò mo bhobug an dràm,
Hò ri mo bhobug an dràm,
Hò rò mo bhobug an dràm,
*'S e chuireadh an sòdan na m' cheann.

FHEARABH ta'r suidhe ma 'n bhòrd,
 Le 'r glaineacheau cridheil n-'ar dòrn,
 Na leanamaid ruidhinn air òl,
 Ma mill sinn ar bruidhinn le bòl.

Ho ro mo, &c.

Na tostachan sigeanta fial,
 'Gà'n aiseag gu ruige mo bhial ;
 Bu mhiareagach stuigeadh, a's triall,
 Am mìarsal le ciogait tro' m' chliabh.

Ho ro mo, &c.

* The above chorus is not by Macdonald—it belongs to an old Uist song. Here are two stanzas of the original :—

Cha téid mi'n taigh-dòd' tha sud thall,
 Cha'n fhiach an sinéabar a th' ann,
 Ge d' olainn am buideal le srann,
 Gu'n giulan mo cholainn mo cheann.
Ho ro mo, &c.

Thuir cailleach cho libeasd' sa bh' ann,
 'Nuair fhuair i blas air an dràm :—
 "O ! taírrnibh 'ur casan a chlann,
 'S bheir mise mo char air an damhs'."
Ho ro mo, &c.

'S tu chuireadh an cuireid' san t-sluagh,
 'N am cogaidh ri aodainn nan ruag,
 Gun olamaid sgайл dhiot gu luath,
 Ma sguidseumaoid slacain a truail'.

Ho ro mo, &c.

'S tu dh' fhadagh sinn tapaidh san tòir,
 'N am tarruinu nan glas-lanu ri sròn,
 'Nuair thilgte na breacain de 'n t-slògh,
 'S á truail, bheirt a machl claidhe mòr.

Ho ro mo, &c.

Ge tu mo leannan glan ùr,
 Cha phòg mi gu dìlinn thu 'n cùil ;
 Ach phögainn, a's dheodhlainn thu rùin,
 Nuair thig thu 's Jacobus na d' ghuàis :

Ho ro mo, &c.

An t-ainm sin is fearr ata ann,
 Ainn Sheumais a chuir air do cheann ;
 'S e thoghadh an sògan fo m' chainnt,
 'S a dh-fbagadh gu blasda mo dhràm.

Ho ro mo, &c.

Fadamaid teine beag shiòs,
 Na lastrichean ciuin a ni grios,
 A gharas ar claireann 's ar crì',
 'Sa dh-fhògras ar n'aireal, 's ar sgòs.

Ho ro mo, &c.

Gur tu mo ghlaiveag ghlan lom,
 Mo leannan is cannaiche fonn ;
 Ged rinneadh thu dh' fheamain nan tonn,
 Gur mòr tha do cheanal na d' chòm.

Ho ro mo, &c.

O fair a ghaoil channaich do phòg,
 Leig clannadh d' a t-anail fo m' shròin,
 Gur cubhraidh leam fannal do bheoil,
 No tùis agus mire na h-Eòrp.

Ho ro mo, &c.

O aisig a ghlaive do phòg !
 Cuir speirid n' ar teangaidh gu céil ;
 An ioc-shlainte bheannachite choir,
 A leasaichies cnàmhain a's feoil !

Ho ro mo, &c.

M A R B H R A N N

DO PHEATA CALUMAN, A MHARBHADH LE ABHAG.

'S tòrsach mo sgeul ri luaidh,
 'S gun chàch gha d' chaoidh,
 Ma bhàs an fhìr bu leanabail' tuar,
 'S dà mheanbh ga chaoidh.

'S oil leam bàs a Choluim chaoimh,
 Nach b' anagrach gnàs,
 A thuiteam le madadh d'a 'm bèus,
 Dòran nan càrn.

'S tu 's truagh liun de bhàs nan ian ;
 Mo chràdh nach beò,

Fhir a b' iteagach, miotagach triall,
 Ge bu mheirbh do threòir ;
 'B' feumail' do Noah na càch,
 'N am bhàrcadh nan staudh,

Ba tu 'n teachdair' gun seacharan d' à,

'Nuair thráigh an cuan ;

A dh' idreachdann do dh-fhalbh an tuil,
 Litir gach fear ;

Dùghall is Colum gu'n chuir

Deagh Noah thar lear ;

Ach chaidh Dùghall air seacharan cuain,

'S cha do phill e riamh ;

Ach phill Colum le iteagaich luath,

'S a fhreagenta na bhial.

Air thùs, cha d' fhuair e ionad d' a bhonu
 An seasadh e ann,

Gus do thiormaich dile nan tonn,

Thar mullach nam beann ;

'S an sin, a litir-san leugh an duine bha glic,

Gu 'n thiormaich a bhailc,

'S gu'm faigheadh a mhuirichinn, cobhair na'n

Agus fuasgladh na 'n airc,

[teirc,

Le neart cha spùilte do nead,

Ge do thigte dha d' shlad ;

Bhiodh do chaisteal fo bhearradh nau creag,

Ann an dainghnichibh rag ;

Bha do mhodh siolaich air leath bho chàch,

Cha togradh tu suas,

Ach a durraghail an taca ri d' ghràdh,

'S a cuir cagair 'n a cluais.

Cha do cbuir thu duil ann airgead no spréidh,

No fèisid am biodh sùgh,

Ach spioladh, a's criomadh an t-sìl le d' bhèul ;

'S ag òl a bhùir;

Aodach, no anart, sioda, no sròl,

Cha cheannaicheadh tu 'm bùth ;

Bhiodh t-éideadh de mhùn-iteacha gorin,

Air nach drùidheadh an driùchd ;

Cha do ghabh thu riamh paidir no creud,

A ghuidh nan dùl ;

Giheadh, cha 'n eil t-anam am péin

O chaidh tu 'null,

Cha 'n e gun chiste no anart

Bhi comhdach do chrè,

Fo lic anns an ùir,

Tha mise ge cruaidh e, 'g acain gu léir,

Ach do thuitean le cù.

Note.—This is the best of his smaller pieces, although it contains more of sparkling conceit than tenderness or pathos. It is probable that it was composed before he became a member of the Church of Rome, as he says that the pigeon never repeated paternoster or creed.

M O L A D H

A CHAIM-BEULAICH DHUIBH.

Ge beag orts' an Caim-beulach dubh,
 Gur toigh leams' an Caim-beulach dubh ;
 Biodh e dubh, no geal, no gris-fhionn,
 Gràdh mo chri-s' an Caim-beulach dubh.
 Ge h-ainnisgeach air an t-seòrs' thu,
 Na 'm b' aithne dhomsa do phòrsa,
 Chuirinn moran fios do 'n dò-bheirt,
 'N an dubh dhliubtibh fhòtusach, tiughi.

'Suilean cuirpt' bh' ann an droch chrùth,
 A fhuair oilbheim do 'n fhear gheal-dhubh,
 Do 'n dream oirdheirc 's foirmele suil ;
 'S duilich tolga chuir 'n a chruaidh stuth.
 'S tric le madraidi bhi ri dealunn,
 An òidhche reòt' ris a' ghealaich ;
 B' ionann sin, 's eiseachd t-ealaidh,
 Air clìu geal a Cbaim-beulaich dhuibh.

'S cù mar fhuair thu dh' aodann no ghuinis,
 Caineadh uasail gun mhodh, gun tlus ?
 Fhior dhearc-luachrach chinuich a lus ;
 Ma t-aoir bhacaich tachdam thu bhruei.

Siùrsaidh mi gu gu 'm bi thu marbh thu ;
 Cha bhi ach mo theang' de dh'arm riut ;
 A rag-mheirlich, bhradaich, a gharbhlaich,
 'S ioma gharbh-mhart dh'fheann thu le d'chuic.

Do'n t-siol chruthneachd chuireadh gu tiugh ;
 Cha b' e 'n fhìdeag, no 'n coirce dubh,
 Ach por prìseil, 's ro sgaoilteach eur,
 Feadh gach rioghachd air tìr, 's air muir.
 Gur iongantach leam, a dhuine,
 Mar robh mearan ort air tuinneadh,
 Ciod man do bhuin thu do 'n urr' ad,
 Curaidh ullamh, 's cuircideach fuil ?

Dream nan geur-lann gu reubadh cuirp,
 Cruaidh 'g a feachainn air beulamh trùp ;
 S' math 's is gleust' iad gu bualadh phluic,
 'N am retrèata dh' éibheach le stuit.
 Cha "bhreac breun-loin" idir Cailean,
 Ach do dh' fhion-fhùil ard Mhic-Cailein ;
 Teughlach ùiseil Iarla-Bhealaich ;
 'S buadhach caithream ri uchd an truid !

'S cinnteach thiotadh gheibh thu do mhurt,
 Ma t-aoir chiotaich, mhiosguinnich churt ;
 Ge do dh' eirich gu robh ort stuit,
 Bi'dh a bhiodag rideadh do chuirp.
 Claiseann gun eanachainn, gun mheadhrach,
 Sa faodadh na h-iolairean neadadh ;
 Cia mar fhuair thu ghnùis do sgiadar,
 Ghluasad idir an ionad puit?

Eisg bhochd, chearbaitch, seargaidh mi tur,
 Do theanga chealgach a chearbaire dhuibh,
 Rinn an t-searbhadh gun chair' a muigh ;
 Asad dh' earbinn "cealgaireachd cruidh."

Cha fhior-ragair ge d' bhiodh fearg air
 Do 'n d' rinn thus' a dhuin' an t-searbhadh ;
 Ach òg faighidneach gun earraghloir ;
 Lan do dh' fearra-ghniomh, dhearbh e le ghuin.

Bha thu mi-mhoil a toirt dh'a guth ;
 Cràg a chobhair gu màgradh gruth ;
 Leòbas odhar a ghlaimeadh suth,
 Deis dh'a leaghadh, 's e ruidh na shruth.

Cha bu bheudagan gu sàbaid
 Ach fior leoghanu stolda, staideil,
 Do 'n d' rinn us' an t-oran pràbach ;
 Ach fior ghaisgeach ; 's am blàr 'ga chur.

Sparram cinnteach ort a għlas-għuib ;
 Losgadh peircill, corcadh, a's cuip
 Air son ascaoin chealgach do bhuis ;
 B' f'héarr gu 'm bithinn-sa fagasg dhut.
 Ge do bhiodh tu caineadh ghàel,
 Anns gach siorramachd a dh' àirinn,
 Seachainn muimintir Earraghæl,
 'S gun a Cheòlraidi fabharach dhut.

'S maирg a dh' èireadh ri siol an tuire,
 Gasraidi ghleusda nach èaradh cluich ;
 Cha bu bhèus dhaibh bhi ris a mhurt,
 Ach cath trèun, a's cothrom r' an uchd'.
 Ge beag ort-sa mile cuairt e,
 'S ioma sonn aigeanntach ullach,
 Eadar Asainn, 's Cluaigh nan luath-long,
 A 's trom luaign air Caim-beulach dubh.

Suil na seòca, 's ro bheòchain cur,
 An ceann rò-bhinn nam bachalag dubh ;
 Cha b' i "fròg-shuil, rògair' a chruidh ;"
 Fior fhiamh seoid air còr ann an sult.
 'S geal 's a's dearg do leac, a's t-aogas,
 Ge thubhuit iad "peircall caol riut;"
 Cha b' ionann as sligeas-gaoisneach,
 'S fiasag-p-laoigh ort nach eil tiugh.

'S ge d'reachadh tu 's na spèuraibh
 Chum a Chaim-beulach dhuibh éisgeadh,
 Tuitidh tusa mar a bhéisteach,
 'N a t-ionad fèin am buachar mairt.
 Thusa bħreinen, magaran eac ;
 E-san għlè-ghlan lomlan do thlachd ;
 Thus a dhéistinn 's muig ort air āt,
 Mar bu bhéus do dhòran no chāt.

Aodann craineig, sharr-aodann tuirc ;
 Com a chnaimh-fhi'ch, 's nadur na muic ;
 Beul mhic-lamhaich, 's fàileadh a bħruic ;
 Spàgan clàrach ; sailean nan cùsp'.

De dh' oirlíchean aoiridh bárdail,
Toiseam o d' bhathais, gu d' sháil thu ;
'S feannam do leathar a thráill dhiot,
Chioun gu'n chán' tbu'n Caim-beulach dubh.

Cha'n fhearr sgipi thus' ach fior ghlug ;
'S beairt gun teagamh bi'dh tu fo bhluridh ;
T-iasag failidh, t-shalt, a's do ruisg ;
Tuitidh t-fhaclan 's falbhaidh do thuigis'.
'S coltaeb nach b' aithne dhut mise,
'Nuair a bha mi so gun fhios dut ;
Na m' b' eol, cha ghlacadh tu mhisneach,
Róine riobadh as an fhearr dbubh.

Note.—The Black Campbell was a cattle-lifter, and stole some cows from M'Lean of Lochbuie. For this M'Lean's direach, or herdsman, composed the satire. At the end of the song he calls on all the bards to join him in lashing the thief. When M'Donald heard this he composed his song in praise of Campbell and against the satirist—with-out any cause of love or hatred to either party. It is only an exercise of his wit; but it shows his usual talents and powers of invention, and felicity of language. After that the herdsman composed a very severe satire on M'Donald himself. We give a few verses of the satire on Campbell as a specimen :—

" An Cainn-beulach dubh á Cinn-táile,
Iar-ogh' mhorthair 's ogha 'mheirlich ;
Am Braids-Alban fhuar e àrach,
Siol na ceilge 's meirleach a chruidh.
'S obhar, ciar, an Cainn-beulach dubh,
'S oilteil, fiadhaich, amharc sa' chruth ;
'S lachdan liath-ghlas, duhh cha'n fhíach e ;
'S fear gu'n mhiadh an Cainn-beulach dubh !

" Cuiream tuath e, cuiream deas e,
Cuiream siar e, cuiream sear e ;
Cuiream fios gu báird gach fearainn,
Gus an caill e'n craiceann na shruth.
'S obhar, ciar, &c.

MOLADH AN LEOGHAINN.

AIR FONN—“Cabar Feidh.”

FAILT' an leoghainn chreuchdaich,
Is engsamhul spracalachd,
'Nuair dheireadh do chinn-fheadna,
Bu mheaghach am brataichean,
'Nuair chruinnicheadh gach dream dhiu,
Gu ceannsgalach tartarach,
Bhiodh pronnadh agus calldach,
Air naimhdean a thachradh ribh ;
Iad gu h-oirdheire air bharr corr-ghleus,
Teinteach foir-dhearg, lasrachail,
'S ard an stoirm air mhire-chonbhaidh,
'S lainn nan dorn ri spealtaircachd,
Le'n geur cholg ri stracadh bholg,
A' gearradh cheann is chorpuinnan ;
'S cha sluagh gun chrnaidh gun cheannsgal,
Le'n lanu bheireadh fosadh orr.

Dùisg a leoghainn euchdaich,
'S dean éirigh gu farumacb,
Air brat ball-dearg, breid-gheal,
'S fraoch sleibhe mar bharan air ;
Teg suas do cheann gu h-eatrom,
'S na speuraibh gu caithreasach,
'S théid mi-fhin cho géire,
'Sa dh'fheudas mi d' arabhaig ;
Togam suas do mholadh prisceil,
'Do do cheann rìgheil farasda,
Cha'n eil ceann no corp san rìgheachd,
An crnaidh-ghniomh thug barrachd ort,
An ceann cruaidalach ard sgiamhach
Maiseach, flor-dheas, arranta,
'S tric thug sgairt ri h-uchd an fhuathais,
Ri h-àm luchd t-fhuatha tarruinn ruit.

Co b'urrainn tairn no dì-bleachd,
Gu dilinn a bharalacha ?
No shamhlaicheadh riut mi-chliù,
A' rìgh nan ceann barrasach ;
A chreutair ghasda, rìmhiech,
'S garg fior-dheas do tharruinnse,
Air brat glan de'n t-sioda,
Ri mìn-chramh caol gallanach ;
E ri plapraich ri crann-brataich,
A' stailce chás gu h-eangarra ;
Is còmhain ghasda lan do ghaisge,
Teanailt bras gu leanaitl ris,
Fear gu casgairt 'nan gnùis dhaite,
Bh'ndh sgrios a's lannadh sios,
Air luchd mi-ruin a bheanadh riut.

Cha robh garta gleðis,
Air an t-seòrsu o'n ghineadh tu,
An dream rathail mhòr-chùiseach ;
Chòmhragach, iomairteach ;
Bu ghunnach, dagach, òr-sgiathach,
Gòirseideach, nimheil iad ;
Bu domhain farsuinn creuchdach,
Cneidh euchdach am firionnach ;
Iad gu sùrdail losga' fùdar,
Toirt as smuid bho lasraichean ;
Na fir ùra, gheala, lùghar,
A ghearrá smuais a's ainsichean ;
Lannan dù-ghorm, geura, cùl-tiugh,
'N glaic nam fiuran aigeantach,
A' sgolta chorpa a sios gu'n rumpaill,
Sùrd le sunnd air stracaireachd.

'S foinni, fearail, laidir,
Cuanda, dàicheil, cinneadail,
Sliochd nan Collaiddh lambh-dhearg,
'S iad lan do dh' ard spiorad annt,
Cho dian ri lasair chrà-dheirg,
'S gaoth Mhàirt a' cuir spiònnaidh in

Gun mheang, gun mheirg, gun fhàillin,
 'Nar càileachd ge d' shirear sibh ;
 Na fir chogach théid 's na trodaibh,
 Nach biadh ro loitaibh gioragach ;
 Nach iarr brosna' ri h-àm cosgraith,
 A phronna chorpa's mhionnaichean,
 A' sgatha cheann, a's lamh, a's chas, diubh,
 Ann san toit le mire-chath,
 Na fir bhèurra, threin, fheardha,
 Gheur, armach, fhineadail !

An cinneadh maiseach, treubhach,
 Nan réidh-chuilbheir acuinncach,
 Nach diultadh dol air ghleus,
 Ri h-àm feuma gu grad-mharbhadh,
 Madaidh ri àird ghleusta,
 Gu beuma nan sradagan,
 A' conas dearg ri chéile,
 A' cuir eibhlean gu lasraichean.
 Frasan dealanach dearg pheileir,
 Teachd o'r teine tartarach,
 A' spadadh, 's a pronnadh, 's a leadairt,
 Nan corp ceigeach, casagach.
 Lannan dù-ghorm dol gan dùlan,
 A gearra smùis is aisinlichean,
 Aig na treunaibh cruaidh, bheumnach,

 Cho làn de nimh-ghuineadeach,
 Ri nathraighean an t-sléibhe,
 Le'n geur-lannaih fulangach.
 Iad gu sitheach, gleusta, cos-luath,
 Rùnach, bos-luath, fulasgach,
 Cruas na craige, luathas na draige,
 Chluinneant fead am buillinean ;
 Na fir dhàna, lùghar, nàrach,
 Fhoinnidh, làdir, urranda,
 Cho targ ri tuil-mhaoim sléibhe,
 No falaisg gheur nam munainean !

 Ach 'n uair dh'artlaich air an fhairge,

 Ge d'rinn, cha robh crann gun lubadh,
 Seol gun reubadh ;

 Cha robh stagh ann gun stuadh-leumnach :

 Cha robh tota no beul-mor ann,

 'S iad air déasgadh.
 Cha robh crann-tarruinn gun tarruinn,

 Ghabh iad togail.
 Cha robh tarruinn ann gu'n tràladh,
 Cha robh calp' ann gu'n lubadh ;
 Cha robh ball a bhuineadh dh'i-se,
 Nach robh ni's measa na thùradh.
 Ghairm an fhairge siocaint ruinne,
 Air crois Chaol Ile,
 'S gu'n d'fhuair a gharbh ghaoth,

 Thog i uainn do ionadaibh uachdrach
 An adhair ;
 'S chinu i dhuinn na clàr rèidh mìn-gheal,
 'N deigh a tabhunn.
 'S thug sinn buidheachas do'n Ard-Rìgh,
 Chum na dùilean,
 Deagh Chlann-Raonuill a bhi sàbhailt,
 O bhàs bruideil.
 'S an sin bheum sinn a sinil thana, bhallach,
 Do thùillin ;
 'S leag sinn a croinn mhìn-dearg ghasda,
 Air fad a h-ùrlair.
 'S chuir sinn a mach ràimh chaol bhasgant,
 Dhaite mhìne,
 De'n ghiubhas a bhuain Màc-Bharais,
 'An Eilean-Fhionain.

'S rinn sinn an t-iomra réidh tulganach,
Gun dearmad ;
S ghabh sinn deag long-phort aig barraibh,
Charraig Fhearghais ;

Thilg sinn Acrainchean gu socair,
Ann san ròd sin ;
Ghabh sinn biadh a's deoch gun airceas,
'S rinn sinn còmhnuidh.

IAIN MAC CODRUM.

JOHN M'CODRUM,* the North Uist bard, commonly called Iain Mac Fhearchuir, was contemporary with the celebrated Alexander M'Donald. He was bard to Sir James Maedonald, who died at Rome. The occasion of his obtaining this situation was as follows :—He made a satirical piece on all the tailors of the Long Island, at which they were so exasperated that they would not work for him on any account. One consequence of this was, that John soon became a literal tatterdemalion. Sir James meeting him one day, inquired the reason of his being thus clad. John explained. Sir James desired him to repeat the verses—which he did ; and the piece was so much to Sir James's liking, that John was forthwith promoted to be his bard, and obtained free lands on his estate in North Uist. In a letter from Sir James Maedonald to Dr Blair of Edinburgh, relating to the poems of Ossian, dated Isle of Skye, 10th October, 1763, we find Sir James speaking as follows of Mae Codrum :—“ The few bards that are left among us, repeat only detached pieces of these poems. I have often heard and understood them, particularly from one man called John Mac Codrum, who lives on my estate, in North Uist. I have heard him repeat, for hours together, poems which seemed to me to be the same with Maepherson's translations.”

The first of M'Codrum's compositions was a severe and scurrilous satire. Being young, and unnoticed, he was neglected to be invited to a wedding to which he considered he had as good a right to be bidden as others. He was very indignant, and gave vent to his feelings in the most severe invectives. He had the prudence to conceal his name. The wedding party being minutely characterized, several of them lampooned, and held up to derision, the poem gave great offence to some of those concerned. Although the author was concealed, the satire could not be suppressed. Several individuals were suspected, while the real author enjoyed the pleasure of knowing himself to be at the same time a person of some consideration, and amply revenged for the neglect of those who should have acknowledged it. His father only knew him to be the author. He was alone about the farm : John was in the barn, whither his parent went, as he could hear no one thrashing ; but, on approaching nearer, he heard his son rehearsing his poem. He admonished him to attend more to his work than to idle songs, and left him, without thinking of the verses he had heard till the fame of the satire was spread abroad, and a noise was made about it throughout the country. The verses then recurred to his mind, and he had no doubt of the real author. He spoke to John most seriously in private. He was himself a pious and a respectable man, and was much affected at the thought that any of his family should disgrace his fair reputation. He was sensible of the ill-will and hatred that John would incur were he known to be the author ; and he, moreover, disapproved of the license taken with the characters of individuals. The young poet promised him that he would give him no more occasion of regret on that score ; and he kept his word. Respect for his parent's authority restrained him ; for he composed no more of the kind while his father lived, nor any so severe afterwards. He must have had great command over himself, as well as submission to the will of a parent. It is no easy task for a young author, while hearing his compositions recited and applauded, not to indicate the interest which he feels. Although unnoticed and unknown, while feeling all the flattering suggestions which popularity must have incited within him, yet a revered parent's authority checked the progress of the young aspirant in the career of fame.

After his father's death, M'Codrum concealed no longer the flame which he had been smothering in his breast. His name became known, and he was acknowledged to be the most famous bard in the Long Island since the time of Neil M'Vurich, the family bard of Clanronald. John M'Codrum was, like most of the bards, indolent. The activity of the body, and the exertion of mental qualities, go not always together. An anecdote will better illustrate this part of his character than any description we can give :—A gentleman sent for his neighbours to assist in draining a lake. The country people assembled in numbers ; and, exerting themselves, soon finished the work, much sooner than the poet had expected they would have done : he just came in time to see the last of it. The gentleman was determined to punish him for his sluggish and indifferent behaviour. When he ordered some provisions and a cask of whisky for the people, he told them to sit down, and called on the poet to act as chaplain, and ask a blessing. The bard was not regarded as a man of grace. All were attentive, thinking him for once out of place. He, however, spoke in a most reverential manner—his grace was brief and pithy, couched in verse, and was longer remembered than the sumptuous repast. While he expressed gratitude to the bestower of all good gifts, he turned the operations of the day into ridicule.

When Mr M'Pherson was collecting “Ossian's Poems,” he landed at Lochmady, and proceeded across the moor to Benbecula, the seat of the younger Clanronald. On his way thither he fell in with a man, whom he afterwards ascertained to have been Mac Codrum, the poet : M'Pherson asked him the question, “Am beil dad agad air an Fhéinn ?” by which he meant to inquire whether or not he knew any of the poems of Ossian relative to the Fingalians, but that the terms in which the question was asked, strictly import ‘whether or not the Fingalians owed him anything, and Mac Codrum, being a man of humour, took advantage of the incorrectness or inelegance of the Gaelic in which the question was put, answered as follows :—Cha'n eil, is ged do bhithheadh cha ruiginn a leas iarraidh nis, i.e. No ; and should I, it is long since proscribed ; which sally of Mac Codrum's wit seemed to have hurt M'Pherson's feelings, for he cut short the conversation and proceeded to Benbecula.

We will not attempt to select any parts of the poems of this author. All indicate the master-hand of the performer. One trait is striking in his character as a poet—his disposition to satire. He is perhaps the first satirist of the modern Gaelic poets. M'Donald and M'Intyre attacked like men determined to take a stronghold by open force, in defiance of all resistance : Mac Codrum held up the object of his animadversion in a light that exposed him to ridicule and contempt, and he made others his judges.

His fame as a poet and wit soon spread, and so delighted Alexander M'Donald that he determined to visit him. On meeting Mac Codrum a few yards from his own door, the visitor, naturally enough, inquired “An aithne dhut Iain Mac Codrum ?” “S aithne gu ro mhath,” replied John. “Am beil fhios agad am bheil e 'stigh ?” was M'Donald's next question, to which the facetious bard answered with an arch smile, “Mu ta bha e 'stigh nuair a bha mise 's cha drinn mi ach tighinn amach.” M'Donald, yet ignorant that he was speaking to the individual about whom he was inquiring, proceeded to say, “Caithidh mi' n oidhche nochd mar-ris, ma's àbhaist aoidhean a bhi aiga.” “Tha mi creidsin,” replied the witty John, “nach bi e falamh dhiù sin cuideachd mu bhios na nearcan a breith (uibhean).”*

In purity and elegance of language Mac Codrum comes nearest to Macdonald, who appears to have been his model. Some of his pieces appear to us as servile copies of great originals. When he chooses to think and compose for himself, he appears to more advantage ; witty, ingenuous, and original. His satire on “Donald Bain's Bagpipe” is a masterpiece of its kind ; full of wit and humour, without the filth and servility that disgrace the satires of Macdonald and other Keltic poets. His poems on “Old Age” and “Whiskey” are excellent. They first appeared in Macdonald's volume, without the author's name ; but Mac Codrum's countrymen have claimed them for him. He never published any thing of his own, and many of his poems are now lost. In his days the only poets who ventured to send their works to the press were Macdonald and Macintyre ; and, it is probable, that their great fame prevented our author from entering the lists with such formidable competitors.

* Mac Codrum's skill in the Gaelic was exquisite, and he was in the practice of playing on words of doubtful or double meaning, when used by others. He was once on a voyage, and the boat put into Tobermory, in the island of Mull, when the inhabitants, as usual, gathered on the shore to learn from whence the strangers came. One of them asked the crew, “Cia as a thug sibh an t-iomradh ?” “As na gairdeanan,” answered the bard. Another asked, “An ann bho thuath a huinig' sibh ?” to which Mac Codrum again rejoined, “pàirt bho thuath a's pàirt bho thighearnan.”

 'Nuair a chruinnicheadh do chòisir,
 Cha b' i chuilm gun a chòmbradh ;
 Gheibhle rajun agus òrain,

Tha mhisg dona 'n a nàdúr,
Lom-làn mòr-chuis a's ardaid ;

Lom-làn bòsd agus spàraig,
Annas gach cás air an tig.
Tha i uamharra, fiadhaich,
Tha i murtaidh 'n a h-iarbhall,
Tha i dustach, droch-nialach,
Lan de dh-fhiabhras, 's de fhriodh.
Gu 'm bi fear dhìu 'n a shìneadh ;
Gu 'm bi fear 'n a chùis-mhì-loimh ;
Gu 'm aithlise lionor ;
'S iad aon maoidheadh nam pluic'.
Tha i tuar-shreupach foilleil ;
Iomadh uair air droch oilean ;
'S gun do dh-fhuasgladh fa-dheireadh,
Ach 's i bu choireach a mhisg.

CARAID.

Mo ghaol an cleasaiche lùghor,
Fear gun cheasad gun chùna ;
Fear gu'n cheiltiun air cùineadh,
'N aon bhi dlùthachadh ris.
Bheireadh thachd a's a mhùigean ;
Dheanadh gealtair de 'n diùdhìach ;
Dheanadh dàn' am fear diùid,
Chum a chùis a dhol leis.
Fear a's fearr an taigh òsd' thu ;
Fear a's ùrfhailteach òrain ;
Fear nach fuligear 'n a ònar,
Ach a bhùilich 's an drip.
Fear tha màranach, ceolar ;
Cridheit, càirdeach, le pògan ;
'S a lamh dheas air a phòca,
'S sgapadh stòrais le misg.

NAMHAID.

A chinn-aobhair a chonais,
'S tric a dh-fhobhaich na sporain ;
Fhir nach d' fhoghlum an onair,
B' e bhi 'g a d' mholadh a bhleid :
'Nis ou'n buanna ro dhaor thu,

Dol inair cuairt air an t-saoghal,
Chum na dh-fhaodas tu ghoid.
Fear ri aithreachas mòr thu ;
Fear ri caraid, 's ri comh-stù ;
Fear ri geallam ; 's cha tòram ;
Thug sid leonadh do d' mheas.
Ni thu 'm pòitear 'n a striopaich,
Ni thu striopaich 'n a pòitear ;

CARAID.

Ge b' e thionnsgan, no dh-inndrig,

Thug bho arbhar gu siol e ;

Thug bho bhraich, gu nì a's brigheil';
 Thug á prais 'na cheo-liath e,
 'Mach tro chliath nan lùb tric.
 Thug á buideal gu stòp e,
 Rinn e 'n t-susbainte cùladh,

 Dheth fir blheroite gìn sgrid.
 An donus coinneamh no cùdhal,
 No eireachdas mor-shluagh,
 Gun do cheileireachd bhoidheach,
 Cha bhi sòlas na measg.

NAMHAID.

Ge be thionnsgan an aimhlig,
 'S olc an grunnd bha na eanachainn,
 'S mor a dhùisg e de dh-argaimid,
 'S de dhroch sheanachas mar ris.
 Dheilbh e misg agus daorach,
 Rinn e breisleach san t-shaoghal.
 B'fhearr nach beirte gu aois e ;
 Ach bàs na naoidheachan beag.
 Dhùisg e trioblaid a's comh-striù,
 Ruisg e biodag an dòrnbh,
 Chuir e peabar san dòmhach,
 'Nuair a thoisich a mhìsg.
 Cha chùis buinig ri leanmhuinn,
 Ach cuis guil agus falmhachd,
 Sa chaoiadh cha'n urr' thu ga sheanachas,
 Mar a dh-fhalbh do chuid leis.

A'chainnt a thuirt lain

 Is pàidheadh d'a cinn.
 Dh-fhag e Mac-Cruimein,

Note.—The poet laments the untimely death of five or six of the M'Donalds of Slaty. Sir Alexander died, a young man, in 1746; and his son, the amiable and accomplished Sir James, died at Rome in 1766, aged 25. This family prudently avoided committing themselves in the rebellion of 1745; but the bard appears to have been a thorough Jacobite.

MOLADH CHLANN-DOMHNUILL.

AIR FONN—"Oran a ghunna da' b' ainm an spàinteach."

TAPADH leat, a Dho'ill 'Ic-Fhionnlaidh,
Dhùisg thu mi le páirt de d' chomhradh.
Air bheagan eòlais sau dùthaich,
Tha cunnas gur gille còir thn.
Chuir thu do chomáine romhad,
'S fearde do ghnothach an còmhnuidh
'S cinteach gar a leat ar bàidse : -

Ar minnaithean baile, 's bu choir dhut.
Cha d'rinn thu di-chuimhn' no mearachd ;
Mhol thu gach sear is gach bg dhiubh.
Mhol thu 'n uaislean, mhol thu 'n islean.
Dh-fbag thu shios air an aon òigheadh iad.
Na bheil de 'n ealain ri chluinntinn,

Nochdadh an endaum ri gradaun
Cha robb gaiseadh anns a' phòr ud,

Ach nam faiceadh tu na fir nd

Ach an rioghalachd nuar sheòrsa.

Ach ma mhol thu ar daoin' naisle,

Aon Mhac Dhé bhi air 'na bhuachaill'
G'a ghleidheadh buan duinn 'na bheò-shlainte !
Ou 's curaidd a choisneas buaidh e,

Bhuinig iad baile 's leth Alba ;
'S e 'n claidheamh a shealbhaich coir dhaibh.
Bhuinig iad latha chatl Gairbheach,

Le loingheas lioninbor 's le seòltaibh,

'Nuair a dhùisgeadh fir na h-Iubhraich,
Co thigeadh air tùs ach Tòmas !!

Note.—There are several hills in the Highlands which still bear the name Tom-na-h-Iubhraich, all haunted by the fairies. One of them is near Strachur, Lochfyne side; another near Inverness. According to popular belief, Thomas the Rhymer was captain of the fairy troops.

EACHUNN MAC-LEOID.

EACHUNN MAC-LEOID, or HECTOR M'LEOD, the South Uist bard, lived after the year 1745, on the main land, chiefly in the districts of Arisaig and Morar. He composed and sung as he was moved by those internal powers of which the generality of men appear but little sensible. There are some individuals that appear heavy and destitute of parts, who are possessed of powers which attract the attention and merit the esteem of those who are more intimately acquainted with them: our poet was one of these. What occasioned his removal from the Long Island we know not. It is not unlikely that he was sent hither to watch and give information of what was going on in those troublesome times. He went often to Fort-William, as if doing something of no consequence, while in reality he was hearing all the news of the day, which he related to friends who durst not appear themselves. Shrewd and intelligent, he concealed those talents from strangers, to whom he seemed fooling, which character he could assume as occasion required. As he was frequently going and returning the same way, he was suspected and brought as a spy before the Governor of the Fort: on being examined and interrogated, he acquitted himself so well, under the assumed character, that he was dismissed as a fool.

Chualas co-sheirm biun, ceolmhor,

Aig coltas coileich na smèòraich,
'S maighstir mac-talla 'g a bheusadh.

An sin a chualadh mi'n cheileircachd binn,
Bu curaideich seinn, gu cuimir, 's gu luath,
Air feadan ga m'fhereagrach, gach seilan sa' bhein
Ann an eirigh na greine, sa' mhadainn di-luain.

B'e sin an ceol caoin gun tuchan, gun sgread,
Gun eislean, na stad na chliabh, no na ghob,
Bu mhilse na binneas nan teud air fad,
'Nuair ghearradh e fead air deireadh gach puirt.

'S iad sin na puirt a bha binn, mion, bras,
Socrach ri'it seinn, gun ochan, gun chnead,
Bu glan sgeimh cudaich an eoin, ge bu lag,
'San robh urrad de thilachd, na laidh air a nead.

B'annsa leam na fiodhall, a's piob,
Bhi tamull dhe m'aimsir na m'shuidh na chòir,
On aig tha na puirt as fior chanaiche rainn,
'S a's calanta seinn gun aon bhuile meoir.

Bheirinn comhairle trà air gach nighin, 's mnai,
Gach laidir, a's lag, gach beartach, a's bochd,
Iad a mholadh oid-iunnsaich an eoin, gu beachd,
Le h-inntinn cheart, gu h-an-moch, 's gu moch.

'S dh-eubhadh i "Buigheag, a's Blàrag,

Brinne a's an t-Agh-ruadh a's Càsag."

Shuigeadh i gu comhard cruinn,
'S cumain eadar a dù ghlùn,
'S ghabhadh i 'n t-òran gu binn :—
" Thoir am bainne a bho dhonn."

'Nuair thigeadh an spréidh a ris,

Lionadh iad gach uile shoitheach,
'S cha b' eagal gu'n traghadh an dì,
Ged thigeadh an sluagh san radhad,
Gheibheadh iad linntean na dibhe ;

Gu slamanach, finne-mheogach, ònach,

Muigheach, miosrach, miodrach, cuachach,
Gruthach, uachdrach, sligeach, spaineach.

Bu ruideasach gàmhnan agus laoigh,
Bu mhigeadeach meinн a's uain,

'S an fhàirge na clàr comh-reidh caoin.

'Nuair stadaimid aig a bhaile
An deighe bli sgìth 's a mhionadh,
Bhiodh duil againn ri làn glaive
A searrag Mairi Nic-Cholla.

MOLADH COILLE CHROIS.

M'IONMHUINN, m'annsachd, 's mo thlachid,

 B' fhearr dubhar nan craobh le smuaintean ceart,
 Sa' choill sin Crois.
 Ged' bhí dh tu gum 'radharc sùl gun lugh do chos,

 Aig àilleachd a lùis a's misleachd a meas,
 'S aig feabhas a blàis;
 Cha'n iarradh tu sholas nam biodh tu glic,
 Ach coille Chrois.
 Am beil ceol-cluaise san t-saogal-sa bhos,
 Cho binn 's cho bràs?
 Ri sior-bhorcadh stòir mil an eas,
 Ri taobh coill' Chrois.

MOCH madainn Chéitein ri cèò,
 'N am do'n ghréin togail bho neoil,
 Chunna' mi sealladh sa' bheir,
 'S eibhinn ri eisdeachd mo sgeoil.

Bha dearsa le teas a' eur smùid
 A bruachanan molach fraoch,
 'S bha dealradh nan gathanan blàth
 Cur sgeimh air cuirnean nam braon.

Bha dealt a' driùchdadh gu grinn,
 'N am sgàpadh do dhulachd an cheò,
 Na paidirean air an flear,
 Mar leugan fo sgéimh an óir.

Bha màghanan milteach feoir,
 Bu mheilbhеagach', dhitheanach' blà,
 Air gach taobh dhe'n uisge chruaidh,
 Bu luath mu thuath a ruith bàlbh.

Bha neonain, a's sòbhrach gu dlù,
 Creamh, agus biolair a' fàs,
 Air àileanaibh aimh-reidh, 's air lòin,
 Far 'm bu liomhloire ròs geal, a's dearg.

Bu cheolmhор, ceileireach, eoin
 Air ghriananan eireachdail ard',
 A' freagradh a chéile gu grinn,
 Cha'n fhaighe 'n cuirt righ ni b'fhearr.

Chunna' mi 'n uaigneas leis fein,
 Ag eisdeachd ri torghan nan eun,
 Air leam, de'n chruthachd bhed,
 An aon duin' òg a b'àillidh sgeimh.

O nach robh de dh-fhearaibh chaich,
 Ach e-san, a's mi-féin sa' ghleann,
 Smuaintich mí gu'n gabhainn sgeul,
 Co e na'm faighinn deth cainnt.

Thainig e gu tosdach, mall,
 Gu foighidneach, foistineach, ciuin;
 Labhair e fosgara, Reidh,
 "A ghabhail sgéil a thainig thu."

Mu 's math leat naigheachd a thoirt uaen
 Gu maithlean Alba gu leir,
 Amhaire gu geur fada bhuat,
 'S chì thu na sluaigh na'n làn fheirg.

Chunna' mi'u fhairge mar choill'
 Le crannaibh loingheis làn ard,
 Le brataichean anasach, ùr,
 Air leam gu'm b'ann as an Spainn.

Chunna' mi cabhlach ro mhòr,
 Gu gaireach gabhail gu tir,
 Bu luchdmhor, làn athaiseach iad,
 Suaicheantas Frangach na'n croinu.

Thainig na sluaigh sin gu tir,
 'S cha b'uaigneach an gluasad o thràigh,
 Bha lamhach nan canon, 's am fuaim,
 A' gluasad air chrith na'm beann ard'.

Chualadh mi coileach 's e gairm,
 'S e bualadh a sgiathan gu cruaidh,
 A's thuirt an duine math sin rium:
 "Cluinn coileach na h-Airde-tuath?"

Chunna' mi tighinn air thùs
 Stiubhartaich, cinneadh an rìgh,
 Na'm bòcanan gioraig san léirg,
 'Dhearg an aimir le fuil san stri.

Thainig Ciann-Dòmhnuill na'n deigh,
Mar chonaibh confach gun bhiadh,
Na'm beathraichean guineach, geur,
An guailean a chéile gu gniomh.

B'aluinn, dealbhach, am breid sròil
Air a cheangal ri crann caol,
An robh caisteal, bradaun, a's long,
Lamh dhearg, iolair a's craobh.

Bha fraoch os ceann sin gu h-ard'
Ceangailt' am barr a chrainn chaoil,
Bha sin ann, a's leoghaim dearg,
'S cha b'aite tearmuinu a chraos.

Thàirrneadh na sloigh air sliabh Fife,
An coinneamh ri cath a chur,
Fhuair iad brosnachadh fior mhéar,
Thug eirigh le buirbe na'm fuil :—

“ A Chlannaibh mìlidh mosgailibh,
Is soinalta, cian 'ur cadal,
Teannaibh ri dioladh Chuilodair,
Dh-ät na fiachan so fada.
Toisichibh gu h-ardanach,
Gu bras, rioghail, moralach,
Gu mear, leumnach, dearg-chneadhach,
Gu luath-lambach, treun-bhuiilleach.
Gu aigneach, innsginneach,
Gu an-athach, nàmhach,
Gu mion-chuiimelineach, dioghaltach,
Gu gruamach, fiata, an-tròcaireach.
Gun tearmunn, gun mhathanas,
Gun ath-thruas, gun bhnígeachas,
Gun innidh, gun eagal,
Gun umhail, gun fhraigil.
Gun fhiamh, gun an-mhisneich,
Gun chùram, gun ghealtachd,
Gun taise, gun fhaiteachas,
Gun saidealtachd, gun uamhanu.
Gun eiseamail, gun ùmhlaichd,
Gun athadh do nàmhaid
Ach a gabhail romhaibh thoirt iubhair
A' cosuadh na cath-laraich.”

Chunnaic mi air leath o chàch
Trì leoghainn a b'fhar-suinne craois
Thug iad trì sgairtean cho ard'
'S gu'n sgain creagan aig mead an glaodh.

Bha leoghann diu sin air chreig ghuirm,
Dha'm b'ainm Iain Muideartach òg,
O'n Chaisteal thiream, 's o Bhòrgh,
Deshliochd nan Collaidd bu bhorb colg.

Thog sean leoghann luath a cheann,
'S a chas rioghail an Duntuilm,
Dh'a'm bu shean eireachdas rianh,
Buaidh nan sliabh an càs a chrùinn,

Thainig an treas leoghann diù
O'n choill', 's o ghabaidh nam bàrc,
A's dh'ordaich iad pairt dhe'n cuid sluaigh
Dhol a thiolaiceadh nam marbh.

Labbairt.—San an sin a thagh iad oifigich an-diadhaidh, an-trocaireach, an-aobhach, an-athach, an-iochdhmhor. Agus thagh iad cuid-eachd de bhorb, bhoroghach, bhodach, dha'm b'airm chosanta spaidean, agus sluasaidean, gu tiolacadh nam marbh, agus gu glanadh na
h-àraich. Aonghas amharrá á Eigneag—Calum croisda á Gruluinn—Eoghann Iargalta á Cràsa-
bhaig—Dughall Ballach á Gallabaidh—Niall
Eangharra á Raimisgearaidh—agus Domhnall
Durragha á Gearas.

Chunna' mì Gleann soleir nam,
An robh eireachdas thar gach gliun,
B'airde cheileirich', cheolinhoir' fuaim,
Glaodhaich nan cuach os a chinn.

Theid fargradh feedh Bhreatuinn gu léir ;
Eirigh gu feachd fir gu leoir,
Chi sibh na Gàidhil a' triall
Le rioghalachd mar bu còir.

Note.—The poet was a stanch Jacobite. In this Ode he describes what he and many others in his day most earnestly desired, and to which they eagerly looked, notwithstanding what they suffered at, and after the battle of Culloden. The bard gives full scope to his imagination; poetically describing scenes which his active fancy draws before him. It was not safe, in his time, to express the real sentiments entertained on a subject so near and dear to the heart, and so full of danger to all concerned. He therefore makes use of the style and metaphors adopted, that the poem might be intelligible to those alone who contemplated the dark events of futurity.

GILLEASPUIG NA CIOTAIG;

OR,

ARCHIBALD M'DONALD, THE UIST COMIC BARD.

We know little more of this distinguished poet than the following songs contain, one of which was composed to the chief of the clan Cameron, who resided on his estate in Lochaber, when the poet visited that country. Having met with great kindness from the chief, the poet made the only return he could have made, and which was considered no small requittance in those days—he sung his praise. It was a tribute of gratitude. Another was composed to ridicule a vain young man; who, it is still believed, had a better right to the property of Lovat than the person who succeeded to it; but being guilty of murder, was obliged to fly the country. He used to appear in a dress which, in his estimation, completed the gentleman; but in the eyes of others made him ridiculous. Happening to be at a wedding in his full dress, with his hanger, or dirk, dangling at his side in the dance, and buckled shoes, the piper imprudently played the tune “Tha biodag air mac Thòmais,”—a satire composed by our bard to the identical man. He, incensed, drew his dirk, which all supposed he would sheathe in the bag of the piper, but, in his fury, mortally wounded him. He escaped to America, and durst not appear to claim the estate. His other poems remind us of similar pieces by Burns. Men of genius have similar ideas, and make use of the same means to expose such as they observe laying themselves open to ridicule.

* * We omit the poem in praise of Lochiel, as inferior to the bard's humorous pieces. It is in “Stewart's Collection,” page 103.

MARBHRANN DO DH' IAIN RUADH PIOBAIR.

FNUAIR mi sgeula bho'n ghobha,
Cha'n aobhar meoghail, ach gruaim,
E-fein fo mhi-ghean, 's fo thrioblaid,
Ri iarunn cist' do dh' Iain Ruadh.*
Saoir a' locaradh, 'sa' sàbhadh,
'S a chulaidh bhàis 'ga cuir suas,
Samhach cadal na corra,
Cha chluinnear tuilleadh a fuaim.

Chaidh na maidean á òrdugh,
Cha'n aithne dhomhli-s an cuir suas,
Tha'n gaothair air stòpadh,
Tha'n dà dhös na'n trom-shuain.

Chaill an seannsair a chlaisteachd,
Tha'n gleus air a ghrad leigeadh suas,
O'n tric a thainig ceòl taitneach,
Ragha caimseachd mo chluais.
Ceol bu bhlasd' a's bu bhinne,
'Dhùsgadh spiorad do'n t-sluagh,
Ceol bu tartarach' siubhal,
Thionndadh tioma gu crudas:
Ceol mar smèòrach a għlinne,
Ceol a's binne na cnach;
Meoir gun bhraise, gun għiordan,
Dian ruith-leumnach, luath.

Bu sgiolta sealladh do sheannsair,
Air port, 's air crunn-luath, 's air cuairt,
Pronnadh cnaparra, lùghmhor,
Caismeachd shunntach 'san ruaig:

* John M'Quithen, a piper in South Uist. He was a great companion and favourite of the bard. This elegy was composed while the piper was living.

Dheanadh gaisgeach de'n sgìùraich,
Chuireadh diùn-laoch na luaths,
Claidhean glasa 'gan rùsgadh,
Claignean brùit' aig luchd fuath.

'S iomadh aon tha ga' iundrain,
O'n chaidh ùir ort san uaigh ;—
An toiseach labhair an spliùcan,
Bhiodh tu giùlan gach uair.
" Tha mi fèin gun tombaca,
Cha b'e cleachdadhbh a fhuair,
'S tric chuir Iain fo m'aistre,
Greim, a's cairteal, a's cuach."

Thuirt a ghloin' a bha'n Asdain,
" Mo sgeul craiteach, ro chruaidh !
Dh-fhalbh mo shùgradh, 's mo mhàran,
Thug am bàs leis Iain Ruadh ;
Fear a chluicheadh a chlàrsach,
Dheanadh dàin, agus duan,
Cha b'e Caluinn a chràmpaidh
Fonn a b'fhearr leis 'g a luaidh."

Thuirt am pigidi bha lanh ris,—
" Faigh an t-àrca gu luath,
Cuir am chlaigeann-sa spàirt e,
Tha tart 's gach àite mu'n cuairt.
Thainig con-tràigh na plighe,
Tha nithe gnàthaichte bhuainn,
Cha bhi reothart gu bràth ann,
'S ann a thràigheas an euan."

Thuirt am buideal, 's am botal,
Thuirt an gòc ris an stòp,
Thuirt an copan, 's an t-slige ;
" S mor an sgrios th'air tigh'n oiru.
Tha gach sruth air a dhùnadhbh,
Bha eur a dh-ionnsaiddh nan lòn,
Clia'n fhaighear drap air an ùrlar,
A fhliuchas brù Dhòmlinnuill big."

O'n dh-fhalbh an còmpanach sàr-mbath,
Dh-fhalbh an ràbbart, 's an spòrs,
Dh-fhalbh beannachd na cloinne,
'S e sheinneadh an ceòl.
Nis o rinneadh do chàradh
'N ciste chlàraich nam bòrd,
'S mor as mist iad am Phàro,
Gun fhear do ghuàis a bhi beò.

Dh-fhalbh an deagh ghille cuideachd,
Nach robh sgrubail san bsd' ;
Dh-fhalbh fear tràghadh nan searrag,
Chosgadh barrachd thar stòp.
Dh-fhalbh fear dcanadh nan duanag
Leis an luichté gach clò,
Cha b'e ghnàs a bhi gearan,
Gc h-ioma gain' thug dha pòg.

'S beag mo shunnt ri lath fóille,
'S beag mo speis dheth gach ceòl,
'S beag mo thlachd dhe bhi 'g eisteachd,
Gaoir theud thir nan cròc.
Learn a b'annsa do bhruidhean,
'N àm suidhe mu bhòrd,
Na droch dhreòchdan air fidhill.
Mar fhuaim suithe an lòin.

Bha thu d' dhamhisair air ûrlar,
Bha thu siubhlach air suàmh ;
Bha thu d' chairiche lùghmhor,
Cha bhiodh tu d' luireich fo chàch.
Urram leum, agus ruithe,
Glac threun a ruitheadh an ràmh,
'San àm caitheadh na cloiche,
Bu leat an toiseach air cùch.

Thoir mo shoraidh-sa tharaïs,
Dh-ionnsuidh 'u fhearinnd ud thall ;
O nach faod mi bhi mar ribh,
'S leibh mo bheannachd san àm.
Biodh an uaigh air a treachladh,
Anu am fasau nach gann ;
Buideal rùm aig a chasan,
'S rol toombac aig a cheann.

AISEIRIGH IAIN RUAIDH.

Note.—Dr M'Leod, the subject of this song, was a native of St. Kilda. He was some time abroad as surgeon to a Highland regiment, and on his return home he used to go about in his full uniform, in which the poet thought he made rather an odd figure.

Cha robh othail chòir oirre !*

THAINIG fear a staigh ga'm ghriobadh,
Dh-innse gu'n tainig am pigidh,
Phuaras botul lionadh slige,
Bu bhinn glig a's crònan.

A bhanais, &c.

Thainig fear a nuas le mi-mhodh,
Gu e-féin a chuir an ire,
Thibisich e air bleith nan lìmean,
Gu mi-flìn a sgròbadh.

A bhanais, &c.

Ach labhair mise gu fiadhaich :—
“ Mas e mi-stath tha thu 'g iarrайдh,
Gur dòcha gu'n euir mi'n fhiacail,
Air iochdar do sgòrnain ! ”

A bhanais, &c.

Smaointich mi eiridh 'n-am sheasamh,
On bu ghùl leam a bhì 'g eadradh,
Ole na dheigh gu'u d'rinn mi ' leagadh,
'S bhual mi breah san tòin air.

A bhanais, &c.

'Nuair a chaidh na fir gu riastadh,
Gu'n robh ceathrar dhìu sa ghriosaich ;
Am fear bu laige bha e'n iochdar,
'S thug iad mìrean beò as.

A bhanais, &c.

'Nuair a thoisich iad air buillean,
Cha robh mi-flìn a' cur cuir dhiom,
Gus na mhùigh iad air mo mhuinneal,
'S air duileasg mo shròine.

A bhanais, &c.

An sin 'nuair a dh' eirich an trioblaid,
Thainig iad far an robh mise,
Thog iad mi mach thun na sítig',
Theab gu'n ithte bed mi.

A bhanais, &c.

Thug iad a mach thun nan raoíntean,
Mar gun reachadh cù ri caoírich,
'S am fear nach do sgròb iad aodann,
Bha aodach ga shròiceadh.

A bhanais, &c.

'Nuair thoisich iad air a chéile,
Stràdadh na fal' anns na speuran ;
Bha 'mis' an àite gan éisdeachd,
'S gun b' éibhinn an spòrs iad.

A bhanais, &c.

Bhuail iad air a chéile chnagadh,
Leig iad air a chéile shàdadh,
Shìn iad air aithris na braide,
'S air cagnadh nan òrdag.

A bhanais, &c.

Fear ri caoineadh, fear ri aighear,
Fear na sheasamh, fear na laidhe,
F'ear a pògadh bean-an-taighe,
Fear a gabhail òrain !

A bhanais, &c.

Cha robh ann ach beagan dibhe,
Leig iad a dh-iunnsaidh an cridhe,
Bha fear a's fear aca rithist,
Gun bhruidhinn gun chòinhradh.

A bhanais, &c.

Sin 'nuair a labhair am fidhleir :—
“ Chuir sibh mo phuirt feadh na fidhle ;
'S mis am fear gu'n tig an dìlinn,
Nach toir sgròb air ceòl duibh.”

A bhanais, &c.

DUGHALL BOCHANNAN.

DUGALD BUCHANAN was born in the parish of Balquidder, Perthshire, in the year 1716. His father was a small farmer, who also rented a mill. His mother was an excellent and pious woman ; but, unfortunately for him, she died when he was only six years old. His father gave him such education as he could afford ; and that appears to have been more than was commonly taught at country schools at that time. When he was only twelve years of age, he was sent to teach in another family, where he did not improve in his morals, as he learned to curse and swear. When he was farther advanced in life, he became loose and immoral, associating with bad company, and apparently regardless of the pious example that had been set before him by his mother. When he grew up, he was apprenticed to a house-carpenter in Kippen, where he did not continue long, till he removed to Dumbarton. Here he continued the same course of profane and sinful practice that afterwards caused him much trouble and remorse of conscience during many years, until he at last obtained peace with God, and became a sincere and eminent Christian. He does not appear to have settled long in any place, till the "Society for Propagating Christian Knowledge" appointed him schoolmaster and catechist at Kenloch Ranoch, in the year 1755. In this remote place he laboured with great pains and diligence in his calling during the remainder of his days ; and here he composed those hymns which will render his name as lasting as the language in which they are written. Besides the hymns, he wrote a diary, which was published in the year 1836, with a memoir of the author prefixed. From this memoir we shall copy a short abstract of his labours and diligence at Kenloch Ranoch. Although he was not a regular licentiate, he acted as a kind of missionary ; and exhorted, preached, catechised, and reproved, till he wrought a great reformation on the people in that district :—“Ranoch is an extensive district, in the parish of Fortingall. It is situated at a great distance from the church, and the clergyman visited it at long intervals. The people, therefore, instead of assembling on Sabbath to worship God, generally met to play at foot-ball. Moved with zeal for the glory of God, and grieved at the sins he witnessed, he zealously set about reforming the people, by convincing them of the sinfulness of their ways. Finding it impossible to bring them together for prayer or exhortation, he would follow them to the scene of their sinful amusements, and there reason with them about death and judgment to come. By the great and disinterested anxiety he manifested for their spiritual welfare, some of them were brought to a better observance of the Sabbath, by uniting with him in the worship of God. The impression made on the minds of those who came to hear him was such, that they persuaded their friends and neighbours to come also, which gradually drew a more numerous attendance. His piety and excellence of character becoming now generally known, the numbers who flocked from all parts to hear him were so great, that the house in which they had hitherto met was insufficient to contain them: he therefore adjourned with the people to a rising ground on the banks of the Ranoch. Nor was he attended by those only among whom he lived, but by many from other remote parts, who were attracted by the fame of his piety. In addressing the people, his meek and gentle spirit led him to dwell most on the loftier motives—the more tender appeals with which the gospel abounds; but, to stubborn and determinate sinners, he was severe in discipline, encountering them with the terrors of the Lord, that he might win them to Christ."

It is said that Buchanan assisted Mr Stewart of Killin in translating the New Testament into the Scottish Gaelic, and that he corrected the work while passing through the press at Edinburgh, in the year 1766. During his stay there he availed himself of the opportunity of attending the classes for Natural Philosophy, Anatomy, Astronomy, &c., which made a great impression upon his mind, and gave him more extensive views of the omnipotence and wisdom of the Divinity. He was, during either of these years, introduced to the celebrated David Hume the historian, who, having been informed of his excellent character, received him with great affability, and entered very familiarly into conversation with him on various topics.

While discussing the merits of some authors, Mr Hume observed that it was impossible to imagine any thing more sublime than the following lines which he repeated:—

“ The cloud-capt towers, the gorgeous palaces,
The solemn temples, the great globe itself,
Yea, all which it inherits shall dissolve,
And like the baseless fabric of a vision—
Leave not a wreck behind.”

Buchanan at once admitted the beauty and sublimity of the lines, but said that he had a book at home from which he could produce a passage still more sublime, and repeated the following verses:—“ And I saw a great white throne, and him that sat on it, from whose face the earth and the heaven fled away; and there was found no place for them. And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God: and the books were opened; and another book was opened, which is the book of life: and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books, according to their works. And the sea gave up the dead which were in it; and death and hell delivered up the dead which were in them: and they were judged every man according to their works.”*

He published his “Hymns” about the year 1767. The demand for this little work has continued since, and every year adds to its popularity—a sure proof of its merit. There have been at least fifteen editions of it printed; while of the works of the celebrated bards, Macdonald and Macintyre, there have been only four editions.

Our author continued his useful and pious labours at Ranoch till his death, which happened on the second of June, 1768, when he was seized with fever, which carried him off in the fifty-second year of his age. During his illness he was frequently delirious, and in that state would sing of the “Lamb in the midst of the throne.” In his lucid intervals he expressed his full hope in the resurrection of the just, and his desire to depart and be with Christ. The people of Ranoch wished his remains to be buried among them, but his relations carried the body away to their own country, and he was buried in the burying-ground of the Buchanans at Little Lenny, near Callander. In his person he was considerably above the middle size, and rather of a dark complexion, but upon a close inspection his countenance beamed affection and benevolence. Among his intimate acquaintance he was affable, free, jocular and social, and possessed much interesting information and innocent anecdotes, in consequence of which his company was much sought after by all the families in the country. In his dress he was plain and simple, wearing a blue bonnet and a black dress, over which he generally wore a blue great-coat. After his death his widow removed to Ardoch, where she remained till the time of her death. He left two sons and two daughters: one of the latter was alive in 1836.

As a poet, Buchanan ranks in the highest class. Endowed with great power of imagination, and full of moral and religious enthusiasm, his poetry is at once fervid, lofty, and animated; and invariably calculated to promote the cause of religion and virtue. Those distinguishing qualities have rendered him the most popular poet in the language; and we may safely assert, that his popularity will endure as long as the language in which he has written is understood.

“The Day of Judgment” is the most popular poem in the language. It displays great force of imagination, and fixes the mind on the sublime and awful scenes of a world brought to an end, amidst the wreck of elements, and the assemblage of the whole human race to judgment.

“The Scull” is full of good poetry, with appropriate reflections on the vanity of mortal enjoyments. It shows the fierce tyrant and the lowly slave—the haughty chief and the humble tenant—the mighty warrior and the blooming virgin—the mercenary judge and the grasping miser—all reduced to one level, the grave; to feed the lowly worm and the crawling beetle.

“The Dream” contains useful lessons on the vanity of human pursuits, and the unsatisfactory rewards of ambition. The following lines ought to be remembered by every one who envies greatness:—

“ Cha 'n 'eil neach o thrioblaid saor,
A' measg a' chinne-daonn' air fad
'S co liomhor osna aig an rìgh,
Is aig a neach is isle staid.”

“The Winter” begins with a vivid description of the effects of that season, and the preparation of men and animals to provide food and shelter. The poet then draws a comparison between the winter and the decline of human life, warning the old man to prepare for his future state, as the husbandman prepares food and fuel for winter—to imitate the prudent foresight of the ant and the bee, and not the idle and improvident fly, dancing joyously in the sunbeams till he perishes by the winter's frost. This excellent poem is deservedly admired as one of the finest specimens of didactic poetry in the Gaelic language.

AM feadh 'ta chuid is mo de'n t-saogh'l
 Gu'n ghaol do Chriosd, gu'n sgionn d'a reachd,
 Gu'n chreideamb ac' gu'n tig e ris,
 'Thoirt breith na firinn air gach neach.

An cadal peacaidh 'ta'd nan suain,
 A' bruadar pailteas de gach nì :
 Gu'n umhail ac'n' uair thig am bàs,
 Nach meal iad Pàrras o'n àrd Righ.

Le cumbachd t-fhacail Dhé tog suas,
 An sluagh chum aithreachais na thrà,
 Is beannaich an Dàn so do gach neach,
 Bheir seachad éisteachd dha le gràdh.

Mo smuaintean talmhaidh Dhé tog suas,
 'S mo theanga fuasgail ann mo bheul ;
 A chum gu'n labhraim mar bu chòir,
 Mu ghloir 's mu uamhunn latha Dhé.

 Air aomadh tharais ann an suain ;
 Grad dhùisgear suas an cinne-daoin',
 Le gaoth na trompaid 's airde fuaim.

Air neul ro aird ni fhoillseach' fén,
 Ard aingeal treun le trompaid mhoir ;
 Is gairmidh air an t-saogh'l gu léir,
 Iad a ghrad éiridh chum a mhòid :—

" O cluinnibhs uile chlann nan daoin,
 Nis thainig ceann an t-saogh'l gu beachd ;
 Leumaibh 'nar beatha sibhs 'ta marbh,
 Oir nis gu dearbh 'ta Ios' air teachd."

Is seididh e le sgal cho chruaidh,

 Grad chlisgidh na bhios marbh 'san uaigh,
 Is na bhios beo le h-uamhunn crith.

Le osaig dhoinionnaich a bheil,
 An saogh'l so reubaidh e gu garg,
 'S mar dhùn an t-seangain dol 'na ghluaís,
 Grad bhrùchdaidh 'n uaigh a nios a mairbh.

'N sin cruinnichidh gas cas in lamh,
 Chaidh chur san àraich fad o chéil ;
 'S bidh farum mor a measg nan cnàmh,
 Gach aon diu' dol 'na h-ite fein.

Mosglaidh na fireanaich an tùs,
 Is dùisgear iad gu leir o'n suain,
 An anamaibh turlingidh o ghloir,
 Ga'n còmh-lachadh aig beul na h-uaigh.

Le eòbhneas togaidh iad an ceann,
 'Ta àm am fuasglaidh orra dlù ;
 Is mar chraobh-mheas fo iomlan blàth,
 Tha dreach an Slànuisfeir 'nan gnùis :

Tha obair Spiorad naomh nan gràs
 Air glanadh 'n nàduir o'n taobh steach ;
 'S mar thrusgan glan 'ta ùmlachd Chriosd,
 Ga'n deanamh sgàmhach o'n taobh 'mach.

Dùisgear na h-aingidh suas 'n an déigh,
 Mar bléisdibh gairisueach as an t-slochd ;
 'S o ifrinn thig an anama truagh ;
 Thoirt coinneamh uambasach da'n corp.

 " Mo chlaoih ! ciod uim' an d'éirich thu
 Thoirt peanas dùbailt oirn le chéil ?

" O ! 'n eigin dòmhσa dol aris,
 Am priosan neo-ghlan steach a'd' chré ?
 Mo thruaghe mi, gu'n d'aontaich riamh,
 Le t-anamianna brùeil fén !

" O'm faigh mi dealach' riut gu bràth !
 No'n tig am bàs am feasd a'd' chòir !
 'N drìagh teine air do chnaimhean iarin !
 No dibh-fheirg Dhé an struidh i t-sheòil !"

Eiridh na rìghrean 'e daoine mòr,
 Gun smachd gun òrdugh ann nan làimh ;
 'S cha'n aithn'ear iad a measg an t-sluaidh,
 O'n duine thruagh bha ac' na thràill.

'S na daoine uaibhreach leis nach b' fhiù,
Gu 'n ùmhlaicheadh iad féin do Dhia ;
O faic anis iad air an glùn' ;
A' deanamh ùrnuigh ris gach sliabh :—

" O chreagan tuitibh air ar ceann,
Le sgàirneich ghairbh de chlachan cruaidh,
Is sgriosaih sinn á tir nam beò,
A chum's nach faic sinn glòir an Uain."'

A mach ás uamhaidh gabhaidh 'thriall

Is foillsichear am Breitheamh mòr,
Le glòir is greadhnuachas gun chrìch.

Tha 'm bogha-frois mu'n cuairt da cheann,
'S mar thuil nan gleann tha fuaim a ghuth ;

Is sgaolaidh 'n tuil' ud air gach taobh,
A' cur an t-saogh'l na lasair dhcraig.

Leaghaidh na Dùile 'nuas le teas,
Ceart mar a leagbas teine céir ;
Na cnuic 's na sléibhte lasaidh suas,
'S bidh teas-ghoil air a' chuan gu léir.

Na beanntan iargalt nach tug seach,
An stòras riamhl de neach d'an deòin,
Ta iad gu fialaidh taosgadh 'mach,
An iònmhais leaght' mar abhainn mhòir.

Gach neach bha sgriobadh cruinn an dir,
Le sannt, le dò-bheirt, no le fuli ;
Làn chaisgibh 'nis 'ur 'n iota mòr,

O sibhse rinn 'ur bun do'u t-saogh'l,
Nach tig sibh 's caoinibh e gu geur,
'N uair tha e 'gleacadh ris a bhàis,
Mar dhnine lidir dol do'n eug.

A chuisle chleachidh bhi fallain fuar,

O Iudas thig a nis a lathair,
'S gach neach rinn bràithreas riut a'd ghniomh,
Añ dream a dh'aicheadh creideamh Chriosd,
Na reic e air son ni nach b'fhiach.

A shluagh gun cbiall thug miann do'n òr,
Roinmh ghloir is eibhneas flaitheas Dé,
'Ur malairt ghòrach faicibh nis,
'S an sgríos a thug sibh oirbh féin.

'S a mhuiuntir naibhreach leis 'm bu nàr,
Gu 'n cluinnite cr'bhadh dhù 'n'ur teach ;
Faicibh a ghìobh 's na b' ioghnadh leibh,
Ged dhruid e sibh á riogh'chd anach.

O Herod faic a nis an Rìgh,
D' an tug thu spid is masladh mor,
Ga sgeadachadh le trusgan ruadh,
Mar shuainéas sgallais air a ghloir.

Nach faic thu Breitheamh an t-saoghal gu léir,
'S mar eudach uime 'n lasair dhéarg ;
A' teachd thoirt duais do dhaoine còir,
'S a sgríos luchd dò-bheit ann am feirg.

Is thusa Philit tog do shuil,
'S gu'm faic thu nis' a mùthadh mòr ;
An creid thu gur h-e sud an Tì
A rinn thu dhiteadh air do mhòd ?

An creid thu gur e-sud an ceann,
Mun d' iath gu teann an sgitheach geur,
Na idir gur i sud a ghnùis,
Air na thilg na h-lùdhachil sile breun !

'M bu leor gu'n theich a glorian air chùl,
A' dùltagh fiannis thoirt do'n gniomh ?
Ciod uim' nach d'fhuair a chruiteachd bàs,
'N udair chéusadh air a chraon a TRIATH ?

Cuiridh e aingle 'mach gach taobh,
Chum ceithir ghaothaibh 'n domhain mliòir,
A chuaireachadh gach aon do'n t-sluagh,
A steach gu luath a dh'ionnsuidh 'mhùid.

Gach neach a dh' àitich coluinn riainh,
O'n ear 's o'n iar tha nise' teachd,
Mar sgoath de bheachaibh tigh'n mu ghléig,
An déidh dhaibh eiridh 'mach o'n sgeap.

'N sin togaidh aingeal glormhor suas,
Ard bhratach Chriosd da'n suaich'neas fuil ;
A chruinneachadh na għluais sa choir,
'S da fħulangas rinn d'īgħi a's bun.

Do m'ionnsuidh cruinnichibh mo naoimh,
Is tionailibh gach aon de'n dream,
A rinnu gu dileas is gu dlù,
Le creideamh 's ümlachid ceangal leam.

'N sin tionsgnaidh 'm Breith' air cùis an là,
A chum a nħimhde chur fo blħnu,
Is fosglaidh e leabhaichean suas,
Far am beil peacadh 'n t-sluagh air chuimhn' :

Fosglaidh e 'n cridhe mar an ceudn',
Air dhoigh 's gur léir de'n h-uile neach,
Gach uamharrachd bha gabhail tàmh,
Air feadh an àrois ud a steach :

'N uair chi' an sealladh so dhiubh féin,
Is dearbh gur léir dhaibh ceartas Dhia ;
'S bidh 'n gruaibh a leaghadh as le nàir
Nach lugha cràdh na teine dian.

Togaidh an trompaid 'ris a fuaim,
" Na labbradh a's na gluaiseadh neach ;"
Air chor gu'n cluinn gach beag a's mòr,
A bhreith thig air gach se'rs' amach.

" A dhaoine sanitach thréig a chòir,
'S a leag 'ur dòchas an 'ur toic,
A ghais gu teamm 'ur cridhle suas,
'S a dhruid 'ur cluas ri glaodh nam bochd.

" An lomnocht cha do dhion o'n fhàochd,
'S do'n acrach thruagh cha d'thug sibh biadhl,
Ged lion mi féin 'ur cisd' de lòn,
'S 'ur treuda' chur a'mòd gach bliadhna'.

" Ni bheil sibh iomchuidh air mo riogh'chd,
As eugmhais firinn, iochd, a's graidh ;
'S o reub sibh m' ionhaidh dhibh gu léir,
Agraibh sibh féin 'nar sgríos gu bràth.

* * * * *

" A nathraiche millteach 's oillteil greamh,
Cha binn leam ecol 'ur sranntaich àrd,
'S cha 'n éisd o'r teangaidh ghoblilaich cliù,
Le driùchd a phuinnsean air a bàrr.

" Is sibhs' thug fuath da m' òrduigh naomh,
Is leis nach b'ionmuinn caomh mo theach ;
Leis 'm bu bhliadhna snidhe mair,
Am àros tabhairt cluais do m' reachd.

“ Cionnas a mhealas sibh gu bràth,
A’ in’ sheirbhis sàbaid shiorruidh bhnuan
Na ciomas bheir ’ur n-anam gràdh,
De’n ni da’n tug ’ur nàdùr fuath ?

“ Luchd mi-rnin agus farmaid mhèir
Da’n doruinn iomlan sonas chàich,
Le doilghios genr a’ enàmh ’ur crì,
Mu aon neach oirbh féin bheir barr.

“ Cia mar a dh-fheudas sibh gu bràth,
Làn shonas àiteach ann an glòir ;
Far am faic sibhse mìlte dream,
Ga’n ardach’ os bhur ceann gu mòr ?

“ Am fad ’s bu léir dhuibh feadh mo riogh’chd,
Neach b’ àirde inbhe na sibh féin ;
Nach sadadh mi-run ’s farmad cùirt,
Tein’ ifrinu duibh a’m flaitheas Dé ?

“ Is sibhs’ an slighe na neo-ghloin għluais,
’S gu sħuraġt’ thruaill an leaba phoċd ;
Gach neach a thug do m’ naomhachd fuath,
Ga’u tabhaibh suas gu toil na feol.

“ Mar b’ ionmhuinn leibh bhi losgadh ’n teas,
’Ur n-uabhair, dheasaich mi dhuibh fearg,
Leaba dearg theth ’san laidh sibh sìos,
Am brachaibh-lìn de lasair dheirg.

“ Ged bheirinn sibh gu rioghachd mo ghlobir,
Mar mhucan steach gu seòmar righ ;
’Ur nàdùr neogħlan bhiodh ga chràdl,
Le’r miannaibh bàsachadh chion bìdh.

“ Gach neach tha ionchuidh air mo riogh’chd,
Teannaibh sibhse chum mo dheis,
Is cruinnichibh seachad chum mo chlì,
A chrònach o na crannaibh meas.”

‘N sin tearbainidh e chum gach taobh,
Na caoraich o na gobhraibh lom ;
Ceart mar n’im buachaille an tréud,
‘N uair chuairtaicheas e spréidh air tom.

‘N sin labhraidh e ri luchd a dheis,
“ Sibhse ta deasachte le m’ għräs,
Thigibhse, sealbhaichibh an rioghachd,
Nach faic a sonas crìoch gu hràth.

“ Spealg mise ’n geat’ blia oirbhse dùinnit,
Le m’ ùmhlaħcd ’s m’ fħulaugas ro-ghéru ;
’S dh-fhoscail au t-sleah gu farsuinn suas,
Am leith-taobh dorus nuadha dhuibh féin.

“ Chum craibh na beath’ ta ’m Pàrrais Dé,
Le h-éibhneas teannaibh steach da còir ;
’S a fearta iongantach gu léir,
Dearbhadh ’ur n-uile chrénchd ’s bhur leòn.

“ An claidhe ruisgte bha laist ga dion,
O laimh ’ur sinnir Adhamh ’s Eubh,
Rinn mise truaill dhe m’ chridhe dhà,
’S a lasair bhàth mi le m’ fħuil féin.

“ Fo dosraich ûrair suidhibh sios,
Nach searg ’s nach cròn am feasd a blàth ;
’S mar sineoraichean a measg a geng,
Chum molaidh gléusaibh binn bhur càil.

“ Le ’maise sħasaichibh ’ur sùil,
Is oirbh fo sgàil cha drùigh an teas,
O ’duilleach cùraidh ḥlaibh slàint ;
Is bith’bh neo-bhàsmhor le a meas.

“ Gach uile mheas tha ’m Pàrrais Dé,
Ta nis gu leir neo-thoirmisg’ dhuibh ;
Ithibh gun eagħ o għażiex għeġi,
A nathair nimh cha téum a chaoidh.

“ A’s uile mħiann ’ur n-anma fèin,
Lan shħasaichibh gu léir ’an Dia,
Tobor na firinn, iochd, a’s graidh,
A mħaireas làn gu cian na ’n cian.

“ Mòr-innleachd iongħantach na slàint,
Sior rannsaichibh air aird ’s air leud,
’S feadh oħbirche mo rioghachd mhōr,
’Ur n-eħolas ciocrach cuiribh’ meud.

“ Ur n-eħibhneas, mais’ ’ur tuigs’, ’s ’ur gràdh,
Bittheadh gu siorruidh fàs ni ’s mò ;
’S cha choinnich sibh aon ni gu bràth,
Bheir air ’ur n-anain cràdh no leðn.

“ Cha ’n fhaca sùil, ’s cha chuala cluas,
Na thaħsg mi suas de shonas duibh,
Imiċibh, ’s biodh ’ur dearbhachd féin,
Sior-innse sgħel duibh air a chaoidh.”

Ach ris a mħuinnit th’air a chlì,
O ! labhraidh e ’na dħiogħi l’as cruaidh,
“ A chuideachd nach d’thug gràdh do Dħia,
A chum an diabhuil siubħlaibh uam.

“ S mo mhallachd maille ribh gu bràth,
A chum ’ur cràdh ’s ’ur cur gu pian,
Għuaisibhse chum an teine mhàir,
Ga’r røsdadh ann gu cian nan cian.”

Mar sgàin an tħalamh a’s a cheil,
‘N uair gabh e teagħlach Chħarrach steach,
Ceart laimh riu fosgħalidh ’n uaigh a beul,
’S i miannauaich air sou a creich.

Is mar a shluig ’mhuc-mħara mhàr,
Iònax ’n uair chaidh ’thilgeadli ’mach,
Ni slugan dubħ an dara báis,
A charbad iathadh umpa steach.

San uamhaidh taobhaidh iad ri chéil,
A ghluais nam beatlh' gu h-éucorach ;
Luchd mhionn a's mort a's fianuis-bhréig ;
Luchd misg a's reubainn 's adhaltrais.

Mar chualaig dhris an ceangal teanu,
An slabhraidh tha gach dream leo fén ;
'S an commun chleachd bhi 'n caidreamh dlù,
Mar bhioran rùisgte dol nan crè.

Mar leoghan garg fo' chuibreach cruaidh,
Le thoscaibh reubadh suas a ghlaib ;
An slabhraidh cagnaidh iad gu dian,
'S gu bràth cha ghéarr am fiaclan phrais.

Bidh iad gu siorruidh 'n glacaibh 'bhais,
'S an cridh' ga fhàsgadh asd' le bròn,
Ceangailt air cuan de phronnusg laisd'
'S a dheatach uaine tachd an sròn.

Mar bhàirneach fuaighte ris an sgeir,
Tha iad air creagaibh goileach teanu ;
Is dibh-fheirg Dhé a' seideadh 'chuain,
Na thounaibh buaireis thar an ceann.

'N tra dhùineas cadal cruaidh an sùil,
Teas feirg 's an-dochas dùisgidh iad ;
A chnuimh nach bàsaich 's eibhlé bed,
A' cur an dòruinn shiorruidh 'meud.

Air ifrinne 'n uair a gheibh iad sealbh,
S làn-dearbhabh co gu'n toir iad cùs,
Faodaidh sinn pàirt d'au gearan truagh,
Chuir anns na briathraibh cruaidh so sios.

" O staidh na neo-ni 'n robh mi 'm thàmh,
Ciod uime dh-àrdach Dia mo ceann !
Mo mhile mallachd aig an là,
'N do gabh mo inbhathair mi' na broin.

" Ciod uime fhuair mi tuigse riamh ?
No ciall a's reusan chum mo stiur ?
Ciod uim' nach d'rinn thu cuileag dhiom ?
Na durrag dhìbhidh ann sau ùir ?

" Am mair mi 'n so gu saogh'l nan saogh'l !
'N tig crioch no caochadh orm gu brath,
Am beil mi nis san t-siorr'achd bluan,
A' suàmh a' chuain a ta gun tràigh !

" Ged àireamh uile resulta nèimh,
Gach féur a's duilleach riamh a dh-flàs,
Mar' ris gach braon a ta sa' chuan,
'S gach gainearmh chuaictheas an tràigh.

" Ged chuiream mìle bliadhna seach,
As leith gach aon diubb sud gu léir,
Cha d'imich seach de'n t-siorr'achd mhàir,
Ach mar gu 'n tòisicheadh i 'n dé.

" Ach O ! 'n do theirig tiòcair Dhia !
'S an piani e mi gu saogh'l nan saogh'l !
Mo shlabhraidh 'n lasaich e gu bràth !
No glas mo làmh an dean e sgaoil !

" 'M bi 'm beul a dh-ordaich Dia chum seinn,
Air feadh gach linn a chliù gun sgios,
Mar bhagal an-séididh fadadh suas,
Na lasraich uain' 'an ifrinn shios !

" Ged chaidh mo thruaighe thar mo neart,
Gu deimhinn fén a's ceart mo bhiun ;
Ach e'fhada bhios mi 'n so ga m' chruadh,
Mu'm bi do cheartas sàitheach dhiom !

" No 'm bi thu diò'lte dhiom gu bràth,
'N deach lagh an nàduir chuir air cùl ?
Mo thruaighe mi ! 'n e so am bàs
A bhagair thu air Adhamh 'n tùs ?

" Air sgàd o dhio'ltas 'm bi thu 'sniomh
Snàthainn mo bheath' gu siorruidh caol ?
Nach leoir bhi mile bliadhnu' ga m' losg,
As leith gach lochd a rinu mi 's t-saogh'l ?

" Ged lean de dhio'ltas mi gu m' chùl,
Cha 'n àrdaich e do chliù, a Dhé,
'S cha'n fhionn dò d' Mhorachd t-fhearg a chosg,
Air comharadh cho bochd rium fén.

" O Dhia ! nach sgrios thu mi gu túr ?
'S le d' chumhachd cuir air 'm anaim crioch,
'S gu staid na neo-ni tilg mi uait,
Far nach 'eil fulang, smuain, no gniomh.

" Ach O ! sc so mo thoillt'neas fén
Is ni'm beil éu-coir buntainn rium ;
Oir dhìult mi tairgse shaor de Chriosd,
'S nior ghabh mi d'a fluil phriseil suin.

" Mo choguis dìtidh mi gu bràth,
An fhanuis bha ga 'm chàineadh riamh ;
An-iocdh no éu-coir ann mo bhàs,
Cha leig i chàradh 'm feasd air Dia.

" Aithcanta thilg mi air mo chùl,
A's ruith mi dùrachdach gu'm sgrios,
Is 'fhanuis fén a' m' chridhe mliùch,
A' druid' mo shùile roimh mo leas.

" Cia meud an diogh'ltas tha dhomh' dual
A's leith mo pheacaidh uamhor dàn
Am peac' thug dùlan do dh-fluil Chriosd,
'S a dh-flàg gun cífeachd brigh a bhàis.

" Gidheadh nach 'eil de Bhuidhan fein,
Neo-chriochanach gu léir o chian ?
'S an toir mo chiont air iochd a's gràdh,
Gu'm fàs iad criochuacelt' ann an Dia ?

" An comas duit mo thilgeadhl uat
 Far nach cluinn do chluas mo sgread ?
 'M beil dorchadas an ifrinu féin
 Far nach bu léir do Dhia mo staid ?

" Ge truagh mo ghuidhe cha'n eisder i,
 A' fois no féith cha'n fhaidh mi chaoidh,
 Ach beath' neo-bhàsmhor teachd as ùr,
 Gu'm neartach' ghiùlan tuille claoiadh."

Ach stad mo rann a's pill air t-ais
 O shlochd na casgraidd dhein a mòs,
 Is feuch cionnas a bheir thu seòl
 Do'n dream tha beò nach teid iad sìos.

A leughadair a'm beil e fiòr,
 Na chuir mi cheana sìos am dhàn ?
 Ma se 's gu'm beil thig s' lùb do ghlùn
 Le ùrnigh's aithreachas gun dàil :—

" A dh-ionnsuidh Losa teich gu luath,
 A' gabhal gràin a's fuath do d' pheac',
 Le creideamh fior thoir ùmhachd dhà,
 Au uile àith'nta naomh a reachd.

" Gabh ris na h-ofigibh gu léir,
 'S ri h-aon diubh na culr féin do chùl ;
 Mar Fhàidh, mar Shagart, 'us mar Rìgh,
 Chum sláinte, dìdean, agus iuil.

" Biodh eiseimpleir am beach do shùl,
 Chum d' uile għluasachd 'stiùr da reir,
 'S gach meadhon dh-ordaich e chum sláint'
 Bi fein g'an gnàthachadh gu leir.

" As 'fhireantachd dean bun a mhàin,
 'S na taic gu bràth ri d' thoill'tneas fein ;
 'S mas àill leat eifeachd bhi na għräs,
 Na h-altrum peacadh dàimh a'd' chré.

" Mar sin ged robh de chionta mòr,
 Chum glòir do Thighearn' saorar thù,
 Is chum de shonais shiorruidh féin,
 Air fead gach rè a' seiun a chliù."

A chruinneach' na 'm firean suas ;
'N sin bheir thu de leum,
Thoirt coinncamh dla fèin,
Mar iolair nau speur aig luaths.

'N uair dh-eireas tu 'n àird,
Grad chuiridh ort fàilt,
A mhealtainn a chàirdeas fèin,
Gun dealach' gu bràth,
R'a chomunn no ghràdh,
A steach ann am Pàrras Dé.

Fhir 'chluiuneas mo dhàn,

Mu'n tig ort am bàs,
Nach leig thu gu bràth,
Air geata nan gràs a steach.

Air bhith dhomhsa ann am shuain
A' bruadar diamhain mar tha cùch,
Bhi glacadh sonais o gach ni ;
Is e ga'm dhìbheadh ann's gach àit.

Air leam gun tainig neach am choir,
'S gu'n dubh'rt e rium :—“ Gur góirach mi,
Bhi smuainteach greim a ghleidh do'n ghaioth,
No fos gu'n lion an saogh'l mo chrì.

“ Is diamhain dut bhi 'g iarraidih shìmh,
'N aon ni' no'n ait air bith fo 'n ghréin ;
Cha chlos do d' chorp an taobh so 'n uaigh,
No t-anam 'n taobh so shuainhneas Dé.

“ An tra dh'ith Aðhamh 'a mcas an tùs,
Am peacadh dhrùigh e air gach ni :
Lion e na h-uile ni le saoth'r,
Is dh-fhàg é 'n saogh'l na bhriste crì.

“ Air sonas 'anma chaill e chòir,
Mar ris gach sòlas bha'nn sa gharr'
O sin ta 'shliochd nan deoiribh truagh ;
Mar van a mearachd air a mhàth'r.

“ Ri meilich chruaidh ta'd ruith gach nì,

Ach dhaibh tha 'n saogh'l gun iochd no truas,

Ach gu brath cha'n fhaigh dheth gréim.

“ Cha teagaisg t-fheuchain 's dearbhadh thù,
O dhùil is earbsa chuir sa' bhreig,
A rinn do mhealladh mìle uair,

“ An ni bu mho da'n tug thu miann,
Nach dh-fhag a mhealtuinn riámh e searbh ?
Tha tuille sonais ann an dùil,

“ Ceart mar an ròs a ta sa' ghàr',
Crion seargaidh blà 'nuair theild a bhuan ;
Mu'n gann a gllacas tu e d' làimh,
Grad threigidh fhàileadh e 'sa shnuadh.

“ Cha 'n eil neach o thrioblaid saor,

Is aig an neach is île staid.

“ Tha 'smùdan fein ós ceann gach fòid
Is dòruinn ceangailt' ris gach math ;
Tha'n ròs a fas air drisean geur,
'S an taic' a cheil tha mhil san gáth.

“ Ged fhaic thu neach 'an saibhreas mòr
Na meas a shòbas bhi thar chàch ;
An tobar 's gloine chì do shùil,
Tha ghrùid na iochdar gabhail tàmh.

“ 'S mu chuireas t-anail e 'na għluais,

Dùisgidh an ruaghan dearg a nìos,
'S le gaineamh liouaidh e do dheid.

“ 'S ged fhaic thu neach 'an inbhe aird,
Tha e mar nead am bàrr na craoibh ;
Gach stoirm a bagra' thilgeadh nuas,
Is e air luasgadh leis gach gaoith.

“ An neach is fearr tha 'n saogh'l a riad,
Tha fiaradh eigin ann 'na staid,
Nach dean a sheòltachd a's a strì,
Am feast a dhìreachadh air fad.

“ Mar bhata' fiar an aghaidh cheil,
A ta o shuidheach' fein do-chur ;
A reir mar dhìreas tu a bharr,
'S cho chinnteach ni thu cam a bhnu.

“ Na h-Iudhaich thionail beag no mòr,
Do'n Mhana dhòirteadh orra 'nuas ;
'N tra chuir gach neach a chuid's a chlár,
Cha robh air bàrr no dadum uaith.

“ Mar sin a ta gach sonas saogh'lt,
A ta thu faotainn ann a d' làimh,
Fa chomhair saibhreas, 's inbhe ènirt
Tha caitheamh, cùram agus cràdh.

“ Ged chàrn thu òr a'd' shlige suas,
Fa chomhair fàsaidh 'n lnaith da reir,
Is ge do chnríth thu innte riogh'chd,
A mheidh cha dìrich i na deigh.

“ Tha cuibhrionn iomchuidh aig gach neach,
'S ged tha thu mcas gur tuille b' fhearr ;
Cha d' thoir an t-anabharr tha'nn an sul,
Am feast an cudrom a's a' chràdh ;

" O ionluas t-inntinn tha do phian ;
 A' diúlta 'n diug na dh'iarr thu 'n dé ;
 Cha chomasach an saogh'l do riar,
 Le t-anamiaanna 'n agaighd chéil.

" Na 'm faigheadh toil na feol a rùn,
 D'a mianna brudeil dh'iarradh sath ;
 Flaitheas a b' aird' cha'n iarrach i,
 Na annta sud bhi siorruidh 'suàmh.

" Ach ge do b' ionmhuinn leis an fheil,
 Air talamh còmhnaichadh gach ré ;
 Bhiodh dùrachd t-ardain agus t-uail,
 Cho ard a shuas ri Cathair Óhlé ;

" Ach nam b' aill leat sonas buan,
 Do shlighe tabhair suas do Dhia,
 Le dùrachd, creideamh agus gràdh,
 Is sàsachidh e t-uile mhiaun.

" Tha 'n cuideachd sud gach ni san t-saogh'l,
 Tha 'n comas dhaoine shealbhach' flor ;
 Tha bhiadh, a's eudach agus slàint,
 Is saorsa, cairdeas, agus sith."

'An sin do mhosgail a's mo shuain,
 Is dh-fhag mo bhruadar mi air fad ;
 Ghrad leig mi dhiom bhi ruith gach sgàil,
 Is dh-fhás mi tolichte le m' staid.

A N G E A M H R A D H.

Nis theirig an samhradh,
 'S tha 'n geomhradh teachd dlù oirn,
 Fior nàmhaid na chinneas,
 Teachd a mhilleadh ar dùthcha ;
 Ga saltairt fo chasaibh,
 'S d'a maise ga rùsgadh ;
 Gun iochd ann ri dadum,
 Ach a' sladadh 's a' plùnnndruinn.

Sgaoil oirne a sgiathan,
 'S chuir e ghrian alr a chùlthaobh ;
 As an nead thug e 'n t-àlach,
 Neo-bhàigheil 'gar sgiùrsadh ;
 Sneachd iteagach gle-gheal,
 O na speuran tigh'n dlù oirn,
 Clacha meallain 's gaoth thuathach,
 Mar luaidhe is mar fhùdar.

'N uair shéideas e anail,
 Cha 'n fhag anam am flùran ;
 Tha bhilean mar shiosar,
 Lomadh lios de gach ùr-ros ;

Cha bhi sgeadach air coille,
 No doire nach rùlsg e ;
 No sruthan nach tachd e,
 Fo leachdannan dù'-ghorin.

Fead reòta a chleibhe,
 Tha seideadh na doinionn,
 Chuir beirn ann san fhairge,
 'S a dh' àt' garbh i na tonnan ;
 'S a blinnlich an clàmhuiunn,
 Air àirde gach mónaidh,
 'S ghlan sgùr e na reultan,
 D' ar péile len solus.

Tha gach beatach a's duine,
 Nach d' nllaich 'na sheasan,
 Ga 'n sgiùrsadh le gaillionn
 Gun talla' guin eudach ;
 'S an dream a bha gniomhach,
 'Fas largalt mi-dhéisceil ;
 Nach toir jasad do leisgean,
 Ann san t-sneachda ged éug e.

Tha 'n seillein 's an seangan,
 A bha tional an stòrais,
 Le gliocas gun mhearachd,
 A' toirt aire do'n dòruinn ;
 'G ithe bidh 's ag blì meala,
 Gun għainne air lòn ac,
 Fo dhion ann san talamh,
 O anail an reòta.

Tha na cuileagan ciatach,
 'Bha diaimhain san t-samhradh,
 'S na gathanan gréine
 Gu h-eibhinn a' damhsa ;
 Gun deasach 'gun chùram,
 Roi' dhùlachd a gheamhraidh ;
 A nise a' dol bùs',
 Ann 's gach àite le teanntachd.

Ach eisd rium a shean-duin',
 'S tuig an samhladh tha 'm stòri',
 Tha 'm bùs a tighlin teann ort,
 Sud an geomhradh tha 'm òran ;
 'S ma gheibh e thu a' d' leisgein,
 Gun deasach' fa' chòdhail,
 Cha dean àithreacach crìche.
 Do dhionadh o'n doruinn.

Gur mithich fàs diaghaidh,
 'S do chiabhan air glasadh,
 'Na 'm bearnaibh do dheudach,
 Is t-eudann air casadh,
 Do bhathais air rùsgadh,
 'S do shùilean air prabadh,
 Agus cròit ort air lùbadh,
 Chum na h-uire do leaba'.

Tha na sruthanan craobhach,
 Bha sgaoileadh a' d' bhallaibh,
 Gu mireagach buailteach,
 Clis gluasadach tana ;
 A nise air traoghadh
 O n' taomachadh thairis,
 O'n a ragaich 'sa dh-fhuardaich
 Teas uabhar na fala.

Balg-seididh na beatha,
 Tha air caitheamh gun fheum ann,
 'S o clurup ann a' d' chliabh e,
 Gur b-e phian bhi 'ga shéideadh
 Tha 'n corp a chruitt chiùil ud,
 Air diùltadh dhut gleusadh ;
 'S comhar ciunt' air a thasgaidh,
 Bhi lasach' a theudan.

Theich madainn na h-òige,
 'S treòir mheadhon latha
 Tha 'm feasgar air ciaradh,
 'S tha glurian ort a laidhe ;
 'S mu bha thusa diamhain,
 Gun gniomh is gun mhaithreas ;
 Gu h-ealamh bi d' dhùsgadh,
 Mu'n dùinear ort flaitheas.

'Reir caithe na beatha,
 'S tric leatha gun crìoch i ;
 Bidh an cleachadh fàs làidir,
 Do-fhàsach o'n initinn ;
 Na labhair an sean-fhacal,
 'S deimhinn leam 's fior e,
 " An car theid san t-seana-mhaid'
 Gur h-ainmic leis dìreadh."

Ach ògnaich threibhich
 Thoir-s' éisdeachd do m' òran,
 'S leig dhiot bli mi-chéillidh,
 Ann an céitein na h-bige ;
 Tha aois agus ea-slaint,
 Air do dheigh ann an tòir ort ;
 'S mu ni h-aon aca gréim ort,
 Pillidh t-eibhneas gu bròn dut.

An aois a tha 'n tòir ort,
 Bheir i leon ort nach saoil thu ;
 Air do shuilean bheir ceathach,
 Is treabhaidh si t-aodaun ;
 Bheir i crith-reodh' mu d' ghruaig',
 Is neul uaine an aoig leis,
 'S cha toig aiteamh na grian ort,
 'Bbeir an liatb-reodb a chaoidh' dhiot.

Bheir ni's measa na sùd ort,
 Failne tuigs' agus reusain ;
 Dìth leirsinn a' t-inntinn ;
 Dìth cuimhn' agus géire ;

Dìtb gliocais chum gnothaich ;
 Dìth mothaidh a'd' cheudfath
 'S gu'm fàs thu mar leanabh,
 Dhì spionnaidh a's céille.

Fàsaidh 'n cridhe neo-aitreach,
 'S neo-ealamh chum tionndadh,
 Aon tagra' cha drìugh air,
 'S cha lùb e d'a ionnsnidh ;
 Ceart mar tha 'n talamh,
 'N am gaillionn a's teannadachd ;
 Ged robh milltean 'dol thairis,
 Cha dean aile sa' chausair.

Faic seasain na bliadhna,
 'S dean ciall uath a tharruinn ;
 'S mas àill leat gu'm buain thu,
 Dean ruadhar 'san earrach ;
 Dean connadh san t-samhradh,
 Ni sa' gheimhradh do gharadh ;
 'S ma dhìbreas tu 'n seasan,
 Dhut 's eigin bhi fàlamh.

'S mar cuir thu siol fallain,
 Ann an earrach na h-òige,
 Cho chinnteach 's am bàs dut,
 Cuiridh Sàtan droch phòr ann ;
 A dh-fhàsas 'na dhubhaile,
 'S 'na luidheannan feòlmhor ;
 'S bidh do bhuan mar a chuir thu,
 Ma's subhailc no dò-bheirt.

Ma bhios t-òige gun riaghlaich,
 'S t-anamiannan gun taod riu,
 Gum fàs iad cho fiadhaich,
 'S nach srian thu ri t-aois iad ;
 Am meangan nach sniomh thu,
 Cha spion thu 'na chraobh e ;
 Mar shìneas e ghéugan,
 Bidh fhreumhan a' sgàoileadh.

Tha do bheatha neo-chinnteach
 O'n teinn a bheir bàs ort,
 Uime sin bi ri dicheall
 Do shìth dheanamh tràthail ;
 'S e milleadh gach cùise
 Bhi gun chùram cur dàil innt' ;
 'S ionann aithreachas crìche,
 'S bhi cur sìl mu Fheill-màrtainn.

Tha ghrian ann sna speuraibh
 A' ruith réise gach latha ;
 'S i 'giorrhach' do shaoghail,
 Gach oidhche a laidheas ;
 'S dlù ruitheas an spàla,
 Troi' shnathaibh do bheatha ;
 Tha' fighe dhut leine,
 Ni beisdean a chaitheamh.

'S ma ghoideas e dlù ort,
Gun do dhùil bhi r'a thighinn ;
'N sin fosglaidh do shùilean,
'S chì thu chùis thar a mithich ;
Bidh do choguis 'ga d' phianadh,
Mar sgian aní a d' chridhe ;
'S co-ionann a giùlan,
'S laidhe ruisgt' ann an sgitheach.

Faic a chuileag 'ga dìteadh
Le sionntaibh an nàduir,
'S o na dhìbhir i 'n seasan,
Gur h-eigin d'i bàsach' ;
Faic gliocas an t-seangain,
Na thional cho tràthail,
'S dean eiseimpeir leanail,
Chum t-anam a shàbhal'.

DAIBHIDH MAC-EALAIR.

DAVID MACKELLAR, commonly called Daibhidh nan Laoidh, was another religious poet. The time of his birth is not known. He lived in Glendaruel after the beginning of last century. He was blind, and the people in that country still preserve some traditional accounts of him and of the manner in which his hymn was composed, the most striking of which is that after having composed it his sight was restored. In his youth he composed some profane pieces. The time of his death is likewise uncertain, but a grand-daughter of his lived in Glasgow not many years ago. This hymn was first published in Glasgow about the year 1752. It was so very popular in the Highlands that many persons got it by heart that had never seen the printed copy.

LAOIDH MHIC-EALAIR.

MOLADH do'n Tì 's airde glòir,
An Tì 's modha no gach neach ;
Cruitear an t-saoghail gu léir,
Da'n cubhaidh dhuinn géill' air fad.

'S tu rinn an domhan 's na th' ann,
Na cuaintean domhain, 's am fonn ;
'S chuir thu iasg g'a altrum ann,
'S thug thu ciall gu ghlacadh dhuinn.

Rinneadh leat gealach a's grian,
Thogail fianuis air do ghlòir ;
Cha'n aithris mi a mile trian,
De chruthachadh an Dia is mò.

'S tu rinn na reultan air fad,
A riaghlichadh gu ceart nan tràth ;
Gheall thu maraon fuachd a's teas,
Foghar ma seach agus Mìارت.

'S tu rinn na h-aingleán air fad,
Tha 'n t-abharsair fo d' smachd gu mòr :
Air slabhruidh laidir aig do Mhac,
Cumail a neart o theachd oirnn'.

Rinneadh leat an duine' rìs,
A réir t-iomhaidh clum do ghlòir ;
Ach chaill e 'n oidhreachd ud gun luach,
'S cha'n fhuasgalar i le òr.

'S tu chuir am fradharc na cheann,
Chuir thu falt tro chlaigeann lom ;
Thug thu cluas gu éisteachd dha,
'S gluasad a chuirp o na bhonn.

Chuir thu Adhamh an cadal trom,
Chaidh léigh nan gràs os a cheann ;
'S de dhaisinn bho thaobh do rinn
A bhean, o'n do ghin gach clann.

Chuir thu e 'n gàradh nan seud,
Far an robh Éibhneas a ghràidh ;
Dh-ith a bhean an sin a meas,
'S dh-shuilig i 's a sliochd am bàs,

Cha robh a teasargain aig neach,
O'n a chumhnanta rinn i bhris ;
'N trà ruisgeadh an sgeudachadh ceart,
Bha chuis na h-eagal an sin.

Ach moladh do dh' Ard-Rìgh nam feart,
O nach b'aill leis teachd d'ar sgrios ;
'Nuair chunnait e Adhamh na airc,
Rinn e cumbhannt' nan gràs ris.

Thainig Iosa 'nuas le thoil,
Thug e suas mar iobairt fhuil ;
Mac na frinn, Uan gun chron,
M'ar ciontais-ne fhuair e ghlinn.

Crochadh e ri crann an aird,
'S an t-sleagh sàite tro a chorpa ;
Crùn geur na péine chuir mù cheann,
Fhuair mac Dhé le nàimhde lot.

Crùn sgithich, an aite crùn rìgh,
Mar thailceas, 's mar dhì-meas mòr ;
Domblas agus fion geur,
'N deoch a thug iad dha ri h-bl.

Na tàirnean g'an cur an sàs,
Am bosaibh a lamb le òrd ;
'S fuil a chridhe ruith á thaobh,
Ceannachd bu daoire nan t-òr.

'Nuair chaidh Criod gu péin a bhàis,
'S a dh' fhuilige air son an t-sluagh ;
Sgoilt brat an teampuill sios gu lèir,
'S dhùisg na mairbh an aird o'n uaigh.

Chreathnaich an talamh trom, le crith,
Air a ghein gu'n tainig smal ;
Le feirg Dhé, do chrath e 'n sin ;
Dh-fhuilige Criod am bàs rè seal.

Dh-adhlaic iad an t-Uan fo lie,
Thug e buaidh, sau naigh cha d' fhan ;
As a blàs thug e gheur-gluin,
'S dh-eirich an treas là gun smál.

Na shuidh' aig deas-laimh athar a ta,
Criod le gràsan os ar ceann ;
A' cur ofig sagairt an gniomh,
A' deasachadh a rioghachd dhuiinn.

Thig an t-am san tig mac Dhé,
Creidibh sùd gur sgeul fiòr :
Le miltibh mìl' de dh' ainglibh trenn,
Thoirt oirnne breith a réir ar gniomb.

'N sin seinnear an trompaid gn h-ard,
Leis na h-ainglean 's àille sruagh ;
Eiridh na mairbh an aird o'n ùir,
'S bheir e cùnnitas uaith' an cuan.

Liubhraidh gach uaigh na fhuair i-féin,
'S cha bhi neach de'n treud air chall ;
Nochdar iad uil' am fiadhuis Dé,
'S e Mhac fèin is breitheamh ann.

Bithidh iadsan soilleir an sin,
Mar sholus dealrach an dreach ;
Thig Criod nan coinneamh le gean,
'S bidh sith an comunu nam flath.

Ni thir 'n sin tearbadh air gach neach,
'S dionaidh tu o'n fheirg na's leat,
Mhead 's tha air an dearbhadh dhut,
Cuirear iad fo dhion do blàit.

Cnirear na gobhair air laimh chìlì,
Chum triall gu priosan a' bhròin ;
Druidear suas, 's gur cruaidh an sgeul,
Flath-Innis Dhé air an sròin.

Mallaichidh 'n nighean a mathair,
Mallaichidh mhathair a clain ;
'S mallaichidh 'n t-athair a mhac,
Nach do ghabh a smachd 'na àm.

'S iomadh sgairteach, a's gul genr,
Ri h-am cluintinn sgeul an cràidh ;
Mallachadh a chéile gu léir,
Sgarachdaiinn ri Uan a ghràidh.

Siu là an dealachaidh bhoichd,
G'an sgarachdaiinn a dh'aindeon riut ;
G'an sgiursadh gu h-aineal an loisg,
'S gur duil aig anam tigh'n' as.

An teach d'a milleadh cuirear iad,
Fo dhioghaltais an Ard-Rìgh ;
Gun duil ri furtachd no ri blàs,
Gú bràth, cha tig iad a nios.

Fasaidh 'n cuirp cho chruaidh ri prais,
Mar iarrannu an cas san lamb ;
G'an cumail beo ann an sior phian,
Teine dian gun fhurtachd là.

Gach aon là mar bhlianna bhuan,
An lagan loisgneach, cruaidh an sàs ;
G'an liodaирt le teas a's fuachd,*
Sud an duais ge sad an dàil.

* The ancient Caledonians entertained the idea that hell was a cold and inhospitable place, as the following stanza from an old poem will show :—

" 'S maig a roghnaicheas Ifrinn fhuar,
'S gur h-i uamh nan droigheann geur,
Is beag orm Ifrinn fhuar, fhluch,
Aite bith-bhuan is searbh deoch."

The following lines from Dàn an Fhir Chlaoïn give it this character :—

" I sin allaidh na frèdine,
Lèd' thiugh-chèò as le t-uamh-bhèisdean
A thir nam pian gun bhiadh gun bhàigh,
Dot ad dhàil be sud mo dhéisidinn."

Latha cha bhi ann na dheigh,
 Falaichead na reultan's a ghrian ;
 Sgriosar an saoghal gu leir,
 'S neach cha téid an toll bho Dhia.

M' achanaiich riuts', air sgàth do mhic,
 Meadaich mo ghliocas le gràs ;
 'S thoir dhomh mathanas 's gach cùis,
 Seal m'an druid mo shuil le bàs.

ROB DONN.

ROBERT MACKAY, otherwise called Rob Donn, was born in the winter season of the year 1714, at Allt-na-Caillich, in the parish of Durness, in the county of Sutherland, and in that part of the county, properly enough, till of late, designated by its inhabitants and others, "Lord Reay's country," and in the native tongue "Dùthaich Mhic-Aoidh," or, "The country of the Mackay." The bard was not the eldest son of his father; he had three brothers, of whom nothing remarkable is remembered. His father, Donald Mackay, or Donald Donn, is not remembered to have been of any poetie talent; but his mother's talents of that description are known to have been more than ordinarily high. She was remarkable for the recital of Ossian's poems, and the other ancient minstrelsy of the land. She lived to a very advanced age; and we have heard an instance of singular female fortitude evinced by her at the age of eighty-two. Having had the misfortune to break her leg, while tending her sheep at a considerable distance from home, she bound it up, contrived to get home unassisted; and while afterwards enduring the operation of setting the fracture, she soothed the pain by crooning a popular air.

If local scenery could be really imagined conducive in any way to the formation or training of poetic genius, of a truth the nursery of our bard might well lay claim to that merit—"the emblem of deeds that were done in its clime." The surrounding localities of his native spot, we believe, are not surpassed in picturesque grandeur by any other in the Highlands of Scotland.

Rob Donn might say of himself, with Pope, that "he lisped in numbers." Ere he had yet but scarcely obtained even the power of lisping, an anecdote is recorded of his infant age of no ordinary deseription, though homely enough in its history. At the wonted season of making provision for the winter, according to the country's fashion, by slaughtering of beeves, our bard's father, on one occasion, happened to slaughter two, one of which was found inferior in quality to the other. The small-pox, at the time, was committing mournful devastations among the youth of the neighbourhood. While busied in the necessary avocation of curing their winter's beef, the father says, "Now, the best of this beef is not to be touched till we have seen who survives the small-pox to share it." The infant bard, scarcely yet able to articulate or walk, on hearing this, exclaimed, "'S olc a' chuid sin do 'n fhear a dh' fhalbas!' i. e. "He who departs will have a bad share of it, then!" "True, my boy," said the father, "and yours will never be a bad share, while you remain able to use it."

The first verse he is said to have eomposed, was when he had attained only his third year. Its occasion indeed testifies that his age could not have been much more at the time. It was the country's fashion for ehildren, when they had little more than left the nurse's lap, to be dressed in a short frock, or eassoeek, formed close to the body round the waist, and buttoned at the back. A tailor had fitted our youthful author with such an habiliment, and next morning the child was anxious to exhibit it ; but his mother, and the domestics, having been summoned early to some out-door pursuits, Robert became anxious to get abroad in his new garb, but found himself quite defeated in every attempt to button it on. He took the alternative of sallying forth in a state of nudity ; when, being met by his mother eoming towards the house, she chided him for being seen in this state. Robert's defence was made in the following stanza :—

“ 'S math dhomhsa bhi 'n diugh gun aodach,
Le slaodaireachd Mhurchaidh 'Ic Neill,
Mo bhroilleach chur air mo chùlthaobh,
'S gun a dhùnadh agam fhéin !”

reproaching the tailor for the trick he had played him, in placing the buttons behind, and lamenting his own inability to accomodate the new dress to his person. His next exhibition of poetic promise was given in the same year, we are told, in the harvest season, when all the inmates of the family were employed in reaping. An old woman, who acted as nurse to the children, was on this occasion called to the siekle. She complained that the more active labourers had jostled her out of her place, and left her only to reap the straggling stinted stalks that grew in the border furrow. While muttering her disappointment, Robert, scarce able but to creep at his nurse's elbow, endeavoured to rally her with a verse :—

“ Bi-sa dol a null 's a nall,
Gus a ruig thu grunnd na clais',
Cra 'n 'eil air, ma tha e gann,
Ach na tha ann a thoirt as.”

At the age of six or seven years, he attracted the particular attention of Mr John Mackay, the eelebrated Iain Mac-Eachuinn, a gentleman of the family of Sherray, then living on the neighbouring farm of Musal. This gentleman, of poetic talents himself, prevailed with our author's parents to allow their child to come into his service, or rather into his family, at the early age we have mentioned. In this family our author remained as a servant from this age till the period of his marriage. Here he experienced liberal treatment, and sincere, unvaried kindness, of which he ever retained a lively and grateful recollection, especially towards his master ; and it is no trifling praise to both, that though they once or twice latterly had a difference, the bard's esteem and affection returned when the casual excitement had passed ; and when it lay upon his mind, he was never once known to have given it the least utterance in any shape bordering upon disrespeet, and after his death the bard composed an admirable elegy to his memory, which combines as forcible, energetic description of character and conduct, with as pure poetic power as can be found in any poetry of its kind. The bard most feelingly and pathetically concludes it with a solemn appeal of his having mentioned no virtue or trait of which he was not himself a witness.

A youth of our author's poetic mind could not be expected to remain long a stranger to the more tender susceptibilities of his nature. Nor has he left us in ignorance of his first love. It is the subject of one of his finest songs :—“S trom leam an àiridh,” &c. Here his passion breathes with an innocent, simple faithfulness, with an ardour and truth of poetic recital, that no lays of the kind can perhaps surpass.

After his marriage, Rob Donn first resided at the place of Bad-na-h-achlais, then probably forming a part of his late employer's tenure. It was, we believe, soon after this period, that Robert was hired by Lord Reay to the office of a cow-keeper, at that time an office, though a humble one, of considerable responsibility and trust. In this station he continued for the greater part of his after life-time. We have not been able to ascertain dates with precision, to say whether it was before or after having accepted this office that our bard enlisted as a private soldier in the first regiment of Sutherland Highlanders, which was raised in 1759. He did not enlist so much as a soldier, as he was urged by the country gentlemen holding commissions in that corps, and as he himself felt inclined to accompany them. The regiment was reduced in 1763, and our bard returned to his home.

Though we have said that he spent mostly the after period of life, since he entered the service of Lord Reay, in that office, it was not without interruption. He left his servitude at one time, and we are inclined to think it was then he went into the military service. While he had charge of Lord Reay's cattle, and his wife of the dairy, during the summer months, it was also his province to look over them during the winter months : and it became a part of his duty, or an employment connected with it, to thresh out corn for supplying the cattle with fodder. To the laborious exercises of the flail, the bard could never submit. He employed servants to perform this part of his duty. That was, however, taken amiss, and he was told that he must himself wield the flail or leave the situation. He chose the latter alternative ; and removed, with his family, to the place of Achmore, in that part of the parish of Durness which borders upon Cape Wrath. Indeed, though we have no decided authority for the supposition, we are inclined to believe that the difference between him and his noble employer originated in another cause than that ostensibly alleged. The bard had been dealing his reproofs rather freely. No feeling of dependance, no awe of superior rank or station, ever restrained him from giving utterance to his sentiments, or from enjoying his satire, whenever what he conceived to be moral error, or evil example, called for reproof. And this was dealt with the dignity that belongs to virtue, refusing, as he always did on such occasions, to compromise that dignity by indulging in personal invective. But whatever was the cause of the difference that occasioned his removal, he was soon recalled, and left not the service again during the life of the chief.

Robert continued to attend his usual avocations till within a fortnight of his death, which took place on the 5th August, 1778, being then aged 64 years. The death of the bard caused a universal feeling of sadness, not only in his own native corner, but over the whole county. It might be said that there was no individual but mourned for him as a friend : those only excepted whose continued immoralities and errors had rendered them objects on which fell with severity the powerful lash of his satire.

His stories of wit and humour were inexhaustible ; and, next to superior intelligence and acuteness of mind, formed perhaps in his every-day character the most distinguishing feature. He had over a correct and delicate feeling of his own place ; but if any one, high or low, superior or equal, drew forth the force of his sarcasm upon themselves, by assuming any undue liberty on their part, it was an experiment they seldom desired to repeat. His readiness and quickness of repartee often discovered him where he had been personally unknown before. At one time, when travelling northward through a part of Argyllshire, he met by chance with Mr M'Donald of Achatriochadan, well known in his own country as a man of notable humour and distinguished talents. Robert addressed to this gentleman some question relative to his way ; and giving a civil answer, Mr M'Donald added, "I perceive, my man, by your dialect, you belong to the north—what part there?" "To Lord Reay's country." "O ! then, you must know Rob Donn!" "Yes I do, as well as I know myself. I could point him out to you in a crowd." "Pray do inform me, then, what sort of person he is, of whom I have heard so much." "A person, I fear, of whom more has been spoken than he well deserves." "You think so, do you?" The last answer did not please the inquirer, who was poetic himself, thinking he had met with too rigid a censurer of the northern bard, and the conversation ceased, while they both proceeded together on their way. After a pause, Mr M'Donald, pointing to Ben-Nevis, which now rose in the distance before them, says, "Were you ever, my man, at the summit of yonder mountain?" "I never was." "Then you never have been so near to heaven." "And have you yourself been there?" "Indeed I have." "And what a fool you have been to descend!" retorted the bard, "are you sure of being ever again so nigh?" M'Donald had caught a tartar. "I am far deceived," said he, "if thou be not thyself Rob Donn!" The bard did not deny it, and a cordial friendship was formed between them.

To Rob Donn's moral character testimony has already been borne. It was uniformly respectable. To those acquainted with what may well be denominated the moral and religious statistics of the bard's native country at that time, and happily still, it will furnish no inconsiderable test not only of his moral but of his strictly religious demeanour, that he was chosen a ruling elder, or member of the Kirk Session of the parish of Durness. In that country such an election was never made where the finger of scorn could be pointed at a blemish of character. It scarcely requires to be told, that his society was courted not alone by his equals, but still more by his superiors in rank. No social party almost was esteemed a party without him. No public meeting of the better and the best of the land was felt to be a full one, without Rob Donn being there.

In the bosom of his own humble but respectable family, we have good authority for saying that he was a pattern in happiness and in temper. A family of thirteen were mostly all spared to risc around him, trained to habits of industry and of virtue. None of them became celebrated as inheriting their father's genius ; but some of his daughters possessed more or less of the "airy gift ;" and from their attempts at repartee and impromptu, the father used frequently to draw much mutual and harmless enjoyment. His wife had a musical ear and voice unrivalled in the country ; and any ordinary pastime of their winter evenings was for the family and parents to join their voices in song ; while we believe, that when the father's absence did not prevent, they never ceased to exemplify the most sacred lineaments of the immortal picture in "The Cottar's Saturday Night."

Rob Donn's compositions may be classed into four kinds—Humorous, Satirical, Solemn, and Descriptive ; all these severally, with few exceptions, belonging to the species of poetry commonly called Lyrical. He was illiterate ; he knew not his alphabet. The artificial part of poetry, if poets will grant that expression legitimate, was to him utterly unknown. Perhaps he never took more than an hour or two to compose either his best or his longest songs. Even the most of the airs to which he composed are original, which presents as a single circumstance the resources of his mind to have been of no ordinary extent. His works were published in Inverness, with a memoir prefixed, in 1830.

In forming an estimate of the moral and poetical merits of Rob Donn, his biographer has been more guided by the opinions and prejudices of his countrymen, than by a just and impartial examination of the poet's works. In poetry, as in religion, we may be allowed to judge men by their fruits. Rob has been held up as a man of high moral and religious worth ; but the editor himself admits, that many of his pieces are too indelicate for publication.

Many of his published pieces are such as no good man ought to have produced against his fellow creatures. His love of satire was so indiscriminate, that he often attacks persons who are not legitimate objects of ridicule. Little men and women are the unceasing objects of his satire ; and he does not spare the members of his own family.

He was proud of his own powers of satire, and seemed to enjoy the dread of those who feared the exercise of his wit. His satire is not rancorous and vindictive, but playful and sportive ; more calculated to annoy than to wound. If he was not invited to a feast or wedding, next day he composed a satire, full of mirth and humour, but too indelicate to be admitted into his book. He has not the wit and poignancy of Macintyre, who composed his satires while in a state of irritation to punish his enemies.

As a writer of elegies, he is more distinguished for sober truth, than poetical embellishment. He hated flattery ; and, in closing an elegy on the death of a benefactor, he declares that he had recorded no virtue that he had not himself observed.

As a poet he cannot be placed in the highest rank. He is deficient in pathos and invention. There is little depth of feeling, and very slender powers of description to be found in his works ; and, when the temporary and local interest wears away, he can never be a popular poet.

Yet, Rob Donn has been honoured more than any of his brother poets in the Highlands. A subscription having been raised among his countrymen for a monument to his memory, it is now erected in the parish burying-ground of Durness, over his grave. Its foundation stone was laid on 12th January, 1829, with masonic honours, and a procession to the burying-ground, not only of the whole parish, but joined by numbers from the other parishes of "Lord Reay's country," headed by Captain Donald Mackay, of the 21st regiment of foot, who has done himself honour worthy of record by his activity and zeal in raising the subscription, and bringing, with his other coadjutors, this intention to its completion. The monument now stands a record of the bard's fame, and an honourable testimony of his countrymen's feelings. It is of polished granite, on a quadrangular pedestal of the same enduring material, and bears the following inscriptions:—

ORAN DO PHRIONNSA TEARLACH.

An diugh, an diugh, gur reusontach
 Dhuinn éiridh ann an sanntachas,
 An tri-amh lath' air crìochnachadh,
 De dhara mios a' gheamhraidh dhuinn ;
 Dean'maid comunn failteach riut,
 Gu bruidhneach, gàireach, òranach,
 Gu botalach, copach, stòpanach,
 Le cruit, le ceòl, 's le damhsareachd.

Dean'maid comunn failteach
 Ris an là thug thu an t-saoghal thu ;
 Olamaid deoch-slàinte nis
 An t-Seumas big o 'n d' inntrig thu ;
 Le taing a thoirt do 'n Ard Rìgh shuas,
 Gu 'n d' fhuair do mhàthair liobhraigeadh,
 Dheth h-aon bha do na Gàéil,
 Mar bha Dàibhidh do chlainn Israel.

Tha cupall bhliadhna' a's ràidhe,
 O 'n là thàinig thu do dh' Alba so ;
 'S bu shoilleir dhuinn o 'n tràth bha sin,
 An fhàilte chuir an aimsir oirnn.
 Bha daoine measail, miadail oirnn,
 'S bha àrach mì a' sealbhach' oirnn,
 Bha barran troma tir' againn,
 Bha toradh frith' a's fairg' againn.

An diugh, an diugh, gur cuimhne leam,
 Air puing nach còir a dhèarmad ort,
 Mu bhreith a' phrionnsa riòghail so,
 Dhe 'n teaghlaich dhùrich Albannaich ;
 Togamaid suas ar sùilean ris,
 Le ùrnuigh dhù gun chealgaireachd,
 Ar làmhan na 'm biodh feum orra,
 Le toil 's le eud 's le earbsalachd.

Togamaid fuirm a's meannadh ris,
 Is aithnichear air ar dùrachd sinn,
 Le latha chumail sunndach leinn,
 As leth a' phrionnsa Stiùbhartach ;
 Gur cal' an àm na h-éigin e,
 Ar carraig threun gu stiùireadh air ;
 Thug bàrr air cheud am buadhannan,
 'S tha cridhe 'n t-sluagh air dlùthadh ris.

Cha 'u iognadh sin, 'n uair smuainichear
 An dualchas o 'n tàinig e ;
 'N doimhne bh' ann gu foghlumte ;
 Gun bhonn do dh' eis 'n a nàdur dheth,
 Mar Sholamh, 'n cleachdadh reusanta,
 Mar Shamson, treun an làmhan e,
 Mar Absalom, gur sgiamhach e,
 Gur sgiath 's gur dion d' a chàirdean e.

Nach fhaic sibh féin an spéis
 A ghabh na speuran gu bhi 'g ùmhadh dha ;
 'N uair sheas an reannag shoillseach,
 Anns an line an robhsa stiùireadh leis ;
 An comhar' bh' aig ar Slànuighear,
 Ro Theàrlach thig'n do 'n dùthaich so,
 'N uair chaidh na daoine ciallach ud
 G' a iarrайдh gu Ierusalem.

A nis, a Theàrlaich Stiùbhairt,
 Na 'm biodh an crùn a th' air Seòras ort,
 Bu lònnoch againn cùirtearan,
 A' caitheamh ghùn is chleòcaichean ;
 Tha m' athchuing ris an Tì sin,
 Aig am beil gach ni ri òrduchadh,
 Gu 'n teàrnadh e o 'n cheilg ac' thu,
 'S gu 'n cuir e 'n seilbh do chòrach thu.

ORAN NAN CASAGAN DUBHA.

[A rinn am bàrd 'n uair chual' e gu 'n do bhacadh an t-eàideadh Gàéilach le lagh na rìoghachd ; agus muinnir a dhùthcha fein bhi uile air taobh righ Deòrsa 's a' bhliadhna 1745.]

LAMH' Dhé leinn, a dhaoine,
 C' uime chaochail sibh fasan,
 'S nach eil agaibh de shaorsa,
 Fiù an aodaich a chleachd sibh ;
 'S i mo bharail mu 'n eighe,
 Tha 'n agħaidh fhéileadh a's osan,
 Gu 'm beil caraid aig Teàrlach,
 Ann am Pàrlamaid Shasuinn.

Faire ! faire ! 'Righ Deòrsa,
 'N ann a spòrs' air do dhilsean,
 Deanamh achdachan ùra,
 Gu bhi dùblachadh 'n daorsa ;
 Ach on 's balaich gun uails' iad,
 'S fearr am bualadh no 'n caomhna,
 'S bidh ni 's lugha g'a t-fheitheamh,
 'N uair thig a leithid a rìsd oirnn.

Ma gheibh do nàmhaid 's do charaid
 An aon pheanas an Albainn,
 'S iad a dh-éirich 'na t-agħaidh,
 Rinn an roghainn a b' fhearra dhiubh ;
 Oir tha caraid math cùil ac',
 A rinn taobh ris na dh' earb ris,
 'S a' chuid nach d' imich do 'n Fhraing leis,
 Fhuair iad pension 'nuair dh-fhalbh e.

Cha robh aifig each Gàëlach
 Eadar Serjent a's Còirneil,
 Nach do chaill a chomision,
 'N uair chaidh 'm briseadh le foirneart ;
 A' mheud 's a fhuaire sibh an uiridh,
 Ged bu diombuan r'a òle,
 Bheir sibh 'in bliadh'n air ath-philleadh,
 Air son uinneagan lèòsain.

Cha robh bhliadhna na taic so,
 Neach a sheasadh mar sgoileir,
 Gun chomision rìgh Breatainn,
 Gu bhi 'n a Chapttein air onair ;
 Chaidh na fichcadan as diubh,
 Nach do leasaich sud dolar,
 Ach an sgiùrsaigeadh dhachaidh,
 Mar chù a dh-eashbuidh a choilair.

Ach ma dh-aontaich sibh rìreadh,
 Ri bhur sìor dhol am mugha,
 Ged a bha sibh cho rioghail,
 Chaidh bhur cìsean am modhad ;
 'S math an airidh gu 'n faicte
 Dream cho tais ribh a' cumha,
 Bhi tilgeadh dhibh bhur cuid bhreacan,
 'S a' gabhail chasagan dubha.

Och ! mo thrnaighe sin Albainn !
 'S tür a dhearbh sibh bhur reuson,
 Gur i 'n roinn bh' aum bhur n-inntinn,
 'N rud a mhill air gach gleus sibh ;
 Leugh aùn Gòbharment sannt
 Annas gach neach a thionndaidh ris fèin dhibh,
 'S thug iad baoight do bhur gionaich,
 Gu 'r cuir fo mhionach a chéile.

Ghlac na Sasunnaich fàth oirbh,
 Gus bhur fàgail ni 's laige,
 Chum 's nach bitheadh 'g ur cunnitadh,
 'N ur luchd-comh-strì ni b' fhaide ;
 Ach 'n uair a bhios sibh a dh-eashbuidh
 Bhur n-airm, 's bhur n-acuinnean sraide,
 Gheibh sibh sèarsaigeadh mionach,
 Is bidh bhur peanas ni 's gràide.

Tha mi faicinn bhnr truaighe,
 Mar ni nach cualas a shamhail,
 A' chuid a's feàrr dc bhur seabhaig,
 Bhi air slabhruidh aig clamhan ;
 Ach ma tha sibh 'n ar leòghainn,
 Pillibh 'n dòghruinn s' na teamhair,
 'S deanaibh 'n deudach a thrusadh,
 Mu 'n téid bhur busan a cheangal.

'N uair thig bagradh an nàmhaid,
 Gus an àit anns do phill e,
 'S ann bu mhath lean a chàirdean,
 Sibh bhi 'n àireamh na buidhne,

D' am biodh spioraid cho Gàëlach,
 'S gu 'm biodh an sàr ud 'n an cuimhne,
 Gus bhur pilleadh 's an abhainn,
 Oir tha i roimhibh ni 's doimhne.

Nis, a Thèarlaich òig Stiùbhaird,
 Riut tha dùil aig gach fine,
 Chaidh a chothachadh crùin dhut,
 'S a leig an dùthaich 'n a teine ;
 Tha mar nathraighean folaitc',
 A chaill an earradh an uraidh,
 Ach tha 'g ath-ghleusadh an gathan,
 Gu éiridh latha do thighinn.

'S iomadh neach a tha guidhe,
 Ri do thighinn, a Thèarlaich,
 Gus an éireadh na cuingeann,
 Dheth na bhuidheann tha 'n éigin ;
 A tha cantainn 'n an cridhe,
 Ged robh an teanga 'g a bhreugadh,
 "Làn do bheatha gu t-fhaicinn,
 A dh' ionnsuidh Bhreatainn a's Eirinn."

'S iomadh òganach aimsichte,
 Tha 's an àm so 'n a chadal,
 Eadar bràighe Srath-Chluanaidh,
 Agus bruachan Loch-abair ;
 Rachadh 'n cùisibh mhic t-athar,
 'S a chrùn, 's a chathair r' an tagradh,
 'S a dh' ath-philleadh na Ceathairn,
 A dhìoladh latha Chulodair.

Ach a chàirdean na cùirte,
 Nach eil a' chùis a' cur feirg oirbh,
 Na 'n do dh' flosgail bhur sùilean,
 Gus a' chùis a bhi searbh dhuibh ;
 Bidh bhur duais mar a' ghobhar
 A théid a bhleodhan gu tarbhach,
 'S a bhith'r a' fuadach 's an fhoghar
 Is ruaiq nan gaothar r'a h-earbhall.

Ma 's e 'm peacach a 's modha
 'S còir a chumhachd a chlaoideadh ;
 Nach e Seumas an Seachdaimh
 Dheirbh bli seasmach 'n a inntinn ?
 "C' uim' an dìteadh sibh 'n onair,
 Na bhiodh sibh moladh na daoidheachd ?"
 'S gur h-e dhìlutheachd d' a chreideann
 A thug do choigrich an rioghachd.

Fhuair sinn rìgh à Hanobhar,
 Sparradh oirnne le achd c,
 Tha againn prionna 'n a agaidh,
 Is neart an lagha 'g a bhacadh ;
 O Bhith, tha shuas 'na do bhreitheamh,
 Gun chron 's an dithis nach fac thu,—
 Mar h-e a th' ann, cuir air aghairt
 An t-aon a 's lugba 'm bi pheacadh.

Note.—This soog was composed in praise of a young lady, the daughter of Iain mac Eachuinn, the bard's early friend, to the well known air of the pipe tuoe, "Fàilte Phriunnns'." To those who have attended to the variations of that air, as played properly upon the great Highland bag-pipe, it cannot but appear as a very respectable effort, that the bard has met all its variations, quick and slow, with words and with sentiments admirably suited both to the air and to his subject.—Vide Memoir of Edit. 1829.

FHEARAMH òg' leis am miannach pòsdadh,
Nach 'eil na sgebil so. 'g 'ur fàgail trom?
Tha chuid a 's diomhair' tha cur an lìn dibh,
Cha 'u 'eil an trian diubh a' ruigheachd fuinn.
Tha chuid a's faighreachail' air an oighreachd s',
O 'm beil am prise a' dol air chall,
Mar choirean làdir, cur maill air phàirtidh,
Tha barail chàirdean, a's gràdh gun bhonn.

Tha fear a' suiridh an diugh air inighean,
Gun bharail-iomraill nach dean e tèrn;
Bha i uair, 's bu chumha huairidh,
A ghuth d' a cluais, a's a dhreach d' a sùil.
An sean ghaol cinnteach bha aig ar sunnsir',
Nach d'fhuair cead imeachd air feadh na dùthch',
Nach glan a dhearbh i, gu 'n deach' a mharbhadh,
'N uair ni i bàrgan, 'nuair thig fear ùr.

'S iomadh caochladh thig air an t-saoghal,
'S cha chan an fhìrinn nach 'eil e croasd',
Na h-uile maighdean a ni mar rinn i,
Tha fois a h-inntinn an cunnart feasd.
An duine treubhach, mur 'eil e spréidheach,
A dh' aindeoin eud, tha e féin 'g a chosg,
'S le comhairl' ghòraich a h-athair dhòlum,
'G a deanamh deònach le toid, 's le trosg.

O 'n tha 'n gaol ac' air fàs mar Fhaoilleach,
Na bitheadh strí agaibh ri bhì pòsd',
'A seasmachd inntiu cha 'n 'eil thu cinnteach,
Rè fad na h-aon oidhch' gu teacnd an lò;
An tè a phairticheas riut a càirdeas,
Ged tha i 'gràdh sud le cainnt a beòil,
Fo cheann seachduin, thig caochladh fleasgaich,
'S cha 'n fbaigh thu falal dh'i rè do bheò.

Ach 's mòr an näire bhi 'g an sàrachadh,
Oir tha páirt dhiubh de 'n inntiu stòlt',
Mach o phàrantan agus chàirdean,
Bhi milleadh ghràidh siu tha fas gu h-òg;
Mur toir i aicheadh do 'n fhear a's fearr leath',
Ged robh sud craiteach dh'i fad a beò,
Ni h-athair feargach, a beatha searbh dh'i,
'S gur fearr leis marbh i, na 'faicinn pòsd'.

Faodaidh reason a bhi, gu tréigeadh
An fhir a 's beusaich' a théid 'n a triall;
Ged tha e cairdeacb, mur 'eil e págach,
Ud! millidh pràcas na th' air a mhiann;
Tha 'n duine suairce, le barrachd stnamachd,
A' call a bhuanachd ri té gun chiall;
'S fear eile 'g éiridh, gun stic ach léine,
'S e cosnadh géill dh'i mu 'n stad e srian.

Mur 'eil stuamachd a' cosnadh gruagaich,
Och! ciod a' bhuaidh air am beil a geall?
Nach mor an neònacbas fear an dòchais so,
Gun bhi cùòdach ni 's modha bonn;
Fear eile sìneadh le mìre 's taosnadh,
Le comunn failteach, no aigneadh trom,
'S ge math na trì sin gu cosnadh aontachd,
Cha 'n 'eil a h-aon diubh nach 'eil a' call.

Ma tha e pagach, ma tha e sgathach,
Ma tha e nàrrach, ma tha e mear;
Ma tha e sanntach, ma tha e greannar,
Ma tha e cainnteach, a's e gun chron;
Ma tha e bòidheach, ma tha e seolta,
Ma tha e còmhnhard, ma tba e glan;
Ma tha e diomhain, ma tha e gniomhach,
Ud, ud! cha 'n fhiacb le a h-aon diubh sin!

Ma tha e págach, tha e gun näire,
'S ma tha e sgathach, cha bheag a' chrois;
Ma tha e gaolach, tha e 'n a chaora;
'S ma tha e failteach, tha e 'n a throsg;
Matha e gniomhach, their cuiid, "Cha 'n fhiach e,
Tha 'm fear ud mòdhair, 's e sud a chron;"
'S ma tha e failligeach ann an aiteachadh,
"Cha bbi barr aig", is bi'dh e bochd."

Cò an t-aon fhear air feadh an t-saoghal,
A tha nis cinnteach gu 'n dean e turn;
'S nach 'eil a h-aon de na tha mi 'g innseadh,
Nach 'eil 'n a dhíeadh dha air a chil.

An duine meanmnach, 's e toimhseil, ainmeil,
Cha chluinn thu 'aum ach mar flear gun diù ;
'S nach fhaic thu féin, air son iomadh reusoin,
Gu 'n deach' an spréidh os ceann céille, 's cliù.

Tha fear fós ann, a dh-aindeoin dòchais,
A dh' fhaodas pòsadh gun mhòran char ;
Na'm biodh de chiall aig' na dh' aithnich riabh,.
Gu 'n do dh-éirich grian anns an àirdre 'n ear ;
Dean 'n a dhuaire e, a rugadh 'n cuaran,
Thoir baile 's buar dha, a's treabhair gheal ;
Leig labhairt uair dha, ri athair gruagaich,
'S bheir mi mo chluas dhut mar faigh e bean.

A M B R U A D A R.

AIR FONN—"Latha siubhal éléibhe dhomh."

CHUNNA' mise bruadar,
Fhir nach cuala, thig a's cluinn ;
Ma's breisleach e, cur easg air ;
'S ma tha neart ann, bi 'g a sheinn ;
Na m' b' fhìor dhomh féin gu 'm faca mi,
Am Freasdul, 's e air beinn ;
Gach nì a's neach 'n a amharc,
Is e coimhead os an cinn.

Chunna' mi gach seòrsa 'n sin,
A' tigh'n'n 'n an cròthaibh, cruinn ;
'S na 'm b' fhìor dhomh, gu'n robh mòran diubh,
A b' eòl domh ri mo linn ;
Ach cù a bha air thòis dhìubh,
Ach na daoine pòsd' air sreing,—
'S a' cheud fhear a thuirt falal diubh,
Cruaidh chasaid air a mhlnaoi.

Labhair glagair àraidih ris,—
"S tu leig mo naimhdeas leam.
N uair phòs mi ghobach, àrdanach,
Nach obadh cnàmhan rium ;
S e 's caaint an taobh mo leapa dh'i,
An uair is pailte rùm,
Gu cealgach, feargach, droch-mheinneach,
'S an droch-nair, teann a null."

"Their i ris, gu h-ain-meinneach,
'N uair dh' éireas fearg 'n a sròin,
Gu 'm b' olc mi ann an argumaid,
'S nachl b' fheàrr mi thogail sgeòil,—
Cha b' ionann duit 's do c' ainn e sud,
'S deagh sheanachaidh e 's taigh-òsd',
O ! 's buidhe dhi-s' thug dhachaigh e,
B' e féin am fleasgach còir.

"Nuair chlosas mis' ri smuaineachadh,
Gach truaigne thug mo shàr ;
Their i, sgeigil, beumach, riùm,
Gur ro mhath dh-éisdinn sgeul ;
Is their i ris na labhras mi,
Gu 'n canadh clann ni b' fhearr ;
Aon ghniomh, no cainnt, cha chinnich leam,
Nach di-mol i le 'beul."

Thuirt ise :—“ Gu 'n b' endach sud,

‘S gu 'n robh e brengach, meallt,’
Is thug i air mar b' abhaist d'i,
Nach abradh 'bheul-sa draind ;
“ Tha 'n adhare sgorrach, éitidh ;
Ach o 'n 's éigin d'i bhi ann,
O ! ciod e 'n t-àite 'n càra dh'i
Bhi fàs, na air a' cheann.”

Thubhairt fear de 'n àireamh ud,

Bu tàbhachdaiche bl' ann,
“ A Fhreasdail, rinn thu fàbhor rinu,
Am páirt 'nuair thug thu clann ;
Ged thug thu bean mar mhàthair dhaibh,
Nach dean gach dàrna h-àm,
Ach h-uile gnòmlì a 's tarsuinne,
Mar 'thachras thigh'n 'n a ceann.”

Fhreagair Freasdal reusonta,—

“ S e 's feumail dhut bhi stuaim',
'S a liuthad là a dh' éisd mi riut,
Is tu 'na t-éigin chruaiddh ;
Mu 'n do chumadh léine dhut,
Bha 'n céile sin riut fuaithe,
Is ciod iad nis na fàthan,
Air am b' àill leat a cur bhuat ?”

“ Nach bochid dhomh, 'nuair thig strainsearan,
Bhios ceòlmhor, cainnteach, binn,
'Nuair 's math leam a bhi fialaidh riuth',
'S aìn bhios i fiata ruinn ?
'N uair dh' èlas mi gu cùirteil leath',
'S e gheibh mi cùl a cinn,
'S bidh mise 'n sin 'n aìn bhreugadair,
Ag ràdh gu 'm beil i tinn.

“ Cha tàmh i 'm baile dithribh leam,
Cha toigh leath' gaoth nam beann,
An t-àite mosach, fàsachail,
Ain beil an cràbhadh gamm ;
'S ged chuir mi làmh ri eaglais i,
Cha 'n fhada dh' fhanas ann,—
'An t-àite dona, tàbhurnach,
Bidh sluagh cur neul 'n a ceann.' ”

Sin 'n uair thubhairt Freasdal ris,—

“ 'S e thig do 'n neach ni chòir ;
A bhi ni 's dlùith' r' a dhleasannas,
Mar 's truime crois 'g a leòn ;

Ged shaoileadh tu gu 'm maitheadh dhut,
Na pheacaich thu gu h-ug;
Cha 'n fhear gun chamadh crannchair thu,
Fhad 's bhios a' cham-chomhdh'l s' beò.

" Cha 'n fhac thu féin o rugadh tu,
Aon cheum de m' obair-s' fiar,
Ged chunnaic mi mar chleachdadhl tu,
Do dhreachdan 's do chiall ;
Cia h-iomadh tric gu beartas,
Bh' air an dìtheadh steach 'n ad chliabh,
Nach fhaic thu gur h-aon aisin dhiot,
A chum air ais sud riabh.

" Aidich féin an fhìrinn,
Agus chi thu 'n sin mar bha,
A' mheud 's a ghabh mi shaothair rith',
Gus an caoch'leadhl i ni b' fhearr ;
Dh-fheuch bochdainagus beartas dh'i,
Is euslaint agns slaint',
Is thainig mi cho fagus d'i,
'S a bagairt leis a' bhas.

" Nuair a dh' fheuch mi bochdain dh'i,
'S ann ortsa chuir i 'm fàt ;
'S cha mhò a rinn an t-socair i
Ni b' fhosgarryaich' rí cùch ;
Le h-euslaint' nuair a bhun mi rith',
S ann frionasach a dh-fhas ;
An t-slainte bhuam cha 'n aidich i,
'S cha chreid i bhuam am bàs."

Cò sin a chite tighinn,
Dol a bhruidhean ris gu teznn,
Ach duine bha cruaidh chasad
Air a' mhuaibh bu ghasd' a bh' ann ;
'S e'g radh :— " Nuair théid mi 'n taice rith',
'S ain bhios oir' gart a's greann,
'S nuair their mi chainnt a 's dealaidh rith',
Gu 'n cuir i căr 'n a ceann.

" Gur h-e trian mo dhìtidh oir',
Nach bi i faoilidh rinm ;
Ni i sgeig a's cnaid orm,
Gun ghair' a' tigh'nn á còm ;
'Nuair bhitheas sinn 'n ar n-aonaran,
Bidh 'cainnt 's a h-aogas trom,
Ach 'n uain this na fir gu fuirmcil,
Gheibh sinn òl, a's cuirm, a's fonn.

" A Fhreasdail, rinn thu seirbhe dhonh,
'S ann orm a chuir thu chuing,
'S gu 'm b' eòl dut gu 'n robh m' aimsir,
Is mo mheanmuadh air an claoiadh ;
B' furasd' dhut 's na bliadhnaibh ud,
Mo riarachadhl le mnaoi
Bhiodh ùmhail, cairdeil, rianail dhomh,
'S nach iarradh fear a chaoiadh."

" Dh' fhaodainn-sa do phòsadh
Ris an t-seòrsa tha thu 'g ràdh,
Ach 's aonan as a' chiad dhiubh,
Bheireadh riachadh dhut ràidh ;
An tè de 'n nadur neònach ud,
'S nach toireadh pòg gu bràth,
Aon dràm no deoch cha 'n blar leath',
'S cha dheònaich i do chàch."

Air an dara dùsal dhomh,
'N déigh dùsgadh as mo shuain,
Chunnaic mi na daoine sin,
Ag sgaoileadh mach mu 'n cairt ;
S na h-uile bean bha pùsda sin,
A' dol 'n an dùnaibh suas,
Ach 's aon tè as an fhicheadh dhiubh,
Bha buidheach leis na fhuair.

Labbair aon bean iunnsuicht' dhinbh,
Bu mhodha rùm na cùch :—
" Am biadh, an deoch, 's an aodaichean,
Cha 'n fhaodainn bhi ni 's sathaicht' ;
Ach gu m' fhagail trom, neo-shunndach,
Cha 'n eòl domh pung a's dàch',
Na gealltanais mo thòileachadh,
Gun choimhlionadh gu bràth.

" An duine sin tha mar rùm,
Tha sìor ghearan air mo shunnd,
Dhearrbhainn féin air 'fhiacaill,
Ged nach d' iarr mi, nach do dhiùlt ;
Bidh mòran diubh mi-reusonta,
'Nuair gheibh thu 'n sgeul gu grunnd,
Tha dùil ac' gu 'n ghiuais mireag riuth',
An spiorad nach 'eil annt'.

" 'S neònach leam an dràsda 'n so,
Sior àbhaist nam fear pòsd',
Their gu ladarn' dàna,
Nach do thoirmig aithne pòg ;
Cia mòr an diùbhcas beusan
Th' eadar eucoir agus coir,
Cha 'n eòl domh aite-seasaimh,
Gun a chos air aon diubh dhò."

Chunnaic mi 's an àite sin,
Ni àbhachdach gu leòir,
Is shaoil mi gu 'm bu reuson e,
O 'n tigeadh eudach mòr ;
Ciod bh' ann ach fear gun choinas,
'G iarraidh comunn tè gun chòir,
'S bha fior dhroch bheachd aig ceud deth,
'S a bhean féin 'g a chur an spòrs.

Chuireadh e neul 'n am eanchainn-s',
A bhi 'g ainmeachadh le caimnt,
A' mheud 's a bh' ann de dh-argumaid,
'S do chomunn gearrta greannu' ;

Bha na ceadan pears' an sud,
 'N an seasamh ann an rànc,
 'S bha casaidean aig mòran diubh,
 Ma'n aon neach bha toirt taing.

AN DUINE SANNTACH

AGUS AN SAOGHAL, A' GEARAN AIR A CHEILE.

AN DUINE.

'S mi-chomainneach thusa, Shaoghal,
 'S b' abhaist dhut,
 'S olc a leanadh tu ri daoine
 A leanadh riut;
 Am fear a cheangail sreang gu teann riut,
 Leis a' ghlut;
 'Nuair tharruinn gach fear a cheann fèin d'i,
 'S es' a thuit.

AN SAOGHAL.

Is sibhse tha mar sin, a dhaoine,
 'S b' abhaist duibh,
 'S olc a leanadh sibh ri saoghal
 A leanadh ribh;
 Ged chuir mise sorchan fodhaibh,
 'S air gach taobh,
 Mas sibh fèin tha gabhal teichidh,
 Soraidh leibh!

AN DUINE.

O, na'n gleidheadli tu mis', a shaoghal,
 Bhithinu dha do réir,
 Oir tha na h-uile ni a's toigh leam
 Fo na ghréin;
 C' uim' an leigeadh tu gu dìlinn
 Mi gu péin,
 'S nach eil flaitheas cho prìscil dhomh
 Riut fèin.

AN SAOGHAL.

S ann bu chòir dhut bhi cur t-eòlais
 Ni bu deis',
 Far am biodh na h-uile sòlas
 Ni bu treis',
 Ged ni mis' an t-umaidh àrach
 Rì car greis,
 'N uair a thogras e fèin m' flagail,
 Leigeam leis.

Binn sin uair-eigin,

A' BHLIADHNA na caluinn-s',
 Bu gheur am faobhar a ghearradh an teud,
 Bh' eadar Dòmhnull's am Morair,
 'S iad mar aon ann an comunn 's an gaol ;
 Ach cia b' e ni bha's na cairtean,
 Chaidh e feargach oirnn seachad an dé ;
 'S cò a's dàcha bhi coireach,
 Na'm fear a dh-fhasgas am baile leis fèin ?
Binn sin uair-eigin, &c.

Chunnaic mis' air a' bhòrd thu,
 Bhliadhna ghabh Sine Ghòrdon an t-àt,
 'S cha chuireadh tu t-aodann

 Ach 'nuair shaoil leat do shorchan,

Dearbh cha ghabhainn-sa iognadh
 As an leac so chuir mìltean a muigh,
 Dhe na corra-cheannaich' bhriosgach,
 Aig am faite 'n dà iosgaid air chrith ;

 Ma thuit es' aig an dors,
 Cia mar sheasas fear eile 's am bith ?
Binn sin uair-eigin, &c.

'S ann tha ceumannan Freasdail
 Toirt nan ceudan de leasanan duinn,
 Deanamh iobairt de bheagan,
 Gu' in biodh càch air an teagastg r' an linn ;
 Ach ma thuiteas fear aithghearr,
 Le bhi sealtruinn ro bhras os a chinn,
 Cha'n eil fhios agam, aca,

Ach tha m' earbsadh tre chunnart,
Mo għarbh-chnaimhean uile bhi slān,—
Oir ged a thàrladh dhomh clibeadh,
Cha 'n 'eil àird' aig mo smigeid o 'n làr.
Binn sin uair eigin, &c.

Ach mu 'n chùis tha d' a leantuinn,
Cuiream cùl ri bhi cantuinn ni's léir;
Ach na 'm biadh brìgh na mo chomhairl',

Ian Mhic-Uilleim 's an t-Srathan,
Faodaidh deireadh do lathaich-s' bhi searbh,
Ged tha 'n aimsir-s' cho sitheil,
'S nach 'eil guth riut mu phris air an tàrbh;
Chaidh luchd-fabhoir a bhriseadh,
Na bha 'n dreuchd eadar Ruspunn's am Pàrbh;
Am fear a thig le mòr urram,
Gheibh e ceud mìle mallachd 's an fhàlbh.*

Note.—Dr Morrison, the hero of this song, was for a long time in high esteem and favour in the family of Lord Reay; but at length a misunderstanding arising between them, he found cause to leave the family, reflecting, at the same time, on the fluctuating temper and unsteady favour of the great, and repeating the old Gaelic adage, “Is sleamhnuinn an leac a th'aig dorus an taigh’ mhòir.”

Aon duine cha tar do thréigsinn;
Thug thu an dràsd
Dhuinn buille no dhà,
Chuir eaglaisean bànn, a's foghlum;
Is 's fhurasd dhomh ràdh,
Gur goirid do dhàil,

Bhudhean a b' àirde,
A bhiodh do chàch ro fheumail;
A bhruidhean a b' fheàrr
A' tighinn o 'm beul,
'S an cridheachan làn de reuson;
Chaidh gibheteachan gràis
A mheasgadh 'n an gnàths,
'S bha 'n cneasdachd a' fàs d' a réir sin.

Dithis bha 'n geall
Air gearradh á bonn,
Gach ain-iocdh, gach feall, 's gach cucoir;
Dà sholus a dh-fhalbh
A earrannan garbh,
Dh-fhàg an talamh-sa dorch d' a réir sin;
Ge d' tha e ro chruaidh,
Gu 'n deach' iad 's an uaigh,
Tha cuid a gheibh buaidh a's feum dheth;
Mar ris gach aon ni,
Dh-aithris iad dhuinn,
Chaidh 'n gearradh á tim an leughaidh.

Dithis a bh' ann,
Bu chomhairl' 's bu cheann,
Do phobull fhuair àm g' an éisdeachd;
Dithis, bha 'm bàs.

Tha sgeulan r' a inus'
Mu dhéighinn na dith's,
A' s feumail a bhi sna ceudan;
Feudaidh mi ràdh,
Cia teumach am bàs,
Nach tug e ach pairt d' a bheum uainn,
Ged thug e le tinn,
An corpa do 'n chill,
Bidh iomradh ro bhiun 'n an déigh orr';

Is cleachdamaid trà air reuson;
Nach faic sibh o'n bha,

Gu 'n ruith iad ni b' fhérr an réis ud;
'S mac-samhuil dhuinn iad,
Ged nach 'eil sinu cho àrd,

 Na earb'maid gu bràth,
 Gu 'n ruig sin an t-àit-s'
 Mur lean sinn ri pàirt d' an ceumain.

Tha 'n teachdair s' air tòir
 Gach neach a tha beò,
 'G an glacadh an cùir no 'n encoir ;
 Na gheibh e 'n a dhòrn,
 Cha reic e air òir,
 Ri gul, no ri deoir cha 'n èisd e.
 Chi mi gur fùi
 Leis tighinn do 'n chùil,
 Gu fear th' ann an clùd mar éideadh ;
 'S ged dheanamaid dùn,
 Cha cheannaich e dhuinn,
 Aon mhionaid de dhùin o 'n eng sin.

An dithis so chuaidh,
 Cha rachadh cho lnath,
 Na 'n gabhadh tu uainn an éirig ;
 Cha leig'maid 'n an dith's

 Na 'm b' urradh sinn diol le seudan :
 Ach 's teachdair ro dhàn'
 Thu, tighinn o 's àird,
 Bnailidh tu stàtaibh 's défrean ;
 Cha bhacar le 'prìs,
 Air t' ais thu a rìs,
 'S tu dh' easbuidh an aoin mu 'n téid thu.

Giacaidh tu chloinn

 Mu 's faic iad ach soills' air éigin ;
 Giacaiddh tu 'n òigh,

 Mu 'm feadar am pùsadh éigheachd.
 Ma 's beag, no ma 's mòr,
 Ma 's seau, no ma 's òg,
 Ma 's cleachdaimh dhuinn cùir no eucoir ;
 Ma tha sinn 'n ar beò,
 Is anail 'n ar sròn,
 Cuirear uile sinn fo na féich ud.

Tha 'm bàs os ar cinn,
 'G ar glacadh le tinn,
 'S le fradhrac ar cinn cha léir e ;
 Ach tha glaodh aig' cho cruaidh,

 Nach dearc sibh a chùl,
 Is fear aig' fo iùil,
 'S e sealtninn le 'shùil gu geur air ;
 An diugh ciod am fàth,
 Nach bidh'maid air gheàrd,
 'S gu 'n bhuin e ar nàbuidh 'n dé bhuainn.

A chumhachd a tha
 Cur chugainn a bhàis,
 Gun teagamh tiach pàighean 'fheich dha ;
 Tha misneachd a's bonn
 Aig neach a tha 'n geall,
 Air tagradh na gheall do bheul dha.
 Oir 's athair do chlann
 A dh' fheitheas a th' ann,
 'S fear-taighe do 'u bhantraich fèin e ;
 'S e'n Cruithear a th' ann,
 A bheir gu neo-ghann,
 Na thoileas sinn anns a' chreutair.

M A R B H R A N N,
 DO MHAIGHSTIR MURCHADH MAC-DHOMHNUIL,
 MINISTEAR SGIRE DHIURINNIS
 AN DUTHAICH MHIC-AOIDH

'S e do bhàs, 'Mhaighstir Murchadh,
 Rinn na h-àiteau so dhorchadh,
 'S ged chaidh dàil ann do mharbhann,
 Labhraidih baibhachd ri céill.
 Na 'm biadh a' Chriosdaidheachd ionlan,
 Cha rachadh dì-chuimhn' air t-iomradh,
 No do ghnìomharan ionlaid,
 Ach leantadh t-iomchan-s' gu léir ;
 Gur h-e chràdh mì 'n am mheannadh,
 'S do luchd-gràidh agus leaumhuinn,
 Meud do shaothrach mu 's d' fhàlbh thu,
 'S lugh'd a luig as do dhéigh ;—
 Bheir cuiid leasanan buadhach,
 O bhrnaich fasanan t-naghach,
 Nach tug daiseachan suarach,
 As na chual iad bhuat fèin.

Fior inhasgull chionn pàidhidh,
 No stad gealtach le gàbhadh,
 Bhrigh mo bheachd-s' ann an dànaibh,
 'S mi nach deanadh, 's nach d' riun :
 Ach na 'm biadh comain no stà dhut,
 Ann a t-alladh chur os àird dut,
 Co acht mis' do 'u bu chìra,
 'S co a b' fheàrr ua thu thoil ?
 Bhuidhean mholtach-s' a dh-fhàg sùn,
 Ged nach urr' iad a chlàistinn,
 'S còir bhi 'g aithris am pàirtean,
 Gun fhàbhor, 's gun fhoill ;
 Oir 's buain' a' chuimhne bheir bárda,
 Air deagh bhnadhannaibh nàduir,
 Na 'u stoc cruinn sin a dh-fhàg iad,
 Is comh-stri chàirdean 'g a roinn.

Bha do ghibhteann-sa làidir,
 Air am measgadh le gràsan,
 Anns a' phearsa bha àluinn,
 Lom-lan de na chéil ;

An tuigs' bu fuchdmhoir' gu gleidheadh,
 An toil a b' èasgaidh gu matheadh,
 'S na h-uile h-aigneadh cho flathail,
 Fad do bheatha gu léir.

Bliodh do chomhairl' an còmhnuidh,
 Le do chobhair's do chòmhuadh,
 Do luchd-gabhal na còrach,
 Réir's mar sheòladh tu féin ;
 Dheanadh tu 'n t-aindeonach deònach,
 Is an t-aineolach eòlach—
 'S b' e fer shonas do bheòshaint,
 Bhi tabhairt còrr dhaibh de léirs'.

Bha thu caomh ri fear feumach,
 Bha thu saor ri fear reusont',
 Bha thu aodanach, geurach,
 Mar chloich, ri eucoireach, cruaidh ;
 Bu tu 'n tabhairteach maoineach,
 Bu tu 'n labhairteach saothreach,
 Bu tu 'n comhairleach tìneil,
 'S crìoch a' ghaoil ann ad fluath ;
 Tha e 'n a ladarnas gàbhaidh,
 Bhi le h-eagal ag aicheadh,
 Nach 'eil stoc aig an Ard-Rìgh,
 Ni an àird na chaidh uainn ;
 Ach 's fàbhor Freasdail, 's a's ioghnadh,
 No 'n ni a 's faisge do mhìorbhui,
 Am bearn so th' agaunn a lionadh,
 Gu blas miannach an t-sluagh.

Leam is beag na tha dh' fhoighmeachd,
 Mu na thubhlairt, 's na rinn thu,
 'S mu na chliù sin a thoill thu,
 O 'n là chaili simu thu féin ;
 Ach mòran tartar is stroighlich,
 Air son féich, agus oighreachd,
 Fàgaidh beartaich mur fhinc e,
 Air an cloinn as an déigh ;
 'S e ni a 's minig a chi mi,
 Dh' aindeoин diombunachd time,
 Gu'm beil giontaich nan daoine,
 Tarruinnu claoiadh 'n an céill ;
 Ach cha 'u 'eil iomairt no mòtion,
 Auns na freasdail so dhomhsa,
 Nach toir leasan 'n am chòdhail,
 Le seann nòt bho do bheul.

Toigheach, faicilleach, fiamhach,
 Smuainteach, falach, gnòmhach,
 Aun do ghnothachaibh diomhair,
 Gun bhi dòmhain aon uair ;
 Chaith thu t-aimsir gu saothreach,
 Air son sonas nan daoine ;
 'S cha b' e truallidheachd shaoghalt
 No aon ni chur suas.
 'Nuair tha nitheana taitneach,
 Dol a mugh' a chion cleachdaidh,
 B' e chùis fhamaid fear t-fhasain,
 'S cha b' e beartas a's uailis',

A' dol o 'n bheatha bu sheirbhe,
 Tre na cathan bu ghairbhe,
 Dh-ionnsuidh Flaitheas na tairbhe,
 Gu buan shealbhachadh duais.

Gu'm beil cealgaireachd chràbaidh,
 Air a dearbhadh gu gàbhaidh,
 Tha 'n a gairisinn r' a clàistion,
 Is ro chràiteach r' a luaidh ;
 Nuair a thuit thu le bàs bhuan,
 Mar gu 'm briseadh iad bràighdean,
 Dhùisg na h-uile sin a b' àbhaist,
 A bhi an àndur an t-shuaigh ;
 Gu'm beil cath aig an Ard-Rìgh,
 Gu bhìgabhal nam pàirtean,
 Auns na chruthaich e gràsan,
 Thug air nìghairt gach buaidh ;
 Rinn sud sinne 'n ar fàsach,
 Anys an talamh-s' an trà so,
 So a' Bharail th' aig pàirt diubh,
 Tric 'g a ràtann air t-uaigh.

An duine thigeadh a suas riut,
 Ann an guth 's ann an cluasan,
 Cha 'n fhasac riamh a's cha chualas,
 Is 's e mo smuaintean nach cluinn ;
 Ged bu bheartach do chràbhadh,
 Bha do mheas air gach tálann,
 'S tu a thuigeadh ua dàna,
 'S am fear e dheanadh na rainn ;
 Chuid a b' àirde 's a' bhuaidh sin,
 Tha 'd air stad dheth o 'u uair sin,
 Ach na daiseachan suarach,
 Tha mu 'n cuairt duinn a' sein ;
 'Nuair a cheilear a' glrian, orr'.
 Sin 'n uair ghoireas na biastan,—
 Cailleach-oidhch' agus strianach,
 An coilltean fiadhaich, 's an glinn.

'S eòl domh daoine 's an aimsir-s',
 Dh-fhàs 'n an cuideachd glé ainmeil,
 Tigh'nn air nitheanan talmhaidh,
 Ann an gearrabhairreachd gheur ;
 Ach 'n uair thogar o 'n làr iad,
 Gus na nitibh a's àirde,
 S ann a chluinneas tu pàirt diubh,
 Mar na pàisdean gun chéill ;
 Fhuair mi car ann do rianaibh-s',
 Le do ghihitean bha fialaidh,
 Nach do dhearc mi, ma 's fior dhomh.
 An aon neach riàmh ach thu féin,—
 Càil gach cuideachd a lionadh,
 Leis na theireadh tu dòmhan,
 'S crìoch do sheanchais gun fhiaradh,
 Tighinn gu diadhaidheachd threun.

Bha do chuid air a sgaoileadh
 Gu bhi cuideachadh dhaoine,

'S fhad 's a bha thu 's an t-saoghal,
 'S tu nach faodadh bhi pàidht' ;
 Chuid bu taitneich 'n an iomchainn,
 Cha 'n 'eil facal mu 'n timcheall,
 Cha bhi ceartas mu 'n iomradh,
 Ach le 'n imrich, 'n am bàs.
 'S truagh am peanas a thoill-sinn,
 Thaobh nan ciontan a rinn sinn,—
 Bhi sìor ghearradh ar goibhlean,
 'S ar cuid theaghlaichean fàs ;
 Gun cheann laidir gu fhoighneachd,
 Co ni 'n àirde na chaili sunn,
 Cuid, d' an cràdh, là is oidhche,
 Nach tig t-oighre 'na t-àit.

Chaochail iad rianan,
 O chioslaich am bàs thu,
 Cha 'n 'eil meas am bliadhna,
 Air ciall, no air cràbhadh ;
 Thionndaidh na.biastan
 Gu riastradh gràineil,
 Leo-san leig Dia,
 Srian o 'n là sin.
 'S cianail, &c.

Rinn cuid bròn
 Fa choir do bhàis-sa.
 Ach ghabh iad sgios,
 Ann am mìos no dhà dheth ;
 Cha 'n 'eil mis' mar iadsan,
 Riaraidh' cho trà dheth,—
 An ceann na bliadhna,
 'S cianail a tha mi.
 'S cianail, &c.

CUMHA DO MHR. MURCHADH.

[A rinn am bard an ceann bliadhna an déigh bàis an duin' uasail sin, air iarrtas a mbic am fior Gàel suairc ionnsaichte, Mr. Padruig Mac-Dòmhnuill, ministeir Sgìre' Chille-moire an Earraghàel, air dha thigheinn do'n dùthach, agus a bhi aig àm áraidh an cùiseachd a' phàird.]

CO-SHEIRM.

'S cianail, a's cianail,
 O! 's cianail a tha mi,
 'N ceann na bliadhna,
 O! 's cianail a tha mi,
 A Mhaighstir Murchadh,
 'S tu air m' fhàgail,
 'S uaing nach d' fhuair sinn,
 Linn no dhà dhiot.

'S caomh leam an teaghlaich,
 'S a' chlann sin a dh-flàg thu,
 'S caomh leam na fuinn,
 Bhidhte seimh ann ad fhàrdaich ;
 'S caomh leam bhi 'g ùrachadh
 Chliù nach tug bàs dhiot ;
 'S caomh leam an tìr th'air do thaobh,
 Dheth na Bhàghan !
 'S cianail, &c.

ORAN A' GHEAMHRAIDH.

AIR FONN—"Through the wood, laddie."

Moch 's mi 'g éiridh 's a mhadainn,
 'S an sneachd air a' bleinn,
 Ann au lagan beag monaidh,
 Ri madainn ro dhoindidh,
 'S ann a chuala mi 'n ionan,
 Chuir an loinid o sheinn,
 Is am pigidh ag éigheach
 Ris na speuraibh, 's cha' bbinn.

CHRIDHE na féile,
 A bhéil na tabhachd,
 Cheann na céille,
 'S an fhoghluium chràbhaidh,

 An am dhut paigheadh,
 An uachdar a' bhùird,
 A ghnùis na failte.
 'S cianail, &c.

Tha mise 'n am aonar,
 Mar aon ann am fàsach,
 'S ni gun fheum dhomh,
 Aobhar ghàire,
 Cuims' ann an cainnt,
 Ann an rann no dàmachd,
 Chiornn 's nach 'eil thu ann
 G' an clàistiuin.
 'S cianail, &c.

Bithidh am beithe cròn, erotach,
 Siòr stopadh o 'fhàs ;
 Mar ri gaoth gharbh shéididh,
 Agus ioma-chathadh 'g éiridh,
 Cròcan barraich a' gélleadh,
 Mìos éigheach an àil ;
 A' mhìos chneatanach, fhuachdaidh,
 Choiuinheach, ghruamach, gun tiàths'.

Bidh gach doire dubh uaigneach,
 'N dùil fuasgladh o bhùlath ;
 Bithidh an snodhachd a' traoghadh,
 Gus an fhreumhlàs na shìne e,
 Crupaideh chaitis ris gu dionach,
 Gus an crion i gu lär ;
 'N lon-dubh anns a' mhadainn,
 Sior sgreadail chion blàithis.

Mhòs dheiheasach, chaoile,

 Chuireadh feedail na fuarachd,
 Annis gach badan bu dualaich',
 Dhòirteadh sneachda 'n a ruathar,
 Air chruthach nam beann àrd',.

 'S e na chacirneinean craidhneach,
 Fad na h-oidhch' air an lär.

'S anin bhios Phæbus 'n a reòtachd,
 An ceap nam mòr chruach 's nam beann ;
 Bidh 's an uair sin 's cha neònach,
 Gach eun gearra-ghobach göineach,
 Spioladh iomall an otrach,
 Cur a shròin anns an ðàm ;
 Còmhradh ciùrrta gun bheadradh,
 Le bròn a's sgreadal 'n an ceann.

 Buileach anmlunn a's callaidh,
 SGriobadh ùir as na ballaibh,
 Mìos chur doinionnan glearin,
 'S iad a' beucail gu toirmneach,
 'S cha bhi 'n eirbheirt ach mall.

Ach nach daochail 's a' gheamhradh,

Bidh gach creutair d' a threisead,
 'G iarraidh fasgaidh 's a' choill,
 Bidh na h-ùrlaichean cabrach,

Gabhair geilt dheth na mhadainn,
 Le guth a' chneatain 'n an ceann,
 Is na h-aighean fo euslaimh,
 Air son gun thréig iad a' bheinn.

Sud na puit bu ghoirt gearradh,

 Ghuiineach, ana-bhliochdach, shuachdaidh,
 Shruthach, steallanach, fhuaimneach,
 Thuilchach, an-shocrach, uisgeach,
 Gun dad measaich ach càl,
 Bithidh gach deat, a's gach misseach,
 Glacadh aogais a' bhàis.

Note.—This song appears to be a parody on twelve of the stanzas of M'Donald's "Ode to Summer."—We are inclined to think that on a journey the poet made to the Isle of Skye, he might have heard M'Donald's "Summer Song" and composed this in imitation of it."—Memoir to Edit. 1829.

'S TROM LEAM AN AIRIDH.

[Rinn am bàrd an t-òran so d' a leannan, Anna Moiriston, nighean òg ro chliùiteach, d' an tug e cheud ghaol ; bha e tada 'g a h-iarraidh, agus ise car leam-leat, gun bhi 'g a diùltadh no 'g a gabhair ; ach turus a thug e chun na h-airidh far an robh i aig an am, 's ann a dhreach e oirre an cuideachd an t-saoir bhàin, d' am b' ainm Iain Moraidh, ghàbh e gu ro-throm i a chur cùl ris fèin. Phòs i an saor bàn an déigh so, agus 'se aithris an t-sluaigneach roibh i riambh toilichte gu 'n chuir i cùl ri Rob Donn ; agus cha mho a dhearbhan saor bàn e fèin 'n a chéile ro thaitneach.]

'S TROM leam an airidh,
 'S a ghàir so a tl'innit',
 Gu'n a phairt sin a b'abhaist,
 Bhi 'n dràsd air mo chinn ;

Anna chaol-mhalach, chioch-chorrach,
Shlip-cheannach, ghrinn,
'S Iseabail a bheoil mhilis ;
Mharanaich, bhinn.
Heich ! mar a bhà
Air mo chinn ;
'S e dh-fhas mi cho craiteach,
'S gu'n stà dhomh bhi 'g inns'.
Heich ! &c.

Shiubhail mis' a bluail' ;
Agus shuas feagh nan craobh,
'S gach àit' anns am b'abbhaist,
Bhi tathadh mo ghaoil,
Chunna 'm'm fear bàin,
A's e mèran r'a mhaoi
'S b' fhearr leam nach tarainn
An trà ud na ghaoith.
'S e mar a bha,
Air mo chinn,
A dh' fhag air bheag tath mi
Ge nàr e ri sheinn.
'S e, &c.

Aんな bhuidhe nighean Don'uill,
Na'm b'eol dut mo mì,
'S e do ghradh, gu'n bhi pàidh',
Thug a mhàin bhuam mo chì :
Tha e dhomh ás t-flianais
Cho ghniomhach, 's trà chi.
Diogladh 's a' smuaiseach,
'S gur ciuirrt' tha mo chì.
Air gach trà
'S mi ann an strì,
'Feuchainn ri aicheadh,
'S e fàs rium mar chraibh.
Air, &c.

Labhar i gu h-àilleasach,
Fàiteagach rium :—
'S Cha tòr thu bhi làmh rium,
Gu càradh mo chinn :
Bha siathnar ga m' iarraidh,
Car bliadhna de thim ;
'S cha b' airidh thar èach thu
Theort barr os an cinn.
Hä! hä! hä!
An d' fhàs thu gu tinn
Mas e 'n gaol a bheir bàs ort
Gu'm pàidh thu ga chinn !
Ha! &c.

Ach cia mar bheirinn fuath dhut
Ged' dh-fhuardh thu rium ?
'Nuair a's feargaich mo sheannachas,
Ma t-ainn air do chùl,
Thig t-iomhaigh le h-aannsachd
Mar shamlaidh na m' uidh,

As saoilaidh mi gur gaol sin,
Nach caochail a chaoidh.
'S théid air a ràdh,
Gu'n dh-fhas e as ùr,
'S fasaidh e 'n trà sin,
Cho airde ri túr !
'S tbéid, &c.

On a chualas gu'n gluaisear thu,
Bhuam leis an t-saor,
Tha, mo shuain air a buaireadh
Le bruadairean gaoil,
Gu'n an càirdeas a bha sid
Cha tòr mi bhi saor.
Ga mo bhàrnaigeadh laimh riut
'S e ghnà dhomh mar mhaor.
Ach ma thà
Mi ga do dhì,
B'fheairde mi pagh bhuat
Mas fagadh tu 'n tir.
Ach ma tha, &c.

AN RIBHINN ALUINN EIBHINN OG.

THA Deòrs' air a' Mhàidsear
Ro dhàn' ann an cainnt,
An ribhinn àluinn, éibhinn, òg.
Sior chur an cùil,
Gu robh é-san fo staint *
An rìbhinn àluinn, éibhinn, òg.
Ach 'nuair théid an t-òsd,
Mu 'n bhòrd ann an rancaibh,
Olaidh e gu clàirdeach,
Deoch-slàinte na baintighearn,
Bidh h-uile fear do chàch,
Mach o Sàlaidh, toirt taing dhà,
An rìbhinn àluinn, éibhinn, òg.

Mu 'm faca mo shùl thu,
'S e 'n cliù ort a fhuair mi,
A rìbhinn àluinn, éibhinn, òg.
Mar gu'm bu bhan-dé thu,
Gu 'n gélleadh aii sluagh dhut,
A rìbhinn àluinn, éibhinn, òg.
Shaoil leam gu'm bu bhòsd,
A chuid mhòr bhasa luaidh riut,
Gus na shìn an ceòl,
Sa sin gun tug iad a suas mi,
Ach chreid mi h-uile drann dhet,
'S an danns 'nuair a' ghluaís thu,
A rìbhinn àluinn, éibhinn, òg.

* E bhi cheana pòsd.

Shuidh mi ann an cùil,
 Mar gu 'n dùisgteadh á transs mi,
 A rìbhinn àluinn, éibhinn, òg.
 Is dh'amhairceadh an triùir ud,
 Le 'n sùilean, 's le sàunn ort,
 A rìbhinn àluinn, éibhinn, òg.
 Do réir mar a dh-fhaodainns'
 A h-aodann a rannsachadh,
 Dhùraigeadh Sàlaidh,
 Am Maidsear 'n a bhantraighe;
 Tha aoibhneas air Deòrsa,
 Mu 'n bhrùn bl' air a' Ghraundach,
 A rìbhinn àluinn, éibhinn, òg.

Cha 'n 'eil a h-aon,
 'S a' Bhatàillean d' an eòl thu,
 A rìbhinn àluinn, éibhinn, òg.
 Nach 'eil ort a bruadar,
 Mas fuasgait' no pòsda,
 A rìbhinn àluinn, éibhinn, òg.
 Gus an ruig e Tearlach,
 Am maisdear a b' bige;
 Ged bu chruaidh 'ainm
 Ann an armaitl righe Deòrsa,
 Chaoch'leadh e faobhar,
 Le gaol fa do chòir-sa,
 A rìbhinn àluinn, éibhinn, òg.

Am fear a bhios an gaol,
 Chia 'u fhaodar leis 'fhuadach,
 A rìbhinn àluinn, éibhinn, òg.
 'S ann is cruaidh a 'chàs,
 Gus am pàidhean a dhuais dha,
 A rìbhinn àluinn, éibhinn, òg.
 Fuiligidh mi sùil,
 No fuiligidh mi cluas dhiom,
 Ma tha aon de 'n triùir ud,
 As tric thasa luaidh' riut,
 Cho tinn le do ghaol,
 Ris an aon fhear a's fuath leat,*
 A rìbhinn àluinn, éibhinn, òg.

'S e 'n t-aobhar nach ordaichinn,
 Sàlaidh do 'u Chòirneil,
 A rìbhinn àluinn, éibhinn, òg.
 Eagal gu 'm bitheadh càch
 Ann an naimhdeas r' a bheò dha,
 An rìbhinn àluinn, éibhinn, òg.
 Creutair cho caoimhneil riut,
 Is maighdeann cho bòidheach riut,
 Ri! bu mhòr an diobhail,
 Gu 'n cailleadh tu g' a dheòin iad,
 Suiridhlich an t-saoghal,
 Le aon fhear a phòsadh,
 An rìbhinn àluinn, éibhinn, òg.

Note.—Sally Grant, the subject of the foregoing two songs, was a girl of easy virtue, who followed the Sutherland fencibles. She was at first mistress to the Earl who commanded; she then served the officers, and finally the privates and drummers. Rob composed another song, called "Mòr nigh'n a Ghiocharlam," on the same girl, but the Editor has left it, and a number of others of the same description, out of the book on account of their indecency.

* Be Rob Donn féin "an aon fhear a'b' fhuath leatha."

BRIOGAIS MHIC RUAIRIDH.

[Rinneadh an t-dran so leis a' bhàrd aig bannaís "Iseabail Nic-Aoidh," nighean Iain 'Ic Eachainn, air dh'i bhì pòsda ri Iain, mac Choinich Sutharlain. Bha cruinneachadh ana-barrach sluaigh air a' bhanais de dh-uaislean na dùthcha; ach air do dh-Iain Mac-Eachuinn agus am bàrd cur a mach air a chéile goirid roinnt 'n am sin, cha d' fhuair am bàrd cuireadh thun na bainmse, ged bha e chòmhnuidh ann an àite fagus do laimh. Ach air do Choinneach Sutharlan, athair fhír na bainmse, thiginn air an ath mhadaimh an dèagh a' phòsdaidh, agus Rob Donn ionndrainn, thubhairt e ri Iain Mac-Eachuinn, gu 'm b' fhearr cuireadh a thoirt do 'n bhard 'n a thràth, no gu 'n cluimte aseula mu 'n bhanais fastadh. Bha fios aig Iain Mac-Eachuinn, nach tigeadh am bàrd air 'ailleas-sa, ged chuireadh e fios air. An sin chuir na h-uaislean uile, 'n ainnm fein, fios air, agus mur tigeadh a leis an teachdaircachd sin, gu 'n rachadh iad fein uile g' a shireadhl. Thàinig Rob Donn gu toileach; oir bha mòr spéis aig do dh-Iain Mac-Eachuinn, 's d' a theaghlaich, ged thainig eadar iad aig an àm sin. Air an t-slighe dh-ionnsuidh taigh na bainmse, dh-fhoigh-nich Rob Donn ris an teachdairc thainig d' a iarraldh. An do thachair ni àmhuitteach 's am bith 'n am measg o thòisich a' bhanais? Thuirt an teachdaire nach cual e-san ach aon rud—Gu 'n do chaill "Mac Ruaraidh beag," gille thainig an cois fhír na bainmse, a briogais. Bu leoir so lics a' bhàrd, agus mu 'n d'rainig e taigh na bainmse, ged nach robh ann ach astar dà mhile, bha 'n t-dran déanta; agus cho luath 's a shuidh e, thoisich e air a ghabhail.]

*Note.—This song was composed on a rake in Sutherlandshire, who, having got a number of young women in the family way, was obliged to take refuge in the Sutherland fencibles, where the poet gave him the name of Boc Glas—a name that he retained during life. The tune is excellent, and may justly be entitled the first of the Sutherlandshire pipe jigs. It was the poet's own composition. He also composed several other popular airs of great merit.*

Gu neartaich an sealbh, &c.

SHAOIL LEAM NACH LABHRADH E
 MU'N A' BHUNTAT*,
 ACH BIDH E NI'S PAIGHT' NO SHAOIL LEIS,
 NA 'N TIGEADH AU DONAS DO 'N BHAIL-S' 'NA DHEANN, GU TUGAINNU AIR CHEANNU DA FAOLAN.
Gu neartaich an sealbh, &c.

* The bard and Faolan being one day planting potatoes in a field near a public-house, some acquaintances of the former came that way, who went in to have some refreshment, and took him along with them. Faolan also followed, and got his "shell," but instead of returning again to his work, he went home and told the bard's wife that his master had abandoned the potatoe planting and went on the spree, and that he could not work by himself. On Rob returning home at night, Faolan's story was related to him, and before supper was ready this song was composed on him.

TURUS DHAIBHI' DO DH' ARCAMH.

[Bha Daibhidh so 'n a bhuachaille, agus 'n a àireach, aig duin 'usal àraidi, ann am bail' eile, beagan mhiltean bho 'aite féin; agus 'nuair a bha Daibhidh dol dachaigh leis an im agus leis a' chàise, gu mhaighstir, fhuair e air báta ceilpe, bha dol an rathad; ach 's ann chuireadh leis an stóirm iad air tir ann an Arcamh, 's ged a b' ann 's a' ghrunnd a rachadh Daibhidh, cha deanadh na nàbaidh-nean mòran caoidh air a shon.]

NACH cruaidh, craiteach, an t-aiseag,
A fhuair Dhaibidh do dh' Arcamh,
Dh-shalbh an càise, 's a' cheilp, a's e-féin.
Nach cruaidh, &c.

O 'n chaidh a bhàs dheanamh cinnteach,
Shuas mu bhraighe Loch-Uinnseard,
Gu'm bu ghàireach gùth minn as a dhéigh.
O 'n chaidh, &c.

Thubhairt nigh'n Dho'uill 'Ic Fhiunnlaidh,
Ris an t-Siorramh neo-shunndach,
Dearbh cha mhise an t-aon neach tha 'n éis.
Thubhairt nigh'n, &c.

Ma chaill thusa t' fhear impidh,
Chaill mise m' fhear aon-taigh ;
Co nis is fear-punndaidh do 'n spréidh ?
Ma chaill thusa, &c.

Bha do nàbaidhnean toigheach,
Anns gach bàgh 'g iarrайдh naidheachd,
'S leis a' chradh bh'orr', cha'n fhaigheadh iad deur
Bha do nàbaidhnean, &c.

O na cuajutean, gun mhilleadh,
Shìn air sluagh ud air sileadh gu léir.
Ach o 'n chual iad, &c.

Cha bhi creutair gun chràdh as do dheigh.
Mach o acaraich, &c.

Ach ma 's bàs dut mas tig thu,
'S ann bhios deuchainn a ghliocais,
Aig an fhear bhios cur lic ort le spéis.
Ach ma 's bàs, &c.

Sgrìobhar suaicheantas, &c.

Ceann griomach a bhagair,
Sùil mhìogach nam prabán,
Beul biogach nan cagar 's nam breug.
Ceann grìomach, &c.

'S ann tha 'n eachdairidh ghàbhaidh,
Nis mu ais-eiridh Dhaibhidh,
'S e tighinn dachaigh 'n a stàirneanach treun.
'S ann tha 'n eachdairidh, &c.

Gnothuch còir anns na cairtean,
Bheireadh oirnu' dol a dh' Arcamh gu leir.

ORAN AN AINM DITHIS NIGHEAN

IAIN MHIC EACHAINN.

[Tè dhiubh air tighinn dachaigh bho sgoil, agus gun spéis aice nis, na 'm b' fhlor, do'n dùthaich ; agus an tè eile, nach robh riabhach o'n bhaile, a' moladh na dùthcha.]

Cia b' e dheanamh mar rinn mis',
Bu mhisd se e gu bràth,
Dhol do 'n bheinn, an aghaidh m' innitinn,
Mhill e mi mo shlaint' ;
Pairt de m' acain, braigheach Mheirceinn,
'S àit gun mharcaid e.
Ach spann a's copraich, 's bà-theach fosgait',
'S graine shop ri lär.

Cha 'n 'eil sèmar aig Rìgh Breatainn,
'S taitneich' leam na 'n Càrn,
Oir tha e uaignidheach do ghruaigaich,
'S ni e fuaim 'nuair 's àll ;

Feur a's coille, blà a's duille,
 'S iad fo iomadh neul,
 Is ise le echo, mar na teudan,
 Seirm gach séis a's fearr.

Cha b' àite còmhnuidh leam air Dhòmhnuach,
 A bhi 'n rùig no 'n càrn,
 Oir, mur robh strianach ann air bhliadhna,
 Cha robh riabh ni b' fhearr ;
 Fuaim na heinne, 's gruaim a' ghlinne,
 'S fuathach leam a' ghàir ;
 O! cràdh mo chridhe, reubadh lighe,
 An t-àit an tighé 'm feur.

Ciod am fath mu 'n tug thu fuath sin,
 Do na bruachaibh ard ?
 Nach fhaic thu fein, 'muair thig an spreidh,
 Gur feumail iad le 'n àl ?
 Cha chradh cridhe, air làrach shuidhe,
 Fuaim na lighé lain,
 Do 'n gnàth bhi claghach roimh a h-aghaidh,
 Is feur na deighidh a' fàs.

Na bha firinneach dheth t-amhran,
 'N fhad 's bha 'n samhradh blàth.
 Rinn e tionndadh oidhche-Shamhna,
 'S bheir an geamhradh 'shàr ;
 Duille shuidhicht' barr an fhiodha,
 Dh-fas i buidhe-bhàn,
 'S tha mais' 'n t-Srath' air call a dhath,
 Le stealth de chathadh-làir.

Gleidhidh 'n talamh thun an t-samhraidh,
 Sin a chraunn e 'n dràsd,
 Beath a's calltunn latha-bealtruinn,
 Gealltanach air fàs ;
 Bidh gruth a's crathadh air na srathan,
 'S téirgidh 'n caitheadb-làir,
 Nach grinn an sealladh, glinn a' stealladh,
 Laoigh, a's bainne, 's bàrr !

'S barail leam-sa gu 'n do chaill sibh,
 Air na rinn sibh chàis ;
 Dhol do shliabh, gun chur, gun chliathadh,
 'S nach robh biadh a' fàs ;
 B' fhearr bhi folluiseach an Gall-thaobh,
 Na bhi 'n comunn ghràisg,
 Air mo dholladh leis an chónadh,
 Laimh ri bolla fil.

Note.—This is a contrast between the pleasures of a town and a pastoral life, as if by two young ladies, (daughters of the celebrated "Iain Mac-Eachuinn,") one of them returned from the town of Thurso, where she had been sent to school, and the other, yet ignorant of town, upholding the pleasures of rural retirement. The beauties of the bard's own native strath are delineated in strains so sweet that we have only to regret that he did not more frequently indulge his muse in descriptive poetry.

MARBHRANN IAIN GHRE,

ROGHARD.

[Agus e air caochladh ann an Siorramachd Pheairt, air a shlighe dol dachaigh do Chat-taobh.]

Tha règairean airtnealach, trom,
 'N taobh bhos agus thall do na Chrasg,
 O 'n chual iad mu 'n cuairt an Ceann-cinnidh,
 Gu 'n do dh-eug e an Siorramachd Pheairt ;
 Dh-aindeoin a dhreachdan 's a chiall :
 Cha do chreid duine riamh a bha ceart,
 Aon smid thaing mach air a bheul
 'S cha mhò chreid e féin Rìgh nam feart.

Cha 'n aithne dhomh aon ni cho laidir,
 'S an t-saoghal-s', ri bàs, gu toirt team ;
 'N t-stràc thug e an dràsd' oirnn air aghairt,
 Gun do marbh e fear Roghaid do leum.
 Tha Sàtan ro bhrònach, 's cha 'n iognadh,
 Ged fhaigheadh e 'n t-aon-sa dha féin,
 Air son nach 'eil fathast air sgeul aig'
 Fear a sheasas dha 'àite 'na dhéigh.

'S fad a bho chunnacas, 's a chualas,
 Gur teachdaire gruamach am bàs ;
 Gidheadh gu'm beil cui'd bh' ann an daoch ris,
 Toirt rud-eigin gaoil da an dràsd' :
 Tha dùil ac' an Cat-thaobh 's an Gall-thaobh,
 Nach urr' iad a mholadh gu bràth,
 Air son gur h-e féin thug a' cheud char
 A fear thug cùig ceud car á cùch.

Sibhse tha mòr agus mion,
 Sibhse tha sean 's a tha òg,
 Thugaibh cheart air' air a' bhàs,
 'Nuair is beartaich' 's is líne bhur crèg ;
 Oir thig e mar mhèirleach 's an oidhch',
 Ged robh sibh uile cruinn mu na bhòrd ;
 'S cha 'n fheadar a mhealladh le foill,
 'S gu 'n do mheall e Ceann-feadhna nan ròg.

Rinn deamhnan is triùcairean taimhaidh,
 Election mu chealgair bhiodh treunn,
 Co bu stàraich', bu chàraich', 's bu cheilgeich',
 'S a b' fheàrr chuireadh líth air a' bhréig ;
 B'e Sàtan am breitheamh bu shine,
 Da 'm b' aithne gach fine fo 'n ghréin ;
 'S b' i 'bharail nach fhaigheadh e leithid,
 Mur robh e 's na Gréadhaich iad féin.

Bu mhath leam an ciontach a bhualadh,
 'S cha b' àill leam duin' uasal a shealg ;
 'S ged chuireas mi gruaim air a' choireach,
 Cha gabh an duin' onarach fearg ;

Tha Caiptain Rob Grè air a dhiùltadh,
Le breitheanas Priounsa nan cealg ;
Rinn coimeasgadh Reothach a chumadh,
Gu uails' agus duinealas gharg.

Tha breugan a's cuir air am fàgail,
Do'n fhearr a's feàrr tèlann g'an iùns' ;
Cha cheadaich a' chùis e do Bhàtar,
Tha onoir a's àrdan n'a ghrìd ;
Ge comasach Iain a bhràthair,
Cha'n fhaigh e an dràsd' i chlion aois ;
Ach an sin gheibh e obair an t-Sàtain,
Ceart comh-luath 's is bàs do fhear Chraioch.

M A R B H R A N N,

UILLIEM MHUILLEIR, AN CEARD.

O'nuair 's a chaidh Uilleam fo'n ùir,
Gur tearc agaun sùil tha gun deur,
Do mhuilleir, a bhrachair, no'chòcair,
No'mhnathau da'n nòs bhi ri spréidh ;
Cha mhodha na clàmhain a's gaothair,
Tha subhach 's an fhoghar-s' n'a dhéigh ;
Air son gu'm buin iomall na cloinne,
Gach ubh a's gach eireag dhaibh féin.

'S glan a tha'n talamhs-s' n'a fhàsach,
O'nuair chaidh thu bàs o cheann mòs ;
Ge maiseach na macain so dh-flàg thu,
Cha seas iad dhuinn t-àitse 'n an dios ;
'S ann a tha acuinn do cheàirde,
Mar rud chaidh 'n an clàraibh 's an dìosg ,
An t-òrd a's am balg ris an teine,
An rusp, a's an t-innein, 's an t-iosp.

'S giorra mo sgil, na mo dhùrachd,
Gu innseadh do chliù mar is còir ;
'S minig a dhearc mi do chruinn-leum
Do'n àite 'm bu chinntich' do lòn ;
Sgiatban do chòta fo t-achlais,
Is neul an tombac' air do shroin ;
Bhiodh gaoir aig na coin' g'a do ruith,
Agus mìr air dhroch bhruich ann do dhòrn.

Air fhad 's a théid cliù ort a leantuinn,
Cha'n urrainn mi chantainn gu leòir ;
'S tu dh-fhuineadh, a ghuiteadh, 's a chriathradh,
'S tu dh-itheadh, 's a dh-iarradh an còrr ;
'S tu rachadh do'n t-sruthan a chlisgeadh,
'S nuair ghabhadh na h-uisgean gu lòn :
Bu choltach ri rapas na seilcheig,
An easgann mu thimcheall do bheòil.

Cha'n aithne dhomh neach feadh na talmhainn-s
A' choiteir, a' shearbhant, no' thuath,
Nach ionndraineadh Uilleam, as aodann
Oir shiùbladh e'n sgìre ri uair ;
Nis o'n a chual iad gu'n deach' e,
Tha rud-eigin smal air daoin' uails',
Air son nach'eil neach ac's a' m'hachair,
A ghlanas taigh-cac no poit fhuail.

M A R B H R A N N,

DO THRIUIR SHEANN FHEASGACH.

[CLANN FIR TAIGH RUSPUINN.]

AIR FONN—"Latha siubhal sleibhe dhomh."

'N an laidhe so gu h-ìosal,
Far na thiodhlaic sinn an triùir,
Bha fallain, làdir, inntinneach,
'Nuair d'inntrig a' bhliadhnu' ùr ;
Cha deach' seachad fathast,
Ach deich latha dh'i o thùs ;—
Ciod fhios nach tig an teachdair-s' oirnn,
Ni's braise na ar dùil?

Am bliadhna thim' bha dithis diubh,
Air tighinn o'n aon bhroinn,
Bha iad 'n an dà chomrad,
O choinnich iad 'n an cloinn ;
Cha d'bhris an t-aog an comun ud,
Ged bu chomasach dha'n roinn,
Ach gheàrr e snàith'n na beathe-s' ac',
Gun dàil ach latha 's oidhch'.

Aon duine 's bean o'n tàinig iad,
Na bràithrean ud a chuaidh,
Bha an aon bheatha thàimeil at',
'S bha'n aodach de'n aon chlòimh ;
Mu'n aon uair a bhàsaich iad,
'S bha'n nàdur d'an aon bhuaidh,
Chaidh 'n aon siubhal dhaoine leo,
'S chaidh 'n sìneadh 's an aon uaigh.

Bu daoine nach d'rinn briseadh iad,
Le fiosrachadh do chàch ;
'S cha mhò a rinn iad aon dad,
Ris an can an saoghal gràs ;
Ach ghineadh iad, a's rugadh iad,
Is thogadh iad, a's dh-flàs —
Chaidh stràc de'n t-saoghal tharais orr',
'S mu dheireadh fhuair iad bàs.

Nach'eil an guth so labhrach,
Ris gach aon neach agaunn beò ?
Gu h-àraighe ris na seann daoine,
Nach d'ionnsuich an staid phòsd' ;

Nach gabh na tha 'nan dleasanas,
A dheasachadh no lòn,
Ach caomhnadh ni gu falair dhaibh,
S a' falach an cuid òir.

Cha chaith iad féin na rinn iad,
Agus oighreathan cha dèan,
Ach ulaidbnean air shliabh ac',
Bhios a' biadhadh chon a's éun ;
Tha iad fo'n aon diteadh,
Fo nach robh, 's nach bi mi fhéin,
Gur duirche, taisgte 'n t-br ac',
Na 'nuair bha e 'n tòs 's a mhèinn.

Barail ghlic an Ard-Rìgh—
Dh-fhàg e páirt de bhuidhean gann,
Gu feucbainn iochd a's oilceanachd,
D' an dream d' an tug e meall ;
C' arson nach tugta pòrsan,
Dhe 'n cuid stòrais aig gach àm,
Do bhochdan an Ti dheònaicheadh,
An còrr a chur 'na cheann ?

An déigh na rinn mi rùsgadh dhuibh,
Tha dùil agam gun lochd,
'S a liuthad facal firinneach
A dhìrich mi 'n nr n-uchd,
Tha eagal orm nach eisd sibh,
Gu bhi feumail do na bhoichd ;*
Ni 's mò na rinn na fleasgaich ud,
A sheachduin gus a nocht.

Note.—Two of these bachelors were somewhat remarkable, having been born together, brought up together, and died within a night of each other. They were buried in the same hour, in the same grave, and by the same company of men. Their whole study, from their youth, was to hoard up money, and had much of it hid under ground, which they neither had the heart to use themselves, nor to bestow upon their friends, none of which has yet been found.

MARBHRANN

DO DHP IAIN MAC-EACHUINN.

[An duim' uasal, aig an do thogadh am bàrd, 'n a theaghlach, o 'n bha e 'n a bhalaean òg; agus bu duin'e a choisinn a leithid a chliù, o a luchd-eòlais air fad, 's gu 'n d' aidhich iad uile, gu 'n robh am marbhraunn so gun mhearchd, agus gu h-àraidh na briathran mu dheireadh dheth, 's gu 'n abradh gach neach mar an ceudna a chluinneadh am marbhraunn, agus d' am b' còl Iain Mac. Eachainn gu'n robh e ceart.]

IAIN Mhic-Eachainn, o dh-eug thu,
C' àit an téid sinn a dh-fhaotainn
Duine sheasas 'n ad fhine,
An Rathad tionail no sgoilidh.

* It is said that a wandering beggar called upon them for alms seven days previous to their death, whom they refused to relieve, a circumstance at which the bard hints above.

'S ni tha cinnt' gur beart' chunnairt,
Nach dean duine tha aosd' e,
'S ged a bheirt' de 'n àl òg e,
'S tearc tha beò fear a chì e.

Dearbh cha b' ionann do bheatha,
'S do dh' fhir tha fathast an caomhnadh,
Thionail airgead a's fearann,
'S bi'dh buidhean eile 'g an sgoaileadh ;
Bhios iad féin air an gearradh,
Gun ghuth an caraid 'g an caoineadh,
Air nach ruig dad do mholadh,
Ach "Seall sibh fearann a dhaor iad."

Tha iad laghail gu litreil,
'S 'n an deibh tearan geura,
Is iad a' páidheadh gu moltacb,
Na bhios ac' air a chéile ;
Ach an còrr, théid a thasgaidh,
Gur cruaidh a cheiltinn o 'n fhéile,
Is tha 'n sporan 's an sùilean,
Cheart cho dùint' air an fheumach.

Leis an leth-onoir riataich-s',
Tha na ciadan diubh faomadh,
Leis am feàrr bhi fo fhiachan,
Fad aig Dia na aig daoinie ;
Thig fo chall air nach beir iad,
'S e ceann mu dheireadh an diteadh,
"C' uim nach tug sibh do 'n bhoichd,
Am biadhl, an deoch, a's an t-aodach ?"

Ach na 'm b' urrainn mi, dhùraighdiunn
Do chliù-s' chur an òrduig,
Ann an litricbean soilleir,
Air chor 's gu 'm beir an t-àl òg' air ;
Oir tha t-iomradh-s' cho feunnail,
Do 'n neach a théid ann do ròidean,
'S a bha do cluivid, fhad 's bu mhaireann,
Do 'n neach bu ghainm' ann an stòras.

Fbir tha 'n latha 's an comas,
Ma 's aill leat alla tha fiughail,
So an tìm mu do choinneamh,
An coir dhuit greimeachadh dlù ris ;—
Tha thu 'n batal a' bhàis,
A thus an t-àrmunn-s' do 'n ùir uaimh,
Glacadh gach fear agaibh 'oifig,
'S mo làmh-s' gu 'n cothaich i cliù dhuibh.

Oir ged tha cuid a blios fachaidh,
Air an neach a tha fialaidh,
'S l mo bharail-s' gur achdaidh
Bu chòir an achnuig so iarraigd ;—
Gu 'm bu luath thig na linnean,
Ni chuid a's sine dhinn ciallach,
Nach dean sinn iobairt do bhith-bhuantachid,
Air son trì fishead de bliliadhnaich'.

'S lionmhòr neach bha gun socair,
A chuir thu 'n stoc le do dhéilig,
Agus bâth-ghiollan gòrach,
Thionail eòlas le t-eisdeachd ;
Dearbh cha 'n aithne dhomh aon neach,
Mach o ùmaidhnean spréidhe,
Nach 'eil an inntinn fo cudthrom,
Air son do chuid, no do chéile.

Fhir nach d' ith mìr le taitneas,
Na 'm b' eòl dut acrach 's an t-saoghal,
Fhir a chitheadh am feumach,
Gun an éigh' aig' a chluinntinn ;
B' fheàrr leat punnd dheth do chuid bhuat,
Na unnsa cuid-throim air t-iuntinn ;
Thilg thu t-aran 's na h-uisgean,
'S gheibh do shliochd iomadh-filtt' e.

Chi mi 'n t-aim-beartach uasal,
'S e làn gruainain a's airtneil,
'S e gun airgead 'n a phòcaid,
Air an taigh-òsda dol seachad ;
Chi mi bhantrach bhochd, dheurach,
Chi 'n déirceach làn acais,
Chi mi 'n dilleachdan ruisgte
Is e falbh anns na ragaibh.

Chi mi 'n ceòl-fhear gun mheas air,
Call a ghibhteann chion cleachdaidh,
Chi mi feumach chion comhairl',
A' call a ghnuothuich 's a thapadh.
Na 'm bitheadh air' agam fhiarachd,
Ciod e is ciall do 'n mhòr acain-s',
'S e their iad uile gu léir rium :—
“ Och! nach d' eng Iain Mac-Eachuinn!”

Chi mi 'n t-iomadaidh sluaigh so,
'N an culaidh-thruais chionn 's nach beò thn,
'S ged e 'n call-s' a tha 'n uachdar,
Chi mi buannachd nan òlach ;—
O 'n a thaisbean domh 'm bliadhna,
Iomadh biadhtach nach b' eòl domh,
Mar na reannagan riallaidh,
An déigh do 'n ghrian a dhol fo orr'.

'S tric le marbhraannan moltach,
A bhios cleachdach 's na dùthchaibh-s',
Gu 'm bi coimeasgadh masguill,
Tigh'nn a steach ann' 'n a bhrùchdan
Ach ged robb mis' air mo mhionnan,
Don Tì tha cumail nan dùilean,
Cha do luaidh mu 'n duine-s',
Ach buaidh a chunna' mo shùil air.

MARBHRANN EOGHAINN.

LUINNEAG.

'S cian fada, gur fada,
'S cian fada gu leòir,
O 'n là bha thu fo sheac-thinn,
Gun aon ag acain do bhròin ;
Ma tha 'n tìm air dol seachad,
'S nach d' rinn thu cleachdadh air chòir,
Ged nach dàil dut ach seachduin,
Dean droch fhasan a leòn.

'S tric thu, Bhàis, cur an céill dhuinn,
Bhi sior eighcheachd ar cobhrach ;
'S tha mi 'm barail mu 's stad thu,
Gu 'n toir thu 'm beag a's am mòr leat ;
'S aon o mheadhou an fhoghair,
Fhuair sinn rabhadh a dh-flòghnadh,
Le do leum as na cùirtean,
Do na chùil am beil Èòghan.

'S cian fada, gur fada, &c.

Ach na 'n creideadh sinn, Aoig, thu,
Cha bhiodh 'n saoghal-s' g ar dalladh,
'S nach 'eil h-aon de shliochd Adhaimb,
Air an t-màilt leat cromadh ;
'S i mo bharail gur fior sud,
Gur árd 's gur iosal do shealladh ; *
Thug thu Pelham à mòrachd,
'S an d' fhuair thu Èòghan 's a' Pholladh ?
'S cian fada, gur fada, &c.

Tha thu tigh'un air an t-seòrs' ud,
Mu 'm beil bròn dhaòine mòra,
'S tha thu tighinn air muinntir,
Mu nach cluinntear bhi còine ;
Cha 'n 'eil aon 's an staid mheadhoim,
Tha saor fathast o dhòghruinn,
Do nach buin a bhi caithris,
Eadar Pelham a's Èòghan.

'S cian fada, gur fada, &c.

Tha iad tuiteam mu 'n cuairt duinn,
Mar gu 'm buailt' iad le peilear,
Dean'maid ullamh, 's am fuaim so,
Ann ar cluasan mar fharnm ;
Fhir a 's lugha measg mòran,
An cual thu Èòghan fo għalar ?
Fhir a 's mò anns na h-àitean-s',
An cual thu bàs mhaighstir Pelham ?
'S cian fada, gur fada, &c.

* “ Pallida mors æquo pulsat pede pauperum tabernas,
Regumque tuires.”—Hor. Carmin. lib. i. Carmin. iv.

Ach a chuidheachd mo chridhe,
 Nach toir an dithis-s' oirn sgathadh!

 Neach a b' ils' na mac t' athar-s' ?
 'S cha robh aon os a cheann-sa,
 Ach an rìgh bh' air a chathair.
 'S cian fada, gur fada, &c.

Note.—Among Rob Donn's elegies, it would be difficult to distinguish the best. But as a test of his own abilities as a poet we would at once fix upon Màrbhrann Eoghainn, where he makes his subject a general one—the uncertainty of time, and the calls to preparation for death sounded to mankind in the simultaneous fall of the high and the low, the rich and the poor. The use made of the circumstances that led to it exhibits a poet's mind. Rob Donn had heard accounts of the death of Mr Pelham, the first minister of state. The same day when this intelligence reached him, he took a stroll to the neighbouring mountains of Durness, in search of deer. He was for that day unsuccessful; but judging, as a sportsman can on such occasions, that better fortune might attend him the following morning, instead of returning home he determined to spend the night, and await the dawn, at a solitary house situated at the head of Loch Erribol, that he might be the more nigh to surprise his game when morning arrived. The bleak dreariness of this spot of itself might present almost to any mind a striking contrast to all that we deem comfortable, social, or desirable in life. Here was a solitary hut (still standing), where the bard was to pass the night. And here was a solitary man, decrepid in old age, stretched on his wretched bed of straw, or heath, and so exhausted by a violent attack of asthma, that the bard pronounced him, in his own mind, surely in the very grasp of the King of Terrors. The idea of Mr Pelham's death, called away from the summit of ambition and worldly greatness, contrasted with this individual's state, set our author to the invoking of his muse. Ewen was unable from weakness to converse, or even to speak with the bard, who, kindling a fire for himself, sat down, and the elegy being composed, he was humming it over. He soon found, however, that Ewen had still his bodily sense of hearing, and his mental sense of pride. When the bard came to the recital of the last verse, the concluding lines of which may be thus metrically rendered, though we acknowledge not poetically,—

" Among men's sons where could be found
 One lowly, poor, like thee?
 And where in all this earth's wide round,
 But kings, more high than He?"

Ewen, summoning the remains of his strength to one effort of revenge for the insult in the former two lines, seizing a club, crept out of bed, and was at the full stretch of his withered arm wielding a blow at the bard's

head, who only observed it just in time to avoid it. He used, we may believe, the mildest measures to pacify Ewen's choler. He related the circumstance afterwards to some of his friends; and, though others frequently spoke of it as a good joke, the bard could never indulge, we are told, even in a smile, upon the subject. He spoke of it with solemnity; and did not desire to hear the circumstance repeated. Ewen's elegy has been frequently compared to the well known Ode of Horace, " Solvitur acris hiems," &c.; and had Rob Donn studied Horace, we would doubtless say that he had at least in view the lines, " Pallida mors æquo pulsat pede," &c.*—Memoir. 1829.

* Regarding this elegy, an anecdote is recorded, which exhibits the estimation in which it was held by the author's countrymen best able to judge of poetic merit. Mr Mackay (Iain Mac Eachaunn) happened to be on a visit to Mr Murdoch Macdonald, minister of Durness, when on a Sabbath morning the weather became so very boisterous that Mr Macdonald expressed doubts whether it were proper to go to church, or to detain the people by the usual length of service—expressing a fear, at the same time, that if once begun, he might forget himself, and detain them long. His guest urged the propriety of not detaining the people—“But I will tell you,” said he, “what you had better do; just go to church, and sing to them ‘Marbhruan Eoghainn,’—it will be greatly more instructive than any sermon you can give.” Mr Macdonald’s esteem for Ewen’s elegy did not go quite so far, as to cause him to adopt the advice.

DONNACHADH BAN.

DUNCAN MACINTYRE, commonly called Donnacha Bàn nan òran was born at Druimliaghart, in Glenorchay, on the 20th March, 1724. He spent the early part of his life in fishing and fowling, in which he always took the greatest pleasure. Although he discovered an early inclination to poetry, he produced nothing worthy of being preserved till after the memorable battle of Falkirk, in which he fought, under the command of Colonel Campbell, of Carwhin, on the 17th of January, 1746. He engaged as the substitute of a Mr Fletcher, of Glenorchay, for the sum of 300 marks, Scots, to be paid on his return. Mr Fletcher gave him his sword, which he unfortunately lost, or rather threw away, in the retreat; and as he returned without it, he was refused the stipulated pay. It was then, and for that reason, that he composed his poem, entitled "The Battle of Falkirk," in which he has given a minute and admirable description of what passed under his eye; and especially of the sword (Claidheamh ceannard Chloinn-an-Leisdeir.) He endeavours to excuse himself for his retreat, and more especially for parting with such a useless weapon; and he could have entered the army of the prince with much more zeal, had he been among the Jacobites. He, therefore, indulges his inclination in the descriptions he gave. The resentment of a bard, was not, in former days, incurred with impunity. The poem was known every where, recited in all parts. The famous battle of Falkirk was enough to give it publicity; and the ridicule so ingeniously, though indirectly, aimed at the gentleman who refused so paltry a sum of money to one who risked his life on his account, was well understood in the whole country. But Macintyre was not satisfied with all he said of the useless sword. He complained of the injustice done him, to the Earl of Breadalbane, who obliged Mr Fletcher to pay him his wages.

The first time he saw Macintyre after paying him, was at a market; being incensed at him for daring to complain of him, and more so because of his audacity in lampooning him, he stepped up, and taking his staff, struck him, exclaiming, "Go, fellow, and compose a song to that." The humble poet of nature was obliged to submit in silence, to the unworthy treatment, and, shrugging his shoulders, walked away. But the pain he felt was momentary; not so the wound of the passionate man, inflicted by the sharp edge of genius. It was probed by the disapprobation of all who witnessed his conduct, which recoiled on himself as a more severe punishment than he had given to the young poet of rising fame.

Duncan Macintyre, being a good marksman, was appointed forester to the Earl of Braidalbane, in Coire-Cheathaich, and Beinndòrain; and afterwards to the Duke of Argyle, in Buachaill Eite. In these situations he invoked the rural muse, on the scenes of his delightful sports, when he described them in the celebrated poems, entitled "Beinn- ddain," and "Coire-Cheathaich," in strains that are inimitable, and have rendered his name immortal. Good judges of Gaelic poetry seem to be at a loss to which of these productions to give the preference. The first required powers, and knowledge of the noble amusement of the chase, and of the music of the bagpipes, to which few can aspire. And while we affirm that he was never equalled in this species except by the celebrated M'Donald, in his praise of Mòrag, we must conclude it to be his master-piece. And where is any to be compared to the last? which is indeed unrivalled.

Publie schools were but thinly established in the Highlands of Scotland in his early days; and his place of residence was distant from the parochial school, so that our author derived no benefit from education. He possessed no advantage in reading the works of others, nor had he an opportunity of getting his own productions written. One advantage he had that was common to all lovers of song—he heard the poetry of his country recited; and, so tenacious was his memory, that not a line, or a word, of his own composition escaped it, which had only been written when sent to the press. A clergyman transcribed them from oral recitation. The first edition of his poems and songs was published in 1768. He went through the Highlands for subscribers, to defray the expense. During his life his work came to three editions, and since then, one edition was printed in Glasgow, in 1833.

He afterwards served in the Earl of Breadalbane's Fencible regiment, during the period of six years, (1793—1799) until it was discharged; he was a considerable time in the city guard of Edinburgh; and after that lived a retired life, subsisting on what he could have saved of the subscriptions of the third edition, which he published in 1804. The collection contains lyric, comic, epic, and religious compositions, all of merit, and composed solely by himself, unassisted in any way but by the direction and power of his own genius. His poetical talents, therefore, justly entitle him to rank among the first of the modern bards. He died at Edinburgh, in October, 1812. In his younger days he was remarkably handsome, and throughout his whole life possessed an agreeable and easy disposition. He was a pleasant and convivial companion; inoffensive, and never wantonly attacked any person; but, when provoked, he made his enemy feel the power of his resentment. See his verses to Uisdean and others. Neither he nor M'Donald knew when to set bounds to their descriptions, and in their satires went on beyond measure.

Duncan Macintyre lived to see the last edition of his poems delivered to his subscribers. The Rev. Mr M'Callum, of Arisaig, "saw him travelling slowly with his wife. He was dressed in the Highland garb, with a chequered bonnet, over which a large bushy tail of a wild animal hung; a badger's skin fastened by a belt in front, a hanger by his side, and a soldier's wallet was strapped to his shoulders. He was not seen by any present before then, but was immediately recognised. A forward young man asked him 'if it was he that made Ben-dourain?' 'No,' replied the venerable old man, 'Ben-dourain was made before you or I was born, but I made a poem in praise of Ben-dourain.' He then enquired if any would buy a copy of his book. I told him to call upon me, paid him three shillings, and had some conversation with him. He spoke slowly; he seemed to have no high opinion of his own works; and said little of Gaelic poetry; but said, that officers in the army used to tell him about the Greek poets ; and Pindar was chiefly admired by him.'

Of his works, the poems and songs composed when following the pursuits of his youthful pleasures, are incomparably the best. It would be endless to attempt to mark the particular beauties in them. The reader must peruse them all in their native garb, the natural scenes of his darling pursuits are well known, but in his description every thing assumes a novel appearance, and in the enchanted scenes that rapidly pass, we wonder that we never observed such beauties before in so bewitching colours. His soul was poured out in the animating and interesting strains. His language is simple and appropriate ; chaste and copious. He is most felicitous in the choice of words, idioms, and expressions. He was a man of observation and thought, and revolvcd the subject of his study often in his mind. M'Donald is learned, and indicates the scholar on all occasions ; he was the pupil of nature. M'Donald could not compose on the spur of the moment, a reply impromptu. There is, however, an instance in which Macintyre proved that he was not deficient in that manner. When he composed the inimitable panegyric of John Campbell of the bank, he waited on that gentleman, repeated the poem, and demanded a bard's gift. "No ;" replied Mr Campbell, "what reward do you deserve for telling the truth ? You must confess that you could say no less of me ; and, moreover, I doubt that you are the author ; of that you are to convince me ; let us hear how you can dispraise me, and then, I shall know, if you have been able to compose what you have repeated." Well, Macintyre commenced in the same measure, and continued in flowing and ready numbers till the gentleman was glad to stop him by giving him his reward.

Of his love songs the best is that composed to his wife "Màiri Bhàn òg." It seems an inexhaustible subject, in which he pours out the happy thoughts and elevated sentiments of the lover, in similes and comparisons taken from the most delightful scenes of nature, and the field of mental enjoyments. The 6th and 7th stanzas are truly beautiful.

The Lament of Colin Campbell, Esq. of Glenure, would alone immortalize his name. The subject was well adapted to awaken melancholy feelings of the most poignant nature. Mr Campbell fell the victim of envy and ill-will, arising from ill-founded suspicion. What pathos and tenderness ! The mournful strains that so eloquently describe the fatal events were not those of a mercenary bard ; they were the painful feelings of a foster-brother, poured out in the most earnest and pathetic effusions of a mind alive to the sentiments of an unfeigned sympathy.

His final leave of the mountains, dated 19th September, 1802, is full of tenderness, and sentiment, appropriate to his age and reminiscences.

 Bheireadh iad a mòs
 Ri am dò-licheinn ;
 Chuireadh air an druim

 Air an carcais luim
 Nach bu lòdail.
 B' e sin an caidreamh grinn
 Mu thrà-nebine,
 'Nuair a thionaladh iad cruinn,
 Ann a' ghlòmuinn :
 Air fhad 's ga'm biodh an oidhclí,
