THE LANDIN THE OCEAN.

In the midte of the sea, like a tough man of war, Pull away, pull away, yo ho, there, Stands in island surpassing all others by far, If you doubt it, you've only to go there; By Neptune twas built on freedom's firm base, And for ever twill last, I've a wotion;
All the world I defy to produce such a place, Tullawayerpull away', puli away, pull t say, As the snug bit of land in the occan.
From the opposite shore, puff with arrogant pride, Pull away, pull away so clever They ve oft swore as how they wauld come along side,
And destroy the poor island for ever ; But 3ritannia is made of such durable stuff, And so tightly she's. rigg'd I've a notion, She'd soan give the saucy invaders enough, Puli away &c.
It they touch at the land in the ocean.
There was Howe, ever hold in the glorious cause, Pull aw2y, pull a way, so stout, boys, Who gained on the first of June such applause, And Munsieur be put to the rout boys;

The rext was St Vincent, whro kick'd up a dust ${ }_{*}$ As the Spaniards can tell, I've a notion, Lill. For they swore not to strike; says he, dam me but you must,
Pull away, &c.

To the la s of the land in the ocean.
Adam Dancun came next, 'twas in autumn you know,
Pull away, pull away so jolly,
That he made big Mynheer strike his flag to a foe
Against whom all resistance was folly;
And they sent as you know, if youre not quite a dunce,
But a sad atory home, I've a notion;
So Duncun he beat a whole Win.or at once, Pull away, &c.
What d'ye think of the land in the occan? guns'r
Now the Frenchmen again have come in for their share,
Pull away, pull away, so hearty,
For Nelson has set all the world in the stare,
Ind land-lock d the great Bonaparte;
ind we'd beat them again, should their stomachs incline,
But they're all pretty sick I've a tupfion;

Then may victory's sword to the olive resign, senfor Pull away, exc.
And peace crown the Jand in the ocean. und ent pral.

THE WAY.WORN TRAYELLER.

Faint and wearily the, way-worn traveller,
Plods uncheerily, afraid to stop;
Wandering drearily a sad unraveller,
Of the mazes 'tward the mountain's top:
Doubting, fearing,
As his course he's steering,
Cottages appearing
As he's nigh to drop:
Oh! how briskly then the way-worn traveller,
Treads the mazes 'twaru the mourtains top.
Though now meclancholy day has pass'l by, " "would be folly now to think on't bore; Blithe and jolly he the cag holds fast by,

As he's sitting at the goatherd's door.
Eating quaffing,
At past labours laughing,
Better far, by half, in
Spirits than before;
Oh! how merry then the rested travelier, Seems while sitting at the goat-herd's door !

THE ALL OF LIFE.

When first this humble roof I knew,
With various cares I strove?
My grain was scarce my sheep were few,
My all of lite was love.
By mutual toil our board was dress'd,
The spring our trink bestow'd ;
But, when the lip the brim had prest,
The cup with nectar flow'd.
Content and peace the dwelling shar'd,
No other guest came aigh :
In them was given (tho' gold was spard,)
What gold could never buy.
Wo value has a splendid cot,
But as the means to prove :!
That from the castle to the cot, $f$ :es

- The all of life is love.

WHFN THE ROSY MORN.

When the rosy morn appearing,
Paints with gold the verdant lawn,

Bees, on banks of thyme disporting, Sip the sweets, and hail the dawn

Warbling birds, the day proclaiming;
Cärol sweet the lively staain, - 11 to
'They forsake their leafy dwelling,
To secure the golden grain.
See, Content the humble gleaner,
Takes the scatter'd ears that fall;
Nature, all her children viewing,
Kindly bountcous, cares for all.

GENTLEMEN OF ENGLAND.

Yot gentlemen of England,
That live at home at ease,
Ah! little do you thisk upon
The dangers of the seas.
Give ear unto the mariners,
And theyswill plainly show,
All the cares and the fears,
When the stormy winds do blow. When the stormy winds, &cc.

If enemies oppose us,
When England is at war,

With any foreign nation,
We fear not wound nor scar ;
Our roaring guns shall teacis thom,
Our valuur for to know, Whilst they reel on their keel,

When the stormy winds do blow. When the stormy winds, &c.

Then courage all brave mariners,
And never beldismayed, Whilst we have bold adventurers, We ne'er shall want a trade. Our merchants will employ us,

To bring them gold, we know, Then be bold, work for gold, When the stormy winds do blow. When the stormy winds, &e.

Then here's a health to Nelson.
And to his gallant tars;
Long may these British heroes bold,
Despise both wounds and ecars.
Make France, and Spain, and Holland,
And all their foes to know,
Britain reigns o'er the main,
When the stormy winds do blow.
When the stormy winds, &c.

LAY THY LOOF IN MINE, LASS.

O lay thy loof in mine, lass, In mine lass, in mine lass,
And swear on thy white hand, lass, That thou wilt be mine ain.
A slave to Love's unt,ounded sway, He aft has wrought me meikle wae, But now he is my deadly fac, Unless thou be mine ain. $O$ lay thy life, &c.
There's monie a lass has broke my rest ${ }_{j}$
That for a blink I hae lo'ed best;
But thou art Queen within my breast,
For ever to remain.
O lay thy loof, &c.
Dear lad, gin yell be leal and true, There's nane I like sae weel as you, For there my loof I swear and vow ${ }_{2}$

For life to be your ain.
Now there's my loof in thine iad,
In thine lad, in thine lad,
In hopes you will prove kind, lad, And tak me for your ain.
