REWARDS FOR SERVICE IN THE FIELD.

VICTORIA CROSS.

(Extract from the London Gazette, dated 22nd January, 1916.)

War Office,

22nd January, 1916.

His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to award the Victoria Cross to the undermentioned Non-Commissioned Officers and Men:—

No. 1665 Corporal Alfred Alexander Burt, 1st Battalion, Hertfordshire Regiment, Territorial Force.

For most conspicuous bravery at Culinchy on 27th September, 1915.

His company had lined the front trench preparatory to an attack when a large minenwerfer bomb fell into the trench. Corporal Burt, who well knew the destructive power of this class of bomb, might easily have got under cover behind a traverse, but he immediately went forward, put his foot on the fuse, wrenched it out of the bomb and threw it over the parapet, thus rendering the bomb innocuous.

His presence of mind and great pluck saved the lives of others in the traverse.

No. 9730 Private John Caffrey, 2nd Battalion, The York and Lancaster Regiment.

For most conspicuous bravery on 16th November, 1915, near La Brique.

A man of the West Yorkshire Regiment had been badly wounded and was lying in the open unable to move in full view of and about 300 to 400 yards from the enemy's trenches. Corporal Stirk, Royal Army Medical Corps, and Private Caffrey at once started out to rescue him, but at the first attempt they were driven back by shrapnel fire. Soon afterwards they started again under close sniping and machine-gun fire, and succeeded in reaching and bandaging the wounded man, but just as Corporal Stirk had lifted him on Private Caffrey's back, he himself was shot in the head.

Private Caffrey put down the wounded man, bandaged Corporal Stirk and helped him back into safety. He then returned and brought in the man of the West Yorkshire Regiment. He had made three journeys across the open under close and accurate fire and had risked his own life to save others with the utmost coolness and bravery.

e. 107 Corporal Alfred Drake, 8th Battalion, The Rifle Brigade (Prince Consort's Own).

For most conspicuous bravery on the night of 23rd November, 1915, near La Brique, France.

He was one of a patrol of four which was reconnoitring towards the German lines. The patrol was discovered when close to the enemy, who opened heavy fire with rifles and a machine gun, wounding the Officer and one man. The latter was carried back by the last remaining man. Corporal Drake remained with his Officer, and was last seen kneeling beside him and bandaging his wounds regardless of the enemy's fire.

Later, a rescue party crawling near the German lines found the Officer and Corporal, the former unconscious but alive and bandaged, Corporal Drake beside him dead and riddled with bullets. He had given his own life and saved his Officer.

No. 1147 Corporal Samuel Meekosha, 16th Battalion, West Yorkshire Regiment, Territorial Force.

For most conspicuous bravery near the Yser on 16th November, 1915.

He was with a platoon of about 20 Non-Commissioned Officers and men, who were holding an isolated trench. During a very heavy bombardment by the enemy six of the platoon were killed and seven wounded, while all the remainder were more or less buried.

When the senior Non-Commissioned Officers had been either killed or wounded Corporal Meekosha at once took command, sent a runner for assistance, and, in spite of no less than 10 more big shells falling within 20 yards of him, continued to dig out the wounded and buried men in full view of the enemy and at close range from the German trenches. By his promptness and magnificent courage and determination he saved at least four lives.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER.

(Extract from the London Gazette, dated 1st January, 1916)

Admiralty,
 1st January, 1916.

The KING has been graciously pleased to give orders for the appointment of the under-mentioned Officers to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order:—

* * * * *

Captain Edwin Harold Barr, R.M.A.

For services with the Royal Marine Artillery Anti-Aircraft Brigade in France.

Temporary Captain Henry Meredith Leaf, R.M.

For services with the Royal Naval Division Motor Transport Company in France.

(Extract from the London Gazette, dated 22nd January, 1916.)

His Majesty the KING has been graciously pleased to approve of the appointment of the undermentioned Officers to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of their gallantry and devotion to duty in the field:—

Temporary Lieutenant-Colonel Lewis Charles Howard, 8th Battalion, Prince Albert's (Somerset Light Infantry).

For conspicuous gallantry and ability on the night of 15th/16th December, 1915, near Armentières. He organised with the greatest energy and skill a successful raid by his battalion on the German trenches. His example inspired all ranks with enthusiasm and confidence. He displayed complete indifference to personal danger during the withdrawal of the raiding force under heavy fire. Lieutenant-Colonel Howard has been previously brought to notice for gallant work near Loos on 26th September, 1915.

Major Stewart Francis Newcombe, Royal Engineers.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty near Anzac, Gallipoli Peninsula, on 29th October, 1915.

During rescue operations he entered a mine tunnel soon after the first casualties were reported and, although suffering from the effects of fumes, he continued to lead rescue parties till he was completely disabled by the gas. One officer lost his life on this occasion in the attempt at rescue.

Captain Malcolm McBean Bell-Irving, Royal Flying Corps (Special Reserve).

For conspicuous and consistent gallantry and skill during a period of nine months in France, notably on 19th December, 1915, between Lille and Ypres, when he successfully engaged three hostile machines. The first he drove off, the second he set to the ground in flames, and the third nose-dived and disappeared. He was then attacked by three other hostile machines from above, but he flew off towards Ypres, and chased a machine he saw in that direction. He overhauled it and had got to within a hundred yards when he was wounded by a shell and had to return.

Captain Alexander Findlater, M.D., 1st London Mounted Brigade Field Ambulance, Royal Army Medical Corps, Territorial Force.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on several occasions, notably on 29th September, 1915, at Chocolate Hill, Gallipoli Peninsula. He crossed over two hundred yards of open ground under very heavy shell fire to render aid to two wounded men. He saved the life of one, but the other was beyond help.

Temporary Captain John Henry Ellis Dean, 13th Battalion, The Cheshire Regiment.

For conspicuous gallantry at Le Touquet salient on 29th December, 1915.

Temporary Captain Charles Turner Packard, 9th Battalion, The Suffolk Regiment.

For conspicuous gallantry at Loos on 26th September, 1915.

He remained behind when retirement had been ordered, and assisted a wounded man back from the firing line, bringing him 400 yards under heavy fire. He also rallied a platoon under heavy fire, and led them back to their original position.

Temporary Captain Gerrard Bulwer Steward, 9th Battalion, The Suffolk Regiment.

For conspicuous gallantry at Loos on 24th September, 1915.

He went forward under heavy shrapnel and rifle fire to assist a wounded sergeant who was unable to move.

Temporary Lieutenant Cyril Freeman Beys, 9th Battalion, Suffolk Regiment.

He occupied a new and exposed forward position with a Lewis gun, which had been abandoned, and covered the retirement of another company, which had been ordered to withdraw.

Lieutenant George Philip Burlton, 1st Battalion, Norfolk Regiment.

For conspicuous gallantry on the night of 1st December, 1915, near Mametz.

When a German mine was exploded he went to the spot, was lowered down the shaft, and by his personal endeavour and example was largely instrumental in saving the lives of several unconscious men.

Lieutenant Kenneth Leon Taylor Campbell, 5th Canadian Infantry Battalion.

For conspicuous gallantry on 16th December 1915, during the attack on the advanced German barricade on the Mesines road. Also for great gallantry in a previous attack on the German trenches at Hill 63 on 16th November, 1915.

Lieutenant (temporary Captain) Sir Robert Marcne Filmer, Bart., 3rd Battalion, Grenadier Guards.

For conspicuous gallantry and skill near Neuve Chapelle on the night of 11th/12th December, 1915.

He made a most successful and daring reconnaissance of the German trenches previous to a successful attack, crawling down the entire length of one trench to a point where it joined another, finding out the best points to attack and the weak spots in the wire. The success of the enterprise was largely due to his reconnaissance and subsequent gallant conduct in the trenches.

Temporary Lieutenant Henry Humphrey Fowkes, 11th Battalion, The Lancashire Fusiliers.

For conspicuous gallantry S. of Warneton railway on the night of 28th-29th December 1915.

When leading an assault on the enemy's fire trench, he and three men outstripped the others and lay on the parapet under heavy fire until the time arrived to jump into the trench. He then ran up the trench some 60 yards, bombing as he went.

Temporary Lieutenant John Weeley Gilbert, Royal Army Medical Corps (attached 9th Brigade, Royal Garrison Artillery).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty near Ypres on 29th December, 1915.

After three attempts he succeeded in entering a farm, which was being heavily shelled with gas and other shells, and rendered valuable assistance to the wounded infantry who were billeted there.

Lieutenant (temporary Captain) George Lockhart Percy Henderson, Royal Flying Corps (Special Reserve).

For conspicuous gallantry and skill.

On 28th November, 1915, between La Bassée and Lille, after he had driven down one Albatross, he attacked two other hostile machines, and, in spite of heavy fire, put them both to flight. Then under anti-aircraft fire he chased two more machines and drove them off.

On 2nd December, near Don, when on escort to a bombing expedition, he was hit by a bullet in the head in a fight with a German machine. Though partially stunned and half blinded he succeeded in bringing his own machine back to his aerodrome.

Temporary Lieutenant Gerald Meredith, 11th Battalion, The King's Royal Rifle Corps.

Temporary Lieutenant Harold Henry de Dailhou Monk, 11th Battalion, The King's Royal Rifle Corps.

For conspicuous gallantry on the night of 24th-25th November, 1915, near Cordounerie.

When reconnoitring under their Company Officer the latter was killed close to the enemy's wire. Lieutenant de Monk and Meredith under continuous and heavy fire and over flooded and difficult ground dragged back the body to our trenches. They were over an hour in getting to cover, and showed great determination.

Temporary Lieutenant Charles Edward Sigismund Rucker, 10th Battalion, The Rifle Brigade (The Prince Consort's Own).

For conspicuous gallantry on the night of 15th-16th December, 1915, at Cordounerie.

He took out two parties to cut wire before a raid, and commenced work, but, being interrupted by an enemy listening post, he returned to report. The enemy being aroused, the raid was abandoned, but Lieutenant Rucker took out a bombing party and destroyed the listening post under a heavy fire. This post was inside the German wire and close to the enemy's parapet. He volunteered for both these duties.

Temporary Lieutenant James Duncan Shepherd, 171st Tunnelling Company, Royal Engineers.

For conspicuous coolness and gallantry on the night of 15th-16th December, 1915, near Armentieres.

He led a demolition party into the German trench in order to destroy their mine shafts. Not finding these, and the time being short, he laid a charge and destroyed a machine gun emplacement with a steel cupola. Finally he withdrew without a single casualty.

Temporary Lieutenant Keith Trevor, 12th Battalion, The Duke of Cambridge's Own (Middlesex Regiment).

For conspicuous gallantry on the night of 14th-15th December, 1915, at the Bois Francais.

He led a party of seven men into the German trenches. Though discovered and fired at at ten yards range, they got through the wire and rushed the trench. A dug-out was first bombed with good results, and then the party engaged fifteen Germans, and Lieutenant Trevor himself threw bombs though severely wounded in the wrist. Finally he successfully withdrew his party. He has frequently carried out dangerous reconnaissances.

Temporary Lieutenant Felix Walter Warre, 11th Battalion, The King's Royal Rifle Corps.

For conspicuous gallantry near Cordounerie on the night of 15th-16th December, 1915.

After fighting with great coolness in a raid he remained till he had evacuated the killed and wounded from the enemy's trenches. He was the last man to return, and, on finding that some wounded had been left behind, he at once went back under heavy rifle and machine gun fire and collected them. He was wounded returning the second time.

Second Lieutenant Edwin Thorburn Bazeley, 22nd Battalion, Australian Imperial Force.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty near Ausaz, Gallipoli Peninsula, on 29th October, 1915.

During rescue operations he entered a mine tunnel and descended the shaft in search of an officer. After placing a rope round this officer, who was insensible he was just able to reach the mouth of the shaft. On recovering from the effects of the gas, he again descended the shaft to complete the rescue, but was again overcome by the fumes. Later he volunteered a third time, but was not allowed to descend.

Second Lieutenant Cecil Hilderton Cordon, 1st Battalion, The Duke of Edinburgh's (Wiltshire Regiment).

For conspicuous gallantry and initiative N.E. of Ploegsteert Wood on the night of 16th-17th December, 1915.

Accompanied by a sergeant, he penetrated the enemy's wire, and then alone entered their trenches. On the night of 16th-17th December he led a party of nine through the enemy's wire, crawled about fifty yards under their parapet, jumped into their trench with two N.C.O.s, and shot two Germans. In spite of a heavy counter-attack, he extricated his party without a casualty, after inflicting about ten casualties on the enemy.

Temporary Second Lieutenant Arthur Michael Durrant, 8th Battalion, Loyal North Lancashire Regiment attached 171st Tunnelling Company, Royal Engineers.

For conspicuous gallantry and resource near Frelinghem on 23rd December, 1915.

When a charge placed by our miners in a German gallery had only partially exploded and warned the enemy, Second Lieutenant Durrant with two other Officers succeeded in placing and firing a second charge which demolished the enemy's gallery. There was imminent danger throughout of the Germans exploding a mine.

For several months Second Lieutenant Durrant has been carrying out dangerous work in almost constant contact with the enemy and has set a fine example of coolness and determination.

REWARDS FOR SERVICE IN THE FIELD—contd.

MILITARY CROSS—contd.

Temporary Second Lieutenant George Fraser Fitzgerald Eagar, 171st Tunnelling Company, Royal Engineers.

For conspicuous gallantry near Freilighiem on 23rd December, 1915.

When a charge placed by our miners in a German gallery in order to destroy it had only partially exploded and warned the enemy, Second Lieutenant Eagar guarded the entrance to the German gallery and shot a German while a second charge was being prepared.

He had displayed great devotion to duty on 2nd December when extricating two men from a gallery which had been wrecked by the explosion of a German mine.

Second Lieutenant Geoffrey Parker Harding, 1st Battalion, Cheshire Regiment.

For conspicuous gallantry on the night of 6th/7th December, 1915, in France.

He led a bombing attack on the German trenches with great coolness and determination, although the mud rendered the advance almost impossible.

He showed great personal bravery and himself threw bombs when the bombers were in difficulties. Several Germans were accounted for and one prisoner taken.

Temporary Second Lieutenant Charles Stanley King, "A" Battery, 90th Brigade, Royal Field Artillery.

For conspicuous good work during the operations of 15th December, 1915 in France.

As Forward Observing Officer of his battery he directed its fire from the front trenches, and it was largely due to his coolness and skill that the wire was so effectively cut, thus rendering the task of the infantry less difficult.

Second Lieutenant Robert Springett Mackillain, 3rd Battalion, The Duke of Edinburgh's (Wiltshire Regiment) (attached 178th Tunnelling Company, Royal Engineers).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in mining operations in Tambour du Clos, notably from 16th to 28th November, 1915.

When the enemy were believed to have laid a charge within 70 feet of one of our advanced shafts he drove a gallery towards them at high pressure and under circumstances of great mental tension, charged it and fired it successfully. His personal example and resolution enabled this dangerous work to be carried through.

Temporary Second Lieutenant Ronald Fullarton Mackinnon, 11th Battalion, Lancashire Fusiliers.

For conspicuous gallantry and ability N. of Warneton railway on the night of 28th/29th December, 1915.

While leading an R.E. wire-cutting party and an assaulting party he was discovered when only a few yards from the enemy's wire and subjected to a 35 minute heavy bombardment. It was largely due to his personal bravery and resource that no casualties were suffered. Previously, on the night of 9th/10th December, he also led out a wire-cutting party and continued at work for 3 hours and 20 minutes.

Second Lieutenant Bernard James Macklin, 3rd Battalion (attached 1st Battalion), The Duke of Edinburgh's (Wiltshire Regiment).

For conspicuous gallantry and initiative at Ploegsteert Wood on the night of 6th/7th December, 1915.

Previous to a surprise attack he took three men out to cut wire, and, finding six yards of wire in front of the wire he crawled through it alone and cut a lane through four rows of wire although a German listening post came within four yards of him. After watching this post for about an hour he crawled back to our lines, made his report and then returned to bring in the men he had left on watch.

Second Lieutenant Robert William McGonigal, 32nd Trench Mortar Battery, Royal Garrison Artillery.

For conspicuous gallantry on 20th August, 1915, at St. Eloi.

When, owing to a faulty charge, a bomb fired from a trench mortar fell in our own trench a yard or two from the gun, he dashed in, picked up the bomb and flung it over the parapet. The fuse was burning and timed for about five seconds. His pluck and presence of mind probably saved the lives of many men.

Temporary Second Lieutenant Hector Andrew Kenneth Morgan, 38rd Siege Battery, Royal Garrison Artillery.

For conspicuous gallantry at Festubert on 12th December, 1915.

During a heavy bombardment of his Observation Station, he, with others, took refuge in a "splinter-proof" A shell entering by a window, mortally wounded a corporal. Second Lieutenant Morgan, seeing that from the nature of the wounds the Corporal could not be moved, went under heavy fire to the nearest dressing station, and, returning with stretcher bearers, brought him in. About fifty high-explosive shells fell round the Observation Station.

Second Lieutenant Ronald George Munro, 18th (County of London) Battalion, The London Regiment (London Irish Rifles), Territorial Force.

For conspicuous gallantry and ability at the Quarries, near Vermelles, on the 16th December, 1915.

He was in command of a party of grenadiers in a very exposed position in the front line and repulsed a succession of violent bomb attacks made by the enemy.

Second Lieutenant The Honourable William Alastair Damer Parnell, 2nd Battalion, Grenadier Guards (Special Reserve).

For conspicuous gallantry and enterprise opposite Le Tilleloy on the night of 14th/15th December, 1915.

He made his way through the German wire, entered their trench and surprised a post of the enemy, two of whom were killed, one taken prisoner and the remainder dispersed. On the previous night he had also got into the enemy's trenches and brought back valuable information.

Temporary Second Lieutenant William Lisle Rockley, 11th Battalion, York and Lancaster Regiment.

For conspicuous gallantry and ability in the Gallipoli Peninsula.

He made two valuable reconnaissances of the enemy's positions and working parties and sited a work under heavy fire. The latter operation was one of great risk and difficulty, and he showed great coolness and determination.

Second Lieutenant (temporary Captain) William Douglas Stock Sanday, Royal Flying Corps, Special Reserve.

For conspicuous gallantry and skill near Hulluch on 1st January, 1916.

He went out in a very high wind to observe the fire of a battery, and, owing to the clouds, was forced to fly at a height of between 800 and 900 feet. Although continually subjected to very heavy rifle fire from the German trenches, he enabled our battery to obtain several direct hits.

Temporary Second Lieutenant Fitz-Roy Aubrey Somerset, 13th Battalion, Cheshire Regiment.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty at Le Touquet salient on 29th December, 1915.

He was one of a successful fighting patrol which raided the enemy's trenches. Although shot through the right forearm and wounded in the head by a portion of a bomb, he remained at his post and continued to throw bombs till ordered to retire.

Temporary Second Lieutenant John Ferguson Stevenson, 9th Battalion (West Belfast), Royal Irish Rifles.

For conspicuous gallantry near Serre on the night of 23rd/24th December, 1915.

He was returning fighting after a successful reconnaissance, when two of his men were killed and his own revolver was knocked out of his hand. He then came across a badly wounded man, got him on his back, and crawled with him for some fifty yards, when the man was again hit. Second Lieutenant Stevenson again got him on his back, and managed to walk with him 200 yards to our wire. With assistance he got him through the wire and back to the trenches.

Second Lieutenant (temporary Lieutenant) Stuart Arthur Vernon, 3rd Battalion, The Border Regiment (attached Intelligence Corps).

For conspicuous gallantry in France on several occasions, notably on October 26th, 1915, when a German aeroplane had been brought down close behind our front line. The enemy commenced shelling the locality to destroy the machine, but Lieutenant Vernon, at great personal risk, crept up to it, saved it from destruction, and brought in very valuable documentary information.

Temporary Second Lieutenant Frank Dean Withers, 8th Battalion, Somerset Light Infantry.

For conspicuous gallantry near Armentieres on the night of 15th/16th December, 1915.

He was in command of the leading party of his battalion in a successful raid on the German, and was the first man to jump into their trench. He shot the German sentry, and behaved with such cool bravery that the remainder of his party were able to accomplish their task.
