INTRODUCTION

THE present volume contains the remaining manuscripts of the Court Books and Rolls of the Regality of Melrose, formerly in the possession of Mr. James Curle of Priorwood, and now deposited in the General Register House, Edinburgh; an abridgment of a volume of the hornings and inhibitions relating to the regality, and a rental of the abbey lands about the year 1564, both preserved in the Register House; transcripts and abridgments of valuable manuscripts relating to the Abbey in the possession of the Earl of Haddington, and some charters and other documents in the possession of the Earl of Lauderdale, Lord Binning, Mr. Thomas J. S. Roberts of Drygrange, and Mr. Curle.

The Editor in submitting these documents has been compelled through want of space to abandon his original intention of giving a somewhat detailed history of the lands and landowners within the bounds of the Regality, but the series of charters now printed and the accompanying footnotes will supply much of what would otherwise have found a place in these introductory pages.

The Chartularies of the Earl of Haddington are practically a continuation of the Liber de Melros, and demonstrate the dissipation of the Church lands by the commendators, abbots, and monks of Melrose before and at the time of the Reformation. They comprise grants relating to estates in Ayrshire and Dumfriesshire as well as the lands of the Regality in Roxburghshire.

These Chartularies show how the possessions of Melrose

Abbey were divided among the vassals of the monastery and how the kindly tenant and lessee developed into a feuar with a fixity of tenure and pastoral rights over grazing lands. These rights again were further consolidated when in the middle of the eighteenth century the various small feuars raised actions for division of the common lands, and once more had feudal rights conferred on them over the additional lands so acquired in feu, which were then added to their holdings. We might proceed further and show how in many cases these small holdings were again purchased one by one, and finally amalgamated into a single large holding, composed, it might be, both of arable land and hill pasture.

It has already been shown¹ that the whole property of the Monastery which had accumulated in the hands of the monks from the time of David I., and had been erected into a free regality, was finally vested in the Crown, and again granted by a charter of James VI., dated 1st May 1569, to James Douglas, second son of William Douglas of Loch Leven, as Commendator. In the Charters printed in this volume, p. 246 et seq., we see how Douglas, acting with his Iconomus, Alexander Colville, Commendator of Culross,² exercised the power thus conferred upon him 'to set in feu ferme lang or schort takkis.'³ does not appear to have granted any feu contracts, at least none are found in the present chartularies, but the lands having passed in 1609 into the possession of the Earl of Haddington subsequent grants are made by him.

The period immediately before the Reformation is peculiarly interesting. The documents now printed reveal the troubles of the monks when they found their property passing out of their hands, their contests with the Commendator and the efforts they made to safeguard their interests.

For example, when the Commendator, James Stewart,¹ granted a charter to a certain Adam Aird in Ayrshire, 'the convent culd nocht condissend to subscribe and sele the said Adam Aird chertour nor na uther chertour' until the Commendator fulfil a promise he had made, 'to have delyverit to the reparatioun of the said abbay V^c merkis of the reddiest and first pament of the said compositioun silver, and siclyk iij^c merkis of the teyndis of Hassynden, and na pairt of the said sowms as yit delyverit.' . . . 'Efter the said ansuer gewin, . . . my Lord Commendatar forsaid as apperit be his wult and exteriour mowing of his body grew crawbit,' and the convent granted the consent to the charter only 'throcht feyr and dredour of the said conventis lewing to be discharget and tane fra thame be the said Commendatar conform to his minatorious wordis,' as is duly recorded in the instrument afterwards taken by the monks, on 21st August 1557, in protest against such injustice.²

In the previous year a similar instrument records, in the appeal of the convent to the Commendator, 'the thingis nocht fulfillit conforme to your Lordships promiss and wryting.' There is urgent need of his promised aid in repairing the abbey: 'without the kirk be reparit this instant sommer God service will ceise in winter.'¹

There follows another protest, lodged against 'Mr. Walter Balfour, persoun of Lintoun, Michell Cheshelm, alleget baillie deput of the regalite of Melrose, with thair cumpany and complicis turweand the leid of thair closter and causand to cast doune the samyn extending to xj stane of leid or thairby, at thair plesour,' under which provocation the convent very properly raised a cry of 'Spulze and reif.'²

Further, we read that when the convent directed a precept to remove occupiers from certain houses belonging to the Abbey, one of these tenants behaved outrageously and being 'denuncit cursit' 'he remanit in the kirk with fortificatioun of . . . Walter Chesholm, alleget baillie deput, and thair throcht be lang tym stopit God service . . . and als the said Walter Chesholm said gyf ony man or officer execute ony siclyk precept at the said prior and brether command he suld stuw his luggis.' Such was the contumacy shown by the unfaithful towards the monastery in its decline.

Included amongst these monastic writs are a series of Edicts by the Archbishop of Glasgow dealing with various matters of church discipline.⁴ So far as they go these correspond closely to the statutes of the General Provincial Council which sat in Edinburgh between 1st March 1558-9 and 10th April 1559.⁵

Notwithstanding their protests, the monks were evidently forced to give their consent to the alienation of more and more lands belonging to the Church, as we see from the large number of charters and tacks granted by the Commendator in favour of various private persons.

The numerous charters granted by the Commendator James Douglas and his Iconomus afford much information regarding the ownership and transmission of the Church lands. Special interest attaches to the Charter of Confirmation of a charter granted by Elizabeth Striueling of the lands of Nether and Middle Blainslie, because it gives the boundaries of Blainslie in detail.¹ After a lapse of three centuries and more these boundaries can still be traced. The ruins of 'Cheildlyelis Chapel' and the walls which form part of the county boundary have hitherto escaped notice. The chapel seems to have been built upon a mound measuring fifty-eight feet by forty-four feet or thereby, in which the foundation walls of the old chapel, some two or three feet high, are now entirely hidden by the soil that has accumulated through the course of long years. In the centre of the ruins a burial-ground had been formed at a later period. Only one tombstone is now visible, broken in five pieces. The only words legible are '. also 33 Thomas Darling, his grandson, departed this life the 10 . . 1747, aged . . .'

The door of the chapel seems to have faced east north-east by north and to have been seven feet wide. It opens thirty feet from the north corner of the building and about twenty-one feet from the south corner.

The Milsieburn flows past the base of the mound, and in the high bank on the other side of the burn there are three cuttings in the direction of the chapel which may possibly be traces of disused paths towards it. The history of the ruins is shrouded in mystery; but the mention of a Lyells Cross in the boundaries given in this charter of Blainslie, coupled with the fact that there is a place called Lylestone on the other side of the town of Lauder, suggests that some notable personage of the name of Lyell or Ludolf (whether or not a Northumbrian knight, as has been surmised) may once have held lands in this neighbourhood, and left his memorial in this place-name.

As illustrations of various forms of sixteenth-century deeds, a charter of a portion of these lands of Blainslie, letters of pension, and two letters of tack (one of them in favour of Mr. John Knox, the nephew of the great Reformer) are reproduced in full in this volume.¹

The lands which the monks gradually acquired in the neighbourhood of the Abbey formed in time a district of pear-shaped outline, practically identical with the present parish of Melrose, the broader portion of which lies to the north of the town and the Abbey. In addition to these lands, the monks obtained grants of other lands outside the parish and in various parts of the country as may be seen from the Liber de Melros and the Chartularies now printed.

Within the boundaries of the parish the monastery held the lands of Darnick, Danzieltoun now Dingleton, Galtonside now Gattonside, Drygrange, Old Melrose, Westhouses, Eildon, Newstead, the Wairds, Langlee, Appletreeleaves, Ladhope, Ladhopemuir, Calfhill, Buckholm, Williamlaw, Whitelee, Halkburn, Wooplaw, Allanshaws, Blainslie, Milcheside, Threepwood, Newhouses, Colmeslie, Langshaw, Housebyres, and Sorrowlessfield.

Outside the parish the monastery held portions of Lessuden or St. Boswells, Elliston, Cameston, Maxpoffle, and Redpath, as well as lands in Ayrshire and Dumfriesshire.

The lands of Darnick were granted to the monastery Darnick. by David I.² and confirmed by William the Lion.³ Reference is made to them in a convention between the abbots of Melrose and Kelso regarding boundaries,¹ and after a grant by William the Lion to the Abbey of Kelso in 1208² they are again mentioned in his confirmatory grant to Godfrey Riddell of the lands of Prenvensete.³

Portions of Darnick had been granted to sub-feuars, and other portions were held by kindly tenants and tacksmen under the monks of Melrose even prior to 1540.⁴ On 30th January 1564-5 Michael, Commendator of Melrose, bestowed them on William Maitland of Lethington,⁵ who granted several sub-feus. A portion of the lands called Braidmedo in the occupation of Catherine Dury were feued to her by Maitland on 5th March 1566-7, with an obligation on her 'to compear at the courts to be held by him on the lands of Darnyk.'⁶ Andrew Ker of Faldonside obtained a ratification of certain infeftments of Darnick and Bridgend in 1581,⁷ and in 1584, on the forfeiture of William Maitland younger of Lethington, they were presented to the Abbey with Andrew Ker of Faldounsyd as 'immediat tennant.'⁸ It is not clear when 'Secretary' Maitland obtained the lands, but as early as 5th March 1556 he was granting feu charters. The superiority was disposed by James Maitland, son and heir of William Maitland, to James Ainslie, merchant, burgess of Edinburgh,⁹ who, between the years 1616 and 1619, granted various charters, confirmations, and precepts of Clare Constat to many sub-vassals. The lands thereafter passed into the hands of the Earl of Haddington and are now held by a number of proprietors.

The southern portion of the town of Melrose adjoining Dingleton. Darnick, now cut off by the railway, is known by the name of Danzieltoun or Dingleton. These lands were in the hands of the monks and their tenants from an early period. When the superiority of the Church lands was annexed to the Crown the lands of Dingleton formed part of the grant to the Earl of Haddington and others already referred to. A portion of the lands were owned by the M'Dougals of Mackerstoun, who held of the monks of Melrose, for James M'Dougall was served heir to his father in certain lands in Danzieltoun on 12th April 1608.¹ In 1756, eighty-seven acres of infield land and sixty-nine acres of outfield runrig and common lands were divided, under a petition to the sheriff, among the following parties: George Scott, Alexander Vair, Thomas Vair, Robert Lawrie, Walter Scott, Adam Dodds, George Scott, and the Duke of Buccleuch,² from whom and their successors portions of these lands have been feued.

Gattonside, formerly Galtounside, is a village lying on the north side of the Tweed opposite Melrose. It was included in the first grant of David I.³ and was confirmed to the monks by Malcolm IV.⁴ and William the Lion.⁵ According to these charters, Galtounside extended from the junction of the Leader and Tweed along the Fawhopeburn (a tributary of the Leader), across the moor to the point where the Raeburn falls into the Alwent or Allan and from thence down the Alwent to its confluence with the Tweed. The lands were held by kindly tenants and cottars under the monks at, and prior to, 1540,¹ when the portion known as Drygrange was given off.

On 28th February 1590 James Douglas, Commendator of Melrose, with consent of Lady Mary Ker, his spouse, for her liferent interest feued the lands of Gattonside to certain persons therein mentioned, the boundaries being then given.²

Drygrange.

When David, Earl of Huntingdon, succeeded to the lands south of the Forth he granted Hugh de Morville the territory of Lauderdale, including Drygrange. De Morville thereafter gave Drygrange to the monks of Melrose, who retained the holding as a forest in the occupation of kindly tenants or vassals. The earliest of these of whom we have obtained any trace was David Linlithgow. He was in occupation under a lease in the early part of the sixteenth century, and had cut down the timber and tilled the lands, which became very fruitful. His son, William Linlithgow, after a petition to the Pope,³ narrating the services rendered by him and his father to the monastery in resisting incursions of thieves and reivers, obtained from the Abbot and Chapter a tack of nineteen years, dated 4th March 1536-7, which narrated that the lands being unproductive through continued use, like Darnick, Galtounside, Newstead, and others, it had become necessary for the monks to spend large sums upon them. Following this the Monastery, on 18th January 1539-40, granted a feu charter of the lands to the said William Linlithgow in liferent and John Linlithgow, his son and heir in fee.⁴ On 28th July 1544 James, Commendator of Melrose, ratified this charter to William Linlithgow and his son.⁵ When the superiority was forfeited to the Crown at the Reformation and passed into the hands of the Earls of Haddington, the possession remained with the Lithgows, or Linlithgows, until 1602, when William Linlithgow and Catherine Home his spouse sold the lands to Stephen Bruntfield of Greenlawdene.¹ The possession in later times is briefly as follows: Bruntfield sold the lands in 1603 to Sir John Home of Cowdenknowes, who disposed them to the Earl of Haddington. In 1644, John, fourth Earl of Haddington, sold them to Thomas Linlithgow or Lithgow, portioner of Redpath, who was bailie-depute of the Regality. His son, James Lithgow of Drygrange, disposed of them to Robert Paterson of Old Melrose in 1709. Mr. Paterson sold them to Colin Maclaurin, Professor of Mathematics in the University of Edinburgh, who in turn disposed them to Thomas Tod, W.S., who was born on 6th December 1726 and died 26th December 1800. Mr. Tod was succeeded by his son Archibald Tod, who died 20th April 1816. His son, also an Archibald Tod, who married Elizabeth Pringle, was the next owner of the lands. Their son, Thomas Tod of Drygrange, married Elizabeth Fetherstonhaugh, only daughter of Charles S. Featherstonhaugh of College, Kirkoswald, and died 8th February 1867, aged fifty-seven. Their only child, Eliza Caroline Tod, married in 1861 Sir George Hector Leith Buchanan, Bart. She sold the lands to Mr. Edward Sprot, on whose death they were disposed to the present owner, Mr. Thomas J. S. Roberts.

The earliest reference we have obtained to the lands of Old Melrose. Old Melrose, on which the first monastery of Melrose once stood, is contained in a sasine by Robert Ormeston of Auld Melrose to his son, John Ormeston, dated 20th April 1564.² A carved stone now forming the lintel of a small building at Old Melrose bears the initials R. O., with the date 1575. On 27th October 1606, Robert Ormeston was served heir before the Regality Court to John Ormeston his father.¹ William Ormiston, his son, was in possession on 26th November 1633² and had two sons, William (his second son) and Thomas.

William Cairncross of Old Melrose is mentioned on 10th April 1643 as the tacksman of half Langshaw, while on 2nd May 1657, and on 2nd January 1658,³ he is sued for debt.

Agnes Mertone is mentioned on 22nd December 1666⁴ as liferentrix of the lands. She was the widow of William Fisher of M'Quirrie.⁵ On 9th March 1667 Grizel Scot, who sues a debtor,⁶ is styled 'widow' of John Fisher of Old Melrose. John Fisher of Old Melrose and Michael, his second son, are referred to on 27th June 1674.⁷ On 28th March 1682 the Earl of Haddington granted a Charter of Adjudication and precept of Sasine in favour of Alexander Paterson of the lands which had been possessed by John and Robert Fisher, sons of deceased William Fisher, portioner of Darnick.⁸ From the Roxburgh Sasines we find further that for certain purposes a John Fisher of Old Melrose disposed the property to Trustees, who obtained sasine on 12th January 1753, and then with their consent he conveyed it to Mr. Robert Fisher, minister of Collington, on 4th April 1753.⁹ Mr. Fisher, on 6th April 1754, conveyed it to William Laing of Meikledale, Chamberlain to the Duke of Buccleuch, who obtained sasine on 26th April 1754.¹⁰ On 27th April 1775 Gilbert Laing of

Mr. George Knight Erskine Fairholme acquired the lands during last century, and afterwards sold them to Admiral Sir Henry Fairfax, K.C.B. They now form part of the property of Ravenswood belonging to Mr. William Younger.

Proceeding west from Melrose, on the north bank of Westhouses. the Tweed we have the lands of Westhouses now known as the Pavilion. These lands formed part of the western portion of Gattonside and were acquired by the Ormistons of Old Melrose, who held them before 1581,—the date inscribed on the principal gate of the old Tower which has now disappeared.² Thomas Ormiston, son to William Ormiston of Westhouses, is a witness to a sasine dated 26th May and recorded 23rd July 1635.³ Under a Submission, dated 22nd October 1642, William Ormiston, elder, of Westhouses, and Jean Pringle, his spouse, for certain considerations conveyed the lands to Robert Pringle of Blindlee.

George Pringle of Blindlee had sasine of Westhouses and others on 6th January 1677 on a feu charter by the Earl of Haddington.⁴ In 1734 the Earl of Haddington sold the lands to Thomas Douglas, brother of Archibald Douglas of Cavers.⁵

In 1759 Hugh Scott of Gala bought them from Mr. Douglas's trustees. Mr. Scott of Gala sold them to Benjamin Bell, Surgeon, Edinburgh, from whom Lord Somerville purchased them about 1805 together with those of Easter Langlee and Gateside. George III. named the lands 'The Pavilion' for the fourteenth Lord Somerville, under which name they are now known.⁶

of Eildon.

The lands of Eildon which are situated south-east of Newstead on the southern slope of the Eildon hills, were granted to the monastery by David I.¹ When permission was given by the Papacy to feu the Church lands, Michael, Commendator of Melrose, on 6th March 1564,² granted a Charter of Eildon to John Stewart. Thereafter John Stewart, who succeeded him as Commendator of Melrose on 1st August 1573, made a grant of Eildon in favour of Christine Wardlaw, his wife, in liferent.³ On 29th August 1598, Michael Stewart was served heir to his father, John Stewart of Eildon.⁴ After the annexation of the Church lands to the Crown and the erection of Melrose into a temporal lordship, we find them owned by the lord of erection, the Earl of Haddington, in 1629–33, at which date they consisted of 20 husband lands or about 520 acres in the occupation of fourteen or more tenants or feuars.⁵ They are now the property of the Duke of Buccleuch and others.

Newtown of Eildon consisted in 1629–33 of about six husband lands occupied by some eighteen kindly tenants and feuars.⁶ Under an action of Division of the runrig lands and common instituted in the Sheriff Court of Roxburgh, the lands of Eildon were divided under a Decree dated 13th December 1748, and those of Newtown of Eildon under a Decree dated 17th April 1749.⁷

Newstead.

East of the town of Melrose we have the ancient holding of Newstead, now so well known through the recent excavations of the Roman remains in its neighbourhood. The name is probably derived from its being a stead of Melrose Abbey. To the east of the village lies the site of the Roman fort known as 'Trimontium,' the place of the Three Hills (Eildons),¹ past which the old Roman road called Dere Street or Watling Street is believed to have run. Newstead has probably been an inhabited site from the time of the Romans, and during the monastic period it was occupied by the tenants or vassals of the monks, who tilled the lands around. The earliest reference to these kindly tenants is in the Drygrange Charter, which shows that they were in possession at least prior to 1540.² The lands are now the property of Mr. Thomas J. S. Roberts of Drygrange, and others.

South-east of Newstead lies Lessuden or St. Boswells, Lessuden. of which only a portion came into the possession of the monks of Melrose. In the reign of Robert I., John of Hormiston granted half a carucate of land in Lessuden to the monastery;³ again on 1st May 1316 Robert I. gave Melrose a grant of his whole lands and tenements of Lessuden.⁴ Following this, on 21st November 1317, he held an inquest as to whether Maxpoffil, Hevisyd, Cammayston and Ieffiston pertained to Lessuden.⁵ This is followed by a charter detailing the services required from all the above lands and confirming previous grants.⁶

About 1353⁷ Randolph de Nevill, Lord of Raby, confirmed to the monks the land of Wodfordehous which had been previously granted to them by Robert de Wodforde. He thereafter gave them his whole lands in Lessydewyne, given him by Edward Baliol, to be enjoyed by them after his decease.⁸ On 20th October 1357 he entered into an indenture with the monks also granting them his manor after his decease,¹ and his son and heir, John de Nevill, granted a confirmation of this donation.² It is interesting to note that on 1st February 1409 Malcolm de Galbraith, Lord de Greenock, granted to the monks of Melrose his tenement of 'Persounlande' in the Barony of Lessuden in excambion for the land and tenement which they held in Kinross.³ On 18th July 1415 John de Hiltoun, son and heir of the late William de Hiltoun, sold to the monks the house of William de Hiltoun in Lessuden,⁴ and this sale was confirmed by Thomas de Chatto, son and heir of Mariota de Chatto, daughter of the late William de Hyltoun.⁵

In the reign of James II. a dispute arose between the abbots of Melrose and Dryburgh as to certain tithes of Lessuden, the former protesting against the sequestration of the tithes.⁶ On 29th August 1539 the king confirmed a charter of the abbot and monks to Arthur Sinclair of the lands, excepting Newtown, Eliston, Maxpoffle, Cammeston, and Plewlands.⁷ In July 1549 the lands were still in possession of Arthur Sinclair, but at that time his brother Henry Sinclair, parson of Glasgow, obtained sasine of them from the Commendator of Melrose, who was then going to France.⁸

About 1620 the lands were possessed by Walter, Christian, and David Gibsone and others.

On 2nd July 1402 Cambeston was granted to the monks of Melrose by James Fraser, Lord of Ferendrach (Frendraucht), burdened with a payment of £3 per annum to himself and the usual service to the crown.⁹ This grant was confirmed by James I. on 10th May 1425.¹ It is followed by procuratories of resignation by Janet Dunbar, Lady Fren draucht, on 8th May 1496,² and James Gifford of Schirehall on 4th September 1496,³ of their annual payment of £3.

Sir James Crichton of Fren draucht, grandson of Janet, Countess of Moray and Lady Fren draucht, ratified her surrender of her annual rent and further gave the monks 100 merks or 'fyve Seks woll cleyne' on 12th June 1498.⁴ On 19th April 1499 the Monastery gave an obligation not to trouble James Gifford of Schirehall regarding the matter.⁵ The lands are not mentioned again until about the time of the Reformation when they were included in a grant to Alexander Balfour of Denmylne, dated 7th January 1560.⁶ James Stoddert was proprietor at, and prior to, 9th July 1664,⁷ and later, Thomas Riddell, second son of Sir Walter Riddell, who was succeeded by his son, William Riddell, who obtained sasine on 22nd July 1780.⁸ William Riddell's son, Thomas Riddell, having predeceased his father, the lands passed to his grandson, Major-General William Riddell, who was succeeded by his son, the present owner, Colonel William Carre Riddell.

The earliest holder of the lands of Elliston of which we Elliston. have knowledge was John, the son of Yliff, who gave a portion of them to Adam Baggate in the reign of Alexander II.⁹ Grants of other portions to the monks of Melrose were confirmed by his daughters Avicia¹⁰ and Agnes,¹¹ wife of Laurence Ylifiston, the charter of the latter being dated 11th April 1249. To this was added a further grant of ten acres, or the equivalent value of ten acres in money or land,¹ by Thomas, the son of Gilbert, the son of Laysinge, who had purchased the lands from John, Lord of Hylifstun.

In the confirmation of the charter of the abbot and monks of Melrose of the lands of Lessuden, granted to Arthur Sinclair on 29th August 1529, Newtown, Elliston, Maxpoffle, Cameston, and Plewlands are specially excepted, showing that these were held by others at that moment.² On 3rd April 1568 Michael, Commendator of Melrose, granted a charter of the lands of Elliston to Thomas Scott of Hanyng.³ On the forfeiture of James, Earl of Bothwell, this charter was confirmed on 23rd March 1575-6 by James VI., with consent of James, Earl of Moray,⁴ Thomas Scott being then deceased. John Scott, minister at Selkirk, thereafter made claim to the half of the lands in consequence of the possession of his ancestors as kindly tenants prior to Thomas Scott's investiture, but the Privy Council, on 28th June 1576, confirmed the infeftment of Robert, son of Thomas Scott.⁵ On 23rd December 1612 Robert Scott of Hanyng was served heir to his father Robert Scott of Hanyng in these lands.⁶ They were afterwards acquired by a family of the name of Tulloh, and Robert Tulloh was in possession in 1840. In 1863 the Hon. George Grey Dalrymple, second son of the Earl of Stair, purchased the mansion house and surrounding parks, which, on the death of his son, George North Dalrymple, without issue passed to his daughter, Miss Mary A. W. E. Dalrymple, the present owner. The farms were purchased by Lord Polwarth.

On the southern boundary of the Regality lies Maxpoffle. In 1296 Adam of Maxpoffil, son of Adam of Maxpoffil, swore fealty to Edward I. of England and, presumably as a reward for his oath of allegiance, recovered his lands the same year.¹ The lands being afterwards forfeited to Robert I. seem next to have been granted to Lawrence of Abernethy, the son of William Abernethy, by whom they were eventually bestowed upon the monks of Melrose.² About the time of the Reformation, the Cairncrosses of Comeslie were in occupation of the lands of Maxpoffle, and in the rent roll of the Abbey in 1636 they appear as still owning them.

On the south side of the Tweed and west of Darnick is the site of the ancient village of Bridgend, to which reference is frequently made in the proceedings of the Regality Court. It has been said to take its name from a bridge which David I. erected at Cobbleshaugh over the Tweed to afford a passage for the pilgrims.³ Some remains of a bridge, probably constructed at a much later date, were still standing in 1746. An illustration of the ruins is given by Gordon in the Itinerarium Septentrionale, Plate 64; but it must be admitted that his drawing is more suggestive of an Italian landscape than of any scene upon the Tweed.

The lands of Bridgend, which were in the occupation of the tenants of the monastery, were finally divided under decree of the sheriff of Roxburgh in 1753.⁴ Latterly part became known as Lowood, and was owned by Robert Charles Kidd, and later by his son Henry Kidd. Lowood is now the property of Mr. Henry Nicholas Middleton.

Abbotsford.

A portion of Bridgend, extending to about one hundred acres, was acquired by Sir Walter Scott. He first purchased, in 1811, certain lands called Newharthaugh or Cartlyhole, which had been allotted to William Dickson, portioner of Darnick, or his authors, on the division of the runrig lands in 1753. Mr. Dickson's only surviving daughter, Euphan Dickson, who had sasine of the lands on 7th February 1793,¹ married Walter Turnbull, parochial schoolmaster in Melrose. Turnbull and his spouse sold the property to the Rev. Dr. Robert Douglas, minister of Galashiels. Dr. Douglas disposed of them to Sir Walter Scott, who built his mansion-house upon them. They formed the nucleus of the property which he gradually acquired and to which he gave the name of 'Abbotsford.'

Sir Walter Scott's two sons having died without issue, he was succeeded by his only daughter, Charlotte Sophia, the wife of John Gibson Lockhart, Advocate. Mrs. Lockhart's only daughter, Charlotte Harriet Jane, married James Robert Hope Scott, Q.C., whose only surviving child of the marriage, Miss Mary Monica Hope Scott, married, on 21st July 1874, the Hon. Joseph Constable Maxwell Scott, third son of William, Lord Herries, and is the present owner.

The Wairds.

Among the lands adjoining the town of Melrose are the 'Wairds,' which are frequently referred to in the proceedings before the Regality Court. They are situated on the south side of the main road leading from Melrose to the village of Eildon, and originally extended to about sixty-seven acres, out-field and in-field, including the Gallowsbrae. The new cemetery now covers part of the ground.

At an early period they were held in succession by a number of kindly tenants or occupiers of Melrose who farmed them under the runrig system of cultivation. They were feued from the monks by John Young, W.S., who, on 25th December 1575, granted a charter sub-feuing one-fourth of the lands in favour of Walter Scott of Goldielands, John Fisher in Dernick, Thomas Mar in Newsteid, John Wallace in Melrose, Elizabeth Hoy there, John Clennan there, Walter Ellis in Danzeltone, and David Home (or Andrew alias David Howie) in Kelso.¹

During the seventeenth century we find these allotments were in possession of families, among others, of the names of Wallace, Ellies, Lithgow, and Penman. The pasture and other lands were finally allotted under a decree in an action of division on 19th February 1751.²

West of the Alwyn Water, Gattonside and Westhouses Easter and Wester Langlee. The monks were in possession of these lands as early as 4th September 1317, for Robert I. on that date granted a letter of Attorney executed at Langlee addressed to Thomas, Earl of Moray, to give sasine of the lands of Redpath to the monks.³

The lands were evidently retained by the monks in their own hands, for on 31st August 1542 James v. charged the Bailie of the Abbey to remove the goods of the Abbey from the steading in order that James Hoppringle, son of George Hoppringle of Tandlaw, should put his goods therein and to 'brouk the said steid for his guid, trew and thankfull service done be him to ws in the taking and bringing of James Douglas sumtyme of parkheid o^r rebell and at o^r horne to ws at the last raid maid be the inglismen upoun o^r liegis, Keipand this o^r writing for zo^r warrand.'⁴ On 28th February 1624 James

Cairncroce of Colmeslie as superior granted a precept of Clare Constat in favour of John Mitchell, son of the late Mr. John Mitchell, minister of St. Andrew's in London, of the lands of Eistsyid of Langley and Westersyid of Housebyre as lawful and nearest heir of the deceased.¹

George Pringle of Torwoodlee ('The Covenanter') and his son, James Pringle, had possession of the lands in 1629-33² in security of debt.³

After passing out of the hands of the Pringles, these lands were held by a series of owners. Easter Langlee was owned by a family of the name of Bell. On 10th November 1640 Thomas Bell of Easter Langlee and his sons, George, Hew, and William, are mentioned.⁴ Thereafter the property passed into the hands of the Fishers and others, and now forms part of the Pavilion estate owned by the Hon. Louisa Harriet Henry, widow of General Charles Stewart Henry.

Wester Langlee or Gala Bridge was owned by Alexander Gray, who is mentioned 24th July 1638 and on 25th March 1641.⁵ After numerous transmissions it has become the property of Major Arthur D. Forbes Gordon.

The lands of Appletreleaves lie north-east of the town of Galashiels, which is now partly built upon them. They were long in the occupation of a family of the name of Darling, which appears to have held them under the monks of Melrose for many generations as kindly tenants and latterly as tacksmen and feuars. It is not unlikely that a certain grant by Robert I. to William Maxwell and his spouse of half of the lands of Apiltreie resigned by Thomas Carnoco⁶ refers to these lands, but there is no positive proof of this surmise. The earliest tenant or feuar of whom we find mention under the Monastery is John Darling, who died 'in 1552, leaving three sons, John, Robert, and Philip.¹ Robert Darling is mentioned in 1577.² His son, Andrew, with his future spouse, Catherine Cairncross, obtained sasine of Ladhopenmuir on 10th July 1583,³ and twenty years later we have the testament of Peter Darling, Appletreeleaves, who left four children, Philip, Robert, William, and Kathrine.⁴ In 1598 his eldest son, Philip Darling, complained to the Privy Council of a murderous attack made upon his life.⁵

The lands of Appletreeleaves when first feued were Ladhope. divided into three portions, 'Easter,' 'Mid,' and 'Wester,' by which aliases the owners were known, but latterly these divisions were fractioned up among various branches of the family. The southern portion, or half of a third of Appletreeleaves, latterly became known as Ladhope.

We find the lands of Ladhopenmuir divided into two Ladhopenmuir. portions after the superiority of the Church lands was annexed to the Crown, for on 20th March 1567 Michael, Commendator of Melrose, granted one half to Charles Carnecross in Cummeslie and Marion Hoppringle, his spouse, in liferent and Johne Cairncross, their son, in fee, and the other half he gave to William Carthar in Cumeslie and Margaret Moffat, his spouse.⁶

The former portion became known as Calfhill or Hilslop, Calfhill. and was held by the Cairncrosses for many generations. The last of the family to own this Eastside of Ladhopenmuir, as the property was also often styled, were the Misses Elizabeth and Janet Cairncross, sisters of the deceased Hugh Cairncross of Hilslop, who, as we find in the Roxburgh Sasines, on 21st August 1754, obtained sasine on precept of Clare Constat by the Duke of Buccleuch of Allanshaws, Calfhill, East side of Ladhope-muir, Notman's Park, and Maxpoffle. These ladies in 1759 left moveable estate to the amount of £12,262, 2s. Scots. The former bequeathed her property to John Rutherford of Edgerstoun and the latter to Alexander Pringle of Whytbank and his children. The bequest was disputed by Thomas Mill, schoolmaster, Halalies, as their nearest in kin, who raised an action, and was successful in reducing the former settlement while he compromised his claim in the latter case.¹ The lands were owned for some time by Mr. Borthwick of Crookston, thereafter by James Dalrymple of Langlee, and are now in the possession of Major Arthur D. Forbes Gordon, his grandson.

Buckholm.

Adjoining Appletreelaves is Buckholm. This ancient holding lies immediately north of the town of Galashiels, which is now partly built upon these lands. In the reign of William the Lion, Richard de Morville granted Buckholm to the monks of Melrose with permission to erect a byre there to hold sixty cows, and this grant was confirmed by William the Lion.²

The lands had passed into the hands of the family of Pringles prior to the middle of the sixteenth century, for in 1548 James Hoppringill of Tynnes was in possession.³ In June of that year Robert Hoppringill of Blyndley and others were charged with treasonably assisting the English and keeping the house of Bukholm; ⁴ in 1591, however, we find the Pringle of Bukcum of that day giving his oath to serve his king faithfully.⁵ Early in the last century

Buckholm was purchased by Mr. James Pringle of Torwoodlee and now forms part of that property.

The lands of Williamlaw were long owned by a family ^{Williamlaw.} of Hunter, who held various other lands in the neighbourhood and offices connected with the Abbey, where they had a family burying-place. Their arms appear below one of the south windows of the abbey with the initials 'A.H.,' which stand for Andrew Hunter, who was Abbot from 1449 to 1459,¹ and Lord High Treasurer.² The first member of this family we have traced as owner of Williamlaw was Stephen Hunter, who obtained a Charter from the monks on 6th April 1547,³ and who died in October 1572 and was succeeded by his son or grandson, Robert Hunter.⁴ Robert Hunter died in September 1581, and was in turn succeeded by his son William. On 7th October 1588 William Hunter and his future spouse, Barbara Cairncross, obtained a tack of nineteen years of the lands of Williamlaw, while the lands were feued to these parties by the Earl of Morton on 30th May 1589.⁵ Thereafter about 1620 the Earl of Haddington confirmed a charter by William Hunter of Williamlaw, Mr. William Hunter, his son, with consent of Elizabeth Douglas, his mother, and Barbara Cairncross, spouse of the said William Hunter, and Janet Mow, spouse of the said Mr. William Hunter, to James Pringle, fiar of Buckholme, of the lands of Williamlaw.⁶ James Pringle was succeeded by John, his eldest son, who married a Catherine Ramsay. He died 24th April 1675, aged seventy-two, his spouse on 26th April 1680, aged seventy-six, and both are buried in Melrose Abbey.

Margaret Hunter, daughter of deceased William Hunter of Braidwoodshiels, was served heir to her grandfather, Mr. William Hunter of Williamlaw, on 8th June 1672, though the lands had been sold by him as mentioned.¹ George Pringle of Buckholm had sasine of Williamlaw on 9th August 1680,² and James Pringle was infeft prior to 10th January 1691, when he granted bonds over Buckholm and Williamlaw in favour of Thomas Pringle and Robert Faa, Bailie of Melrose.³ Afterwards Rutherford of Farnilee owned the lands, and now they are the property of Mr. J. L. Pringle of Torwoodlee.

Whitelee.

The lands of Whitelee, situated on the left bank of the Gala, about two miles north-west of Galashiels, were granted to the monks by William the Lion at Michaelmas 1189.⁴ Next, Richard de Morville granted to the monks of Melrose a site in Whitelee for a byre to hold one hundred cows or a shed to hold six score of sheep.⁵ This grant was afterwards confirmed by the King, who fixed the boundaries of the pasturage of the monks of Melrose and the men of Wedale, namely, from the road which stretched by the west side of the Church of Wedale and so on to the stream called Fasseburne.⁶ Early in the seventeenth century John Spottiswoode owned the lands of Quhitlie and Quhitlie Dykes.⁷ William Spottiswood, his son, with consent of his spouse, Elizabeth Michelson, after burdening the lands to John Pringle of that Ilk assigned the reversion to Thomas Hunter of Hackburn on 18th February 1624,⁸ and having failed to redeem the lands John Pringle, on 16th June 1624, disposed of them to Hunter.⁹ In 1691 part of the lands were held by Patrick Porteous¹ and afterwards by persons of the names of Wallace, M'Dougal, and Ormiston.

Eventually Mr. Andrew Fisher, wright in Edinburgh, purchased the estate. He was succeeded by his brother, John Fisher of Housebyres, whose two daughters, Elizabeth, wife of Robert Oliver, merchant, Jedburgh, and Christian, wife of Thomas Waugh, writer, Jedburgh, obtained sasine of these lands as well as Whitley Dykes, Hackburn, Butterhope, and Loaning Knowe on 16th August 1757, as recorded in the Roxburgh Sasines, while Thomas Waugh obtained sasine of the same on 24th July 1780 on a Disposition by Cornelius Elliot, writer in Edinburgh.² Latterly they were owned by the late James Paterson, W.S., whose trustees sold them to Mr. George Roberts.

To the north-west of Williamlaw are the lands of Halkburn.³ Halkburn. This was an old holding of the family of Hunter. As early as 16th February 1546-7 we have evidence of a Hunter in Halkburn⁴ and again in 1558.⁵ From the Edinburgh Register of Testaments we find several generations of the family in possession after that date. In 1631 a division of the lands took place and Thomas Hunter disposed one half of the lands of Halkburn together with three husband lands in Blainslie and others in favour of William Wallace, Advocate depute-Sheriff of Edinburgh.⁶ Mr. William Wallace of Allarslie was heritor of the lands on 29th December 1664,⁶ and we have a reference to the same Mr. William Wallace of Hagburne in 1666.⁷ On 3rd August 1677⁸ Uted

On 16th August 1757 Elizabeth Fisher, wife of Robert Oliver, merchant, Jedburgh, and Christian Fisher, daughters of John Fisher of Westerhousebyres, had sasine of the lands of Halkburn as heirs portioners of Andrew Fisher, wright, burghess of Edinburgh.

At a later date the lands were owned by Robert Renwick, whose estates were sequestrated, and they were then sold by his trustee to Mr. James Brown, junior, manufacturer, Galashiels.

Wooplaw.

The lands of Wooplaw were originally held by tenants of the monastery under tacks.¹ William Cairncross of Comeslie gave James Cairncross, his eldest son and heir-apparent, these lands on 11th May 1611, on the marriage of the latter with Janet Ker, daughter of Andrew Ker, and granddaughter of Sir Andrew Ker of Heiton. Sasine was obtained on 10th October 1611. His son, James Cairncross, had a charter from Thomas, Earl of Haddington, of these and other lands on 1st June 1621.² On 4th July 1622 a confirmation was granted by the Earl of Melrose of a sale by James Cairncross with consent of his spouse, Janet Ker, of the lands of Allanschaw and Wouplaw for 18,000 merks to George Pringle of Torwodlie.³ We find in the General Sasines that James Cairncross burdened them to John Fisher in Drygrange on 24th October 1632⁴ and on 10th January 1633. On 2nd December 1643 James Cairncross, with consent of his wife, Janet Ker, in consideration of 2000 merks conveyed Wooplaw to William

Cairncross of Old Melrose.¹ On 27th September 1652 he disposed the lands with consent of his son Andrew to John Pringle of Cortilferrie.² These writs were only in security of advances, for we find that Andrew Cairncross of Wolplaw and Wester Longley was in possession on 9th April 1659, and also on 22nd December 1666.³

On 28th October 1668 John Scott of Langshaw obtained sasine of the lands on a bond by Andrew Cairncross of Westerlanglee, and again on 30th April 1672.⁴ Andrew Cairncross disposed them to Heugh Scot of Galasheills, who obtained sasine in his favour on 23rd March 1680.⁵

They were sold on 22nd July 1681 by Hugh Scot of Gala⁶ to John Murray, Boon Milne, whose father, William Murray, Boon Milne, is said to have been a landed proprietor in Perthshire who had joined the Earl of Glencairn in supporting Charles II., and on the defeat of that nobleman by Cromwell's army fled to Berwickshire. On 20th April 1706 John Murray, elder, had sasine on a charter by the Earl of Haddington in his favour in life-rent and his son, John Murray, in fee.⁷ James Murray of Wooplaw obtained sasine of the lands on 13th December 1773 as heir to John Murray, his father.⁸ The property continued in the family of the Murrays of Wooplaw until it was sold by the trustees of John Murray of Wooplaw, W.S., in 1910, to Mr. Adam Tait, Manager of the Royal Bank of Scotland.

The lands of Allanshaws were granted to the monks by Allanshaws. Alan, the Constable of Scotland, together with Threepwood, and the boundaries were at that time given as follows:

They were 'debateable' lands on 18th June 1500 when Robert Lauder of that Ilk resigned them to the monastery.⁷

These lands remained in the hands of the monks until the Reformation, when a third of the benefices and the superiority were annexed to the Crown with the other Church lands. Afterwards they formed part of the new grant to the Earl of Haddington. Charles Cairneroce in Alaneschawis had a tack by James, Commendator perpetual of Melrose, with consent of the convent thereof for his life and that of two successive heirs and to the next heir for thrice nineteen years (with entry at date) of the teind sheaves and small teinds, parsonage, and vicarage, of the lands of Alaneschawis; dated 6th September 1586, signed by the Subprior and James Watson 'only convent.'⁸

The lands were on 8th June 1590 feued by the Commendator with consent of his spouse, Dame Marion or Mary Ker, and Janet Scott his mother, to the said Charles Cairncross,⁹ who sold them on 6th May 1600 to William Cairncross of Comeslie.¹⁰ This family held these lands for several generations. They are now the property of Mr. William Wood, farmer, Corshope, Heriot.

South-east of Newhouses are the lands of Blainslie—Blainslie. land through which the Roman road afterwards known as Dere Street probably ran. These lands were granted by William the Lion to the monks of Melrose¹ and formed one of their oldest granges. They were occupied by the tenants of the Monastery in three villages known as Overtown, Middletown, and Nethertown of Blainslie.

About 1180 or later Richard de Morville, with consent of his son William, granted liberty to the monks of Melrose to plough and sow the lands of 'Blanesleye' and the plain beyond the grove over to the Leder.² This grant was confirmed by William de Morville.³ About the same period, Alan Fitzwalter, Steward of Scotland, quitted all claim he had to the pasturage of Bleinsley in favour of the monks.⁴ We have failed to trace any further reference to these lands until 5th April 1547 when the following are found 'nychtbouris induellaris and occu-piaris of the Onertoune of Blannyslie': Jhon of Romanos, James Lorne, Thomas Fogo, William Hall, James Derlyng, Mychaell Dicson, Robert Clerk, Jhon Grewe, Gilbert Thyne, William Jhonson, Patrick Jhonson, Jhon of Hall; while under the Nethertoun we have the names Stewyn Hunter, Thomas Hunter, James Swynnos, George Dawesoun, William Sterlyng, William Hall, Mychaell Dicson, John Grewe, Robert Hoppryngill for his brother, and Andrew Hoppryngill.⁵ Of these, Stephen Hunter obtained a Charter of certain lands in Blainslie on 6th April 1547;⁶ and on 15th July 1550 William Hall obtained from John Thornton, protonotary apostolic precentor of Moray (by letters dated from Rome 2nd October 1549, and directed to encourage and promote the letting and feuing of Church lands destroyed or unproductive by long continued wars between Scots and English), letters of confirmation of a charter, granted 8th March 1546-7 by James Stewart, Commendator of Kelso and Melrose, of the 22s. 3d. land of Nether Blainslie and 11s. 1½d. land and town of Overtown of Blainslie, in which the bounds are very fully described.¹ These boundaries are the same as those appearing in the Charter of Elizabeth Striveling printed in this volume.² From the above it will be seen that the lands were held by a number of kindly tenants of the monks. These tacksmen latterly became feuars of the Earl of Haddington. About 1620 the following were 'the fewaris and possessouris of the tounis and landis of Blainslie,' John, George, and Edward Romanuse, Agnes Lylstoune, relict of umquhile Edward Romanuse, Adam and Edward Derlinge, Michael Dickson, John Thyne, James Greif, Alexander and John Hall, John and Charles Pringle, George and John Davidson, Thomas Lyall, Thomas and John Swonhouse, Hew Hardie, George Gray in Braidwoodshiell, George Pringle of Blindley, Katherine Ker, relict of James Hunter, and Francis Hunter, their eldest son, Thomas Hunter, burgess of Edinburgh, and William Hunter of Williamlaw.³

It is impossible to deal with these various small holdings in detail. The descendants of the above persons succeeded generation after generation to the lands until they were gradually bought out and the holdings united into one or more large farms.

The property was finally consolidated in the persons of John Simson and Thomas Simson, whose ancestors had been farmers in Adinstone, Lauder. These gentlemen sold their estates to the Earl of Lauderdale.

The lands of Broadwoodshiels were owned by William Hunter of Williamlaw on 26th June 1606.¹ Margaret Collingwoode, his widow, and James Mure, her second son, were in possession on 10th March 1660.² William Ker and his wife, Christian Fisher, had sasine on 1st March 1676.³ To revert to a slightly earlier date, Mr. Robert Hunter obtained a precept of sasine of the lands from the Earl of Haddington on 29th July 1672.⁴ About this time they must have passed into the hands of Mr. John Scott, for on 3rd June 1672 he sold them together with Mosshouses to Francis Scott of Langshaw.⁵ On 9th February 1695, Thomas Scott was served heir to his father Francis Scott of Langshaw in these lands.⁶ James Nicolson of Trabroun had sasine of them on 13th April 1696,⁷ and thereafter they were seemingly owned by Thomas Fairbairn, for we find in the record of the baptism of his daughter Grizell, 21st August 1704,⁸ that Thomas Fairbairn is designed of Broadwoodshiels.

Leonard Shafto Orde, eldest son of John Orde of Westwood, Northumberland, and Rosamund Dalgleish, his spouse, had sasine of the lands on 15th July 1789, and having disposed them on 2nd December 1790 to the Rev. Alexander Stevenson, the latter obtained sasine of them on 17th December 1790. On 26th July 1799 Alexander Christie of Grueldykes obtained sasine of the lands on an irredeemable disposition by Mr. Stevenson.

At the present date they are the property of Sir William MacGregor, G.C.M.G., of Chapel.

Old and New Roan.

The lands of Old and New Roan lie east of Blainslie and north of Broadwoodshiels. They were in possession of George Pringle prior to 22nd July 1659, when his son, Robert Pringle of Blindlie, obtained a precept of Clare Constat in his favour as heir of his father. On 4th and 5th July 1659 Robert Pringle with certain consents granted a charter in favour of William Cranston, portioner of Huntleywood, and Mary Erskine, his spouse, who had sasine on 25th January 1660,¹ and were still in possession on 10th June 1671.² They were afterwards owned by James Erskine, who, on 28th April 1720, sold them to James Stirling, who disposed them to James Inglis. Inglis sold them to John Hounam on 30th June 1729, and James Stirling obtained a Charter of Confirmation on 4th March 1732 and purchased various other portions of the lands thereafter. His son, James Stirling, obtained a Charter of Confirmation on 4th July 1801, when he sold them to Donald Cameron, who in his turn sold them on 28th November to Alexander Christie. Christie disposed them on 23rd April 1828 to George Peat. Mr. Peat sold them on 30th December 1829 to John Topper Southwaite. Mr. Southwaite having become bankrupt, they were sold to the Earl of Lauderdale on 7th March 1844.

Milcheside.

The name of Milchesyde has entirely disappeared from the district; probably under the name of the Milsieburn we have the only reference to the ancient holding. The boundaries were as follows:—'From the upper fish pool down by the same rivulet which falls into the said fish pool as far as the great causeway which goes from Lauder towards Birkenside and thence by the same causeway southward to the eastern head of the ditch which the foresaid monks made after our assignation between their land and the land which we have assigned on the south to our sick and from the said head of the ditch made by the monks along the same westward to the ancient ditch which crosses the place from south to north and thence southward to the head of the same ancient ditch and thence descending obliquely in the direction in which Joceline, Lord Bishop of Glasgow and the Cellarer of Melrose perambulated the boundary as far as the rivulet called Mereburn [Marchburn] which is the boundary between the lands of Milkeside and the lands of Blainslie to the great causeway which descends from Windelaw to Lauder and thence by the same causeway northward to the road which runs from it to Milkeside and by that way to the head of the ditch which we had begun before we gave the lands of Milkeside to the Abbey of Melrose and thence to the southern head of the ditch which surrounds the court of the said chapel on the west.' ¹ These boundaries show that the lands lay immediately north of the lands of Blainslie and were bounded by 'Cheild lyelis chapel walls.' They were thus latterly included in the lands of Blainslie.

West of Blainslie are the lands of Threepwood. This Threepwood. is a very ancient holding granted by Alan, the son of Roland, Constable of Scotland, to the monks between 1177 and 1204.² In 1180 William the Lion arranged a dispute between the monks and Richard de Moreville, then Constable of Scotland, by which they were to enjoy the rights to the wood and pasturage and also the game.³ The ground seems to have been gradually cleared of timber and the holding occupied by the monks and their vassals. At the time the lands passed into the hands of the Earl of Haddington they appear to have been in the occupation of kindly tenants of the Abbey, to whom the earl granted feu charters.

Newhouses.

The lands of Newhouses were held by tenants under tacks from the monks, and were known as the Newhouses of Threepwood.

On 2nd December 1620 Thomas, Earl of Melrose, granted charters of Newhouses to John Romanes, John Williamson, and William Dewar.¹ Thereafter John Romanes acquired the greater part of the lands from the other holders, one of whom was Hugh Dods. On 23rd July 1635 Edward Hall obtained sasine on a charter of confirmation by the Earl of Haddington of a portion of the lands.²

The three daughters of Edward Hall, Isobel, Catherine, and Marion Hall, and their husbands had sasine of their portion on 14th December 1663.³ John Lithgow, husband of Isobel Hall, acquired the whole of that portion on 28th April 1679.⁴ His son and heir, Edward Lithgow, obtained a precept of Clare Constat from the superior on 29th October 1716⁵ and disposed of them on 10th November 1716 to John Hounam. Hounam sold them to James Watherston on 24th July 1721. Thomas Waterston, son of James Watherston, disposed them to Benjamin Scott on 23rd August 1748. James Scott acquired them under the Trust Disposition of Benjamin Scott, recorded 30th December 1772, and sold them to William Romanes, who disposed them on 26th July 1793 to the Earl of Lauderdale, whose successor is the present owner.⁶

Colmesliehill.

These lands known as Cumbesliecnol were granted in feu by the Earl of Bothwell on 1st April 1567 to John Hoy in Combesliehill,⁷ who was still in possession in 1607.⁸ They appear next to have been in the hands of the Cairncrosses, but on 5th August 1630 there was a Crown grant to Walter Murray of Aikwode and his heirs of the lands of Colmesliehill, which were resigned by Alexander Hay of Colmesliehill with consent of Elizabeth Hunter, his spouse, William Hunter sometime of Williamslaw, then in Overwood, Andrew Darling in Appletreeleaves called 'Midandrew,' Alexander Hunter of Wrangham for himself and the heirs of James Hunter, minister at Smailholm, his father, Mariot Aikman, widow of said James, and Thomas M'Dowal in Stodrigg, then her spouse.¹

About the period 1629-33 the owner of Colmesliehill was Alexander Vair.² Thereafter these lands were acquired by the family of Innes and passed with Colmeslie to Lady Reay, the present owner.

The first mention of Colmeslie in the Chartulary is when Malcolm iv. granted to the monks of Melrose a site in the lower part of Cumbesley to erect a cow-house for one hundred cows and a sheepfold.³ The name was doubtless derived from St. Colm or Columba, the ruins of a chapel dedicated to him marking a field still called the Chapel Park.⁴

Prior to the Reformation the lands were in the occupation of the Cairncross family. One of these, Nicol Cairncross, a burghess of Edinburgh and one of the 'Kirkmaisters of the confrary and altare of the haly blude,'⁵ held grants of various lands.⁶ He appears to have had no issue by his wife, Marion Scott. In the charter of the lands of Bakspittail and Foirspittail in the regality of Broughton and Sherifffdom of Edinburgh, dated 21st April 1536, his brother William is mentioned as next in succession,⁷ and in subsequent charters he is designated Cairncross of

The lands next seem to have passed into the hands of James Pringle of Cortleferry, who was succeeded by his two sisters, Marion Pringle, wife of John Hunter of Cousland and Isabella Pringle, wife of Malcolm Inglis of Manorhead, who were served heirs to John Pringle on 17th January 1662.² Marion Pringle having acquired her sister's half, her daughters, Helen Hunter, wife of James Pringle of Craigen, and Christian Hunter, wife of Francis Scot, brother to James Scot of Galashiels, obtained a charter from the Earl of Haddington on 7th June 1680.³ Mr. John Lawsons, 'under clerk to the Lords of seacret counsel,' his spouse, Margaret Wischart, and their son, John Lawson, had sasine on 9th June 1688 of one half of the lands called Cellmuir.⁴ James Thomson, merchant, Edinburgh, owned the lands in 1709.⁵ William Shortreid of Comeslie is mentioned on 12th January 1753 as being in possession.⁶ On 20th May 1772 Margaret and Agnes Shortreid, daughters of William Shortreid of Philogar, have sasine under a bond for £2500 by David Campbell, W.S.,⁷ who was evidently then owner. His trustees obtained a discharge thereof on 28th February 1775.⁸ Latterly we find the lands possessed by George Innes of Stow, whose daughter was succeeded by Captain Alexander Mitchell. He married Fanny Jane, daughter of Richard Hasler of Aldingbourne, Sussex, and dying without issue left his estates to her. She is now the wife of Donald James, eleventh Lord Reay.

South of Threepwood are the lands of Langshaw. These lands were held of the monks who astricted the tenants of Blainslie, Threepwood, Mosshouses, Comeslie, and other places adjoining to have their corn ground at the Mill of Langshaw. Reference is made to an Act of the Court of the Regality, dated 10th April 1527,¹ by Andrew Durie, the abbot, who confirmed the acts of his predecessors ordaining the tenants and others in 'thir eist pairteis' to have their corn ground there. The lands on 27th January 1586-7 were in possession of George Hoppringle, brother german to James Hoppringle of Woodhous, called 'feuar of said Lands,' possibly a holder under a security writ, who at that date claimed his right to thirlage. On 6th May 1600 Charles Cairncross granted a charter of Alienation of these lands in favour of William Cairncross of Colmeslie.² After passing into the hands of the Pringles of Whytbank and others, they were acquired by the Earl of Haddington.

The lands of Easter and Wester Housebyres, known also ^{Housebyres.} as Eister and Wester fuird and Eistraick and Wolhousebyres, were among the lands annexed to the Crown at the Reformation, and are found in the grants to the Earl of Haddington on 28th August 1609.³ Newhousebyre or Wolhousebyres was, however, in possession of Robert Cairncross of Colmeslie prior to February 1573-74,⁴ at which date William Hoppringle was tenant. The lands were sold by him to Sir Patrick Murray of Langshaw, eldest son of Sir Gideon Murray of Elibank, who was third son of Andrew Murray of Blackbarony, and who obtained a Crown charter of them on 20th August 1617,⁵ when they were called Eistraik and Ouisbyir. 3rd April 1618¹ there was a Crown ratification of certain burdens payable from the lands, which indicate that James Pringle of Whitebank had previous to that date held the lands, and there followed a new grant in favour of Sir Gideon Murray and his spouse.²

After numerous transmissions the lands of Wester Housebyres have become the property of Mr. Robert Shirra Bruce, Thirlstane Mains, Lauder; while the proprietors of Easter Housebyres can still claim descent from the family of Trotter, whose name appears in more than one decret of the Regality Court.

Fawhope.

The lands of Fawhope were given by William de Lindsay to the convent of Melrose prior to the year 1179.³ They had previously formed part of the lands of Ercheldune (Earlston), which he had held under Swan the son of Thor.⁴ They are described as bounded on the east by the Leader, on the north by the Fauhope burn, now known as the packman's burn and Soroulesfield, on the west by Housbyres, and on the south by the Tweed. We do not find the lands mentioned again in the Chartulary of Melrose, though the burn of that name is frequently referred as a boundary of other lands. They were probably occupied by the tenants of the monks until the annexation of the Church lands to the Crown, after which they again appear in the various Crown grants.

James Stewart, Commendator of Melrose, on 9th December 1602, granted a precept of Clare Constat in favour of Robert Dinnant, who obtained sasine of the lands upon the same day.⁵ On 2nd September 1751, ⁵ Writs of the lands in the hands of Dr. Lithgow's representatives.

George Steuart had a Disposition in his favour by Janet Mein, only child of William Mein, portioner of Gattonside, and Isobel Waugh, only child of John Waugh, smith in Brotherstones.¹ The name Fauchope has in recent years been applied to a small property belonging to the heirs of the late Surgeon-General A. S. Lithgow, which at one time formed part of the larger area bearing that name.

The lands of Sorrowlessfield were situated on the west side of the Leader. About the beginning of the thirteenth century, a prolonged litigation began between the monks of Melrose and Patrick, Earl of Dunbar, which, after an appeal to Pope Innocent III. and a remit to the Bishop of Moray, ended in the earl granting to the monks in July 1208—the King confirming the grant—the whole arable land called Sorouelesfield on the west side of the Leader, such as had been held by William Soroueles, who is then first mentioned in that grant, and from whom the lands had derived their name.² A confirmation of this grant was made by Alexander II.³ In the reign of Robert I., Patrick, Earl of Dunbar, confirmed all the previous grants in his dominion, including Sourlesfelde,⁴ and David II. confirmed Dunbar's grant on 11th January 1341–2.⁵ This was followed by a charter dated 8th May 1400 by George, Earl of (Dunbar and) March confirming previous grants to the monks including all the woods in Sorouelesfeilde.⁶ Finally there is a confirmation by James I. on 18th April 1433 of the disputes between the monastery and the Earl of Dunbar, and giving the monastery these lands.⁷

On 1st April 1567 the monks granted to Sir John Home of Cowdenknowes and Lady Margaret Ker, his spouse, the lands of Sorolesfield and Park.¹

On 7th June 1568 the King confirmed a charter granted by Michael, Commendator of Melrose, to Alexander Balfour of Denmylne of the Regality lands.²

At the Reformation, when a third of the benefices and the superiority of the lands were annexed to the Crown, these Church lands passed through the same transmissions already mentioned and were finally vested in the Earl of Haddington as superior. Sorrowlessfield now forms part of the estate of Cowdenknowes.

Redpath.

The lands of Redpath were held of the Crown, having been granted by Robert I. to his nephew, Thomas Randolph, Earl of Moray, who bestowed them upon the Abbot and monks of Melrose,³ to whom sasine was granted on 4th September 1319.⁴ This grant was confirmed by Patrick, Earl of Dunbar,⁵ and by King Robert I.⁶

The Earl of Douglas, on 17th December 1416, disposed of a dispute between the monks and John the Hage, Lord of Bemerside, in their favour.⁷ This was followed by the Earl of Douglas letting the lands 'to borch' to the Abbots of Melrose on 13th May 1418.⁸ A Confirmation by the Earl of Douglas of the original grant of Thomas, Earl of Moray, is dated 10th July 1418,⁹ and on 13th September 1421 the Earl of Douglas again confirmed the whole lands and marches¹⁰ giving their boundaries. Then followed an excommunication of John Hage of Bemersyde for ignoring the decree of the Earl of Douglas¹¹ and a judgment of the

On 3rd November 1427 the King confirmed the perambulation made on 16th November 1425.² From Dr. Maitland Thomson's Vatican Charters we have obtained the following transmissions: On 5th November 1546: Charter whereby James, perpetual Commendator of the Monasteries of Melros and Calco, and the Convent of the Monastery of Melros, of the Cistercian Order in the diocese of Glasgow (for the augmentation of their rental and for certain sums of money paid to them for the repair and rebuilding of their Monastery recently burned by the English) grant in feu farm to William Andersoun in Reidpeth, a husband land and half husband land of the lands of Reidpeth then occupied by him with pasture in the common of Ersiltoun, lying in the lordship of Melros within the sheriffdom of Berwick, extending in their rental to thirty shillings Scots, four poultry and 1½ 'caragia': To be holden the said William and the heirs male of his body lawfully procreated or to be procreated, whom failing his heirs male whomsoever, whom failing his heirs and assignees whomsoever de nobis: Rendering therefor yearly thirty-three shillings and six pennies, Scots, four poultry and 1½ 'caragia' when required, being

COURT BOOKS AND ROLLS OF THE REGALITY OF MELROSE, 1682-1684

' Att Melrose the fourth day of March j^m vj^c and eightie
tua yeires '—

Which day George Pringle of Blindlie, bailie-depute of the regality of Melrose, sitting in judgment, gave and delivered to John Lithgow in Melrose, notary public, to read in face of court a Gift and Commission, under the great seal, of the office and jurisdiction of bailiary within the said regality, granted by his Majesty to Robert, Earl of Roxburgh, Lord Cesfoord and Cavertoune, etc., with power to appoint deputes, clerks, etc., during his Majesty's pleasure, dated at Whitehall, 19th January 1682; also a Deputation and letter of bailiary granted by the said Earl to the said George Pringle to be bailie-depute during his Lordship's pleasure, dated at Edinburgh, 13th February 1682; and a missive letter and warrant from the Earl to him to choose his own clerk, dated at Edinburgh, 14th February 1682; and conform thereto he chose the said John Lithgow to be his clerk, and commanded him to fence the court, who did so in name of his Majesty, the Earl and bailie-depute. Compeared Robert Faa, late bailie of the regality, and protested as factor and chamberlain to the Earl of Haddington that the keys of the tolbooth of Melrose might not be taken out of the town of Melrose but left 'in some honest mans hands liveing ther' to be forthcoming for the use of the said Earl and his factor 'when evir they had to doe therwith,' and took instruments in the hands of the said John Lithgow. Also compeared Thomas Wilkiesone, late clerk of regality, and protested that the said John Lithgow 'had wrongouslie intruded himselfe in his office of the clerkshipe by sitting and fencing of a court that day, notwithstanding the said

Thomas' gift of the clerkship ad vitam aut culpam from the deceased John, Earl of Haddington, heritable bailie of the regality; but the bailie-depute answered that the said protestation was in effect against the King's gift to the Earl of Roxburgh and the Earl's deputation to the bailie-depute, and besides the said Thomas Wilkieson 'could neither show nor produce' the gift ad vitam aut culpam, and though he should yet he offered to prove by the said Thomas Wilkieson's oath that the said gift was long since recalled by Charles, now Earl of Haddington, and that he was necessitated to accept of another commission or tolerance from the said Earl to continue in office during pleasure only; and as the said Charles, Earl of Haddington's heritable office and jurisdiction of bailiary is now fallen in his Majesty's hands through his Lordship's not taking the Test in due time, any former gift or tolerance from the Earl falls likewise therewith; so the bailie repelled the protestation, and thereafter administered the Test in the prescribed manner to the said John Lithgow, who in turn administered the same to the bailie-depute. Thereafter the bailie-depute chose Archibald Frier in Coblehouse to be his procurator-fiscal, and the clerk administered the Test to him; and they all sealed and subscribed the same in judgment, and the bailie-depute ordained the same to be registered in the court books of the regality. [Here follows the Test.] 'Sic subscribitur, Geo. Pringle; Jo. Lythgow, cfs.; Archibald Frier.'

Melrose, 20 March 1682

Which day the bailie-depute and clerk gave their oaths judicially for faithful administration, and thereafter the rolls of the head court being thrice formally called over, the bailie fined each person, who being thrice called failed to compear, in 50 l Scots and issued precepts thereupon.

Melrose, 25 March 1682; George Pringle

Which day action at the instance of Archibald Frier, procurator fiscal, against 'the hail delinquents and per-sones irregular'¹ within the regality, conform to a roll thereof, for transgressing the Acts of Parliament by frequenting house and field conventicles and withdrawing from their parish church, since the Act of Indemnity, whereby they are liable to specified fines. The fiscal compearing, there also compeared personally William Bell, James Mosse, and Andrew Chisholme, in Ridpeth, and Robert Mertone in Gattounsyde, who are absolved, the latter offering to depone, and asserting that he was orderly, while the first three produced a testificate by Mr. John Hepburne, their parish minister at Ersiltoune, that they were very orderly and constantly attended the parish church; and the rest of the defenders being absent were held as confessed, and fined according to their degree, in terms of the Acts of Parliament.

Melrose, 25 April 1682; George Pringle

Which day action by Robert Whyte, officer, and the fiscal for his interest, against John and Thomas Bell, weavers in Melrose, narrating that 'yesternight about elevine a cloake at night or therby the said Robert Whyte persewer haveing gone to the tolbuith of Melrose to visite the prissoners laid in ther by the Laird of Meldrum and to sticke and lock in the saids prissone doors securlie that none of them might escape, the saids defenders being lying in waite for the persewer presentlie followed him up the tolbuith stairres and whensoever he had opened door they fell upon the persewer, with some uthir of their complices under cloud of night and violentlie thrust the persewer from the door, and did pull out, at the least offerred violentlie to pull out one of the saids prissoners, quherupon the said persewar, conforme to his dewtie and office, commandit the defenders in the Kings name to keep off and baite them from the said door with his staffe to that effect, and the defenders were so farr from obeying or giveing dew reverence or subjectione to the persewers authoritie as jevellar to the saids prissoners, he being stricklie commanded by the said Laird of Meldrume not to suffer any persone to entir into or come out of the said tolbuith untill the morrow, yett the saids defenders most furiouslie againe did asault the persewer and tooke his stalfe from him quherwith he wes defending himselfe and disgracefullie in high contempt of authoritie broke it into peices and raged and shouged the persewer by the armes and drew him from the said tolbuith doune throw the hail casa and street the lenth of James Edgars house with many opprobrious speeches, such as rascall and villane, quherthrow the saids defenders are guilty of most hineous ryot' and ought to be fined and otherwise punished. Both parties compearing, the pursuer referred to the defenders' oaths, and Thomas Bell deponed 'that he haveing gone in with leave to visite the prisoners and when he was comeing out againe he would have had James Broune out with him and tooke him by the arme to draw at him to come out twysse, but Robert Whytte resisted him and hinderd to take James Broune out, and that he did not sie the staffe broken betwixt his brother and the said Robert Whytte but he beleaves it wes broken in the stairre head'; and John Bell deponed 'that he came up the tolbuith stairre to bring out his brother Thomas Bell, and the said Robert Whytte haveing baitten him twysse off with his staffe he tooke the staffe from him and broke it, but gave him no farder offence, and that the said Robert Whyte followed and persewed them doune the streitt and caused some of Meldrums gentlemen apprehend them.' The bailie ordains John Bell to pay to the fiscal 20 l. and Thomas Bell to pay 30 l. of fine.

Melrose, 29 April 1682; George Pringle

Which day action at instance of George Ogilvye, procurator fiscal to the justices of peace in the sherifffdom of Roxburgh and other shires adjacent, against Robert Bunzie, mason in Newstead, and John Hunter, shoemaker in Melrose, for his interest, to make forthcoming to him 800 merks due by Bunzie to the said John Hunter, and arreisted in his hands on 25 July 1681, at least so much thereof as will satisfy the sum of 300 merks contained in a decreet obtained at pursuer's instance before Adam Urquhart of Meldrum, John Riddell of Hayning and William Elliot of Dunlabyres, three of his Majesty's justices of peace specially nominated by the Privy Council for the shire of Roxburgh and others adjacent, against the said John Hunter in Melrose, David Gibsone there and James Patersone in Newtoun, for keeping and frequenting house and field conventicles and baptizing and marrying disorderly, and who by their bond, dated 1st May 1679, obliged themselves under a penalty of 100 merks each to compear before the Lords of Council when required, but failing therein were decerned to pay the said penalty. The said pursuer compearing by Archibald Frier, his procurator, and the defenders being both absent, the bailie decerns as craved.

Melrose, 24 June 1682; George Pringle [who hitherto styled himself bailie-depute, but now and henceforth is styled bailie principal of the regality].

Which day action by Archibald Frier, fiscal, against Robert Bunzie, mason in Newstead, and John Hunter, cordiner in Melrose, for his interest, for making forthcoming 500 merks due by Bunzie to Hunter and arrested for satisfaction of 335 l Scots contained in decreet, 25 March last, at the pursuer's instance before the bailie of regality of Melrose against said John Hunter for withdrawing from his parish church, attending conventicles, and disorderly baptisms. Defenders absent, decerns as craved.

Same day action by John and William Lithgow for themselves and as factors for David and James Lithgow, all lawful sons and executors to deceased James Lithgow of Drygrange, against Thomas Wilkiesone, late clerk of regality, who in 1662, 1663, 1664 or 1665 did borrow from their father the whole Acts of Parliament of this realm from the first Parliament held at Perth by King James I. on 26 May 1444 [sic], to the first Parliament held by his Majesty and the Earl of Midletoun, his Commissioner, at Edinburgh in 1661, inclusive, bound up in two books in folio 'with fyne broads,' containing de verborum significatione at the end of the said books, and which were new, whole and entire when lent by their father to him and are worth 100 l Scots ; which he ought to restore to them (as having only and undoubted right thereto) in as good condition as they were when lent to him, or pay the worth thereof as above. Both parties compearing, the defender denied the claim, and alleged that the pursuers produced no active title and no intimation of concurrence from the rest of the pursuers. The pursuer opposed ' the forsaid lyble bearing a licence from the commissar to persew the defender usque ad sententiam ' ; and on 8th April the bailie ordained the defender to exhibit the books in his hands or in the hands of any neutral man in Melrose, after which the bailie would hear both parties before delivery ; but that day the defender was absent, and is held as confessed, and ordained to deliver up the books to the pursuers as required or pay 100 l as the value thereof, with 20 l of expenses of plea.

Melrose, 26 August 1682 ; George Pringle

Which day action by John Lithgow, clerk of regality, against Thomas Wilkiesone, late clerk thereof, narrating that whereas the pursuer ought to possess the emoluments, benefits and profits of the office and have the custody of the old registers of the court and all other papers, processes and deeds connected therewith, so as to be able to give out extracts when required, notwithstanding hereof the defender retains the same and moreover does daily give out extracts of records in his custody and receives in any that come to his hand to be registered and antedates the incoming of them, thus rendering the office unprofitable to the pursuer or any other clerk. He ought therefore to deliver up the same and account for his intromissions since the office lapsed. Both parties compearing, the defender refused to make exhibition, and alleged that the Earl of Haddington ought to be summoned for his interest, to which the pursuer opposed his libel ; whereupon the bailie decerned the defender to deliver as above upon oath, and also upon oath make account of the monies received by him for giving out extracts and registering deeds.

Melrose, 2 September 1682; George Pringle

Which day action by Archibald Frier, fiscal, against Alexander Scott, portioner of Blainslies, for transgressing the Acts of Parliament against reset of rebels by setting to William Spotswood, 'rebell and declaired outlaw and fugitive,' this twelvemonth bygone and more a house and yard, wherein he has dwelt peaceably until now. Both parties compearing, and the charge being denied, the pursuer adduced (1) George Moffatt in Blainslies, who deponed 'that he heard the said Allexander Scott confesse that he sett ane coatt house to the said William Spotswood and that he should have fourtie shillings Scotts of mail for it in the yeir'; (2) John Wallace in Blainslies deponed as above; (3) James Turner there deponed 'that he heard Robert Whytte take him witnes of something betwixt him and the said Allexander Scott but knew not quhat it wes, and that the said Allexander sett the land to him but reserved that coatt house to himselfe.' The bailie finds the charge proved and decerns the defender to find caution in 500 merks to present William Spotswood to the said bailie, and to remain in prison till this caution is found.

Melrose, 15 December 1682; George Pringle

Which day action by John and William Lithgow, for themselves and for David and James Lithgow, all lawful sons and executors of deceased James Lithgow of Drygrange, against Andrew Hietoune, portioner of Darnike, and Thomas Wilkiesone, late clerk of regality, for his interest, narrating decret, 24 June last, against Wilkieson, whereupon they caused Francis Pringle, officer, on 4 December instant, arrest in Heiton's hands 200 l or thereby due by him to Wilkieson. Defenders absent, the bailie decerns them to make forthcoming 100 merks contained in a Bond by Hieton to Wilkieson.

Melrose, 3 February 1683; George Pringle

Which day action by Archibald Frier, fiscal, against Andrew Mair, portioner of Gattonside, Thomas Hallywall

there, John Hoy there, Thomas Mathesone there, Archibald Frier, weaver there, James Frier there and his wife, Robert Clerke, merchant there, and John Wright, smith there, narrating that the pursuer obtained decreets against said Robert Clerk and John Wright for 245 l. Scots, and thereupon arreisted in the defenders' hands all sums due by them to the said Robert and John. Defenders all compearing, pursuer referred to their oaths, and John Hoy deponed he owed only 20 l. to Clerk and knew not what interest, and owed nothing to Wright; James Frier deponed 50 merks due by bond to Clerk, with some interest, and nothing to Wright; Andrew Mair craved to advise with his oath till next court day; the rest deponed negative to all. Decerns and absolves accordingly.

Melrose, 19 May 1683; George Pringle

Which day action by Andrew Chisholme, portioner of Darnick, and the procurator-fiscal for his interest, against Robert Halliwall, portioner of Darnick, narrating that the pursuer was in peaceable possession 'of the thrid cavell of Highcroce and Bankyaite and six butts in Coatburne thir thrie yeires bygane quich fell by cutt and cavell to him conforme to the contract of divisioune conveyed theranent amongst the hail fewars in Darnicke with consent of the Erle of Haddingtoun ther superiour therof,' and accordingly on 1st May instant was tilling and labouring 'ane rig of the said fourth pairt of the said thrid cavell of Highcroce and Bankyaite' and 'seadfurrowing the samyne with his pleugh' when the defender came about 2 or 3 p.m. and stopped his plough by striking and beating the horses, and took the horses by the head and would not suffer them to go forward, whereupon the pursuer protested and took instruments in the hands of Thomas Wilkiesone, there present; and for this riot he should be fined and punished, and also be decerned to pay 100 l of penalty contained in the said contract of division. Both parties compearing, defender denied, but pursuer opposed the instrument of interruption, and referred also to defender's oath, who confessed; so decerns him to pay 50 l. to the fiscal for the said riot, and 10 l. to the pursuer for damage and cost, and discharges him to interrupt the pursuer's possession in time coming.

Melrose, 9 June 1683 ; George Pringle

Which day action by the procurator-fiscal against Robert Lies in Whitlaw, and John Leathane his servitor, narrating decret, 26 August last, at pursuer's instance against Leathane for 100 l Scots, whereupon James Wauch, officer, on 8 June instant arreisted in the hands of Robert Lies all fees, bounty, nolt, sheep, or other goods either due by him to Leathane or pasturing on his ground or in his custody. Robert Lies compearing deponed he was owing to Leathane 10 l. and there were 16 sheep of Leathane's pasturing on his ground, but nothing else of his. The bailie decerns him to make forthcoming the said 10 l. and 16 sheep or half-a-crown apiece for them, extending to 34 l. Scots.

Melrose, 23 June 1683 ; George Pringle

Which day action by procurator-fiscal against Andrew Chisholme, Andrew Merser, Andrew Renneldsone, and Walter Dalglish, portioners and sworn men in Darnick, narrating that they 'have all withine this twelve moneth or therby broken and tealled severall places in the common ground of the lands of Darnicke,' each of them thereby damnifying the town in 100 l. Scots, which they ought to pay, with the fines contained in the Act of Parliament. Both parties compearing, and the defenders confessing, decerns each to pay 50 l. of fine.

Same day action by the fiscal and the foresaid persons, sworn men in Darnick, against John Uschar, portioner there, and William Mosse, weaver there, the former of whom 'withine this twelve moneth or therby hes at his oun hand without any consent or allowance of the rest of his neighbours in Darnicke houked ane seugh throw the loaning plaine doune allongs to the burne againe quhilk is tua ells deip and more and quhilk endangers the persewars hail bestiall that constantlie pastures therabout everie uthir day, so that it is impossible for them to stop [? step] it and if they happine to fall into it as in all probabilitie they cannot escape, they will not nor can not recover themselves and so breake ther neckes'; and the said William Mosse has also at his own hand without consent of his neighbours 'cutted the common ground of Darnicke lyand at the head of Ma^equarrye and hes houked ane seuch westward therfrae to the syke called Coallyears boigne-syke, and also hes castine the said syke at his oune hand without libertie of the said toune withine the common ground.' They have thus by their intrusion damnified the town of Darnike in 100 l. each, which they ought to pay, and the fines contained in the Act of Parliament, and be decerned to refill the seuchs as they were before. Both parties compearing, Ushar confessed but alleged that the pursuers had done the like, who answered that for what they had done they were presently already fined; and Mosse confessed he had 'castine ane seuch about the lenth of ane pleugh to turne upon.' Decerns each to pay 50 l. of fine, but continues the filling up of the seuchs and modification of costs till the bailie visit the seuchs.

Melrose, 30 June 1683; George Pringle

Which day action by Mr. James Borthwicke of Stow against George Turner, tenant in Colmslie, and Francis Scott of Colmslie for his interest, narrating Bond by deceased Patrick Scott, writer in Edinburgh, dated 3rd and 8th October 1678, corroborating his Bond, 7 March 1679 [sic] to deceased James Borthwicke of Stow, the pursuer's father, for 200 l. Scots, with 40 l. of penalty, registered in the Books of Council and Session, 5 February 1677; to which Bond the defunct made the pursuer his assignee, and the said Patrick Scott, with the said Francis Scott as his cautioner, obliged himself to pay the debt to the pursuer, and the Bond of corroboration is registered in the said books, 4 August 1679. Thereupon the pursuer caused Mark Henderson, messenger in Lauder, on 28 June 1682, arreist in Turner's hands 1000 merks due by him to said Francis Scott for his last Martinmas rent of the lands of Colmslie and Whitsunday and Martinmas rent next thereafter. Pursuer compearing by John Bunzie his procurator and defender by John Hallyday his procurator, the defender's procurator craved inspection of the libel, and next court day being called and defenders absent, held as confessed, so decerns to make forthcoming as craved.

Melrose, 27 June 1683 ; George Pringle

Which day action by the procurator-fiscal against Robert Frier in Gattonside, to make forthcoming 300 merks arreisted as due by him to each of Robert Clerke, merchant in Gattonside, and John Wright, sometime smith there, against the former of whom the pursuer obtained decret for 300 l and against the latter for 200 merks. Defender confessed owing Wright 100 merks by Bond, but had paid 5 l. Scots thereof, and owed Clerk only 10 l. and could depone as to nothing else till accounting, which is allowed ; meantime the bailie decerns him to make forthcoming 61 l. 13 s. 4 d. due to Wright and 10 l. due to Clerk.

Melrose, 21 July 1683 ; George Pringle

Which day action by Thomas Kyll, wright in Lessudden, and the fiscal for his interest, against James Brydden, portioner there, narrating that the pursuer was tenant to the defender ' thir six yeires bygane of six butts of land lyand one the south syde of the toune of Lessudden called the Long Croft butts, and haveing reapt the last croft thereof and being in peacable possessioun of the samyne, yett the said defender at his owne hand without any wairneing usit against the said persewer or decreitt of removeing obtained at the defenders instance against the persewer theranent betwixt Michaelmes and Mertimes last entred to the possessioun of the saids six butts and hes pleughed the samen and refuses to let the persewar be reponed to the possessioun therof notwithstanding the said persewar never quyte with or gave over the samyne to the defender at any tyme.' Pursuer compearing by John Bunzie his procurator and defender by John Hallyday his procurator, and the case being called again on 26th May, 2nd and 9th June, the defender's procurator alleged there was no intrusion because the defender was heritor of the ground and had set no tack either verbally or in writing, nor did the pursuer object against the defender at the time of the intrusion; but the pursuer's procurator affirmed that seeing the tenant was seven years in unbroken possession, the defender, though heritor, ought to have given legal warning or entered only with the pursuer's consent. Decerns Brydden to pay 50 l. Scots of fine to the fiscal for the intrusion.

Melrose, 23 August 1683; George Pringle

Which day action by the procurator-fiscal against Janet Meine, widow of Alexander Uschar in Melrose, and George Blaikie there, and Andrew Tunno, portioner there, for his interest, narrating decret, 11 August instant, at pursuer's instance against Tunno for 200 l., whereupon James Wauch, officer, on 21 August instant, arreisted all sums of money and goods due by or in the keeping of the said Janet Meine and George Blaikie, belonging to the said Andrew Tunno. Both parties compearing, Janet Meine confessed 'ane large capper [sic] caldron belonging to the said Andro Tunno' in her possession at the time of arreistment, 'but that Baillie Faa had caused take it from hir this morneing'; and George Blaikie confessed he pays to Tunno the third and teind of his corn of all sorts growing on the lands belonging to Tunno and possessed by him. The bailie decerns Janet Meine to make forthcoming the caldron or 50 l. Scots as the worth thereof, and George Blaikie, to deliver the third and teind, or 100 l. Scots as the modified worth thereof.

Melrose, 18 August 1683; George Pringle

Which day action by James Petter, W.S., against George Turner, tenant in Colmislie, and Francis Scott of Colmislie for his interest, narrating Bond by the latter to the pursuer, dated 2 February last, for 84 l. Scots of borrowed money, and 20 l. expenses, and registered in Sheriff Court Books of Edinburgh, 15 June last; whereupon William Smith, messenger in Lauder, on 13 August instant, arrested in Turner's hands all debts, rents, and duties owing by him to Scott. Pursuer compearing by John Bunyie his procurator, and defender personally, the latter denied owing anything to Scott at time of arrestment but confessed he would be liable to him half a year's rent at Martinmas next, being 200 merks. The bailie decerns to make this forthcoming, superseding execution till Martinmas, and allowing Mr. James Borthwicke of Stow, who has obtained the first decret of forthcoming against the defender, to be first paid.

Melrose, 13 October 1683; George Pringle

Which day action by the procurator-fiscal against Robert Fairnebairne, tenant to David Denholme, portioner of Ridpeth, and the said David Denholme for his interest, narrating decret, 3 May 1682, at pursuer's instance against Denholme for 100 l. Scots, whereupon James Wauch, officer, on 12 October instant arrested in Fairbairn's hands 24 bolls of ferme bear and all other duties and sums of money resting by him to Denholme. Parties compearing, the defender confessed that he pays 19 bolls of ferme yearly for his lands, between Yule and Candlemas. Decerns to make forthcoming the said 19 bolls now in his hands.

Melrose, 20 October 1683; George Pringle

Which day action by the procurator-fiscal against Andrew Fischer of Wester Housebyres, and William Ker of Broadwoodsheill for his interest, narrating decret on . . . August last at pursuer's instance against said William Ker and Elizabeth Fischer his spouse for 200 l. Scots of fine imposed on him for his wife's irregularities, whereupon James Wauch, officer, on 15 October instant arrested in Fisher's hands 500 merks due by him to Ker. Defenders absent, held as confessed, and decerns to make forthcoming the sum of 200 l. charged for.

Melrose, 3 November 1683; James Dowglasse, bailie-depute to George Pringle of Blindlie.

Which day action by Mr. John Hepburne, minister at Ersiltoune, against Robert Patersone, tenant in Craigsfuird, narrating that Mr. James Daes of Coldingknowes' lands of Coldingknowes and Coldingknowesbyres and his lands of Craigsfuird are liable in payment to the parson of Ersiltoune 36 l. Scots, and the vicarage teinds are due to the pursuer for the last five years; and whereas the said Robert Patersone has been tenant to him in Coldingknowesbyres for the said five years and is presently tenant to him in Craigsfuird, and is resting to Daes for rent much more than the said 15 l. sterling due to the pursuer, yet he refuses to make the same forthcoming. Pursuer compearing by Archibald Frier his procurator, and defender personally, it was referred to defender's oath, who refused to depone, so decerns to make forthcoming 180 l. due of vicarage teinds for said 5 years, and also yearly in time coming during his tack of the said lands the said yearly duty of 36 l. Modifies 20 l. expenses of plea.

Same day action by James Mosse, elder, mealmaker in Ridpeth, against Andrew Merser, 'Wynd,' in Darnicke, for 34 l. Scots as the price of $2\frac{1}{2}$ bolls and a peck of oatmeal bought from the pursuer at Whitsunday last, to be paid at Midsummer. Pursuer compearing by James Mosse, younger, his son, and defender personally, the latter denied receiving any meal but one boll, but being given a day to prove this he absented himself; so decerns as craved, with 5 l. expenses of plea.

Melrose, 1 December 1683; George Pringle

Which day action by said James Mosse against Mary Tunno, widow of Charles Watstone, portioner of Ridpeth, for 21 l. 10 s. due by defunct to him for a boll of oatmeal and 30 threaves of oat straw bought about four years ago, and half-a-crown of money borrowed at that time, and 100 merks of principal with 10 l. of penalty due by defunct's bond to him, 12 June 1680. Pursuer compearing by James Mosse, younger, his son, but defender absent, held as confessed, and decerns for the sums craved; with 12 l. [?] expenses.

Melrose, 5 January 1684; George Pringle

Which day action by James Cairnecroce in Herriot toune against George Turner in Colmislie, Thomas Hardie and William Davidstone, tenants in Over Langshaw, and Francis Scott of Langshaw for his interest, narrating Bond, 12 February 1677, by Scott to the pursuer for 70 l., with 10 merks of penalty, registered in regality books on 9 June last, with decret upon which James Wauch, officer, arrested on 17 June last in the hands of each of the defenders 100 l. Scots due by each of them to Scott. Pursuer compearing by John Bunyie his procurator, and defenders all absent, decerns as craved.

Melrose, 19 January 1684; George Pringle

Which day action by John Fratter, portioner of Langhaughe, against Barbara Cairnecroce, widow of Mr. William Duguid, portioner there, narrating that the pursuer stands infest 'in all and hail these parts and portiones of the lands of Appletreeleaves and Langhaughe lying beneath the high streitt that lyes east and west betwixt Ladupburne and Dryburne,' with houses, yards, meadows, pasturage and whole pertinents, as the same have been possessed by William Wilsone and his tenants 'and disposed be [?] to] him be George Bell in Ridpeth,' the pursuer's sasine produced being dated . . . October 1659; and he caused James Wallace, son of George Wallace in Melrose, execute precept of warning against said Barbara Cairnecroce to remove from these houses and yards in Langhaughe presently possessed by her and William Wilsone her tenant; but she refuses. Pursuer compearing by himself and Archibald Frier his procurator, and the defender 'compearing also personallie by John Bunzie hir procurator,' the latter's procurator on 27 October craved a double of the libel, and found Elizabeth Duguid, second lawful daughter of said Barbara, cautioner for the violent profits; and the case being called on 3, 10, 17 and 24 November 1683 and defences and answers heard and considered, the bailie on 1 December ordained the pursuer to prove that the houses and yards libelled are a proper part and pertinent of the subjects in his sasine, who on 8 December opposed a contract of division of the said lands of Appletreecleaves and Langhaughe now lying in the clerk's hands for the bailie to advise, and on 2 January 1684 adduced the following witnesses to prove that the subjects libelled are part of the middle third of Appletreecleaves and Longhaugh, viz. William Wilsone, elder, weaver in Langhaughe, married, aged 70, who deponed positively as above; William Wilsone, younger, his son, married, aged 33, who deponed the same; John Pringle there, married, aged 40, who deponed 'that he knowes that the houses and yairds lybellit belonged to the deceast John Fratter called Lyken and that he tooke and possessit one of them frae him for a yeir'; James Wilsone in Galashiels, married, aged 50, deponed 'ut supra'; Archibald Wilsone there, married, aged 40, deponed 'that he knew that the houses lybellit belonged to the said deceast Lyken and that he sett them allwayes and uplifted the mailles and dewties of them.' These the bailie finds prove that the subjects are part of the said 'Middlethrid,' and so decerns the defender to remove.

Same day action by William Cuicke, merchant in Melrose, against Walter Ker, merchant there, who about Martinmas last bought from the pursuer 19 stone 9 lb. weight of iron and promised to pay 32 s. Scots per stone therefor on the Saturday after Martinmas, otherwise 34 s. per stone, and gave the pursuer four rix dollars of earnest; and seeing he has broken the first condition, he owes him (deducting the dollars) 21 l. 13 s. 4 d. Both parties comparing [the defender evidently objected that he was not duly summoned, but John Leitheid, officer, answered that he summoned him to two diets, and this was the second], the defender confessed receipt of the whole of the iron except 4 lb., which the pursuer having referred to his oath he deferred to the pursuer, who deponed conform to his claim ; so decerns the defender to pay the balance craved, with 3 l. expenses.

Melrose, 2 February 1684 ; George Pringle

Which day action by Thomas Kyll, wright in Lessudden, tutor testamentar to James Hunter, heir male and nearest of kin to deceased Thomas Hunter, portioner of Lessudden, against Andrew Hiettoune in Lessudden, to whom the pursuer about four years ago set in tack ' thrie quarters of these lands in Lessudden quhilk pertained to the said umquhill Thomas Hunter,' for payment of 9 bolls of ferme bear yearly, with all teind duties ; and accordingly the defender paid to the said tutor the whole yearly duties except last crop and year 1683, which he refuses to pay. Parties compearing, the defender denied taking any land from the pursuer, who referred it to defender's oath, who refused to depone ' and said he wes content to make payment of the ferme,' and the pursuer deponed conform to the claim ; so decerns the defender to pay 9 bolls of ferme bear for crop 1683, or 5 l. for each boll thereof, with 5 l. expenses.

Melrose, 23 February 1684 ; James Dowglasse, bailie-depute

Which day action by Thomas Pringle in Laidlawsteall against James Merser, portioner of Newstead, to whom about three years ago last Martinmas the pursuer set in tack 4 acres of land ' with that peice of pendicle land called Plumbars land in Newstead ' which belonged to James Meine in Laidlawsteall, father-in-law to the pursuer, for yearly payment of 11 firlots of ferme bear for the 4 acres and 50 s. yearly for the Plumbars land ; and accordingly the defender is resting to the pursuer ' thrie yeires ferme bear bygane of the saids four aikers of land, and six [sic] yeires maill and dewtie of Plumbars land, the first yeires ferme being at six pundis the boll conforme to that yeires fiar of the yeir, and the second yeires ferme at ten pundis money forsaid the boll, and the thrid and last yeires cropt and ferme at uthir six pundis the boll, quhilkes thrie yeires fermes are eight bolls of bear and a furlott at the respective pryces forsaidis with six fyftie shillings does extend to the soume of seventie fyve pundis ten shilling Scotts money'; and as the defender also promised to pay to the Earl of Haddington or his factors the whole feu and teind duties, kayne and carriage due yearly from the said lands, he ought to report discharges thereof to the pursuer or make payment of the dues to him. Pursuer compearing, with Robert Leadhouse his procurator, and defender compearing, with John Bunyie his procurator, the latter, on 8 December 1683, denied the ferme bear but confessed that the defender possessed the land for the years libelled, and acknowledged the 50 s. yearly for Plumbaris land, but denied undertaking to pay duty to the earl; on 15 December pursuer was to adduce witnesses but craved another diet, and the case being called on 2 February and 9 February and 16 February the bailie this day circumduced the terms of probation against the pursuer, who had adduced no witnesses, and absolved the defender, reserving action to the pursuer against the defender for the accustomed silver maill and duty of the lands and for reporting discharges as above, and ordains him to reform his libel for that effect.

Melrose, 1 March 1684; George Pringle

Which day action by Francis Scott of Langshaw against Walter Cairnroce of Allanshawes, narrating that the pursuer upon a precept of arreistment against James Mertoune, late tenant in Allanshawes, caused James Wauch, officer, arreist in Cairnroce's hands all corn, oats and bear, corn and straw, growing and standing upon the ground of Allanshawes and pertaining to said James Mertoune, until the said James should find caution to answer the pursuer as law will, he being addebted to the pursuer in 6 firlots of shealling with a boll of knaveship bear meal for the double multures and knaveship of 40 bolls of oats abstracted from the pursuer's mill of Langshaw, 'extending tua bolls and a halfe of oattmeall at eight pundis the boll, inde twentie pundis Scotts money.' The pursuer compearing by John Bunyie his procurator, and defender being absent, he is held as confessed, and decerned to make forthcoming the said 20 l., superseding extract for eight days; and the case being called on 8 April, the bailie ordains the decret to be extracted.

Melrose, 29 March 1684; James Dowglasse, bailie depute

Which day action by George Hamiltoune, tailor in the Park in Liddesdaill, against Thomas Merser, tenant in Appletreeleaves, and William Wilson, younger, litster in Langhaughe, and Barbara Cairncroce, widow of Mr. William Duguid, portioner of Appletreeleaves, for her interest, narrating Bond by said Barbara Cairncroce and Barbara Duguid her daughter, to Marion Hamilton, widow of William Herriot in Uggstone, for 100 merks of principal and 12 l. penalty, registered in Books of Council and Session, 21 September 1682, and Assignation by said Marion Hamilton to the pursuer, and letters of horning whereupon Andrew Phaupe, messenger, arreisted in the hands of the defenders 100 l. Scots due by each of them to said Barbara. Pursuer compearing by John Bunyie his procurator, and William Wilson, one of the defenders compearing, but none of the others, Wilson confessed only 7 l. 10 s. for half a year's rent and duty of the houses and yards possessed by him; which the bailie decerns him to make forthcoming, and decerns the rest to pay the sum of 100 l. arreisted.

Melrose, 29 April 1684; James Dowglasse, bailie depute

Which day action by James Wauch in Melrose against Helen Wallace, widow of Andrew Patersone, weaver in Danzieltoune, for 40 l. Scots as the price of 'ane kow with hir first calfe' wrongfully intromitted with by her about eight years ago, and 20 l. of damage to him 'throw the want of hir milk and the product of hir broad.' Pursuer compearing personally, and defender by John Bunzie her procurator, the latter on 16 February gave in defences, alleging that the defender's intromission was just, as it proceeded upon a registered submission and decret arbitral between her and the pursuer for a certain debt owing by him to her and a registered comprising following thereupon; and the case being called on 23 February and 1 March, and avisandum craved, the bailie on 22 March ordained the defender to instruct in writing how she legally pointed the cow, who on 29 March produced a precept of pointing with executions and an apprising; and on 5 April the precept of pointing was given back to George Blaickie in Melrose, 'who gave the samen at first to be productit'; and this day the bailie finds that the defender legally pointed the cow, so absolves her from the whole claim.

Melrose, 5 April 1684; ¹ James Douglass

Which day action by John Fratter, portioner of Langhaughe, against Barbara Cairncroce, widow of Mr. William Duguid, portioner of Appletreleaves, narrating that pursuer obtained decret, 19 January last, against her to remove from these houses and yards in Langhaughe presently possessed by her and William Wilson, younger, litster there, her cottar, but she still refuses, so a decret of eviction is craved. Pursuer compeared by John Bunzie his procurator, and defender being absent, the bailie ordains her to be ejected and the pursuer to be put in possession.

Melrose, 10 May 1683; George Pringle

Which day action by Alexander Ogilvy, one of the gentlemen of the Laird of Meldrum's troop, against Walter Ker, merchant in Melrose, who is addebted to Charles Whytte, merchant in the Panns, in 33 l. 10 s. as the balance of price of merchandise bought about 2 years ago, who assigned on 10 April last and gave power to the pursuer to uplift the debt. Pursuer compearing by John Bunyie his procurator, produced the fitted account and factory written at the end thereof; and defender being absent is held as confessed, and ordained to pay the sum craved, with 4 l. expenses.

Melrose, 14 October 1682; George Pringle

Which day action by George Ogilvie, procurator fiscal to the justices of peace of Roxburgh, etc., against John Rodger, writer in Edinburgh, and Robert Bunyie, mason in Newstead, for his interest, relating his decret, 29 April last, against Bunyie and John Hunter, cordiner in Melrose, for his interest, for 300 merks as part of 800 merks (See No. 5 supra), whereupon Robert Whytte, officer, on 7 October instant, arreisted in the defender's hands 300 l. due by him to Bunyie. Pursuer compearing by Archibald Frier his procurator, and John Rodger compearing, but Bunyie absent, and Rodger refusing to depone what he owed, is decerned to make forthcoming the said 300 l.

Same day action by John Lithgow in Melrose against Charles Watson and Alexander Andersone in Ridpeth, and John Andersone there for his interest, narrating Bond, 18 April 1681, by said John Anderson to the pursuer for 120 l. Scots, with 10 l. of penalty, registered 30 July 1681 and decret interponed, whereupon Francis Pringle, officer, on 13 October instant arreisted in the hands of said defenders 16 bolls of bear due by them to said John Anderson, to be furthcoming by them or 10 merks for each undelivered boll. Defenders absent, decerns as craved.

Melrose, 13 October 1683.—The bailie fines each absentee from this head court in 50 l. Scots for contumacy, and ordains them to be summarily poinded therefor. (Signed) GEORGE PRINGLE.

Melrose, 9 February 1684.—Ditto.

Melrose, 3 May 1684.—Ditto.

Melrose, 3 May 1684, compeared James Edgar, as procurator for the Earl of Perth, and protested that Blindlie had no commission to hold court, because the said earl was recommended by the Lords of Council to be bailie of the regality and is getting his commission from the king; but Blindlie opposed his commission from the Council empowering him to act as bailie until the king's further pleasure, and he has not as yet heard anything to the contrary; and the bailie protested that James Edgar had no commission from the Earl of Perth to make the foresaid protestation; both parties taking instruments, before calling of the roll.

[On a loose leaf inserted is the following deed, viz. :]

Bond by John Andersone, portioner of Ridpeth, to present David Wood in Brotherstanes before the bailie of the regality of Melrose to answer at the instance of James Mosse, younger, in Ridpeth, when required; with clauses of relief and registration. The bond is written by John Lithgow, clerk of the regality, and dated at Melrose, 9 February 1684; witnesses, the said John Lithgow, Thomas Myllne, portioner of Ridpeth, and Archibald Frier, procurator fiscal. (Signed) JOHN ANDERSONE, also Thomas Myln, witness, signs; and John Lithgow, notary, signs for the said David Wood, who cannot write.

HORNING—James Sheell, portioner of Ersiltone, against James Bowstoune called of the Wynd, portioner of Galton-syde, for refusing to pay to him 87 l. Scots with interest and 10 l. of penalty, contained in his Bond, 3 January 1654, to the deceased Margaret M'illrie, widow of John Sheell in Ersiltone, and Assignation, 12 May 1654, by her to the complainer, and Decreet, 4 July 1657, at the complainer's instance before the bailies of regality of Melrose; on a charge of fifteen days. Dated Edinburgh, 12 December 1661.

Executions: 4 January 1662, by William Kirkwood, messenger, against James Boustone, personally apprehended; witnesses, Thomas Boustoun and Robert Mein, portioners of Galtonsyde; and 28 January 1662, by the same, at the market cross of Jedburgh (head burgh of the shire in which the defender lives); witnesses, James Pringle, messenger in Kelso, and William Boustoune, portioner of Galtonsyde.

INHIBITION—Mr. John Reid, eldest lawful son of the deceased Mr. Alexander Reid, minister at Askirk, against Alexander Ridpeth, wright in Melros, who gave Bond, 27 January 1654, to repay to the complainer 500 merks borrowed, with interest and 50 merks of penalty, and in security wadset to him 'that tenement and onsteid of houses high and laighe, bak and foer, with easter and wester yairds, fruit trees and increse therof, with the perteinents of the samyne, lyand within the precinct of Melros and schireffdome of Roxburgh, and all and hail — aikers of land within the toune and lands of Danyeltone, personage and viccarage teynds therof, with the pertinents'; but now he intends to dispone the same and his other heritage and fraudfully disappoint the complainer of payment. He is therefore forbidden so to act till first the debt be satisfied. Dated Edinburgh, 30 March 1662.

April 7.

Executions: 24 and 29 March 1662, by William Kirkwood, messenger, against Alexander Ridpeth personally apprehended; witnesses, Archibald Frier in Melros, and William Nivin, servitor to Patrick Hepburne of Smeitoun. Also at the market crosses of Jedburgh and Melrose, forbidding the lieges to transact business with him while under inhibition; witnesses (at Jedburgh) James Bullarwall and William Broune, burgesses of Selkirk; (at Melrose) William Wallace, weaver there, and Thomas Lythgow, indweller there.

June 13.

INHIBITION—William Wilsons, weaver in Longhaughe, against Mr. William Duguid, minister, portioner of Appeltrieleaves, who with consent of Barbara Cairncroce his spouse entered into contract with the complainer, 23 December last, to lease to him his lands of Longhaughe called the Braidehaughe, with teindsheaves and other teinds included, and whole pertinents, with grass and pasturage for thirty sheep and a horse 'to be pastured through the outfeild ground wher the rest of the Longhaughe bestiall pasturs,' together with his part 'of the Longhaughe hauch with ane hous and ane yaird pertaining to him lyand and bounded as followes, to witt, the house lyand on the east syde of John Frater, elder, his peill, and the yaird on the eist syde of his aple yaird,' in lordship and regality of Melrose, and that for three years after expiry of a year's Tack granted at Melrose, 4 June 1660, by the said Mr. William to the complainer and William Wilsons in Gallowshells of the said subjects, which expires at Whitsunday 1663, when entry to the said 'house, yaird and halfe grasse' is to begin. The present tack is granted in security for 1000 merks borrowed by the said Mr. William and repayable at Whitsunday 1666, with 100 l. of penalty, he retaining the interest thereof in name of tack duty, while he obliged himself to remove the said William Williamsone [sic] at expiry of the first tack and enter the complainer to possession, and cause the said Barbara Cairncroce signify her consent judicially. Edinburgh, 13 May 1662.

Executions: 20 and 22 May 1662, William Kirkwood, messenger, against Mr. William Duguid, personally apprehended; witnesses, Andrew Darling, portioner of Appeltrieleaves, and James Darling, his brother. At the market cross of Jedburgh, witnesses, William Crumbie and William Scugall, burgesses of Jedburgh; at the market cross of Melrose, witnesses, William Wallace and Robert Mar, weavers there.

June 24.

INHIBITION—James Crawfuird, maltman, portioner of Lasuden, against Janet Coitt, only lawful daughter and heir now in life of the deceased Henry Coitt, portioner of Lassudden, who in 15 December 1657 with consent of his said daughter, in security for a loan of 300 merks, sold and wadset to the complainer six rigs or roods of land in Lassudden 'of the infeild of ane quarter of land ther, with the perteinents of the samyne, then possesst be the said umquhill Hendrie,' in the town and territory of Lassudden; and not being infest holding of John, Earl of Hadingtone, they obliged themselves to procure infestment and thereafter put the complainer in possession. Likewise the said Janet Coitt granted Bond, 28 January last, to the complainer for 30 l. Scots of borrowed money, to be repaid with a year's interest and 4 l. of penalty, secured over her quarter of outfield land in Lassuddene, with teinds, as above. Edinburgh, 14 June 1662.

At the market cross of Melrose, witnesses, Andrew Phaupe, officer, and Mungo Donaldsone and James Mylne, indwellers there.

HORNING—Robert Bunzie, younger, mason in Newsteid, against John Andersone, portioner of Ridpeth, in respect of his Bond, 8 February 1661, to the complainer for 36 l. Scots of borrowed money, repayable at Martinmas thereafter under pain of doubling the same. Dated Edinburgh, 20 May 1661.

July 19.

Executions: 22 May 1662, William Kirkwood, messenger, against John Anderson; witnesses, Thomas Wilkiesone, clerk of Melrose, and John Youn, portioner of Ersiltone. 9 July 1662, by Robert Home, messenger, at the market cross of Duncce; witnesses, Robert Lychtoun, messenger at Duncce, and George Marchell there. 17 July 1662, by William Kirkwood, messenger, at the market cross of Melrose; witnesses, Andrew Phaupe, officer at Melrose, and James Burne, weaver there.

July 29.

HORNING—James Ellies of Huntliewood, against Thomas Law, weaver in Melrose, to obtemper Decreet, 30 July 1661, at complainer's instance before the Sheriff of Roxburgh against him to remove with wife, family and servants, from the complainer's tenement of land in Litle Fordell, with pertinents, in the town and territory of Melrose. Edinburgh, 24 June 1662.

Executions: 1 July 1662, by William Kirkwood, messenger, against Thomas Law; witnesses, James Gray, servitor to Patrick Hepburne of Smeatoune, and John Jacksone, nephew to Gideon Jacksone of Lochhouses. 18 July 1662, by the same, at the market cross of Melrose; witnesses, Andrew Phaupe, officer in Melros, and James Ellies called Litle, portioner there. 19 July 1662, by Thomas Cranstone, messenger at the market cors of Jedburgh; witnesses, John Rutherford, sheriff officer of Roxburghshire, and Adam Turnbull, servitor to Andrew Crumbie, sheriff clerk.

October 14.

HORNING—James Ellies, portioner of Danyeltone, against James Merser, portioner of Darnick, called of the Pooll [?] and Andrew Merser, his eldest lawful son, who granted bond to him on 18 November 1652 for 400 merks, 40 l. penalty, and half a year's interest from Martinmas then last bypast to the term of Whitsunday 1653. Dated Edinburgh, 30 October 1661.

Executions: 26 August 1662, William Kirkwood, messenger, against them personally apprehended; witnesses, Alexander Fisher and Richard Boustone, portioners of Darnick. 14 October 1662, same messenger, at the market cross of Jedburgh; witnesses, John Bunyie, sheriff officer, and Michael Gibsone indweller in Melros; and at the Market cross of Melrose; witnesses, John Penman and John Broune, indwellers there.

HORNING—John Mosse, elder, portioner of Darnick, November 24.
against John Mosse, younger, portioner there, who with consent of Helen Mosse his wife granted Discharge, 11 March last, to the complainer for 400 merks due by him to them in terms of Contract of Marriage, 2 October 1657; and exonerated him of all payment, and all the said Helen Mosse, daughter to the complainer, could claim of portion from him or his wife by their respective deceases; and obliged himself to cause Helen Mosse judicially ratify the same. Dated Edinburgh, 4 November 1662.

Executions: 12 November 1662, William Kirkwood, messenger, against them personally apprehended in their dwelling house of Darnick, to fulfil the Discharge and pay 200 l. Scots of expenses to the complainer; witnesses, Nicol Merser, portioner of Darnick, and William Mosse, servitor to the said John Mosse. 20 November 1662, by Thomas Cranstone, messenger, at the market cross of Jedburgh; witnesses, Andrew Rutherford called Tounhead, and William Scugall, merchant, burgesses of Jedburgh. 20 November 1662, by William Kirkwood, messenger, at the market cross of Melrose; witnesses, Robert Mar and John Louckup, weavers in Melrose.

SUSPENSION—John Mosse, younger, portioner of Darnick, against John Mosse, elder, portioner there, relative to the letters at the latter's instance charging him to cause Helen Mosse his wife judicially ratify the foresaid Discharge, and pay 200 l. of expenses: Because the Discharge is in itself imperfect and incompetent, the cause thereof unfulfilled, and the deed itself undelivered, and could not be delivered to the charger, in respect that the complainer having married Helen Mosse, one of the charger's daughters and heirs of line, he had by their Contract of Marriage good title to the equal half of the complainer's lands and estate, yet lately at the earnest desire of the charger and friends he came to a friendly meeting and there for keeping peace and agreement it was considered upon mutually that the charger should grant bond to the complainer for 200 merks, and assign bonds and papers in security, and the complainer would grant a discharge of all he could claim by the contract of marriage and all the said Helen Mosse could claim as portion by the death of her said father or Marion Ushar his spouse. The bond and assignation were thereupon drawn up on the charger's part and the discharge on the complainer's part, and signed only by one notary for the part of the said Helen Mosse, which deeds were then deposited by both parties in the hands of William Fisher of Old Melros upon trust to be kept by him and on no account to be delivered up to either party till the charger paid the said 200 merks and fulfilled the other conditions and until another notary should subscribe for the said Helen Mosse as conotary, in respect it was for a matter about 100 l. and a matter of heritage, and until both parties should be present and exchange by mutual consent. Notwithstanding whereof the said John Mosse, elder, most subtilly came to the said William Fisher and after much entreaty prevailed with him to lend him the discharge for a night's time to advise thereupon, upon his faithful promise to return it as he received it, to be retained undelivered till the bargain was consummated and another notary subscribed; but the said John Mosse most perfidiously caused register the deed, and thereupon letters of horning have been raised and executed and the complainer seized by letters of caption and imprisoned in Melros tolbooth; and the extract of the Discharge, shown to the Lords of Council and Session, bears only one notary's subscription, to prove the above allegation. For thus basely and inhumanly breaking his faith the charger ought to be punished and esteemed infamous and perfidious. Nevertheless, the complainer has found caution to obey the charge if found liable. Charge is therefore given to John Mosse, elder, to compear before the Lords of Council and Session on 1st January next, and suspension is granted to the complainer till the 10th, and order is given to the bailie of the regality of Melrose and his deputes to put him at liberty, Nicol Kennidie, mason, burges of Edinburgh, having become cautioner for the complainer. Dated Edinburgh, 16 December 1662.

Executions: 2 January 1663, by William Kirkwood, messenger, at the market cross of Jedburgh, delivering the wand of peace to John Rutherford, sheriff officer of Roxburghshire; witnesses, John Ainslie, present bailie of Jedburgh, and Archibald Rutherford, notary there. Also at the market cross of Melrose, delivering the wand of peace to William Wallace, merchant in Melros; witnesses, the said William Wallace, and James Ker, elder, there.

INHIBITION—James Ellies of Huntliewood against George Blaikie, portioner of Melros, who granted bond on 4 February 1662 to the complainer for 80 l. Scots, with 10 l. of expenses. Dated Edinburgh, 18 February 1663. February 26.

Same day, at the market cross of Melrose; witnesses, the said James Burne, and Robert Mar, weaver in Melrose. 26 February 1663, at the market cross of Jedburgh; witnesses, William Bullarwall and Thomas Porteous there.

HORNING—(produced for registration by Robert Bunyie, mason in Newsteid) Robert Bunyie, portioner of Newsteid, against John Anderson, portioner of Ridpeth, who granted bond, 12 December 1657, to Janet Mein, widow of Thomas Bunyie, portioner of Newsteid, the complainer's father, for 50 merks, repayable to her, whom failing, to the complainer, with 5 l. of penalty; which Bond the said Janet Mein assigned to the complainer, 9 December 1662. Dated Edinburgh, 31 January 1663. March 4.

Executions: 24 February 1663, by William Kirkwood, messenger, against the said John Anderson, by affixing a copy on the door of his dwelling house; witnesses, Mr. James Monteeth in Ridpeth, and George Bell, portioner there. 3 January [sic] 1663, at the market cross of Melrose; witnesses, John Mar, weaver in Melrose, and George Blackie, portioner there.

September 2. HORNING—John, Earl of Haddington, Lord Binning and Byres, against William Wright, smith, indweller in Galtone-syde, who granted Bond, 26 October 1661, to pay to him 60 l. Scots, viz. 20 l. at Candlemas thereafter, and 20 l. at Lammas thereafter, and 20 l. at Candlemas 1662, with 5 l. of expenses for each term's faillie, and whereupon Decreet, 3 January 1663, by the bailie-depute of the regality of Melrose, was obtained. Also against William Fisher, younger, portioner of Darnick, to obey Decreet, 20 June last, by the said bailie-depute, ordaining him to pay to the complainer 84 l. 15 s. 6 d. Scots due for the half of the feu-farm duties of his lands in Darnick for crop and year 1662, 20 l. due by his Bond to the complainer dated . . ., and 23 l. 6 s. 8 d. due for the feu duty of his lands in Darnick at Whitsunday last, extending in all to 130 l. 19 s. 4 d. Dated Edinburgh, 6 August 1663.

Executions: 13 August 1663, by William Kirkwood, messenger, against William Fisher personally apprehended; witnesses, Michael Fisher and John Heitoun, portioners of Darnick, 29 August 1663, by the same, at the market cross of Jedburgh; witnesses, William Bullerwall, burgess of Jedburgh, and James Bullerwall, his son; and at the market cross of Melrose, witnesses, Francis Hepburne, lawful brother to Patrick Hepburne of Smeatoune, and James Ker, elder, in Melrose. [No mention of William Wright in the executions.]

September 2. HORNING—Gideon Jaksone of Lochhouses against Walter Cairncroce, lawful son of William Cairncroce of Allanshawes, who granted Bond, 28 February last, to the complainer for 500 l. Scots, with 10 l. of expenses. Also against the said William Cairncroce for 100 merks, with 10 l. of expenses, contained in his Bond to the complainer. 28 October 1662. Dated Edinburgh, 6 August 1663.

Executions : 12 August 1663, by William Kirkwood, messenger, against William and Walter Cairncroce, by affixing copies at their dwelling house in Threepwood ; witnesses, James Stoddert, and Nicol Cairncroce, second lawful son of the said William. 29 August 1663, at the market cross of Jedburgh ; witnesses, William Bullarwall, burgess of Jedburgh, and James Bullarwall, his son ; and at the market cross of Melrose ; witnesses, Francis Hepburne, 'potingar' in Edinburgh, and James Ker, elder, in Melros.

INHIBITION—Andrew Bulman in Long Newtoun against Andrew Riddell in Lassudden, and Patrick Riddell, his brother, in respect of Bond, 26 February 1658, by the former, with the latter as cautioner, to the complainer for 300 merks, with 20 l. of expenses, containing obligation by the said Andrew not to sell or dispoena a 'quarter of land' formerly pertaining to the said Patrick and now to him, without consent of the complainer. Dated Edinburgh, 20 October 1663. October 30.

Executions : 29 October 1663, by William Kirkwood, messenger, against Andrew and Patrick Riddell at their dwellings ; witnesses, David Kyll, smith in Lassudden, and John Uns, portioner there. SUSPENSION—Robert Trotter of Eisterhousbyre against John Trotter, his eldest lawful son, and Isobel Lythgow his spouse, who have charged him to infest them in conjoint fee, and their heirs in fee heritably, in the room and lands of Eisterhousbyre, with teinds, and his lands in the town of Newsteid, with teinds, 'reservand alwayes to him and Barbra Eillies his spouse dureing all the dayes of the said compleiner his lyfetye and of the saids tenandries of land of Eisterhousbyre or Newsteid efter the solemnizatione of the mariadj eftermentionat, as als reservand to the said Barbra Eillies efter his deceise their onsteid and yeards perteaneing therto in Newsteid togidder with tua aikers of his mae aikers of land lyand within the toun of Newsteid togidder alsoe with that parcell of land called the Wellmcidow dureing her widowheid,' conform to Contract of Marriage, 2 October 1658, between said John Trotter and his son on one part and James Lythgow of Drygrainge, and said Isobel, his lawful daughter, on other part, and Decreet, 2 May 1661, by the bailie of regality of Melrose thereupon; and for nonfulfilment have imprisoned him in the tolbooth of Jedburgh, where he remains, being above eighty years old. He alleges that before fulfilment of his part, his said son was by the said contract obliged to pay to him the portion he received with the said Isobel, for a provision to the rest of his children. Besides, he granted precept in the said Contract for infefting the said Isobel Lythgow in the above subjects, and conform thereto she has taken infeftment; and at his son's request he subscribed several wadset rights and heritable bonds, whereon sasine has followed, in favour of his son's creditors, viz. Walter Scott of Gladswood, James Eillies of Huntliewood, John Mein, portioner of Newsteid, and Alexander Trotter, his second brother, all for the charger's behoof. Further, his son's unnatural treatment of him, by so imprisoning him, in respect of his age, and that for a twelve month he was not out of his bed and cannot walk one foot, and his son's riotous living, whereby his whole fortune and estate is ruined and he has now nothing to maintain himself with, merit the compassion of the Lords of Council and Session, and in respect thereof the letters ought to be suspended. Nevertheless, he has consigned in the hands of Sir William Bruce, Clerk of the Bills, a charter subscribed for infefting his son and the said Isobel Lythgow in the foresaid lands, to be given up to them if found that it ought to be done, and John Broun, portioner of Newsteid, is cautioner for his escheat. Dated Edinburgh, 22 March 1671.

March 18.

SUSPENSION—Andrew Wilson, portioner of Newsteid against Robert Bunzie, mason there, who charges him for 200 merks, with 40 merks of expenses, contained in Bond, 26 August 1672 by complainer to him, registered in the bailie court books of the regality of Melrose 25 January last, and for fifty merks, with five merks of expenses, in another Bond, 15 November 1673, registered in same books 29 January last. As to the first bond, the complainer having become apprentice to the charger, and satisfied him therefor, he granted this bond to free him of his apprenticeship, the same having become insupportable because of his hard dealing with him, and this appears by testificate signed by honest persons in the same town who were witnesses thereto; and the second bond was granted for bygone annual rent due upon the first; of both which bonds the charger promised a discharge and often declared he never intended to take advantage of them. Again, both the bonds were granted by him before he was sixteen years old, and he has already revoked. John Mein, mason, portioner of Newsteid, is cautioner for obedience if required. Dated Edinburgh, 29 February 1676.

Executions: 18 March 1676, by Andrew Phaup, messenger, at market cross of Jedburgh, relaxing him by delivering the wand of peace to James Phaup, officer in Grubiththaughhead; witnesses, Andrew Mader and John Robsone, burgesses of Jedburgh; and at the market cross of Melrose, delivering the wand to Andrew Baittie in Melrose; witnesses, William Wallace in Melrose, James Eilleis there.

Edict anent preaching within the diocese of Glasgow.

James, by the mercy of God Archbishop of Glasgow, to our rural dean of Teviotdale, and to all and sundry other priests with and without cure in the diocese of Glasgow, greeting with the divine blessing. Whereas by our synodal statutes lately issued within our cathedral church of Glasgow, in accordance with the resolution of the provincial council of the prelates of this realm, it hath been decreed, in order that the people might be instructed by means of more frequent preaching of God's Word, that the rectors of the churches, whether they be abbots, priors, commendators, administrators, provosts, portioners of kirks, and those in charge of kirks united and annexed to monasteries, bishops' tables, chapters and collegiate foundations, having the cure of souls, who in the opinion of the said most reverend Lord shall be considered able and fit to expound the rudiments of the faith to their parishioners, shall preach: It is therefore enjoined by us to those who are young, and unfit to duly discharge the function of preaching, that they render themselves able, as soon as may be, for this service by studies in the public schools, and meanwhile that they maintain at their own expense other preachers, to be by us examined and admitted, to preach and supply their places in all respects until some other convenient remedy has by law been provided. And in order that that service may be carried into effect, all such rectors shall engage preachers and come to terms with them and present them to us before the first day of August ensuing; but the aged men and such as exceed their fiftieth year, unless they shall be by us found fit for preaching the Word of God, shall obtain this service to be done for them by others, whom they shall assist so that by their personal presence they may confer greater honour upon their preaching, under pain of forfeiting the fourth part of the fruits of their benefices, to be uplifted by us and applied to pious uses, for the first offence. And lest the abovewritten rectors and others our diocesan clergy should plead ignorance or absence of notification, therefore we strictly ordain and command you and each of you, in token of holy obedience and under pain of suspension from divine ordinances, that ye or either of you thereto required lawfully warn by three intimations, all of the same tenor, and peremptorily charge all and sundry rectors, abbots, priors, commendators, administrators, provosts and others whomsoever who may be considered to have charge of kirks united to monasteries, bishops' tables, chapters and collegiate foundations within our diocese of Glasgow in general and your deanery in particular, whom we also by the tenor of these presents warn, that between this and the first day of August now approaching they effectively fulfil all and sundry the premises, under pain of forfeiting the fourth part of the fruits of their benefices as aforesaid; which first day of August having passed, and they having taken no care to perform the premises and given no obedience to our warnings, and neither engaged the said preachers nor presented them to us, we shall uplift and intromit with the fourth part of the fruits of all their rents from that church for which they have provided no preaching, which we shall apply partly for maintenance of preachers and partly shall distribute and dispoise for other pious uses conform to the mind of the foresaid provincial council; and these presents ye shall return to the bearer duly executed. Given under our round seal and subscribed by our secretary at the city of Glasgow on the nineteenth day of April in the year of the Lord one thousand five hundred and fifty nine, and eighth year of our consecration.

That vicars and rectors shall settle accounts with their parishioners before Lent.

James, by the mercy of God, Archbishop of Glasgow, to our rural dean of Teviotdale, and all and sundry other priests with and without cure wheresoever situated within this province of Glasgow and duly charged to fulfil the premises, greeting with the divine blessing. Whereas by our synodal statutes recently promulgated, in terms of the enactment of the provincial council of the prelates of this realm, we have decreed that all and sundry vicars of the churches of our diocese, so far as to each pertains, shall reckon with their parishioners a little before Lent, in the month of February, for small and personal dues and other mixed offerings owing to the churches, and for this effect shall in due form obtain and issue our monitory letters against their parishioners and see them duly executed, so that during the solemnity of Easter the people of the deanery may have freer opportunity for prayer and may receive the sacrament by the divine blessing with a more ardent spirit of devotion, and that nothing be exacted by the ministers of the sacraments prior to the celebration thereof for their administration, but that may only be accepted by them after the celebration which the people are willing to give ; and lest the said vicars residing within our diocese of Glasgow make excuse to ignore these our statutes or plead want of notification, therefore we strictly command and ordain you and each of you, in token of holy obedience and under pain of suspension from divine ordinances, that ye or whichever of you is thereto required forthwith lawfully warn by three proclamations of uniform tenor and peremptorily charge all and sundry vicars, both pensioners, portioners and perpetual vicars of our diocese of Glasgow obtaining vicarages or benefices within your deanery, whom we also by the tenor of these presents warn, that henceforth and in time coming they fulfil and observe this our ordinance, under the pains contained in our said statutes to be inflicted by us without remission upon those vicars neglecting and contravening ; and that ye return these presents duly executed to the bearer of them. Given under our round seal and the subscription of our secretary, at Glasgow, 19th April 1559, and eighth year of our consecration.

To our beloved son Andrew Badly, monk of the monastery of Melrose of the Cistercian order, in the diocese of Glasgow, greeting, etc. The zeal for religion, integrity of life and manners, and other qualities of probity and virtue for which you have been commended to us upon trustworthy evidence, induce us to honour your person with the apostolic favour. Therefore when a petition lately exhibited to us on your behalf bears that you, actuated by a love for learning, desire to devote some time to the study of canon law, to the effect that you may be able to discern right from wrong, and that which is lawful from that which is unlawful, we commending this your purpose in the Lord, and wishing to offer you such opportunity as will enable you freely to fulfil your desire, do by the tenor of these presents by apostolic authority grant indulgence that you may pursue the foresaid study for seven years, reckoning from the date of these presents, and may lawfully learn of those canon laws of our predecessor Pope Benedict the Twelfth of happy memory, and whatsoever other apostolic constitutions, with the statutes, customs, rules, and ordinances of the foresaid monastery and monastic order, notwithstanding any oath, apostolic confirmation, or other bond binding you to the contrary. Let no one therefore, etc., to infringe our will and grant, etc. Given at Avignon, 5th February, second year (of our Pontificate).

For a further example see also Vatican Transcripts, vol. ii. fol. 323.

proaching : Wherefore we ordain you and each of you, etc., to charge the reverend fathers and lords commendators of Melrose and Jedburgh being in your deanery, whom we also by the tenor of these presents expressly warn, that between this and the first day of August next they send two religious men from the monastery of Melrose and one religious man from the monastery of Jedburgh, able and apt for instruction in letters and notably exemplary in life and manners, to be taught at the universities nearest to them, conform to the form and import of the statutes of the said provincial Council, under the penalties contained in the said statutes, to be inexorably exacted ; and that ye return these presents duly executed to the bearer thereof. Given, etc. (as in previous writ).

That bishops visit their dioceses in person or by trustworthy commissaries.

James, by the mercy of God, Archbishop of Glasgow, to our dean, etc. Whereas it was appointed that ordinaries in person or their trustworthy commissaries shall visit every monastery even of exempts within their dioceses, in accordance with the decrees of the Council of Trent, and make inquiry concerning matters to be corrected, and rectify them, and have a care that a sufficient number of religious be maintained in those monasteries agreeable to the advantages and rents of the place, and be competently provided with food and clothing and other necessities of life, and that ruined and dilapidated places be repaired, and that the ordinaries themselves shall diligently adhere to the foresaid ordinance as behoves good shepherds, for reforming the life, manners, piety, and learning of the monks and restoring the pristine purity of their religion, that piety may flourish and the clamour of the people be silenced: Therefore we strictly ordain and command you and each of you, in token of holy obedience and under pain of suspension from divine ordinances, that ye peremptorily, etc., warn and charge the reverend father Andrew, Commendator of Jedburgh, and likewise a venerable man, Mr. Robert Richartsoun, iconomus of the place and monastery of Melrose, being within our diocese of Glasgow and your deanery of Teviotdale, whom we also by the tenor of these presents warn, that between this and Lammas next they respectively maintain in these places, proportionate with their revenues, a sufficient number of religious, and provide them with food and clothing and other necessaries of life, and repair their ruined and dilapidated buildings in keeping with their requirements, under pain of excommunication; which feast of Lammas if it pass and the foresaid persons have not given obedience to these our warnings, that upon all Lord's Days, feast days and others, during celebration of Mass, ye publicly and solemnly declare them excommunicated, from which denunciation they shall not be freed until they voluntarily return to the bosom of holy Mother Church and show themselves worthy to obtain the benefit of absolution according to the usage of the Church: and that these presents duly executed ye return to the bearer. Given, etc. (as before).

That no churchman shall retain in his service any persons suspected of heresy.

James, by the mercy of God, etc. Whereas it has been decreed by the statutes of our synod lately held within our cathedral kirk of Glasgow, in conformity with the finding of the Provincial Council of the prelates of this realm, that no prelate or churchman in our diocese of Glasgow of whatsoever state, degree, rank, dignity or precedence, shall employ or maintain any persons suspected of heresy in his household or retinue and in any daily service, who either disdain to take part in the most holy sacrifice of the Mass and other divine offices on Lord's Days, at least on holy days and the greater feasts, or contemn the sacraments of the Church, or entertain erroneous opinions against the Catholic faith and the doctrine of the orthodox Fathers, but shall, where such heretical persons are discovered, immediately remove them from his service, retinue and household, under a penalty of one hundred pounds to be exacted of prelates for the first offence, and double for the second offence, and such arbitrary penalties as shall be enjoined by us in the case of the lesser clergy. And also that the foresaid churchmen daily recite the canonical hours and other divine offices, under the like penalties: And lest the said beneficed and other clergy of our diocese contravening the premises plead excuse to have overlooked or not to have had intimation of these our statutes and synodal precepts, therefore we expressly charge you and each of you, in token of holy obedience, etc., that ye peremptorily warn venerable men . . . [sic] whom we likewise by the tenor of these presents warn that within six days after receiving your intimations they remove and keep away as aforesaid from their household, retinue and service such persons as are suspected of heresy, and likewise that they shall recite daily the canonical hours and other divine offices, under the pains above written, more fully specified in our statutes, certifying those thus warned that if they have not given obedience within the said six days we will be careful by way of justice to proceed to the effectual execution of our statutes and imposition of the penalties contained therein against disobeyers, conform to the tenor and contents of the said statutes promulgated thereanent; and that ye return these presents duly executed to the bearer. Given, etc. (as before).

That parishioners shall take part in the holy solemnities of the Mass on Lord's Days and feast days.

James, by the mercy of God, etc. Whereas in these days we perceive a great contempt of divine mysteries to have taken possession of the subjects of this realm and our diocesans, on account of which it has been ordained, according to the declaration of the statutes of the Provincial Council of the prelates of this kingdom of Scotland, that all and sundry our diocesans shall diligently attend in their parish churches the sacred sacrifice of the Mass on Lord's Days and other special feasts instituted by the Church, or the preaching of the divine Word, but on the other hand those who absent themselves from the sacred sacrifice of the Mass in their parish churches shall be carefully noted by the curates of the churches, who shall report them to their deans in their visitations of the greater transgressions, to be strictly punished by public penances according to the quality of the persons and the frequency of the said offence, not only by church censure but by other pains to be inflicted upon them at the discretion of their ordinaries: Wherefore we ordain and command you and each of you, etc.

Concerning the vestments of churchmen.

James, by the mercy of God, etc. Whereas by our synodal statutes lately promulgated within our cathedral church of Glasgow, in accordance with the declaration of the Provincial Council of the prelates of this realm, it is ordained that prelates and beneficed clergy of whatsoever degree, state, rank, religion or living, as well exempt as not exempt, shall wear simply a seemly garment after the old manner of the clergy, that their standing and position may be recognised as well by their raiment as by the tonsure, whereby the disparagement of the clergy by the people may be removed, and that churchmen may be careful, as becomes them, to be distinguished by their garb from the laity, under penalty of forfeiting a fourth part of the rents of their benefices to be uplifted and received by us and applied for pious uses, for the first offence of the beneficed clergy, and discretionary pains to be enjoined by us in the case of the lesser clergy, in terms of the statute of the Provincial Council held at Linlithgow in 1549, as in the said statutes issued thereanent is more fully contained. Therefore, lest any of our diocesan clergy think negligently to ignore our said statutes or pretend non-intimation thereof, we command and ordain you, etc.

Against the keeping of concubines.

James, by the mercy of God, etc. Whereas we understand that by reason of the incontinence of the clergy several of the beneficed clergy of our diocese of Glasgow do keep public concubines, and also keep and sustain in their families and retinue the children begotten of such concubinage, to the very grave discredit of the Church in these times, therefore being desirous to remedy this evil so far as is in our power and to purge and remove this stain from our diocese, it was ordained by our synodal statutes, in accordance with the statutes issued by the Provincial Council of the prelates of this kingdom lately held at Edinburgh, that whosoever of the beneficed clergy of whatever state, degree, rank, standing, religion or dignity, as well exempt as not exempt, even though he be a commendator, should be guilty of public concubinage, shall be by the act itself suspended for the space of three months from receiving the fruits of all his benefices, which are to be employed for maintaining the fabric or for some other purpose of apparent utility to the churches, and if after due warning he put not away that public concubine, or having dismissed her shall take her again, he shall be considered deprived of all his benefices and shall be mulcted in other penalties as is set forth more fully in the [decrees of the] Council of Basle ; and also no ecclesiastic shall keep and maintain in his household and retinue his children begotten in concubinage, so that they should stay with him more than four days in every three months, and that not openly, under the pain of one hundred pounds in the case of a prelate, and other discretionary pains to be imposed by us on inferiors, for the first offence, doubling them for a second offence. Moreover no ecclesiastic by himself or others in his name shall bestow his daughters in marriage, or dower them out of the patrimony of Christ, upon barons or other lords having more than one hundred pounds of yearly heritage, under penalty of paying as much money, to be exacted by us, as the amount of the dowry which was promised or paid ; nor shall they make their sons barons or lords of land having above one hundred pounds of yearly heritage, under the like penalty ; nor shall they assign or dispone by any means directly or indirectly any church lands pertaining to their benefices to their said children or concubines, as we have more fully ordained, appointed and decreed by our synodal statutes promulgated in our said synod at our city of Glasgow. And lest the said beneficed and other clergy, our diocesans, contravening the premises, think to overlook our decrees or plead non-intimation thereof to them, therefore we ordain and command you and each of you, etc.

The Commissary of Melrose, to all and sundry curates, priests and notaries public celebrating divine offices throughout our whole jurisdiction of Melrose and duly required to put the premises to execution, greeting. There have come to our hand letters of an honorable and noble lord, James, by Divine permission perpetual Commendator of the monasteries of Kelso and Melrose, dated at Edinburgh, 10th February 1555, containing sure assignation, grant and confirmation of a certain annual pension for sustenance of religious men the subprior and convent of the said monastery of Melrose, being in number sixteen monks, out of the fruits, rents, profits, rights, teinds and emoluments accruing to the said monastery of Melrose, and that with express consent, assent and confirmation of a venerable father in Christ, Walter, Abbot of Glenluce and Commissary General within Scotland having power from the most reverend lord the Abbot of the order of Cistercians and the chapter general of that order, on the strength of which letters of assignation and disposition foresaid we were duly and earnestly required for the part of the subprior and convent of the said monastery of Melrose principally named in the said letters of assignation, that we might condescend to grant our monitory letters in the usual and common form, conform to the said letters of assignation of a yearly pension, against all and sundry persons dwelling within our jurisdiction of Melrose who ought to pay the foresaid yearly pension. We therefore acknowledging this request to be just and according to reason, and that our monitory letters ought therefore to be decerned and granted conform to the foresaid letters of assignation of the said yearly pension, as by the tenor of these presents we grant and decern, do hereby strictly command and charge you and each of you in token of holy obedience and under pain of suspension from the celebration of divine ordinances, that lawfully and in general as likewise each one particularly by name ye, or either of you respectively who shall be hereto required, by three intimations of one tenor peremptorily warn all and sundry inhabitants of both sexes, tenants, cultivators, indwellers and farmers of the lands and towns of Gattonside, Darnick, Annay, the two mills of the monastery, Blainslie, Threipwood, Eildon, Newton and its mill, Appletreeleaves, Williamlaw, Langshaw and its mill, Wolhousebyre Easter, Calphill, Colmilee, Ladhopenmuir, and the occupiers of whatsoever common pastures of the said monastery of

Melrose, as also the collectors of the Easter dues and teind flax of the said parish by whom the fruits, profits, rights, produce and emoluments of the foresaid towns and lands (etc. as above) are due or in use to be uplifted, (whom we also by the tenor of these presents warn) that without delay the said indwellers, farmers, tenants, labourers, cultivators and inhabitants of the towns and lands aforesaid promptly obey, answer, and effectually pay, and each of them really and with effect for his own part satisfy and pay, viz. from Gattonside and Darnick 16 chalders of malt and 12 bolls of barley good and sufficient stuff and ginel measure, with the carriages of the said town of Gattonside; from the Annay 2 chalders of oatmeal, like measure; from the two Abbey mills six chalders of wheat, for sure payment of which wheat the said two Abbey mills with their multures, sequels and dues are specially assigned to the foresaid religious by the said letters of assignation; from Blainslie 45 lib. and poultry; from Threipwood 28l. 13 s. 4 d.; from Eildon and Newton and its mill 58 l.; from Appletreleaves 30 l.; from Williamlaw 5 l.; from Langshaw and its mill 11 l. 13 s. 4 d.; from Wolhousebyre Easter 3 l. 6 s. 8 d.; from Calphill 10 l.; from Colmisleehill 5 l.; of the Easter dues of the kirk of Melrose 40 l.; from Colmislee and Ladhope-muir 64 stoncs of butter; from the common pastures of the said monastery 94 stoncs of cheese; and the teind flax of the said parish due by the parishioners; and that for the present year and yearly and termly in time to come, conform to the force, tenor, contents and effect of the foresaid letters of assignation, disposition and confirmation of a yearly pension granted to the said subprior and convent, under pain of the greater excommunication: Discharging moreover by the scope and tenor of these presents all and sundry of either sex, indwellers, tenants, occupiers and farmers of the lands and towns of Gattonside, Darnick, Annay, the two Abbey mills assigned as above to the said subprior and convent, Blainslie, Threipwood, Eildon, Newton, Appletreleaves, Williamlaw, Langshaw and its mill, Wolhousebyre Easter, Calphill, Colmisleehill, and the

collectors of the Easter dues of the said kirk of Melrose, the parishioners for the teind flax, and the farmers of Colmilee and Ladhopenmuir and occupiers of the common pastures, and each of them respectively and others whomsoever of whatever degree, state, rank or condition they be, (whom we likewise hereby discharge) from hindering or presuming to withhold by themselves or others publicly or secretly, directly or indirectly, under any plea, colour or pretence, the payment and satisfaction of the foresaid sums of victual and money, teind flax, butter, cheese, poultry, and carriages; as likewise discharging all and sundry the foresaid persons and others whomsoever of whatever degree, state, rank or condition they be, from intronitting by themselves or by an intermediary with the fishings of Tweed pertaining and belonging to the said subprior and convent, or with the bakehouse yard for providing thread and tailors' material for the making of the monks' garments, as with the chambers and gardens within the bounds of the monastery of Melrose hitherto erected and planted by the monks, or with any other emoluments, profits, easements, liberties and privileges specified and named in the said letters of assignation, so that without impediment the foresaid subprior and convent of the said monastery by themselves or by their factors, officers or servitors, one or more, being monks of the said monastery, may be able freely to intronit and at their pleasure dispone upon the foresaid sums of money and victual and others above-written, and commodities and emoluments above specified, contained in the said letters of assignation and assigned to the said subprior and convent; but that they cease and desist entirely and absolutely from all molestation, vexation, troubling and hindering of the premises, under the like pain of the greater excommunication, which by these presents after the third and canonical intimation we pronounce upon the contraveners, and charge you that ye publicly and solemnly declare excommunicated such as being so warned and discharged fail to obey and obtemper our said warnings and prohibitions, after the third and canonical admonition, and that ye publish their names in all your churches on all Lord's Days, feast-days and others, during the celebration of Mass, as use is; from which denunciation they shall not be released till ye have our further commands: And these presents duly executed ye shall return to the bearer. Given at Melrose under our signet accustomed in the like cases to be appended, and under the subscription of our consistorial clerk, at our special command, the 17th day of March 1556. Ralph Hudson, consistory clerk of Melrose, subscribes with his hand.

Copy of the Letters conferring the office of Iconomus of Melrose upon Mr. John Hepburn, rector of Dalry.

James, by the mercy of God, Archbishop of Glasgow, to all and sundry the sons of holy mother Church to whose notice these present letters may come, greeting, with the divine blessing. Whereas it devolves upon us in our pastoral capacity to depute, create, appoint, make and ordain iconomi over those ecclesiastical benefices within our diocese, chiefly those monasteries or abbacies deprived for the time of their abbots, and the parish churches annexed, united to and incorporated with them, and having entire faith in the prudence, discretion, learning, and purity of life and manners of a venerable man Mr. John Hepburn, rector of Dalry, and for other reasonable causes moving us thereto, we therefore by the tenor of these presents, at the request and direction of her most Serene Highness Mary, Queen Dowager, Regent of this realm, intimated and expressed to us in virtue of our office as ordinary in that part, do make, appoint, depute, create and ordain him iconomus over all and sundry parish churches both parsonage and vicarage being within our diocese, united to and incorporated with the monastery of Melrose now destitute of an abbot, with the fruits, rents, profits and pertinents, annexes and connexes, of the said parish churches both parsonage and vicarage, during the vacancy in the said monastery of Melrose, and until the lawful appointment and provision of an abbot or commendator thereto by apostolic authority, in answer to the request of their most serene Majesties the King and Queen of Scotland, Dauphin and Dauphiness of Vien: Giving therefore and granting to the said iconomus our free, entire and absolute power and special warrant to go to all and sundry the foresaid parish churches being within our diocese, and there to take cognisance of the administration and disposal of the fruits, rents, rights and tithes of all and sundry the said parish churches, and to call before him the farmers, factors, and intromitters therewith, and to quitclaim and exoner them for what they have received and uplifted from the date of these presents and shall uplift and receive in time coming, and likewise if need be to compel them to make account, computation and reckoning for all fruits, intromitted with and received by them or any of them as aforesaid after the date of these presents or to be intromitted with and uplifted by them in time coming from all and sundry the parish churches being within our diocese, until a new abbot or commendator is by our authority canonically provided, and to reduce the accounts and reckonings of the farmers or factors to writing, and to appoint new factors, farmers and intromitters anent the said parish churches as often as he shall see needful, and dismiss their predecessors as accords of the law, and to ask, uplift, exact and receive all such sums of money and victual and other commodities and goods from the said parish churches after the date of these presents, as is aforesaid, and grant formal discharges and acquittances thereupon, and to summon and prosecute in terms of law before whatsoever competent judges spiritual or temporal, the farmers and factors foresaid withholding and owing the said goods, commodities, fruits, rents, profits, rights, tithes and emoluments of the foresaid parish churches, and if need be to poid and distrain for the same, and all and sundry other things to do, say, perform and exercise which shall be needful or any way applicable in and concerning the premises and which in any wise are considered by law or usage of the realm to pertain to the office of an iconomus ; with power also to appoint and ordain procurators or factors one or more in his stead ; holding and to hold sure, firm and stable all and whatsoever things the said iconomus or his substitutes one or more, or any of them, shall justly cause to be done in the premises. Wherefore we by these letters strictly and imperatively command and ordain all and sundry churchmen with and without cure wheresoever they reside within our city and diocese of Glasgow, in token of holy obedience and under pain of suspension from the celebration of divine ordinances, that as ye or either of you shall be generally and specially required hereto by the said iconomus or his factors ye cause warn all and sundry parishioners and others of both sexes effering to the fore-said parish churches and bound in payment of the rents, fruits, tithes, etc. thereof, promptly to obey, answer, satisfy and pay the same to them and to none other, under pain of the greater excommunication, etc. And we hereby exoner all and sundry other iconomi of the said monastery formerly appointed by us or our vicars general. Given under our round seal and the subscription of our secretary, at Edinburgh, 3rd August 1559, and seventh year of our consecration.

(Translation, abridged in part)

Contract between the Commendator [of Kelso and Melrose] and the Bishop of Whithorn.

To all and sundry to whose notice these present letters may come, greeting in the Lord. Know ye that we A. B. as Commissary and procurator and as representing in that behalf a venerable lord, James, by divine permission perpetual Commendator of the monastery of Melrose, and for the effect under written specially appointed, with express and unanimous consent of the convent chapterly assembled, the welfare and advantage of the said monastery being from all sides carefully considered and understood, after long discussion and mature deliberation, and for the removal of law-pleas and controversies between the said Lord Commendator and convent of the said monastery of Melrose on the one part and a reverend father Andrew, by the mercy of God, Bishop of Whithorn and of the Chapel Royal at Stirling, on the other part, regarding a yearly pension of 1000 merks of Scots money exigible and upliftable by him during his lifetime from the fruits of the said monastery, by apostolic authority reserved and appointed for his use, have made, appointed and ordained, likeas by these presents we make, appoint and ordain the said reverend father in Christ, Andrew, Bishop of Whithorn and of the Chapel Royal at Stirling, pensioner foresaid, our undoubted and irrevocable cessioner, assignee and procurator in manner and to the effect as hereafter follows, viz., in and to the 'hale malis' of all and whole the lands of Kylismure and Barmure, with pertinents, whether held in feufarm and in tack or in rental and without tack or any other wise, and in and to all and sundry yearly pensions or 'malis' of the mills of the said lands, and in and to the profits of the manors or granges, called the 'mains,' of the said lands, except the 'mains' contained and described in the papal bulls for the said reverend father's pension, and excepting a mill called the Haugh mill and four meadows called 'the four bow stedingis,' viz. Blanekip, Blairmallauch, Overvallwod, and Netherwollwod, which four meadows were formerly in the hands of the said monastery and plenished with their own goods at the time when the said reverend father, sometime abbot of the said monastery, demitted the said abbacy and was promoted to the said bishopric; and this for satisfaction of the sum of 400 merks money foresaid; and in and to the whole yearly pensions or 'hale malis and fermis,' of the lands of Monkland and mill thereof, and of all other lands and teinds in Carrick, with pertinents, belonging and pertaining to the said monastery, and in and to all yearly pensions or 'malis' of all lands in Nithsdale, with pertinents, and mills thereof, likewise belonging to the said monastery, together with 20 l. of 'ferme and yeirlic male' of the half of the whole fruits of the kirk of Dunscore also pertaining to the said monastery, and in and to the sum of 300 merks money foresaid of yearly 'ferme and male' of the kirk of Ochiltree, for which sum the said church or the fruits thereof were set in tack by the said monastery, and this in complete satisfaction and yearly payment in time coming of the whole yearly pension of 1000 merks for all the days of the lifetime of the said reverend father during the period of his papal bull and gift of pension foresaid; beginning the payment of the said yearly pension at Martinmas next, and that for the term of Michaelmas following the date of these presents: Transferring in the said reverend father, and his procurators and factors in his name, all right, title of right, property and possession which the foresaid Comendator or we the said convent had, have or might have had in time coming in and to all and sundry fermes or yearly pensions and sums of money out of the lands, kirks and mills foresaid, during the lifetime of the said reverend father, in terms of a contract or appointment, dated at Paris, 14th May 1552, made thereupon between the said Commendator and the reverend father pensioner, and subscribed with their hands, and in terms of the commission directed by the said Commendator to me the foresaid Commissary for the effect foresaid, as in the same is said to be more fully contained; with power to the said reverend father or his factors and procurators one or more freely and peaceably to intromit with the said fermes, yearly pensions, sums of money and other profits of the lands, kirks and mills foresaid, and to dispoone thereupon at his pleasure, yearly and termly in time coming during his lifetime, in terms of the said apostolic provision made and granted to him thereupon: Provided that in case the yearly pension or maills of the said lands of Kylesmuir, Barmuir, mills and profits thereof, excepting as aforesaid, shall extend to a greater sum than the foresaid sum of 400 merks yearly, in that event the said reverend father shall, by his letters made in due form under his seal and subscription, within three months after his return to Scotland renounce, quitclaim and discharge so much of the said rents or yearly maills of the said lands, profits and mills of Kylesmuir and Barmuir as shall be in excess of the said sum of 400 merks presently assigned, and thenceforward shall not intromit with a greater sum furth of the said yearly pensions, rents or maills, than the said sum of 400 merks, and his factors shall account to the Commendator and his factors for any such surplus year by year, his entry to the receipt of the said pension for the Michaelmas term 1552 to be at Martinmas next, and his entry to the fruits of the kirk of Ochiltree to be at Alhallowmas 1553, and thereafter the same to be payable year by year at the terms used and wont. It is also provided that notwithstanding this assignation it shall be lawful to the said Commendator to grant feu charters, tacks, and rentals, and input and output tenants and farmers of the said lands, mills and churches, as freely as he was able to do before the making of this assignation, and to uplift and receive from the said subjects all and sundry profits, tack duties, grassum, entry silver, poultry, kain fowls, arreage and carriage, etc., which pertain and belong to him, so that the said reverend father shall have no right to intromit with the said subjects further than for payment of his yearly pension foresaid; and in the event of the subjects being leased for greater sums than they now pay, the increase and augmentation shall pertain to the said Commendator and his successors. It is also arranged that in any tacks or dispositions of the said subjects for longer or shorter periods it shall be expressly provided that the said yearly pension shall be paid by the tenants and occupiers in the terms hereby appointed during the lifetime of the said reverend father. Further, the said pensioner may not appoint as his factors for receiving the said annual rents and profits any person of higher degree than his present domestic servitors, or of higher degree than any servitors he had before his promotion, and likewise the Commendator and his successors may not set the said subjects in tack or rental to tenants of any higher degree or greater 'kyndnes' than those tenants now occupying the same, conform to the use and custom of our said monastery. Again, if the Commendator or any in his name pay the said pension to the said reverend father or his factors at the terms of Michaelmas and Easter, or within 30 days thereafter, the pensioner shall not then have recourse to the rents and fruits above assigned, but only in the event of nonpayment of the pension be entitled to intromit with these rents and maills for the Martinmas and Whitsunday terms thereafter respectively ensuing. Further, the said pensioner shall be held to resign his right of 300 merks furth of the fruits of the kirk of Ochiltree at such time as the Commendator shall make to him a sufficient and similar assignation to some other place or shall find sufficient caution in the books of Council for yearly payment of the said sum of 300 merks. If at any time the Commendator make obstruction to the fulfilling of all the premises, the pensioner may take legal proceedings against him for performance thereof according to his bull of provision, but a year must elapse as to the 300 merks payable from the kirk of Ochiltree and fruits thereof, which have been otherwise farmed out by the said Commendator. Moreover, notwithstanding this assignation, the said reverend father shall pay his proportion, effeiring to his pension, of all taxes, contributions, levies and burdens imposed upon the said monastery of Melrose in time coming after the date of the said assignation for whatsoever cause or fact that shall arise; provided however, that he shall not be liable for any contribution towards repair of the ruined and burned edifice, or for any actions or causes prior to the date of this assignation. This assignation, moreover, shall not confer or imply any further title or strengthening of the right of the said reverend father beyond what is contained in his bull of provision, nor shall it militate against or prejudge the right of the said Commendator to pursue for reduction and cancelling of the said pension, further than if this present assignation and agreement had not been made. Also the Commendator shall enact himself between this date and 8th September next by his commissary or procurator to deliver to the said reverend father the sum of 300 merks for satisfaction of the first year's pension assigned furth of the kirk of Ochiltree, viz. 150 merks on 1st November next (1552) and 150 merks between then and 1st May 1553; which sums, however, shall not be so paid if the Commendator have made satisfaction of the full sum of 500 merks at either of the terms of Michaelmas or Easter as before arranged, or within thirty days thereafter. The payment of 3000 merks due to the said reverend father for bygone terms of his pension, and the payment of the foresaid 300 merks for the fruits of the kirk of Ochiltree, shall likewise not import a further title or strengthening of the pensioner's right beyond what is contained in his bull of provision, or prejudge the Commendator of his right to pursue as above for reduction of the said papal bull. And this assignation shall only extend and be limited, restricted, and understood in terms of the foresaid contract made at Paris between the said Commendator and Bishop, and shall have as great faith and strength as if the said contract were word for word recited in the same. In witness whereof to these presents, subscribed with the hand of me Commissary foresaid and the hands of the said convent, the common seal of the said monastery of Melrose is appended at 'etc.'

Sir John Dury, with my hand.

Charter to Marion Andersoun in liferent and Alison Richartsoun, her daughter, and her heirs heritably of half of a husbandland with toft and the garden lying in Lessudwine occupied by the said Marion (reserving the fishings of the Water of Tweed, stone quarries, etc.) which half husbandland formerly belonged to Mr. Henry Sinclair, Dean of Glasgow, our cousin,¹ in feufarm and was resigned by him; paying yearly 18 s. 6 d., with 12 d. for two poultry, thirlage to the mill of Newtoun, with court service and duplication; dated at the said monastery — 1556. (f. 19.)

All the following lands were resigned by Mr. Henry Sinclair, and the notes on the charters are abbreviated accordingly.

¹ Henry Sinclair was second son of Sir Oliver St. Clair of Roslin, son of the second marriage of William, third Earl of Orkney (Scots Peerage, vol. ii. p. 334). He was admitted a Lord of Session on 13 November 1537, and was appointed Canon Rector or prebend of Glasgow on 16 December 1538 (Laing Charters, No. 428). In 1541 he obtained the office of Commendator of the Abbey of Kilwinning. He was president of the Court of Session in 1544. In 1550 he exchanged the Commendatorship of Kilwinning with Gavin Hamilton for the Deanery of Glasgow. He was ambassador to England and Flanders. In July 1549 he obtained a charter of the lands of Lessudden from the Commendator of Melrose (Acts and Decrees, vol. iv. fol. 182) as heir to his brother, Arthur Sinclair, who had a crown charter of these lands on 29 August 1539 (Great Seal, vol. 1513-46, No. 2195). In 1560 he became Bishop of Ross. He died in France on 2 January 1565. The term ‘cousin’ possibly refers to the fact that his grandfather Wm. Sinclair, Earl of Caithness, ‘The Waster,’ was a son of Elizabeth Douglas, daughter of Archibald, fourth Earl of Douglas by Lady Margaret Stewart, daughter of King Robert III. (Scots Peerage, vol. ii. p. 333).

'Ad muros capelle vocat ye chapell vallis seu alias cheild lyelis chapiluallis . . . ad illam crucē vocat Lyellis Croic.'

In Milne's Description of the Parish of Melrose, first published in 1743 and reprinted in Wade's History of Melrose Abbey, the above is rendered Cheildhellis (Wade, p. 78). The statement is also repeated by Cosmo Innes (Origines Parochiales, vol. i. p. 285), but a careful examination of the MS. volume containing the charter plainly shows that the word is Cheildlyellis, as given above, and further down we get Lyellis Croce, not Lillies cross as rendered by Milne. These lands by the same boundaries had previously, on 8th March 1546-7, been granted by the Commendator to William Hall (Laing Charters, No. 569). The lands of Lylestone, Lyolfstun or Lyolph's town, situated a short distance north of Lauder, were granted by Alan, son of Roland, Constable of Scotland, to Hugh de Abernethy, and confirmed to him by Alexander II. on 18th March 1232-3.

The charter of these lands is in the hands of Lord Amherst of Hackney, and on account of its local interest we give the following transcript of it :—

Alexander Dei gratia Rex Scotorum omnibus probis hominibus tocius terre sue salutem. Sciant presentes et futuri nos concessisse et hac carta nostra confirmasse donationem illam quam Alanus filius Rolland constabularius noster fecit Hugoni de Abbirnorthin consanguineo suo pro homagio et servicio suo de terra de Hulykyliston et de terra de Lyolinston in valle de Lawedyr : Tenendum et habendum dicto Hugoni et heredibus suis de dicto Alano et heredibus suis in feodo et hereditate et cum omnibus justis pertinenciis suis ita libere quiete plenarie et honorifice sicut carta dicti Alani filii Rolland constabularii nostri inde plenius confecta dicto Hugoni de Abbirnorthin juste testatur, salvo servicio nostro : Testibus Willelmo de Bond[ington] cancellario Waltero Bysset Johanne de Haya Ricardo Vuieth, Henrico de Abirnorthin, Willelmo de Munfichet,

(Not completed.) (f. 104.)

Precept of Clare Constat of John Romanus in Blainslie. James, by divine permission Commendator of Melrose and the convent thereof, to our bailies in that part greeting. Whereas it is clearly understood by us that the deceased John Romanus, elder, in Blainslie, father of John Romanus, bearer of these presents, died [last infest and seased as of fee at the faith and peace of his sovereign] in all and whole our two husband lands with their pertinents lying in our town of Blainslie on the north side thereof, thence descending to the burn called Milsieburne towards the north and thence to the burn called Helmeburne towards the south and north [sic] and thence to that dyke called Vindilaweruk towards the west to the middle of the Helmooss between the said town of Blainslie and the town of Threpvod, and towards the south to the burn called the Helseheburne made [confectum] by Stephen Hunter and James Darling, lying in our lordship of Melrose and sheriffdom of Roxburgh between the lands of the Lord of Lauder on the north and the lands of the Commendator and Convent of Dryburgh on the east and south, and our lands of Melrose on the west; and that the said John Romanus, younger, is son and nearest heir of the said deceased John Romanus, elder, his father; and that he is of lawful age; and that the said two husband lands with their pertinents are held in chief of us and our successors in feufarm and heritage for yearly payment of 44 s. 6 d. with 5 s. 4 d. of augmentation payable at the terms used and wont, with two carriages in Lothian and six and a half poultry, as is more fully contained in the old infeftment of the said deceased John Romanus, elder: Therefore we require and command you, etc. [to give sasine, etc. to the said John Romanus, younger, etc., in the said subjects.]

(f. 104.)

Precept of Clare Constat, in favour of William Clark as heir to his deceased father, Robert Clark of Blainslie, in two husband lands of Blainslie on the north side thereof now occupied by the said William Clark between the lands of the Laird of Lauder on the north, the lands of the Commendator of Dryburgh on the east and south, and our lands of Melrose on the west, paying yearly 44 s. 6 d. with 5 s. 4 d. of augmentation, two carriages in Lothian and 7 poultry.
(f. 105.)

Precept of Clare Constat, in favour of Edward Lorne as heir to his father, the deceased James Lorne in Blainslie, of one husband land in the town and territory of Blainslie on the north side thereof, presently occupied by the said Edward Lorne and Agnes Lamb, his mother. (f. 105.)

Charter of Edward Romanus.—To all who shall see or hear this charter, James by divine permission Comendator of the monastery of Melrose, and the convent thereof, greeting in the Lord everlasting. Wit ye us with consent of our dearest cousin coadjutor and administrator and iconimus to us and to our said monastery, having full and sufficient power to receive tenants to whatsoever lands belonging to our said monastery, to have seen a certain charter of alienation of all and whole the half of a husband land with houses, buildings, tofts, crofts, gardens, now occupied by Edward Romanus in Blainslie with its whole pertinents, which charter, carefully considered and examined by our foresaid administrator and found to be free from all vitiation and suspicion, is more fully set forth in the following words:—To all who shall see or hear this charter, John Romanus wisheth greeting in the Lord everlasting. Wit ye me with express consent and assent of John Romanus my son and apparent heir, not conduced thereto by force, fear or fraud, but of my own pure, free and voluntary will and for the special love and favour which I have and bear towards my beloved lawful son Edward Romanus, to have given granted and in feufarm heritably demitted and by this my present charter confirmed, likeas I give, grant, and in feufarm heritably demit and by this my present charter confirm to the said Edward Romanus my son in liferent for all the days of his lifetime, likewise to John Romanus his son and apparent heir, whom failing to the lawful and nearest heirs lawfully begotten or to be begotten of the body of the said Edward, whom all failing, to the lawful and nearest heirs whomsoever of the said John, all and whole my half of a husband land with houses, buildings, tofts, crofts, gardens, now occupied by the said Edward, with their whole pertinents, lying in rindall within the town and territory of Blainslie, lordship of Melrose and sheriffdom of Roxburgh :

Having and holding all and whole my half of a husband land foresaid with pertinents occupied as above by the said Edward and lying as is aforesaid, to the foresaid Edward in liferent for all the days of his life, and to the said John and his heirs foresaid and assignees, heritably, of me and my heirs in fee and heritage and in free blench farm for ever by all their right meaths ancient and divided as they lie in length and breadth in houses, buildings, yards, fields, ways, paths, standing and running waters, meadows, pastures and pasturages, mills, multures and their sequels, hawkings, huntings, fishings, peataries, turferies, coals, coalheughs, doves, dovecots, rabbits, rabbit warrens, smithies, brew-houses, brushwood, broom, woods, plantings, copses, firewood and thatch, quarries, stone and lime, with courts and their exits, herields, bloodwites, and markets of women, with common pasture, free ish and entry, and with all and sundry other liberties, commodities, profits, easements and their just pertinents whatsoever as well not named as named, under the earth and above, near and remote, pertaining or which may justly be held to belong to my foresaid half husband land with pertinents, in any manner of way in time coming, freely, quietly, fully, entirely, honourably well and in peace without any obstruction recal gainsaying or hindrance: Paying therefor yearly the said Edward Romanus during the whole period of his life, and the said John and his heirs foresaid, to me and my heirs one penny usual money of the realm of Scotland upon the ground of the said lands at Whitsunday in name of blenchfarm if asked, and to the abbot and convent of the monastery of Melrose and their successors the sum of 12 s. and 5 d. money foresaid at two terms in the year, viz. Whitsunday and Martinmas in winter by equal portions, with one and a half poultry and half a carriage, and that for all other burden exaction demand or secular service which from the said half husband land with pertinents can justly by any whomsoever be anywise asked or required. And I forsooth John Romanus with express consent and assent of the said John my son and heir apparent, and my [sic] heirs foresaid, shall warrant acquit and for ever defend all and whole my half husband land with houses, buildings, tofts, crofts and gardens foresaid and their whole pertinents, to the foresaid Edward Romanus during the whole period of his life, and to the said John his son and apparent heir, and the heirs abovewritten, in all and by all against everything deadly. In witness of the which thing to this present charter subscribed with my hand my own proper seal is appended, with the subscription manual of the said John my son and apparent heir in manner following in token of his consent and assent, at Blainslie the seventh day of May 1578, in presence of these witnesses, Thomas Scot in Hanein [?], William Chein in Blainslie, Gavin Carter there, William Haw, younger, there, and John Bryden, notary public, with divers others. Dated Edinburgh, 13th August 1617 ; same witnesses.

38. Precept of Clare Constat in favour of Jasper Merser in Darnik as heir of the deceased John Myles, his maternal grandfather, in three acres of Darnik, paying yearly three bolls barley, one and a half kain fowls, two long carriages and one short carriage, with 7 s. 6 d. at entry of heirs. Dated Edinburgh, 13th August 1617 ; same witnesses.

39. Precept of Clare Constat in favour of William Mudy in Darnik as heir of the deceased William Mudy there, his grandfather, in six acres of Darnik, paying yearly six bolls barley, three kain fowls, two long carriages and one short carriage, and 15 s. at entry of heirs. Dated Edinburgh, 14th August 1617 ; same witnesses.

40. Charter narrating that Thomas Fisher in Darnik died last infeft in an acre there now occupied by Quintin Bowstoun and Katherine Fisher his spouse ; also that the deceased William Lees in Darnik was infeft in eleven acres there, and that the said William Lees sold to the said Thomas Fisher one of the said eleven acres, also now occupied by the said Quinton Bowstoun and his wife; further that Katherine Fisher and Janet Fisher are the lawful daughters and nearest heirs portioners of the said Thomas Fisher in the foresaid two acres, and that the said Janet resigned her part in favour of her said sister and Quintin Bowstoun, her spouse. Therefore James Ainslie confirms the said Quintin Bowstoun and his spouse and their heirs the foresaid two acres, paying yearly two bolls barley, one kain fowl, two long carriages and one short carriage, with 5 s. at entry of heirs. Dated Edinburgh, 17th August 1617; same witnesses.

41. Charter narrating that the deceased Thomas Fisher in Darnik was infeft in 13 acres of Darnik which he disposed to the deceased Mr. John Scott in Darnik, who redispored to the said Thomas Fisher and Margaret Lees, his spouse, two acres thereof then occupied by the said Thomas Fisher, Andrew Hietoun, Thomas Drummond, Thomas Rankin and James Dwne, now occupied by Walter Watson and Katherine Fisher, his spouse, which Katherine Fisher is lawful daughter and nearest heir of the said Thomas Fisher in the said two acres. Therefore James Ainslie grants this charter confirming to the foresaid Walter Watson and his spouse and their heirs the said two acres, paying yearly two bolls barley, one kain fowl, one long carriage, and 5 s. at entry of heirs. Dated Edinburgh, 15th August 1617; same witnesses.

42. Charter narrating that Thomas Rankyn in Darnik was heritably infeft in two acres of Darnik by charter dated at Edinburgh, 5th March 1566, which Thomas Rankyn and Andrew Rankyn, his son and heir, sold to Robert Hietoun, grandson of the deceased Andrew Hietoun in Darnik. Therefore James Ainslie grants this charter confirming to the said Robert Hietoun and his heirs the foresaid two acres, paying yearly two bolls barley, one kain fowl, two long carriages and one short carriage, with 5 s.

at entry of heirs. Dated Edinburgh, 18th August 1617; same witnesses, and John Twedy.

43. Precept of Clare Constat in favour of David Moss as heir to his father James Moss in Darnik in two acres in Darnik and one acre called Makquharreis lands, paying yearly for the two acres two bolls barley, one kain fowl, two long carriages and one short carriage, and for the one acre one boll barley, with the sum of 7 s. 6 d. at entry of heirs. RULES

1. THE object of the Society is the discovery and printing, under selected editorship, of unpublished documents illustrative of the civil, religious, and social history of Scotland. The Society will also undertake, in exceptional cases, to issue translations of printed works of a similar nature, which have not hitherto been accessible in English.

2. The number of Members of the Society shall be limited to 400.

3. The affairs of the Society shall be managed by a Council, consisting of a Chairman, Treasurer, Secretary, and twelve elected Members, five to make a quorum. Three of the twelve elected Members shall retire annually by ballot, but they shall be eligible for re-election.

4. The Annual Subscription to the Society shall be One Guinea. The publications of the Society shall not be delivered to any Member whose Subscription is in arrear, and no Member shall be permitted to receive more than one copy of the Society's publications.

5. The Society will undertake the issue of its own publications, i.e. without the intervention of a publisher or any other paid agent.

6. The Society will issue yearly two octavo volumes of about 320 pages each.

7. An Annual General Meeting of the Society shall be held at the end of October, or at an approximate date to be determined by the Council.

8. Two stated Meetings of the Council shall be held each year, one on the last Tuesday of May, the other on the Tuesday preceding the day upon which the Annual General Meeting shall be held. The Secretary, on the request of three Members of the Council, shall call a special meeting of the Council.

9. Editors shall receive 20 copies of each volume they edit for the Society.

10. The owners of Manuscripts published by the Society will also be presented with a certain number of copies.

11. The Annual Balance-Sheet, Rules, and List of Members shall be printed.

12. No alteration shall be made in these Rules except at a General Meeting of the Society. A fortnight's notice of any alteration to be proposed shall be given to the Members of the Council.
