HOME OR ORIGIN.	AGE.	NOTES AND AUTHORITIES.
Edinburgh	50	'Said to be a natural brother of Sir William Maxwell of Monreith.' Writer. 'Carried arms.' At his trial he pleaded guilty, and he petitioned for mercy because he had surrendered in Edinburgh. He said he was only a clerk, unpaid, and that he merely noted down and gave receipts for corn and straw brought in for the army. He was condemned, but was reprieved on 10th Nov. 1746. On 13th Oct. 1747 he appealed against the commutation of his sentence to enlistment, and explained that he had been forced. There is nothing to show what was the result of his appeal.— Macbeth Forbes , 23; Scots Mag. , Sept. 1746, 438; S.P.D. , 88-16, 99-20, 109-14; P.R. , 3625-21; P.C. , 252; Allardyce , ii. 618.
Stewartry of Kirkcudbright	—	The Dumfries Jail return shows that on 1st March 1747 he was handed over to a military escort as a deserter from Price's Regt.— P.R. , 3622-12; Baga , lxi. 184; S.P.D. , 100-65; J.R. , Dumfries; S.P.S. , ii. 35-47.
Carruchan, Kirkcudbrightshire	—	Acted as Chief Engineer in the defence of Carlisle against Cumberland. When the town surrendered on 30th Dec. 1745 and during the process of capitulation he escaped over the city wall and got clear away.— Origins , 193.
Dumfries	—	'Gentleman.' 'Son to James Maxwell of Barri-cleugh.'— P.C. , 144.
France	—	Captured at sea.— Scots Mag. , Nov. 1745, 541, 590; S.P.D. , 81-29; P.R. , 3622-12.
—	—	Deserter from the Welsh Fusiliers. 'Inlisted with rebels.'— J.R. , Montrose. He was probably handed over to the military authorities.

Glass	—	Schoolmaster. This man was a Hanoverian, not a Jacobite. He heard that Roy Stuart was likely to attempt a surprise on the English troops as he had already done at Keith. He reported this to Lord Albemarle and the English troops were kept on watch several nights; but there was no attack. It was assumed that M'Conachy's action was intentionally designed to harass the troops, and he was arrested and sent to headquarters at Aberdeen. Here he was convicted 'of spreading false intelligence' and sentenced to be 'whipped and drum'd through . . . Aberdeen, Old Meldrum, and Strathbogey,' and then 'turned towards the rebels with orders never to come near where the army may be on pain of being Hanged.'— Origins , lxiv.
—	—	Taken at capture of Carlisle.— S.P.D. , 79-26. No further reference to him.
Antrim, Ireland	—	Taken at capture of Carlisle. Turned King's Evidence against Townley and others.— S.P.D. , 79-26, 81-293; Allardyce , ii. 377.
Appin	—	Was tried at Carlisle 19/26 Sept. 1746, and acquitted.— Scots Mag. , Sept. 1746, 439; S.P.D. , 88-46.
—	—	Was in the Pamela list only. Probably died.
Appin	—	Tailor in Appin. 'Declares that he never carried arms or joined the rebels but came to Edinburgh to see his brother who was wounded at Preston and there made prisoner.'— S.P.D. , 89-272; J.R. , Canongate.

Paris	—	Banker in Paris. He was one of the small party who accompanied the Prince to Scotland. His brother was Donald M'Donald of Kinlochmoidart. He was committed to Newgate 27th May 1747, and was excepted from the 'Act of Grace.' On 2nd July he escaped from Newgate by throwing snuff in the turnkey's eyes ; but, being shod with loose slippers, he was recaptured while running down Warwick Lane. At his trial, 10th Dec. 1747, he said he was French and was educated there ; but it was proved that he was born in Scotland, and kept St. Andrew's Day. He was recommended to mercy when sentenced to death, and was placed in the charge of a messenger. On 28th May 1748 he was committed to Newgate. He received a conditional pardon involving perpetual banishment, dated 7th July 1748, but was not released until 11th Dec. 1749, a creditor having secured his further detention for debt. He returned to France, where he was killed during the Revolution.— Origins , 83 ; Lyon , i. 283 ; Scots Mag. , '47, 244, 345, 494, 602 ; S.P.D. , 94-41, 97-133, 103-28, 103-36, 107-61 ; Baga , lxix. 175 ; Clan Donald , iii. 299 ; Albemarle , i. 138, 210 ; S.P.S. , 34-18

Moidart	—	' Common highlander.' On suspicion.— J.R. , Edinburgh.
Boisdale	—	Half-brother of Ranald Macdonald of Clanranald. When the Prince landed in Eriska on 23rd July 1745 Boisdale refused to assist him, implored the Prince to go back, and prevented Clanranald's islesmen from joining him.— Lyon , i. 148, 289. For this he was thanked for the services he had rendered to the Government. He visited the Prince when he was hiding in Coradale. He was taken prisoner in June 1746 and taken to London, and was only released a year later. The Privy Council directed that he be tried in Scotland, but the Indemnity saved him.— Itinerary , 2, 51, 101; Lyon , i. 146; S.P.D. , 88-60, 97-133, 98-41; Albemarle , i. 71; Clan Donald , iii. 292.
Geridhoil, So. Uist	—	Tacksman of the M'Donalds of Morar. ' Was implicated in the Prince's escape, taken prisoner and taken to London as evidence against old Lady Clanranald.' This may be the man of whom it was stated that ' by mistake he was apprehended for the servant of the Bailie.' There is no doubt he turned King's Evidence.— Clan Donald , iii. 260; S.P.D. , 88-60, 96-64, 97-95; Albemarle , i. 71.
Glencoe	—	Chief of the M'Donalds of Glencoe. M'Donald of Glencoe was one of the first to visit the Prince when he landed in Scotland. He raised 120 men and joined him on 27th August. He served on the Prince's Council during the operations. After Culloden he and his men on 12th May 1746 surrendered to Genl. Campbell and gave up their arms. In the report on this Genl. Campbell says Glencoe said they had 52 killed and 36 wounded. On 15th May he appealed to have an interview with Cumberland as soon as he was fit to travel. He was sent on parole to Inveraray until 6th March 1747, when he went to Edinburgh; he was then taken to Edinburgh Castle and subsequently to Edinburgh Tolbooth. He was excepted from the Act of Pardon of June 1747, and remained in prison until 11th Oct. 1749, when he was released by a Judge of the Court of

Glengarry	—	'Alastair ruadh.' 'Young Glengarry.' Eldest son of John M'Donell of Glengarry, and presumably 'Pickle the Spy.' He had been sent by certain chiefs to France in May 1745 to advise the Prince not to come over without foreign assistance. He missed the Prince and returned to Scotland. He was certainly captured at sea in Dec. 1745 and put in the Tower, where he was at the end of July 1747. He was ultimately released and exiled, and went to France.—Scots Mag., Aug. Skye	—	Factor to Sir Alexander Macdonald of Sleat. 'High Treason and Treasonable practices.' Although he had taken no part in the Rising, Kingsburgh was arrested for having shown hospitality to the Prince when, as a fugitive, he took refuge at Kingsburgh House on 29th June. He was arrested shortly afterwards, by order of Genl. Campbell, and accompanied Sir Alexander to Fort Augustus. Thence he was conveyed to Edinburgh Castle, under a cavalry escort. Here he was placed in solitary confinement for a long time and suffered much in his health. The Lord President tried to secure his release in Dec. 1746 but without success. He was liberated on 4th July 1747 upon his preferring a petition wherein he claimed the benefit of the Indemnity. He died 13th Feb. 1772, aged 83.—Lyon, i. 123, 126-128, 82; Itinerary, 54; Culloden Papers, No. cccxxxvi., ccxlii.

Knoydart	—	Known as 'Old Barisdale.' Uncle of John M'Donald of Glengarry and brother of Angus M'Donald of Scotus. He paid his respects to the Prince at Glenfinnan but took no personal part in the Rising. In May, 1746, his house was burnt down by Cumberland's orders and he was himself taken prisoner and placed in a warship. He was released soon afterwards. He died 1752.— Origins , 96; Clan Donald , iii. 337.
Barisdale	—	Known as 'youngest Barisdale.' Son of Coll Macdonell and grandson of Archibald Macdonell of Barisdale, he joined the Prince at the age of 20. He was captured along with his father (Coll Macdonell), released, and was then captured by the Jacobites under suspicion of treachery, and was sent over in the same ship as the Prince to France, where he was kept for a year. He returned to Scotland, and in 1749 was again arrested by Government, but was released. Again, on 18th June 1753, he was arrested, tried and sentenced to death on 22nd March 1754 by the Lords of Justiciary. He was however reprieved, but kept as a prisoner until 29th March 1762, when he was finally released. He then took the oath of fealty to the Government and was given a commission in the 'Queen's Own Royal Highlanders.' He died at Barisdale in 1787.— Lyon , iii. 192; Origins , 97.

Barisdale	47	'Collin Roy,' red Colin. 'Young Barisdale.' Was eldest son of Archibald Macdonell, the 'Old Barisdale.' He joined the Prince at Aberchaldler on 27.8.45 at the head of Glengarry's men from Knoydart, and served throughout the campaign and fought at Falkirk but missed Culloden, as he was in Ross-shire. He was captured in June 1746 along with his son Archibald, and was taken to Fort Augustus, but was given a ten days' protection on condition of giving certain information to the Government. It was also said that he had engaged to apprehend the Prince and hand him over to the Government. For this he was seized by the Jacobites, who succeeded in getting him across to France and keeping him a prisoner in St. Malo for over two years. Family tradition states that he deliberately misled the authorities and that his capture by his own side was due to an old quarrel with the Camerons over the theft of cattle. Meanwhile the Government excluded him from the Act of Indemnity in 1747. When he returned home in Feb. 1749 he was again arrested by Government, and confined in Edinburgh Castle without trial until his death, June 1750.— Origins , 97; Clan Donald , ii. 476, iii. 337; S.P.D. , 94-241; S.P.Scotland , Series ii. 39-70.

Lettochbeag, Kinloch	—	Labourer. Lochbeg, Perth. Taken at capture of Carlisle.— S.P.D. , 79-26, 81-293; T.B.P. , 327-109.
Inverness-shire	—	Kinlochmoidart was one of the first to join the Prince when he landed in Scotland. He was at once sent to summon the Duke of Perth, Lochiel, and John Murray of Broughton. He was employed by the Prince as an emissary, and in this capacity was sent to Lord Lovat. He was made a Colonel and, according to a statement by his brother Aeneas Macdonald, 'was to have been made a baronet and peer of Scotland.' He was caught at Lesmahagow in Nov. 1745 while returning from an unsuccessful mission to Sir Alexander M'Donald of Sleat and M'Leod. When captured he was found to have in his possession a letter from the Prince's Secretary, Murray, telling him to spread the report that the M'Leods and Sir Alex. M'Donald were on the march 'notwithstanding you may have received contrary information.' This letter was dated Holyrood, 27th Oct. 1745. He was sent to Carlisle and tried and convicted. After his execution his head was affixed to the Scots Gate, Carlisle, where it remained for many years. His house too was burnt down.— Origins , 82 note; Scots Mag. , Nov. 1746, 540; S.P.D. , 88-16; Clan Donald , iii. 301.
Inverness-shire	—	Son of Ronald Mor of Tir-na-Dris, second son of M'Donald of Keppoch. He was the first to draw blood in the Jacobite cause, as it was he, with a few men, who attacked two companies of Guise's regiment near Fort William on 14th Aug. 1745, and captured Captains Swetenham and John Scott and killed two or three men. He added to his offence on this occasion by capturing Capt. Scott's horse and presenting it to the Prince at Glenfinnan. At the battle of Falkirk he mistook some English troops in the dusk for men of Lord John Drummond, and was captured and narrowly escaped being shot on the spot. When in Carlisle Castle he wrote cheerfully to his friends, notably when he sent a message to a lady 'that notwithstanding of my

Skye	—	Born in 1722; her father died in her infancy, and she was step-daughter to Hugh Macdonald of Armadale. She was sister of Angus Macdonald of Milton, one of the cadets of Macdonald of Clanranald, and was adopted by Lady Clanranald, chief of the clan. She met the Prince at Ormaclett in South Uist, and arranged to help him to get across to Skye, which they did on 29th June. She accompanied him to Portree, and there left him on 1st July.— Lyon , i. 296-306. A few days later she was captured near Sleat and placed in the Furnace where, owing to the presence on board of General Campbell, she was well treated. From the beginning of Sept. to 7th Nov. she was in H.M.S. Bridgewater in Leith harbour, and was allowed to meet her friends, and to be entertained by them. On 28th Nov. she was placed in the Royal Sovereign at the Nore, and thence transferred on 6th Dec. to London to the house of a messenger, Mr. Dick, where there were several other Jacobite prisoners. She was released in July 1747, and in 1750 she married Allan, son of Alexander Macdonald —	—	Son of Alexander Macdonald of Morar. He was Catholic Bishop of Diana and Vicar-Apostolic of the Highlands. When the Prince arrived in Scotland he went to him and begged him to go back; and when the Standard was raised at Glenfinnan he blessed it. After Culloden he was with Lord Lovat in his hiding place in Morar, but when Lovat was captured the Bishop escaped and went to France in Sept. 1746. He returned in 1749 to Scotland, but was arrested in July 1755 and released on bail and ordered to stay at Duns. In Feb. 1756 he was sentenced by the High Court to perpetual banishment, but the sentence was not enforced, and he remained in Scotland until his death in 1773.— Origins , 82, 244; Lyon , iii. 50-53; Scots Mag. , xvii. 358, xviii. 100; Clan Donald , iii. 255.

Strathbogie, Aberdeen	—	S.P.D. , 81-293.
France	—	An officer in the French army, who came over with the Prince from France. He surrendered on Culloden day and was 'suffered to go out upon his parole amongst other French prisoners at Penrith.'— Lyon , i. 283, ii. 312; P.R. , 3622-12; Addl. MSS. , 29674-209.
Glengarry	—	'Witnesses saw him in arms marching at the head of a body of rebels, and that he was called their Colonel, and was wearing a white cockade.'— S.P.D. , 89-272. 'Subsisted himself' while imprisoned.— J.R. , Edinburgh Castle. In spite of the evidence Glengarry did not himself go out, but actually joined Cope at Crieff soon after the Prince landed. His second son, Angus, commanded the clan and was killed at Falkirk accidentally. Shortly after Culloden the old chief was imprisoned, and was not released until Oct. 1749. He was specially excepted from the Act of Pardon of June 1747.— Scots Mag. , 1747, 260; Itinerary , 5, note 5; S.P.D. , 111-38. Writing to Newcastle about him on 1st Sept. 1746, Albemarle said 'he may be wrongfully accused as he showed a remarkable inclination to be useful to the King's troops at Fort Augustus, and when he was employed by me.'— Albemarle , i. 212. He appealed for release under the Act of 1701 regarding wrongous imprisonment, and was discharged on 11th Oct. 1749.
Moidart	—	'Chirurgéon.' Brother of Kinlochmoidart, and had been out with his father in the '15. He was taken prisoner and was placed in Capt. Ferguson's ship the Furnace . In or about the end of 1746 he was placed in the custody of Dick the messenger, but was never tried. Glenmoriston	—	One of the famous eight men of Glenmoriston who, having served in the Jacobite army (Cameron Lees , Inverness, 191), were living the life of outlaws, and terrorised the Government troops about Fort Augustus. With them the Prince stayed several days in Aug. 1746. Distressed at the Prince's mean clothing they shot some servants carrying baggage for officers at the barracks in order that he might be better clad. They did not leave until he got back to Loch Arkaig. Chisholm of Strathglass, on whose land the incident of the shooting had taken place, undertook to make the men prisoners, and in Nov. 1746 John M'Donald was captured and taken to Inverness. As, however, there was no proof against him he was released under the Indemnity, and emigrated to America.— Lyon , ii. 365, iii. 3.

So. Uist	—	He took no part in the Rising, but on two occasions after Culloden he visited the fugitive Prince. He was included in the Bill of Attainder of June 1746, and was apprehended on the charge of having helped the Prince to escape. His wife was taken at the same time. On 25th May 1747 the Privy Council decided that he should be prosecuted in Scotland, but he appears to have been released under the General Pardon.— Lyon , i. 305, 146, iii. 33 ; S.P.D. , 88-60, 97-133, 98-41 ; Albemarle , i. 69.
—	—	Eldest son of Ranald M'Donald of Clanranald ; raised his father's clan shortly after the Prince landed. He commanded the regiment and served through the campaign, being badly wounded at Culloden. He was in hiding for eighteen months in Moidart, during which period he got married. He then went to France and obtained military employment there. He returned in June 1752, apparently thinking there was no attainder in operation. He was however imprisoned and kept in a messenger's house in London until April 1754, when he was released. It was stated that he hoped ' to evade the effect of his attainder, on account of a misnomer in the Glencarnaig	—	In hiding until Sept. 1746 when he surrendered. Imprisoned in Edinburgh Castle for three years. Died 1758. He was 'excepted' from the Act of Pardon.— Tullibardine , ii. 334 ; S.P.D. , 96-16, 111-38 ; J.R. , Edinburgh Castle.

Caithness	22	S.P.D. , 84-2. The fact that he was not transported suggests that he died.
—	—	'Taken in actual rebellion.'— S.P.D. , 81-88. No other reference to him.
Dalchruim, Glenartney	76	Captured at the surrender of Carlisle.— S.P.D. , 79-26. He was tried in London 31st July 1746 and condemned to death, but was reprieved on 22nd Aug. and ordered to be transported. When the time came he was found to be too ill to be moved. Several prominent people (the Scandinavian ambassador, Duchess of Norfolk, and others) interested themselves in him and obtained a pardon for him upon 11th Dec. 1749. He was stated to be a man of 76, and had had two years' imprisonment in England in Preston in connection with the 1715 Rising.— Lyon , ii. 373 ; Scots Mag. , Aug. 1746, 397. According to the evidence against David Stewart, brother of Ardvorlich, he helped in the capture of Doune Castle.— S.P.D. , 89-272, 100-65 ; P.R. , 3623-14 ; Egerton , 2000-3 ; Baga , lxi. 173 ; Allardyce , ii. 384.

—	—	Deserter from Lord Loudoun's Highlanders; captured at Fort Augustus.— Cumberland Orders .
Strath, Skye	70	The old Chief, John Mackinnon, had been out in the '15 but was pardoned. He joined the Prince on 13th Oct. 1745 with 120 men and served through the campaign. He was the only one of the three chiefs in Skye who went out. He was not at Culloden, as he had been sent to Sutherland in pursuit of Lord Loudoun's force. The Prince went to him in Skye in July 1746, and Mackinnon helped him to reach the mainland. He was arrested on 11th July 1746 in Morar, and taken to London, where it was decided he should be tried at Carlisle or Derby. This, however, was not carried out, and on 19th Jan. 1749/50 he petitioned for release, saying he was old, 'destitute of all funds except a small allowance

Skye		— Nephew of John Mackinnon of Mackinnon, the Chief, with whom he served through the campaign. In company with his Chief he helped the Prince to escape from Skye to the mainland in July 1746. He was caught on 11th July and put on board ship, where he was examined by General Campbell as to his reasons for not giving up the Prince and earning the reward. When he replied that he would not have done it for the whole world the officers rose and drank his health. He was ordered to be transported, but must have been reprieved. He was in hospital in Edinburgh in 1761 paralysed in both legs, and he died 11th May 1762 in Bath.— S.P.D. , 88-60, 96-64, 96-104, 97-133; Lyon , ii. 253; Albemarle , i. 69.

Gualtergil, Dunvegan, Skye	68	This was one of the most faithful of all the Prince's attendants. He was sent to the Prince at Borrodale on 21st April 1746 by Aeneas Macdonald, and offered to help him to get over to the Hebrides in the hopes of picking up a ship for France. He got a boat and crew and took him across, and shared his adventures until 20th June, when the small party had to scatter to avoid detection. On 5th July he was captured by Allan M'Donald of Knock, taken to Barra and thence to Portree, and put on board Ferguson's ship. He was taken to Tilbury and put in a prison ship, where he suffered appalling ill-treatment. For some months he was in the house of Mr. Dick the messenger. He was never tried, and he himself never referred to any official examination. In the absence of sufficient evidence he was released 10th June 1747 and went home, dying there in May 1749 aged 72. His wife was sister of M'Donald of Borrodale, and first cousin of Flora M'Donald.— Origins , 230 ; Lyon , i. 178-185 ; S.P.D. , 88-60, 98-41 ; Scots Mag. , 1747, 292 ; Albemarle , i. 70.

This was not expected, as the Lord President had offered him a commission as Captain of one of the Independent Companies. He raised a body of Mackenzies in Lochbroom and Coigach and joined the Prince on the return of the army from the English campaign. He and his father, Barisdale, Glengyle, and Mackinnon were sent with 1500 men to try to recover the treasure on the Prince Charles (ex Hazard) which had been driven ashore at Tongue, on 25th March 1746, and to raise money in Sutherland and Caithness. They were surprised and captured at Dunrobin and taken to London, and a large number of their men were taken prisoners. When tried for high treason on 20th Dec. 1746 Lord Macleod pleaded guilty. He was pardoned on 22nd Jan. 1748 on condition that within six months of attaining his majority he should convey to the Crown all his rights in the Estates of the Earldom. This he did, and went abroad and entered the Swedish service, becoming a Colonel. He returned home in 1777 and raised the 'Macleod Highlanders,' with which he served in India. Raasay	—	Capt. Macleod met the fugitive Prince at Portree on 30th June 1746 and took him to Raasay. They left on 2nd July and returned to Skye and went to Strath, the Prince posing as his servant. Here they were in the house of John Mackinnon, Macleod's brother-in-law. Macleod returned to Raasay, where he was taken prisoner and placed on a sloop commanded by the barbarous John Ferguson and conveyed to London. For several months he was in one of the prison ships at Tilbury. On 25th May 1747 the Privy Council decided he should be tried in Scotland, but this was not carried out. He was ultimately released on 4th July 1747 and returned home.— S.P.D. , 97-133, 98-41; Lyon , i. 130, 145, 187, iii. 123, 127; Albemarle , i. 69.

Glenlyon, Perthshire	—	Servant of Menzies of Culdares. Watchmaker in Edinburgh. 'Was at Preston battle and boasted that he had kill'd Col. Gardner there.'— P.C. , 252, 380. He tried to get Murray of Broughton, who was then in the Tower, to prove that he did not kill Col. Gardner. Early in 1745 he was sent by Murray of Broughton to France with the letter from the leaders of the party to the Prince urging him to delay his coming. He returned at the end of May and reported that the Prince would be in So. Uist in July. Among other charges brought against him was that he had brought a charger to the Prince. This horse had been sent by James Menzies of Culdares and Meggenie who had been out in the '15. When questioned as to the source of the gift M'Naughton absolutely refused to say. Dr. Blaikie points out that every effort was made to induce him to give evidence, and on his way to be hanged he was offered his life and a pension if he would do so. Hereplied that the Government had honoured him in ranking him with gentlemen, and he hoped they would leave him in quiet to suffer as one. He became known as 'MacNeachdain an eich a udhir.'— Stewart , i. 55; Celtic Monthly , July 1899, 187; S.P.D. , 88-16; Tullibardine , ii. 316, 332.

The plea, however, though opposed by the Crown, appears to have been allowed, without any proof having been required as to the limitation of the dignity being, as he alleged, to the male heir. (Scots Peerage , vi. 334.) His name (Charles Douglas) was included in a list of persons banished dated 2nd July 1747. But he submitted a petition in 1750 that he had been 'kept in chains among the common prisoners' and is starving. In this petition he styled himself Charles, Lord Mordington. Stanhope, Peeblesshire	17	The 4th baronet, grandson of Sir David, who was father of John Murray of Broughton. He was captured at Whitby trying to escape to Holland in disguise after the battle of Culloden and taken to York, where he was tried and sentenced to death, but conditionally pardoned in Sept. 1748 through the interest of Lord Hopetoun and others. He went abroad and died in exile in 1770. The Ardnamurchan estate, in which lay his famous lead quarry of Strontian, was forfeited and sold for £33,700. In Dec. 1748 he was in the retinue of the Prince in Paris, and was arrested and put in confinement until the whole party left the country. Broughton, Tweeddale	30	The Prince's Secretary and adviser, Broughton did more than any other man to damage the success of the operations of the 1745, and turned traitor in the end. As soon as he was captured he turned King's Evidence, primarily against Lord Lovat, but also against the leading Jacobites generally. He was never brought to trial but was frequently under examination by the Crown lawyers. In July 1747 he begged to be removed from the Tower and to be sent to a messenger's house. In due course he was pardoned, and it is said, though this is doubtful, that he was given a pension of £200. The letter of pardon bears date 7th June 1748. In 1770 he assumed the baronetcy of his nephew, Sir David Murray. In 1771 he was placed in an asylum, and died in 1777.— S.P.D. , 99-2; P.R. , 3623-2; Scots Mag. , May 1748, 245; Cockayne , iii. 344.

—	48	Brother of John, 2nd Earl of Dunmore. Formerly an officer in the Navy, he joined the Prince at Blair on 30th Aug. 1745 and was appointed Vice-Chamberlain. He served through the campaign and surrendered after Culloden at Montrose and was thence sent to Inverness. In due course he went to the Tower of London. When tried at Southwark he pleaded guilty but, according to Sir John Strange, no sentence was pronounced against him. He was reprieved and pardoned conditionally on what amounted to life-long imprisonment. He was confined first at Carisbrooke in the Isle of Wight, and later in Beverley in Yorkshire, and Lincoln. In 1752 he succeeded his brother in the title and estates of the Earldom. Under the terms of his provisional pardon he was compelled to live in prison whenever he was required to go. France	—	He was the son of a brigadier in the Spanish army, and himself served in the latter until 1744. He then joined Lally's French-Irish regiment as Captain. He was sent over from France to the Prince in March 1746 by the Duc de Richelieu. After Culloden he accompanied the Prince on his wanderings until 28th June. He then went to North Uist, where he was taken prisoner and sent to Edinburgh Castle. In Feb. 1747 he was released on parole and subsequently exchanged as a French prisoner of war.— Origins , 230.

Forfarshire	—	Lady Ogilvy was the daughter of Sir James Johnstone, Bart. of Westerhall, Dumfriesshire, and wife of Lord Ogilvy, whom she assisted and followed throughout the campaign. After Culloden she found she could not undertake the exertion involved in crossing the mountains to get home, and stayed at Kilihuntly, where she was captured. She was taken to Inverness and then to Edinburgh Castle. Her husband meanwhile had escaped to the Continent. On 21st Nov., disguised in the dress of her maid, she walked past the sentries and out of the Castle, being assisted in carrying out the plot by her maid and her own brother and sister. She hid in Edinburgh, where she met a party of 16 Jacobites who had arranged for a boat to meet them at Newhaven. This plan failed and she returned to Edinburgh on 19th Dec. She then

		went, dressed as a sick gentleman, in a chaise, accompanied only by Archibald Hart, a merchant, to London. Even then, on her way to Holland, she was mistaken for the Prince and narrowly escaped arrest. She joined her husband in France and lived there until 1757, when she died, her health having been undermined by her experiences in the field.—Lyon, ii. 113; Mackintosh, 132-139. 'Witnesses declared they saw her standing upon the Cross of Cupar in Angus with a drawn sword in her hand, while the Pretender was proclaimed by Lord Ogilvie's orders over the Mercat Cross.'—S.P.D., 89-272; Albemarle, i. 71, 321, 324, 330; Mackintosh, 132; J.R., Edinburgh Castle.
Dundee	—	Merchant. 'On suspicion. Subsists himself.' This was probably the son of Sir John Ogilvy, Kinordy, Kirriemuir, who was a Captain. 'Confesses that he was advised to apply to Mr. John Murray, Secretary to the Pretender's son, for a warrant to deliver him certain parcels of tobacco which the rebels had seized at Alloa, and for which he had a plea depending in exchequer with Collector Grossett; which warrand he received and went to Alloa and took possession of the said tobacco.' He was excepted from the Act of Pardon of June 1747. What happened to him has not been traced.—S.P.D., 89-272; Scots Mag., July 1746, 344; June 1747, 260.
Eastmiln, Glenisla, Angus	—	He was captured some time after the end of the whole operations, and was one of those excepted from the Act of Pardon. He had to be subsisted in jail, where he still was in 1751. 'Active in raising men and extorting money.'—Mackintosh (Ogilvy's Regt.), 143; P.C., 226.
Banff	24	Writer. Was taken at the capitulation of Carlisle.—S.P.D., 79-26. He was then sent to London, where he was tried and sentenced to death on 2nd August. He was hanged at Kennington Common.—Scots Mag., Aug. 1746, 397; S.P.D. Entry Book, 84, 25th Aug. 1746; Baga, lxi. 173; Egerton MSS., 3000-26; Allardyce, ii. 432.

Perth	—	Merchant. On suspicion of treason. 'Henry Edwards did see him upon the King's birthday walking through the Rebel guardroom at Perth with a firelock and bayonet and heard some of the rebels call him Captain. Others say they saw him with the rebels under command of Oliphant of Gask disperse the loyal inhabitants of Perth who were solemnising His Majesty's birthday. Others say they frequently saw him walking with the Pretender's son and John M'Colly says he came to his house with armed highlanders and forced from him one of his horses for the Rebels use.'— S.P.D. , 89-272.
Shropshire	—	J.R. , Perth. Nothing more is known of him after he got to Carlisle. He probably died.
Montrose	—	For 'piloting French ships into Montrose and solemnising the Young Pretender's birthday.' This piloting took place in Oct. 1745, and refers to the French ships which brought artillery and stores for the Prince.— J.R. , Montrose.

Provence, France	—	Wigmaker.— J.R. , Stirling.
France	—	He was brother of the James, 3rd Earl of Derwentwater, who was executed on 24.2.1716 for his share in the Rising of 1715. Charles Ratcliffe was also captured and condemned, but escaped from Newgate and went to France, where he settled and had a pension from James VIII. While in France he assumed the attainted title of his brother. In Nov. 1745 he was again captured on board the Esperance on his way to Scotland with other French officers and, after identification, was imprisoned, along with his son, in the Tower. He was brought before the Court of King's Bench and condemned to suffer the sentence previously passed on him in 1716. This was carried out on 8th Dec. 1746.— Lyon , i. 239; Scots Mag. , 1746, 530, 541, 617; Baga , lxx. 194; Scots Peerage , vi. 454.

HOME OR ORIGIN.	AGE.	NOTES AND AUTHORITIES.
Lancashire	—	Weaver. Taken at capture of Carlisle. Tried at Carlisle, Sept. 1746, and sentenced to death, but recommended to mercy by the Jury.— Scots Mag. , 1746, 439, 544; S.P.D. , 79-26, 81-76; S.P.D. Entry Book , 85-84; Baga , lxi. 181.
Alyth, Perth	—	Was captured at the surrender of Carlisle on 30.12.45.— S.P.D. , 81-88. There is no further reference to him. He may have died.
Drimmie, Bendochy, Perth	36	Son of David Rattray of Rannagulzion, he married the sister of Sir James Kinloch, Bt. (q.v.), and served as major in Ogilvy's regiment under Sir James. He was at Culloden and parted from the Prince at the Ford of Failie after the battle. He was captured by the Hessian cavalry at his house, together with Sir James and his brothers, Alexander and Charles Kinloch, and sent to London. At his trial in Nov. 1746 he pleaded compulsion. This plea was rejected, until a witness swore that he had seen him handcuffed in the custody of the Prince's army. It appears that the Marquis of Tullibardine had claimed his services, as his vassal, for the Perthshire regiment. When he refused, as he preferred to serve in Ogilvy's, he was seized by order of the Marquis, and was only released when the true facts were made known to the latter. He was consequently acquitted and released by the Court without forfeiture. Nevertheless his property was wantonly damaged by the Government troops.— Mackintosh , 148; Baga , lxi. 175; Allardyce , ii. 425, 427.
Edinburgh	—	Surgeon to the Prince. Brother of James Rattray of Craighall. He was put in a church along with his friend Dr. Lauder, among a crowd of prisoners; but their instruments were removed. He was captured on the field of Culloden while administering help. At Lord President Forbes' request to Cumberland he was released after a short detention. On arriving in Edinburgh he was again taken prisoner and sent to London, by Cumberland's orders, to act as witness. He was finally released, 7th Jan. 1747.— Lyon , ii. 312, 313; Tullibardine , ii. 323, 333; Allardyce , ii. 611.

Angus	—	Taken at capture of Carlisle. It was pointed out at his trial at York on 2nd Oct. that he was only a piper, but he was found guilty but recommended to mercy. Nevertheless he was executed. The Court ruled that 'no regiment ever marched without musical instruments such as drums, trumpets and the like; and that a highland regiment never marched without a piper; and therefore his bagpipe, in the eye of the law, was an instrument of war.'— Baga , lxix. 193; S.P.D. , 79-26, 91-77.

Edinburgh	—	as he was, and was sent to London. She appears to have been placed in the custody of Money, a Messenger, on her arrival in London.—S.P.D., 88-60; S.P.S., 2nd Series, 33-17; Cockayne, iv. 355. Lord Provost of Edinburgh. Cousin of Sir James Stewart of Goodtrees. The Scots Magazine reported his arrest on suspicion on 30th Oct. 1745 and imprisonment. He was allowed out on bail on 23rd Jan. 1747, six gentlemen being bound in large recognizances for his appearance before the High Court of Justiciary, Edinburgh.—Scots Mag., Jan. 1747, 44; S.P.D., 93-223, 93-28. His name appears on the list of those who were specially excepted from the General Pardon of June 1747.—Scots Mag., June 1747, 259. Criminal letters were signeted against him on 17th June 1747. He was charged with negligence in regard to the holding of Edinburgh against the rebels. He was tried 13th July 1747, but the diet was deserted, the Lord Advocate reserving power to insist against him afterwards. At his retrial on 26th Oct. 1747, which lasted until 31st Oct., he was found not guilty and was discharged. Commenting to the Duke of Newcastle on the result the Lord Justice Clerk said, 'the behaviour of the Jacobites has been most insolent.'—Scots Mag., 1747, 349, 500; S.P.S., 38-15, 38-19; Albemarle, ii. 468; Woodhouselee MS. 15. suspicion and taken to London. Here he died of fever in the prison at Southwark a few days after he landed, on 24th Aug. 1746.— Origins , 72; Lyon , iii. 26-30.

—	—	It is possible he was son of Major David Stewart (vide supra) 'late Gentleman to the Duke of Perth.' His horse was killed under him at Culloden. He may have been the Major Stewart who after his capture was handcuffed so tightly that his skin was broken, and was kept in that condition for ten days.— Lyon , iii. 156. He was tried at Southwark and convicted but had sufficient interest to obtain a conditional pardon, as evidence was produced that he had saved the life of Major Bowles of Hamilton's Dragoons at Prestonpans. His case was considered by the Privy Council in July 1747, and it was decided to pardon him on condition of his remaining in such place as the King should direct.— S.P.D. , 100-65, 109-14; Scots Mag. , 1746, 186: 1747, 292; Allardyce , ii. 480-482; Baga , lxi. 175; Albemarle , ii. 400; P.R. , 3625-22; Tullibardine , ii. 331, note 1.
Glengorlundy, Perth	—	Tenant in Glengorlundy. On suspicion of treasonable practice. Says he 'carried arms for 2 days,' also that 'he was seized in his own house by a party of rebel M'Phersons and carried by them towards Crieff, where he deserted them.'— S.P.D. , 89-272; J.R. , Edinburgh; Addl. MSS. , 24900.
—	—	'Natural brother of Ardshiels.' Was Quartermaster of Ardshiel's regiment. Surrendered his arms to General Campbell after Culloden and was released. Afterwards he was taken up again on suspicion of having assisted Mr. Murray and Charles Steuart, Paymaster of the rebel army, to escape. 'This man was an instrument of saving the life of Capt. Campbell of the Argyllshire Militia who had the misfortune to be taken by the rebels.' It was first decided that he must take his trial in Scotland; but this was over-ruled and he was ordered to be transported.— S.P.D. , 96-154.

Kinelune, Kingoldrum, Forfarshire	36	Son of Stormonth of Kinelune. He was appointed Ensign and carried the colours of Ogilvy's Regt. At Falkirk he ran away, but rejoined the regiment. He surrendered, however, to the Sheriff of Aberdeen, and was handed over to the English troops on their arrival and sent to Southwark. On 16th Dec. 1746 he was sentenced to death, but through the interest of his brother-in-law, M'Neill of Barra, nephew of the Duke of Argyll, he was actually given a free pardon on 12th Feb. 1747. By some mistake, however, he was not released, and he was still in the house of Cleverley, messenger, in June 1748. Apparently he was ultimately released.— P.C. , 234; Mackintosh , 164; Scots Mag. , Feb. 1747, 87; S.P.D. , 84-2, 107-34; Allardyce , ii. 398; Baga , lxix. 175.

Glamis	—	J.R. , Montrose.
Wigan, Lanca- shire	—	Educated in France, and had just come home when the '45 broke out; taken at capture of Carlisle. — S.P.D. , 79-26. He pleaded guilty at his trial, 16th July 1746; was sentenced to death, but reprieved. Kept in the house of a messenger until he was transported.— Scots Mag. , July 1746, 324; S.P.D. , 107-74; P.R. , 3625-14; Allardyce , ii. 435; Baga , lxix. 173.
Inverness	—	Wright. On 27th April 1746 he was arrested on suspicion and put in the Tolbooth, which was full of dead and wounded men. On 2nd May he was put in a sloop and sent to Cromarty Road, where he was released. On his return home he was again arrested and incarcerated, and suffered severe hardships. On 23rd April 1747 he was released on bail of 1000 merks. 'The substance of a long proof against him is that he was a wright to the rebels which some say he did voluntarily, others that he was forced. Likewise he was an overseer of their tradesmen in Inverness . . . and that he was in use to attend the non-jurant Episcopal Meeting House. David Gordon heard him wish well to the Pretender's interest.'— S.P.D. , 89-272; Lyon , iii. 59.
Muthill, Perth	—	'Hireman to Duke of Perth.' 'On suspicion.' 'Witnesses declared he was seen driving the Rebels' cannon wearing the white cockade. After the battle of Falkirk was seen riding a dragoon horse, armed with pistols, with a dragoon cloak about him.'— J.R. , Stirling; J.R. , Edinburgh; S.P.D. , 89-272.
Thurso, Caithness	52	Episcopal minister. In the evidence against Sir James Stewart of Burray it was stated that arms collected for the Prince's army had been concealed in Mr. Taylor's house. Shortly after Culloden orders were sent to burn his 'meeting house' and to arrest him as a 'non-juror.' On 25th May he was arrested, along with Sir James Stewart of Burray, and put in a ship and taken to Kirkwall. Thence they were sent to London.

Edinburgh	30	Shoemaker. Captain, Duke of Perth's regiment. He was captured outside Edinburgh Castle a few days after joining the Prince. Albemarle says he raised 'a company of militia' and promised to capture the Castle. When he was tried for his life at Carlisle in Sept. 1746 he was sentenced to death, but was recommended to mercy for having helped the wounded English at Prestonpans, and was reprieved on condition that he enlisted. He refused to do this, and was one of the ringleaders who tried to dissuade other prisoners from enlisting. The Duke of Newcastle ordered him to be sent back to Carlisle and executed. This sentence was not carried out, and he was released in Oct. 1747. Albemarle, writing on 15th Nov. 1746 to Newcastle, described him as of so infamous a character that he regretted his reprieve.— S.P.D. , 88-16; Macbeth Forbes , 14, 55, 57; 'Diary of James Miller,' Journal of Army Historical Research , vol. iii. 210; P.R. , 3625-21; Fraser Papers , 276; Baga , lxix. 181; S.P.S. , 35-23; Albemarle , i. 302, 394, 399.

Lancashire	36	An English Roman Catholic, son of Charles Towneley of Towneley Hall, Lancashire. He was born 1709 and when 19 years old entered the French army. He served abroad for some years, and then returned to England and settled in Wales. The French King sent him a Colonel's commission in 1744. When the Prince reached Manchester and a regiment was raised there on 30th Nov. 1745, Towneley was put in command of it. When the Prince's army retired to Scotland he was left Governor of the town of Carlisle. When the town was summoned by Cumberland he wished to hold out and quarrelled with Hamilton, governor of the Castle, who wished or was forced to surrender. Towneley was tried at Southwark in July 1746 and claimed to be treated as a prisoner of war, owing to his holding a French commission. This plea was repelled, and he was executed on Kennington Common 30th July 1746.— Origins , 173; S.P.D. , 79-26; Allardyce , ii. 373, 383, 449; Baga , lxix. 173.
Banff	—	Captured at Culloden. No further reference to him. Probably died, as he never got to London.
France	—	S.P.D. , 81-72, 81-73.
—	—	The fifth Earl succeeded his father in 1741. He was a keen Jacobite and belonged to the King's rather than the Prince's party. He was opposed to the Prince's coming to Scotland without French aid, and himself took no part in the operations of the '45. Murray of Broughton was bitterly opposed to him, and, in consequence of evidence Murray brought against him at Lord Lovat's trial, Traquair was thrown into the Tower of London about Aug. 1746. He was specially excluded from the Act of Pardon.

—	—	The only reference to him is, on the authority of Macbeth Forbes, that he petitioned for mercy on the ground that he had an invention for raising water.— Macbeth Forbes , 21. His name does not appear in the State Papers at all.
Perthshire	58	He was second son of John, 1st Duke of Atholl, and was born 14th April 1689. On his elder brother's death he became Marquis of Tullibardine. In 1715 he joined the Earl of Mar and commanded a regiment of the Atholl Brigade, and acted as Lieutenant-General at Sheriffmuir. In consequence of this he was attainted on 19th Feb. 1716, but escaped to France. He was appointed in 1717 by James VIII. to the chief command in Scotland, and on 1st Feb. was created Jacobite Duke of Rannoch. He accompanied the Spanish force in 1719 and was defeated at Glenshiel on 10th June. A large reward was offered for his apprehension, but he again escaped to France and there lived in straitened circumstances. He returned to Scotland with the Prince in July 1745. He then assumed the title of Duke of Atholl and took possession of the estates. After Culloden, being in bad health, he sought shelter in Dumbartonshire at Drumakill, where, according to Bishop Forbes, he was betrayed by his host, Buchanan of Drumakill, and was arrested and put in Dumbarton Castle. Thence he was sent to

RULES

1. THE object of the Society is the discovery and printing, under selected editorship, of unpublished documents illustrative of the civil, religious, and social history of Scotland. The Society will also undertake, in exceptional cases, to issue translations of printed works of a similar nature, which have not hitherto been accessible in English.

2. The affairs of the Society shall be managed by a Council, consisting of a Chairman, Treasurer, Secretary, and twelve elected Members, five to make a quorum. Three of the twelve elected Members shall retire annually by ballot, but they shall be eligible for re-election.

3. The Annual Subscription to the Society shall be One Guinea. The publications of the Society shall not be delivered to any Member whose Subscription is in arrear, and no Member shall be permitted to receive more than one copy of the Society's publications.

4. The Society will undertake the issue of its own publications, i.e. without the intervention of a publisher or any other paid agent.

5. The Society normally issues yearly two octavo volumes of about 320 pages each.

6. An Annual General Meeting of the Society shall be held at the end of October, or at an approximate date to be determined by the Council.

7. Two stated Meetings of the Council shall be held each year, one on the last Tuesday of May, the other on the Tuesday preceding the day upon which the Annual General Meeting shall be held. The Secretary, on the request of three Members of the Council, shall call a special meeting of the Council.

8. Editors shall receive 20 copies of each volume they edit for the Society.

9. The owners of Manuscripts published by the Society will also be presented with a certain number of copies.

10. The Annual Balance-Sheet, Rules, and List of Members shall be printed.

11. No alteration shall be made in these Rules except at a General Meeting of the Society. A fortnight's notice of any alteration to be proposed shall be given to the Members of the Council.
