

By the Mayor.

Martis, nono die Martij, 1668. Annoq; Regni Regis CAROLI
Secundi Dei Gratia Angliæ, &c. decimo nono.

IT is thought fit and ordered by this Court, That in the appointment of Appraisers, regard be had to the Honesty and Integrity of the Persons, and their Judgment, Skill and Experience in the Goods to be Appraised; and that no Appraisment shall be made nor accepted of the Goods of any Freeman of this City, deceasing and leaving Orphans, unless Mr. Common-Cryer, or his Deputy, be present at the same Appraisment, according to ancient Usage, and sundry Acts of Common-Council, and Orders of this Court, from time to time made in this behalf. And that Mr. Common-Cryer may the better and more certainly attend this Affair, he is to receive from the Executors therein concern'd, a Day's Notice at least before-hand, of the Time and Place when and where such Appraisment shall be made.
