

Whitehall, July 16, 1695.

This Day came in the Mail from Holland of Friday last, and brings the following Advices.

Published by Authority.

From His Majesty's Camp before Namur, July 21. 1695.

According to the Account given in by the several Regiments of our loss in the Attack on Monday night, we reckon about 300 Men killed, and 400 wounded, most of the latter are sent to Liège, where an Hospital is erected for the King's Forces. In the 5 Battalions of Guards who were the most engaged, we have lost Lieutenant Colonel Robinson, 5 Lieutenants, and 2 Ensigns: Colonel Matthews, and several others are wounded, but most of them are in no danger.

By the best Account we can give of the Enemies loss, Monsieur de Maulevrier and Monsieur de Vitry, two Colonels, who acted as Brigadiers, and the Count de Morstein, with several Persons of Quality, and other Officers of Note, were killed in this Action, and about 1600 private Men killed and wounded.

On Tuesday night Maj. Gen. Heukelm relieved the Trenches: On Wednesday Major General Salish; and this night Major General Ramsay.

Our Batteries are continually playing against the Enemies Detach'd Bastions, between the Brussels and St. Nicholas Port, to which we are making our Approaches: By to-morrow Night we shall have two new Batteries ready, one of 18 Twenty four Pounders on this side the Maese, and another of 15, on the other, to make a Breach in the Town in order to an Assault.

The Earl of Athlone is at Herlemont; and the Prince de Vaudemont continues near Ghent, the Duke of Wirtemberg is with a considerable Detachment at Plassendala, between Bruges and Ostend; and Sir Henry Bellasse, with another Detachment near Newport, the better to cover that place, and to favour Dixmuyde, which Monsieur Montal has actually Besieged. Major General Ellenberg Commands in the Town, where there is a Garison of 8 Battalions of Foot.

Hague, July 22. The last Letters from the Camp before Casal inform us, that the Allies were on the 7th instant Masters of the Glacis, and intended to attack the Counter-scarp the next day. They write from Flanders, that Monsieur Montal besieges Dixmuyde, and that the Garison has opened their Sluces, and laid all the Country under water on one side of the Town. The Centurion, Captain Price Commander, took the 20th instant a French Privateer of 8 Guns, 6 Patereroes, and 50 men, near the Mouth of the Maas.

Paris, July 18. An Expres from the Duke of Vendosme has brought an account, that the Enemy who blockt up Castel Folit, having advice of his match, were retired, and that he hath drawn out the Garison, and ordered the place to be demolished, and that he was going to do the same to Ostalrick.

The Letters from Marseilles of the 10th say, that they had advice, that the Fleet under the Command of Admiral Russel was at the Gulf of Palma in Sardinia.

We hear that the Siege of Casal is at last ended by an Agreement that has been managed by the Venetians. The Place is to be surrendered, after being demolished; and for that purpose there is a Suspension of Arms agreed on for a month.

Francfort, July 17. The French Army has not yet repassed the Rhine as was reported, but lies encamped between Ketch and Philipsburg, where they are very much streightened by Prince Lewis of Baden, who observes them so closely, that it will be very difficult for the Enemy to get over that River, without giving them an opportunity to fall upon them.

Vienna, July 9. The Imperial Army in Hungary is marched nearer to Peter Waradin, and General Capraya will be going thither in a few days. By Letters from Adriano of the 10th past we are told, That the Sultan was gone from thence to his Army, which rendezvoused near Sophia; but that it would be the end of July before he could be at Belgrade; he caused the late Visier to be strangled the 17th of May, and the Caimacan Achmet Bassa the 21 of the same month.

Genova, June 26. The English Men of War with the Soldiers designed for Catalonia, sailed from Final about the 23th instant, being to join Admiral Russel off the Isles of Hieres. The 8 Gallies of Naples parted hence the 22th, taking their course likewise towards the Coast of Provence.

Venice, July 9. The last Letters from the Morea say, the Turks continued encamped near the Isthmus of Corinth, without attempting any thing.
