LETTER

From Abingdon,

To a FRIEND in LONDON.

Abingdon, Thursday, 20th Novemb. 1701.

Honest Tom,

THis Morning Simon Harcourt, Esq; was unanimously chosen Burgess of this Corporation. The Corporation desired him to persevere in the Faith: To enquire after the Promoters or Advisers of the last Dissolution: To follow the Impeachments: To procure that the Treasurers of the Navy and Land-Forces make up their Accounts: To Examine into the Nature, Quantity and Qualities of the Prizes: To bring all Publick Money to Account, and the Offenders to Punishment. Which the said Mr. Harcourt having promised to do, they all cry'd, Long-Live Simon Harcourt, Esq; Burgess of Abingdon. I hope other Electors will follow so good a Precedent, and am,

Yours,

A. B.
