The Arraignment, Tryal and Condemnation of DAVID LINDSEY, late Secretary to the Lord Melfort, for High Treason, at the Queen's-Bench-Bar at Westminster, before the Right Honourable the Lord Chief Justice Holt, the Lord Chief Justice Trevor, &c.

N Thursday, the 20th of this Instant April, Mr. David Lindsey was brought by the Keeper of the Gate-house, to the Queen's Bench Bar, and Arraign'd before the Lord Chief Justice Trever, &c. for being in France, and coming over into England, without Licence from under the privy Seal, contrary to an Act of Parliament made after the Peace of Respirate. To which Indictment he pleaded Not Guilty, and then made a short Speech to this Effect. That he should, upon his Tryal, consess most of what was charged upon him in the Indictment, viz his being in France, and returning into England, but he said there was something singular in his Case, and therefore desired he might have Council affign'd him, viz. Mr. Williams, and Mr. Raymond, which the Court accordingly granted him. Then he pray'd that his Wise and Children might have liberty to come to him in the Prison, which the Court allow'd, as is usual in such Cases, in the presence of the Keeper. And then the Court adjourn'd to Manday April the 24th, and the Prisoner had a Copy the next Day of his Panuel fent to him by Mr. Barrer, the Queen's Sollicitor.

On Munday the 24th instant, the Court met, according to the said Adjournment, where were present the Lord Chief Justice Holt, the Lord Chief Justice Trevor, and others of the Judges. And the Jury being called, and sworn, (without any Exception of the Prisoner) the Indictment was read to him, and most of the Facts being confest by him, he desired to be heard by his Council, alledging, That he was a Native of Scotland, and as such, was pardoned by the Queen's gracious Proclamation of Indemnity in Scotland; and accordingly his Council proceeded to make his Desence. And after some Debate, he call'd some Witnesses to prove that he was born in Scotland, one of which testisted, That when he was a Child, he knew him and his Father at Dundee in Scotland: And others, That they had known him for twenty Years in England, and that he was reputed a Scotch-man. Then his Council, in his behalf, urged several Points of Law, and having been patiently heard by the Court, the Queen's Council learnedly answered them, to the satisfaction of the Court. After which, the Right Honourable, the Lord Chief Justice Holt, having sully stated the Case, and summ'd up the Arguments as well for the Prisoner, as the Queen, lest it to the Jury, who withdrawing for about half an Hour, return'd and brought the Prisoner in Guilty, and then adjourn'd to Five a clock.

At Five of the clock the Court met, and the Prisoner being askt why Judgment should not be pronounced against him according to Law, he again defired to be heard by his Council, who, in arrest of Judgment, insisted upon the Insufficiency of the Indictment, which being learnedly answer'd by the Queen's Council, and fully confield by the Court, and over-ruled Sentence of Death, as in Cases of High Treason, was past upon him. And then the Prisoner pray'd the Court to intercede with the Queen for him. After which, he desired he might have a Minister of the Church of Desamb permitted to come to him, and his Wife and Children, which was accordingly granted.

The Tryal of David Lindsey at large, with all the learned Arguments on both Sides thereupon, will be published very speedily, and sold by Isaac Cleve in Chancery-lane.

London Printed, and Sold by J. Nutt, near Stationer's-Hall. 1704.

