

The Lord Yarmouth's Letter, Lieutenant of the County of Norfolk, to Dr. Hyldeyard, which was sent throughout the said County. 59

SIR,

I Understand that there is great Interest making for setting up of Persons for Knights of the Shire, without acquainting me therewith, which I think ought not to be done without my knowledge, bearing that Office I do under His Majesty in this County. Sir Christopher Calthrope, and Sir Nevil Cateline, being Persons of undoubted Loyalty and Worth, and having declared their intentions to stand for this County, I have engaged my Interest to promote their Elections, which I question not, will be carried with great odds, against those who shall set up themselves without my concurrence; and I shall vigorously oppose their designs, to their dis-repute: I doubt not of such as shall appear on their behalfs. You may acquaint any of your or my Friends, how ill I resent such proceedings, and that I will have it known what Office I bear. I am

Your affectionate Friend and Servant,

Oxnead the 3^d of Yarmouth.

There was likewise another Letter written by the Bishop of Norwich to Dr. Hyldeyard, which was also published with the Lord Yarmouth's Letter, with this following Letter of Dr. Hyldeyards annexed to them.

Reverend Brethren,

I Know no way better to communicate the subscribed Letters, then by transmitting the Copies of them from one to another; which I desire may be done carefully and speedily, that their Authors may see a good effect of them, and of their care for us, and for the Church and the Kingdom, so far as the Interest of this County reaches, I am

Affectionarely yours to serve you,

Cawston the 3^d of Febr. 167^a.

John Hyldeyard.

To the Minister of Hevingham, Marsham, Blickling, Oulton, and all others within this Diocess, to whom these presents shall come, with care and speed.
