William Tillard.

One of the late Directors of the South-Sea-
Company.

WILLIAM TILLARD was confin'd to his House for three Months, from the 23^d of March 1719, to the 22^d of June following, by a dangerous Sickness: During which Time,

The Three first Money Subscriptions were order'd and taken in, and the Three Resolutions of the Court of Directors, the 21st of April, the 20th of May, and the 9th of June 1720, for lending out the Company's Money, was agreed upon.

The Difference on advanc'd Price on the Company's Stock, he knows nothing of to this Day, but from the Votes of the Honourable House of Commons.

The Fourth Money Subscription was order'd and compleated while he was in the Country, for the Recovery of his Health.

He has received no Advantage by the Deficiency on the Third and Fourth Money Subscriptions, nor ever heard of any such Deficiency, till the Order from the Honourable House of Commons in December last, to give an Account of the same.

The said William Tillard, or any one in Trust for him, has not sold any Stock since the 21st of March 1719, nor ever sold any Subscription; and is a Loser about Six Thousand Pounds by his Money Subscriptions only, as appears by his Inventory deliver'd in to Parliament.
