An Epitaph Inscrīb'd on the Tomb of Marg^t Scot who died in the Town of Dalkeith
Feb: 9th 1738.

Stop passenger, untill my life you've read;
The living may get knowledge from the dead.
Five times five years I liv'd a virgin life;
Ten times five years I was a virtuous wife.
Ten times five years I liv'd a Widow chaste.
Now tired of this mortal life, I rest.
I from my cradle, to my grave, have seen,
Eight mighty Kings of Scotland and a Queen.
Four times five years the Common wealth I saw;
Ten times the Subjects rose against the law.
Twice did I see old prelacy pull'd down;
And twice the Cloak was humbled by y^e gown.
An end of Stewart's Race, I saw: yea, more!
I saw my country sold for English ore.
Such desolations in my time have been,
I have an end of all perfection seen.

To meet the soul to captivate the ear
 (Angels his melody might deign to hear)
 To anticipate on earth the joys of heaven
 Was Handell's task; to him the power was given
 (Oh! when he late attund Messias praise
 With Sounds Celestial wth Melodious lays
 A last farewell his languid looks express
 And thus methinks th'enraptur'd Crowd adress
 " Adieu my dearest friends! and also you
 " Joint Sons of sacred Harmony Adieu
 " A whispering Angel prompts me to retire,
 " Bids me ~~depart~~ to meet the Immortal Choir
 " O for the glorious change Great Handell cry'd

Handwritten text at the top of the page, possibly a title or header, written in a cursive script. The text is partially obscured by a tear in the paper.

Main body of handwritten text in a cursive script, arranged in approximately 15 lines. The text is written on aged, yellowed paper with a significant horizontal tear near the top. The script is dense and characteristic of early modern European handwriting.

Handwritten text at the bottom of the page, likely a signature or a concluding note, centered below the main body of text.
