A Loich mhoir mhiltean nach meal
Gu 'm faic mise bron air t'innlin.

Dh'innsinn' aobhar mo bhroin fein
A Phadric, nam b'aill leatsa eisd;
Mi cuimhneachadh air Sionn nam Fiann
Bhi air an tulaich so dh'aon rian:
Air an Tulaich so, bha sinn ar aon Ille Phadric naomh, nam breithe saor, Chunnaic mise uair Seaghlach Finn,
'S iad gu mear mor meamnach eibhinn.

Air an tulaich so bha'n Fhiann.
'S bha sinn uil' ann a dh'aon rian Chunnaic sinn Bean ann sa mhadh,
'Si leabd thugainn' na h aonar,
'N ainnir ur a b'aillidh cruadh
Bu ghile, is bu dearg gruaidh:
Bu ghile no gath-greine,
A Bragaic, thuas fui caomh leine
Bha da rosg 'aulinn na ceann
Bha trusgan aluinn ma timchioll

Bha dùmhna dò'n ōr mu bhraghad
Bha slabhruidh oir s'a caoin araich
S' bha leine dò'n t'sròl ab' uireadh

Cuist gach aon fhir do thaghadh Fhinn, San uair sin thugadh dò'n Inghin.

Chuir iad comraich air Fionn,
N' Oibhinn, ói gu bas gheal binn
Chuir i comraich air Goll
S' b'e sud laoch aluinn nan sonn
Air dearmad Oisain fhéill,
Fair Chaol Chrotha mac Ghruadhain

Dh'éirich Fionn fein 'na comhair

This is but a fragment of it, but the Sentiment is so just & impressive, that if the rest could be procured at a highland Society meeting or otherwise, it should be worth remaining on record with them, as a specimen of the Native Ideas of a Common Highlander unmixed with any glos of Art or Education

Bha mi 'n Eaglais Dunchaidh
" 'S chunaic mi clach Alastair mhoir
" Air a gearra as a charaig
" Am an Druimcharia mhoir
" Or bu mhac e do Righ Raibeart
" Bhann an Laistead ghart as oig,
" Tha chlach fein an diugh ga innse
" Do gach linnadh thig na deoir
" Tha lambhan tarsin air a bhroilach
" Luireach mhaileach 's clogad cruaidh
" Tha Dhaoine uaisle sligh na thaic
" Ann 's gach baitsal a thug buaidh,
" Chuir iad Scribhte sios le laidin,
" 'S tha e air a chloich mu 'n cuairt,
" Gu bheil mac an Righ na chadal,
" A Dunchaidinn gu le lanin."

Which may be rendered into English thus:—
I was in the church of Dunkeld
Where I saw the Stone (or monument)
Cut out of the quarry (or rock) (of great size
That is situated in great Dinncharay
Because he was a son of King Robert

Who was in the battle of Garth in the south
The Stone (or Monument) shall this day tell
To every Generation that will approach it
His hand are across upon his bosom
He is habited in a coat of mail and a casque-
The Gentlemen of his suite are in close to him (hardened) helmet
Who in every battle triumphed
They wrote down in latin
And it is inscribed on the Stone round
That the King's Son is asleep (about
In Dunkeld until the resurrection (day

This translation being literal it of course is not only stiff but altogether loses the force which it has in the original Gaelic verifying what Pope says that in Everything

O 's mise tha branach Ged tha ceol ann am bheul
dol dhimseadh mo chomhradh tha gach lo dol an leud
ann am frithe shi-chalinn bha na gallain bha trein se Fear ghart a thug ann iad
se bu ceann air an fheisd

2 Nuair a chruinnich na huaislin
Robert ma n'cuairt da gu leir chaidh na mial choin a fhuasgladh bhaig an tuath ceathairn air eil bha gach damh ann sa bhùrc is gach itlich leis fein
'S ged cha neilid gu dùlan fhuair sinn cuntas sna bein

3 Bha gach fear mar bu luatha
a dol suas ris a bhein collich dhuth agus ruatha
ma n'cuairt doibh a leum gheobhte earb agus ruath bhoc
ann s'gach cluain feadh nan geug
'S gum be aithair dhaoin uaisle
bhi ma n'cuairt doibh gu leir

4 Bha n'la sin soilleir
