PREFACE.

For the opportunity of presenting this little reference work for public appreciation, I have to thank the proprietors of FOOTBALL CHAT. To know who's who in the football world is interesting to most enthusiasts of the pastime, and I have endeavoured to tell, briefly but clearly, who the men are that govern and play Association football, and also to record something about those who arrange for the playing of the games. The compilation has been done somewhat hurriedly, and though containing the names, addresses, and other brief particulars of more Association football men than any football publication issued, does not fully realise the anticipations I formed when obtaining the material for the various sections. The modesty of many "lights" of the football world is probably responsible for the omission of a number of biographies. In some instances information was declined with the explanation, "not famous in football." In a few cases (almost too few to be worthy of mention, I am pleased to say) payment was requested for the information. Biographical items of special value will be found on many pages of the volume, and with the assistance of my many friends in the football world, I will endeavour to considerably add to the number in the 1904 edition, to be published during September, 1903. I have striven, in the brief time at my disposal, to compile football facts, and I think it will be found that no other football publication ever contained more facts and figures relating to football men. Sincere thanks are tendered to the many famous officials and players who sent me information so readily. I hope they will find I have faithfully recorded from their material. The football enthusiasts who are often anxious to "throw bricks" at referees for their ignorance of football laws and customs, will, I fancy, be surprised if they read the pedigrees of the referees, for there they will find that the majority of the officials have not only been players, but in most instances been players of class club teams. It was my intention to illustrate the book with many portraits of football men, but I regret space only admits of a few of the many kindly lent me. In several instances great trouble was taken to supply portraits, and I am sorry it was impossible to extend the number of pages to allow of their presentation

Mr. Hughes was elected F.A. vice-president in succession of the late Dr. E. S. Morley, of Blackburn, who was elected a vice-president in 1885, and held the position until his death in 1902.

SHERRINGTON, G. S. (Suffolk F.A.), 31, Bedford Row, London, W.C. Commenced football at Ipswich School, and later on was captain of Ipswich Town Club. During residence at Cambridge was one of the most prominent forwards playing "soccer," and missed his "blue" through an accident that kept him out of football for some time. After his Varsity days became attached to Brentwood and the Crusaders, also representing London F.A. and Suffolk County. Retired from playing in 1890. Linesman in many important games, including Internationals. Chairman of the Amateur Cup Committee, and a most energetic worker in connection with F.A. Commissions and general work of the F.A.

WOOLFALL, D. B. Formerly connected with Blackburn Rovers, now vice-president of Lancashire Association. Succeeded the late Mr. C. E. Hart (Clapton) as treasurer of Football Association in 1901. Previous to becoming hon. treasurer was F.A. divisional representative of the Lancashire Association. Though little in touch with practical football, Mr. Woolfall has rendered immense service to the game by his labours in connection with its finance. By profession the F.A. treasurer is Clerk to the Commissioners of Income Tax for East Lancashire.

The Referees' Association, which did so much to bring about the recognition of referees by associations, and ultimately led to the formation of Association Referees' Committees, and compulsory registration of all referees, was largely assisted at its birth by Mr. Wall, who was also first president. The Society of Referees (London), established 1902, elected Mr. Wall its first president.

- ROBERTS, M. T. (Derbyshire F.A.), Baseball Hotel, Derby. Hon. secretary Derbyshire F.A. for many years. An old player, umpire, referee, and linesman. Has done immense service for Derbyshire football, and is known in every corner of the county.
- RADFORD, H. S. (Notts Divisional representative), Brougham Chambers, Wheeler Gate, Nottingham. With Nottingham Forest Mr. Radford first got in touch with football, and for many years he gave immense service to this club. During the term of his hon. secretary office with the Forest, he was elected an auditor to the Football League, and in 1898 became a member of the League Management Committee. In addition to the great service given to the Forest F.C., Mr. Radford has, for many years, been a consistent worker for the Nottinghamshire F.A., and all other football bodies in the lace city.
- WHITTAKER, N. (Southampton Divisional representative), Born at Oswaldtwistle (Accrington), Lancashire. Clubs connected with: Church and London Hotspur. Hon. secretary of the Southern League since formation.
- WILSON, W. J. (Surrey F.A.). Born at Brighton. Clubs connected with: Hotspur, Grosvenor, St. John's College. Appointment as hon. secretary Surrey County F.A. commenced March 1897. In addition to the arduous position Mr. Wilson holds in connection with the Surrey County F.A., he devotes a great amount of his leisure hours to refereeing and linesman duties. For four seasons Mr. Wilson was chairman, and eight seasons hon. secretary of the South London Schools F.A., founded in 1885, when Mr. Wilson first took office.
- WHEELER, REV. W. N. CAMPBELL (Wiltshire F.A.). Mr. Wheeler was educated at Rossall School, where he stayed till 1875 under the Rev. Robert Henniker and Rev.

H. A. James, the present Headmaster of Rugby, he then gained an exhibition at King's College, Cambridge. From his earliest years, Mr. Wheeler has not only been "on the ball," but has been an all round man. At Rossall, he played in the eleven (1875) and in the Hockey Eleven (1874). At King's he was in the college cricket and football teams, and steered the college boat. He took his degree in 1879, and was ordained deacon on May 23, 1880, by Bishop Moberley at Salisbury Cathedral, being licensed to the Curacy of the Parish Church, Bradford-on-Avon, he was ordained Priest on June 12, 1881, by Bishop Moberley, at Salisbury. He remained at the Parish Church until the death of the late Canon Jones in 1885. After being left in charge of the parish until the appointment of the new Vicar, the Rev. S. G. Collisson, Mr. Wheeler went to Christ Church, Bradford-on-Avon, where he has remained. As in the pulpit and the parish so in the football field, Mr. Wheeler has always worked hard and dealt squarely, and the Wiltshire F.A. has made such progress under his guidance that the balance in hand has increased from £21 14s. 6d in 1900 (when Mr. Wheeler took up the hon. secretaryship) to £78 7s. 3d in 1903.

SIDNEY, T. H. (Staffordshire Divisional representative), Telford Place, Wolverhampton. Though only elected member of Football Association Council in 1903, Mr. Sidney has for many years been connected with football and several of its leading organisations. The Football League Management Committee has long had his assistance, also the Staffordshire and Birmingham and District Associations, but it is in connection with the Wolverhampton Club where Mr. Sidney perhaps does his greatest work for football. In 1893, when Wolverhampton succeeded in winning the Cup with a team consisting entirely of Englishmen, Mr. Sidney probably derived his greatest pleasure from the game; but any good exhibition of real football gives him intense pleasure, for it is a thorough appreciation of the pastime that causes him to devote so much of his time and money to its government and management. Writing of Mr. Sidney in 1899, a special contributor to FOOTBALL CHAT said:—"Mr. Sidney is one of Nature's gentlemen. Of kindly disposition, entirely devoid of fulsome flattery, possessed of goodness of heart and thorough conscientiousness, he has won the praise of men wherever he goes as a peacemaker. Honest, upright, and transparent as the day, he is destined to special honour. He approaches football from the purest of motives (the love of it), and has become persona grata in football circles."

SCRAGG, A. (Cheshire Association), 249, Walthall Street, Crewe. (See Class I. Referees.)

SIMMONS, G. WAGSTAFFE (Hertfordshire Association),

"Standard" Office, St. Albans. Born at St. Albans. Formerly hon. secretary St. Albans Town F.C., Hertford, and various other clubs. Appointment as hon. secretary Herts Association commenced August, 1901; hon. secretary Herts F.A. Referees' Committee, match secretary, Herts League secretary. Writing of Mr. Simmonds in November, 1902, the "Football Sun" (London) said:—"Hertfordshire finds in Mr. Simmons an ideal secretary. All his work is done without fee or reward, and no county could have its business transacted in a more businesslike way. With over a hundred clubs to look after it may be imagined that his correspondence is heavy, but in addition to the ordinary duties of the office he is likewise secretary of the Referees' Committee, manages the various Cup and League competitions, and is responsible for all the arrangements for inter-county matches. As an instance of the smartness with which his work is done, we may mention that on the day following a council meeting of his Association a printed report of the proceedings is always sent to every club and newspaper in the county, and some of these reports contain matter equal to two or three newspaper columns. He is general adviser to the Herts referees and clubs, all of them having in him a genuine friend. He is not a man with one idea. His tastes are cosmopolitan, as might be expected from a newspaper editor, and his colleagues in the profession have shown their opinion of his abilities by electing him a Fellow of the Institute of Journalists. The citizens of St. Albans evidently appreciate him, for he is senior elective auditor, and other honours might be his if he cared to accept the responsibilities which they bring. He founded, and is still hon. secretary of the St. Albans Chamber of Commerce, president of the St. Albans Short-hand Writers' Association, trustee of a local lodge of Odd-fellows, and vice-president of the St. Albans Debating Society. . . . Cricket finds in Mr. Simmons an enthusiastic follower. On numerous occasions he has played for the Gentlemen of Herts, and his place in the Herts Club and Ground team is assured whenever he finds it possible to play. He is a member of the Herts County C.C., and a member of its ground committee. His batting average for the club which during the 1902 season won the championship of the St. Albans and District League was a fraction under 40 per innings. . . . Mr. Simmons is a man of boundless energy and conspicuous ability. He is a lover of sport for sport's sake, and in proof of this it need only be stated that every office he fills in connection with sport is work undertaken as a labour of love. The more there are of such men the better for our national pastimes."

SQUIRES, CHAS. (London F.A.), "Iddesleigh," 72, Queen's Road, Leytonstone. Born at Bow, London, E.,

September 19, 1866. Connected with the London Football Association as follows: Councillor 1887, vice-president 1896, hon. secretary 1897, hon. treasurer 1902; Football Association: Councillor and on Consultative Committee since 1897; president of both Leytonstone Football Club and Metropolitan Amateur League; vice-president London Schools Football Association; active player of both Queen's Lawn Tennis Club and Leytonstone Hockey Club. Been captain of former for about seven years. Member of London Football Charity Committee and several appeals committees. Mr. Squires was a player for many years, doing good service for Old St. Paul's, a London club. He was not only a player but hon. sec., and generally ran three teams, sometimes four, and never had an assistant. With Old St. Paul's he played in the London Senior Cup and other leading competitions, and when he failed to retain the form required for the first team turned out for the reserves and played in the London Junior Cup-ties. After a period as centre-forward with the juniors, he commenced to referee, and for some seasons was busily engaged in Southern competitions of every description. He has experienced the usual penalty of a great referee—mobbing; the Chatham enthusiasts being responsible for this some years back after a Cup game with the Casuals. Other honours of field work have been two linesmen appointments in the Amateur Cup Final and two in the Blue Riband Final. The East End and Middlesex Associations had some experience of his energy as a councillor, being attached to the latter from 1887 to the present time, and with the former from 1897 to date. He has attended more London Association meetings than any other member of the Council, and has seen it grow from sixty to over 800 clubs. The immense character of the work of the L.F.A. is seen best by a reference to the official handbook, which is the greatest work on earth connected with any Football Association, containing every possible tittle of information concerning the management and work of the L.F.A. During 1902 Mr. Squires was presented by L.F.A. workers and friends with the most valuable testimonial ever given to an official of an Association, but richly merited.

LEWIS, J., Old Grammar School, Blackburn. Born at Blackburn. Played for Blackburn Rovers, which he assisted to form in 1874, with a companion. In 1880 the "Football Annual" described Mr. Lewis as follows: "Strong forward; has been rather unfortunate, getting lamed on several occasions; been of good service to his club. What Mr. Lewis was to his club, so was he to the game in general, good service being rendered in many directions. For nearly a quarter of a century Mr. Lewis assisted the Rovers in various ways, and during the time he was playing represented Lancashire against London. After breaking down, through an accident on the ice, commenced refereeing, and has refereed in all classes of football, from Sunday-school teams to the highest honours in the game—F.A. Cup Finals. The latter has been conducted on three occasions by Mr. Lewis, and, in addition to these great annual contests, the Football League have for some seasons generally selected Mr. Lewis to take charge of games where there has been a lot at stake, or local rivalry has run somewhat keenly. Though sometimes styled 'the autocrat of the football field,' and 'the Penalty King,' John Lewis is the best-liked official that ever blew a whistle on a football field. Many men have attempted to imitate him, but some have found that players will not let all men be John Lewises, and for the very good reason that it requires men of exceptional strategic brilliance to gain the power as a great leader of men; and of the few (very few, indeed) who have gained it thoroughly over the rank and file of professional football is John Lewis, the old Blackburn Rover. John Lewis climbed to his position slowly yet surely. For a time he was out of Football League games, but there was never the slightest reason for his withdrawal because of his election to the League committee, and clubs generally were pleased at the abolition of the rule that prohibited M.C. officials from referee work."

Sheffield United had their eye on Spouncer, and signed him on as a League player; but when the Trinity left the Midland League for the Second League, the Sheffield United gave Spouncer a free transfer to his old club. There was, however, an evident intention on the part of the United to secure Spouncer, and in view of what the Gainsborough committee considered to be danger, the leading official of the Trinity F.C. offered liberal terms to Spouncer to continue with them.
