

A New Song

Called Advice to the

Sons o f Liberty

HO.W Great and how glorious great Beckford appears

Who's a Member for London the third seven years
To Magna Charta he's staudch to the City so just Imparual, Intrepid, and true to his trust.

But few that's amongst us with him can compare
Ac's the Liveryman's glory and twibe their Lord
Mayor,

In Annals of Fame after ages may read,
Great Beckford fulfill'd what he promis'd indeed.

With him we have Hero's of Sheriffs so bold, Brave Sawbridge and Townshend who're not to be fold,

Their dnty to the City, and Country likewise,
They perform and the frown of your foes do despise

Amongst those brave worthies great Wilkes soon will fit,

In the courts of Guild-hall while his enemies fret
But the lovers of freedom will rejoice on the day,
That Wilkes in a prison no longer shall stay.

Now this tye caution I shall recommend

It is the advsce and the wish of a Friend

Keep from Riot and Temelts which is not the thir
Left the day wilkes comes out some may chauce to get

Depend on't there'll many be out on the Watch
Your AEtions observe, to see who they may catch,
So break not the peace. nor the windows I Prap
But like men lets rejoice and be wile on the day

Here's a toast on the day let us drink it so free, Health to liberty's sons. wheresoever they be,
May their ancestors blood in their Veins purely r
And thier freedom defend as ther fathers have d
