PREFACE.

THE demand for a third edition of "How to Read Gaelic" has afforded the Authors an opportunity of making a few alterations on the earlier editions. The Title has been altered at the suggestion of some who considered that the work was well adapted for a somewhat wider purpose than that of a mere collection of Reading Lessons. The various sections of the work have also been arranged in a more natural and convenient order for practical use. Beyond this the book is substantially a reproduction of the former editions.

The specific pieces ("Coire-na-Sithe," and "Finlay's Letter to his Wife") provided to meet the requirements of the first stage of the Gaelic Scheme adapted to the Code by Mr Robertson, H.M.I.S., have been retained, notwithstanding the changes recently introduced by the Education Department. These pieces, and indeed the whole work, are still suitable for the first year or more of Pupil Teachers' work, the P.T.'s being still liable to examination under the Code, and retaining the benefit of taking Gaelic at the King's Scholarship examination.

Of the two lessons—Càilum Seòladair and An Mac Stròdhail—which are given with an interlinear literal English rendering, it may be remarked that they contain a variety of practicable and convenient phrases and idioms; the possession of which by the pupil will form an important basis upon which to build his acquisitions in Gaelic Grammar.

HOW TO LEARN GAELIC.

OUTLINES OF GAELIC GRAMMAR.

ORTHOGRAPHY AND PHONETICS.

The letters of the Gaelic Alphabet are only eighteen in number—five Vowels and thirteen Consonants—but by means of certain vowel and consonant groupings and modifications a scheme of symbols is obtained which, though it appears somewhat complex to the eye, is at once simple, effective, and quite sufficient for all the orthographieal requirements of the language.

THE VOWELS.

- (1) Broad—a, o, u : (2) Slender—e, i.

THE CONSONANTS.

MUTABLE.

- (3) Plain— g, c; d, t; l, n, r, s.
(4) Aspirated—gh, ch ; dh, th ; (lh), (nh), (rh), sh.

IMMUTABLE.

- (5) Plain— b, p; f, h, m.
(6) Aspirated—bh, ph ; fh, —, mh.
(7) With aspirated l, n, r, the sign of aspiration, h, is not used in spelling.

In the following pages the word ‘final’ applies to syllables as well as words.

VOWEL SOUNDS.

Gaelic Sounds.	English equivalents.	Represented in Gaelic by	Gaelic Examples.
(8) Long a	'far'	à, ài, eà, eài	càs, sàil, ceàrr, ceàird
(9) Short a (ă)	'sofa'	a, ai, ea, eai	car, fail, geàl, ceàirsle
(10) Long o	'lord'	ò, òi, eò, eóí	corr, òir, ceòl, leòir
(11) Short o (ö)	'lot'	o, oi, eo, eoi	cor, toil, deoch, geoic
(12) Long o	'hoe'*	ó, ói, eó, eóí	có, còig, leóghann, deóir
(13) Short o	'canto'	o, oi, (eo), (eoi)	teg, fois, (?), (?)
(14) Long u	'pull'	ù, üi, iù, iùi	cù, cùil, ciùrr, ciùil
(15) Short u	'put'	u, ui, iu, iui	cur, cuim, fluech, tiuighe
(16) Long e	'where'	è, èa, eì, èu	sé, dèan, sèimh, sgèul
(17) Short e (ë)	'whet'	e, ea, ei	le, gean, crein
(18) Long e	'whey'	é, éi, eu	glé, céir, teud
(19) Short e (noun)	'sur'vey'	(e), ea, ei	(?), fead, geir
(20) Long i	'machine'	i, io	mìr, sioda
(21) Short i	'piano'	i, io, ai	gin, erios, togaidh

(22) The vowel digraph ao is really one single vowel. It is always long, and resembles œu in the French word 'œœur,' or the u in the English word 'curl.'

(23) The short sound of ao is represented by a and e final and unaccented—(cionta, còrsa, feòla, àite, nile); a (ea) short before dh, gh, and unaccented ch—(òladh, seadh, lagh, leagh, òglach, buileach); a in the article in all its forms—(a', am, an, na, nan); and in most of the particles—(mar, an, am, ag (a'), &c.); ai and oi, short, before the liquids l, n, r; i in the verb 'is,' in the conjunction 'is,' in the word 'tigh'; and o short before gh.

(24) In the diminutive suffixes -ag (-eag) and -an, a has its short open sound ă (9)—(cùlăg, caileăg, caolăn).

VOWEL DIGRAPHS AND TRIGRAPHS.

(25) The only proper and constant diphthongs in Gaelic are ia and ua, in which both letters are always distinctly sounded—(grian, uan).

(26) In the other vowel combinations, when flanked by mutable consonants, only one of the vowels is sounded, the others merely indicating or regulating the quality, broad or slender, of the contiguous consonants—(gràidh, laigh, ceàird, toil, leòir, geòic, còig, cois, cùis, euir, ciuil, dèan, gean, sèimh, céir, geir, sgéul, teud, sioda, fios, òlaidh, &c.).

* The required sound is more purely met with in the French word 'beau' (bô).

(27) The vowels e and i in an initial or final position—(eòlas, iolach, mnaoi, naoi), or in contact with b, bh, f, fh, m, mh, p, ph, sh, th, in the same syllable, are sounded in vowel digraphs and trigraphs in which they should otherwise be silent—(beò, fheòil, feart, caibe, fuaim, peann, enaip, &c.).

(28) ai in the prepositions ‘aig’ (‘at’) and ‘air’ (‘on’ or ‘after’), is, in most dialects, sounded like ai in the word ‘mountain.’

(29) Vowels are nasal when in contact with m, mh, or n.

(30) Long a and long o before ll and nn are sounded au and ou in most dialects—(call (caull), toll (toull), &c.).

CONSONANT SOUNDS.

(31) The Consonants, except the lip-letters, b, f, m, p, are mutable, having a broad or a slender quality according as they are in contact with broad or slender vowels.

(32) With the exception of the liquids (l, n, r), the hiss (s), and the nasals (m, n), the Consonants in Gaelic are voiceless, and represent organ-positions rather than articulate sounds. The murmur of the nasals, however, passes into a succeeding consonant—(am bàta, an eu, an duine).

Examples.

- | | |
|--|---|
| (33) b = English p . | barr, abair, cabar. |
| (34) bh = English v . When final it is often sounded like English w , or is altogether silent. | bhà, gabh, dubh, gheabh, treabh, leabhar. |
| (35) c broad (that is, in contact with a , o , u ,) = English c hard. (Final c , see 70). | eas, còrr, cù. |
| (36) c slender (that is, in contact with e , i ,) = outer English c hard, like k in ‘king’ (k’ing). (Final c , see 70). | cir, ceum. |
| (37) ch broad , = ch in Scotch ‘loch’ or German ‘nach.’ | chum, luch, mach. |
| (38) ch slender , = ch in German ‘ich.’ | chì, teich. |
| (39) d broad , = English t , pronounced with the point of the tongue well down against the front lower gum. (d in chd , see 71). | dàn, gad. |

Examples.

- (40) d slender, = palatalised English t, as in ‘tune.’ The position of the tongue is as for d broad. (d in chd, see 71).
- (41) dh broad, = gh broad (47).
- (42) dh slender, = gh slender (48).
- (43) f = English f.
- (44) fh is silent, except in ‘fathast,’ ‘fhein,’ ‘fhuair,’ in which the f alone is silent.
- (45) g broad, = English c hard.
- (46) g slender, = outer English c hard.
- (47) gh broad, = gutturalised g, resembling a burr, or g in the German word ‘tage.’ When final it is often but faintly heard.
- (48) gh slender, = y in the English word ‘yes.’
- (49) h = English h.
- (50) l initial, unaspirated, and ll final, broad, = l sounded with the point of the tongue well down against the front lower gum.
- (51) l initial, unaspirated, and ll final, slender, = Italian gl. It resembles ll in the English word ‘million.’
- (52) l aspirated (lh) broad, (back l), resembles l in the English word ‘hull.’
- (53) l aspirated (lh) slender, (front l), resembles l in the English word ‘bill.’
- (54) m = English m.
- (55) mh = English v. When final it is often silent or resembles English w.
- (56) n initial, unaspirated, and nn final, broad, = n sounded with the point of the tongue well down against the front lower gum.
- (57) n initial, unaspirated, and nn final, slender, = French gn. Resembles n in the English word ‘vineyard.’
- dion, bid, diuid.
- fàs, ful.
- dh' fhill, dh' fhan.
- gab, mag.
- gin, smig.
- agh, lhà.
- righ, dhé.
- a h-uán, na h-eich.
- là, null.
- leáun, cill.
- mo lámh, càl.
- mo leanabh, mil.
- àm, mór.
- damh, mhol, domh.
- nàdur, lunn.
- nead, cinn.

Examples

- (58) n aspirated (nh) broad, (back n), = n
in the English word 'nuu.'
- (59) n aspirated (nh) slender, (front n), = n in the English word 'ninny.'
- (60) p = English p. (Final p, see 70).
- (61) ph = English f.
- (62) r broad, (back r), = in the English word 'run.' It is always trilled.
- (63) r slender, (front r), = front English r.
It is always trilled.
- (64) s broad, = s in the English word 'so.'
It is silent after t. In the Gaelic words 'so' ('here') and 'sud'
(‘yonder’), it has the sound of s in 'sugar.'
- (65) s slender, = s in the English word
'sugar.' It is silent after t.
- (66) sh = English h.
- (67) t broad, = t sounded with the point of the tongue well down against the front lower gum. Final t, see 70)
- (68) t slender, = palatalised t. Resembles English tch, or tj, voiceless, or t in the English word 'tune.' The position of the tongue is as with t broad. (Final t, see 70).
- (69) th = English h. It is silent in the word 'thù' ('thou').
- (70) c, p, t, are explodent. c final, and p and t after short vowels, take the explosion, or breathing before them, in most dialects.
- (71) chd = che.
- (72) n after initial c, g, and m, is commonly sounded r—(enoc, gnùis, mnaoi).
- mo nàire, dàn.
- mo nighean, min.
- pòg, piòs.
- phòs, phinn.
- rùn, mór.
- rithist, cir.
- eas, sàr.
- càise, sìn, cìs.
- sheas, shàr.
- tonn, tàl, tog.
- teann, till, àite.
- thà, sàth, thog.
- mac = mahc ; ap =
ahp ; cat = caht.
luchd = luche ; ochd
= oche.

ACCENT.

(73) All simple Gaelic words are accented on the first syllable.

(74) Where the accented term in compound words is not the first syllable, a hyphen is placed before it—(cas-chrom, baile-margaidh, bean-bainnse).

HOW TO SPELL GAELIC WORDS.

In the following table the thick and thin upright lines represent broad and slender consonants respectively. Between them are placed the vowels required to produce the simple sounds indicated in the left margin. When the pupil learns to distinguish the broad or slender quality of the consonants in any word he has no difficulty in supplying from the table the required vowel symbols for completing the word. For example, take the word ‘tòiseachaidh.’ The ear detects broad t, slender s, broad ch, and slender dh; thus—

Consonants - - -	t	s	ch	dh	} tòiseachaidh.
Vowels (as per table)	òi	ea	ai

(The silent convoy-vowels are put in italics.)

Long à	à	ài	eài	eà
Short a	a	ai	eai	ea
Long ò	ò	òi	eòi	eò
Long ó	ó	ói	eói	eó
Short o	o	oi	eoi	eo
Long ù	ù	ùi	iùi	iù
Short u	u	ui	iui	iñ
Long è			èi	èa (èu)*
Long é			éi	eu
Short e			ei	ea
Long ì			ì	io
Short i		ai	i	io
Long ao	ao	aoi
Short ao	a	ai		ea
ia			iai	ia
ua	ua	uai

* The digraph eu is frequently used to represent grave è (as in ‘breug’), but ea is generally preferable—(brèag, dèar, lèas, &c.)

ACCIDENCE.

THE NOUN.

DECLENSION.

The noun has four cases—Nominative, Genitive, Dative, and Vocative. The Accusative is of the same form as the Nominative.

There are two numbers—Singular and Plural, but remains of a Two or Dual number exist with dà, which in the nom. takes a form agreeing with the dat. sing.; as dà fhear, two men; dà chirc, two hens, from fear and cearc, respectively.

The Gender of a noun is known only from the influence upon it of the Article preceding it, or from its own influence on the Adjective following. Feminine nouns are initially aspirated, if possible, by the Article, and themselves aspirate the initial consonant, if it exists, of Adjectives and other words in close contact following. This process is reversed in the gen., masculine nouns showing initial aspiration and aspirating the succeeding word, while the feminine gen. makes no other change than its own gen. inflection. There is no distinction of gender in the plural.

As to Declension, nouns are firstly classified according as they form their plural, which should end in a consonant. Nouns having i in the plural, either singly or in digraph form, before the final consonant or consonants, belong to the Strong Declension; nouns adding final n, broad, for the plural belong to the Weak Declension or to the Mixed Declension. The Weak Declension shows no inflection for cases either in the singular or in the plural.

I.—STRONG DECLENSION.

The root vowel or digraph in monosyllables, or in polysyllables the final vowel or digraph, is broad; the gen. and voc. sing. and nom. pl. insert i. The dat. pl. may be in ibh final, if the word is a monosyllable. All nouns of this declension are masc.

bàrd, a bard.

Singular.	Plural.
Nom. bàrd	bàird
Gen. bàird	bhàrd
Dat. bàrd	bàird, bàrdaibh
Voc. a bhàird	a bhàrda

The final vowel is usually a singly or in digraph. Diminutives and other nouns in -an, and most derivatives in -ach, belong to this declension: aran, bread, gen. and voc. sing., and nom. pl. arain; balach, g. balachaich.

In monosyllables the following changes take place on the root vowel or digraph in forming the plural:—

1 á becomes ái :	gràdh, lore	g. gràidh
" , ai :	cat, cat	g. cait
a with liquids becomes ai :	falt, hair	g. fault
2 ea becomes ei :	each, horse	g. eich
ea with liquids becomes i :	ceann, head	g. cinn
3 ia becomes íe :	fiadh, deer	g. féidh
4 ua , uai :	uan, lamb	g. uain
5 ò , óí :	óil, drinking	g. óil
ò with rd , ru becomes úi :	órd, hammer	g. úird
6 o becomes úi :	boc, buck	g. buic
7 ao , aoi :	laogh, caif	g. laoigh
8 eò , ini :	ceòl, music	g. ciùil
9 io , i :	siol, seed	g. sil
10 ù , u , ii , ui :	cùil, buck	g. cùil
11 eu with liquids becomes eòi :	bèul, mouth	g. beoil

Polysyllables usually have a or ea as the final vowel; a becomes ai in the genitive; ea becomes i, save before liquids, when ea becomes ei. E.g. coileach, cock, g. coilich. Polysyllables in io have i.

Strong Decl. Nouns weakened in the Plural.

bealach, a pass; lòn, a mead.

Sing. N., D.	bealach	lòn
G.	bealaich	lòin
V.	a bhealaich	a lòin
Plu. N., D.	bealaichean	lòinteau
G.	bhealach	lòn
V.	a bhealaichean	a lointean

Polysyllabic nouns, especially in -ach (nearly all in -lach) and -an, are apt to be thus declined. Derivatives in -as, -us, and -adh, belong here usually, as do even monosyllables in n, which takes a t before the plural n. So broilleach, bosom, g. broillich; saoghul, world, pl. saoghulan; cuan, sea, pl. cuantan; dorus, door, has the pl. dorsan; aingeal, angel, has uingleau; while dos, bunch, tassel, has g. dois and pl. dois or dosan.

Some polysyllables in -ar are apt to make the plural in contracted -ichean: leabhar, m. and f., book, pl. leabhrúichean; but briathar, word, pl. briathran.

II.—WEAK DECLENSION.

Nouns ending in a vowel, in -chd, and in -air, denoting agents or instruments, are of the Weak Declension. They are of either gender.

	gille, m., a lad.
	Singular.	Plural.
Nom.	gille	gillean
Gen.	gille	ghillean
Dat.	gille	gillean
Voc.	a ghille	a ghillean

There is usually an inserted ch, th, or nn, between the final vowel and the -an of the plural. In words having liquids before their final vowel a t is inserted in a few cases. When the last vowel of the root is slender the tendency is to flank the inserted ch with broad vowels, and vice versa: thus bata, bataichean; bliadhna, bliadhnaichean; eridhe, eridheachan.

1. Words in a :	iarla	m. , earl,	pl. iarlan
	bata	m. , stick,	pl. batachan, bataichean
	teanga	f. , tongue,	pl. teangan, teangaman
2. Words in e :	buille	f. , blow,	pl. buillean
	uisge	m. , water.	pl. uisgeachan
	coille	f. , wood.	pl. coilltean
	baile	m. , town.	pl. bailtean
	teine	m. , fire,	pl. teintean
3. Words in o , ö , ü :	eno	f. , nut,	pl. enothan
4. Words in chd :	mallachd	f. , curse,	pl. mallachdan
5. Words in air (eir , oir):	dorsair	m. , doorkeeper,	pl. dorsairean
	piobaire	m. , piper,	pl. piobairean

III.—MIXED DECLENSION.

In this declension the singular is Strong, or has inflections as the Strong Declension has, while the plural is Weak, and ends in broad n.

1. The Feminine Broad Declension.

Feminine nouns whose vowel or digraph, if monosyllabic, is broad, or whose final vowel or digraph is broad, are thus declined:—

	cluas, car	eas, foot	caileag, girl
Sing.	N. cluas	eas	caileag
	G. cluaise	coise	caileig(e)
	D. cluais	cois	caileig
	V. a chluas	a chas	a chaileag
Dual	dà chluais	dà chois	dà chaileig
Plu.	N. cluasan	casan	caileagan
	G. eilnas	chas	chaileag(an)
	D. cluasan, cluasaibh	casan, casaibh	caileagan
	V. a chluasan	a chasan	a chaileagan

The vowel changes in this declension are similar to those in the Strong Declension, only a nearly always changes to oi in the gen. and dat. sing. In monosyllables the following changes occur :—

1	ə becomes	əi :	lamb, hand	g. làimhe
	"	oi :	clach, stone	g. cloiche
2	ea "	i :	cearc, hen	g. circe
	ea with rg, lg, g, ch, becomes ei	creag, cray	g. creige
		creach, spoil	g. creiche
3	ia becomes	ei :	grian, sun	g. gréine
4	ua "	uai :	tuagh, axe	g. tuaighe
5	ò "	òi :	bròg, shoe	g. bròige
	o "	ui :	long, ship	g. luinge
6	ao "	aoi :	gaoth, wind	g. gaoithe
7	io "	i :	erioch, end	g. eriche
8	èn "	éi :	brèug, lie	g. bréige

A few nouns ending in liquids contract in the gen. : buidheann, company, g. buidhne, d. buidhinn; vileann, elbow, g. vilne, coinneal, candle, g. coinle. Add saighead, arrow, g. saighde.

2. Feminine Slender Declension.

Feminine nouns whose root vowel or digraph is in i, or whose final syllable has i alone or in digraph, have the genitive either in suffixed a or e, as thus :

	(a) suil, eye .	(b) cainnt, speech .
Singular.	Plural.	Singular.	Plural.
N. suil	sùilean	cainnt	cainntean
G. sùla	shùl	cainnte	chainntean
D. suil	sùilean, sùilibh	cainnt	cainntean, cainntibh
V. a shùil	a shùilean	a chainnt	a chainntean

(a) Of the suil class may be mentioned mil, meala, honey ; fuil, fala, blood ; feòil, feòla, flesh ; naimh, nainha, cave ; buaidh, victory, g. buaidha and buaidhe, g. pl. bhuadh. Contraction may take place in polysyllabic nouns, as dùthairch, country, g. dùthcha, pl. dùthchannan ; fiacail, tooth, g. fiacula, pl. fiacian ; seadhainn, people, g. seadhna.

(b) Of the cainnt class, which is numerous, are gnuis, gnaise, countenance ; naigh, a grave, g. uaigne, uaghach : sith, peace ; cuir, blaze ; druid, starling ; cnirm, feast ; tuit, flood, pl. tuítean—a liquid final with inserted t in the plural. Contracted nouns, usually with liquids, are—

madainn,	morning ,	g. maidne,	pl. maidnean
banais,	wedding ,	g. bainse,	pl. bainnsean
obair,	work ,	g. oibre,	pl. oibrean
abhainn,	river ,	g. aibhne,	pl. aibhnichean

To this declension form belong muir, f. and m., sea, g. maru, pl. marannan ; enáimh, m., bone, g. enáimha, pl. enaimhean or enamhan.

3. Stems in a Broad Vowel with suffixed a Gen.

These nouns are generally masculine ; the plural is in -an or -annan.

loch, m., a lake.

Singular.

Plural.

N. and V. loch	lochan , lochanan
G. locha	loch
D. loch	lochan , lochanan , lochaibh

So cath, g., catha, m., fight ; sruth, m., stream ; tuch, f., mouse, g. tucha, pl. tuchan, and tuchaidh ; lugh, m. and f., law ; fios, m. and f., knowledge ; earb, f., roe ; dealbh, m., picture ; pioh, f., pipe.

4. Liquid Stems with the Gen. in a suffixed or inclusive.

(a) druim, m., ridge ; (b) cathair, f., chair ; (c) athair, father.

Sing. N. druim	cathair	athair
------------------------------	----------------	---------------

G. droma	cathrach	athar
-----------------	-----------------	--------------

D. druim	cathair	athair
-----------------	----------------	---------------

Plu. N. and D. dromannan	cathraichean	athraichean
G. dhromannan	chathraichean	athraichean

(a) To the druim class, which oftenest have the stem vowel eu, belong réum, m., step, g. céuma ; léum, m. and f., leap ; béum, m., blow ; ám, m., time, g. ama ; anam, m., soul, g. anna.

(b) Like cathair are declined luachair, f., rushes, g. luachrach ; lusair, f., flame ; litir, f., letter ; cóir, f., right, g. cóirach : creathall, cradle, g. creathlach : súil, f., heel, g. súlach, pl. sáiltean, sáilean, to which add caora, f., sheep, g. caorach, pl. caorach, caoirich. Add also ruid, part, g. rodrúh.

(c) Words of kinship are declined like athair, as máthair, mother ; braithair, brother, pl. braithrean ; and piuthar, sister, g. peuthar, pl. peathraichean.

5. Stems sufficing n for the Gen. and other cases.

guala, f. shoulder.

Singular.

Plural.

N. guala , gualainn	guailnean , guaillean
G. gualainn , guailne , guaille	ghuailnean , ghuaillean
D. gualainn	guaillean , guaillibh

Somewhat similarly are declined talamh, m. and f., earth, g. talmhairiu; brù, f., belly, g. bronn, d. broinn, v. bhrù, pl. bronna; gobha and gobhairiu, m., smith, g. gobhairiu, pl. goibhnean; cù, m., dog, g. coin, d. cù, v. choin, pl. coin, g. con; bò, f., cow, g. and d. boin, or bó, v. bhó, pl. bò, g. pl. bhó.

6. Masenline or Common Stems with suffixed e Gen.

About a dozen nouns have this inflection, which is as follows:—

tigh, m., a house.

Singular.	Plural.
N. tigh	tighean
G. tighe	thighean
D. tigh	tighean, tighibh
V. thigh	thighean

So nèamh, m., heaven, g. nèimhe, or nèimh; ugh, m., egg; im, m., butter, g. ime; fir, f. and m., land; and gleann, m., glen, g. glinne, with sléibh, m., moor, g. sléibhe or sléibh, which both take a t in the plural—gleannan and sléibhean; to which add ainm, m., name, g. ainme, pl. ainmean or ainmeanan.

IV.—IRREGULAR DECLENSION.

Here belong bean, f., wife, g. mà, màthà, d. mnaoi, v. bhean, n. pt. mnaathan, g. bhan, d. mnaathan or mnathaibh, v. mhnathan; deoch, f., drink, g. dibhe; deoch, a drink, has the gen. in deoch or deocha; duine, man, pl. duoine; leaba or leabaidh, f., bed, g. leapa, pl. leapaichean; beinn, f., hill, g. beinne, n. pl. brànantan, g. bheann, v. bheanntan; là, m., day, g. latha, pl. laithean. Two plurals in r occur—righ, king, pl. righrean, and gnìomh, m., deed, g. gnìomha, pl. gnìomharra or gnìomharan, which are allied by termination to the abstract nouns òigradh, youths, youth, and maraigdh, young men. Some d stems are peculiar—earaid, m., friend, pl. càirdean; nàmhaid, foe, g. nàmhaid, pl. nàimhdean; bràighe, f., neck, upper part, g. bràghad (Braid-Albann in dat. or locative), pl. bràighean or bràighean; and tràigh, f., shore, g. tràghad, tràighe, pl. tràighean.

THE ARTICLE.

The base form of the Definite Article in Gaelic is an in the singular and na in the plural. In the following paradigm the sign + means preceding, and s pñre means s preceding a vowel or the liquids l, n, r.

	Singular.		Plural.
	Masculine.	Feminine.	Common.
Nom.	an	As gen. mas.	na
	am (+ b, f, m, p)		na h- (+ vowels)
	an t- (+ vowels)
Gen.	an	na	nan
	a' (+ bh, ch, gh, mh,	na h- (+ vowel)	nam (+ b, f, m, p) ph)
	an t- (+ s pure)
Dat.	As gen.	As dat. mas.	As nom.
	('n, 'n t- after vowel- ending prep.)

The gen. sing. masc., nom. sing. fem., and dat. sing. m. and f. aspirate all initial consonants of the succeeding noun, save d, t, and s, which last is eclipsed if pure, i.e., before vowels and l, u, r, as an t-suil, the eye, pronounced an tuil (= an t-shuil). The aspiration of l, u, r's not indicated in writing; f, becoming f'h, disappears in sound after an. Anns+art. is contracted into san, sa', sua.

THE ADJECTIVE.

The Adjective is inflected for case and number, and initially aspirated to show gender. The case inflections in the singular are the same in kind as those of nouns of the Strong Decl., the Weak Decl., and the Fem. Broad and Small Declensions with suffixed e genitive. The plural in monosyllables is, if the root vowel is broad or the digraph ends in a broad vowel, in a uniform -a; in monosyllables with a slender vowel the plural is in -e throughout. Polysyllables suffix vowels neither in the singular nor in the plural. There are thus three declensions.

STRONG DECLENSION.

mór, great.

	Sing.		Plural.
	Masc.	Fem.	Common.
Nom.	mór	mhór	móra
Gen.	mhóir	móire	móra
Dat.	mór	mhóir	móra
Voc.	mhóir	mhór	móra

So decline in the sing. polysyllabic adjectives in -ach, -mhor, -ar, -or, omitting the e of the fem. gen. as a rule. The changes of vowels are the same as in the nouns of the Strong and Fem. Broad Decl.: thus, deary, red, g. m. dheirg, g. f. deirge. With double liquids, however, a becomes oi, not ui, as dall, blind, g. m. doill, g. f. doille, and pl. dall, rarely dalla.

WEAK DECLENSION.

In this declension there is no inflection for case or number, only the initial changes for gender; as in beò, living, m. g. and v. bheò, f. n., d. and v. bheò, g. beò; pl. beò.

MIXED DECLENSION.

glie, wise.

	Sing.		Plural.
	Mas.	Fem.	Common.
Nom. and Dat.	glie	ghlie	glice
Gen.	ghlie	glice	glice
Voc.	ghlie	ghlie	glice

Noun and Adjective Conjoined.

cat glas, m. , a grey cat.
Sing.	Plural.
Nom. cat glas	cait ghlasa
Gen. cait ghlais	chat glas
Dat. cat glas	cataibh glasa
Voc. a chait ghlais	a chata glasa

Note that the dat. mas. with the article is do'n chat ghlas, where the adj. is aspirated.

Note also that the nom. plural of nouns of the Strong Decl. aspirate the initial consonant of the Adjective. No plural in n does so.

*ceare bhreac, f., a speckled hen.*

Sing.	Plural.
Nom. ceare bhreac	cearean breaca
Gen. circe brice	chearean breaca
Dat. circ bhric	cearcaibh breaca
Voc. a chearec bhreac	a chearca(n) breaca

COMPARISON OF ADJECTIVES.

The Adjective has only one degree of comparison—the comparative. In form the comparative is the same as the gen. sing. fem., as bàm, white, bàine, whiter. The indeclinable adjectives of the Weak Decl. add, if consonant-ending, a or e, as bochd, poor, bochda, poorer, ceàrr, wrong, cearra, more wrong.

The commonest adjectives are, as in English, irregular in comparison, as o/c, bad, misùt, worse; and in addition they have, with the Assertive form of the verb "to be," an agglutinate form in -d or -de, from the prep. form de, "of it, therefor." E.g., Is misde e an cath, He is the worse for the battle, which in Early Gaelic is more idiomatically thus—Is mesai-de iu cath dó, The battle is worse therefor to him. The Gaelic grammars call this form the SECOND COMPARATIVE. A THIRD COMPARATIVE is found in the abstract nouns in -d, as giorrat, shortness, duoiread, dearness, which, with the verb rach, go, may express comparison, as—Tha 'mhin a' dol an daoiread, literally, "The meal is going into dearness," but which is translated as—"Meal is getting dearer."

The Superlative is expressed by the comparative with the relative form of the verb "to be." Thus : 'S i Mairi as sine de 'u teaghlaich = "Mary is the eldest of the family," literally, "It is Mary who is older of the family." Ordinary comparison is thus expressed : 'S i Mairi as sine na Seònaid = "Mary is older than Jessie." The foregoing is the Assertive form : pure statement is done thus : Tha Mairi na's sine ua Seònaid, literally, "Mary is what is older than Jessie."

IRREGULAR COMPARISON.

Positive.	Comparative.	Agglutinate in -d.
beag, little	lugha	lughaid, bigid
dona, ole, bad	miosa	misde, misd
duilich, difficult	dorra, duilghe	duilghid
fagus, faisg, near	faisge
furasda, farasda, easy	fhasa, asa, fusa
geàrr, goirid, short	giorra	giorrайд
laidir, strong	treasa	treasaid
leathann, broad	leatha, léithne
math, maith, good	feàrr	feàirrd
mór, great	mò, mothà	mòid, mothaid
toigh, beloved	docha

300 trì chiad		an tri chiadamh
1000 mile		an mileamh
2000 dà mhile		an dà mhileamh
1,000,000 muillion

Personal or Collective Numerals.

2	dithis, twain	7	seachidnar, seven
3	triúir, three persons	8	oelidnar, eight
4	ceathair, four	9	naoinear, nine
5	cóiginear, five	10	deichnear, ten
6	séanar, sianar, six		N.B. aonar, alone-ness .

Aon aspirates the initial consonant of the next word, save d, t, and s. Dá takes the dual number, which corresponds in form with the dat. sing. aspirated; as dá chire, but the adjective is not inflected—du chire bhreac except gen. and dative dual: le dá chire bhric.

The numerals fihead, ciad, mile, and muillion are nouns, and govern the gen. pl. unaspirated of the noun, as fihead fear, twenty men. The Collective numerals govern the gen. pl. aspirated, as dithis mhar, two sons.

The expression "and a half" is done by "gn leth," as ciad gn leth, one hundred and a half, that is 150. Iomadh means "many a."

THE PRONOUN.

I.—PERSONAL PRONOUNS.

Singular.		Plural.
Simple.	Emphatic.	Simple.	Emphatic.
1 mi	mise	sim	simne
2 tu, thu	tusa, thusa	sibh	sibhse
3 e, i, h, she	esan, ise	iad, they	iadsan

The addition of fhein=self, adds more emphasis: mi fhein=I myself.

II.—POSSESSIVE PRONOUNS.

Singular.		Plural.
1 mo, m', my		ar, ar n- (+ vowel), our
2 do, d', thy		bhur ('ur), bhur n- (+ vowel), your
3 a, ' (aspirating), his		an, am (+ b, f, m, p), their a, a h-, 'h- (+ vowel), her

Emphatic Form.

Singular.		Plural.
1 Mo chù-sa, my	m' athair-sa	ar cù-ne	ar n-athair-ne
dog
2 do chù-sa, thy	d' athair-sa	bhur cù-se	bhur n-athair-se
dog
3 a chù-san, his	'athair-san	an cù-san	an athair-san
dog
a cù-se, her dog	a h-athair-se

These emphatic particles come last when an adjective qualifies the subject, as mo chù dubh-sa, my black dog; m' each bainfhein, my own white horse.

DEMONSTRATIVE PRONOUNS.

The Pronominal Adverbs so, sin, and sud (ud), here, there, and yonder, do duty for Demonstrative Pronouns : thuit so, this fell ; dh' fhàlbbh sud, yon went.

The Demonstrative Adjectives are represented by the article, noun and demon. pro. together : thus—Am fear so, this man ; literally, “the man here.” Am fear sin=that man ; am fear ud, yonder man. E so=this one, m. ; i sin=that one, f. ; iad sud=yon ones, iad so=these.

RELATIVE PRONOUNS.

The Relatives are three in number : a, who, which, that ; nach, who not, that not, but ; na, what or that which. There is no change for number or gender, and the only change for case is in the rel. a, which after preps. takes the form an, or am (+ b, f, m, p). Examples are—

Am fear a thuit=The man who fell.

A' bhean nach do thuit=The wife that fell not.

Dh' fhag e na thuit=He left what fell.

An t-àite amns an do thuit e=The place in which he fell.

There being no distinction between the nom. and acc. of a and nach, the rel. clause with a transitive act. verb is ambiguous : An t-each a bhual mi=“The horse which I struck” or “The horse which kicked me.”

The verb has a relative form for the future tense and the verb “to be” for both present and future tenses : Am fear a bhuaileas=The man who will strike ; am fear as mothà=the man who is bigger, that is, “The biggest man.”

Note.—In older Gaelic, the prep. an (am) was used for the locative relative : An coire am bi na caoraich=The corry where the sheep be.

INTERROGATIVE PRONOUNS.

Có ? Who ? Có e ? Who (is) he ?

Cia ? Which ? Cia lion or Cia mèud ? How many ?

Ciod ? What ? Ciod è, or Gu dé, or Dé ? What (is) it ?

Có dhìùbh ? Which of them ? Có aca ? Which (among them) ?

Cuin ? When ? Ciamar ? How ? C' ar-son ? Why ?

These all take the relative construction of the verb : Có bhuaileas mi ? Who shall strike me ? Literally—“Who that shall strike me ?”

C' àite ? Where ? This takes the dependent form of the verb : C' àite am buail e mi ? Where will he strike me ?

INDEFINITE PRONOUNS.

Cach, the others, the rest, used without a noun.

Eile, other ; fear eile, another man or one ; muinnitir eile, other people.

Gach, each, every ; gach fear, each man, each one.

Uile, every, all ; a h-uile fear, all men, every one.

Bith, world ; sam bith and air bith = "ever," any ; as có air bith = whoever, fear sam bith = any one.

Eigin, necessity : fear-eigin, some one ; rud-eigin, something or other ; cuid-eigin, some one.

Cuid, share ; used for "some," as Tha cuid ag ràdh = Some say ; cuid eile, others. Cuid also is used with the gen. pl. for "own" : a chuid daoine, his men ; a cuid mac, her sons.

Fear, tì, te, aon, man, male or female one, and one, are used indefinitely alone and also with some of the above words.

THE VERB.

The Gaelic verb has Voice, Mood, Tense, Number and Person. It differs from the English and Classical verbs in not having participles active, and in having two forms of the Ind. and Subj. moods, one used when the verb is or can be the very first word in the sentence, and the other when the verb comes after a particle, such as the interrogative particles an and nach, the negative cha, and the conjunctions gun, nach, mu'n, mur, and na'n. The form used after these particles is called the Dependent Form ; the other is called the Absolute Form. For instance, Buailidh mi, I shall strike, becomes, when in the Dependent Form, Am buail mi? Shall I strike ?

The Gaelic Infinitive is also peculiar ; it is an abstract noun variously formed by the abstract suffixes -adh, -chul, -t, -nn, &c.

THE VERB "TO BE."

Besides the Absolute and Dependent Forms, the verb "to be" has also an Assertive or Emphatic Form, viz., is, as, Is gòr 'ch thu = 'Tis foolish you are : is mi a rinn e = it was I who did it.

CONJUGATION.

To conjugate a Gaelic verb the parts to be given are the imperative, fut. and past indicative, and the infinitive. With the regular verbs the imperative and infinitive are sufficient.

There are two conjugations—the Consonant Conjugation, where the verb begins with any consonant save f; the Vowel Conjugation, where the verb begins with a vowel or with f.

PERIPHRASTIC TENSES.

By the use of the verb “to be” and the inf. with prepositions (a', ag, at, and air, after, on), at least as complete a staff of tenses can be formed as in English.

Indicative Active.

Pres. Progressive : I am striking = Tha mi a' bualadh, i.e. , I am at striking.
,, Perfect : I have struck = Tha mi air bualadh, i.e. , I am after striking.
,, Perfect Continuous : I have been striking = Tha mi air bhith a' bualadh, i.e. , I am after being striking.
Fut. Indefinite : I shall strike = Buailidh mi.
,, Progressive : I shall be striking = Bithidh mi a' bualadh.
,, Perfect : I shall have struck = Bithidh mi air bualadh.
,, Perfect Continuous : I shall have been striking = Bithidh mi air bhith a' bualadh.

Past Indefinite : I struck = Bhuaill mi.
,, Progressive : I was striking = Bha mi a' bualadh.
,, Perfect : I had struck = Bha mi air bualadh.
,, Perfect Continuous : I had been striking = Bha mi air bhith a' bualadh.

Indicative Passive.

Pres. Definite : I am struck = Tha mi buailte.

„ Progressive : I am being struck = Thàtar ga m' bhualadh.

„ Perfect : I have been struck = Tha mi air mo bhualadh.

Fut. Indefinite : I shall be struck = Buailear mi. Bithidh mi buailte.

„ Perfect : I shall have been struck = Bithidh mi air mo bhualadh.

Past Indefinite : I was struck = Bhuaileadh mi. Bha mi buailte.

„ Perfect : I had been struck = Bha mi air mo bhualadh.

Another method of expressing the passive in Gaelic is by the use of the verb "to go"—théid and chaidh. The future in this case is Théid mo bhualadh (lit. "My striking shall go, i.e., occur) and the past is Chaidh mo bhualadh.

PARTICIPLES.

SEMI-AUXILIARIES.

The verbs corresponding to Eng. may, must, and can are faodaidh, feumaidh, imiridh, and is eudar or fhendar, and is urrainn (domh); dependent forms—faod, feum, and urrainn. Past tense—dh' fhaodadh, dh' fheumadh, and b' urrainn, with dept. forms for the first two—faodadh and feumadh, is the same as the subjunctive dh' fhaodainn, dh' fheumainn, and b' urrainn (domh). Thus—I may stand = faodaidh mi seasamh, where seasamh is the inf.

Defective verbs are arsa, quoth, as ars' iad = said they; theab, had almost, theab mi triteam = I almost fell; feuch, behold! siuthad, proceed thou; tingainn, come thou; trobhad, come hither; thugair, get out!

THE ADVERB.

Adverbs are formed from adjectives by prefixing gu, which has h- before a vowel, as, gu math, well; gu fior, truly; gu h-àrd, highly, above.

The words ro, glé, and fior qualify adjectives and denote a high degree of quality. Cho, with ri or agus as correlative, is equal to Eng. as . . . as: cho luath ri cù, as fast as a dog; cho luath agus = as soon as. Idir means “at all.”

PREPOSITION.

The Primary Prepositions are :—

aig, at	do, a , a dh' , to	mu, about
air, on	eadar, between	rè, during an, anns } in	fo, under	ri, ris, to
ann an }	gu, gus, to	roimh, before
a, as, out of	gun, without	seach, past
bho, o, from	le, leis, with	thar, across
de, of	mar, like	thun, to troimh, tre, through

These take the dat. case, with the following exceptions—eadar and seach, govern the accusative, i.e., the nom. case ; gus and mar similarly take the nom. of nouns definite (with the article or a genitive), as gus a' chrioch ; thar, in some Southern dialects, thun, to, and rè, during, govern the genitive.

The most important Compound Prepositions are :—

a chum, chum, for the purpose of	an aghaidh, against
a dh' ionnsaidh, to, towards	an ceann, at the end of, among
a réir, according to	an coimne, to meet an déidh, after	mar ri, with
air bëulaibh, in front of	mu choinne, opposite
air eùlaibh, behind	mu dheidhinn, concerning
air fad, throughout	mu thimchioll, about
air feadh, feadh, amongst	mu 'n cuairt, around
air son, on account of	os cionn, above
am measg, among	o chiomh, since

The above preps. govern the genitive, which depends on the noun or adjective in the phrase.

EXERCISES IN ORTHOGRAPHY AND PHONETICS.

In the Exercises letters very faintly sounded or entirely silent are printed in italics.

The short, indefinite sound of ao is indicated by inverting the letters which represent it; that is, inverted a and e in the Exercises sound like o and e in the English word ‘cover.’

Unaspirated l and n in an initial position are written double, to indicate their peculiar sound (50, 51, 56, 57). This is continued all through the Reading Lessons, as some knowledge of Gaelic or its Grammar is necessary before the reader can distinguish the aspirated and non-aspirated liquids.

1 All people that on earth do dwell,
 Sing to the Lord with cheerful voice ;
 Him serve with mirth, his praise forth
 Come ye before him and rejoice. [tell,

2 Know that the Lord is God indeed ;
 Without our aid he did us make ;
 We are his flock, he doth us feed,
 And for his sheep he doth us take.

3 O enter then his gates with praise,
 Approach with joy his courts unto ;
 Praise, laud, and bless his name always,
 For it is seemly so to do.

4 For why the Lord our God is good ;
 His mercy is for ever sure ;
 His truth at all times firmly stood,
 And shall from age to age endure.

 Since the summer flowers were here,
 Since they stacked the balmy hay,
 Since they reaped the golden ear.

3 Sunny days are past and gone :
 So the years go, speeding fast,
 Onward ever, each new one
 Swifter speeding than the last.

4 Life is waning ; life is brief ;
 Death, like winter, standeth nigh ;
 Each one, like the falling leaf,
 Soon shall fade, and fall, and die.

5 But the sleeping earth shall wake.
 New-born flowers shall burst in bloom,
 And all nature, rising, break,
 Glorious from its wintry tomb.

6 So the saints from slumber blest,
 Rising, shall awake and sing ;
 And our flesh in hope shall rest
 Till there breaks the endless spring.

MALCOLM THE SAILOR.

(1) Once upon a time a young sailor was travelling, on a short winter day, between two seaport towns, which lay a long distance from each other. (2) The day was cold and stormy, and there was a high wind, and snow, and heavy rain. (3) He did not know the way; the night was fast falling upon him, and he knew not where to spend it. (4) At last, when he knew not what to do, he saw a little gleam of light; he took courage, quickened his step, and in a short time he came to a farmer's house at the side of the road. (5) He knocked at the door, which was instantly opened by the goodwife. (6) "Will you be so kind," he said, "as to allow me to sit at the fireside till morning?" (7) I am wet and tired, and I cannot make my way in the dark." (8) "Come in, poor man," she answered; you shall go no farther to-night. (9) Poor as we are, we will make shift to give you food and drink, and a bed." (10) When he went in he had the same hearty welcome from the goodman; and the little children respectfully got up and made room for him beside the fire. (11) The worthy woman gave him dry clothes and shoes, and she was not long in preparing bread and butter and cheese, and warm milk from the fold, for the sailor. (12) He and the kind family passed the evening comfortably and heartily; and after the farmer had asked the blessing of God on the company, he wished the stranger a sound sleep, and they all went to bed. (13) The sailor slept soundly till he heard the cowherd attending to the cattle at break of day. (14) When he got up, breakfast was trim and ready on the table, and there was welcome on every face. (15) He ate heartily, and afterwards prepared to leave. (16) "I am not able," he said, "to repay you at this time for your kindness, but I shall never forget it; and who knows but Providence may some day put it my power to offer you something better than thanks?" (17) For the present I have nothing for you but my blessing. (18) Farewell." (19) "Farewell, and good luck to you," said the farmer. (20) "Safe return to you," said the woman; "but ere we part, tell us your name." (21) "'Malcolm the Sailor' will do till I come back again." He shook hands with them all warmly; set off, and did not feel the time long till, about mid-day, he arrived at his port, where he joined a ship which was about to sail for the East Indies.

MALCOLM THE SAILOR—Continued.

(1) The ship was over three years on the voyage ; and a companion of Malcolm's used to tell that not a day passed during that time in which Malcolm did not speak about the kindness which he had received in the house of the farmer. (2) So soon as the ship returned to port after coming back to this country, Malcolm took his friend with him, and hired a carriage to hurry him to the house where he had found such kindness. (3) As they approached the house, Malcolm could see that matters were not at all as he had left them. (4) The woman was now a widow, and her children orphans. (5) Not only so, but at that moment the officers were putting her earthly all out upon the hill, to be sold to pay certain debts into which she had fallen. (6) Small clusters of people stood here and there, with heavy hearts, waiting till the auction should begin. (7) Malcolm rushed in just as the officer was about to lift the cradle, in which the youngest child lay sleeping ; with his poor mother sitting beside him weeping bitterly. (8) "What does all this mean?" he asked of the officer. (9) "The furniture," he answered, "is about to be sold to pay this woman's debts." (10) "Avast, you heartless, pitiless man," said Malcolm, closing his fist ; "if you lay a hand on a withe of that cradle, I will break all the timbers in your body!" (11) He then pulled out his purse, in which he had three years' wages in gold. (12) "Here," said he, "pay yourself out of that, and put back every stick of the dear woman's furniture where you found it." Then he turned to salute the poor woman, who stood full of wonder, and her heart like to burst with gratitude. (14) The two sailors were not long in putting the house in order, and they spent the day heartily and cheerfully till evening, when they had to leave. (15) There was not a year from that time, till the farmer's boys were able to take their father's place, that Malcolm the Sailor did not send a sum of money to the widow as well as other useful articles, and curious things which he used to bring home from the Indies for herself and the children. (16) Everything prospered well with them ever after that ; and if they have not died since, they are still alive.

THE PRODIGAL SON.

(1) A certain man had two sons. (2) And the younger of them said to his father, Father, give me the portion of goods that falleth to me. (3) And he divided unto them his living. (4) And not many days after, the younger son gathered all together, and took his journey into a far country, and there wasted his substance with riotous living. (5) And when he had spent all, there arose a mighty famine in that land ; and he began to be in want. (6) And he went and joined himself to a citizen of that country ; and he sent him into his fields to feed swine. (7) And he would fain have filled his belly with the husks that the swine did eat ; and no man gave unto him. (8) And when he came to himself he said, How many hired servants of my father's have bread enough and to spare, and I perish with hunger ! (9) I will arise and go to my father, and will say unto him, Father, I have sinned against Heaven and before thee ; and am no more worthy to be called thy son ; make me as one of thy hired servants. (10) And he arose and came to his father. (11) But when he was yet a great way off, his father saw him, and had compassion and ran, and fell on his neck and kissed him. (12) And the son said unto him, Father, I have sinned against Heaven and in thy sight, and am no more worthy to be called thy son. (13) But the Father said to his servants, Bring forth the best robe and put it on him ; and put a ring on his hand and shoes on his feet. (14) And bring hither the fatted calf and kill it, and let us eat and be merry ; for this my son was dead and is alive again ; he was lost and is found. (15) And they began to be merry. (16) Now his elder son was in the field ; and as he came and drew nigh to the house, he heard music and dancing. (17) And he called one of the servants, and asked what these things meant. (18) And he said unto him, Thy brother is come ; and thy father hath killed the fatted calf, because he hath received him safe and sound. (19) And he was angry, and would not go in ; therefore came his father out and entreated him. (20) And he, answering, said to his father, Lo, these many years do I serve thee, neither transgressed I at any time thy commandment : and yet thou never gavest me a kid, that I might make merry with my friends. (21) But as soon as this thy son was come, which hath devoured thy living with harlots, thou hast killed for him the fatted calf. (22) And he said unto him, Son, thou art ever with me, and all that I have is thine. (23) It was meet that we should make merry and be glad ; for this thy brother was dead and is alive again ; and was lost and is found.

LESSON IV.

AN GREASAICHE AGUS NA DAOINE-SITH.

- (1) Bha ann roimhe so grèasaiche, agus bha e na 'dhuine firinneach, ceart.
- (2) Bha e a' saothreachadh gu goirt, ach an déidh a h-uile rud a bha ann, cha b' urrainn da a chosnadh na chumadh beò e.
- (3) Mu dheireadh chaill e a chuid a'n t-saoghal, ach uiread leathraich agus a dheanadh aon phaidhir blhròg.

(4) Anns an fheasgar gheàrr e a mach an lleathar, a' cur roimhe éirigh moch anns a' mhadainn a dhèanamh nam bròg.

(5) Bha inntinn glan agus cridhe sunndach aige am measg gach cruaidh-chàs a thainig air ; chaidh e a laighe ann an sith, dh' fhàg e 'uile chùram air Dia, agus thuit e na 'chadal.

(6) Anns a' mhadainn bha e a' dol a shuidhe sìos gu 'obair ; ach dé a chunnaig e?—a' phaidhir bhròg, deas, glan, na 'n llaighe air a' bhòrd-oibre !

(7) Is gann a b' urrainn do 'n duine bochd a shùilean a chreidsinn, agus cha robh fios aige dé a theireadh e.

(8) Thog e na brògan agus sheall e thairis orra gu mion, geur, ach aon ghreim mearachdach cha robh annta.

(9) Thainig ceannaiche an llà sin, agus thaitinn na brògan cho math ris 's gun do phàidlì e orra gu toileach barrachd agus a b' àbhaist da.

(10) Le prìs nam bròg chaidh aig a' ghrèasaiche air uiread leathraich a cheannach agus a dh' fhóghmadh air son dà phaidhir bhròg.

(11) Anns an fheasgar gheàrr e a mach an obair, agus ghabh e mu thàmh, a' cur roimhe a bhith air bonn moch air madainn.

(12) Ach bha a shaothair air a caomhnadh dha ; oir an uair a dh' éirich e anns a' mhadainn bha crioch air an obair.

(13) Cha b' fhada gus an d' thàinig ceannaichean a phàidh gu math air son a chuid bròg ; agus bha a nis aige na cheannaich lleathar cheithir paidhrichean eile.

(14) Aon uair cile gheàrr e a mach an obair trà-feasgair, agus a rìs flhuair e deas, glan, i anns a' mhadainn.

(15) Mhair so car greis a dh' ùine.

(16) Na bhiodh gearrte anns an fheasgar bhiodh e air a dheanamh na 'bhrògan aig bèul an llà.

(17) Is e a bha ann nach b' fhada gus an d' fhàs an duine coir soirbheachail, beirteach.

THE SHOEMAKER AND THE FAIRIES.

(1) Long time ago there lived a shoemaker, a truthful, upright man. (2) He laboured hard, but after all that, he was not able to earn as much as would keep him alive. (3) At last he lost all he possessed in the world, except as much leather as would make one pair of shoes. (4) In the evening he cut out the leather, intending to get up early in the morning to make the shoes. (5) He had a pure mind and a cheerful heart in the midst of all the straits which had come upon him ; he went to bed in peace, leaving all his cares on God, and fell asleep. (6) In the morning he was about to sit down to his work ; but what did he see ?—the pair of shoes, neat and ready, lying on the work-bench ! (7) The poor man could scarcely believe his eyes, and he did not know what to say. (8) He lifted the shoes and looked over them minutely and closely, but there was not one faulty stitch in them. (9) A purchaser came the way that day, and the shoes pleased him so well that he willingly paid for them more than he was in the habit of doing. (10) With the price of the shoe the shoemaker was able to buy as much leather as would suffice for two pairs of shoes. (11) In the evening he cut out the work and retired to rest, intending to be on foot early in the morning. (12) But his labour was spared him; for when he got up in the morning the work was finished. (13) It was not long till purchasers came who paid well for his shoes; and now he had what purchased leather for four pairs more. (14) Once more he cut out the work at early evening, and again he found it neat and ready in the morning. (15) This continued for some time. (16) What was cut at evening was made into shoes at break of day. (17) The result was that ere long the good man became prosperous and wealthy.

LESSON V.

(1) Air feasgair àraidh mu àm na Nollaige, mar bha e fhéin agus a bhean na 'n suidhe taobh an teine, a' còmhchradh r' a chéile, ars' esan rithe, "Bu ghlé mhath leam fuireach air mo chois an nochd, feuch am faicinn co tha a' tighinn agus a' deanamh na h-oibre air mo shon."

(2) "Ni sinn dìreach sin fhéin, a dhuine mo ghaoil," ars' a' bhean.

(3) Dh' fhàg iad an solus llaiste agus dh' fhalaich iad iad fhéin air cùl clàraighe, ann an oisinn de 'n tigh, a dh' fhaicinn dé a thachradh.

(4) Mu mheadhon oidhche thainig dà thàcharan bheag a stigh agus gun snàthain aodaich orra.

(5) Shuidh iad sios air bòrd-oibre a' ghrèasaiche, thog iad na bha de leathar air a ghearradh a mach, agus thòisich iad air le 'n corragan beaga, a' fuaigneach, agus a' cnaphadh, agus a' bualadh, air a leithid a dhòigh 's gun robh an grèasaiche air a lionadh le iognadh, agus cha b' urrainn da a shùil a thogail diùbh.

(6) Shìn iad air an obair an sin gus an robh crìoch oirre, agus na brògan réidh, glan, air a' bhòrd.

(7) Bha so fada roimh éirigh na gréine, agus an sin thàr iad as mar an dealanach.

(8) An ath là thuirt a' bhean ris a' ghrèasaiche. "Tha na daoine-beaga an déidh ar fàgail beirteach; tha sinn gu mór na 'n comain; agus bu chòir dhuinne coibhlneas air chor-eigin a dheanamh riù-san.

(9) "Tha e a' cur doilghis orm a bhith ga 'm faicinn ag iurpais mar thà iad; chan eil snàthain air an druim a chumas a mach am fuachd.

(10) "Innsidh mi dhuit dé a nì mi; ni mi lléine bheag, agus còta, agus brigis, do gach fear aca; agus dean thusa brògan doibh."

(11) Thaitinn comhairle na mnà ris a' grèasaiche gu h-anabarrach ; agus air feasgair àraidh, an uair a bha gach nnì ullamh, dh' fhàg iad na deiseachan air a' bhòrd, an àite na h-oibre a b' àbhaist doibh a ghearradh a mach ; agus an sin chaidh iad agus dh' fhalaich iad iad fléin a dh' fhaire ciod a dheanadh na daoine-beaga.

(12) Mu mheadhon oidhche thainig iad a stigh, agus bha iad a' dol a shuidhe sios an taice na h-oibre mar a b' àbhaist doibh ; ach an uair a chunnaig iad an t-aodach rinn iad glag àgair agus bha othail mhór orra.

(13) Chuir iad orra na deiseachan ann an tiota, agus thòisich iad air dannsad, agus air lléum agus air gearradh shinteag an sin, gus mu dheireadh an do dhanns iad a mach air an dorus agus a nunn thar an àilein.

(14) Chan fhaca an grèasaiche gu bràth tuilleadh iad ; ach chaidh gach cùis gu math leis as a dhéidh sin, cho fada's a bha e beò.

THE SHOEMAKER AND THE FAIRIES—Continued.

(1) One evening about Christmas time, as he and his wife sat chatting at the fireside, he said to her, "I should much like to sit up to-night and see who is coming and doing the work for me." (2) "We will just do that same, my dear man," said the wife. (3) They left the light burning and hid themselves behind a screen in a corner of the house, to see what should happen. (4) At midnight there came in two little sprites without a rag of clothes. (5) They sat down on the shoemaker's workbench, they took all the leather that was cut out, and began with their little fingers, sewing and knocking and hammering, in such a way that the shoemaker was filled with wonder, and could not take his eyes off them. (6) They lay to the work then till it was finished, and the shoes neat and ready on the bench. This was long before the sun was up, and then they made off like lightning. (8) Next day the wife said to the shoemaker, "The little men have made us wealthy ; we are much in their debt ; and we ought to do them some kindness or other. (9) It grieves me to look at them frisking about as they are ; there is not a rag on their backs to keep out the cold. (10) I will tell you what I will do : I will make a little shirt and coat, and trousers for each of them ; and you make shoes for them." (11) The wife's advice pleased the shoemaker vastly ; and one evening when everything was ready, they left the suits on the bench, instead of the work which they used to cut out, and then they went and hid themselves to watch what the little men might do. (12) About midnight they came in and were about to sit down to the work as usual ; but when they saw the clothes they broke out into a loud laugh and were in great glee. (13) They put on the suits in a twinkling, and they began to dance, and leap, and stride about, till at last they danced out at the door and away across the lawn. (14) The shoemaker never saw them again ; but everything went well with him after that, as long as he lived.

LESSON VI.

IAIN BEAG MAC-AINDREA.

(1) Tha e air 'aithris gun robh Iain Mac-Aindrea o chionn nnaoi-fichead bliadhna a' tàmh an Dail-na-h-Aitnich, an sgìre Ghlinn-Ceatharnaich, ann an Srath Spé. (2) Bha e na 'dhuin-eachan beag, suarach, na 'choltas air gach dòigh—na bu choltaiche a bhith air 'fhàgail aig a' bhaile an cois nam mart agus nan llaogh na bhith a' dol leis a' chòisridh do 'n blàr. (3) Gidheadh na 'chom bha cridhe an llaoich, air a bhrosnachadh le spiorad na gaisge; agus fear-bogha na b' ealanta an àm tarraig gu còmh-stri cha do tharraing riabh saighead ri sreing. (4) Tha gach euchd gaisgeil a rinn e air an aithris le tuilleadh ioghnaidh an uair a bheirear fa-near cho tur neo-fhaicheil 's a bha e. (5) Tha e air a ràdh gun tilgeadh e dà-shaighid-dhéug, agus gun sàthadh e an darna h-aon ann an earball na h-aon eile. (6) Thàinig e aon llà seachad air buidhinn a bha ri giomanachd ann an Srath-h-Eireann. (7) Dh' fheòraich cuid diùbh de 'n ghille bheag am feuchadh e ris an t-saighid, agus le beagan moit dh' aontaich e. (8) Bhual e an toiseach faisg air meadhon na targaid, ach an darna h-uair chuir e an t-saighead direach na meadhon. (9) Thòisich iad air ioghnadh a ghabhail agus air a bhith ga 'mholadh; ach thuirt e riù gun deanadh iad na b' fheàrr na sin an Srath-Spè. (10) Dh' fhalbh e agus shàth e slatag sheilich ann an tom, astar math air falbh. (11) Thilg e agus sgoilt e i leis a' chiad shaighid.

(12) Bha e na 'rogha fhear-aitribh, agus cha b' ainmig leis a bhith ris an obair sin ann an Srath-h-Eireann. (13) Aig aon àm bha e ann ris a' cheart obair sin aig Fear Choileachaibh. (14) Air feedh na h-oidhche thàinig a' chrois-tàra chum an tighe. (15) B' e bha an so Ròsach Chill-reabhaig an Srath-Narann, agus e air tòir na creiche a thogadh uaith le Fear Acha-luachrach an Lloch-abar, agus e air shùrd pòsaidh. (16) Dh' fhalbh Fear Choileachaibh agus a chuideachd maille ri buidhean an Ròsach, agus Iain Beag Mac-Aindrea mar aon de chàch. (17) Bhual iad air an aghaidh le sùrd agus le faicill, gus an d' rainig iad a' Chrò-chlach am bràigh Srath-h-Eireann. (18) Chunnacas solus ann am bothan nan ciobair. (19) An so bha Fear Acha-luachrach agus a bhuidheann an déidh an suipeire, a' seanachas r' a chéile gun fhiamh, gun eagal. (20) Aig an àm so bha Iain Mac-Aindrea air toiseach na buidhne. (21) Shuidhich e e fhéin mu choinne dorus a' bhothain. (22) Bha an oidhche fuathasach dorcha—nnì a thug fior chothrom dhoibh-san a bha a mach, ach a bha gu tur an aghaidh chàich, a bha air an lleigeil ris le solus a' ghealbhain a bha aca anns a' bhothan. (23) An uair a dh' fhairich iad an tailmrich a bha a mach, b' ann le spiorad na gaisge a thriall gach fear chum an doruis, a thoirt coinne do luchd na tòrachd; ach cha d' rainig a h-aon diubh an stairsneach gun blith air an lleagail na 'n tòrr air muin a chéile. (24) Bha llàmh Iain Bhig Mhic-Aindrea bitheanta gu lleòir agus a shùil an tòir air ceannard na buidhne. (25) Air dhàsan a blith aithnichte a thaobh éididh, an uair a chunnaig Iain e chuir e saighead na 'uchd a cheangail e ris a' phost a bha air a chùlaibh. (26) An uair a chunnaig Fear Choileachaibh mar rinn e—ghlaodh e mach, "Buaidh is tapadh leat, Iain Mhic-Aindrea Dhail-na-lí-Aitnich!" (27) An uair a chual Iain am miodal so, aig àm cho mi-fhreagarach—air dha a thuigsinn na 'n rachadh fear sam bith as, gun tugadh e 'ainm-san do Loch-abar ; nnì a dh' fhàgadh e buailteach do chunnart na 'dhéidh sin—fhreagair e Fear Choileachaibh ann am briathran nach furasda sgrìobhadh. (28) Cha d' fhuair a h-aon as de na bha stigh, ach aon ghille maol, dubh, a thug fa-near a' chùis. (29) Bhrist esan a mach air cùl a' bhothain, agus gu truagh do dh' Iain Mac-Aindrea, thug am fear so an nnaidheachd agus 'ainm do Loch-abar mar am fear a fhuair urram na saighdearachd. (30) Agus bha a' bhuil : is gamm gun d' fhuair Iain llà no oidhche sona na 'dhéidh.

LITTLE JOHN MACANDREW.

(1) It is said that little John Macandrew lived some hundred and eighty years ago in Dalnabhatnich, in the parish of Duthil, in Strathspey. (2) He was a little insignificant man in appearance in every way—more like being left at home about the cows and calves than following the heroes to battle. (3) He was, however, possessed of a hero's heart, inspired with the spirit of bravery ; and a nice skilful archer, when the time of conflict came, never press'd arrow to bowstring. (4) The many brave deeds which he did are related with all the more wonder, seeing how altogether unprepossessing he was. (5) It is said that he could shoot twelve arrows, and fix one after one of them in the end of the one before it. (6) One day he passed a party of hunters in Strathdearn. (7) One of them asked the little fellow if he would try his skill at the bow, and with some show of diffidence he consented. (8) At the first attempt he struck near the middle of the target, but at the second throw he sent the arrow direct to the centre. (9) They began to wonder and to praise him ; but he told them they could do better than that in Strathspey. (10) He went and thus: a willow wand into a little mound a good distance off. (11) He sent his first arrow right through the twig.

(12) He was an excellent husbandman, and it was no rare thing with him to be thus occupied in Strathdearn. (13) At one time he was so engaged for the Laird of Kyllachy. (14) During the night the fiery-cross came to the house. (15) This was Rose of Kiltavock, in Strathnairn, seeking his cattle, of which he had been plundered by the Laird of Auchluachrach, in Lochaber, who was on the eve of getting married. (16) The Laird of Kyllachy and his retainers set off with Rose's party, and Little John Macandrew among the rest. (17) They pushed on eagerly and warily till they came to Cro-clach, in the heights of Strathdearn. (18) They observed a light in the shepherds' hut. (19) Here were the Laird of Auchluachrach and his company, after supper, sitting talking to each other, and fearing nothing. (20) At this time John Macandrew was at the head of the party. (21) He took up his position opposite the door of the hut. (22) The night was very dark—a fact which gave the best advantage to those who were outside, but which was altogether against the others, who were made quite visible by the light of the fire which they had in the hut. (23) When they heard the sound of footsteps outside, they all sprang bravely to the door to meet their pursuers, but not one of them reached the threshold, for they were all shot down in a heap on the top of each other. Little John Macandrew's hand was active enough, and with his eye he watched the leader of the party. (25) He being easily recognised by his garb, whenever John caught sight of him he sent an arrow into his breast, which transfixes him to the post that stood at his back. (26) When the Laird of Kyllachy saw what he had done—perhaps to apprise those of what had happened—he cried out, “Victory and luck to you, John Macandrew of Dalmalattinch!” (27) When John heard this compliment at such an ill-chosen moment—knowing that if one of them escaped he would carry his name to Lochaber; a fact which would expose him to danger in the future—he answered the Laird of Kyllachy in words not fit to be recorded. (28) Not one escaped of those who were within, ‘but one black, beardless fellow, who had witnessed the fight. (29) He cut his way through the back of the hut, and unluckily for John Macandrew, he carried the news and his name to Lochaber, as the man who had won the honours of the fight. (30) And the result was that John scarcely spent a day or night in peace after it.

(1) An uair a ràinig an sgeul so Lloch-abar, a bha cho cràidteach do bhean-na-bainnse, cha d' fhois agus cha do thàmh i gus an do ràinig i Crò-chlach; agus tha a cor an uair a ràinig i na 's asa thuigsinn na chur an céill. (2) Tha e air a ràdh gun d' fhuair i a mhial-chu fhéin ag òl fuil Fear Achaluachrach; agus anns ann teinn-chràdh anns an robh i, gun d' thug i an cù na 'spathaltan as a chéile.

(3) An uair a sgaoil an nnaidheachd, bha càirdean nam fear a thuit air an gluasad le cuilg bhuaireasaich. (4) Thog iad orra, dà-fhear-dheug, agus ràinig iad tigh Iain Mhic-Aindrea. (5) Bha Iain agus a bhean a stigh le chéile, agus thuig iad có a bh' aca, air ball. (6) Dh' fhoighnich na daoine de bhean-antighe am b' e so tigh Iain Mhic-Aindrea, agus c' àit an robh e fhéin. (7) Thuirt i gu misneachail gun b' e, agus nach robh e fhéin fad as. (8) Dh' iarr i orra suidhe gus an tigeadh e. (9) Cha do smuainich iad gum b' e Iain fhéin a bha na 'shuidhe taobh an teallaich; oir ged fhuair iad 'ainm 's a shloinneadh, cha d' fhuair iad a dhealbh 's a chumadh. (10) Bha a bhean a' fuineadh aig an àm, agus thilg i mir de 'n aran air an fhear a bha na 'shuidhe taobh an teallaich; agus le bagairt choimhich dh' iarr i air dol a shealltainn nach robh an fheudail ri dolaidh sam bith; agus na 'm faiceadh o a mhaighstir, fios a thoirt dà gun robh daoin'-uaisle a' feitheamh air. (11) Dh' fhalbh e le gearan, mur nach biodh e idir toileach. (12) Chaidh ise gu seòmar far an robh am balg-shaighead, agus chuir i a mach air uinneig g'a ionnsaidh e. (13) Rè na h-ùine so cha do sguir i a chumail seanachais ris na coigrich, agus ga'm frithealadh leis a' bhiadhtachd a b' fheàrr a bh' aico. (14) Dhìrich Iain am bruthach a bha fa chomhair dorus a thighe; chuir e dà-shaighid-dheug ann an rian freagarach air an torran llàmh ris, agus ghlaodh e, fear sam bith a bha ag iarraidh Iain Mhic-Aindrea e bhith a mach. (15) B' ann an sin a bha a' chabhag, gach fear a' bualadh a mach chum ionnsaidh a thoirt air Iain Mac-Aindrea; ach cha luaithe ràinig iad an dorus na bha saighdean Iain ga'n còmhlichadh agus ga'n lleagail gu llàr. (16) Cha deachaidh am fear mu dheireadh dhiubh fada o'n tigh an uair a thuit e, air chor's nach deachaidh a h-aon diubh as a dh' innseadh na nnaidheachd san tir as an d'fhalbh iad.

(17) Na 'dhéidh so bha Iain Mac-Aindrea fo fhiamh a là 's a dh' oidhche. (18) Cha robh e sàbhailte dha a bhith oidhche na 'thigh fhéin, air chor's gum bu dùth dha gearan air an oidhche sin a luaidh Fear Choileachaibh air 'ainm e. (19) Uime sin, bha a leaba aige ann am bàrr craoibh ann an Coille Uisge-Thuilnean, ann an ionad ris an abrar Giuthas-nal-Uamha gus an llà an diugh. (20) Chual iad mu 'n lleaba so ann an Lloch-abar, agus bha na h-Abraich gu tric ri fhaicinn air feadh na coille sin chum a faighinn a mach. (21) Bha iad air uairibh a' tachairt air Iain fhéin; ach cha robh iad idir a' samhlachadh gum b' e bhiodh ann—nnì a thug cothrom dha de'n d' rinn-e gu minig feum, air chor's nach do leig e aon de na chunnaig e riamh air 'ais. (22) Am fear mu dheireadh a chunnaig e dhiubh, bha e air feadh na coille gun duine leis. (23) Dh' fheòraich am fear so de dh' Iain—mar gum b' ann air son nneònachais d' a fhéin—c' àit an robh an lleaba-fhalaich aig Fear Dhail-na-h-Aitnich. (24) Fhreagair Iain gum feuchadh e sin da; agus an uair a chunnaig an t-Abraich an lleaba, sheall e mu 'n cuairt car tiota bhig, agus chuir e 'aghaidh air a dhùthaich fhéin; ach cha b' fhada chaidh e an uair a thug Iain tarraing air a' bhogha a bha air a chleith fo 'bhreacan, agus leag e am fear sin mar an ceudna gun a leigeil na b' fhaide air a thurus.

(1) When the tidings reached Lochaber, which were so distressing to the bride, she neither staved nor rested till she reached Cro-clach; and her state when she did so is more easily understood than described. (2) It is said that she found his own hound lapping the blood of the Laird of Auchlnachrae; and that in her frenzy she tore the dog asunder limb from limb.

(3) When the news spread, the friends of the slain were moved with fierce fury. (4) Twelve of them set out direct for John Macandrew's house. (5) John and his wife were both within, and at once they understood who their visitors were. (6) The men asked the goodwife if this was the house of John Macandrew, and where he was himself. (7) She boldly answer'd that it was, and that he himself was not far away. (8) She bade them sit down till he should arrive. (9) They never thought that it was John himself that was sitting at the fireside ; for though they had got his name and surname, they had not got his form and aspect. (10) His wife was baking at the time, and throwing a piece of bread at the wight who sat at the fire, she roughly ordered him to go and see that the cattle were in no mischief ; and if he saw his master, to tell him some gentlemen were waiting for him. (11) He went away muttering as if he were not at all pleased. (12) She then went to a room where the quiver was kept, and handed it out to him at the window. (13) All the while she kept talking to the strangers and entertaining them with the best provision she had. (14) John ascended the slope which faced the door of his house ; he laid twelve arrows in order on the hump beside him, and called upon any man who wanted John Macandrew, to come out. (15) In great haste each one struck out to make the attack on John Macandrew ; but no sooner had they reached the door than they were met with John's arrows and felled to the ground. (16) The last of them had not gone far from the house when he fell, so that not one of them escaped to carry the news to the country from which they set forth.

(17) John Macandrew was after this in a state of anxiety night and day. (18) It was not safe for him to be a night in his own house, so that he had occasion to regret the day when the Laird of Kyllachy addressed him by name. (19) He made his bed, therefore, in the top of a tree in Dulnan Wood, at a spot called the Pine of the Cave, to this day. (20) They heard of this bed in Lochaber, and Lochaber people were often seen searching the wood to try and discover it. (21) Occasionally they met John himself ; but they never imagined it was he—a circumstance of which he frequently availed himself, so that he never allowed one of those whom he met to return home. (22) The last one of them he saw was in the wood alone. (23) He asked John—as if for curiosity—where was the secret lair of the Man of Dalnacathan. (24) John replied that he would point it out to him ; and when the Lochaber man saw the bed, he looked about for a moment, and then set his face for his own country ; but he had not gone far when John drew the bow which was concealed under his plaid, and shot that one also without letting him further on his way.

(25) There is no record of all he slew during his life, but it is said that the number of his victims must have been great ; and no man ever gained a victory over himself, though he became an old man before he died.

LESSON VIII.

A' BHAN-RIGHINN ANN AM BEALACH—1842.

(1) Ged nach robh sùil ris a' Bhan-righinn gu feasgar, bha muinntir na dìuthcha a' cruinneachadh o' mhoch-thrath ; agus mu mheadhon llà bha anabarr sluaigh air an turus gu Caisteal Bhealaich ; oir thilg am Morair a' phàirce mhór fosgailte air an llà so, chum gum faigheadh gach aon llàn a shùl de 'n Bhan-righinn agus de 'n Phrionnsa, agus de na bha a' dol air aghaidh. (2) Chan 'eil e comasach tuilleadh 's a' chòir de chliù a thoirt do 'n uasal fhìlathasach so air-son a shuaircis agus a choibhneis aig an àm so. (3) Cha do dhiùltadh neach, bochid no nochd ; agus cha di-chuimhnicear sin dàsan.

(4) Beagan an déidh mheadhon llà, chunnacas na Gàidhil na 'n éideadh a' cruinneachadh fo chaithream iollagach nam fichead piob, agus an cinn-fheadhna air an ceann. (5) B' ann doibh fhéin a thigeadh am féile ! (6) Bha na Caimbeulaich, còrr agus còig-ciad, fo chomannd oighre a' Mhorair—Tighearn òg Ghlinn-falach ; agus da-rìreadh bu dreachmhor a' bhuidheann

iad. (7) Bha iad air an éideadh ann am breacan glas nan ciòbairean, le gunna-caol an fhéidh an llàmh gach fir. (9) So an fheadhainn a bha ri dol air llorg an fhéidh an llà-ar-namhàireach. (10) Bha iad uile na 'n gillean anabarrach eireachdail, air rogha cumadh o 'm mullach gu 'm brògan.

(11) An déidh do na Caimbeulaich a bhith an òrdugh, chualas piob. (12) Có a bha an so ach Sir Niall Mèinn le 'thuath agus le 'chinneach, air an éideadh gu h-eireachdail ann am breacan a theaghlaich—geal is dearg—e fhéin, an llaoch flathail, air stend-each cho geal ris a' chanach—a mhac òg r' a thaobh, agus na ceatharnaich shùnnach a' mèarsadh na 'n déidh. (13) Tharraing iad suas fo àrd-iolach an t-sluaigh do 'n àite a chuireadh air lleth air an son.

THE QUEEN AT TAYMOUTH—1842.

(1) Though the Queen was not expected till evening, the country people were gathering since early morning; and by mid-day there was a vast multitude of people on their way to Taymouth Castle; for the Marquis had this day thrown open the great park, so that every one should have a full view of the Queen and the Prince, and all that was happening. (2) It is impossible to give too much praise to this princely nobleman for his generosity and kindness at this time. (3) No one was excluded—poor or poorly clad—and this will not be forgotten to him.

(4) A little after mid-day the Highlanders were seen assembling in full costume, to the inspiring strains of bagpipes a full score, and with their chiefs at their head.

(5) And well did their uniforms become them! (6) The Campbells, over five hundred, were under the command of the Marquis's heir—the young laird of Glenfalloch; and a truly handsome body they were. (7) They were divided into five companies, with a stalwart chief ain at the head of each. (8) The light company were arrayed in grey shepherd's tartan, each one carrying a rifle. (9) This was the party who were to hunt the deer on the morrow. (10) They were all exceedingly handsome fellows, well-formed from head to foot.

(11) After the Campbells were placed in order, the sound of the pipes was heard. (12) Who should this be but Sir Neil Menzies, with his tenantry and clan, richly arrayed in the tartan of his family—white and red—he himself, the noble hero, riding a snow-white steed—his young son by his side, and his brave and hearty retainers marching behind them. (13) They drew up amid cheers at the spot selected for them.

LESSON IX.

(1) Bha seòladairean a' Mhorair a làthair cuideachd, le 'm brigisean geala agus le 'n adaichean-fairge agus cuairt òir mu 'n timchioll. (2) Bha bratach Bhraid-Albann fhéin a snàmh sa' ghaoith air mullach a' chaisteil; agus bha dithis de sheòladairean na Ban-righinn, fear air gach taobh de 'n chrann, chum a tarraing a nuas agus a' bliratach dhearg bhuadhach a chur suas na 'h-àite, cho lluath 's a thigeadh a' Bhan-righinn san t-sealladh. (3) Bha cuideachd de 'n deagh réisimeid Ghàidh-calaich, Feachd Dhiùc Gordoin, maille ri marcaichean, air a'

bhlàr, agus a' h-uile nnì an òrdugh, gun smid a beul, ach gach sùil air a' chachaileith air an robh a' Bhan-righinn ri tighinn a steach. (4) Chìeadh am Morair e fhéin agus na flaithean àrda bha maille ris, air an ais agus air an aghaidh, le 'm boineid 's le 'm féile, a' cur gach nnì ceart, agus a' socrachadh gach cùis; agus gu dearbh chan olc a thig am féile dha fhéin, an t-uasal eireachdail, dreachmhor. (5) Tha e air a ràdh gun do chosd a bhoineid i fhein eadar trì-fichead agus ceithir-fichead punnd Sasunnach.

(6) Chunnacas a nis an carbad Rìoghail a' tighinn. (7) Leum na marcaichean an glaic an diollaид, agus ghabh gach iosal agus uasal àite fhein. (8) Air lleth-uai: an déidh sè san anmoch bha i taobh a stigh na páirc. (9) Chualas a nis iolach an t-sluaigh a fhuair a' chiad sealladh dhi. (10) Shéid an trombaid. (11) Ghlaodh am Morair le guth fearail, oscarach, "Bithibh deas, a chlanna nan Gàidheal!" (12) Shéid còig-piobairean-deug an aon phort-fàilte. (13) Thàinig gach ad agus boineid a nuas. (14) Rèub na speuran leis an àrd-iolach. (15) Thugadh bratach Bhraid-Albann a nuas, agus chuireadh suas a' bhratach dhearg Rìoghail Bhreatannach, agus Mac-Dhùghaill Latharna na 'taice, le 'chlaindheamh rùisgte an tarraing. (16) Dh' fhosgail na gunnachan-móra an craos, agus loisg iad o gach cnoc. (17) Flreagair mìle cnoc is glaic. (18) Ghiùlain Lloch-Tatha an fhuaim o cheàrn gu ceàrn, 's o thaobh gu taobh. (19) Chìeadh fiadh is earb, le 'n cròic-chabar, na 'n cruimh-lleum a' diréadh ri mullach nam beann; an coileach-dubh 's a' chearc-thomain air an sgéith; na maighich 's na coineanan na 'n geathadaich; agus am buar 's an earbuill air an guaillean. (20) Bha còisir-chiùil anns gach àite; agus cha robh ach aighear, is solas, is greadhnachas, is pailteas air gach llàimh ann am Braid-Albann.

(1) The Marquis's yachtsmen were present also, with white trousers and sailor hats encircled with gold bands. (2) The Breadalbane flag floated in the breeze, on the top of the castle; and two men of the Queen's Navy stood, one on either side of the flag-pole, ready to pull down the flag and put up the famous red ensign in its place, whenever the Queen came in sight. (3) A company of the fine Highland Regiment, the Gordon Highlanders, with some horsemen, were on the ground, and everything in order; not a word was heard, and every eye was fixed upon the gate by which the Queen was to enter. (4) The Marquis himself and the noblemen who were with him, might be seen moving backward and forward, dressed in kilt and bonnet, setting things to rights and putting all in order; and indeed well does the kilt become that well-formed, handsome nobleman. (5) It is said that his bonnet alone cost between £60 and £80.

(6) The Royal carriage was now seen approaching. (7) The horsemen leaped into their saddles, and every one, high and low, took his appointed place. (8) At half-past six in the evening She was within the park. (9) Now was heard the cheering of the people who had caught the first sight of Her. (10) The trumpet sounded. (11) The Marquis called out in a loud and manly tone, " Sons of the Gael, be ready." (12) Fift-en pipers struck up one strain of welcome. (13) Every head was bared. (14) The sky rent with shouts of joy. (15) The Breadalbane flag was pulled down, and up went the Royal British ensign, supported by Macdougall of Lorn, with drawn sword. (16) The big guns opened their mouths and roared from every height. (17) A thousand hills and glens re-echoed the sound. (18) Loch Tay carried the thunder from place to place, and from shore to shore. (19) Stag and roe with their branching antlers, might be seen bounding to the hill tops ; black-cock and partridge were instantly on the wing ; hares and rabbits went scudding off ; and the sober cattle hoisted their tails and joined the general scurry. (20) Joy abounded on every side ; and mirth, and pleasure, and pomp, and festivity filled Breadalbane from end to end.

LESSON X.

TAILLEAR DUBH NA TUAGHE.

(1) Am measg nan còmhl-strithean guineach nach b' ainneamh aig clanna Ghàidheal, is iomadh llatha fuileach agus deannal cruaidh a chuireadh air fraoch-bheanna gorma nan Garbh-chrioch, air nach 'eil iomradh no ainnm aig lluchd-seanachais san linn so. (2) B' ann diubh so a' choinne ghrùbin-bhuilleach a thug na Camshronaich do Chlann-an-Tòisich aig bràigh Loch-iall.

(3) Bha Mac-an-Tòisich san àm sin ag agairt còir air fearann Mhic-Dhòmhnaill-Duibh, agus air tigh nan Camshronach a chur fo smachd. (4) Ghluais e le dà-chiad ceatharnach sgairsteil, fo 'n armaibh, do n tir Abraich. (5) Ghabh e air adhart troimh 'n dùthaich gun bhacadh, gus an do ràinig e ceann Loch-iall, far an do chaidil e fhéin agus a dhaoine. (6) Aig éirigh na gréine sa' mhadainn thog iad orra 'mach ri gualainn Beinn-an-t-Sneachda, gu tilleadh dhachaидh d' an tir fhéin troimh thaobh Loch-Arcaig. (7) Cha b' fhada chaidh iad air an adhart gus am fac' iad Mac-Dhòmhnaill-Duibh le sè-fichead gaisgeach a' tighinn na 'n còmhdhail. (8) Thuig iad gu math nach bu chòmhdhail chàirdeil a bha air an aire, agus dheasaich gach fear e fhéin gu bàs-ghleachd. (9) Bha cothrom a' bhruthaich aig na Camshronaich, ach bha am barrachd sluaigh air taobh nan Tòiseach. (10) Sheas Mac-an-Tòisich agus a dhaoine air llèanaig leth-bhruthaich, mu mheadhon a' mhàim, agus eridhe gach fir air mhire gu còmh-stri. (11) Mar bheum-sléibhe a' sguabadh a' gharbhlaich, bhuail na Camshronaich g' an ionnsaidh, agus buaidh no bàs an gnùis gach seòid. (12) Léum na glas-lannan a truaillean, agus ghrad thruailleadh gorm-bhrat drùchdach a' blàir le ful chraobhach nan llaoch borb. (13) Ach comharrachte os cionn gach treun-fhir, chìteadh ursann-chatha nan Camshronach, Tàillear Dubh na Tuaghe, le thuaigh bhàs-bhuillich a' sgathadh cheann is chorp mar chuisseagan rainich. (14) Gach taobh air an tionndadh e ghearradh e bealach troimh shreathan nan nnàimhdean. (15) A dh' aindeoin cruidal nan Catanach, cha b' urrainn doibh seasamh an aghaidh cath-chuthach nan Camshronach. (16) Blàrùchd iad air an ais air gach taobh; agus ged rinn an ceannard treubhach na dh' fhaoadh e, chuireadh an ruaig orra. (17) Leis a' blàruthach dh' aom iad, agus na Camshronaich air an tòir. (18) Mu 'n cuairt ceann Loch-iall ghabh iad, agus llasachadh cha d' rinn iad gus an d' ràinig iad taobh Aird-Ghobhar, far an do sheas Mac-an-Tòisich Mór air mullach cloiche, an cladach na tràghad, d' an ainm fhathast "Clach Mhic-an-Tòisich," agus thug a dhaoine an t-ath-thilleadh orra mu 'n cuairt da. (19) Thòisich iomairt nan arm as ùr. (20) Le sàthainmean troma nan cruidh-lann dh' fhàgadh iomadh fear fearail gun llùths. (21) Bha Mac-an-Tòisich Mór, le 'chlaidheamh-dà-làimhe a' cur gu bàs gach fir a thigeadh mar astar buille dha, gus an d' thàinig an Tàillear Dubh le 'thuaigh thoirbheartaich m' a choinne. (22) Tharraing e an claidheamh-mór le 'uile neart, a los an Tàillear a sgoltadh gu 'chruachainn; ach sheachain esan an ionnsaigh, agus le buille guineach o 'thuaigh choimhlich, theòma, rèub e Mac-an-Tòisich. (23) Dhòmhlaich a dhaoine mu 'n cuairt da gu 'theàrnadh o bhuiilcan nan nnàimhdean, gun chìram mu ni fo 'n ghréin ach dioghaltais a thoirt a mach air son ful an Cinn-chinnidh; ach a dh' aindeoin an treuntais agus an rùin, b' eigin doibh a rithist an ruaig a ghabhail. (24) Thog iad an ceannard air an guailleann, agus ged a bha na Camshronaich ga 'n sgath as gach taobh, ghiùlain iad e gu Bun Gharbhain, far an do chasadadh an tòir cho teann orra 's nach robh dòigh air dol na b' fhaide.

THE BLACK TAILOR OF THE BATTLE-AXE.

(1) Among the sharp conflicts which were not infrequent among the Highland clans, there was many a bloody day and fierce encounter on the purple hills of the Wilds that are not recorded nor even mentioned by the historians of our time. (2) Of these was the hard-fought meeting between the Camerons and the Mackintoshes on the braes of Loch Eit. (3) Mackintosh was at this time claiming the right to the lands of Lochiel, and sought to put the house of Cameron under subjection. (4) With two hundred chosen champions, he set out for the Lochaber country. (5) He proceeded through the district without interruption till he reached the head of Loch Eil, where he and his men passed the night. (6) At sunrise in the morning they struck across by the shoulder of Snowben, purposing to return to their own country by the side of Loch Arkaig. (7) They had not proceeded far when they saw Lochiel with a hundred and twenty warriors coming to meet them. (8) Well they knew that it was to be no friendly meeting, and every man prepared himself for a death-struggle. (9) The Camerons had the advantage of occupying the high ground, but the Mackintoshes were the more numerous body. (10) Mackintosh and his men took their stand upon a smooth slope about the middle of the hill and every man's heart beat eager for the fray. (11) Like the avalanche that sweeps the mountain side, the Camerons rushed down upon them, and victory or death was in every face. (12) Swords leaped from scabbards, and soon the dewy green carpet under their feet was stained with the flowing heart-blood of the furious combatants. (13) But conspicuous above all the heroes might be seen the Cameron champion, the Black Tailor of the Battle-axe, with his death-dealing weapon, shearing heads and bodies like bracken stalks. (14) To whichever hand he turned he cut a gap through the ranks of the enemy. (15) Despite the firmness of the Cattan men, they could not stand against the battle-fury of the Camerons. (16) They fell back in a body on every side ; and though their brave leader did his utmost, they were defeated. (17) Down the hill they retreated, with the Camerons in pursuit. (18) Round they fled by the head of Loch Gil, and never halted till they reached the side of Ardgour, where Mackintosh stood on a stone on the sea-shore, still called "Mackintosh's Stone" where his men rallied round him. (19) Once more the play of arms began. (20) The Mackintosh Chief, with his two-handed sword, cut down every man who came within reach of his blows, till the Black Tailor, with his peerless axe, stood face to face with him. (22) He drew his sword with all his might to cleave the Tailor to the haunches ; but he evaded the stroke and with one fell cut of his deft hatchet he wounded Mackintosh. (23) His men closed about him to succour him from the blows of the enemy, caring for nothing under the sun but to avenge their Chief ; but in spite of their determination and their strength they had to retreat a second time. (24) Lifting their leader on their shoulders, though the Camerons were mowing them down on every side, they carried him to Garvan Mouth, where the pursuit became so close that they could go no farther.

(1) Thionndaidh i d' an treas uair air an lluchd-tòrachd, le llàrn riùn seasamh no tuiteam anns an àite 's an do stadh iad. (2) Thòisich an gleachd bàsmhor le ùrachadh goimh. (3) Thuit a' chuid a bu mhò de Chlann-an-Tòisich air an raon. (4) Ghlacadh Mac-an-Tòisich Mór, agus a mhac ; agus am beagan a bha beò de 'n daoine, sgap iad as a cheile. (5) Ach chuir an nnàimhdean guineach romhpa nach rachadh as dhiùbh fear a dh' innseadh sgeòil. (6) Dh' fhàg iad Mac-an-Tòisich agus a mhac fo chùram nam ban, agus air toir chàich ghabh iad. (7) Shìn iad orra a mach am monadh. (8) Bha an saighdean siùblach a' giùlan bàis gu fear is fear, gus an do ràinig iad mullach a' mhàim. (9) Bha a' ghrian a' cromadh san iar, agus séimh-bhrat dubharach na h-eidhche a' sgaoileadh a sgàil' iarnaiddh thar aghaidh shàmhach nan speur. (10) Bha eòin b'ruachallach an t-sléibh gu caidreich, guumach, a' gabhail tàimh an èös nam bruach, agus ùdlaiche cabrach nam fàs-ghlac, fo dhùbhar na daraig aosda, a' siabdh nan cuileag o bhian calgach, an uair a bhrist an ruaig a steach air Cona-ghleann. (11) Bho òg-mhadainn an llatha shamhraidh, gu ciaradh anmoch an fheasgair, fosadh cha deachaidh air sonn san strìth ; ach, mu dheireadh, bha céum an treun-laoich a bu diorrasaiche

a' dol am maillead san ruaig, agus shaoil na bha beò de na Catanaich nach rachteadh na b' fhaide air an tòir. (12) Chruinnich iad còmhla a chur seachad na h-oidhche ann an glaic uaignidh, air taobh Chona-ghlinn, d' an ainm Cùil-nan-Cuilcag; ach is gann a ghabh iad gu fois an uair a bha an Tàillear Dubh le buidhinn de na Canishronaich air am muin. (13) Leun gach fear air a bhonnaibh, agus spionadh gach glas-lann a duille; ach ged nach robh llaigse air an imntinn, bha an llùths air an tréigsinn. (14) Thuit iad far an do sheas iad, fo fhaobharan fuileach an lluchd-mìoruin. (15) Cha d' fhàgadh beò de 'n dà-chiad gaisgeach a ghluais do 'n tìr Abraich, neach a bheireadh sgeul mu 'n déidhinn d' an dùth-aich fhéin.

(16) Thill Mac-Dhòmhnaill-Duibh agus a dhaoine gu Bun Gharbhain far an d' fhàg iad Mac-an-Tòisich Mór 's a mhac. (17) Chuir iad an oidhche seachad san àite sin, agus air madainn an llà-ar-na-mhàireach rinn iad deas gu dol dachaiddh; ach so far an robh a' chùis-iomagain do Mhac-Dhòmhnaill-Duibh. (18) Is i nnighean Mhic-an-Tòisich a bha aige mar mhnaoi; agus ma 's fior an radh, cha b' i an t-sóbhrach i. (19) Cha chuireadh gnùis nnàmhaid fo 'n ghréin athadh air; ach bha sgàth nach bu bheag air dol dachaiddh gu 'mhnaoi, an déidh a cinneadh a sgrios agus a h-athair is a bràthair a ghlacadh na 'm priosanaich. (20) Cha b' e sin do 'n Tàillear Dhubb e; fireann no boireann bu choma dhàsan cò dhiùbh. (21) Air an aobhar sin chuireadh air falbh e roimh chàch do dh' Achadh-na-Cairidh, a dh' innseadh do 'n bhaintighearna mar a thachair. (22) Ràinig e am baile gu h-uallach, suigeartach; agus air dha bualadh aig dorus an tighe, dh' phosgladh dhà e leis a' bhaintighearna i fhéin. (23) Dh' fhàiltich i gu fialaidh, fuaranach e, agus dh' fhoighneachd i ciod a bu naidheachd dha. (24) Fhreagair e gu suilbhír gun robh nnaidheachd mìath—gun robh biam cait an dingh air plang, agus rogha 's taghadh air peighinn. (25) Dh'atharraich a gnùis air cluinnntinn a sgeòil, ach chum i oirre fhéin, agus thuirt i, “Thig a mòs, a Thàilleir, agus fag do thuagh shios.”

(26) “Far am bi mi fhéin bidh mo thuagh,” ars' an Tàillear. (27) Thuig i nach rachadh aice air a fearg a chaitheadh air an Tàillear; agus le teum cuthaich rug i air a lleanabh fhéin, agus thilg i ann an teis-meadhoin na grìosaich e. (28) Thug an Tàilleir duibh-leum far an robh i, 's a thuagh na 'tàimh; agus le sgairt uamhasaich ghlaodh e, “A bhean a rug an lleanabh, tog an lleanabh!”

(29) Chuir colg agus coltas an llaoich erith oirre. (30) Bu bhuidhe leatha an lleanabh a ghrad theannachdad, agus a bhith réidh ris an Táillear, gus an d' thainig Mac-Dhòmhnaill-Duibh agus a dhaoine dachaидh. (31) Chumadh Mac-an-Tòisich Mór agus a mhac an Achadh-na-Cairidh gus an robh an Ileòin air lleigheas; ach mu 'n d' fhuair iad dol a rithist d' an dùthaich fhéin, thug Mac-an-Tòisich còir sgriobhте o làimh do Mhac-Dhòmhnaill-Duibh air oighreachd Loch-abar, a shealbh-aich a shliochd o 'n uair sin.

(1) They turned for the third time upon their assailants, fully determined to stand or fall upon the spot. (2) The deadly strife began once more with renewed ferocity. (3) The greater number of the Mackintoshes fell upon the field. (4) The Mackintosh Chief and his son were taken; and the few of their men who survived were scattered asunder. (5) But their ruthless enemies resolved that one of them should escape to tell the tale. (6) They left Mackintosh and his son to the care of the women, and set off after the others. (7) They pressed upon them across the moor. (8) Their fleet arrows carried death to man after man till they reached the top of the hill. (9) The sun was sinking in the west, and the soft and dusky curtains of night were spreading their gloomy shades over the face of the sky. (10) The winged denizens of the moor were fondly and warmly resting under shelter of the banks, and the antlered monarch of the wild stood under the shadow of the ancient oak shaking the flies from his tawny hide, as the rout broke in upon Cona Glen. (11) From the golden dawn of the summer day, till darkening night, no rest found hero in the strife; but at last the step of the most obstinate became fainter in the flight; and as many as were still alive of the Cattans thought that their pursuers would come no farther. (12) They meant to pass the night in a shady hollow at the side of Cona Glen, called the Nook of the Flies; but they had scarcely lain down to rest when the Black Tailor and a party of the Camerons were ag'in upon them. (13) Every man sprang to his feet, and every sword leaped from its scabbard; but though their spirit was unflagging, their strength was gone. (14) They fell where they stood, under the blood-thirsty blades of their enemies. (15) Of the two hundred heroes who had set out for the Lochaber country, there was left alive not one man to carry home the story of their fate.

(16) Lochiel and his men returned to Garvan Mouth, where they had left the Mackintosh Chief and his son. (17) They passed the night in that place, and on the morrow they made ready to return home; but here Lochiel's perplexity began. (18) His wife was a daughter of Mackintosh; and if all tales be true, she was no gentle floweret. (19) He would flinch from no enemy under the sun; but it was with no slight misgiving he thought of going home to his wife, after destroying her kindred and making prisoners of her father and her brother. (20) But the Black Tailor had no such qualms; for male or female he cared nothing. (21) Consequently he was despatched in advance to Achnacarry, to carry the tidings to her ladyship. (22) He arrived at the mansion in his airiest, jauntiest mood; and knocking at the door it was opened by the lady herself. (23) She welcomed him warmly and heartily, and inquired his news. (24) He answered her pleasantly that his news was good news—that a ear's skin might be had that day for a plack, and the choicest and best for a penny. (25) Her aspect changed on hearing this, but repressing her feelings, she said, "Come forward, Tailor, but leave behind your battle-axe."

(26) "Where I go myself my axe must follow," said the Tailor.

(27) She knew that her rage would be spent in vain upon the Tailor; and with one wild swoop she lifted her own child and dashed it in the fire. (28) The Tailor made a furious bound towards her, with axe in hand; and with a terrific shout he said, "Woman, who bore the child, take up the child!"

(29) His fury and his aspect made her tremble. (30) She was glad to succour the child, instantly, and to make peace with the Tailor, till Lochiel and his men came home. (31) The Mackintosh Chief and his son were kept at Achnacarry till their wounds were healed; but ere they returned again to their own country, Mackintosh gave over to Lochiel under written title the estate of Lochaber, which his descendants have held in possession from that hour.

SGEUL MU CHOIRE-NA-SITHE.

Thachair dhomh 'bhith a' siubhal, o chionn beagan bhliadh-naichean, troimh Gharbh-chriochan na Gàidhealtachd, troimh mhonaidhean fiadhaich, far nach robh aon rathad, an uair a thuit domh, air feasgar samhraidh, 'bhith air mo chuaирteachadh ann an ceò dùmhail, an uair a bha mi a' gabhail ath-ghoirid thairis air guala beinne cho àrd 's a bha san dùthraig. Mar bha àgh orm, bha fear-cuaирteachaidh nan crìochan farsaing sin maille rium san àm, a thug mi leam gu m' sheòladh gu bearradh àrd, as am faicinn sealladh air a' ghleann chum an robh mi a' dol. Fada mu 'n d' ràinig sinn am bearradh so, thuit an ceò cho dùmhail 's gum b' amaideach smuaineachadh dol na b' fhaide air ar n-aghaидh. Bha Eachann Ruadh Saighdear, a bha maille rium, na 'dhuine tuigseach; bha e fada san arm; chuir e suas an cóta-dearg fo 'n Cheannard urramach sin, Ailein-an-Earrachd. Bha e maille ris ann an ionadh cath cruaидh, agus b' fhiach e éisdeachd gach sgeul a bha aige mu gach sealladh déisinneach a chunnaig e. An uair a thuig e nach robh e tèranteimeachd na b' fhaide air bile nan sgàirneach a bha fodhainn, threòraich e mi gu bun na frìthe, far an robh ionad dionach anns am faodamaid fuireach gu madainn. An uair a bha sinn a' tèarnadh, dh' fheòraich mi dheth an robh na creagan a bha na 'bheachd fada uainn. "Tha creagan gu leòir far a bheil sinn, agus tha uaimh phasgach goirid o 'n àite so," ars' esan; "ach 's coma leam iad; tha e cho math dhuinn an seachnad. Is e so," thuirt esan, ann an guth iosal, mar gum biodh e a' cagarsaich am chluais, "Is e so Coire-na-Sithe; agus, a dh' innseadh na firinn, b' fheàrr leam a bhith fliuch leis a' cheò, na fasgadh 'iarraidh anns na h-àiteachan grannda sin." "Chan fhaod e 'bhith," thuirt mi ris, "gu bheil thusa, Eachainn, a' creidsinn a leithid sin de dh' amaideachd; gun teagamh chan 'eil thu ach ri feala-dhà." "Feala-dhà ann no as," thuirt esan, "is coma leam iad; mar thuirt an seann duine, 'Fhad 's a dh' fhuiricheas an t-ole uainn fuiricheamaid uaith.' Thig air d' adhart ; tha sinn dlùth do dh' Uaimh-na-h-Ochanaich ; ach beannachd na 'n siubhal 's na 'nimeachd, 's i an nochd Di-h-aoine, agus cha-chluinn iad sinn."

Thug mi air seasamh car tamaill, is thòisich mi air cur an céill da faoineachd a leithid sin de smuaintean. Chual' e mi gu deireadh, gun stad a chur air mo sheanachas ; ach a' socrachadh a bhreacain thar a ghualainn, 's a' toirt sgrogaidh a nuas air a bhoineid, għreimich e na bu timne am bata bha na 'lāimh, agus thug e ceum air aghaidh, ag ràdh, " Bi b'uidhinn an dràsta, éisdidh mi riut am màireach ; gabhamaid seachad air an àm ; chan àite so gu móran seanachais a labhairt."—" Dean stad, Eachainn," thuirt mi ris ; " tha mi a' cur romham an oidhche 'chur seachad ann an Uaimh-na-h-Ochanaich ; fuirich leam, 's na fàg mi. Ach ma tha eagal ort,"—" Eagal!" ars' Eachann, 's e a' tionndadh air a shàil ; " bi air d' earalas, a dhuine chòir, agus tagh do chainnt ; ged nach tig dhòmhσa a ràdh, is tu fhéin a' chiad fhear a chuir eagal as mo leth." " Tha mi ag iarraidh maitheanais," thuirt mi ris ; " thig leam do 'n uaimh, agus feuchaidh sinn ciod a th' agad ann an lùib do bhreacain, is ni sinn réite." " Théid mi leat," ars' an saighdear còir, " agus fuirichidh mi leat, ged a bhiodh e làn de na Frangaich, gun teachd air na crealtairean leibideach, faoin sin, nach 'eil, ma dh' fhaodteadh, ann idir, ged tha leithid de sheanachas mu 'n timchioll."

Bha sinn a nis aig beul na h-uamha, agus sheas Eachann Ruadh. " Sin i agad a nis," thuirt e ; " agus urram na h-uaisle do 'n choigreach, gabb air d' adhart." Chaidh sinn a steach fo dhòn, agus shuidh sinn air a' chiad chloich chothromaich a fhuair sinn. Cha robh mo chompanach ro dheònach air móran cainnte ; bha e a' sgioblachadh a bhreacain, an uair a ghrad thog e a cheann mar gum buileadh peileir e. " Ciod e so?" thuirt e, 's e a' farcluais ; " mur creid thu mise, creid do chluasan." Thàinig a nuas oirnn sa' cheart àm sin ceòl tiamhaidh, binn, nach d' fhiosraich mi éisdeachd r' a leithid riagh roimhe ; agus bha dearbh fhios agam nach b' ann o aon inneal-ciùil a b' aithne dhomh a thàinig e. Chan fhaodadh so gun mhór iognadh a chur oirnn. Bha an oidhche dorcha ; bha an t-àite ùdlaidh, uaigneach ; bha sinn fada o thigheadas dhaoine, am measg garbhlach chreag, ann an coire fiadhaich. Eagal cha robh orm, oir bha mi làn-chìnnteach gum bu cheòl saoghalta a bha ann, agus chur mi romham, na 'm b' urrainn domh, 'fhaotainn a mach cia as a thàinig e. "An téid thu suas leam, Eachainn?" "Théid," ars' esan, agus e a' cur seachad na bha e a' toirt as a bhreacan; "is minic a thachair e mar so fhéin, eadar am bile 's an deoch. Shaoilinn gum biodh e cho mathi fuireach gu madainn; ach cuimhnich, 'Am fear a théid san dris, gun iomair e teachd as mar a dh' fhaodas e.' " Ghabh sinn suas, am feedh a bha an ceòl a' sior tnàs na b' àirde. Fa-dheireadh thainig lèus soluis oirnn; sheas Eachann beagan air deireadh, 's an uair a chaidh mi tinichioll stùc creige, chunnaig mi sealladh nach teid gu luath as m' aire. Dh' fhan mo chompanach far an robh e, theagamh a' smuaineachadh gum faca mi tuilleadh 's a bn mhiann leam. Bha lasair chridheil theine aig ceann shuas na h-uamha, o ghiuthas seachdta a bha pailt mu 'n àite; agus na 'shuidhe aig an teine bha leth sheann duine làidir, colgarra; currac àrd, molach, air a cheann, anns an robh dos de dh' ite an fhìrein, agus a chóm uile air a' chòmhachadh le biana fhiadh agus earb. Bha làn shealladh agamsa air-san, ged nach b' urrainn dàsan mise 'fhaicinn. Bha e 'cluiche gu sùrdail air dà thruimb mhóir Abraich, a bha air an dèanamh 's an àm sin gu h-ealanta, dlùth do sheana Chaisteal Dubh Inbhir-Lòchaidh. An crochadh ris gach mèur d' a lamhan, bha clag beag airgid, a rinn fuaim anabarrach binn, agus o 'n do thàrraich a' cho-sheirm a chuir ormsa uiread iongantais, agus na 'm faodteadh a ràdh, a chuir mo chompanach fo eagal cho mór. "Thig air d' adhart," thuirt mi gu sàmhach ri Eachann. "A bheil iad an sin?" thuirt e. "A bheil iad a' dannsadhl san t-solus, no ri fleadhachas-cuirme?" Dhlùthaich e gu sgàthach ri m' thaobh, agus air dha a' chiad phlathadh 'fhaicinn de 'n flear-chiùil, thug e sitheadh seachad orm, a' glaodhaich a mach le aighear nach b' urrainn da a cheannsachadh, "Iain Mhóir nan Creag, an tua tha 'n so? Mo bheannachd air do cheann molach; is mi a tha toilichte d' fhaicinn!"

Dh' éirich Iain bochd, agus chuir e fàilte oirnn, a' tilgeil tuilleadh mhaidean air an teine. Shuidh sinn mu 'n cuairt air a' chagait; agus dh' aidich Eachann còir, oir cealg cha robh na 'chóm, nach b' urrainn da gu bràth a bhith cho taingeil 's a bhuineadh dha, air son nach d' fhuair e cead tilleadh, mar bha rùn air, an uair a chual' e an ceòl. "Is ioma sgeul," thuirt e, "a chuala mi riamh mu Choire-na-Sithe; 's na 'm bithinn an nochd air tilleadh gun so 'fhaicinn, bha mo sgèula fhéin chum an dearbhadh. Cha tugadh am ministeur fhéin orm a chreidsinn nach robh na daoine-beaga ann an Uaimh-na-h-Ochanaich."

Dh' fheòraich mi dheth an robh da-rìreadh eagal air? "Eagal!" thuirt esan, agus e a' suathadh air falbh an fhallais fhuaire a bha fhathast air a ghnùis; "air nàile bha, 's gu leòir dheth; barrachd 's a bha riamh orm a' dol sìos do 'n bhlàr le Ailein-an-Earrachd; ach ma bhà cha bhì tuilleadh mu 'n ghnothach cheudna."

Tha so a' leigeil ris duinn cia co faoin an nì o 'n éirich seanachas dùthcha mu nì bha iad gnàthaichte a chreidsinn: agus na 'n rannsaicheadh daoine gu mionaideach mu 'thimchioll, thuigeadh iad gur e bha ann, an àite a bhith na-chùis-eagail, culaidh-à-bhacaic agus fearas-chuideachd.

Fhuair mi mach o Eachann eachdraidh an duine bhochd so a bha 's an uaimh. Bu neò-dhuine gun mhath gun mhilleadh e, a nuas o 'òige. Ged a bha e gun mhóran toinig no tuigse, bha e na 'sheòl fhéin fo chàileigin de mheas anns an dùthach. Bha e eòlach air aisridh chumhang an fhéidh 's na h-earba, agus b' e 'thoileachas-inntinn an fhaoghaid a leantainn le òigridh na tire. Cha robh bearradh, no bealach, no aithghearradh troimh mhonadh, no beul-àtha air abhainn, no càrn, no garaidh, air nach robh e mion eòlach. Rè an t-samhraidh b' i uaimh nan creag a chòmhnuidh; għluais e o àirigh gu àirigh, 's cha deachaidh e riamh air falbh falamh o aon diùbh. Cha bhiodh e gun lòn fhad 's a bhiodh dearc air tom, meas no cnothan ann an coille; chan fhàilnicheadh a leaba am feadh a gheabhadh e fraoch badanach, gorm, a' fàs gu dosrach anns gach àite; agus mar thuirt e fhéin, bha a chuid tromb soirbh r' an gleusadh. Bha a dhachaidh anns gach àite far an laigheadh a' ghrian air; agus còmhla cha do dhruideadh riamh air. Cha robh a mhàileid doirbh r' a giùlan, cha robh innse ach a' chlach-theine agus am fada-spuinge; sgian-dubh a dh' fhionnnadh nam fiadh; ribe a għlacadh an fhirein, agus cromag iarainn a lùbadh nan gèug. Ach ma bha an duine bochd so air bheag eòlais, bu taitneach r' a fhaicinn an t-saothair a għabb a phàrantan air ann an làithean oige. Għabb e dhuinn móran de laoidhean agus de dhànaibh naomha; rinn e so le uiread chràbhaidh, agus air dòigh a bu stólda na ionadh fear a b' fhaide leughadhi. Sheinn e iad le fonn tiamhaidh, muladach, is e ri turaman air 'ais agus air 'aghaidh, a ràinig mo chridhe. Mu 'n do leag e a thaobh ri lär, dh' earb e e fhéin ri Dia. "Allabanaich bhochd," thuirt mi rium fhéin, "caidil gu tèaruinte; gabhaidli Dia cùram dhiot. Truagh 's mar tha thu ann am beachd an t-saogħail, tha thu cho priseil na 'shealladhsan ris an righ is mò air thalamh. Is lionmhor iad a tha air an oidhche nochd air an dìteadh leat, d' an d' thug Dia tuigse, fiosrachadh, agus fòghlum, a tha a' laighe sìos air an leapaichean riomhach, gun suim dàsan a tha os an cionn, o bheil iad a' sealbhachadh gach beannachd."

LITIR O FHIONNLAGH PIOMAIRE G' A MHNAOI.

A MHAIRI, A GHRAIDH,—Is bliadhna leam gach là o 'n a dhealaich mi riut fhéin agus ris na páisdean. Tha mi an dràst ann an Glaschu mór nan stiopall, baile na gleadhraich. O nach robh mi aon uair eile am shìneadh air bruach na h-aibhlme, far nach cluinninn ach tormain nan allt, bàirich nam bó, agus ceileireadh nan èunn. Tha mi nis, mar a gheall mi, dol a dh' innseadh dhuit mar fhuair mi a mach.

Tha cuimhn' agad fhéin mar a dhealaich sinn. Thog mi orm le boesa na pioba gu beul a' chaolais. Is ann an sin a bha 'n othail—Marsali Mhór agus na buanaichean a bha leatha cho aoibhinn, aighearach, 's ged nach biodh iad ach a' dol do 'n choille-chnò. Có bha am broilleach na cuideachd ach Pàra Mór, le 'fheile-beag 's le 'bhoineid, mar a b' àbhaist da; cuaille de bhata daraich na laimh, agus màileid de bhian gaibhre air a dhruim. "Fàilt' ort, Fhionnlaidh Phìobaire," ars' esan; "gum meal thu do bhrigis." "Ma-tà," arsa mise, "tubaist oirre! Is i so a' chiad uair a chuir mi orm i. Na 'm fuirgheadh i shuas cha bu ghearan e; ach tha mi cheana cho sgìth dhi 's a bha dà-bhliadhach eich de 'n ghad, a' chiad oidhche a chuir-eadh air e." A mach ghabh sinn an coinne soitheach-nasmùide, "A' Mhaighdean-Mhorairneach," mar their iad rithe. Bha i 'teannadh oirnn o Mhuile, a' cur na smùid di. "Tha i so a' tighinn," arsa Pàra Mór, "an aigeannach mhaol, għramda, le 'gleadhraich, 's le 'h-ùpraid; cha b' ioghnadh leam ach 'A' Mhaighdean' a radh rithe; b' i sin a' mhaighdean gun mhodh, gun eisimeil." Tharraing i oirnn le caoiribh bàna fo a sròn; a' slachdraich agus a' sloistreadh na fairge foipe, a bha ag éirigh na 'h-iomairean bàna, cóbhragach, a nunn gu Aros. Thàinig i a nuas oirnn a' bagradh ar smàladh fo a cuibhlichean. Fa-dheireadh stad a' bhéist; agus cha luath' a stad na cuibhlichean a dhol mu'n cuairt na thug feadan fada, caol, a bha suas ri taobh an t-simileir mhóir, aon ràn as, a shaoil mi a sgàineadh mo cheann. Is ann an sin a bha an tìnich agus an othail, an dol ri cliathaich na luinge—a h-uile bùl fosgailte san aon àm ; gun urram fir d'a chéile. Ma's i Marsali Mhór, thug i mach a' Bheurla sin nach do chleachd i o'n a bha i an uraidh air a' Ghalldachd. Có ach ise ! Bha Bheurla 's a' Ghàidhlig am measg a chéile. "Dean fodha," ars' an dara h-aon. "Nach iomair thu, mhic do mhàthar!" ars' an t-aon eile. "A stigh an ràmh-bràghad shuas; buille g' a deireadh shios ; na dèan thusa, Iain Bhàin. "'Cannie, cannie,' illean," arsa Marsali Mhór. "Gu réidh!" ars' a h-uile h-aon. Mur bhi mo nàire, 's mar bha mi ceangailte sa' bhrigis, bha mi mach a shnàmh gu tir. Fa-dheireadh thàinig ball cainbe le fead m' ar cluasan, agus ghlaodh gach neach, "Cùm air gu gramail, Iain Bhàin." Thug a' gheòla aon sàthadh aisde nunn gu taobh na luinge agus shaoil mi gun robh sinn thairis. Fhuair mi suas, ach chan flios domh cionnas; agus cha mhò bha flios agam c' àit an tionndaidhinn.

"Tha thu an sin, Fhionnlaigh," arsa Pàra Mór, "'mar bhó mhaoil am buaile choimhich.' Thig leam a dh' amharc mionach na Maighdinn so fhéin, a dh' fheuchainn an tuig sinn mar tha 'bheairt innleachdach ag iomairt.' Ach ma chaidh, is ann an sin, a Mhàiri, a bha am fire-faire—sailthean iarainn agus slatan a' gluasad a nunn agus a nall, a sìos agus a suas, air an ais agus air an adhart, gun tàmh, gun stad; cnagan agus góbhlan, agus eagan a' freagairt d'a chéile; cuibhlichean beaga na'n deann ruith mu na cuibhlichean móra. Bha duine truagh shios am measg na h-acfhainn, a' cur na smùid deth, far nach saoileadh tu am b' urrainn do luch dol gun a milleadh; ach bha esan a' gluasad air feadh na h-ùpраid cho neo-sgàthach 's a rachadh Pàra Mór no mise am measg nan caorach—ag armadh gach acfhainn, achlais, udalain, agus feadain, le h-ola agus le b-im. "A dhuine thruaigh," arsa Pàra Mór, "is ann agam nach 'eil sùil ri d'àite; is daor a tha thu a' cosnadh d' arain." "Car-son?" ars' esan, agus e a' tionndadh suas a shùl, a bha a' snàmh ann am fallas. Ged a labhradh a' ghèimhleag iarainn a bha na làimh cha b' urrainn duinn barrachd ioghnaidh a bhith oirnn na an uair a chuala sinn an duine so a' labhairt na Gàidhlig. "Nach do shaoil mi," arsa Pàra Mór, "gur Sasunnach, no Eireannach, no Gall bochd a bh' ann." Thàinig e nìos a' siabadh an fhallais o' ghnuis le bad còrcaich a bha na làimh, agus thòisich e air beachd a thoirt duinn air an acfhainn. Ach, eudail, b' e sin an fhaoineis. "An sacil thusa, Phàra Mhóir," arsa mise, "nach ann sa' cheann a smaointich an toiseach air so a bha an innleachd?" "Coma leam e fhéin is 'innleachd'" arsa Pàra Mór; "is mi-nàdurra, peacach, an innleachd so fhéin—a' cur sruth agus soirbheas an Fhreasdail g' an dùlan, a' dol na 'n aghaidh gun seòl, gun ràmh. Coma leam i!—chan 'eil an innleachd so cneasda. B' fheàrr leam a bhith ann an geòla dhubb Acha-na-creige—Eóghan-an-Rudha air an stiùir—a' ruith le croinn rùisgte troimh Bhuiinne-nam-biodag, na a bhith innte. Tha mi ag radh riut nach 'eil an innleachd so cneasda."

An uair a bha sinn a nunn gu ceann Mhùsdail chuala mi fhéin sgal pioba air mo chùl, agus air dhomh tionndadh có a bha an so ach balach ronnach de mhuinntir Thir-idhe, a' gléusadh a phioba fhad 's a bheireadh duin' eile cuairt aisde. "Ma-tà," arsa Pàra Mór, "'Is ceannach air an ugh an gloe.' Ciamar tha so a' còrdadh riut, Fhionnlaigh?" "'Is searbh a' ghlòir,'" thuirt mise, "'nach fhaodar éisdeachd.'" Chluich e, fa-dheireadh, "Bodach nam Brigisean," agus mu 'n do sguir e dheth bha mi cho sgìth dhe fhéin agus d' a cheòl 's a bha mi de 'n blrigis lachdainn.

Có a bha an deireadh na luinge ach Alasdair Ruadh Mac-Iain-Abraich, Tighearna Chola. Mhothaich e dhomh fhéin, agus smèid e orm. Cha robh math a dhiùltadh. Bha mòran uaislean shios leis air clàr-deiridh na luinge—Sasunnaich, Goill, agus Frangaich—cuid diùbh a' leughadh; cnid na 'n cadal; cuid a' mèananaich; cuid ag itheadh. Bha fear dhiubh le gloin'-amhairc fhada, riomhaich, r' a shùil, mar gum biodh e a' dol a losgadh air Caisteal Dubhairt. Mhothaich mi fear fada, caol, glas-neulach, le speuclair air a shròn, agus bioran ruadh na 'laimh, leis an robh e a' tarraing dealbh a' Chaisteil. Bha baintighearna mhór, riomhach, na 'm measg, agus measan leibideach de chù beag, molach, na 'h-uchd, ris an robh i a' briodal, agus ga 'phògadh. Thug mi fhéin a mach a' phiob mar a dh' iarr iad; ach a' chiad sgal a thug i, theich gach aon diubh ach aon Sasunnach mór, reamhar, a shuidh mu m' choinne le 'dhà mlièur na 'chluasan, agus sgraing air mar gum bithinn a' dol g' a itheadh.

Ma bha ceòl am measg nan uaislean bha ceòl agus dannsadhl an ceann eile na luinge. Ach an uair a bha sinn a' dol sìos gu Eisdeal "chaidh an ceòl feadh na fidhle." Bha an fhairge na 'mill agus na 'gleanntan. Thòisich soitheach-na-smùide fhéin ri dannsadhl. Cha robh ràn a bheireadh am feadan mór as nach saoileadh tu gun robh muc-mhara r' a cliathaich. Cha chluinn-eadh tu a nis ach osnайдhean o gach àite. Bha an Sasunnach mór a bha a' fochaid air a' phioib agus a cheann thar beul-mór na luinge, an impis sgàineadh. "An tuilleadh teannaidh ort!" arsa mise; "nior-thaing mur 'eil phuic piobaire nis ort fhéin." Ràinig sinn an Crionan. "Is priseil," arsa Pàra Mór, "a' chas air tìr"—a' chiad fhacal a thàinig as a cheann o 'n a chaidh sinn seachad air Bèul Loch-Faochann.

An là-ar-na-nhàireach ràinig sinn Glaschu, aig àite ris an abair iad am 'Broomielaw.' B'e sin ceidhe na h-ùpраid—luingis-na-smùide a' falbh agus a' teachd làn sluaigh; mar gum biodh an saoghal a' dol do Ghláschu agus an saoghal a' teiceheadh as. Bho nach d' fhàs mi bodhar leis a' gheadhraich a bha am chluasan, cha chùram leam gun caill mi mo chlaisteachd tuilleadh. Bha sreachd dhaoine air an tarraing suas fa chomhair nan sothicéan, le ball cainbe mu ghuala gach aoin diùbh, agus bràiste riomhach air 'uchd. Bha iad so a' smèideadh oirnn mar a bha sinn a' dol gu tìr, a h-uile bèul fosgailte mar gum biodh iad a' cur fàilt' oirnn; gach làmh sinte, agus gach sùil siùbhlach mar gum biodh iad ag iarrайдh luchd-eòlais. Bha aon fhear gu h-àraigdh, a shocraich a shùil orm fhéin, agus air dhomh amhare air gu geur a dh' fheuch an cuimhnichinn có e, chuir e a làmh r' a aid, agus chrom e a cheann cho modhail, shiobhalta, 's nach b' urrainn domh gun an fhàilt' a fhreagairt. Ann am priobadh na sùla bha e air clàr na luinge, agus thog e leis boesa mo phìoba agus màileid Phàra Mhóir, cho èasgaidh 's a ghlacadh Gàidseir Thobar-Mhoire buideal uisge-bheatha, gun chuireadh, gun chead. "Air d' athais," arsa Pàra Mór; "an euala tu riagh, mo ghille math, mar a thuirt clag Sgàin, 'An rud nach buin duit na buin dà?'" "Leanaibh mise, a dhaoin'-uaise," ars' an duine, agus e a' falbh ceum romhainn. "Is ann sa' bhaile-mhór fhéin," thuirt mise, "a tha am modh. Is fhad o 'n a chuala mi gum bi 'gille aig au fheannaig fhéin a's t-fhoghar.'" Dh' iarr sinn air ar toirt gu tigh Èoghain Oig, far an do rinn iad ar beatha gu cridheil.

Slàn leat, a Mhàiri, a ghràidh, air an àm. Cuiridh mi litir eile ad ionnsaidh ann an uine ghoirid, an uair a gheabh mi cosnad. Chan 'eil thu fhéin agus na pàisdean tiota as mo chuimhne. O bi furachair mu Lachann beag, mo chuirean gaolach.

Am Freasdal a bhith maille riut—guidhe dùrachdach

D' fhir-phòsda ghràdhaich,

FIONNLAGH MAC-AONGHAIS.

III.

MURCHADH AGUS MIONACHAG.

Chaidh Murchadh agus Mionachag do 'n choille aon là a bhuaин subh; ach mar a bhuaineadh Murchadh dh' itheadh Mionachag. Dh' fhalbh Murchadh a dh' iarraigd slat a ghabhail air Mionachaig 's i ag itheadh a chuid subh. "Dé do naidheachd an diugh, a Mhurchaidh?" ars' an t-slat. "Is e mo naidheachd gu bheil mi ag iarraigd—

Slat a ghabhail air Mionachaig 's i 'g itheadh mo chuid subh."

"Chan fhaigh thu mise," ars' an t-slat, "gus am faigh thu tuagh a bhuaineas mi." Ràinig e an tuagh. "Dé do naidheachd an diugh, a Mhurchaidh?" "Is e mo naidheachd gu bheil mi ag iarraigd—Tuagh a bhuaин slait—slat a ghabhail air Mionachaig 's i 'g itheadh mo chuid subh."

"Chan fhaigh thu mise gus am faigh thu clach a bhleitheas mi." Ràinig e a' chlach. "Dé do naidheachd an diugh, a Mhurchaidh?" "Is e mo naidheachd gu bheil mi ag iarraigd—Clach a bhleith tuaigh—tuagh a bhuaин slait—slat a ghabhail air Mionachaig 's i 'g itheadh mo chuid subh."

"Chan fhaigh thu mise gus am faigh thu uisge a fhliuchas mi." Ràinig e an tuisge. "Dé do naidheachd an diugh, a Mhurchaidh?" "Is e mo naidheachd gu bheil mi ag iarraigd—Uisge 'hol mu chloich—clach a bhleith tuaigh—tuagh a bhuaин slait—slat a ghabhail air Mionachaig 's i 'g itheadh mo chuid subh."

"Chan fhaigh thu mise gus am faigh thu fiadh a shnàmhas mi." Ràinig e am fiadh. "Dé do naidheachd an diugh, a Mhurchaidh?" "Is e mo naidheachd gu bheil mi ag iarraigd—Fiadh a shnàmh uisg'—uisge 'hol mu chloich—clach a bhleith tuaigh—tuagh a bhuaин slait—slat a ghabhail air Mionachaig 's i 'g itheadh mo chuid subh."

“Chan fhaigh thu mise gus am faigh thu gadhar a ruitheas mi.” Ràinig e an gadhar. “Dé do naidheachd an diugh, a Mhurchaidh?” “Is e mo naidheachd gu bheil mi ag iarraidh—

Gadhar a ruith féidh—fiadh a shnàmh uisg’—uisge ‘dhol mu chloich—clach a bhleith tuaigh—tuagh a bhuain slait—slat a ghabhail air Mionachaig’s i’g itheadh mo chuid subh.”

“Chan flaigh thu mise gus am faigh thu im a theid ri m’ chasan.” Ràinig e an t-im. “Dé do naidheachd an diugh, a Mhurchaidh?” “Is e mo naidheachd gu bheil mi ag iarraidh—

Im a dhol ri casan gadhair—gadhar a ruith féidh—fiadh a shnàmh uisg’—uisge ‘dhol mu chloich—clach a bhleith tuaigh—tuagh a bhuain slait—slat a ghabhail air Mionachaig’s i’g itheadh mo chuid subh.”

“Chan fhaigh thu mise gus am faigh thu luch a sgriobas mi.” Ràinig e an luch. “Dé do naidheachd an diugh, a Mhurchaidh?” “Is e mo naidheachd gu bheil mi ag iarraidh—

Luch a sgriobadh ime—im a dhol ri casan gadhair—gadhar a ruith féidh—fiadh a shnàmh uisg’—uisge ‘dhol mu chloich—clach a bhleith tuaigh—tuagh a bhuain slait—slat a ghabhail air Mionachaig’s i’g itheadh mo chuid subh.”

“Chan flaigh thu mise gus am faigh thu cat a shealgas mi.” Ràinig e an cat. “Dé do naidheachd an diugh, a Mhurchaidh?” “Is e mo naidheachd gu bheil mi ag iarraidh—

Cat a shealg lucha—luch a sgriobadh ime—im a dhol ri casan gadhair—gadhar a ruith féidh—fiadh a shnàmh uisg’—uisge ‘dhol mu chloich—clach a bhleith tuaigh—tuagh a bhuain slait—slat a ghabhail air Mionachaig’s i’g itheadh mo chuid subh.”

“Chan fhaigh thu mise gus am faigh thu bainne dhomh.” Ràinig e a’ bhò. “Dé do naidheachd an diugh, a Mhurchaidh?” “Is e mo naidheachd gu bheil mi ag iarraidh—

Bainne do ‘n chat—cat a shealg lucha—luch a sgriobadh ime—im a dhol ri casan gadhair—gadhar a ruith féidh—fiadh a shnàmh uisg’—uisge ‘dhol mu chloich—clach a bhleith tuaigh—tuagh a bhuan slait—slat a ghabhail air Mionachaig 's i 'g itheadh mo chuid subh."

"Chan fhaigh thu bainne uamsa gus am faigh thu boitean o 'n ghille-shabhail domh." Ràinig e an gille-sabhall. "Dé do naidheachd an diugh, a Mhurchaidh!" "Is e mo naidheachd gu bheil mi ag iarraidh—Boitein do 'n bhó—bainne do 'n chat—cat a shealg lucha—luch a sgriobadh ime—im a dhol ri casan gadhair—gadhar a ruith féidh—fiadh a shnàmh uisg'—uisge 'dhol mu chloich—clach a bhleith tuaigh—tuagh a bhuan slait—slat a ghabhail air Mionachaig 's i 'g itheadh mo chuid subh."

"Chan fhaigh thu boitean uamsa gus am faigh thu bonnach o 'n bhean-fhuine dhomh." Ràinig e a' bhean-fhuine. "Dé do naidheachd an diugh, a Mhurchaidh!" "Is e mo naidheachd gu bheil mi ag iarraidh—Bonnaich do 'n ghille-shabhail—boitein do 'n bhó—bainne do 'n chat—cat a shealg lucha—luch a sgriobadh ime—im a dhol ri casan gadhair—gadhar a ruith féidh—fiadh a shnàmh uisg'—uisge 'dhol mu chloich—clach a bleith tuaigh—tuagh a bhuan slait—slat a ghabhail air Mionachaig 's i 'g itheadh mo chuid subh."

"Chan fhaigh thu bonnach uamsa gus an toir thu stigh uisg' a dh' fhuineas e."

"Có ann a bheir mi stigh an t-uisge?"

"Chan 'eil soitheach ann ach an criathar-cabhrach sin."

Thug Murchadh leis an criathar-cabhrach, agus ràinig e an tobar; ach a h-uile deur a chuireadh e sa' chriathar-chabhrach rachadh e troimhe. Thainig feannag os a chionn agus ghlaodh i, "Gòrag, gòrag!"

"Tha thu ceart, fheannag," arsa Murchadh.

"Crè ruadh 's coinneach—crè ruadh 's còinneach," thuirt an fheannag.

Chuir Murchadh crè ruadh agus còinneach anns a' chriathar; thug e stigh an t-uisge do 'n bhean-fhuine, agus flmair e—

Bonnach do 'n ghille-shabhail—boitean do 'n bhó—bainne do 'n chat—cat a shealg lucha—luch a sgriobadh ime—im a dhol ri casan gadhair —gadhar

 a ruith féidh—fiadh a shnàmh uisg'—uisge 'dhol mu chloich—clach a bhleith tuaigh—tuagh a bhuan slait—slat a ghabhail air Mionachaig 's i 'g itheadh a chuid subh.

Ach an uair a thill Murchadh bha Mionachag an déidh sgàineadh.

CEAD DEIREANNACH NAM BEANN.

Bha mi 'n dé 'm Beinn-dòrain,
 'S na 'còir cha robh mi aimeolach ;
 Chunna mi na gleanntan,
 'S na beanntaichean a b' aithne dhomhl.
 B'e sin an sealladh éibhinn,
 Bhith 'gimeachd air na sléibhteau,
 'N uair bhiodh a' ghrian ag éirigh,
 'S a bhiodh na féidh a' langanaich.

B' aobhach a' ghreigh uallach,
 'N uair għluaiseadh iad gu farumach,
 'S na h-eildean air an fluaran ;
 Bu chuaunnar na laoigh bhallach ann ;
 Na maoislichean 's na ruadh-bhuic,
 Na coilich dhubha 's ruadha ;
 'S e 'n ceòl bu bhinne chualas
 'N uair chluinnt' am fuaim sa' chamhanaich.

'S togarrach a dh' fhalbhainn
 Gu sealgaireachd nam bealaichean,
 'Dol moch a dhireadh garbhlaich,
 'S gum b' annnoch tighinn gu baile mi ;
 An t-uisge glan 's am fàileadh
 Th' air mullach nain beann àrda,
 Chuidich e gu fàs mi ;
 'S e rinn domh slàint' is fallaineachd.

Fhuair mi greis a m' àrach
 Air àirighean a b' aithne dhomhl,
 Ri cluiche, 's mire, 's mànran,
 'S bhith 'n coibhneas blàth nan caileagan ;

Bu chùis an aghaidh nàduir
 Gum maireadh sin an dràst ann ;
 'S e b' éiginn bhith ga 'm fàgail
 'N uair thainig tràth dhuinn dealachadh.

Nis o 'n bhual an aois mi,
 Fhuair mi gaoid a mhaireas domh,
 Rinn milleadh air mo dheudach,
 'S mo léirsinn air a dalladh orm ;
 Chan urrainn domh bhith treubhach,
 Ged a chuirinn feum air,
 'S ged bhiodh an ruaig am dhéidh-sa,
 Cha dean mi ceum ro chabhagach.

Ged tha mo cheann air liathadh,
 'S mo chiabhagan air tanachadh,
 'S tric a leig mi mial-chu
 Ri fear fiadhaich, ceannardach ;
 Ged bu toigh leam ri amh iad,
 'S ged fhaicinn air an t-sliabh iad,
 Cha teid mi nis ga 'n iarraigdh,
 Bho 'n chaill mi trian na h-analach.

Ri àm dol anns a' bhùireadh,
 Bu dùrachdach a leanainn iad ;
 'S bhiodh uair aig sluagh na dùthcha,
 'Toirt òran ùra 's rannachd dhoibh ;
 Greis eile mar ri càirdean,
 'N uair bha sinn anns na campan ;
 Bu chridheil anns an àm sinn,
 'S cha bhiodh an dram oirnn annasach.

'N uair bha mi 'n toiseach m' òige,
 'S i ghòraich a chum falamh mi ;
 'S e 'm fortan tha cur òirnne
 Gach aon nì còir a ghealladh dhuinn ;
 Ged tha mi gann a stòras,
 Tha m' inntinn làn de shòlas,
 Bho 'n tha mi ann an dòchas
 Gun d' rinn Nigh'n Deòrs' * an t-aran domh.

* His musket.

Bha mi 'n dé san aonach,
 'S bha smaointeán mó'r air m' aire-sa,
 Nach robli 'n luchid-gaoil a b' àbhaist
 'Bhith 'siubhal fàsaich mar rium ann ;
 'S a' bheinn is beag a shaoil mi
 Gun deanadh ise caochladh,
 Bho 'n tha i nis fo chaoirich,
 'S ann thug an saoghal car asam.

'N uair sheall mi air gach taobh dhiom,
 Chan fhaodainn gun bhith smalanach,
 Bho 'n theirig coill' is fraoch ann,
 'S na daoine bh' ann cha mhaireann iad ;
 Chan 'eil fiadh r' a shealg ann,
 Chan 'eil èun no earb ann,
 Am beagan nach 'eil marbh dhiubh,
 'S e rinn iad falbh gu baileach as.

Mo shoraidh leis na frìthean—
 O 's miòrbhailteach na beannan iad,
 Le biolair uaine 's fior-uisg',
 Deoch nasal, riomhach, cheanalta !—
 Na blàran a tha prìseil,
 'S na fàsaichean tha lionnhor ;
 Bho 'n 's àit' a leig mi dhiom iad,
 Gu bràth mo mhile beannachd leo !

V.

OIDHCRE NA CALLAINNE AN TIR CHEIN.

Is tiambahaidh, trom, mo chridhe 'nochd,
 Is mi am aon'ran bochd leam fhéin ;
 Chan iarr mi tàmh, chan fhaigh mi lochd,
 Is mi fo mhùig an dùthaich chéim.

Is ionadh cuimhne thùrsach, thróm,
 'Tha 'dùsgadh bròn 's ga m' chur fo sprochd ;
 'S e 'thog an osna ann am chom,
 Nach 'eil mi 'n Tír-nam-Beann an nochd.

Tha Tìr-nam-Beann mar bha i rianadh—

Gach gleann, is sliabh, is creag nam faobh,
An creachann àrd 's am bi am fiadhl,
'S an leacann liath tha sìos o 'thaobl.

Tha, fòs, gach allt a' leum le toirm,

Bho chreig gu creig a sìos gu tràigh ;
Tha bàrr an fhiraoich fo 'bhadain ghorm',
Gu trom 's gu dosrach mar a bhà.

Ach c' àit' a bhicil na càirdean gràidh

D' an d' thug mi bàidh an làithean m' òig' ?
'S e fàth mo mhulaid is mo chràdh
A mhèud 's a tha dhiubh 'n diugh fo 'n fhòid.

Tha àl a' falbh is àl a' teachd,

Mar thonn a' leantainn tuinn air tràigh ;
Ar bliadhnaichean tha iad, gu beachd,
Mar sgeulachd dhùiomhain, gheàrr, gun stà.

Athair mo ghràidh, chan 'eil e beò ;

Mo mhàthair chaomh chan 'eil i ann ;
'S mo cho-aoisean rinn falbh mar cheò
A dh' fluadaichear le gaoth nam beann.

O slàn le comunn caomh mo ghaoil

A chuireadh faoilt am chridhe bochd !
Mo chreach chan 'eil iad air an t-saogh'l
A dheanadh aobhach mise 'nochd.

Ach tha iad beò an dùthaich chéin—

An Tir-na-Gréin, gun oidhch' a chaoidh—
'S coinnichidh sinn a rìs a chéil',
Gun sùil fo dhèur, gun chridh' a' caoidh.

C' ar-son a bhithinn brònach, bochd,

A' caoidh fo sprochd an so leam fhéin ?
Do shùil, a Dhé, tha orns' an nochd,
Fo dheòraidheachd an dùthaich chéin.

Cha bhi mi 'caoidh, cha toir mi géill ;

Fo thaic do sgéith gun iarr mi tàinhl ;
Do thoil-sa dèanar leam, a Dhé,
Ga m' strìochdadadh fhéin a chaoidh fo d' làimh.

VI.

MAC OG AN IARLA RUAIDH.

“ Cha teid mise chaoidh de m’ dheòin
 Gu mac òg an Iarla Ruaidh,
 Gus an cuir a’ bheinn ud shìos
 Cùlaobh ris a’ bheinn ud shuas.

“ Cha teid mise chaoidh de m’ dheòin
 Gu mac òg an Iarla Ruaidh,
 Gus an dèan an eala bhànn
 Nead gu h-àrd air bhàrr nan stuagh.

“ Cha teid mise chaoidh de m’ dheòin
 Gu mac òg an Iarla Ruaidh,
 Gus an cuir am bradan breac
 Trì cuir mhear’ an crò nan uan.”

Thog a muime thall a ceann—
 “S gòrach leam do chainnt, a luaidh ;
 Bheir thu gaol roimh Fhéill-an-Ròid,
 Do mhac òg an Iarla Ruaidh.

“ Cainnt nan òg-bhan tha mar dhrùchd
 A nì ’ghrian a shùghadh suas ;
 Mu ’n tig Samhain bidh tu posd’
 Aig mac òg an Iarla Ruaidh.”

‘Bheinn ud shuas ’s a’ bheinn ud shìos,
 Cha do charaich riamh ’s cha għluais,
 Ach thug Mairi gaol gun ghò
 Do mhac òg an Iarla Ruaidh.

Tha ’n eala ’gur san eilean bhànn
 ’S am bradan tàrr-għeal feedh a’ chuaïn,
 ’S tha Mairi nis na ’céile phòsd’
 Aig mac òg an Iarla Ruaidh.

VII.

LINN AN AIGH.

“ An uair bha ‘Ghàidhlig aig na h-còin,’
 Bha ‘m bainne air an lòu mar dhrùchd ;
 A’ mhil a’ fàs air bàrr an fhraoich,
 ’S a h-uile nì cho saor ’s am bùrn.

Cha robh daoin’ a’ páidheadh màil ;
 Cha robh càin orra no cìs—
 Iasgach, sealgach, agus coill’,
 Ac’ gun fhoighneachd is gun phrìs.

Cha robh cogadh, cha robh còmh-stri,
 Cha robh cònnachsachadh no streup—
 H-uile h-aon a’ gabhail còmlnuidh
 Ann an t-seòl bu deòin leis fhéin.

Cha robh guth air creich no tòir ;
 Bha gach dùil ‘tigh’nn beò an sìth ;
 Feum sam bith cha robh air mòd,
 ’S lagh na càrach anns a’ chrìdh’.

Dh’ òr no dh’ airgead cha robh miadh,
 Sògh is fialachd air gach làimh ;
 Airc cha d’ fhiosraich duine riamh,
 Is cha d’ iarr aon neach cuiid chàich.

Bha coibhneas, comunn, iochd, is gràdh,
 Ann gach àit am measg an t-sluaigh,
 Eadar far an éirich grian,
 ’S far an laigh i ’n iar sa’ chuan.

Bha gach achadh fo throm bhàrr,
 Gu làn ’s gu torach, air a’ chluain ;
 Blìochd is bainne aig an àl ;
 Innis anns gach àit aig buar.

Cha robh feum air cléith no crann ;
 Chinn gach nì neo-ghann leis fhéin ;
 Meas is blàths sa’ h-uile h-àm—
 A’ bhliadhna na ’sàmhradh gu léir.

VIII.

TUIREADH.

Dh' iadh ceò nan stùc mu aodann Chuilinn,
 Is sheinn a' bhean-shìth a torman mulaid,
 Tha sùilean gorm, ciùin, san Dùn a' sileadh,
 Bho 'n thriall thu uainn 's nach till thu tuilleadh.

Cha till, cha till, cha till Mac-Cruimein,
 An cogadh no sìth cha till e tuilleadh,
 Le h-airgead no nì cha till Mac-Cruimein,
 Cha till gu bràth gu Là na Cruinne.

Tha osag nam beann gu fann ag imeachd,
 Gach sruthan 's gach allt gu mall le bruthach ;
 Tha ealta nan speur feadh ghèugan dubhach,
 A' caoidh gun d' fhalbh 's nach till thu tuilleadh.

Tha 'n fhairge fa-dheòidh làn bròin is mulaid,
 Tha 'm bàta fo sheòl, ach dhiùlt i siubhal,
 Tha gàrthaich nan tonn le fuaim neo-shubhach,
 Ag ràdh gun d' fhalbh 's nach till thu tuilleadh.

Cha chluinnear do cheòl san Dùn mu fheasgar,
 'S mac-talla nam mùr le mùirn ga 'fhereagairt,
 Gach fleasgach is òigh gun cheòl, gun bheadradh,
 Bho 'n thriall thu uainn 's nach till thu tuilleadh.

NOTES ON SPECIFIC READINGS.

Page 57, line 18—"Ailein-an-Earrachd"—Allan Cameron of Eracht in Lochaber, who raised the 79th Regiment, known as the Cameron Highlanders.

Page 61, line 17—"Marsali Mhór agus na buanaichean." This refers to the time when it was customary for Highland shearers to go to the South country to the harvest.

Page 63, line 16—"Bodach nam Brigisean"—The name of a well-known pipe tune.

Page 64, line 28—"Clag Sgàin"—The bell of Sccone. As with Whittington and the bells of London, the Highland people interpreted the message of the bell of Sccone thus—"An rud nach buin duit na buin dà"—"Mind your own business."

Page 65, line 2—"Murchadh agus Mionachag." In some versions the male actor is called Murachan. There may possibly be the shadow of a moral in the piece, Murachan being the well-doing person, from "murrach," thrifty; while the name Mionachag may be from "mionach," and thus a personification of greed.

Page 70, line 26—"Oidhche na Callainne"—Hogmanay night. "Callainn" or "Collainn" is the Latin word "Calendæ," the first of the month.

Page 72, line 2—"Mac Og an Iarla Ruaidh." This exquisite ballad appeared in "Albyn's Anthology," accompanied with the following very free rendering by Sir Walter Scott.—

NORA'S VOW.

Hear what Highland Nora said—
 "The Earlie's son I will not wed,
 Should all the race of nature die,
 And none be left but he and I.
 For all the gold, for all the gear,
 And all the lands both far and near,
 That ever valour lost or won,
 I would not wed the Earlie's son."

"A maiden's vows," old Callum spoke,
 "Are lightly made and lightly broke;
 The heather on the mountain's height
 Begins to bloom in purple light;
 The frost-wind soon shall sweep away
 That lustre deep from glen and brae;
 Yet Nora, ere its bloom be gone,
 May blithely wed the Earlie's son."

"The swan," she said, "the lake's clear
 May barter for the eagle's nest; [breast
 The Awe's fierce stream may backward turn
 Ben-Cruaehan fall and crush Kilchurn;
 Our kilted clans, when blood is high:
 Before their foes may turn and fly:
 But I, were all these marvels done,
 Would never wed the Earlie's son."

Still in the water-lily's shade,
 Her wonted nest the wild-swan made;
 Ben-Cruaehan stands as fast as ever,
 Still downward foams the Awe's fierce river;
 To shun the clash of foeman's steel,
 No Highland brogue has turned the heel;
 But Nora's heart is lost and won—
 She's wedded to the Earlie's son.

Page 72, line 15—"Muime." The term "muime" here means, not stepmother, but nurse or lady-attendant.

Page 72, line 17—"Féill-an-Ròid"—the Feast of the Holy Rood, 14th September.

Page 73, line 3—"An uair bha 'Ghaidhlig aig na h-eòin." The author poetically fixes the period of the Golden Age as the time "when the birds spoke the Gaelic language." The line quoted is from a poem by Ewen MacLachlan.

Page 74, lines 5 and 19—"An Dùn." This refers to Dunvegan Castle, the seat of Macleod of Macleod.

Page 74, line 7—"Mac-Cruimein." The Mac-Crimmons were the hereditary pipers of Dunvegan. The one of them who forms the subject of this popular Lament fell at the Rout of Moy.

Page 74, line 13—"Ealta nan spéur"—"the coveys of the sky"—the fowls of heaven.
