NOTE.

---

WE wish to thank all those who have kindly sent contributions for this Book, and at the same time to beg their indulgence for any errors or discrepancies, in view of the haste with which these pages went to press.

Names, titles and addresses have in every case been given exactly as they were sent in.

Our thanks are due to Mr. Finlay Mackinnon for the harvest scene on the cover, and to Mr. and Mrs. Watson and Mr. Dunearn Reid, who, owing to the temporary ill-health of Mr. John Whyte, very kindly assisted at the last hour in revising the Gaelic proofs.*

WINIFRED M. PARKER.

MABEL C. FORBES.

*Any profits from the sale of this book will be given to the Highland Association (An Comann Gaidhealach) of which the objects are :

- I.—To promote the teaching of Gaelic.
- II.—To develop Gaelic Literature, Music and Art.
- III.—To encourage Home Industries among the Gaels.

TO THE CURIOUS READER.

Gentle searcher, turn the page,
Scan the wisdom, wit and lore
Culled for you by Bishop, Sage,
Piper and Ambassador.

Learn of sailors what they do,
Learn of soldiers how to die :
Statesmen, scholars speak to you,
Clansmen hurl their battle-cry.

Heroes' names, in Gaelic guise,
Recognition here defy :
Reader, use your cunning eyes,
Duke and Lord identify.

LORD ACTON.      BRITISH LEGATION, THE HAGUE, HOLLAND.

“ In politics as in science the church need not seek her own ends. She will attain them if she pursues the aims of science which are Truth and of the State which are Liberty.”—John, Lord Acton v. “ Lord Acton and his Circle.”

DOROTHY ACTON.      THE LADY ACTON, BRITISH LEGATION, THE HAGUE.

“ In omnibus rebus respice finem.”
—Thomas à Kempis’ Imitation of Christ.

FRANK ADAM (Selangor, Federated Malay States).

ACHARALE, LOCH SHIEL.

THE PLACE THAT I LOVE BEST.

“ Where the purple heather blooms
Among the rocks sae gray,
Where the moorecock’s whirring flight
Is heard at break of day ;
Where Scotland’s bagpipes ring,
Along the mountain’s breast ;
Where laverocks liltin’ sing,
Is the place that I love best.

—Robert Nicoll.

JOHN THOMPSON ADAM. AUSTRALIAN FRIENDLY CLUB.

“ Strange is the seaman s heart ; he hopes, he fears ;
Draws closer and sweeps wider from that coast ;
Last, his rent sail refits, and to the deep
His shattered prow uncomforted puts back.
Yet as he goes he ponders at the helm
Of that bright island ; where he feared to touch,
His spirit re-adventures ; and for years,
Where by his wife he slumbers safe at home,
Thoughts of that land revisit him ; he sees
The eternal mountains beckon, and awakes
Yearning for that far home that might have been. — “ Underwoods ” Robert Louis Stevenson.

MISS AINSLIE. DUNSTER.

“ Faisons le bien ; disons le vrai ; cherchons la justice et—attendons.” —Chateaubriand.

AINSLIE DOUGLAS AINSLIE. DELGATY CASTLE, ABERDEENSHIRE.

“ Il passato non è, ma se lo finge la viva rimembranza,
Il futuro non è, ma se lo finge la vivida speranza,
Il presente sol è, che in un baleno
Tassa del nullo in seno ;
Tutta la vita è appunto
Una memoria, una speranza, un punto.”—La Vita.

J. S. AINSWORTH. ARDANAISEIG, KILCHRENAN, ARGYLL.

“ For manners are not idle, but the fruit
Of loyal nature, and of noble mind.”
—Guinevere—Tennyson.

E. A. AYLARD. 12 CLOUDESLEY STREET, ISLINGTON, LONDON, N.

“ His faithful wife for ever doom'd to mourn
For him, alas who never shall return.”—Falconer.

JEANIE AULD. ARIZONA VILLA, LUINO.

“ This above all,—to thine own self be true ;
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou can'st not then be false to any man.”
Hamlet—Act I. Sc. 3—Shakespeare.

OLIVE J. ARTHUR.

MONTGOMERIE.

“A leaf may hide the largest star.”

—John B. Tabb.

JAMES ARTHUR.

UNIVERSITY OF GLASGOW.

“Whatever is worth doing is worth doing well,” and “Perseverance overcomes all difficulties.”

MONTI ALSTON.

CAMOGH HOUSE, GLENCOE.

“The world is wide
In time and tide,
And—God is Guide,
Then do not hurry.

“That man is blest
Who does his best,
And—leaves the rest
Then do not worry.”

AUBREY K. ALSTON STEWART.

THE HOUSE OF URRARD,
KILLIECRANKIE, N.B.

“The only love, worthy of the name, ever and always uplifts.”—Macdonald.

EVELYN ALSTON STEWART.

THE HOUSE OF URRARD
KILLIECRANKIE, N.B.

“The tasks, the joys of earth, the same in heaven will be,
Only the little brook has widened to a sea.”—R. C. Trench. §

“ If we go forward we die,
If we go backward we die :
Best to go forward—and die.”—Zulu War Song

B. GRANVILLE BAKER. STEVENTON, BERKSHIRE.

“ Steigst Du hinauf auf gewundener Staffiel,
Siehst Du immer das nämliche Bild,
Aber Du siehst es erweitert.”—German Proverb.

LORINA BAKER. STEVENTON, BERKS.

“ Do the work that's nearest,
Though it's dull at whiles,
Helping, when we meet them,
Lame dogs over stiles.”—Charles Kingsley.

LADY FRANCES BALFOUR. 32 ADDISON ROAD, LONDON.

“ Not once or twice in our rough island story,
The path of duty was the way to glory :
He that walks it only thirsting
For the right, and learns to deaden
Love of self, before his journey closes,
He shall find the stubborn thistle bursting
Into glossy purples, which out-redden
All voluptuous garden roses.”

—Ode on the Death of the Duke of Wellington.
Tennyson.

LORD BALFOUR OF BURLEIGH KENNET, ALLOA.

“ Tell truth and shame the devil.”

—Henry IV.—Shakespeare.

MRS. MARY M. BANKS. 19 ARKWRIGHT ROAD, HAMPSTEAD

“ Fleet Street ! Fleet Street ! Fleet Street in the noontide, East and west the streets packed close, and roaring like the sea ;
With laughter and with sobbing we feel the world's heart
throbbing,
And know that what is throbbing is the heart of you and me.”

“ A Song of Fleet Street.”—Alice Werner.

REV. ALEX. BANNATYNE, M.A.

LOCHGILPHEAD.

“ Yet I doubt not through the ages
One increasing purpose runs,
And the thoughts of men are widened
With the process of the suns.”

MRS. BANNATYNE.

ACHINACOSHAN, OBAN.

“ Hands that fiercest smite in war
Have the warmest grasp for brother,
And beneath the tartan plaid
Wife and maid find gentlest lover.

“ Think then of the name ye bear,
Ye that wear the Highland tartan,
Jealous of its old renown
Hand it down without a blemish.”

Agus ho Mhorag.

Forth there came a bird and sat upon a tree ;
As I lay a-thynkyng her meaning was exprest—
Follow, follow me away,
It boots not to delay—
'Twas so she seemed to saye—'HERE IS REST!'"
—The last lines of Thomas Ingoldsby.

WALTER B. BLAIKIE.

EDINBURGH.

“ Out of the night that covers me
Black as the pit from pole to pole,
I thank whatever gods there be
For my unconquerable soul.

“ In the fell clutch of circumstance
I have not winced nor cried aloud,
Under the bludgeonings of chance
My head is bloody, but unbowed.

“ Beyond this place of wrath and tears
Looms but the horror of the shade,
And yet the menace of the years
Finds and shall find me unafraid.

“ It matters not how strait the gate ,
How charged with punishment the scroll,
I am the master of my fate,
I am the captain of my soul.” W. E. Henley.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE, READING.

“ Im ganzen, guten, schönen resolut zu leben ”

—Goethe.

JAMES CADENHEAD. 15 INVERLEITH TERRACE, EDINBURGH.

“ Where are the songs of Spring ? Ay, where are they ?

Think not of them, thou hast thy music too,—

While varied clouds bloom the soft-dying day,

And touch the stubble-plains with rosy hue ;

Then in a wailful choir the small gnats mourn

Among the river shallows, borne aloft

Or sinking as the light wind lives or dies ;

And full-grown lambs loud bleat from hilly bourn ;

Hedge-crickets sing ; and now with treble soft

The red-breast whistles from a garden-croft,

And gathering swallows twitter in the skies.”

—Third Stanza of the “ Ode to Autumn.”—John Keats.

T. CAMBORNE.

OLD HOUSE, SANCREED, CORNWALL.

“ Remember on all occasions that lead thee to vexation, not that this is misfortune, but that to bear it nobly is good fortune.”—Marcus Aurelius.

H. R. JONES. ROYAL IRISH CONSTABULARY BARRACKS, KENMARE.

"The child is father of the man."

—"My heart leaps up."—Wordsworth

MRS. E. M. JAMESON. CLAREMONT, PERTH.

"From the lone shieling on the misty island
Mountains divide us, and a world of seas,
But still the blood is warm, the heart is Highland,
And in our dreams we see the Hebrides."

—"The Canadian Crofter's Boat Song."

"There is something radically and essentially different between the attitude of the Celt towards the land and that of most European peoples. One cannot translate 'gwladgarwch' or 'Tir-ghradh' by 'patriotism.' The difference between the words betokens a basic difference of mental attitude. 'Patriotism' is 'genedlgarwch,' 'cineal gradh,'—something tribal, communal, to be shared by others; 'gwladgarwch' is something individual and personal. If every Englishman but one were to die to-morrow, could that sole survivor be a patriot any more? He would be touring the United States within a fortnight—with the fat boy and the bearded lady in a dime museum. But when the march of the millionaire has turned all the Highlands into a deer forest, except one crofter's holding, it will in no degree have weakened the love of that Scot for the Highland soil. To me, therefore, it seems that his land-love must be written down as the chief characteristic of the Celt. It has given birth to much of what is most beautiful in his poetry, literature, and music; it has moulded his traditions, and, next to God Almighty, it has been the chief force in conserving his very existence. I know there are those who will say that in numbering the characteristics of the Celt, his land-love must give way to his religion. But is not that a Home-sickness, too?—Celtia.

MISS M. J. RANKINE WILSON. 26 KINGSBOROUGH GARDENS, GLASGOW.

“Breathes there the man, with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said :
‘This is my own, my native land !’
Whose heart hath ne’er within him burned,
As home his footsteps he hath turned,
From wandering on a foreign strand !”

—The “Lay of the Last Minstrel,” Canto. VI., 1—Scott.
