REGISTRATION OF LETTERS.

Since January, 1841, a system of registration has been in operation, applicable to all descriptions of letters.

Letters intended for registration must either be stamped or pre-paid, and presented at the Post-Office at least 30 minutes before the closing of the letter-box for the particular mail by which it is to be despatched.

The British registration fee is 1s., and must always be paid in money, and at the time of registration.

In the case of Foreign, Colonial, or Ship letters, registration extends to the port of despatch in the United Kingdom only.

Registration fee on such letters, 1s., and, in addition, the rate of postage to which they may be liable.

Letters addressed to France, may be registered to their destination; and those passing through France, so long as they may remain in the French territory—the former on payment of double the French rate to place of destination, in addition to the British rate and British registration fee—and the latter on payment of the usual postage rate, and 1s. registration fee. The arrangements for carrying out the system of registration have been made with a view of insuring the punctual delivery of registered letters; on their delivery, the parties to whom they may have been addressed will be required to acknowledge, in writing, their receipt.

MONEY ORDER DEPARTMENT.

The Money Order Office for granting and cashing is open from 9, A.M., till 4, P.M., and from 30 minutes past 5, P.M., till 8, P.M.

DEPOSIT ASSURANCE COMPANY OF ABERDEEN.

"We are convinced that a large class of persons in business would readily consent to assure if they could withdraw the premiums they had paid, without the large deductions consequent upon the usual systems, in case they thought it necessary to do so; and it is to accommodate such parties that DEPOSIT ASSURANCE seems peculiarly suitable."—BANKERS' MAGAZINE.

"The defects in the different systems of Assurance having been pointed out, it remains to be seen how far they can be remedied. And here it may be well to consider what should be the STANDARD OF PERFECTION in a Society for the Assurance of Lives. A subject of such serious importance to a large class of the community, and affecting so materially the vital interests of families, has peculiar claims on the consideration of every thinking person: and Life Assurance Societies, instead of being the channels for excessive profit to capitalists, SHOULD RATHER BE FORMED ON THE PRINCIPLE OF THE SAVINGS BANKS, only deferring the payment of the sums accumulated, for those who are intended to be protected by them, until after the deaths of the contributors."—FARREN ON LIFE ASSURANCE.

THE ABERDEEN DEPOSIT ASSURANCE COMPANY.

THIS Company was established principally for the purpose of granting Assurances on Sums deposited, leaving the Depositor at all times free to withdraw the whole or any portion of the amount deposited, with the accumulations arising thereon. It thus presents the combined advantages and facilities of and is suited to persons of all ranks—professional men, merchants, tradesmen, mechanics, &c. It is adapted to every change in an individual's circumstances, to the same extent, and in the same manner, as a Bank, while it obviates the inconveniences frequently attending Life Assurance.

According to the usual practice, Life Assurances are for definite sums, and the Assured becomes bound to pay a stipulated premium at a fixed date annually, or failing that, to forfeit his Assurance, with the payments that may have been made. The Deposit Assurance plan is the reverse of this. By it, the Company becomes liable to the Assured in a sum proportioned to the amounts deposited, without any claim for future payments, or subjecting the Assured to any risk of loss; and the Company further agrees to pay to the Assured, at any time, the full value (which is always increasing, and more than the amount paid,) of the Assurance, without any deduction whatever.

A Depositor may, by this scheme, create a free and unconditional Reversionary Life Interest of considerable amount, which he may make available for various purposes—such as a collateral security for a Loan.

The principle of granting Assurances on Deposits thus opens up an entirely new feature both in Banking and Life Assurance, and affords the important facility of making even occasional spare sums available for the twofold purpose of accumulation and Assurance.

CREDITORS may derive considerable advantage by depositing, for an Assurance on the life of their debtor, the funds from time to time realized. The sums so deposited can be withdrawn at any time; and, in the event of the debtor's death, they would be augmented to about 250 per cent.

MERCHANTS, TRADESMEN, and others, having stock and goods on credit, or sums borrowed for enabling them to carry on their business, may protect their creditors from loss, and their families from embarrassment, in the event of early death, by making their floating capital carry an Assurance credit:—Thus, a merchant, who keeps on an average £200 of cash at his command, if a young man, could, with that sum, have an Assurance of about £500, without putting the money beyond his control, or contracting the freedom with which he may use it.

The following Table will illustrate the operation of the scheme, when used with a view both of accumulation and securing an Assurance benefit. The payments, for the sake of comparison and simplicity, are assumed as uniformly £10, and made at regular intervals of a year.

 Col. 2. Is the amount which the Company guarantees to the family or survivors of the Depositor, from the day on which the Deposit is made until another takes place.
 Col. 3. Is the amount which the family or relatives of the Depositor would receive by the ordinary mode of accumulating at interest, or depositing in a Bank, supposing his death were to happen six months after making the Deposit.
 Col. 4. Is the amount of advantage which the Depositor secures for his family by the plan of Assurance on Deposits, over what it would be by ordinary investment.
 Col. 5. Is the sum which the Depositor himself may withdraw at the end of each year.

A person at 26, having £10 to dispose of, may deposit it in a Bank, or with the Deposit Assurance Company. In either case, the money is freely at his command, with a small accumulation thereon; but from the above example it will be seen, that were it deposited with this Company, and carrying a Life Assurance, should his death happen in the course of the year, his family would receive £15 more than if it had been in a Bank.

Were he to survive ten years, and make no payments after the first, nor withdraw his Deposit, he would then receive from the Bank about £12 10s., or from the Deposit Assurance Company, £11 10s.; but for this trifling difference, he would have had his family secured, during the whole period, in £25 2s. 6d.

If, as supposed, he goes on depositing £10 a year for ten years, or £100 in all, and further Deposits are then arrested by his death, the Deposit Assurance Company would pay to his family, £238 10s., or £122 3s. 10d. more than if his money had been in a Bank. Should he survive the time, and withdraw, the Company will pay him £107 12s. 7d.

THE ABERDEEN DEPOSIT ASSURANCE COMPANY.

A further accommodation is at all times afforded to the Assured. Should he require the use of his money for a time, and wish to maintain his Assurance entire, the Company will advance him, at interest, any part, or the whole. The surrendering or reducing an Assurance account is, perhaps, the most disadvantageous alternative for a party to choose, and the Company, by thus allowing the Deposits to be operated upon, preclude the necessity for adopting it.

Prior to opening a Deposit Assurance Account, the person on whose life the Assurance is to depend, has to go through the usual forms required by Assurance Companies; but for future operations these are relaxed, so as to give every facility to the Depositor, consistent with safety to the Company.

Parties proposing to open Assurance Accounts with the Company will be furnished with Forms of Proposal, and every information that may be required, on application to the Actuary.

LOANS ON HERITABLE SECURITIES.

The Capital and Funds of the Company are invested on Heritable Securities,

Advances on House Property are repayable by Annuities not exceeding fifteen years—the Annuities including also the Interest. Thus, for a Loan of £100—

The Annuity for 15 years is £	10	0	2
.....	10	13 6 6
.....	7	17 13 2

The above Annuities may be made terminable at the death of the borrower, by an addition thereto, according to his age.

LIFE ASSURANCE.

THE system adopted by this Company combines the principle of MUTUAL ASSURANCE, with the security of a large Subscribed Capital, and the support of nearly Seven Hundred Partners of wealth and influence.

Assurances are granted under a variety of forms, applicable to the various circumstances of individuals proposing to insure their own lives or those of parties in whom they have an interest.

PARTICIPATION IN PROFITS.

The Participation Scheme of this Company was begun in 1840, and has been attended with eminent success. The first investigation was made as at 10th February, 1847, and the results have been found so satisfactory that vested Retrospective Additions of one and a quarter per cent. per annum, have been made to all Policies opened in connexion with the Scheme on or before that date; together with contingent Prospective Additions, at the same rate, to such of these Policies as may become claims before next investigation, as shown in the following Table :—

These Bonus Additions will bear a most favourable comparison with those of any other Office, when the very moderate premiums charged by this Company are kept in view ; the rates of some of the most deservedly popular institutions being, in many instances (particularly for ages under 40), about 10 per cent. higher. It may be observed, that the amounts payable in respect of policies with Vested Additions, that may become claims before next investigation (which is to take place as at 10th February, 1852), will be augmented in a very important degree by the Prospective Bonuses ; and ample provision is made for these without any encroachment whatever on future profits.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE STANDARD LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY is the chief Proprietary Office in Scotland, and the success which has attended its business places it among the first institutions in the Kingdom for the Assurance of Lives. It was established in 1825, and is constituted by Act of Parliament.

CAPITAL AND INCOME.

The Capital of the Company is FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND POUNDS: besides which, it possesses a large fund, accumulated in the course of the business, wholly applicable to the purposes of the Institution.

The Income of the Company is upwards of £120,000 per annum.

ASSURANCES

may be effected, either with or without Participation in the Profits of the Company, on Single Lives, or on a Combination of Lives. Parties can also effect Assurances on the Lives of others.

The principal sums in the Company's Policies, whether with or without Participation of Profits, are secure, and certain in amount, being guaranteed by the Company's Protecting Capital, while the Bonus Additions to Participating Policies are allocated in such a manner as to allow the greatest benefit to those who, from their lengthened survivance, are called upon to make the greatest number of payments; and these Additions, when vested, may be surrendered at any time for a present payment, or a corresponding reduction will be made in the future Annual Payments, at the option of the party assuring.

DIVISION OF PROFITS.

THE STANDARD LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY has already divided Profits among its Policy-holders on three different occasions, at 15th November, 1835, being ten years from the commencement of the business,—at 15th November, 1840,—and at 15th November, 1845.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

The future Periodical Divisions of Profits will be made at intervals of five years; the next or fourth period being 15th November, 1850.

THE ADDITIONS TO POLICIES,

Which have already been declared, are exhibited in the following Table, the examples being Policies of £1000.

By observing carefully the scale of additions, it will be perceived that the greatest comparative advantage is derived by those Assurers whose Policies are upheld with the Company for the longest period—a result which is produced by the particular principle of division which has been adopted, the measure of an Assurer's claim at each period being the number of years the Policy has existed.

This principle of division is similar to that which has been so successfully acted upon by THE EQUITABLE SOCIETY OF LONDON in the case of its privileged Policy-holders.

It is evident that no other mode of division affords the prospect of so much benefit to all who propose to uphold their Policies during the whole of life. The STANDARD OFFICE is therefore particularly eligible for all persons assuring for Family Provisions, and in an especial manner for those who, from their occupations, or strong natural constitution, have more than an ordinary expectation of longevity.

GENERAL REGULATIONS AND CONDITIONS.

Being desirous to afford every safe encouragement to the extension of the system of Life Assurance among all classes, the Directors make it their study to conduct the business of the Company on the most liberal principles.

Further information may be obtained on application to Messrs. SMITH & COCHRAN, at the Company's Office, 96, Union Street.

QUERIES.

Why can Mr. HENDERSON sell his GIMPS, &c., cheaper than others?

The reason is very prominent. He conducts his business on a smaller expense (together with his own experience as a buyer,) and thereby effects a saving to his patrons, as it is well known that all extra expense and decorations must be paid for by the customers.

Why does he sell COLLARS so cheap?

His reason is obvious. From the quantity he sells, being ten to one with his rivals. His motto is, "Small profits and quick returns."

North of Scotland Fire and Life Assurance Company

At the formation of this Company in 1836, the Directors were determined that its principles should be such as to make it available to all classes; and they had the advantage of the experience of other offices previously established to enable them to combine all the leading features of a Mutual, with the security and stability of a Proprietary Company. That the Company has succeeded in carrying out this combination, and proving it by actual experience to be as successful in its issue as was originally contemplated, will at once be seen on a perusal of the Report of Proceedings at the Special General Meeting, held in Aberdeen on 10th July, 1846, when the results of the FIRST INVESTIGATION INTO THE COMPANY'S AFFAIRS were fully and satisfactorily explained, and the FIRST BONUS declared on the Participation Policies. The following Table shows the amount of Bonus which has been added to Policies of L.1000, according to the number of years they have been in force:—

Date of Policy prior to	Sum in Policy.	Bonus	Sum in Policy, and Bonus Additions.	Per Centage of Bonus on Sum Assured
1837, April 30,	£1000	£125 0 0	£1125 0 0	12½
1838, ~~~~~	1000	112 10 0	1112 10 0	11½
1839, ~~~~~	1000	100 0 0	1100 0 0	10
1840, ~~~~~	1000	87 10 0	1087 10 0	8¾
1841, ~~~~~	1000	75 0 0	1075 0 0	7½
1842, ~~~~~	1000	62 10 0	1062 10 0	6¼
1843, ~~~~~	1000	50 0 0	1050 0 0	5
1844, ~~~~~	1000	37 10 0	1037 10 0	3¾
1845, ~~~~~	1000	25 0 0	1025 0 0	2½
1846, ~~~~~	1000	12 10 0	1012 10 0	1¼

The additions here made cannot fail to be highly satisfactory; and the system which the Company has adopted in regard to the Allocation of the Profits, may fairly claim a preference to the mode followed by some Mutual Offices, the distinctive principle of which is, that no Bonus can accrue to the holder of a Policy, until he has paid up, in the shape of Premium and Interest, the full amount for which he originally assured.

It will be observed in the above Table, that an individual who assured his life for L.1000 previous to April, 1837, has secured an addition of L.125 in the way of Bonus, so that, whenever he dies, he sum of L.1125, with farther accumulations will be payable to his Representatives. Also, that an Assurance of the same amount effected in the year 1846, previous to 30th April, has been increased by an addition of L.12 10s. likewise payable whenever the claim emerges. If the two lives here instanced should survive 30th April, 1851, a farther Bonus will be declared, not on the L.1000 originally assured only, but upon L.1125 in the one case, and L.1012 10s. in the other, so that in this way precisely the same benefits are reaped as if each had opened a new Policy in 1846 of L.125 and L.12 10s. respectively. This mode of allocating and treating the Bonus, is obviously much preferable to a system which gives nothing in the shape of Profits periodically to the Assured, but only promises that, when he has paid the whole L.1000, he will then be entitled to his share of what Profits may have accrued; but without guaranteeing him that the expenses of the Management, &c. will not eat up the said percentage on the Life income, as is done by the NORTH BRITISH AND LANCASHIRE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

In order to show, however, the exact measure of success which has attended the progress of the Company, the following Comparative Statement has been prepared exhibiting the Sums which the same Premiums would assure with two other Offices—one, in point of business, standing at the head of the Mutual, and the other at the head of the Proprietary Companies in Scotland: The amount of Bonus is given upon the supposition that the Policies had been in force for ten years:—

45	3000	375	3375	2771	578	3349	2825	530	3355

NOTE.—The Scottish Widows' Fund charges 10s. per Cent. for Entry money, and in the above calculation this is represented by an equivalent Assurance in the North of Scotland and Standard Companies.

It is thus clearly demonstrated that the advantages held out to the public by the NORTH OF SCOTLAND COMPANY in its First Prospectus, were genuine, and have been proved from ascertained results to be of a character which no one who examines them can fail to appreciate.

The intending Assurer should bear in mind that, in taking out a Policy, there are three considerations which ought to operate in fixing his choice upon a particular Company.

The first of these, and by far the most important, is the security and stability of the Company; the second, the amount of Premium charged; and the third, the amount of benefit to be derived from the Investment. In the NORTH OF SCOTLAND COMPANY, the paid up Capital, with the responsibility of nearly Twelve Hundred Partners, affords an undoubted security for all its engagements. The Premiums are upon the lowest scale consistent with perfect security, while there is no charge for Entry-Money; and, lastly, the Bonus which has just been declared, affords the most convincing proof of the profitable returns which the Assured in the Participation Scheme of the Company will from time to time realize.

To parties wishing to effect Assurances for fixed Sums, without Participation in Profits, the Rates of the Company will be found extremely reasonable, and to contrast favourably with those of any other Offices.
