Preludium of Voorspel, Van I. I. van Eyck.

Preludium.

The musical score is written on four staves. The first staff begins with a treble clef and a 6/8 time signature. The music consists of a series of eighth and sixteenth notes, often beamed together in groups. The second staff continues the melody, featuring a key signature change to one flat (B-flat) indicated by a flat symbol on the first line. The third and fourth staves continue the piece, maintaining the 6/8 time signature and the melodic flow. The notation includes various note values, rests, and accidentals (sharps, flats, and naturals).
